As an aftermath of the passage of the army appropriation bill Senator Hale, chairman of the committee on naval affairs, Tuesday warned against increases of the military establishment, saying they were inviting a deficit. He moved the reconsideration of the vote by which the army bill was passed and his motion was then laid on the table at his request. Senator Burkett characterised the proceeding as one of bad faith. The Senate passed the fortifications appropriation bill carrying an aggregate of $12,106,187. As a mark of respect to the memory of the late Representative Brick the Senate adjourned until Thursday. The whole of the session of the House was devoted to the consideration of the District of Columbia appropriation bill. Two amendments were adopted, one providing for 75-cent gas for all district establishments and the other requiring that all outside doors to public school buildings shall open outward. An effort to secure the incorporation of a child labor provision failed. The bill was passed and thereupon the House, out of respect to the memory of the late Representative Brick, took a recess until 11:30 o'clock Wednesday. The House was still on the legislative day of Monday when the recess was taken.

-:—:-

The Senate was not in session Wednesday. Wednesday's session of the House will go down as one of the stormiest in its history. The sum total of the day's proceedings was the adoption of several additional rules to check further the Democratic filibuster and the passing of the two resolutions introduced by Speaker Cannon calling on the Department of Justice and the Commerce and Labor Department for certain information regarding the so-called paper trust. There were nine roll calls during the day, five of them on the new rules. The Democrats exhausted their resources before they were made to feel that the Republicans by sheer force of numbers had them beaten at every point. The debate brought all the leaders of the House to the front. The Democrats were again charged with making the special rules necessary by reason of their filibuster, while the Democrats reasserted that they at last were causing the majority to enact legislation. At 5 o'clock the House took a recess until 11:30 a. m. Thursday.

REVIEW OF INDIANA

While assisting in lifting a ponderous stone at a quarry at Elletsville, Alonzo McNeely, aged 45, was killed.

Edward Schepman, of Milton, who is employed at the Milton stave factory, gives in a big record for his six days' work. He joined 63,000 staves in that time.

An unknown man who came in on the night train from North Vernon to Madison and was waiting for the Louisville packet, fell overboard from the wharfboat and was drowned.

Mrs. John Tressel, 60 years old, a well-known woman of Bowling Green, was found dead on the floor of her home when her husband returned from work. Heart disease was the cause.

When Mrs. A. C. Coulson, of Lagro, awoke at an early hour in the morning she found the lifeless form of her husband by her side, life evidently having been extinct for several hours. Death was due to apoplexy.

William B. Cotton, a foreman in the separator room at the Reeves & Co. factory at Columbus, was standing on a ladder when a man struck the ladder and Cotton fell He landed on both feet, but the force of the fall was so great that the bones were broken.

Daniel Walters, a rich farmer of Goshen, threw away notes aggregating over $7,000 held against several Goshen firms. Many of the notes were picked up by women and children who turned them over to the police. All were recovered. Walters had made an unsuccessful attempt to sell the notes at a local bank.

John Blair, 89 years old, is dead at Bloomington the result of mistaking carbolic acid for Peruna. The bottle filled with acid was handed to him by his 5-year-old granddaughter, who thought it was the Peruna which she had often secured for him. The aged man suffered for eighteen hours before death relieved him.

Jacob Baker, of Muncie, has brought suit against the Indiana Union Traction Company for $10,000 damages because of injuries suffered when he was thrown out of a buggy after his horse had become frightened at a street car. He says that as a result of his skull having been fractured he suffers from loss of memory at times.

Michael Walsh, whose sympathies were enlisted by the tale of woe by a stranger at the Wabash railway station at Logansport, took him to his home and gave him shelter for the night. In the morning Walsh found the stranger gone and with him $18 in cash, two pairs of shoes and Walsh's traveling union card as a pressman.

David Irick, a merchant policeman of Lebanon for the last fifteen years, dropped dead at his home while engaged in splitting wood. He was 55 years of age and leaves a widow and three children. The shock of her father's sudden death caused the older daughter, Miss Maude Irick, to suffer a nervous collapse, and she is in a dangerous condition.

Charles Hayees, 60 years old, a wealthy farmer of Goshen, was killed while felling a tree. A heavy oak tree lodged against a sapling and Hayes attempted to cut the sapling, which sprang backward, striking him in the stomach and knocking him under the falling oak, twenty feet from its base. He was doubled up and his life was instantly crushed out.

Prof. R. S. Coppock, of Salem, has been chosen principal of Bloomingdale Academy for next year, succeeding Prof. W. J. Reagan, who has resigned after three years' successful work in this position. The State Board of Education has recently issued a certificate of equivalency to Bloomingdale Academy, thus recognizing the high grade of work done in this school.

William L. Ferguson is erecting an observation tower on the top of Taylor Hill, six miles south of Nashville, to be completed May 1. The tower will be 125 feet in height, 50 feet square at the base, and eighteen feet square at the top. The top will be reached by a winding stairway. The Taylor Hill is one among the highest in Brown County. Several years ago the Government erected a tower on Wood Patch Hill, and it stood till a year ago, when it was blown down by a storm.

Eighty years continuous ownership of one farm is the record of the Moore family, near Delphi. In 1828 Eli Moore entered a 126-acre tract from the government. In 1832 he erected a house, in which his son, Shelby Moore, still living on the place, was born more than fifty years ago. To Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Moore a daughter was born in the same room where her father was born. The house, originally built by the grandsire, Eli Moore, has been continuously used as a residence, but it has been from time to time remodeled to meet demands of the day.

The home of A. J. Wiltrout, located southeast of Warsaw, was destroyed by fire recently.

Charley Cobb, aged 14, of Evansville, at the request of a playmate, threw a lighted match into a can of powder. The explosion blew out one of his eyes and he may lose the sight of the other one.

Fire, which is thought to have been of incendiary origin, destroyed a large barn and contents belonging to Holly Stukins, a farmer living south of Princeton. Three horses and one mule perished. Loss about $1,200.

Thomas Emerson, of Owensville, who received an anonymous letter warning him to keep out of Owensville, has offered a reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of the writer. Mr. Emerson believes his activity in temperance work is responsible for the threatening letter.

Edgar Miller, aged 22, a student in Depauw University, was killed at Greencastle by a shock of electricity which he received from a droplight. As he reached up to turn the light out his right foot rested upon the register while he touched a poorly insulated place on the wire with his finger.

Wm. Deerwester, of Warsaw, who was shot by Deputy Game and Fish Commissioner Rodney D. Fleming, of Fort Wayne, while netting fish on Eagle Lake, is improving nicely and will soon be able to be about. The bullet from Fleming's gun passed entirely through Deerwester's left leg near the groin, entering on the inside and narrowly missing the bone.

Leonard Sisson and his wife, living near Nashville, while driving in the vicinity of Bean Blossom creek, lost control of their horse, and they were thrown over the bank, falling eight feet into the water, with the buggy overturned on them. The stream was deep, but the horse in its struggle to reach the opposite shore, pulled the buggy off them, and Mr. Sisson was able to swim ashore in time to save the life of his wife and his own.

Pressed against a buzz saw by a horse, Joseph Barber, aged 55, of near Kokomo, suffered instant death, the saw severing his heart. Logs were being sawed upon the Redkey farm and a team of horses was utilized to draw the logs upon the skids to feed the saw. Barber stood holding the lever of the saw carriage and stepped aside slightly to enable the horse to pull the harder, but the animal, giving a final heave against him, precipitated him upon the saw.

At a meeting of the Business Men's Association of Noblesville, President Horn suggested a plan for beautifying the city, which was approved. The association will purchase flower seed and distribute it among the children who apply, requiring every child to present a recommendation from parents and at least one neighbor as evidence of good faith. The association will give cash prizes to the girls and boys cultivating the prettiest flower beds. The schools will also take up the suggestion.

Rodney Maddox, a young miner of Jasonville, in striking at a punching-bag in a penny arcade, missed his aim and thrust his arm through the glass front on the machine, cutting it severely. He hurried to a nearby club-room, where his arm and hand were bandaged and then saturated with turpentine as a preventive against inflammation. While tying the bandage he held his arm too close to a fire and the turpentine ignited, and before he could reach a barrel filled with water, in order to extinguish the blaze, he was terribly burned.

John Granger, an eccentric recluse living seven miles west of Goshen, helped in laying out and naming the town of Goshen in 1831. Mr. Granger lives on the farm his father entered eighty-seven years ago and has never been away from the place four weeks at a time. He is 71 years old and has never been present at a Fourth of July celebration or attended a Decoration Day observance. Theatres, circuses and carnivals are to him unknown. He has not seen a ballot box for forty-seven years and for forty-eight years maple syrup has been on his table at every meal.

A daughter of Will Magee, farmer, near Greensburg, while cutting a cabbage head, found a cabbage snake in the center of the solid head, and Mr. Magee has placed it on exhibition, confined in a bottle filled with water. Under a powerful microscope the snake shows a small black head and a skin similar to the ordinary reptile. It is about twelve inches in length, in circumference resembling a small wire, and in color so nearly like the cabbage leaf that it is hard to distinguish. It is the first one ever exhibited in this county. Mr. Magee says that the specimen has grown in length since being placed in the bottle.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade in the Chicago district says:

"The recent improving tone in commercial affairs is sustained, although the developments this week were not entirely harmonious. Judged by the volume of payments through the banks running slightly over those at this time last year and a gratifying decline in the failures reported there is evidence of recovery, but conditions in iron and steel remain backward, and the suspension of coal mining and the discouraging trend of currency legislation at Washington rather interfere with important undertakings.

"Unsettled weather halted the expanding demand in leading retail lines, and, while sales were good of housewares and food products, rising temperature is needed to stimulate the demand for men's and women's wear and millinery.

"Forwarding of general merchandise from the wholesale district exhibits a seasonable volume, and mail orders for dry goods, clothing, footwear and furniture reach a satisfactory aggregate, western purchases of summer and fall staples being stronger. Country storekeepers where warm weather prevailed have done a good business, and this will likely bring early orders from those who stocked sparingly.

"Manufacturing conditions disclose some irregularity. While agriculture and the starting up of the stone and brick industries afford increasing employment, the supply of workers is excessive and the idleness of miners complicates matters. Building operations make progress and add to resumption of machinery in woodworking branches. Lumber and building materials reflect improved absorption, prices have steadied for forest and quarry products and there is more general demand for hardware, wire and plumbing supplies, but receipts of the principal raw materials fall under those at this time last year, and iron ore has not had the usual winter depletion.

"Failures reported in the Chicago district number 16, against 39 last week and 13 a year ago. Those with liabilities over $5,000 number 3, against 12 last week and 3 in 1907."

NEW YORK.

Trade is quiet the country over, industry is still curtailed, a stoppage of work by coal miners swells the number of idle workmen, collections are slow, and, although money is easy, bankers complain that borrowing demand is light, this latter being a reflection of the lack of new business and the absence of new enterprises. The movement of crops to market has been checked by farmers turning their attention to the work of the approaching season. Retail buying, which opened well last week, has not held the gain throughout the week, owing to the cold wave visitation and the widespread effect of the coal miners' stoppage of work in the central West. Jobbing trade the country over is quiet, filling-in orders being of rather light volume. Business failures in the United States for the week ending April 2 number 247, against 286 last week, 137 in the like week of 1907, 151 in 1906, 170 in 1905, and 201 in 1904. Canadian failures for the first three months exceed the same period of 1907 by 90 per cent, while liabilities have doubled. —Bradstreet's Commercial Report.

THE MARKETS

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $7.25; hogs, prime heavy, $4.00 to $6.15; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $6.75; wheat, No. 2, 92c to 94c; corn, No. 2, 65c to 67c; oats, standard, 51c to 52c; rye, No. 2, 76c to 78c; hay, timothy, $9.50 to $16.00; prairie, $8.00 to $12.00; butter, choice creamery, 26c to 30c; eggs, fresh, 12c to 15c; potatoes, per bushel, 63c to 71c.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $7.00; hogs, good to choice heavy, $3.50 to $6.40; sheep, common to prime, $3.00 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2, 92c to 93c; corn, No. 2 white, 63c to 65c; oats, No. 2 white, 51c to 52c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $4.50 to $7.25; hogs, $4.00 to $6.15; sheep, $3.00 to $6.75; wheat, No. 2, 96c to 97c; corn, No. 2, 63c to 65c; oats, No. 2, 49c to 50c; rye, No. 2, 77c to 79c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.75; hogs, $4.00 to $6.30; sheep, $3.00 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2, 96c to 97c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 64c to 65c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 51c to 52c; rye, No. 2, 82c to 84c.

Detroit—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.00; hogs, $4.00 to $6.10; sheep, $2.50 to $6.00; wheat, No. 2, 93c to 95c; corn, No. 3 yellow, 66c to 67c; oats, No. 3 white, 55c to 57c; rye, No. 2, 81c to 82c.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, $1.01 to $1.02; corn, No. 3, 63c to 64c; oats, standard, 52c to 53c; rye, No. 1, 78c to 79c; barley, No. 2, 84c to 85c; pork, mess, $13.15.

New York—Cattle, $4.00 to $7.10; hogs, $3.50 to $6.60; sheep, $3.00 to $6.00; wheat, No. 2 red, 97c to 98c; corn, No. 2, 68c to 70c; oats, natural white, 56c to 58c; butter, creamery, 25c to 30c; eggs, western, 18c to 15c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, 92c to 93c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 65c to 66c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 52c to 53c; rye, No. 2, 77c to 78c; clover seed, prime, $12.40.

APRIL

0133

L 903

The Firm of Girdlestone

BY

A. CONAN DOYLE

CHAPTER XX.—(Continued.)

"Of course. What could be more delightfully simple? Friend Burt here does his work; we carry her through the garden gate, and lay her on the darkest part of the rails. Then we miss her at the house. There is an alarm and a search. The gate is found open. We naturally go through with lanterns, and find her on the line. I don't think we need fear the coroner, or any one else, then?"

"He's a sharp 'un, is the guv'nor," cried Burt, slapping his thigh enthusiastically. "It's the downiest lay I have heard this many a day."

"Mr. Burt can do his part of the business out of doors. We can entice her out upon some excuse. There is no reason why any one should have a suspicion of the truth."

"But they know that she is not mad."

"They will think that she did it on purpose. The secret will be locked up in our three breasts. After one night's work our friend here goes to the colonies as a prosperous man, and the firm of Girdlestone holds up its head once more, stainless and irreproachable."

"Speak low!" said Ezra, in a whisper. "I hear her coming downstairs." They listened to her light springy footstep as it passed the door. "Come here, Burt," he said, after a pause. "She is at work on the lawn. Come and have a look at her."

They all went over to the window and looked out. It was then that Kate, glancing up, saw the three cruel faces surveying her.

"She's a rare, well-built 'un," said Burt, as he stepped back from the window. "It is the ugliest job as ever I was on."

"But we can rely upon you?" Girdlestone asked, looking at him with puckered eyes.

"You bet—as long as you pay me," the navvy answered phlegmatically.

CHAPTER XXI.

The grey winter evening was beginning to steal in before the details had all been arranged by the conspirators. It had grown so chill that Kate had abandoned her attempt at gardening, and had gone back to her room. Ezra left his father and Burt by the fire and came out to the open hall door. The grim old trees looked gaunt and eerie as they waved their naked arms about in the cutting wind. A slight fog had come up from the sea and lay in light wreaths over the upper branches like a thin veil of gauze. Ezra was shivering as he surveyed the dreary scene, felt a hand on his arm, and looking round saw that the maid Rebecca was standing beside him.

"Haven't you got one word for me?" she said sadly, looking up into his face. "It's but once a week, and then never a word of greeting."

"I didn't see you, my lass," Ezra answered. "How does the Priory suit you?"

"One place is the same as another to me," she said drearily. "You asked me to come here and I have come. You said once that you would let me know how I could serve you down here. When am I to know?"

"Why, there's no secret about that. You do serve me when you look after my father as you have done these weeks back. That old woman isn't fit to manage the whole place by herself."

"That wasn't what you meant, though," said the girl, looking at him with questioning eyes. "I remember your face now as you spoke the words. You had something on your mind, and have now, only you keep it to yourself. Why won't you trust me with it?"

"I have a great deal to worry me in business matters. Much good it would do telling you about them!"

"It's more than that," said Rebecca, doggedly. "Who is that man who has come down?"

"A business man from London. He has come to consult my father about money matters. Any more questions you would like to ask?"

"I should like to know how long we are to be kept down here, and what the meaning of it all may be."

"We are going back before the end of the winter, and the meaning of it is that Miss Haraton was not well and needed a change of air. Now, are you satisfied?" He was determined to allay as far as possible any suspicions that the girl might have previously formed.

"And what brings you down here?" she asked with the same searching look. "You don't come down into this hole without some good reason. I did think at first that you might come down in order to see me, but you soon showed me that it wasn't that. There was a time when you was fond of me."

"So I am now, lass."

"Aye, very fond! Not a word nor a look from you last time you came. You must have some reason, though, that brings you here."

"There's nothing wonderful in a man coming to see his own father."

"Much you cared for him in London," she cried with a shrill laugh. "If he was under the sod you would not be the sadder. It's my belief as you come down after that doll-faced missy upstairs."

As the light faded and the grey of evening deepened into darkness Kate sat patiently in her bare little room. A coal fire sputtered and sparkled in the rusty grate, and there was a tin bucket full of coals beside the fender from which to replenish it. She was very cold, so she drew her single chair up to the blaze and held her hands over it. It was a lonesome and melancholy vigil, while the wind whistled through the branches of the trees and moaned drearily in the cracks and crannies of the old house. When were her friends coming? Perhaps something had occurred to detain them to-day. This morning such a thing would have appeared to her to be an impossibility, but now that the time had come when she had expected them, it appeared probable enough that something might have delayed them. To-morrow at latest they could not fail to come. She wondered what they would do if they did arrive. Would they come boldly up the avenue and claim her from the Girdlestones, or would they endeavor to communicate with her first? Whatever they decided upon would be sure to be for the best.

She went to the window once and looked out. It promised to be a wild night. Far away in the southwest lay a great cumulus of rugged clouds from which dark streamers radiated over the sky, like the advance guard of an army. Here and there a pale star twinkled dimly out through the rifts, but the greater part of the heavens was black and threatening. It was so dark that she could no longer see the sea, but the crashing, booming sound of the great waves filled the air and the salt spray came driving in through the open window. She shut it and resumed her seat by the fire, shivering partly from cold and partly from some vague presentiment of evil.

An hour or more had passed when she heard a step upon the stairs and a knock came to her door. It was Rebecca, with a cup of tea upon a tray and some bread and butter. Kate was grateful at this attention, for it saved her from having to go down to the dining room and face Ezra and his unpleasant looking companion. Rebecca laid down the tray, and then to her mistress' surprise turned back and shut the door. The girl's face was very pale, and her manner was mild and excited.

"Here's a note for you," she said. "It was given Mrs. Jorrocks to give you, but I am better at climbing stairs than she is, so I brought it up." She handed Kate a little slip of paper as she spoke.

A note for her! Could it be that her friends had arrived and had managed to send a message to her? It must be so. She took it from the maid. As she did so she noticed that her hands were shaking as though she had the ague.

"You are not well, Rebecca," said Kate, kindly.

"Oh, yes, I am. You read your note and don't mind me," the girl answered in her usual surly fashion. Instead of leaving the room she was bustling about the bed as though putting things in order. Kate's impatience was too great to allow her to wait, so she untwisted the paper, which had no seal or fastening. She had hoped in her heart to see the name of her lover at the end of it. Instead of that her eye fell upon the signature of Ezra Girdlestone. What could he have to say to her? She moved the solitary candle on to the mantelpiece, and read the following note roughly scribbled upon a coarse piece of paper:

"My Dear Miss Harston—I am afraid your confinement here has been very irksome to you. I have repeatedly requested my father to alleviate or modify it, but he has invariably refused. As he still persists in his refusal, I wish to offer you my aid, and to show you that I am your sincere friend in spite of all that has passed, if you could slip out to-night at nine o'clock and meet me by the withered oak at the head of the avenue, I shall see you safe to Bedsworth, and you can, if you wish, go on to Portsmouth by the next train. I shall manage so that you may find the door open by that time. I shall not, of course, go to Portsmouth with you, but shall return here after dropping you at the station. I do this small thing to show you that, hopeless as it may be, the affection which I bear you is still as deep as ever. Yours, E. Girdlestone."

Our heroine was so surprised at this epistle that she sat for some time dangling the slip of paper between her fingers and lost in thought. When she glanced round, Rebecca had left the room. She rolled the paper up and threw it into the fire. Ezra, then, was not so hard-hearted as she had thought him. He had used his influence to soften his father. Should she accept this chance of escape, or should she await some word from her friends? Perhaps they were already in Bedsworth, but did not know how to communicate with her. If so, this offer of Ezra's was just what was needed. In any case, she could go on to Portsmouth and telegraph from there to the Dimsdales. It was too good an offer to be refused. She made up her mind that she would accept it. It was past eight now and nine was the hour. She stood up with the intention of putting on her cloak and bonnet.

CHAPTER XXII.

Ezra and his father had composed the letter together, and the former handed it to Mrs. Jorrocks, with a request that she should deliver it. It chanced, however, that Rebecca, keenly alive to any attempt at communication between the young merchant and mistress, saw the crone hobbling down the passage with the note in her hand.

"What's that, mother?" she asked.

"It's a letter for her," wheezed the old woman, nodding her tremulous head in the direction of Kate's room.

"I'll take it up," said Rebecca eagerly. "I am just going up there with her tea."

"Thank ye. Them stairs tries my rheumatis something cruel."

The maid took the note and carried it upstairs. Instead of taking it straight to her mistress she slipped into her own room and read every word of it. It appeared to confirm her worst suspicions. Here was Ezra asking an interview with the woman whom he had assured her that he hated. It was true that the request was made in measured words and on a plausible pretext. No doubt that was merely to deceive any other eye which might rest upon it. There was an understanding between them, and this was an assignation. The girl walked swiftly up and down the room like a caged tigress, striking her head with her clenched hands in her anger, and biting her lip until blood came. It was some time before she could overcome her agitation sufficiently to deliver the note, and when she did so her mistress, as we have seen, noticed that her manner was nervous and wild. She little dreamed of the struggle which was going on in the dark-eyed girl's mind against the impulse which urged her to seize her imagined rival by the white throat and choke the life out of her.

"It's eight o'clock now," Ezra was saying downstairs. "I wonder whether she will come?"

"She is sure to come," his father said briefly.

"Suppose she didn't?"

"In that case we should find other means to bring her out. We have not gone so far to break down over a trifle at the last moment."

"I feel as cold as ice and as nervous as a cat. I can't understand how you look so unconcerned. If you were going to sign an invoice or audit an account or anything else in the way of business you could not take it more calmly. I wish the time would come. This waiting is terrible."

Ezra, leaning back in his chair with the firelight flickering over his haggard but still handsome face, looked across at his father with a puzzled expression. He had never yet been able to determine whether the old man was a consummate hypocrite or a religious monomaniac. Burt lay with his feet in the light of the fire and his head sunk back across the arm of the chair, fast asleep and snoring loudly.

"Isn't it time to wake him up?" Ezra asked, interrupting the reading.

"Yes, I think it is," his father answered.

Ezra took up the candle and held it over the sleeping man. "What a brute he looks!" he said. "Did ever you see such an animal in your life?"

The navvy was certainly not a pretty sight. His muscular arms and legs were all a-sprawl, and his head hung back at a strange angle to his body, so that his fiery red beard pointed upwards, exposing all the thick sinewy throat beneath it. His eyes were half open and looked bleared and unhealthy, while his thick lips puffed out with a whistling sound at every expiration. His dirty brown coat was thrown open, and out of one of the pockets protruded a short thick cudgel with a leaden head. John Girdlestone picked it out and tried it in the air.

"I think I could kill an ox with this," he said.

"Don't wave it about my head," cried Ezra. "As you stand in the firelight brandishing that stick in your long arms you are less attractive than usual."

John Girdlestone smiled and replaced the cudgel in the sleeper's pocket. "Wake up, Burt," he cried, shaking him by the arm. "It's half-past eight."

The navvy started to his feet and then fell back into his chair, staring round him vacantly, at a loss as to where he might be.

"I've been asleep, guv'nor," he said hoarsely. "Dird you say it was time for the job?"

"We have made arrangements by which she will be out by the withered oak at nine o'clock.

"Come on, then!" said the navvy. "Who is a-comin' with me?"

"We shall both come," answered John Girdlestone, firmly. "You will need help to carry her to the railway line."

"Surely Burt can do that himself," Ezra remarked. "She's not so very heavy."

Girdlestone drew his son aside. "Don't be so foolish, Ezra," he said. "It must be done with the greatest carefulness and precision, and no traces left. Our old business watchward was to overlook overything ourselves, and we shall certainly do so now."

"It's a horrible affair!" Ezra said, with a shudder. "I wish I was out of it."

"You won't think that to-morrow morning when you realize that the firm is saved and no one the wiser. He has gone on. Don't lose sight of him."

They both hurried out, and found Burt standing in front of the door. It was blowing half a gale now, and the wind was bitterly cold. There came a melancholy rasping and rustling from the leafless wood, and every now and again a sharp crackling sound would announce that some rotten branch had come crashing down. The clouds drove across the face of the moon, so that at times the cold, clear light silvered the dark wood and the old monastery, while at others all was plunged in darkness. From the open door a broad golden bar was shot across the lawn from the lamp in the hall. The three figures with their long fantastic shadows looked eerie and unnatural in the yellow glare.

"What if she fails to come?"

From the spot where they stood they had a view of the whole of the Priory. Kate could not come out without being seen. Above the door was a long narrow window which opened upon the staircase. On this Girdlestone and his son fixed their eyes, for they knew that on her way down she would be visible at it. As they looked, the dim light which shone through it was obscured and then reappeared.

"She has passed!"

"Hush!"

(To be continued.)

Telegraph wires last four times as long on the coast as inland.

Pattern Department

UP-TO-DATE DESIGNS FOR THE HOME DRESSMAKER

Work Apron.

The apron that perfectly covers the gown and that means genuine protection is one that the busy woman likes Whether her occupation take the form of dusting and similar household tasks, or of painting, modeling and the like, she is sure to like something that will perfectly protect her clothing that can be slipped on and off at a moment's notice. This one perfectly fulfills the requirements, is sufficiently loose and ample for comfort, and includes the patch pockets that are such a convenience. The sleeves extend to the wrists and a roll-over collar finishes the neck.

PATTERN NO. 5904.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:

Order Coupon.

No. 5904.

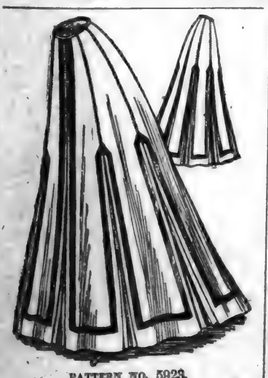
SIZE .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

Ten Gored Skirt.

The skirt that is made with the seam at the front is a marked favorite of the season and allows of most effective treatment. This one is cut in ten gores and is made full and pretty at the lower portion by means of plaited flare portions inserted at the seams, while it is absolutely smooth over the hips In the illustration porcelain blue broadcloth is trimmed with black thread and stitched with belding silk, but the skirt can be utilized for combinations as well as for one material throughout, and consequently suggests itself for remodeling at once.



PATTERN NO. 5923.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:

Order Coupon.

No. 5923.

SIZE .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

This woman says she was saved from an operation by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lena V. Henry, of Norristown, Ga., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I suffered untold misery from female troubles. My doctor said an operation was the only chance I had, and I dreaded it almost as much as death.

"One day I read how other women had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I decided to try it. Before I had taken the first bottle I was better, and now I am entirely cured.

"Every woman suffering with any female trouble should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

THE RATTLER.

It Rarely Sounds Its Note of Warning Until Attacked.

Contrary to the general belief, the rattler rarely gives its characteristic note of warning until actually attacked. In fact, the sharp, vibrant ring of its terminal appendage is probably designed more to assist this very sluggish serpent to obtain food than to sound defiance or warning. In the first place, serpents possess but the most rudimentary traces of auditory apparatus and are practically deaf, the deficiency in the sense of hearing being compensated for by an extreme sensitiveness of feeling which makes them aware of the approach of moving objects by the vibration of the ground.

Hunters, treading cautiously upon a soft carpet of moss or leaves to avoid alarming game, will often step close to or over a rattler without disturbing it or receiving warning, and while many snakes are seen and killed by them it is probable that a far greater number of snakes are timid and would rather run than fight, and the rattler is not inviting certain destruction by advertising its whereabouts in the brush.—Francis Metcalfe in Outing Magazine.

Nothing More.

"They've come to blows, haven't they?" asked the undersized reporter, who was trying to force his way to the center of the crowd.

"Yes," answered the tall man, who could see the two disturbers of the peace. "First one of 'em blows, an' then the other, but that's all. Ther' hain't been a lick struck yit."—Chicago Tribune.

LOST $300

Buying Medicine When Right Food Was Needed.

Money spent for "tonics" and "bracers" to relieve indigestion, while the poor old stomach is loaded with pastry and pork, is worse than losing a pocketbook containing the money.

If the money only is lost it's bad enough, but with lost health from wrong eating, it is hard to make the money back.

A Mich. young lady lost money on drugs but is thankful she found a way to get back her health by proper food. She writes:

"I had been a victim of nervous dyspepsia for six years and spent three hundred dollars for treatment in the attempt to get well. None of it did me any good.

"Finally I tried Grape-Nuts food, and the results were such that, if it cost a dollar a package, I would not be without it. My trouble had been caused by eating rich food such as pastry and pork.

"The most wonderful thing that ever happened to me, I am sure, was the change in my condition after I began to eat Grape-Nuts. I began to improve at once and the first week gained four pounds.

"I feel that I cannot express myself in terms that are worthy of the benefit Grape-Nuts has brought to me, and you are perfectly free to publish this letter if it will send some poor sufferer relief, such as has come to me."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

APRIL

0134
L 903

Headache Every Month

You may think, because you have long had it, that you must have a headache every month, being a woman.

But if you think so, you are wrong, since a headache is a sign of disease of your womanly organs, that thousands of other women have been able to relieve or cure, by the use of that wonderful, woman's medicine,

CARDUI

WOMAN'S RELIEF

"I recommend Cardui to all sick women," writes Mrs. A. C. Bower of Ireland, Texas. "I suffered with headache, bearing-down pains, had painful pains in shoulders and many others. At last I took Cardui, have gained 20 pounds and have found it the best medicine I ever used for female troubles."

At All Druggists

WRITE FOR FREE ADVICE, stating age and describing symptoms, to Ladies Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. E 97

J. A. PROVINES

TRUSTEE

of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:

THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK

at residence in Spencerville, Ind.

DENTIST.

C. R. PRICE,

ST. JOE, IND.

Office in Case building.

Bell Phone No. 44.

C. S. SMITH

Lawyer and Notary Public.

COLLECTIONS and LOANS.

Office in Auburn State Bank Building.

Auburn Indiana.

WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St. Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.

No. 11. Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail 12:05a. m
No. 3. Western Express 3:06 p. m

GOING EAST.

No. 2, Eastern Express 6:34a. m
No. 16, Toledo Acc & Mail 7:21 p. m

Foreign Establishments.

It will be remembered that nearly a year ago, Representative Longworth, the son-in-law of the President, presented a bill favoring the purchase of residence in certain foreign capitals for our ambassadors. The bill has this week been discussed in the House Committee on Foreign Affairs. It provides for nearly one million and a half for the acquisition of lands or buildings in London, Paris, Berlin, St. Petersburg, Rome, Vienna, Madrid, Brussels, the Hague, Tokio, and the City of Mexico. The members of the Committee referred to the Hill-Tower affair as an argument for the ownership by the Government of suitable residence for our Diplomatic Representatives abroad. The diplomatic prestige of any country depends very much upon the display that it makes in foreign capitals. This is especially so in the Orient, where the only means of estimating worth is by splendor. Mr. Tower in Berlin, Mr. Reed in London, Mr. Griscom in Rome, Mr. O'Brien in Tokio, and a few other American Diplomatic Representatives are men of wealth and spend far more than their salary of $17,500 in maintaining the American Embassies abroad. Indeed Mr. Tower is said to have paid more than $20,000 a year for the rent of his Berlin residence alone and to have spent as much as $100,000 in keeping up his domestic establishment. Mr. Reed has probably spent three times that amount in London, and the American Embassy there is maintained on a scale of magnificence, perhaps unequalled by any Embassy in the world

The St. Joe News.

One Year - - $1.00
Six Month - - 50c
Three Months - - 25c

FRED B. LEMERT, Editor.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

Contracts Let.

At the session of the county commissioners on Wednesday afternoon the bids for the building of thirteen bridges throughout the county were opened and the contracts awarded. There were ten firms competing for the work. The lowest bidder for each of the thirteen bridges was C. M. Reynolds, of Auburn. His bids were as follows:

Edge bridge in Fairfield twp., $199.
Wernetz bridge in Fairfield, $244.
Stoman bridge in Fairfield, $244.
Sieberts bridge in Fairfield, $238.
Harper bridge in Fairfield, $188.50.
Duncan bridge in Smithfield, $228.
Caruth bridge in Butler, $224.50.
Gregg bridge in Franklin, $289.
Clark bridge in Grant, $209.50.
Wimer bridge in Grant, $202.50.
Tarney bridge in Jackson, $294.
Meyers bridge in Franklin, $292.

Mr. Reynolds will begin work on these different bridges as soon as the weather will permit.

Fruit is Not Hurt.

Contrary to the expectations of the fruit growers in this vicinity the fruit buds were not injured by the hard freeze recently as they have just begun to swell and were in a condition that the cold did not hurt them.

It was thought that a cold night would probably injure the fruit but this morning several of the prominent fruit growers, who have examined their trees, stated that the buds were not hurt in the least.

The buds on the maple trees were in full bloom before the recent cold weather but those on the fruit trees were very slow in opening this year; they had hardly begun to swell, and were in a condition very little advanced from that of the winter.

If there is not much more cold weather this spring the fruit crop holds promise of being one of the heaviest of years. Last year and the year before there was a great shortage in the cherries and plums, but these trees seem to have an unusual heavy bunch of buds this year.—Ex.

The Old Proverb

That "it takes nine tailors to make a man" may possibly mean that it takes nine trials to find the right tailor.

You can save eight trials by coming here first. At this time in the year we can do considerably better by you than later. Not better in style, fabric, fit or finish—that's impossible—but better in price. For Example:—

Suits from $18.00 up.
Pants from $4.00 up

ED MAY,

TAILOR,

Butler, Ind.

Cured of Rheumatism.

Mr. Wm. Henry of Chattanooga, Tenn. had rheumatism in his left arm. "The strength seemed to have gone out of the muscles so that it was useless for work" he says. "I applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and wrapped the arm in a flannel at night, and to my relief I found that the pain gradually left me and the strength returned." If troubled with rheumatism try a few applications of Pain Balm. You are certain to be pleased with the relief which it affords. For sale by H. Milliman, St. Joe, F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

For the Public Good.

An independent and ably edited newspaper which commands a great circulation is probably the most potent influence for good in the United States to-day. The power for the better things in public affairs and policies, for instance, which is wielded by such a newspaper as the Chicago Record-Herald can scarcely be exaggerated, and much of that strength comes in the case of this leading Chicago daily from the fact that it is absolutely independent, fearless and fair. It is not the mouthpiece of any interest except that of the public. The Record-Herald champions the the cause of the good, clean, the beneficial in every matter of city, state or national moment. It is the knowledge on the part of its readers that it cares not whom it hits or what enemies it makes so long as it is battling for the welfare of the community, which gives to The Record-Herald much of the influence it enjoys. It gives in its news columns the most complete and impartial reports of political events, another evidence of its splendid news service.

Railroad Building in China.

Hardly a province of China has escaped the recent mania for railways, and if all the lines projected are carried out some of the remotest parts of the empire will be rendered easy of access.

Railroad for Ecuador.

A railroad to the eastern part of Ecuador is being surveyed by a commission of American engineers, employed by the government. The railroad is to commence at Ambato, running thence to the Curaray river, traversing a district containing very rich and productive soil.

Under All Moods.

We are so apt, when everything seems desolate, to think that there is nothing in the world but our own mood. It comes like sunrise, sometimes, to remember that under all moods is the will of God.—George H. Morrison.

Dogmatism Defined.

It was Douglas Jerrold who defined dogmatism as "puppyism come to maturity," a happy piece of wise wit.

A New Coroner.

Dr. J. C. Baxter, coroner of DeKalb county, tendered his resignation before the county commissioners on Monday of last week, and made the request that the resignation be accepted at once, because of his intention to go to New Mexico, where he has purchased a farm and will leave for that country about the middle of this month.

The commissioners had several requests for the appointment, among them being Dr. Willard Swartz, of Auburn. At the last general election Dr. Broughton was the republican candidate who made a tie vote with the democratic nominee and there being no election Dr. Baxter held over. Now that Coroner Baxter resigns some thought that Dr. Broughton would be appointed to fill the vacancy.

The commissioners appointed Dr. W. Swartz of Auburn, to fill the vacancy of coroner after accepting the resignation of Dr. J. C. Baxter.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York

Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

W. A. G. SMITH & CO.

Manufacturers of CEMENT TILE, SEWER TILE, and BUILDING BLOCKS.

St. Joe, Ind.

Cement Tile is The Tile.

WHY SO?

BECAUSE they get better with age.
BECAUSE freezing will not spoil or crumble them.
BECAUSE they will let the water off faster.
BECAUSE they are porous.
All rock face blocks and panel face are veneered

Three Sizes.

8 x 8 x 16
8 x 10 x 16
8 x 12 x 16

Write for Prices.

Undertaking a Specialty.

Eliza Kinsey takes charge of all funerals. Calls answered day or night Prices reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

Phone No. Office 37-2. Residence 37-2

More Chaff.

The reason money is called the circulating medium is because you can't circulate very far without it.

Perhaps you have noticed the boxes of strawberries are much like modern society, the big ones are always on top.

When you are asked if the latest novelty in a new spring hat isn't perfectly beautiful, you have to think a while before replying, don't you?

When it comes to making a good pie some women are as helpless as a turtle on its back.

Not all suckers are caught on a fish line, as perhaps you know from experience.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc. IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 625 Ninth Street, opp. United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

C.A. SNOW & Co.

The sap isn't running on either ticket now, as the buds have sprouted

The public is shocked again, just when it had all it could stand for with one Evelyn Thaw, to find she had a double. There were so many rejoicing because she was not twins.

Nearly every man thinks he can make money running a chicken farm.

Does your head feel like a doughnut, a vacuum in the center, since your bright children "April fooled you."

Is your baby thin, weak, fretful?

Make him a Scott's Emulsion baby.

Scott's Emulsion is Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites prepared so that it is easily digested by little folks.

Consequently the baby that is fed on Scott's Emulsion is a sturdy, rosy-cheeked little fellow full of health and vigor.

ALL DRUGGISTS: 50c. AND $1.00.

APRIL

L 903

0135

Local Briefs

J. D. Leighty had a new furnace installed in his home last week.

The seniors are being drilled on their orations, making ready for commencement which will be about the 7th of May.

We have an excellent sample line of school souvenir and "last day" cards. Teachers, come in early to make your selections.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Jim Maurer of Coldwater, Mich., a son, April 3rd. Mrs. Maurer will be remembered as Miss Constance Burley.

This year we have the most complete line of commencement invitations we have ever had. We invite you to come and see them. Prices reasonable.

Brown & Rhoads, lawyers, at Auburn, Ind., have money to loan on farm land, mortgage security, at low rates of interest, long time, and easy terms. Partial payments allowed See them.

Last week we were compelled to remove about forty names from our mailing list. We have given them notices and as yet no settlements being made we concluded they did not want The News. All accounts not settled in a short time will be left for collection.

There are a few places in our little city that need a general cleaning up, and that before hot weather sets in. In order to preserve the good name of our city those things should be looked after without people having to make a complaint to the city officers.

The Frank Barney brick restaurant front has been completed and makes a neat appearance. The front had begun to settle and it was necessary to put a steel beam in and iron posts or columns for support in the center. E. L. Church did the work. The work is a credit to the contractor and is an A-1 piece of work.

We are handed the following recipe for making a Merry Widow hat: Take one bicycle wheel. Superimpose on the hub one deep granite saucepan, first nipping off the handle with an ax. Stitch on cover of wine colored velvet from your season before last's coat suit. Put on three inch binding around brim of canary-colored taffeta silk from your great grandmother's party dress Rip 19 yards of box rushing off your shirt waist box and wind about crown. A soup ladle and a joint fork will give a jaunty effect if used as hat pins.

We were in receipt of a communication from Mrs. T. L. Donaldson of Edgerton, O., in which she wishes us to give her full particulars or by-laws regarding the St. Joe Relief Association She saw an artjcle in the Bryan Press which is as follows:—

"St. Joe has a Relief Association composed of one hundred members no more or no less. Those eligible to membership must be between 21 and sixty years of age and the admission fee is ten cts. each. At the death of any member an assessment of $1 is paid by each of the living members and this sum helps to defray expenses for unfortunate members in their hour of need. The organization grows in popularity and it will probably be perpetuated although it started as an experiment."

A Twenty Year Sentence.

"I have just completed a twenty year health sentence, imposed by Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which cured me of bleeding piles just twenty years ago," writes O. S. Woolever, of LeRaysville, N. Y. Bucklen's Arnica Salve heals the worst sores, boils, burns, wounds and cuts in the shortest time. 25c at H. Milliman's drug store.

Note books at THE NEWS office.

Dandelion hunters are on the trail, just for greens.

Lawyer Rose of Auburn was in town, Thursday.

Angola is to be a dry town, a remonstrance having been filed with the county commissioners, a week ago last Friday.

Mrs. B. S. Sheffer has been suffering severely the past week with a sprained ankle, being in bed the greater part of last week. At present she is still unable to walk.

The best young man will not sing "In the shade of the old apple tree" now, but "Can I come under the shade of your new spring."

Kendallville and Angola have been suffering from the smallpox epidemic for some time. Several new cases made their appearance last week.

John Betz of this place, and Joel Betz of near Harlan, were called to South Bend, last Thursday, by the death of their uncle, Jacob Betz. They returned Sunday evening.

Aunt Matilda Widney suffered a light stroke of paralysis, last Thursday evening, in her left limb. At this writing she has somewhat recovered but is still unable to move around much.

April showers seem to come almost too frequent for the farmers who desire to keep the plow moving. The wheat and grass are making fine progress and the trees are rapidly pushing forth their buds.

The Hicksville Fair Association is already making preparations for a fair next Sept. 22, 23, 24, 25, 26. The racing purses will be increased and the track improved. Other new features will also be added.

Dr. J. H. Lake has moved his office from his residence on Widney Avenue to the Widney house on fourth street, north of opera house. The rooms were papered and woodwork varnished and it presents a neat appearance.

Clarence McDonald, a Butler young man, who was serving a term in the Indiana reformatory for larceny but who was released recently on good behavior, violated his parole by getting drunk and was returned last week to serve out his term.

Orders have been issued by the war department that on and after July 4, 1908, the official flag of the United States will contain forty-six stars on the blue field. The stars will be arranged in six rows, the first, third, fourth and sixth rows having eight stars and the second and fifth rows having seven stars.

Clayton Hathaway was bitten by a dog last Wednesday evening, in the leg. He was walking backwards on the sidewalk and happening to tramp on a dog's foot, the dog bit him, leaving several scratches and one wound about the size of a lead pencil where a tusk had entered his leg. Medical aid was summoned and the wound dressed. He is able to go to school. We hope nothing serious may result.

One of our lady readers protests against the custom of cleaning house at one certain time. If a carpet becomes worn and dusty," she asks, why may it not be renovated, be the season June or January? "If paint is soiled and windows cloudy, what is the unwritten law which leaves them till a particular time for cleaning? Why must every bundle in the storeroom be unrolled, "to see which way the nap runs," as one disgusted masculine declared? When an article is required from some particular box why not sort its contents then and there instead of waiting to add to the chaos of house cleaning? And why above all things, select for that reign of terror the sweet spring time, when nature is putting on her robes of glory, and the sunshine brings a baptism of life.

For Mortgage Exemptions, see S. S. WIDNEY.

Cities and towns cannot enforce ordinances requiring license fees from peddlers, according to a decision of Judge Anderson in the federal court at Indianapolis last week. The court held that city and town councils can not compel concerns from outside the state to pay a license fee for soliciting business or delivering merchandise. The case in which this decision was given is that of the International Text Book company against the city of Evansville, asking an injunction. Judge Anderson enjoined the city from enforcing an ordinance requiring a license to be bought by agents of the company. He held that such an ordinance is not valid under the interstate commerce laws.

Eggs Lower. Butter and Meats on the Increase.

The present price of eggs is the lowest for the time of year it has been five years past. It is claimed that this is due to the dumping of a large amount of cold storage eggs upon the markets in the cities. Whether that is the reason or not is not known for a certainty, but it is known that the price has dropped. The truth probably is that the fine weather this month has started the hens to laying and they have over-stocked the market. Another thing that has some influence no doubt is the number of men out of employment in the large cities. They are not working and consequently must cut down on their expenses wherever possible. While on the other hand butter was never known to retain the high price as it has this year. This is probably due to the farmers selling their cream. Things should be on more of an equality. Beef still continues to bring a good price owing to the scarcity of cattle. We notice by the Toledo paper that the best cuts of beef are being sold for 25 to 30 cents per pound. Take it nearer home, things are nearly as bad. Fort Wayne packers are asking 10 cents per pound for a whole beef and still our people can't see why meat isn't sold cheaper. A Chicago meat man was in town, Thursday and he had the same complaint to make, stating that meat sells for 30 cents there. If you are a reader you can't help but be convinced that the high prices are general Still the packer says that beef must bring more money. It will soon be out of sight for common folks.

A Strange Case.

Hicksville has a sensation within its midst that is seldom equalled in a town of its size. It is that of an anonymous letter writer. It seems that for years past several people have been the victims of this fiendish like writer. Old and young, good and bad received their share, and much trouble has resulted between friends and one divorce case is said to have been originated from this. The letters were not always mailed, but were thrown on porches and sidewalks. Some were mailed recently, however, and the postmaster has been on the look out. A special inspector came last week as enough evidence had been secured for him to work upon, and he was followed by a U. S. deputy marshal and with his arrival the discoveries were made public. Mrs. Andrew Ames proved to be the accused party. She was placed under arrest and taken to Toledo, where she had a hearing. This resulted in her being placed under $500 bonds for her appearance before the Federal grand jury. Mrs. Ames is the wife of a well known bridge carpenter on the B. & O., and has always been a highly respected lady with many friends. It is thought on all sides that nothing but an unfortunate mania would have caused such conduct, and will be sympathized with, even if proven guilty.

Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also furnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable.

Beams & Baker.

PATENTS

and TRADE-MARKS promptly obtained in all countries, or no fee. We obtain PATENTS THAT PAY, advertise them thoroughly, at our expense, and help you to success.

Send model, photo or sketch for FREE report on patentability. 20 years' practice. SURPASSING REFERENCES. For free Guide Book on Profitable Patents write to

503-505 Seventh Street, WASHINGTON, D. C.

D. SWIFT & CO.

Just Received.

Car Load Wabash Portland Cement.

Consignment of Gasoline Vapor Stoves.

I Keep on Hands

Hydrated Ground Lime

Stoves and Ranges Cooking Utensils

Steel Goods of all kinds.

All Kinds of Roofing:

Best quality Red Cedar Shingles

Gravel Roofing Asbestos, Rubber, Felt and Galvanized Roofing.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT

Linseed, Automobile and Lubricating Oils, Gasoline, Etc.

GLASS, SASH AND DOORS.

Quality Right. Prices Right.

D. J. Baker.

Real Estate

We are still in the market with a good list of Real Estate both Farms and Town Property with prices and terms to suit all purchasers.

We can also write you first class Life, Accident, Fire and Tornado Insurance.

Special attention given to all Legal and Notary work.

Come and See Us.

Widney & Berry,

St. Joe, - - - Indiana.

WANTED—A RIDER AGENT IN EACH TOWN and district to ride and exhibit a sample Latest Model "Ranger" bicycle furnished by us. Our agents everywhere are making money fast. Write for full particulars and special offer at once.

NO MONEY REQUIRED until you receive and approve of your bicycle. We ship to anyone, anywhere in the U. S., without a cent deposit in advance, prepay freight, and allow TEN DAYS' FREE TRIAL during which time you may ride the bicycle and put it to any test you wish. If you are then not perfectly satisfied or do not wish to keep the bicycle ship it back to us at our expense and you will not be out one cent.

FACTORY PRICES We furnish the highest grade bicycles it is possible to make at one small profit above actual factory cost. You save $10 to $25 middlemen's profits by buying direct of us and have the manufacturer's guarantee behind your bicycle. DO NOT BUY a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone at any price until you receive our catalogues and learn our unheard of factory prices and remarkable special offers to rider agents.

YOU WILL BE ASTONISHED when you receive our beautiful catalogue and study our superb models at the wonderfully low prices we can make you this year. We sell the highest grade bicycles for less money than any other factory. We are satisfied with $1.00 profit above factory cost.

BICYCLE DEALERS, you can sell our bicycles under your own name plate at double our prices. Orders filled the day received.

SECOND HAND BICYCLES. We do not regularly handle second hand bicycles, but usually have a number on hand taken in trade by our Chicago retail stores. These we clear out promptly at prices ranging from $3 to $8 or $10. Descriptive bargain lists mailed free.

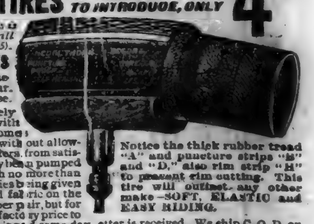
COASTER-BRAKES, single wheels, imported roller chains and pedals, parts, repairs and equipment of all kinds at half the usual retail prices.

$8.50 HEDGETHORN PUNCTURE-PROOF SELF-HEALING TIRES A SAMPLE PAIR TO INTRODUCE, ONLY $4.80

The regular retail price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but to introduce we will sell you a sample pair for $4.80 cash with order (or $4.55).

NO MORE TROUBLE FROM PUNCTURES

NAILS, Tacks or Glass will not let the air out. Sixty thousand pairs sold last year. Over two hundred thousand pairs now in use.



Notice the thick rubber tread "A" and puncture strips "B" and "D," also rim strip "H" to prevent rim cutting. This tire will outlast any other make—SOFT, ELASTIC and EASY RIDING.

DESCRIPTION: Made in all sizes. It is lively and easy riding, very durable and lined inside with a special quality of rubber, which never becomes porous and which closes up small punctures with out allowing the air to escape. We have hundreds of letters from satisfied customers stating that their tires have only been pumped up once or twice in a whole season. They weigh no more than an ordinary tire, the puncture resisting qualities being given by several layers of thin, specially prepared fabric on the tread. The regular price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but for advertising purposes we are making a special factory price to the rider of only $4.80 per pair. All orders shipped same day letter is received. We ship C. O. D. on approval. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them strictly as represented.

We will allow a cash discount of 5 per cent, thereby making the price $4.55 per pair) if you send FULL CASH WITH ORDER and enclose this advertisement. We will also send one nickel plated brass hand pump. Tires to be returned at OUR expense if for any reason they are not satisfactory on examination. We are perfectly reliable and money sent to us is as safe as in a bank. If you order a pair of these tires, you will find that they will ride easier, run faster, wear better, last longer and look finer than any tire you have ever used or seen at any price. We know that you will be so well pleased that when you want a bicycle you will give us your order. We want you to send us a trial order at once, hence this remarkable tire offer.

IF YOU NEED TIRES, don't buy any kind at any price until you send for a pair of the Hedgethorn Puncture-Proof tires on approval and trial at the special introductory price quoted above; or write for our big Tire and Sundry Catalogue which describes and quotes all makes and kinds of tires at about half the usual prices.

DO NOT WAIT but write us a postal today. DO NOT THINK OF BUYING a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone until you know the new and wonderful offers we are making. It only costs a postal to learn everything. Write it NOW.

J. L. MEAD CYCLE COMPANY, CHICAGO, ILL.

The News, - - $1 per year.

APRIL

L 903

When your Watch Stops
You cannot make it go by shaking it.

When the bowels are constipated you can disturb them with cathartics but, like the watch, they will not be able to do their allotted work until they are put into proper condition to do it.

One cannot mend a delicate piece of mechanism by violent methods, and no machine made by man is as fine as the human body.

The use of pills, salts, castor-oil and strong cathartic medicines is the violent method. The use of the herb tonic laxative, is the method adopted by intelligent people.

Lane's Family Medicine

Headache, backache, indigestion, constipation, skin diseases—all are benefited immediately by the use of this medicine.

Druggists sell it at 25c. and 50c.

The Spleen as Food.

In France and Italy many persons eat the spleen, what we call in French "ratte." I have eaten it myself. Generally from a pig it weighs about eight ounces, and it is situated on the right side of the pig, touching the liver. A spleen from a cow or bull weighs about two pounds, but is a little more spongy than the pig's spleen, which is the best. If some one should start the fashion we would after a while pay 75 cents a portion in first-class restaurants, especially if some person of mark should start the habit.—Chef Valere Braghuehais in Letter to New York Tribune.

SPRING KIDNEY TROUBLE

Vividly Described by One Who Has Suffered from It.

Mrs. H. Mutzabaugh, of Duncannon, Pa., says: "I was sick and miserable all last Spring and as I did not know what was the matter I kept going down and down until I was a physical wreck. I had smothering spells, flashes of heat over the kidneys, and pain in passing the kidney secretions, which contained sediment. My husband urged me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and at last I did so. They did me much good and I used in all eight boxes, which restored me to perfect health."

Sold by all dealers, 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Too Polite to Interrupt.

Police Justice——You saw that cock-fight? Why didn't you stop it and arrest the men?

Police Officer—I did, y'r anner—afther th' fight was over.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

The heart of a vegetarian beats, on an average, fifty-eight to the minute; that of the meat-eater seventy-five. This represents a difference of 20,000 beats in twenty-four hours.

Clear, white clothes are a sign that the housekeeper uses Red Cross Ball Blue. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

The majority of color blind people, curiously enough, belong to the educated classes, of whom no fewer than 4 per cent have this defect.

EPILEPSY ITS

If you suffer from Fits, Falling Sickness or Spasms, or have Children that do so, my

New Discovery and Treatment

TRIAL will give them immediate relief, and all you are asked to do is to send for a Free Bottle of Dr. May's

EPILEPTICIDE CURE

FREE Complies with Food and Drugs Act of Congress June 30th 1906. Complete directions, also testimonials of CURES, etc., FREE by mail. Express Prepaid. Give AGE and full address

DR. E. E. MAY, M. D., 540 Pearl Street, New York.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

The Popular Pulpit

THE DAILY BREAD.

By Henry F. Cope.

"Give us this day our daily bread."—Matt. 6:11.

There is something strikingly pathetic in the thought that the most familiar petition in the prayer most commonly used among all prayers is the one in which we cry, "Give us this day our daily bread." It is the cry of the child looking up to the Father of all and waiting for food for the present.

H. F. COPE.

None has caught the spirit of this prayer who has thought that such a petition made daily toil unnecessary; who has thought of its bringing about that condition of life, ideal to many, in which the needed meals would fall from the heavens as the suitable seasons between sleep and the pursuit of pleasure.

The spirit of the prayer puts a higher significance into these simple words. Each day comes with its deep needs, its heavy cares, its high possibilities, its trying duties, its splendid joys, and we ask not for three meals or five, but for all that the day may have we may find sufficient strength and sustenance.

It takes more than a good breakfast to equip a man for the day's business. It takes a bracing of the will, some uplift of the heart; it takes some inner impulse and power that helps us to see the glory of a new day, to feel the thrill of its possibilities, to face it with delight, and to find in it every good and every noble thing it may have for us.

There are hours every day when the inner light burns dim, when the heart seems to fail and almost faint, when despair creeps over us and the spirit of pessimism comes up like a bewildering mist, when cynicism's cold fingers lay themselves icily on our warm faith in our fellows. Such periods of depression and doubt become habitual with some; they serve to block every high endeavor.

These hours' simply mean that the inner life needs its daily bread; that for the high business of living, for the soul's service in the world, we need the food of the spiritual life. The advice to read a good and noble thought every day, as some poem, and to see some good picture or to hear an elevating strain of music every day is as simple and practical as the advice to take your meals regularly.

The physical plays a large part in life, but it does not play the largest. Or, if it does, then there are reaches of this physical that are not to be explored by material observation nor satisfied with material supplies. You can afford to neglect no need of your nature, no aspect of your life. A heartache is just as real as an ache in the empty stomach.

The tragedy of all our lives is that we seek to satisfy them with the bread that perishes; divine as they are, we seek to tie them down to the dust. We shut out heaven and cry aloud in despair that earth is so dark and its tasks so irksome. Life becomes hopeless, as it seems to be empty of things to satisfy the higher life.

Yet this daily bread is not some manna to fall from the skies, is not some peculiar privilege belonging to a few choice souls. It is to be had for the taking. Our great heritage of cheering thoughts, of noble ideals, of visions that elevate and inspire, is at the same time the cheapest and the richest thing obtainable.

To those who look for beauty every common bush is soon aflame with God; to those who look for love, how wonderfully rich is our poor humanity in gentle kindliness, in tender service, in deep, thrilling sacrifices! They who walk in the common walks of life, mingling with men and doing this world's material tasks, find, if they but have the open mind, that which gives them faith and strength for their daily living and for higher endeavor.

What though the hands be tied to toilsome task, may not the heart go out in memory of the best thoughts that have ever come to the race, in imagination of heroic scenes, in aspiration after the best? May not the will respond to every stimulus and aspiration to greater life? May not our hearts feed on those things that have made men brave and Godlike in the past?

Is not this our deep need? Is not this the bread we ought daily to desire? For what is life to any of us if it be no more than the feeding of this outer shell, and what may it not become if it be the nurturing of the whole being by those ideals, and passions, and service that have most mightily moved our race in days gone by?

THE IMMORTAL LIFE.

By Rev. Junius B. Remensnyder.

If a man die, shall he live again?—Job 14:14.

The man normal in mind and healthy in body loves life. Only misanthropists and maudlin sentimentalists affect anxiety to "shuffle off this mortal coil."

If, then, life be such a treasure in this our brief span of it, what a joy to live forever, to have eternal life! Who does not yearn for it with an inexpressible longing? Must we, with the stoics, steel our hearts to quitting this banquet when our summons comes with a final farewell? Or is there rational ground for hope of a future life?

Science, as Lord Kelvin affirmed, tends to support the fact of immortality. This it does by the laws of indestructibility of matter and the conservation of force. Not a particle of matter has ever been lost, nor has the original force in the world ever been diminished. There has been change, but no loss or destruction. If, then, matter be indestructible, how much more shall not the spirit of which matter is but the servant and slave be indestructible and immortal.

Nature again is a symbol of this great hope. She, too, meets this phenomenon of death. Her flowers fall, her beauty fades and winter wraps her in an icy shroud as apparently lifeless as the mausoleums of our dead. But wait a few short months and what do we see? No sermon on earth was ever preached more unanswerable than that proclaimed by the fading and reviving of field, forest and flower.

The being of man is another argument. Why should his thoughts go out in this high quest for a future life? Who planted within his heart this intense longing? Whether God or nature, it was not meant to taunt us with a lie.

Another proof arises from the nature of human love. It is at once the tenderest and most powerful of our faculties. And love is stronger than death. The last look, the last pressure of the hand of the dying proves it undiminished. Our own bleeding hearts will not admit that the ties are severed forever. They cry out against so cruel and unnatural a fate. We follow our departed beyond the "great divide" and our unbroken love forbids us to think that they, too, do not love us still.

To those of us who believe in revelation, who hold that the Father would not hear all these ages the cry of His children and give no answer from His infinite heart, there, of course, comes absolutely certain evidence.

This doctrine of immortality is the best explanation of unfinished lives. How many lives are broken off like a column in the midst? In the very center of their usefulness, with a thousand bonds holding them to family, society, church and state, with wisely laid plans unaccomplished, they are suddenly summoned and must leave all. Are such lives fragmentary, are they a failure? No, not in the light of immortality. But there in a larger sphere and vaster scale. The high ideals and plans conceived here shall be wrought out to a glorious perfection.

Again, the life beyond is a reassurance to those doomed to crosses, fetters and infirmities. How hard and unfair the lot of man if there be no hereafter. Who can believe that a righteous God has made these children of sorrow but to suffer? Aye, no, justice as well as love demands a continuity of life beyond the present. There fettered minds will be freed, broken hearts will be healed and pained bodies made perfect.

And what an inexpressible comfort this faith in a future life, as we grieve for those who have gone before! They are not lost but living a larger, better life. They have not forgotten, but love us as of yore. But let no one, either, forget the warnings of this great truth. We sow here, we reap there. Here we make up life's record, there we are to be judged. God is moral, all life is under law. As life here is good or evil such, blessed or woeful, will be the life beyond.

You cannot prove your grit by throwing sand into the world's soras.

HYMNS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

The Love Divine.

O love divine, that stooped to share
Our sharpest pang, our bitterest tear!
On thee we cast each earthborn care;
We smile at pain while thou art near.

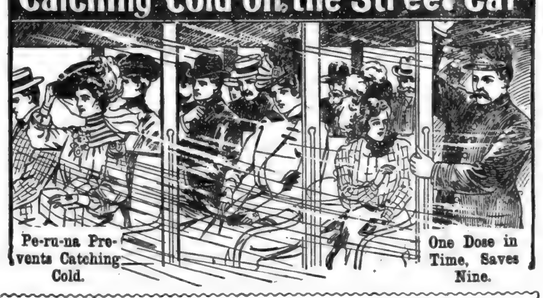
Though long the weary way we tread,
And sorrow crown each lingering year,
No path we shun, no darkness dread,
Our hearts still whispering, thou art near!

When drooping pleasure turns to grief,
And trembling faith is changed to fear,
The murmuring wind, the quivering leaf,
Shall softly tell us, thou art near!

On thee we fling our burdening woe,
O love divine, forever dear;
Content to suffer while we know,
Living and dying, thou art near.

NO ONE CAN ALWAYS AVOID

Catching Cold on the Street Car



Pe-ru-na Prevents Catching Cold.

One Dose in Time, Saves Nine.

Many people persist in riding on the street cars, insufficiently protected by clothing.

They start out perhaps in the heat of the day and do not feel the need of wraps.

The rapid moving of the car cools the body unduly. When they board the car perhaps they are slightly perspiring. When the body is in this condition it is easily chilled. This is especially true when a person is sitting.

Beginning a street car ride in the middle of the day and ending it in the evening almost invariably requires extra wraps, but people do not observe these precautions, hence they catch cold.

Colds are very frequent in the spring on this account, and as the summer advances, they do not decrease. During the spring months, no one should think of riding on the car without being provided with a wrap.

A cold caught in the spring is liable to last through the entire summer. Great caution should be observed at this season against exposure to cold. During the first few pleasant days of spring, the liability of catching cold is great.

No wonder so many people acquire muscular rheumatism and catarrhal diseases during this season.

However, in spite of the greatest precautions, colds will be caught.

At the appearance of the first symptom, Peruna should be taken according to directions on the bottle, and continued until every symptom disappears.

Do not put it off. Do not waste time by taking other remedies. Begin at once to take Peruna and continue taking it until you are positive that the cold has entirely disappeared. This may save you a long and perhaps serious illness later on.

Bad Effects from Cold.

Mr. M. J. Deutsch, Secretary Building Material Trades Council, 151 Washington St., Chicago, Ill., writes:

"I have found your medicine to be unusually efficacious in getting rid of bad effects from cold, and more especially in driving away all symptoms of catarrh, with which I am frequently troubled.

"The relief Peruna gives in catarrhal troubles alone is well worth the price per bottle. I have used the remedy for several years now."

Spells of Coughing.

Mrs. C. E. Long writes from Atwood, Colorado, as follows:

"When I wrote you for advice my little three-year-old girl had a cough that had been troubling her for four months. She took cold easily, and would wheeze and have spells of coughing that would sometimes last for a half hour.

"Now we can never thank you enough for the change you have made in our little one's health. Before she began taking your Peruna she suffered everything in the way of cough, colds and croup, but now she has taken not quite a bottle of Peruna, and is well and strong as she has ever been in her life."

Pe-ru-na for Colds.

Mr. James Morrison, 68 East 16th St., Paterson, N. J., writes:

"I have given Peruna a fair trial, and I find it to be just what you claim it to be. I cannot praise it too highly. I have used two bottles in my family for colds, and everything imaginable. I can safely say that your medicine is the best I have ever used."

Nothing Too Good For the American People

There is NOTHING TOO GOOD for the American people—that's why we started to make Cascarets Candy Cathartic. The first box made its appearance in 1896, and the enthusiastic endorsement of the people has been bestowed upon Cascarets ever since.

The sale today is at the rate of OVER A MILLION BOXES A MONTH, proving that the American people recognize, that what is BEST FOR THEM is none too good.

Why this enormous patronage?

The answer is simple: Cascarets are pure, clean, sweet, mild, fragrant, harmless but effective little tablets for the treatment and cure of Constipation and all Bowel Troubles. They are put up in neat little enamel boxes, easy to buy, easy to carry (in vest-pocket or purse), easy to take and easy of action, always reliable, always the same, they "work while you sleep" and wake you up feeling fine in the morning.

They not only regulate the movement and stimulate the muscular walls of the bowels, but they keep the ENTIRE CANAL CLEAN and antiseptic, forcing out and destroying all disease germs that breed in the accumulated filth unless promptly and regularly discharged. Therefore, they are a great preventive of disease, and may be taken continuously as a precautionary measure.

The new Pure Drugs Act, adopted by Congress on June 30, 1906, and in effect January 1, 1907, is a GOOD LAW and means better and PURER drugs for the American People. We endorse it and will live up to it in SPIRIT and LETTER,—an easy task, as we have always been actuated by the same principles and no changes are required in our formula or package.

We adopted OUR OWN PURE DRUG LAW in 1896 when the first box of Cascarets came on the market and have lived and worked and produced under it ever since.

To-day, after a record of nearly 100,000,000 boxes sold, Cascarets STAND the greater in PURITY, QUALITY and MEDICINAL MERIT than any other preparation for Bowel trouble in all the world.

This should be a great argument for any one, to try Cascarets AT ONCE, and be healthier and happier for it. Some people have CHRONIC CONSTIPATION with all the horrors derived from it; others have HABITUAL CONSTIPATION from carelessness and neglect, but nearly EVERYBODY has OCCASIONAL CONSTIPATION, which, if not promptly taken care of is liable to result in its degeneration into the worse forms and cause great suffering and perhaps death.

Cascarets, if taken patiently and regularly, will remedy all of these awful troubles, but if taken promptly at the very first sign of an irregularity of the Bowels, will act as the FINEST PREVENTIVE ever discovered and will keep all the machinery running in good order. 733

We advise you to get a little 10c box of Cascarets TO-DAY and carry it in your purse or vest pocket. Take one when you feel anything unusual about your bowels. Your own druggist will sell you the little box, under GUARANTY of satisfaction or money refunded. All druggists, 10c, 25c, 50c.

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

$3.00 $3.50

SHOES AT ALL PRICES, FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE FAMILY, MEN, BOYS, WOMEN, MISSES AND CHILDREN.

W. L. Douglas makes and sells more men's $3.50, $3.00 and $2.50 shoes than any other manufacturer in the world, because they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of more value than any other shoes at the prices advertised.

W. L. Douglas $4 and $5 Gilt Edge Shoes Cannot Be Equalled At Any Price

CAUTION. W. L. Douglas name and price is stamped on bottom. Take No Substitutes. Sold by the best shoe dealers everywhere. Shoes mailed from factory to any part of the world. Illustrated Catalog free to any address. W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

Fast Color Eyelets Used

APRIL

L 903

One of the Essentials

of the happy homes of to-day is a vast fund of information as to the best methods of promoting health and happiness and right living and knowledge of the world's best products.

Products of actual excellence and reasonable claims truthfully presented and which have attained to world-wide acceptance through the approval of the Well-Informed of the World; not of individuals only, but of the many who have the happy faculty of selecting and obtaining the best the world affords.

One of the products of that class, of known component parts, an Ethical remedy, approved by physicians and commended by the Well-Informed of the World as a valuable and wholesome family laxative is the well-known Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

160 Acre FARMS in Western Canada FREE

Illustration Showing Mixed Farming Scene in

WESTERN CANADA

Some of the choicest lands for grain growing, stock raising and mixed farming in the new districts of Saskatchewan and Alberta have recently been Opened for Settlement under the

Revised Homestead Regulations

Entry may now be made by proxy (on certain conditions), by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader. Thousands of homesteads of 160 acres each are thus now easily obtainable in these great grain-growing, stock-raising and mixed farming sections.

There you will find healthful climate, good neighbors, churches for family worship, schools for your children, good laws, splendid crops, and railroads convenient to market.

Entry fee in each case is $10.00. For pamphlet, "Last Best West," particulars as to rates, routes, best time to go and where to locate, apply to W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or W. H. Rogers, 3d Floor Traction Terminal Building, Indianapolis, Ind., and H. M. Williams, Room 20, Law Building, Toledo, Ohio, Authorized Government Agents.

Please say where you saw this advertisement.

Paxtine

TOILET ANTISEPTIC

Keeps the breath, teeth, mouth and body antiseptically clean and free from unhealthy germ-life and disagreeable odors, which water, soap and tooth preparations alone cannot do. A germicidal, disinfecting and deodorizing toilet requisite of exceptional excellence and economy. Invaluable for inflamed eyes, throat and nasal and uterine catarrh. At drug and toilet stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.

Large Trial Sample

WITH "HEALTH AND BEAUTY" BOOK SENT FREE

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., Boston, Mass.

THE MEN WHO KNOW

THE SUPERIOR QUALITIES OF

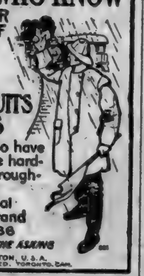
TOWER'S FISH BRAND

SLICKERS, SUITS AND HATS

are the men who have put them to the hardest tests in the roughest weather.

Get the original Tower's Fish Brand made since 1836

CATALOG FREE FOR THE ASKING



A. J. TOWER CO. BOSTON, U.S.A.
TOWER CANADIAN CO. LIMITED, TORONTO, CAN.

Get your Letter Paper and Envelopes printed at this office. We can give you the

EAGLE LINEN

PAPER and ENVELOPES

It is fine and will suit you. Try it.

MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS FOR CHILDREN,

A Certain Cure for Feverishness, Constipation, Headache, Stomach Troubles, Teething Disorders, and Destroy Worms. Break up Colds in 24 hours. At all Druggists. 25c. Sample mailed FREE. Address A. S. OLMSTED, Le Roy, N. Y.

Mother Gray, Nurse in Children's Home, New York City.

If afflicted with sore Eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

WHOLE COUNTIES DRY; LARGE CITIES GO WET

Saloon Issue Is Fought to Spectacular Finish Throughout Illinois.

BOTH SIDES CLAIM VICTORY.

1,259 Dramshops Voted Out of Business—Liquor Men Retain Strongholds.

Friends and foes of the saloon met in a bitter struggle Tuesday, fighting from one end of Illinois to the other, and from the Indiana line to the Mississippi River. They fought over the question of the abolition of more than 3,000 saloons in 1,200 townships of the State. Estimates from the headquarters tents of the rival chiefs vary seriously as to the details of the result. Conservative figures place the number of saloons abolished at 1,259, and twenty-five Illinois counties are added to the "dry" list.

The returns as they were received Tuesday night indicate that 535 incorporated cities and villages are now in anti-saloon territory; that 202 incorporated municipalities are in townships which refused to become anti-saloon territory, and that 1,259 saloons were "put out of business" by the vote. The net majority against the saloons, estimated on the returns from the townships voting, is 37,848.

In the face of these figures, representatives of the liquor interests say not more than 400 saloons were wiped out, while the anti-saloon forces claim not less than 2,000 will have to cease business.

The supporters of the saloons expressed themselves as well satisfied with the result, inasmuch as nearly every one of the larger cities where they had centered their defensive fight remain in the "wet" column.

Vote to Banish Saloons.

The following counties are now absolutely anti-saloon territory, so created by the voters Tuesday, and are in addition to the six which voted last November to banish the dramshops:

Boone,	Hamilton,
Brown,	Jefferson,
Champaign,	Macon,
Clark,	Mercer,
Coles,	Moultrie,
Cumberland,	Piatt,
DeWitt,	Richland,
Douglas,	Shelby,
Winnebago,	Saline,
Edgar,	Washington,
Fayette,	Wayne,
Gallatin,	White,
Greene,

It was in the cities that the desperate character of the warfare waged between the two elements developed in its entirety, and both sides were more or less surprised by the returns from some of the municipalities.

Option Results in Illinois.

"WET" CITIES.
Springfield,	Freeport,
Bloomington,	Elgin,
Pekin,	Moline,
Aurora,	Monmouth,
Danville,	Rock Island,
Kankakee,	Kewanee,
Edwardsville,	Geneseo,
Canton,	Marengo,
Murphysboro,	Minonk.
"DRY" CITIES.
Decatur,	Vandalia,
Galesburg,	Mount Carroll,
Rockford,	Taylorville,
Paris,	Dixon,
Urbana,	Clinton,
Champaign,	Fairbury,
Pontiac,	Dekalb,
Mount Sterling,	Sycamore,
Arcola,	Mattoon,
Shelbyville,	Harvard,
Hillsboro,	Carmi,
Litchfield,	Jerseyville.

Number of saloons wiped out..... 1,259
Net anti-saloon majority..... 37,848

Ten Michigan Counties Go "Dry."

Returns, which are not entirely complete, indicate that the Michigan Prohibitionists won in ten of the fourteen counties in which a fight was made. Big celebrations were held by the "drys." Van Buren, which has been the only "dry" county in the State for several years, did not vote on the question this spring. The law abolishing saloons goes into effect May 1, and hundreds of saloons and hotel bars will be closed. Oakland alone loses fifty-three barrooms and one brewery.

Results in Wisconsin.

Incomplete returns in the election show that David S. Rose was elected Mayor of Milwaukee by 3,500; that delegates at large favorable to La Follette have been elected, and also the junior senator is far in the lead in the delegates from the districts; that nine towns voted no license, and twenty-three towns voted for license; and John Barnes has been elected to the supreme bench.

BABY WASTED TO SKELETON.

In Torments with Terrible Sores on Face and Body—Tore at Flesh—Cured by Cuticura.

"My little son, when about a year and a half old began to have sores come out on his face. They began to come on his arms, then on other parts of his body, and then one came on his chest, worse than the others. At the end of about a year and a half of suffering he grew so bad I had to tie his hands in cloths at night to keep him from scratching the sores and tearing the flesh. He got to be a mere skeleton and was hardly able to walk. I sent to the drug store and got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment, and at the end of about two months the sores were all well. He has never had any sores of any kind since, and only for the Cuticura Remedies my precious child would have died from these terrible sores. I used only one cake of Soap and about three boxes of Cuticura Ointment. Mrs. Egbert Sheldon, R. F. D. No. 1, Woodville, Conn., April 22, 1905."

NEARLY 300,000 NEW ARRIVALS IN CANADA IN 1907.

About Sixty Thousand from the United States.

Now that it is known that in the year just closed nearly sixty thousand from the United States declared their intention of making their homes in Canada, it might not be out of place to search for some reasons that would bring this about. These people are but following the example of the fifty-five or sixty thousand who did the same thing the year previous and an almost equal number who the year before that but followed the example of the thousands of the year preceding. An excellent climate, certain and positive crops of grain of all kinds, good markets for their produce, land—and good land, too—at low prices, easy terms of payment (not forgetting the 160 acres of land given free by the government, particulars of which the Canadian Government Agent, whose name appears elsewhere, will tell you about), and then the splendid social conditions. The situation is pretty well sized up by a writer in one of the magazines. Quoting from this article we find this: "Those of us who made good in the States," interjected another settler as if to continue the story of his neighbor, "have had it easy from the start; a little money is a mighty good thing on coming into a new country. But those who make an entry, or even buy lands at low rates, are able to square things in two or three seasons' crops. There are hardships in building shanties and then, with increasing prosperity, getting things into shape for better homes. But affairs go much as in the States. We have the largest liberty in the world; there is more home rule in the provinces than in the several States of the republic. Taxes are light and with only a few million people west of Winnipeg we don't get in each other's way. One's friends over the line probably thought we would not live through the winter; and while it is cold, real cold, it is free from the moisture experienced in the East. Schools are good as encouraged by the government; the enterprising American promoter and Yankee drummer see to it that we take notice of the latest improvements and best agricultural machinery. Altogether we are as near to affairs as we would be on our own farms in the States. Winnipeg bears the same relation to us as Chicago did at home; and Edmonton with the surrounding region advances as Omaha did in the days when we were as young as the boys yonder. We get together much as they did in the granges over the border; the government has established experimental schools of agriculture, and progress in every line is stimulated. This is a great region for grazing," we hear the Calgary citizen continuing, "and then with building elevators of wheat at $1 a bushel, many of us find time to go over to the live stock exhibition in Chicago or visit old friends during the course of the winter. Every man is taken for what he is worth, or for what he can raise; and in this good air and on this fertile soil we intend to show our old friends that we are made of the right stuff—that we are chips of the old block who built up the American West."

Vermont gets the credit of being the granite State, but Pennsylvania leads in the production of stone, with nearly 14 per cent of the total to her credit.

Garfield Tea cannot but commend itself to those desiring a laxative at once simple, pure, mild, potent and health-giving. It is made of Herbs. All drug stores.

A German technical journal has gone to the trouble of estimating that the water of the whole ocean contains in solution over 2,000,000 tons of pure silver.

FITS St. Vitus' Dance and all Nervous Diseases Permanently Cured by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Send for Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. DR. R. H. KLINE, Ld., 931 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

ST. JACOBS OIL CONQUERS PAIN

FOR STIFFNESS, SORENESS, SPRAIN OR BRUISE, NOTHING IS BETTER THAT YOU CAN USE; LUMBAGO'S PAIN, RHEUMATIC TWINGE, YOUR BACK FEELS LIKE A RUSTY HINGE; SCIATIC ACHES ALL PLEASURES SPOIL, FOR HAPPINESS USE ST. JACOBS OIL.

25c.—ALL DRUGGISTS—50c.

Out of the Dim Past.

Alexander the Great had just subdued Bucephalus.

"Anybody can bust a broncho," he said, "but it takes a man to put the snaffles on a big four-legged devil like this one."

Being shrewd, politic fellows, the cowboys of that age allowed the impression to go out that they were afraid to try to ride the savage beast, and the subservient historians hastened to confirm that impression.

Ask Your Grocer for "Our-Pie."

If your grocer is one of the few who have not "OUR-PIE" Preparation in stock, send his name and 10 cents to D-Zerta Food Co., Rochester, N. Y., and they will mail you a full size, two pie package free. Three kinds, for making delicious lemon, chocolate and custard pies. Put up by D-Zerta Food Co., Rochester, N. Y.

The Nineteen Hole Golf Course.

"Neatness is essential on the links," said a noted golfer at a dinner in Chicago. "At Shinnecock Hills one day," he went on, "I played behind two young and pretty girls. Overtaking them, I heard the younger say:

"'How many holes on this course, Aileen?'

"'Nineteen, dear,' said Aileen, 'including the one in your stocking.'"

Pettit's Eye Salve for 25c

relieves tired or overworked eyes, stops eye aches, congested, inflamed or sore eyes. All druggists or Howard Bros., Buffalo, N. Y.

Crab Has 2,000,000 Joints.

The crab known as the scale-tailed apus was believed to have become extinct in Great Britain 50 years ago, the last recorded specimens being taken in the ponds on Hempstead Heath. But now it has turned up again in some numbers in two ponds on Preston Merse, near Southwick, in Kirkcudbrightshire. About two and a half inches long, the apus bears a very striking likeness to that remarkable creature, the king crab, and this because the fore part of the body is covered by a great semi-circular shield, or carapace, while, as in the king crab, it swims on its back. In the great number of its legs the scale-tailed apus has few rivals, while in the number of joints which these share between them no other creatures can compare. The naturalist, Schaffer, once essayed the task of counting them and made the magnificent total of 1,802,604. Latrelle put down the number as a round 2,000,000.—London Graphic.

In Germany there are fewer suicides among miners than among any other class of workingmen.

Do Your Clothes Look Yellow?

If so, use Red Cross Ball Blue. It will make them white as snow. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

The right hand, which is more sensitive to the touch than the left, is less sensitive than the latter to the effect of heat and cold.

COMMENCING SUNDAY, APRIL 26.

One Hundred Miles and Return $1.00 Via Nickel Plate Road.

Tickets on sale Sundays to points within 100 miles. Ask Local Agents or write J. C. Melenbacker, T. P. A., Fort Wayne, Ind. (10)

It Depended.

English John and Pat were two friendly workmen, who were constantly tilting, each one trying to outwit the other.

"Are you good at measurement?" asked John.

"I am that," said Pat, quickly.

"Then could you tell me how many shirts I could get out of a yard," asked John.

"Sure," said Pat, "it depends on whose yard you get into."

According to a German investigator, a smoker sends into the air about 4,000,000,000 particles of dust at every puff.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething: softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

Whose Money Is This?

Five miles east of Wheeling, W. Va., is the old Harvey mansion. In March, 1900, Col. James Harvey, the owner, was murdered, the object of the criminals being to secure a large sum of money believed to be in the house. For the crime two negroes, John Mooney and Harry Friday, were hanged.

The mansion was bought by A. S. Bell and the deed includes "the household goods and all appurtenances thereto." Last week carpenters engaged in making alterations found $11,000 secreted beneath a floor. Harvey's heirs claim the money, but Bell argues that his deed covers it. An interesting legal battle is probable.

Acetylene GENERATOR AGENTS. Handsome High-Efficiency ALCO-BURNERS, more light, profit and satisfaction. Write on letter head for proposition. Free sample to private users For name and address of dealer who sold your plant. Alco Burner Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. For house lighting only, $3.00 duplex

F. W. N. U. - - - No. 16—1908

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

There Is Only One

"Bromo Quinine"

That Is

Laxative Bromo Quinine

USED THE WORLD OVER TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.

Always remember the full name. Look for this signature on every box. 25c. E. W. Grove

PREMIUMS GIVEN AWAY

FOR CARTON TOPS OR SOAP WRAPPERS FROM "20-MULE-TEAM" BORAX PRODUCTS.

"20-MULE-TEAM" Borax, ½, 1 and 5 lb. Cartons, Borazo Bath Powder (10 and 25c tins), Violet Boric Talcum Powder, Boric Sparglets, Boric Acid, Boraxaid Soap Powder, "20-MULE-TEAM" Soap, Queen of Borax Soap, Boraxaid Laundry Soap, "20-MULE-TEAM" Soap Chips.

Send for 40-page Catalog of 1000 Valuable Premiums We Give Free

For Tops and Wrappers from the above "20-MULE-TEAM" Borax Products. You will find many articles of Household and Personal use that you can obtain ABSOLUTELY FREE. All you have to do is to SAVE YOUR TOPS OR WRAPPERS. Address

PACIFIC COAST BORAX CO., Chicago

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES

Color more goods brighter and faster colors than any other dye. One 10c package colors all fibers. They dye in cold water better than any other dye. You can dye any garment without ripping apart. Write for free booklet—How to Dye, Bleach and Mix Colors. MONROE DRUG CO., Quincy, Illinois

APRIL

2138
L 903

How Much, Please?

Want a choice cut of prime roast beef or tender, juicy veal? Maybe it's pork you want, or a nice delicious steak? Ham, sausage, bacon or chops may be your preference. Whatever it is, we have it at quick march prices.

Our meats are not the kind that are hard to cut and still harder to digest. It is young, tender and wholesome.

F. R. Leighty, Prop.,

St. Joe, - - - Ind.

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located in the Benj. Hamilton property on Widney avenue and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

BELL PHONE NO. 82.

St. Joe, - Indiana.

SPENCERVILLE
R. F. D. No. 1.

Sale Bills—we print them.

E. L. Dilley went to Ohio last week to visit his sister.

Farmers in this vicinity are busy plowing for their spring crops.

Lewis Lyons and wife spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lyons.

Miss Venus Horn went to Ft. Wayne Saturday, to spend a few days with her cousin, Lela Horn.

Why Suffer?

If you suffer pain from any cause, Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills will relieve it—and leave no bad after-effects. That's the important thing. Neither do they create a habit. More often the attacks become less frequent, or disappear altogether. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills have no other effect except to relieve pain and quiet nervous irritation.

"We are never without Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. My husband and son, aged 15 were always subject to sick headache until we began using these Pills, and they have broken them up entirely. Don't think they have had to use them for six months. I recommend them to every one. A few weeks ago I heard an old lady friend was sick. I went to see her. She was down with LaGrippe, and nearly crazy with awful backache. I gave her one of the Anti-Pain Pills and left another for her to take in a short time. They helped her right away, and she says she will never be without them again. Last winter my husband was taken with pluerisy on both sides, and I know he would have died if it hadn't been for the Pills. In less than half an hour he was sweating, and went to bed and slept."

MRS. O. H. WEBB,
Austinburg, Ohio.

Your druggist sells Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, and we authorize him to return the price of first package (only) if it fails to benefit you.

Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind

The Horn school closed Friday. Vinton Miller taught it.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Horn took dinner with Mrs. Rebecca Wise, Sunday.

Mrs. Geo. Horn was called to South Bend last week, to attend the funeral of her uncle, Jacob Betz, who died of apoplexy.

Whooping Cough.

I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family in cases of whooping cough, and want to tell you that it is the best medicine I have ever used.—W. F. Gaston, Posco, Ga. This remedy is safe and sure. For sale by H. Milliman, St. Joe: F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

SPENCERVILLE R F D No 2.

C. M. Wearley spent Monday and Tuesday at Woodburn.

Mr. and Mrs D. M. Kelley spent Thursday at Hicksville.

David Furnish of near Spencerville, spent Sunday with Ort Wearley.

Mrs. Will Lake and Inez Rhoades made a business trip to Hicksville, Monday.

Mrs. Minnie Tyndall and children spent Sunday with her parents, John Provines.

Willie Benninghoff, who has been working in Chicago returned home Friday evening.

Earl Staman of near Auburn, spent Sunday with his parents, Wes Zimmerman and family.

The young folks from this vicinity are helping prepare an Easter entertainment which will be held Sunday evening.

Clede Kyle of Hicksville, spent Thursday with his aunt and uncle, Sarah and Isaac Kyle, and also called upon Clint Wearley and family.

FAIRVIEW

Myrtle Platter was the guest of Erma Houser, Sunday.

Master Harold Coyle and Ruth Morr spent Sunday with Argyle Houser.

Lankey Morrs' visited with Mr. Morr's sister, Mrs Frank McCrury, Sunday.

Mrs. Jane Cosper, son Paul and daughter Mildred were guests of Reuben Koch and wife, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Coyle were called to Fairfield, Sunday, on account of the accident of their nephew.

Hays school house was pretty well crowded, last Friday. A fine dinner at noon, a treat later and a program given mostly by the little folks was greatly enjoyed.

Miss Gladys Smith of Newville has been engaged to sing a solo at Fairview, Saturday night. Come and hear her. It will be worth your while. Remember Saturday night.

WABASH CORNERS.

Roscoe Rickett went to Peru, Saturday.

George Pervines made a business trip to Grabill, Thursday.

John Smith was a Sunday guest of Wm. Pervines and family.

Geraldine Rickett was a Sunday guest of Sherman Rickett's.

Miss Joy Shutt of Harlan called on Mrs. O. K. Shull, Saturday morning.

Howard, Lewis and Mary Pervines spent Monday with John Smith and family.

Mattie Hennesey of Concord spent one day last week, with Aunt Em Simanton.

Mr. Eck and Miss Worthington, both of Butler, were guests of Sam Nelson and family, Sunday.

C. F. Pervines of Ashland, Ohio, was the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Pervines, from Friday till Monday.

Mrs. Ella Gill of St. Joe and Mrs. Angelia Wolff were the guests of their brother, Dennis White and wife of Auburn on Tuesday of last week.

A Woman Tells How To Relieve Rheumatic Pains.

I have been a very great sufferer from the dreadful disease, rheumatism, for a number of years. I have tried many medicines but never got much relief from any of th em until two years ago, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I found relief before I had used all of one bottle but kept on applying it and soon felt like a different woman. Through my advice many of my friends have tried it and can tell you how wonderfully it has worked.—Mrs. Sarah A. Cole, 140 S. New St., Dover, Del.. Chamberlain's Pain Balm is a liniment The relief from pain which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. It makes rest and sleep possible. For sale by H. Milliman, St Joe; F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

Obituary.

Rachel Minerva Vanzile was born in Ashland County, Ohio, April 10, 1836 and departed this life at Spencerville, DeKalb county, Ind., April 9, 1908, having lived seventy-two years lacking one day.

Her parents moved to Pennsylvania where they remained until she was three years old, when they returned to Ashland county, Ohio, where they remained. Her mother was born in Allegheny, Penn., and her father, Edward Britt in Ireland.

In the year 1854, Miss Britt was married to Daniel Vanzile, to which union were born ten children, six daughters and four sons. Two daughters died in infancy one, Mrs. Frederick, at the age of twenty. The surviving children are Mrs. Mary E. Wyatt of Concord, Mrs. Sidney Farner of Spencerville, Mrs. Sarah A. Lower and Thomas of Butler, John of Manistee, Mich., and George and Samuel of Auburn. Also a large circle of grandchildren survive.

The first ten years of the married life of Mr. and Mrs. Vanzile were spent in their Ohio home, where were born two boys and two girls. In 1864 they removed to Allen County, Indiana, where they remained until about four years ago when they came to Spencerville. The husband preceded to the spirit world a little more than a year ago. Mrs. VanZile became a Christian early in life and remained faithful until death came. When she realized that the end was drawing near she called her children to her bedside and said to them "It is alright; I am not afraid; I am going home," and peacefully and hopefully fell asleep to await the resurrection morn.

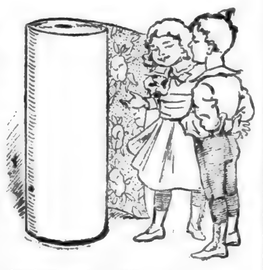
The funeral services were held in the Spencerville M. E. church, April 12, with Rev. C. B. Sweeney in charge. The text used was St. John xi 25. "I am the Resurrection and the life." Interment was made in the Spencerville cemetery.

Death Was on His Heels.

Jesse P. Morris, of Skippers, Va., had a close call in the spring of 1906. He says: "An attack of pneumonia left me so weak and with such a fearful cough that my friends declared consumption had me, and death was on my heels. Then I was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It helped me immediately, and after taking two and a half bottles I was a well man again. I found out that New Discovery is the best remedy for coughs and lung disease in all the world." Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store. 50c and $1.00 Trial bottle free.

Carpets and Rugs.

There is no department in our BIG STORE that gives us more pleasure in showing a Customer, than our CARPET DEPARTMENT. There is where you can see the real value and worth of an article.



Large Room Size Rugs—in artistic coloring and designs that appeal to every Lady, Carpets of real worth, Lineoleumsthat will brighten the kitchen, Lace Curtains, Rope and Curtain Portiers that will help to make your house a home. We know you'll be pleased to see this department and invite you to call and inspect these goods whether you wish to buy or not. Our prices are always a little less than other stores.

Ladies Spring Jackets and Skirts

We are now showing one of the best line of JACKETS and SKIRTS that's been our good fortune to get.

We want you to see these Nobby things and invite inspection.

We have already sold some very particular customers and we know we can fit and please you, if you'll give us A ...CHANCE....

Big Four Store.

St. Joe, Ind.

Local Briefs

Envelopes 5c a bunch.

Easter Cards Milliman's barbershop.

A few good dry oak fence posts for sale yet. M. T. BISHOP.

Frank Bishop of Garrett, was in town one day last week.

Orval Wise and Mr. Goodal, manager of the Auburn Lumber Co., were in town, Sunday.

Frank Baker and family of Concord, and Mr. Smith and family of Auburn Jct., visited Mrs. Ann Dilley, Sunday.

Having had 5 years experience, am prepared to do all kinds of cement work, foundations, sidewalks and cisterns a specialty.

5-1 WID WILLIAMS.

Some of the local hunters in this vicinity thinkit would be a profitable idea if a law would be enacted prohibiting the shooting of ducks during the spring for a term of possibly five years When the ducks return from the south their purpose is to find favorable hatching places and in most instances where they locate in this vicinity, they are frightened away by the report of the hunter's gun. In five years' time the wild duck would become more tame if there was a law against shooting them and consequently would make certain localities their yearly feeding and hatching grounds. Within that period of time, local hunters would without doubt be afforded much better shooting and could easily secure as many ducks in one year as the they could in all five years if the ducks would not come any better than they did last year.

Easter Greetings

and

Best Wishes.

Stop Baking.

Summer is here. Let me relieve you of that drudgery—Baking. Always have a good line of fresh baked goods on hand.

As goood a grocery stock as is in town. I want your produce, butter and eggs.

H. C. Hathaway.

For Thin, Poor Blood

You can trust a medicine tested 60 years! Sixty years of experience, think of that! Experience with Ayer's Sarsaparilla; the original Sarsaparilla; the Sarsaparilla the doctors endorse for thin blood, weak nerves, general debility.

But even this grand old medicine cannot do its best work if the liver is inactive and the bowels constipated. For the best possible results, you should take laxative doses of Ayer's Pills while taking the Sarsaparilla.

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of

Ayer's HAIR VIGOR. AGUE CURE. CHERRY PECTORAL.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

NOW

is the time to get some eggs of this fine breed of BLACK TAIL JAPANESE BANTAMS.

M. T. Bishop,

ST. JOE, IND.

APRIL

L 903

0139

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXII. ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA. WEDNESDAY, APRIL 15, 1908. NO. 16

MANY

Have Been Convinced

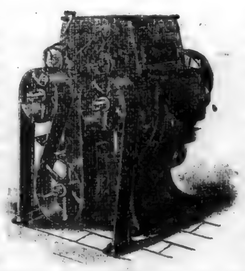
of the merits of the Monarch Attrition Mill and we are daily grinding feed for satisfied customers. They have learned that the MONARCH makes ideal feed. There is a reason why. Try it and see.

We will grind your grist while you do your trading.

WHEN YOU BUY FLOUR



It's always best to select a brand of established quality "OUR DAILY BREAD" the perfect flour, has been weighed in the balance and has always met the requirements of the best homes. It is an all-round flour of the choicest kind. Many young ladies who expect to be come housewives this fall are, with the aid of this popular flour now learning the better sort of baking. As a consequence an equal number of young men will have occasion to "pat themselves on the back." The best bread bakers use the best flour—that's "OUR DAILY BREAD." Its best recommendation is the multitude of housewives who use it.

Keesler Milling Co.

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

Choked to Death

Mrs. Ballard Bowen died by choking at her home, three miles north of town, last Weenesday evening while eating supper She was eating chicken and it is supposed that a piece of the meat entered the wind pipe, and within seven minutes she was dead. It was a great shock to the family and surrounding community. The funeral was held at Millersburg, Ind., on Monday of this week. Rev. Heininger accompanied them and preached the funeral sermon. Obituary next week.

L. W. Treesh

Chosen as President of S. S. Assn.

Levi Treesh of Corunna, was made president of the county Sunday school association Thursday afternoon by the executive committee which met in Auburn. A. S. Stewart of Garrett, was made vice president. The change at this time is necessary because of Lee Tustison, who was elected president at the last meeting of the association, having located at South Whitley and unable to look after the duties.

Every little bit added to what you've got makes just a little bit more.

Is your money making money for you? The more of it you have working for you, the less you need to work yourself. We pay 4 per cent interest compounded semi-annually on Certificates of Deposit.

$1.00 will double itself in 17 years 183 days.
$1.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $147.49.
$5.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $737.43
$10.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $1474.85

Now is the time to save. Anyone can save from $1.00 to $10.00 a month if they only will. It's not what you earn but what you save Four per cent interest added to what you've already got makes just a little bit more

Grabill State Bank,

Grabill, Indiana.

Joseph Witmer, Pres. Albert Egly, Cashier.
David Klopfenstein, V. Pres. Marcus Yager, Asst. Cashier.

REAR ADMIRAL SPERRY.

The Naval Officer Who Will Bring Our Big Fleet Home.

It will be a unique honor which will come to Rear Admiral Charles Stillman Sperry in taking the battleship fleet now in the Pacific from San Francisco across the widest of the oceans to Samoa and Hawaii, Australia and the Philippines and then through the Indian ocean and the Suez canal and back to Hampton Roads. The illness of Rear Admiral Evans, which compels him to yield up the command of the fleet on its arrival at San Francisco, is a piece of good luck to Rear Admiral Sperry. But his responsibilities will be heavy in conducting the battleships, which will number eighteen on leaving San Francisco, on this part of their cruise. During the Spanish war he was equipment officer in the New York navy yard. He did not figure in the fighting with Spain, but a little later he took command of the Yorktown in Philippine waters and directed the actions of the landing party on the eastern shore of Luzon. The episodes of this movement made it one of the most exciting in the campaign against Aguinaldo. The Yorktown's landing party was captured by Aguinaldo's men. Some were wounded, and all were carried away as prisoners. Then began the famous chase after the insurgents and their prisoners throughout the length of the island, resulting in the release of the captured men at Aparri. The task of the officers and soldiers who went to the rescue of the Yorktown men was popularly known as the "hare and hounds" expedition. The men endured great hardships.

REAR ADMIRAL CHARLES S. SPERRY.

Admiral Sperry was born in New York in 1847. He married Edith Marcy, a granddaughter of the famous Governor William L. Marcy of New York, graduated from the Naval academy in 1866 and became a rear admiral in 1900. He was a delegate to The Hague peace conference of last year, has been president of the war college and participated in the voyage of the "white squadron" to Europe and South America in 1891-8.

COBURN'S CORNERS.

Howard Northrup is at Fort Wayne this week.

Washington Hart is much improved at this writing.

Miss Fannie Milliman is visiting at Wolf Lake a few days.

Anna Wilmot spent Sunday with Lena Coburn, of St. Joe, Sunday.

Floyd Coburn has been sick this week but is better at this writing.

Fred Hart and family took dinner with W. M. Abel and family, Sunday.

W. M. Abel is having his house painted. Mr. Wade is doing the work.

Lee Tustison and friend, Mr. Domer of South Whitley, visited with Chas. Tustison over Sunday.

Lawrence Hart of Hicksville spent a day with his grand parents. Wash Hart and wife last week.

The band entertainment was well patronized Saturday evening. The boys had a full house and cleared over $30.

Mr. Goldsmith and family of Spencerville, O. K. Shull and family, Miss Joy Snutt and Wm. Hamilton and wife took dinner with Benjamin Hamilton and wife Sunday.

Word has been recieved by the friends and relatives that Geo. Abel's son, who was injured by a train last Saturday, died Monday afternoon. The funeral will be held Wednesday at 2:00 P. M.

Alumni Meeting.

The High School Alumni will meet this (Wednesday) evening at the home of Lora Hull. All members urged to be present.

CHURCH OF CHRIST.

Bible Study Class Thursday evening, April 16, 7 p. m. Sunday School 9:30 a. m. next Sunday morning and evening. You are cordially invited to all these services.

J. A. Brown, Pastor.

Pythian Sisters Initiate.

Last Tuesday eve at their regular meeting the Pythian Sisters took in a class of seven, Mrs. W. Mutzfeld, Mrs. Anna Lothammer, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Widney and Sol Barney. Several ladies from the Butler Temple were in attendance. After the session closed a fine luncheon was served and a general good time was had by all.

He Got What He Needed.

"Nine years ago it looked as if my time had come," says Mr. C. Farthing, of Mill Creek, Ind. Ter. "I was so run down that life hung on a very slender thread. It was then my druggist recommended Electric Bitters. I bought a bottle and I got what I needed—strength. I had one foot in the grave, but Electric Bitters put it back on the turf again, and I've been well ever since." Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store. 50c.

See our Easter Post Cards. George Milliman.

J. W. Dills of Hicksville, was in town yesterday calling on old friends and neighbors.

Mike Long of Butler, was in town yesterday. He has a fine new auto-buggy, made by the International Harvester Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Widney of Adrian, Mich., arrived yesterday for a visit with his mother, Mrs Matilda Widney, who is in very poor health.

Mrs. Bessie Tustison has come to my barber shop for over a year and she will tell you that I have the finest Quinine Tonic and Glycerine Shampoo that she has ever used.

Should any lady wish to have us treat their scalp and hair, we would advise them to call in the forenoons.

Geo. Milliman, Barber

S. S. Workers.

The Township Sunday School Association will hold their next convention at Concord, May 3rd. All Sunday School workers are urged and expected to be present, as this will be the last meeting before the annual county convention. Superintendent, come with a complete report of your school.

Clarence C. Woodcox, Pres.

Fresh candy now at Milliman's shop

Simon Hendricks has been on the sick list the past week.

Grover C. Blake of Anderson, who murdered his mother with a hammer about three weeks ago, while drunk, was sentenced to a life term in the Michigan City prison.

U R invited to call at our store and inspect our line of FURNITURE .....HARDWARE, STOVES AND RANGES.....

Hardware.

We aim to keep on hand a full line of Up-to-Date shelf hardware, Builders Hardware, Hay and Garden tools, Rope, Wire Screen Doors, Adjustable Screen Windows, Wringers, Washers, Tubs, Ironing Boards, Wool twine, Boss Cream Seperator, and Tarred Paper Roofing. We handle the Lowes Bros. paint, known all over the world as a guaranteed paint, and pure Linseed Oil. In fact everything in an Up-to Date Hardware Store. The Penninsular line of ranges are fully guaranteed.

Furniture.

Here we mention a few articles. Side Boards, Dressers, Tables, Rocking and Dining Chairs, Bed Room Suits, Iron Beds, Mattresses, Springs, Etc.

Undertaking

given prompt attention. Give us a call and be convinced that our work and prices are right

We are at your Service.

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

St Joe, Ind

APRIL

L 903

BALLADE OF EASTER.

Fled the legions of the cold
'Neath the sun's triumphant ray;
So, across the kindling wold
How the vernal lights have play!
Beauty burgeons from decay;
Glow and glory follow gloom;
Hark! the bells of Easter say
"Christ has risen from the tomb!"

Earth, that seems so sere and old,
Feels the fore-thrill of the May,
When the creamy king-cup gold
Shall enrich the meadow way;
Even now their lovely lay
Bluebirds lift where catkins bloom,
While the bells of Easter say
"Christ has risen from the tomb

All the children of the mold,
Little brethren of the clay,
Water-folk, or shy or bold,
Airy comrades, grave or gay,
Know spring's summons and obey,
Hope!—they bid us give it room
Now the bells of Easter say,
"Christ has risen form the tomb."

ENVOY.

Prince of Peace, thy promised day
Shall the night of death illume,
For the bells of Easter say
"Christ has risen from the tomb"
—Clinton Scollard.

EASTER LILIES.

By Felice Vaughn.

The sound of her own name pierced the whirling, buzzing mist which had enveloped Marjorie Wilton ever since she had taken her place on this bare, wooden platform. She arose somewhat unsteadily, and took a step or two forward. The open music in her hand trembled so that she could not have read the printed words had she looked down upon them. But she did not. She could not take her eyes from those rows of eager, boyish faces turned toward her so expectantly.

Forty pairs of shuffling feet had suddenly grown still; forty pairs of bright eyes were fixed upon her face and forty little newsboys were waiting for her to sing, not so much, perhaps, that they might hear her voice, as in admiration for the pretty girl in white who had come down to Newsboys' hall to sing to them in words so simple and sweet that even they might understand.

One little song, though it breathed a sadness quite out of keeping with their cheery natures, they liked best of all, for it told of angels welcoming a poor, weary earth-child, and when it was ended there came one breathless moment when each boy sat staring straight ahead of him, and in his heart echoed Tiny Tim's wondering whisper: "'Spose that means Johnny Bell?" Then they looked up again—this time in surprise, for the girl had put away her music and her eyes were sparkling at the thought of her beautiful plan.

It was Marjorie Wilton's first and last "speech," and she halted and stammered many times under the steady gaze of all those eyes, but no orator ever had a more attentive audience than this which sat and listened in silence to the story she had to tell. It was the story of a little blue-eyed girl, crippled and all alone in the world now that her brother had been taken to his heavenly home; of a poor crooked back which grew weaker and weaker till the child could only lie still all day long in the little garret room which a kindly woman, though nearly as poor herself, had shared with her; of a girl who had found the little sufferer and had told a great doctor, who labored not for gain; and lastly, of hope—the hope of a new life when she might run and play with other little girls, and be well and strong again.

"And now she is going to take her first step after all these years on Easter Sunday. And oh, boys, shan't we try to make it a happy day for her, you and I?"

Quite unconsciously the girl stretched out her hands to them. And the boys would have gone through fire or flood to please her, for in that moment they knew that she was talking of Lily Bell, the little sister that Johnny had loved so dearly and for whose sake he had worked early and late. A perfect storm of approval went up, while one, more practical than the rest, shouted out in question: "What's she want?"

"She wants," said Marjorie, "an Easter lily. You see it is her birthday, too, and she was named for the beautiful flowers. I thought that for Johnny's sake you boys might send her one, for I am sure it would please her more than if anybody else did."

Again the storm of applause broke out.

"I'll give one! I'll give her one! Put down my name!" came in chorus. The newsboys did not count the hours when they must trudge wearily from house to house, or stand upon street corners in the rain or cold.

Marjorie smiled down upon them as she said: "Well, I am sure the little girl will have her heart's desire; but you needn't each send one, you know."

Long after the beautiful "magic-lantern pictures" had faded from the great white curtain, the last song was ended, and Newsboys' hall lay wrapped in darkness, the boys lingered about the door talking it all over, and for days little groups of very excited urchins might be seen gathered on the corners of some busy streets, and there was much mysterious nodding of heads and counting over of grimy pennies, while a sharp lookout was always kept for "the other fellows." The florists wondered much at the queer little delegations that came stepping cautiously in between the great swinging doors and went wandering among the beautiful waving palms and fragrant flowers, yet always coming back to gaze with wide eyes at the great banks of Easter lilies. Perhaps these same smiling clerks might have told of other such delegations, and other slender stalks, topped with pure white blossoms, which were ordered to be sent to "Miss Lily Bell" on Easter morning; yet there was always this same sense of delightful mystery, and as everyone had acted as though it were the most precious of secrets, they said not a word.

Glad bells rang out to greet the dawn of Easter day! The first sweet flowers of spring had pushed their way through the moist ground in token that winter was past. Everyone was joyous, yet none more so than the little blue-eyed girl who lay watching the sunbeams dance across the rude garret floor, for she had the promise of a new life, too.

"Oh, Auntie Murphy, won't my Mr. Doctor ever come?" asked Lily Bell, for the twentieth time since breakfast, and "Auntie Murphy" was just going to answer as she had before, "Yes, dearie, pretty soon," when there came a tramping upon the rickety stairs, and, a moment later, a knocking which fairly shook the little door. Lily Bell and Mrs. Murphy looked at each other. Who could it be? Visitors were not frequent in this little garret home, and Mr. Doctor never made such a clatter.

"Oh, sir, are you sure there's no mistake?" was all the good woman could say, as the stalwart young Irishman who had walked into the center of the little room, slid the great jar carefully from his shoulder to the floor.

"No'm," he replied, still breathless from his long climb, "not if this is where Miss Lily Bell lives."

"Oh! Oh! it isn't for me!"

Lily Bell had stretched out her hands toward the beautiful white flower and in her blue eyes shone a happiness which made the young man forget all about those long flights of stairs. He made the trip seven times, reappearing after each journey with another Easter lily which he placed in the little circle about the bed so that the happy girl might lean out and touch each one in almost reverent wonder. On his way down for the last time he met another florist's man on the second landing and told him of Lily Bell and the wonderful happiness which had come to her on that Easter morn, and offered to help him with his load.

The curious little crowd which had gathered before the tenement shouted in wonder when a third wagon was drawn up before the door and more great jars were carried in, and when, at last, Marjorie and the doctor came driving up and saw the many onlookers they were afraid that the building must be on fire. The girl carried a great bunch of violets which she said were like the blue of Lily Bell's eyes, and the doctor some very mysterious parcels, yet these were quite forgotten as they stood on the threshold of the tiny room, not at all sure that they had not wandered into fairyland.

"Oh, those blessed boys!" cried Marjorie, as she stooped to kiss the little white face, and then she told them all.

When the tender body was released from its iron frame, Lily Bell, though a very different Lily Bell now, in the pretty white dress which Marjorie had brought, flitted from flower to flower, scarcely knowing whether to be most happy in this strange new strength or the pure white blossoms which she had wanted so long that they did not seem real to her now. Suddenly she stood still among the snowy beauties, for all the world like some fragile flower herself.

"Oh, I forgot!" she cried, while a shade of sadness crossed her face.

"Forgot! Lily Bell?" Marjorie was beside her in an instant.

"Why, about poor old Granny Flynn and Maggie Tod and Bobbie, that will never be well again, and all the rest. Oh, how could I?" the little girl cried, and then they read her unspoken thought.

The newsboys came and carried the flowers which Lily Bell sent into many a poor home that Easter day, and somehow they were glad that in her great happiness she had not forgotten those about her to whom no Easter joy had come.

Easter Day—Its Origin.

It is probable that Easter received its name from the Saxon goddess Eastre, whose festival was kept about the same season each year as Easter.

In the ancient church the celebration of Easter lasted eight days, but in later times it was limited to two or three days. It used to be a festival of pleasure as well as a time for generosity and the performing of good deeds. Alms were given to the needy, the sick were visited by the rich and great, and often slaves were freed, and poor unfortunates suffering imprisonment liberated. Services were held during the whole week preceding Easter Sunday, on which day people greeted each other with kisses, saying: "He is risen!" the response always being "He is risen, indeed!" In the Greek church this custom is still observed.

The custom of exchanging eggs on Easter—or during holy week—is a very old one and symbolizes the resurrection or renewed life.

Easter day is always the first Sunday after the full moon, which comes upon or next after the 21st of March, which date is the beginning of the old church year. If the full moon comes on Sunday, Easter day falls on the Sunday following.

WOE BE UNTO HUBBY—IT'S COME AGAIN.

AN EASTER PARTY.

THE EASTER RABBIT.

At Easter time the little ones eagerly watch for that delightful personage, the "Easter Rabbit," or, the "Oster Haus," as the German children call him. As an Easter party is always welcomed gladly by little folks, we must invent some new games for them, for they may be tired of old ones.

The Easter rabbit is as big as a four-year-old boy. He has silky white fur, long ears, soft pink eyes and a fluffy tail that looks like a ball of cotton. On his back is tied a large, strong basket, in which he carries the eggs, toy bunnies, etc. The big sister or brother can draw just such a rabbit on heavy white paper, being careful to leave off the ears. Then on smaller sheets of paper he or she may draw ears. These ears are cut out and a pin is run through the paper near the place it is fastened to the head. Each child is armed with one of these and blindfolded. The object of the game is to see who can pin their ears nearest the spot where the ear should be. A suitable prize is a rabbit full of candy.

RELIGIOUS

The Well Before the Door.

"Where shall we dig the well?" they asked as they sat in their new home, one bright day long ago. They had come to spend their honeymoon, and the long years following, under their own rooftree.

After much discussion they decided to dig it in front of the house, where it would be available both for their own use and for that of people passing by on the long road. Life was so full of joy for them they were eager to share it with others; and the place was so isolated, it proved a satisfaction to have carriages stop before the door, and exchange a greeting as the horses drank. There were some disadvantages, for the home became semi-public; and there were times when the bride would have been glad to wash her dishes without fear of intrusion. But the well and the always possible visit encouraged tidiness within, and all in all, the visits were welcome.

The years went by, and the home filled with children, and then grew nearly empty again, as the young people went forth into life. And at length the husband died, leaving the widow, with one of her married sons, in the old home.

The son came back from some years of experience in the world, and saw the well through other eyes than those of his childhood.

"Mother," said he, "I want to change the line of the front fence, and enclose the well. What's the use of all this bother? People just take it for granted, and don't appreciate it, and the thing has grown to be a nuisance."

It was not wholly ill humor on the part of the young man. Sawmills had come into the woods; and heavy wagons bearing loads of logs and lumber cut not only the road and the little semicircular drive, but the little crescent of green sod between the well and the road. Teamsters were careless in the use of the water, and left deep mud-puddles behind them. Flies gathered about the resting oxen, and sometimes left them, and sought the porch and house. Drivers were not always careful of their language; and their rough talk, plainly audible within, was often most annoying. Few even of those who drove by in carriages asked permission or said "Thank you." The well had been there so long, the public had accepted it as its own, and ceased to make acknowledgment. The son, and his wife as well, looked upon these things as intolerable; and so one day the posts were drawn and the fence was begun.

Then came a line of log-laden wagons, and halted in the road; and the drivers were dismayed to find a post set in the middle of the driveway, and other post-holes digging. They drove on, the panting oxen wondering as they pulled their heavy loads up the hill without their accustomed refreshment. The son watched them out of sight, and then walked to the well for a drink. Behind the vines on the porch he heard a sob, and went to see the meaning of it.

"The home is yours, my boy," said the mother, "and I must not make you and Ella uncomfortable with my old-fashioned notions. But your father and I had the well dug there because we wanted to share our blessings with others; and in these recent years it has been almost the only blessing I had to share. I could not go to church; I had little money to give; there was no one I could help in any other way. So I sat here among the vines, and watched the people as they drank, and the oxen sinking their heads in the trough, and rejoiced that I could give a cup of cold water in the name of the Lord. I don't want to complain; but this is taking away my one remaining form of service in His name."

The son was thoughtful a moment; then he called his wife, and the three talked it over together.

"Let mother have her way," said Ella. "It is her right."

"Mother," said the son, "we'll compromise. There's one post set which will prevent driving in. Let us leave it there for a week, and they will have to carry water out if they get any. That will be a hint. And after that the post shall come down."

The hint was effective, in part, at least. Teamsters were not long in suspecting whom they had to thank, and grew more considerate.

So the old lady sat among her vines a few years longer, with joy that she could give a cup of cold water as a servant of the Lord. A few months ago she died, and was mourned by a larger circle of friends than she had known.—Youth's Companion.

Christ's Mission.

Jesus is, on the field of time, the perfect expression of a humanity which is divine and eternal, the humanity from which you yourselves came forth, and into which you must all return. This was His mission; He came to show us our origin and our goal. It is what constitutes His pre-eminence. He was God manifest in the flesh, as we ought to be and are not, and as we would be if we could succeed in living our lives as Jesus lived His. Moreover, we shall never contend with Him for that pre-eminence. We do not need to do so, for our highest homage to Jesus will be to conform our lives to His moral likeness; and when all humanity is gathered home to God, and becomes what God has purposed it shall be, a perfect expression of His own divine reality, then we shall find Jesus to be the firstborn among many brethren, an ideal expression of God.—Rev. R. J. Campbell.

The Best Remedy.

Dr. Talmage once told a story of a soldier in England who was brought by a sergeant to the colonel:

"What," says the colonel, "bringing the man here again? We have tried everything with him."

"Oh, no," said the sergeant. "There is one thing you haven't tried. I would like you to try that."

"What is that?" said the colonel.

Said the man: "Forgiveness."

The case had not gone so far, but that it might take that turn, and so the colonel said:

"Well, young man, you have done so and so. What is your excuse?"

"I have no excuse; but I am very sorry," said the man.

"We have made up our minds to forgive you," said the colonel.

The tears started. He had never been accosted in that way before. His life was reformed, and that was the starting point for a positively Christian life. Oh, church of God, quit your irony, quit your tittle-tattle, and try forgiveness. God, your mother, tries it all the time. A man's sin may be like a continent, but God's forgiveness is like the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, bounding it on both sides.

The Angels of Grief.

With silence only as their benediction,
God's angels come
Where, in the shadow of a great affliction,
The soul sits dumb!

Yet would I say what thy own heart approveth!
Our Father's will,
Calling to Him the dear one whom He loveth,
Is mercy still.

Not upon thee or thine the solemn angel
Hath evil wrought;
The funeral anthem is a glad evangel—
The good die not!

God calls our loved ones, but we lose not wholly
What He hath given;
They live on earth, in thought and deed as truly
As in His Heaven.

Meeting the Divine Conditions.

The rainbow covenant has never been broken. The Bible is full of precious promises suited to every need and circumstance of our life. They promise so much, and are so full, that at times we almost wonder whether they are meant for us. But it is in the light of these and our limited possession of them that we should understand how greatly we are living beneath our privileges in God's gracious ministration. How the windows of Heaven would be opened, and how God would fulfill His promises if we would but meet His conditions!

Cheer on the Christian Way.

It should be the aim of every Christian man and woman to become strong and when strength is won to use that strength in bearing the burdens of others. Every sorrow mastered, every burden borne inside instead of outside, makes us stronger, and leaves the world brighter. Learn to smile, get the habit of it; learn to sing, make it also a habit; and you will be surprised how much brighter it makes the world, not only to others, but to yourself! The smile and the song lessen the burden and light up the way.

A Daily Prayer.

The cleansing of a soul at the time of regeneration will no more keep a Christian forever pure than a single ablution of his face or form would make his body clean for a lifetime. The world soils our souls every day. Each unholy thought, each angry word, each act of deceit, each covetous desire, each unsincere, unbelieving prayer, each cowardly desertion of duty, leaves an ugly spot. "Create in me a clean heart," is every hour's prayer for a Christian's whole life.—T. L. Cuyler.

From a Lyric of Sorrow.

One night I held her hand while she held my hand
And gently speaking to her I did say:
"If you will be my wife we will be married;"
And speaking back to me she answered:
"Nay,
My father's lost his job down at the gas house,
And mother's working hard to pay the rent,
We couldn't take another mouth to feed at present."
And sadly parting then away I went.
—Clever.

Try to get rich quick to-day, then hunt a job to-morrow.

APRIL

L 903

ON EASTER MORNING.

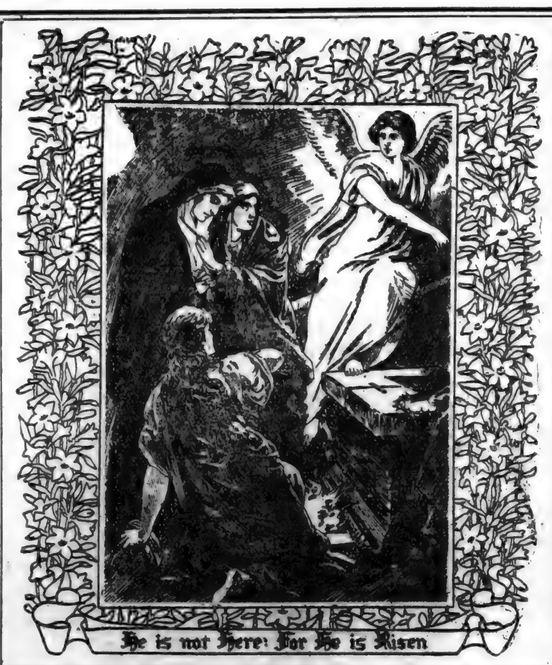
Beautiful children, whose voices sweet
Echo the carol the bells repeat
  All in the Easter morning,
Did ye know that before the sun so red
Had clambered up from his downy bed
Loveliest carols were sung and said
  Early on Easter morning?

Out where the willows are bending low,
Out where the mists drift to and fro,
  All in the Easter morning,
Little brown birds in quiet nest,
Twittering low 'neath mother's breast,
Say, "Spring is coming; let's sing our best,"
  Early on Easter morning.

Dainty ferniets, in woolly fold,
Safely hidden from wind and cold,
  All in the Easter morning,
Lifting their blankets, peep to see
What kind of a place the world may be
And waken and rustle merrily
  Early on Easter morning.

The clear little brook sings low and sweet,
Touching the pebbles with dainty feet,
  All in the Easter morning,
"Spring is coming; I make the way
Green, where the flowers shall be some day;
Singing, I herald the sun's first ray
  Early on Easter morning."

Beautiful ones, ere the sun was red
Loveliest carols were sung and said
  All in the Easter morning,
The light mist shroudeth the sleepy town,
But the birds and the ferns and the brooklet brown
Sing in the gray, while the stars look down,
  Early on Easter morning.
—N. C. Waterman, in Youth's Companion.



YOUNG FOLKS

Little Billy's Easter Hoard

All the children had a hoard of eggs hidden away for Easter—all but Billy. Billy was so small and fat that he could not climb on the hay mows to find the nests. Sue, Mary and Teddy were bigger, and the contest with them went gayly on. Easter morning their hoards would be brought forth from their hiding places, and the one who had the most eggs would be the best fellow.

Mother would give them some bits of bright calico and pieces of onion peel; the eggs would be wrapped in those and boiled, and when taken out of the water the onion ones would have beautiful yellow shells, and the ones wrapped in calico would have dainty flowers and patterns traced on them. Perhaps they might have some of those gorgeous purple and crimson dyes for certain highclass eggs. Anyway, there would be a brave showing.

BILLY GAVE ONE RAPTUROUS LOOK.

Billy would probably have some given to him, but they would not be his own hoard, and the heart of Billy was heavy within him.

He stood on the barn floor dejectedly shelling the kernels off an ear of corn that had been dropped, and he could hear the shouts of the other children away off on the long mow in the wing.

Easter was very near—only a few days, and then——

"Cluck! Cluck!"

Billy looked around and saw a brown hen squeezing out through a hole in the flooring. She walked straight up to Billy and began picking up the kernels he had dropped.

"What you been doin' under ve floor, ol' Brown Hen?"

"Cluck! cluck!" said the Brown Hen, which meant, "Look for yourself."

Billy looked. Away under the dark floor he could see a nest, and he counted —"Two—five—free—eleventy." Billy could not tell just how many, for his mathematical education was shaky.

"Is they yours?" whispered Billy.

"Cluck! cluck!" said the Brown Hen, "Don't tell the rest, and we'll go shares on this hoard, and I'll take care of them for us."

Then she crawled back under the boards and Billy ran in the house feeling that he, too, had a secret.

Not a word did Billy lisp. On Easter morning he, too, would bring forth his board, but he would leave some for the Brown Hen—oh, of course—because they were partners.

Easter came and the older children went after their hidden eggs. Billy followed in glee. How he would surprise them! His fat legs twinkled through the barnyard fence and up to the great door. He heard the Brown Hen clucking. She must be waiting to divide. He went in, but she was not in sight. He ducked his head down to the hole and peeped. She was not on the nest, and only a few broken shells lay about.

Tears welled up into Billy's blue eyes. The Brown Hen had not dealt fairly. Sobbing and stumbling, he went out the stable door, and ran plump into her.

She was not alone. Chirping and peeping all around her was a troop of yellow, fussy balls. Billy took one rapturous look and then fled to Sister Mary, who was crawling from under a straw stack with her treasure.

"Look, Mary; look what me an' the Brown Hen done!" he called. "She's been takin' care of our eggs, an' they've all come chickens!"

An Indian Passion Play.

A remarkable Easter celebration is the Passion plays of the Indians of the Schelt tribe on the banks of the Fraser river, Skwa, Vancouver. Its motive is that of a sincere desire to instruct the Indians in the grand lessons of the death of Jesus. Father Chirouse, a French missionary, adopted the plan as the best to reach minds that could not comprehend the full significance of the spoken word.

Its first representation in 1899 resulted in hundreds of conversions. It has been continued since, with the result that Indians of other tribes come from a great distance to see the spectacle and in many cases go away believers.

Father Chirouse insists on the most reverent presentation. Three hundred Indians take part in the twelve tableaux. First comes the garden of Gethsemane, next is the betrayal, and then in order follow Christ before Pilate, the mocking of Christ by the Roman soldiers, the famous "Ecce Homo" and all the other incidents until finally the climax is reached in the crucifixion.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Holy Saturday in Florence.

At Florence on Holy Saturday a chariot is drawn into the square before the cathedral. Within the chariot are bundles of powder connected one with another by means of a fuse, and from the chariot to the high altar of the cathedral runs a wire. When the crowd has gathered at a safe distance around the powder laden car and just as the bells strike noon the archbishop releases a toy dove, which travels down the wire with a bit of flame in its beak. As the messenger of fire flies into the chariot its gaudy decorations are hurled into the air, with a roar and a cloud of smoke. If the dove flies steadily to its goal the year will be a propitious one, but if the bird hesitates there is evil ahead.—New York Tribune.

Strange Easter Custom.

From time immemorial a most extraordinary custom has been observed on Easter Mondays at Hallaton, down in Leicestershire. In order to retain a piece of ground left to the parish in the good old days the villagers have to indulge in the doubtful pleasure of a game of bottle kicking, buts before they can begin to play certain preliminaries have to be gone through. Two large meat pies and two dozen penny loaves have to be scrambled for. A huge wooden bottle, bound round with iron rims and containing ale, is thrown on the ground, and the men of the neighboring village of Medbourne have to wrest it from the Hallatonian grasp. It is hardly necessary to add that the struggle is invariably provocative of a good many casualties of one form or another.—London Chronicle.

Easter Weather Lore.

According to an old English proverb, a wet Easter is not favorable to the consequent crop of hay:

"A good deal of rain on Easter day Gives a crop of good grass, but little good hay."

If the sun shines on Easter morning, it will, according to the same authority, shine again on Whit Sunday. A Sussex piece of weather lore goes further, declaring that if the sun shines on Easter day it will shine a little every day all the year round, while there is a corresponding notion that if it rains then it will rain a little, if only a few drops, every day during the ensuing year.—New York Herald.

Easter Lilies.

On this glad day the lilies never fail us—
  The white-gowned lilies of the Easter morn;
In grand cathedrals smilingly they hail us,
  And in the chapels of the lowly born.
They are the chosen flowers to tell
  As only lily grace and fragrance may,
Of the abounding miracle and glory
  That through the ages crown the Easter Day.
The lilies—whoso contemplates their sweetness,
  And, kneeling, lingers in their sacred spell
But shares the message, in its full completeness,
  When lily voices whisper, "All is well."
—Frank Walcott Hutt.

THE EASTER EGG PUZZLE

Carefully cut out the rabbit and fold it so that it will exactly fill the hole in the egg. Pin the folded paper to the egg. The game is to see in how few folds you can make the paper fit the egg. The person who makes it fit in the smallest number of folds may be considered as winning the game.

Of course, any number of persons can play it, as the paper rabbit can be folded any number of times, but a record of the folds made by each must be kept, and, to make the game interesting, no one should tell until all have tried how many folds he or she made. The record should be kept by an umpire.

Youngest King in the World.

Portugal, that little sister country to Spain, far across the waters, has just crowned a new king. His name is Manuel, and although he is a king's son, he was not the crown prince, the eldest boy, and therefore few thoughts of ruling a kingdom in the near future entered his head, says a writer in the Children's Magazine.

We hear that he was a happy prince, with a great interest in music and a love of the beautiful, until the first of February of this year. Then, without a word of warning, his father, King Carlos of Portugal, and his brother, the crown prince, Luiz Felipe, were killed in the streets of Lisbon, while riding in a carriage with the queen and himself.

The loving mother, Queen Amelie, tried to protect the crown prince from the attack by bravely throwing herself in front of him, but without avail. That the present king, Manuel, was not killed, together with the queen, is probably due to bungling on the part of the assassins. Manuel was slightly wounded, and the queen escaped injury.

Young King Manuel II. is only 18, and was born November 15, 1889, at Lisbon. To think what a tragic change for the infante Manuel to lose his father and brother in a minute, and from a carefree boyhood to step in one moment to the kingship of an ancient race. That he will make a good king seems probable. It is recalled that King Manuel I., who reigned in Portugal from 1495 to 1521, was known as King Manuel the Fortunate, and that his reign was very prosperous.

Dom Manuel II. is the youngest sovereign of Europe. He assumes the duties of king with a little less training than his brother had. His first words to his counselors were, "I am without knowledge or experience. I place myself in your hands, counting upon your patriotism and wisdom."

The king, as Prince Manuel, duke of Beja, has sufficient names for the whole of a normal family. How would you remember your name, if, like the young king's, it was Manuel Mario Philippe Charles Amelio Louis Michael Raphael Gabriel Gonzague Xavier Frances?

King Manuel was trained for the navy, his late brother for the army. The two princes spent many happy days with their parents, both in Lisbon and at their beautiful country seat, the Castle of Nenha, at Cintra. It is built on a mountain peak in the midst of marvelous scenery, where the King Manuel of long ago spent much of his time.

Let us all think frequently of the young King Manuel, and believe that Portugal's fortunes have fallen into strong hands that will raise it out of turmoil.

Bedtime.

The short hand of the clock had crept round to seven, and Aunt Alice came to take Harold to bed. There was a nice, snapping log on the grate, and he was sitting cross-legged on the rug, watching it burn. He begged hard to sit up a little longer, although his eyes blurred often and his neck ached from trying to hold his head upright. But he said he was not sleepy.

"I will tell you a story," said Aunt Alice, "about some little people who have to find themselves a place to sleep every night instead of having a nice warm bed, as you do."

This made the little sparls leave Harold's face, because he loved the stories Aunt Alice told.

"I have told you about the flock of English sparrows that huddle in a bush near my window, but this story is about the dear little British blue butterflies."

Harold followed Aunt Alice up the stairs, and was not long in cuddling down in his own little bed, waiting for the rest of the story.

"These butterflies," continued Aunt Alice, "have gray spotted wings, and are seen flying over the downs all day, and when it comes night they go in great numbers to a sheltered place, where the grass is tall, and each one chooses a separate blade of grass on which to make his bed. Each butterfly turns his head downward and folds and lowers his wings, so that he looks exactly like a seed growing on the grass. If the night is cold, they creep down lower and lower on the blade, and as the wind blows the grasses to and fro they are rocked to sleep."

"I should like to see them," said Harold, sleepily, "but I am glad that I have a bed—and an Aunt Alice." And while he was thinking about the little butterfly brothers, all sleeping together, he made his journey to dreamland.—Youth's Companion.

The Three Crosses.

Do the boys and girls know the difference between the Latin, Greek and St. Andrew's crosses? Many grown people do not, and it is reasonable to assume that the younger readers may need the information. The Latin cross is the one with which we are all familiar; the lower limb is a good deal longer than the other three limbs. The Greek cross, on the contrary, has all the limbs of equal length—two pieces crossed in the middle at right angles. St. Andrew's cross is in the form of the letter X. The Greek cross is sometimes called the cross of St. George, and is blended with that of St. Andrew to form the flag called the union jack.

A Faithful Parrot.

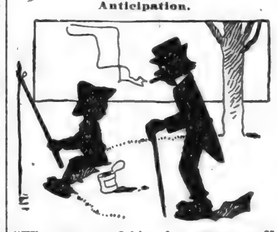
Not long ago a lady, calling on another, noticed the absence of a cherished parrot, and asked what had become of it.

"Oh, I had to give her away."

"Give her away! And you thought so much of her!"

"Yes, but you know I taught her to ask me in the morning, 'Did you sleep well?' and she was such a dear, faithful little thing that she used to wake me up all night long asking me if I slept well. Nothing could cure her of it—she was so morbidly conscientious—and so at last I had to give her to a night editor of our acquaintance!"

Anticipation.



"What are you fishing for, young man?"
"I'm trying to catch a fish, if I can."
"What will you do with the fish, young man?"
"My mother will fry him in a pan."
"And when he is fried—what then, young man?"
"Why, sir, I will eat him as fast as I can."

The Lord's Prayer.

Everybody knows this beautiful prayer, but few people are aware, perhaps, that nearly all the words in it are of Anglo-Saxon origin. In the first edition of the Authorized Version of the Bible, 1611, the words "debts" and "debters" stood where we now have "trespasses" and "trespass." "Temptation" was the only word of Latin origin before that alteration was made; now, of course, there are three. This prayer is a model of simplicity, comprehensiveness and beauty.

Lack, Want and Need.

These three words all mean to be destitute of, but with a difference that is not always regarded. A man without certain luxuries, lacks them; without conveniences, wants them; and without necessaries, needs them. These shades of meaning should be remembered.

WORLD'S GREATEST RANCH.

Mexican Estate Upon Which 70,000 Laborers Are Employed.

Luiz Terrazas of Chihuahua, Mexico, is the largest land owner in the world. He is sole proprietor of a territory approximating in size the States of Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island. For eight hours one may ride by rail through his lands, where an army of 70,000 laborers tend his flocks and herds or care for the irrigation ditches, which stretch off from the track into dim distance. General Terrazas owns city property, too; is largely interested in banking and manufacture, and all in all, is worth some $290,000,000.

The Terrazas homestead is undoubtedly the finest farm house in the world. It cost $2,000,000 in Mexican money, and next to Chepultepec, the palace of the President, is the most richly finished and furnished residence in the republic. The marble with which it is lavishly embellished was brought all the way from Italy, and was put in the place and then carved by European skilled artists.

The ranch itself is unique in that no other in the world maintains its own slaughtering and packing plant. It may be added, too, that this establishment is the only enterprise of the kind in all Mexico. Each year some 100,000 head of cattle, their hides bearing the Terrazas brand, are here slaughtered, dressed and packed, while good years see as many as 50,000 head of sheep treated in the same way.

Don Luis, however, is not satisfied with mere wealth—even such as this. His dream is to teach his countrymen something of the modern methods of agriculture and the cattle trade. So, to the proper killing and dressing of live meat, he is about to add canning and preserving factories, and is even talking of introducing to Mexico up-to-date coffee and tobacco plantations.

APRIL

L 903

NEWVILLE

Wanted wood on subscription.

Little Bruce Blair has got the mumps.

Mr. John Gillingham was at Garrett, Monday.

Otto Diehl of Maysville was at this place, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Strong went to Auburn, Monday.

Mr. Huntington and wife of Hamilton were at Oberlin's, Monday.

Audra Rex is visiting with her aunt, Mrs. Jake Nichols, this week.

Will Kincade of Hicksville spent Sunday with his parents, J. W. Kincade's.

Herbert Webster and his cousin from Hamilton left Monday for Montana.

A Mr. Thornberg of Hicksville, is moving into the Mrs. William Richard house.

The people of this vicinity meet Tuesday evening, to prepare for Decoration Day.

Mrs. Lillie Engle was at Butler, Wednesday, visiting at the home of Bert Huntington.

Mrs John Miller has just returned from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. McDonald at Kendallville.

James Sechler, wife and granddaughter took dinner Sunday at the home of Maurice Headley.

Mrs. F. A. Thomas went to Hamilton last week, where she is taking care of her father and mother, who are quite poorly.

Mrs. Frank Schramm took her daughter Lucile, to Ft. Wayne last Thursday for an operation. The operation proved a successful one.

Manford Smith wife and daughter Lucile of Hicksville and George Simanton and family of St. Joe were Sunday guests of Elmer Wyatt.

Both churches of this place will observe Easter. The exercises at the U. B. Church will be held Saturday evening and that of the Christian church, Sunday evening.

The paster of the U. B. church has organized a Teacher's training Class which meets on Wednesday evening of each week. The Training Class of the Christian church still meets on Thursday evening.

F. A. Thomas and son Harry, attended the first district convention of the Church of Christ held at Milford, Ind., last Monday and Tuesday. Mr. Thomas gave a splendid report of the convention and feels himself fully repaid for going.

"Off Agin" "On Agin"

A divorce case was settled last week granting a divorce to Hazel Dove from Frank O. Dove, both residing in Waterloo. The woman is only 17 years old, been married less than two years and has two children. In the afternoon of the same day she was again married to Dennis Morrison, a young man of Waterloo. This is doing things in a rush.

Prolific Nut Trees.

The nut trees of the world could, it is calculated, provide food all the year round for the population of the globe. Brazil nuts grow in such profusion that thousands of tons of them are wasted every year.

Where They Should Work.

In prohibiting child labor the school room is always excepted.

Joy Is a Virtue.

Joy is as much a virtue as beneficence is.—Van Dyke.

There are more McCall Patterns sold in the United States than of any other make of patterns. This is on account of their style, accuracy and simplicity.

McCall's Magazine (The Queen of Fashion) has more subscribers than any other Ladies' Magazine. One year's subscription (12 numbers) costs 50 cents. Latest Number, 5 cents. Every subscriber gets a McCall Pattern Free. Subscribe today.

Lady Agents Wanted. Handsome premiums or liberal cash commission. Pattern Catalogue, (of 6-0 designs) and Premium Catalogue (showing our premiums) sent free. Address THE McCALL CO., New York

MEETS DEATH.

Elmer, the twelve year old son of Geo. Abel and wife, living just south of Auburn, was fatally injured last Saturday forenoon while jumping a B. & O. freight train. The lad died Monday. He was a grandson of Henry Abel of this place.

Elmer, in company with a boy companion were gathering flowers in J. R. Able's woods along the track and on seeing the abproaching train remarked that he was going to hop it, and in doing so was thrown to the ground and horribly mangled, his one hand was mashed into shreds, and the left side of his face mashed and skull fractured at the base.

His father, who had been to New Mexico, returned home Saturday evening, but did not learn of his son's injury until nearly home, when the sad news was broke to him.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Easterday returned to their home south of Butler, Sunday eveping after a few days' visit with his brother.—Waterloo Corres. to Courier.

DROP IN YOUR PENNY.

Then if You Are Lucky You May Get a Postage Stamp.

To be able to buy a postage stamp with as little trouble as one can get a package of chewing gum out of a slot machine would be a great convenience. When the postoffice is not open or is not near at hand the usual thing is to bother the nearest druggist if one is in need of stamps. Oftentimes the drug clerks are all busy putting up prescriptions, and to get one little two cent postage stamp may involve waiting until patience ceases to become a virtue and only induces profanity or its nearest approximation. To save all this occasion for mental stress and incidentally net the government a better revenue from sale of postage stamps Postmaster General George von L. Meyer proposed that slot machines for this service be tried. There are a number of such inventions, and some thirty-five of them have been undergoing tests in several large cities.

POSTMASTER GENERAL MEYER AND A STAMP SLOT MACHINE.

In several instances at least attempts to beat the machines by imposing counterfeit coins upon them have been quite successful. It is claimed that others, however, are able to distinguish between the true coins and the false. Usually the machines are built in series, some furnishing one cent stamps when the proper coin is placed in the slot, some two and five cent postage, etc. In the case of one machine to obtain a two cent stamp it is necessary to insert two pennies, one at a time, the first releasing a lever and the second causing the stamp to protrude from the aperture. If the machines are approved, it is the intention to place them in hotel lobbies, drug stores and other places convenient to the public.

The Good on Hand.

Never be discouraged because good things get on so slowly here; and never fail to do daily that good which lies next to your hand. Do not be in a hurry, but be diligent. Enter into the sublime patience of the Lord.—George McDonald.

Fortunate Indeed.

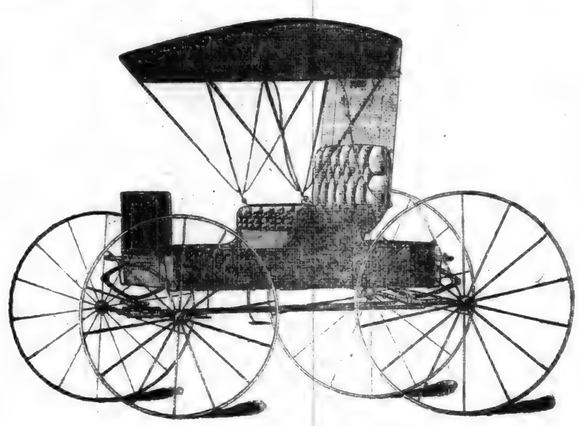
Extremely excited Frenchman, after dispute with calm Englishman at the Jardin de Paris—Let me tell you something, you! Sacred name of thunder! It is a lucky thing for you that I can neither speak English nor box! —Rire.

Paper of Real Value.

Some genius has invented a new kind of paper that will crumble and go to pieces a short time after it has been written on. It is especially recommended to people with the love-letter habit who dread breach of promise suits.

Are You Ready for Spring?

Within a few weeks your work will begin in earnest, when it seems that everything must be done at once. Now is the time to prepare. Have your machinery all bought and ready to begin as soon as the weather affords you the opportunity. We are prepared to supply your every requirement in the way of Farm Implements, and supplies. We also try to give you the best values for your money, always.



....BUGGIES....

Our sales on buggies are as good as usual owing to the good makes (Defiance and Kiblinger) and all are of the season's latest designs. The style, finish, appearance, makes, and workmanship of our buggies, pleases everyone who call and inspect. They're beauties and strictly up-to-date. Come in and see ours.

PLOWS....

One should use as much judgement in buying a plow as in buying any other piece of machinery. Our line comprises the Oliver Chilled, Bryan and Fairfield Birch Plows. We also handle the "Celebrated Bryan Disc" the best on the market.

WAGONS ...

We handle nothing but the best make of wagons, such as the Weber, Troy, Jackson, Columbus, from which to make your selection. If you are in the market, come in we can save you money.

Wm. Curie

Implement Dealer.

St. Joe, - - - - - Indiana.

A Worthy Selection.

It is with pleasure that the Courier announces that Prof. Herman Brown assistant principal of the Auburn high school, has been called to the superintendency of the St. Joe schools for the school year of 1908-09. Mr. Brown has accepted the position and will assume his duties next September. While the patrons of the Auburn high school and the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Brown will regret to learn that he has severed his connection with the schools here, their best wishes will follow these good people into their new field of duties. Prof. Brown is a good school man. He is equipped to do the work and in addition to this has the ability to impart instruction to his pupils. He is one whose labors are not ended at the close of the school days. He is resourceful and is a fine disciplinarian and manages the pupils in his charge well. He not only commands their respect but has and holds their warmest friendship. St. Joe has made no mistake in engaging the services of Prof. Brown. This is a fine promotion for Mr. Brown as it gives him a much better salary and also a larger field of activity to work in. We predict that there are larger fields yet for Mr. Brown.—Courier.

Easter Bazaar

Don't forget the Easter bazaar and supper to be given by the Methodist church ladies, Saturday April 18th, in the Kinsey Furniture Room. Supper 10 cts.

Envelopes 5c a bunch.

Buy our stationery.

Miss Ada Bleeks of Mich., is visiting her parents this week.

This year we have the most complete line of commencement invitations we have ever had. We invite you to come and see them. Prices reasonable.

PUMPS PUMPS

FRANK KINSEY,

MANUFACTURER AND DEALER IN

CISTERN PUMPS and ALL KINDS OF METAL ROOFING and SPOUTING.

Repairing Neatly and Promptly Done.

10 years Experience. All Work Guaranteed.

Bell Phone 37-9

St. Joe, - - - - Indiana.

APRIL

L 903

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXII. ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA. WEDNESDAY, APRIL 22, 1908. NO. 17

Every little bit added to what you've got makes just a little bit more.

Is your money making money for you? The more of it you have working for you, the less you need to work yourself. We pay 4 per cent interest compounded semi-annually on Certificates of Deposit.

$1.00 will double itself in 17 years 188 days.
$1.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $147.49.
$5.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $737.43
$10.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $1474.85

Now is the time to save. Anyone can save from $1.00 to $10.00 a month if they only will. It's not what you earn but what you save Four per cent interest added to what you've already got makes just a little bit more

Grabill State Bank,

Grabill, Indiana.

Joseph Witmer, Pres. Albert Egly, Cashier.
David Klopfenstein, V. Pres. Marcus Yager, Asst. Cashier.

TICE

Is hereby given that there will be a petition presented to the Honorable Board of DeKalb county, State of Indiana commissioners at their June session of 1908., praying for the location of a public highway described as follows, to-wit: Commencing in the center of the public highway at the northwest corner of section nineteen, township thirty-three (33), north of range fourteen (14) east, State of Indiana, thence south on the section line to the center of the public highway at the south west corner of said section nineteen (19), county and state aforesaid pnd then to end. Said proposed highway will affect lands owned by Maletus A. High, Samuel M. High, Lorenzo D. Nelson, Charles R. Morr, Carrie V. Morr, Rosa High and Malvina Nelson. Said proposed highway being on the west line of said section nineteen.

Decoration Day.

The 30th of May Decoration Day, will soon be here and a full appreciation of the significance of a proper observance of the duties of the day, demand that all patriotic citizens take part in them.

The thinning ranks of the members of the Grand Army Republic admonish us, that in a few years, at most, the commemoration of the gigantic struggle that preserved the Republic and placed our country in the forefront of the nations of the world, must be left to other hands.

"There is no brighter day in the long calendar of time than the Memorial Day of the American people. There is no sweeter duty than to increase the love of the people for this day." And so we ask all the citizens of this community to attend a meeting in Widney's Hall, at 2 p. m. Sunday, April 26th, '08, to take part in arranging for a full and patriotic observance of Decoration Day.

J. D. Leighty,
Com. Post No. 144 G. A. R.

Your Attention.

The committee on Corn Exhibit and all others who are interested, in this matter are requested to meet at The News office on Saturday evening April 25, at 7 o'clock. It is essential that you be there.

Mortgage Exemptions must be filed each year.

Obituary.

Catherine E. Sillix was born in Holmes Co., Ohio, May 1, 1851 and departed this life at St. Joe, Ind., having lived 56 years, 11 months, and 8 days. In the year 1874 on July 13th she was married to Thomas Ballard Bowen, who still survives. To this union seven children were born, two are still living, John C. Bowen and Mrs. Lula Woodcox, both of St. Joe.

In her early married life Mrs. Bowen became a member of the M. E. church at Millersburg, Ind., and remained so until her Lord called her home beyond. She leaves many relatives and friends to mourn their loss.

She was a member of the Rebekah lodge at this place. The funeral services were held at Millersburg, Monday, April 13th. Elza Kinsey, funeral director.

Extended Sympathy.

WHEREAS, God in His all wise providence has removed by death, Mrs. Elizabeth Bowen, and while this mysterious providence we cannot understand, nor can we see why this should be, yet we believe in God and know that he doeth all things well.

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, That we as sisters of the same Lodge to which our deceased Sister belonged when on earth, tender to the family our heartfelt sympathy in their bereavement and commend them in their hour of sorrow to Him "who doeth all things well."

RESOLVED, As a respect to the departed Sister, that our hall be draped in mourning for a period of 30 days.

RESOLVED FURTHER, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family a copy to the News, and a copy be spread on the minutes of this lodge.

Committee { Mary Bowman
Ida Woodcox
Lora Hull

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

BELL PHONE NO. 22.

St. Joe, Indiana.

Political Announcements.

FOR SHERIFF.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Please announce my name as a candidate for the nomination of sheriff of the county subject to the decision of the democratic primary.

RALPH W. THOMAS.

FOR SHERIFF.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Please announce my name as a candidate for sheriff subject to the decision of the Democratic primary.

JAMES S. LOWE.

RECORDER.

Please announce my name as a candidate for the democratic nomination for county recorder, subject to the wishes of the voters at their primary.

J. M. NORFORD.

FOR CLERK.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Please announce my name as a candidate for the democratic nomination for clerk of the DeKalb Circuit court subject to the wishes of the voters at their primary.

EDGAR W. ATKINSON.

FOR CLERK

EDITOR NEWS:—

Please announce that I am a candidate for the democratic nomination for county clerk, subject to the wishes of the voters at their primary.

JOHN HEBEL.

CLERK.

EDITOR NEWS:

Please announce my name as a candidate for the democratic nomination of clerk of the DeKalb circuit court, subject to the wishes of the voters at their primaries, June 4, 1908.

WM. H. LEAS.

RECORDER.

EDITOR NEWS:—

You may announce my name as a candidate from Keyser township, for the democratic nomination for Recorder, subject to the decision of the coming primary election.

D. E. HERSHBERGER.

CLERK

EDITOR NEWS:—

You may announce my name as a candidate for clerk of the county subject to the Democratic primary.

WARREN A. AUSTIN,

Nominate a Dry Ticket.

The DeKalb county prohibition convention was held in the Waterloo opera house Tuesday afternoon and there was a fair attendance, perhaps not over forty members of the party and a few spectators,

An address was delivered by Michael J. Fanning, who is considered a live wire in prohibition oratory. He extolled the virtues of political prohibition as the only sure thing in bringing about permanent results in fighting the saloons and at the same time ignored the practical work which has already been accomplished by the anti-saloon organization.

He also spoke to a fair sized audience in the evening.

The following county ticket was presented by the secretary of the nominating committee and endorsed by the convention:

Representative, William A. Rose; Clerk, Joseph Haifely; Treasurer Frank Hamman; Recorder, Jacob A Reinoehl; Sheriff, David Hollinger; Coroner, Dr. Charles S. Stewart; Commissioners, Emmet Armstrong and L. E. Lane.

Eighteen delegates were named to attend the state convention and the same number of alternates. An unique feature of this part of the convention proceedings was that in the selection of alternates, any delegate who would agree to take his wife with him was encouraged by her appointment as his alternate. The sum of $156.50 was raised for the state work.—Press.

Mrs. C. B. Leighty fell last evening at her home, striking her face against the sharp edge of a cupboard and cutting it badly. She had started to put some things in the cupboard, when she caught her foot on a rug, causing her to fall.

Obituary.

Elmer Milliard Abel, son of George H. and Alda V. Abel, was born July 31, 1896, in Union township, DeKalb Co., at the place where he passed to rest.

Elmer was the third son of the parents, Harry G. going before him to the promised land. There is still left in this family of children, Elza, Helen and Laura.

Elmer was one of those kind, still and affectionate children who are loved and appreciated by all who know them. A disposition that does not but become more lovable as it grows in years. But while cut off in youth, yet what seems to the friends a loss irreparable, we know the promises of Jesus and see that our loss is his gain a gain for which we all strive.

Elmer departed this life April 13, 1908, aged 11 years, 8 months, 11 days, at the call of the Loved One of Heaven, and leaves his parents, brother, sisters and relatives, also a host of friends to mourn the loss.

In his departure, we find comfort in the words of Jesus:—Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not, for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven.

Maggie Sibert.

Mrs. John Weaver is in receipt of a letter from the Lutheran Home for the aged at Washington, D. C. that Maggie Sibert had died very suddenly on Thursday. No particulars were given. She was buried there also.

Miss Sibert would have been seventy-eight years of age had she lived until July. She had spent the past four years in the Home. Her former life was spent in our city. Her acquaintance extended throughout the county. For twenty-five years she made her home with Mrs. Weaver and only a few months ago paid her an extensive visit.—Dispatch. She is well known throughout this vicinity, also.

Seed Potatoes

Seed potatoes of the very best tested varieties, early and late, also eating potatoes. Prices right.

W. H. NOETHRUP & SON.

NOTICE.

Sale of Lands by Commissioner.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that I, Jacob D. Leighty, a commissioner appointed by the DeKalb Circuit Court in an action therein pending, wherein Barbara Etta Shutt is plaintiff and Laura Shutt, et. al., are defendants, by virtue of authority in said cause conferred upon me by said Court, will, on the 8th day of May, 1908, and at such other times as I may hereafter fix, without further notice, offer for sale, at private sale, at not less than the appraised value thereof, in separate parcels of not more than forty (40) acres, but will sell the same in less parcels than forty (40) acres, to any purchaser or purchasers, the following described lands, to-wit:

The north west fourth (¼) of the north west quarter (¼) of section twenty-nine (29), township thirty-three (33), north of range fourteen (14) east, containing forty (40) acres more or less.

The east one half (½) of the north west quarter (¼) of section twenty-nine (29), township thirty-three (33), north of range fourteen (14) east, containing eighty (80) acres more or less.

The west one half (½) of the north east quarter (¼) of section twenty-nine (29), township thirty-three (33) north of range fourteen (14) east, excepting therefrom the right of way of the Fort Wayne and Detroit Railroad Company containing seventy-three and seventy-nine hundredths (73 79-100) acres more or less.

All that part of the west half (½) of the south east quarter (¼) of section twenty-nine (29), township thirty-three (33), north of range fourteen (14) east, lying east of the east line of the right of way of the Fort Wayne and Detroit Railroad Company, excepting therefrom eleven and seventy-seven hundredths (11 77-100) acres in Shutt's and Henderson's Addition to the Town of Spencerville, bounded as follows:—Commencing at an iron monument at the south east corner of said west half (½); thence north at right angles to the section line three hundred eighty (380) feet; thence west parallel with the center line of said section thirteen hundred fifty (1350) feet; thence south to the south line of said west half (½); thence east thirteen hundred fifty (1350) feet to the place of beginning, leaving a balance in said tract of sixty-four and nineteen hundredths (64 19-100) acres.

All that part of the east half (½) of the south west quarter (¼) of section twenty-nine (29), township thirty-three (33), north of range fourteen (14) east, lying east of the east line of the right of way of the Fort Wayne and Detroit Railroad Company, containing eleven and fifty hundredths (11 50-100) acres.

The west half (½) of the north east one fourth (¼) of the south east quarter (¼) of section twenty-nine (29), township thirty-three (33), north of range fourteen (14) east, containing twenty (20) acres.

The north east one fourth (¼) of the north east quarter (¼) of section thirty-two (32), township thirty-three (33), north of range fourteen (14) east, excepting therefrom a tract seven and one half (7½) rods in width east and west off the west side thereof, and nineteen (19) acres in the form of a paralleogram off the east side thereof, leaving a balance of seventeen and one fourth (17¼) acres.

Also lots one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4), five (5), six (6), seven (7), eight (8), nine (9), ten (10), eleven (11) twelve (12), thirteen (13), fourteen (14), fifteen (15), sixteen (16), seventeen (17), eighteen (18), nineteen (19), twenty (20), twenty-one (21), twenty-two (22), twenty-three (23), twenty-four (24), twenty-five (25), twenty-six (26), twenty-seven (27), twenty-eight (28), forty (40), forty-one (41), forty-two (42), forty-three (43), forty-four (44), forty-five (45), forty-six (46), forty-seven (47) and forty-eight (48) in Shutt's and Henderson's Addition to the Town of Spencerville, according to the recorded plat thereof.

Terms of Sale.

One third (1-3) cash; one third (1-3) in six months, and one third (1-3) in one year from date of sale, and for the deferred payments the purchaser or purchasers shall execute to me their notes bearing six (6) per cent. interest from date, containing the usual provisions as to attorneys' fees, waiver of valuation and appraisement laws, and secured by mortgage or mortgages upon the real estate so sold, but the purchaser or purchasers may optionally pay at the time of the purchase the entire amount of the purchase money, or greater amount than one third thereof, and he or they may optionally pay said notes or any of them before maturity.

JACOB D. LEIGHTY,
Commissioner.

CHARLES E. EMANUEL,
and
W. and E. LEONARD,
Attorneys.

Announcement.

We have opened our

Soda Fountain

and are prepared to fill all orders for Ice Cream in any quantities.

Fancy Drinks Our Specialty.

Chas. F. Kagey,

St. Joe, Indiana.

APRIL

L 903

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

FRED B. LEIGHTY, - - Publisher.

1908 APRIL 1908

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
			1	2	3	4
5	6	7	8	9	10	11
12	13	14	15	16	17	18
19	20	21	22	23	24	25
26	27	28	29	30

N. M. 1st. F. Q. 8th. F. M. 16th. L. Q. 23rd.

FEATURES OF INTEREST

ABOUT THAT WHICH HAS BEEN AND IS TO BE.

All Sides and Conditions of Things are Shown. Nothing Overlooked to make it Complete.

"Oat Meal King" is Dead.

Ferdinand Schumacher, known as the "Oat Meal King of America," from having founded the breakfast food business in this country, died unexpectedly at his home in Akron, Ohio, Wednesday night. He was 82 years old. He retired from business some years ago, after having disposed of his large interests. He came to America from Hanover, Germany, in 1850 and settled on a farm near Cleveland, but later embarked in the grocery trade and in 1856 he began the manufacture of oat meal on a small scale. The business grew until several large mills were erected and later were destroyed by fire. Schumacher was also prominent as being an original prohibitionist. He gave large sums of money for educational and charitable purposes.

Made New Gold Strike.

A dispatch from Fairbanks, Alaska, to the Seattle Post-Intelligencer says that word has been received there that two men who made the recent rich strike on Nolan creek in Koyukuk have already panned out $30,000 and that they only took the pans from bed rock, the gravel going to build up a big dump to be washed up in the spring. On Wiseman creek a similar wash has been found and if the men now at work strike as rich pay as found on Nolan creek, another big camp will spring up in Alaska.

Wild Elephant Kills a Woman.

Frightened by an explosion, a herd of elephants belonging to a circus broke loose at Riverside, Cal., and charged into the streets. The leader of the herd killed Miss Ella Gibbs, a Congregationalist deaconess, badly injured two men and destroyed much property before he was finally conquered by four other elephants and keepers. L. W. Wolsey, an employe of the Standard Oil Company, was killed by the explosion, which destroyed a large oil tank and caused a loss of $7,000.

Frost Did Little Damage.

Reports from different parts of Indiana show that there was frost in some sections which damaged fruit, while in the larger portion of the State cloudy weather saved the buds from harm. At New Albany there was no frost and fruit prospects are fine. At Vincennes a high wind and clouds saved buds and blossoms from any injury. At Rensselaer ice was formed one-fourth of an inch thick and it is believed early plums were killed.

Sid Conger Hurt in Wreck.

An incoming car on the Indianapolis Shelbyville Traction line jumped the track and upset near Indianapolis, Ind. Of the fifty passengers four were hurt. The most seriously injured was Sid Conger, of Shelbyville, State oil inspector. He received an ugly gash over the eye and his arm was badly hurt. He was taken to a hospital.

Liners Collide in New York Bay.

Two American liners, the Monterey of the Ward line, bound for Havana, and the Danish steamer, United States of the Scandinavian-American line, bound for Copenhagen, collided in the main ship channel in lower New York bay. Both vessels were damaged but no lives were lost, and no one, so far reported, was injured.

Small Lad a Suicide.

Clifton Vernon, the 10-year-old son of Thompson Vernon, hanged himself in his father's barn at Mount Vernon, Ohio. He had been playing with neighbor boys but the cause is a mystery, unless the suicide of a youthful cousin a week ago preyed on his mind. When found by his father life was extinct.

The Dead at Chelsea.

The body of a man supposed to be Martin Coughlin was found on Grove street in the burned district of Chelsea, Mass., bringing the total number of persons known to have lost their lives in Sunday's fire up to seven.

FIRE LOSS $10,000,000 IN SUBURB OF BOSTON

Three Killed and One Hundred Hurt in Conflagration at Chelsea, Massachusetts.

1,500 FAMILIES ARE HOMELESS.

Square Mile of Buildings Destroyed —Churches, Hospitals, Banks Gone.

A monetary loss of $10,000,000, 1,500 families homeless, three lives lost, 100 persons injured and one square mile of buildings destroyed—such are the chief results of a fire which raged at Chelsea, a suburb of Boston, from 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning until 9 o'clock at night before it was brought under control. It leaped to East Boston, where it also did some damage.

The ruins of the burned district are under the guard of fourteen companies of the State militia and marines from the Charlestown navy yard, and the city is under martial law to prevent looting. The soldiers were supplied with ball cartridges.

The conflagration, which is the greatest that has scourged any part of the metropolitan district within the last ten years, was got under control only after half of the Boston fire department and apparatus from a dozen other cities and towns had gone to the help of the Chelsea brigade.

Two Women Lose Lives.

Two of the three persons known to have died are women. There may have been other fatalities, and some of those injured may die. The list of injuries is chiefly due to burns, although a number of men, women and children were hurt by falling debris. One woman is reported to have shot herself in a frenzy over inability to save her property.

The fire swept a path for itself one and one-half miles in length at the extreme point. It devastated the manufacturing, retail and tenement sections of Chelsea, many of the city's finest structures becoming the prey of the flames. Exact estimates of the monetary loss are impossible to obtain as yet, but it is believed by the city collector that the $10,000,000 figure is conservative. It is estimated that 10,000 are homeless and that 500 buildings were burned.

Hard Gale Drives Flames.

The fire would have been much less serious had it not been for a furious gale from the northwest, which at times reached a velocity of sixty miles an hour. The fire, which is thought to have been caused by spontaneous combustion among rags, began in the extreme southwestern part of Chelsea and swept to the extreme southeastern part.

The fire originated in the rear of the Boston Blacking Company's works on West 3d street, near the eastern division of the Boston and Maine Railroad, and in close proximity to the Everett City line. The sixty-mile an hour gale from the northwest carried burning shingles, embers and myriads of sparks to a score of wooden buildings, most of them of cheap wooden construction. The fire started almost in the extreme southwest section of the city and cut a path to the end of the city, which borders on Chelsea Creek. This is about one and a half miles from where the fire began. The flames spread through the heart of the retail business section, which was about midway between the two extreme limits reached by the fire.

Among the structures destroyed were thirteen churches, two hospitals, the public library, city hall, five school houses, twenty business blocks and a score of factories.

The flying embers and the showers of sparks were carried across Chelsea Creek to the East Boston district and the East Boston engines were obliged to return from Chelsea to protect property in their district.

Genius and Insanity Identified.

That there is an actual identity between the states of mind ordinarily understood as genius and insanity is the conclusion reached by Prof. Cesare Lombroso, but this extreme view is now combatted in a new book by Dr. Joseph Grasset on "The Semi-Insane and the Semi-responsible," translated by Dr. Jelliffe of New York. Dr. Grasset finds that intellectual superiors frequently possess psychic defects which are sometimes very marked, and he believes that while their intellect and their nervous affection are connected they are not as cause and effect. This is proved by the fact that many people have the disease who do not possess the genius. Grasset's conclusion is that "the common trunk which unites superiority and neurosis is a temperament, but not a disease."

WORK OF CONGRESS

The employers' liability bill recently passed by the House was on Thursday passed by the Senate without amendment, so that it is ready to go to the President for his approval. The Senate adjourned until Monday. Three times in the House the Democrats caught the Republicans napping and forced them to produce a quorum. On one other occasion a vote by tellers disclosed the absence of a quorum, but Speaker Cannon peremptorily applied the Reed rule and declared a quorum to be present. Both the army and the fortifications appropriation bills were sent to conference; the Senate bill to increase the efficiency of the revenue cutter service was, with Democratic help, passed, and the bill to promote the safe transportation in interstate commerce of explosives was considered. The Democrats prevented the adoption of the conference report on the Indian appropriation bill and caused it to be sent back to conference.

-:—:-

The Senate was not in session Friday. Instead of interminable roll calls and clashes of party leaders on questions of parliamentary law in the House, there was an orderly session devoted almost entirely to the consideration of the naval appropriation bill. Chairman Foss of Illinois and Mr. Padgett of Tennessee made exhaustive speeches justifying the action of the committee in reporting what they characterized as a conservative naval program for the next fiscal year. Messrs. Favrot of Louisiana and McKinlay and Knowland, California, pleaded for a navy of such size as to be capable of upholding at all times the honor of the country at home and abroad, while Mr. Bartholdt of Missouri advocated a halt in naval increase and the substitution for it of arbitration in matters of international disputes. Consideration of the bill had not been concluded when the House took a recess until 11:30 Saturday.

-:—:-

The Senate was not in session Saturday. Debate on the naval appropriation bill in the House resolved itself into a discussion of the possibilities of a war between the United States and Japan. Mr. Hobson of Alabama pleaded for four battle ships instead of two for the next fiscal year. A war between the yellow and the white races he regarded as inevitable, and he asserted that Japan's present military activity was with a view to the supremacy of the Pacific, and as a natural consequence there would be a clash at arms with the United States. On the other hand, Mr. Burton, Ohio, and W. W. Kitchin, North Carolina, disputed that contention, each of them avowing that the clash would not come, but that the United States should remain in the forefront of modern civilization as the exponent of peace.

-:—:-

The brief session of the Senate Monday was devoted to the transaction of routine business and the delivery of a speech by Senator Scott of West Virginia, urging adequate appropriations for public buildings so that official business may be transacted with the greatest efficiency and economy. When the naval bill was laid aside for the day in the House it had been one-half disposed of. The hopes of the officers of the navy and marine corps for an increase in pay were dashed to the ground when, on a point of order by Mr. Madden of Illinois, there was stricken from the bill the provision for such increase. On a similar point by Mr. Mudd of Maryland, an amendment by Mr. Bartholdt of Missouri prohibiting naval or marine bands accepting private employment in competition with civilian musicians was lost.

-:—:-

The two features of interest in the Senate Tuesday were the speech of Senator Foraker on the Brownsville affair and the President's message advocating the building of four more battle ships. The delivery of the speech and the reading of the message consumed practically the entire time of the session. The expected fight in the House over the question whether there shall be two or four battle ships authorized for the coming year did not materialize, while the naval appropriation bill was under consideration. Instead, most of the session was devoted to a lively debate in regard to naval stations in the Philippines. The sum of $100,000, as recommended by the committee for improving and developing the naval station at Olongapo, Subig Bay, was allowed to stand. The special message from President Roosevelt urging four battle ships elicited loud applause. The naval bill was not concluded when the House took a recess until 11:30 Wednesday.

-:—:-

The Senate devoted its entire time Wednesday to considering bills on the calendar. Among the measures passed were those suppressing betting on races and games of various kinds in the District of Columbia, providing for the purchase of land between Pennsylvania avenue and the Mall in Washington as sites for government buildings, creating a bison range in Montana, and enlarging homesteads on non-irrigable lands. The swamp land reclamation bill was considered for a time and was made the unfinished business of the Senate. The House devoted the entire session to the navy increase provision of the naval appropriation bill and chief interest centered in the question of two battleships, as recommended by the committee, or four, as urged by President Roosevelt. The vote was 199 to 83 to sustain the committee's recommendation.

BUILD BIGGER NAVY PLEA OF ROOSEVELT

Sends Special Message Urging Construction of Four Huge Battle Ships.

HOUSE APPROVES OF PROJECT.

President Thinks Dreadnaughts Are Necessary to Keep Rank as a Naval Power.

President Roosevelt sent a special message to Congress urging both the House and the Senate to appropriate a sum sufficiently large to enable the construction of four battleships of the heaviest and most improved type. He takes the view that if Congress authorizes four of these Dreadnaughts this year that the building of only one ship a year of this class for some time to come will enable the country to hold its own as the second power in the world.

While the message received careful attention in the House and was applauded liberally, its reception in the Senate was the most remarkable ever given to a document received from the President of the United States in the upper branch. It was not even read, so great was the confusion. The reading clerk of the Senate simply read a line or two from each page and finished it in less than three minutes. The message said in part:

Let me again urge upon the Congress the need of providing for four battleships of the best and most advanced type at this session. Prior to the recent Hague conference it had been my hope that an agreement could be reached between the different nations to limit the increase of naval armaments, and especially to limit the size of warships. Under these circumstances I felt that the construction of one battleship a year would keep our navy up to its then positive and relative strength.

But actual experience showed not merely that it was impossible to obtain such an agreement for the limitation of armaments among the various leading powers, but that there was no likelihood whatever of obtaining it in the future within any reasonable time. Coincidentally with this discovery occurred a radical change in the building of the battleships among the great military nations—a change in accordance with which the most modern battleships have been or are being constructed, of a size and armament which doubles, or more probably trebles, their effectiveness.

Every other great naval nation has or is building a number of ships of this kind; we have provided for only two, and therefore the balance of power is now inclining against us. Under these conditions, to provide for only one or two battleships a year is to provide that this nation, instead of advancing, shall go backwards in naval rank and relative power among the great nations.

Such a course would be unwise for us if we fronted merely on one ocean, and it is doubly unwise when we front on two oceans.

As chief executive of the nation, and as commander-in-chief of the navy, there is imposed on me the solemn responsibility of advising the Congress of the measures vitally necessary to secure the peace and welfare of the republic in the event of international complications which are even remotely possible. Having in view this solemn responsibility, I earnestly advise that the Congress now provide four battleships of the most advanced type.

I cannot too emphatically say that this is a measure of peace and not of war. I can conceive of no circumstances under which this republic would enter into an aggressive war; most certainly, under no circumstances would it enter into an aggressive war to extend its territory or in any other manner seek material aggrandizement. I advocate that the United States build a navy commmensurate with its powers and its needs, because I feel that such a navy will be the surest guarantee and safeguard of peace.

POLITICS and POLITICIANS

Johnson men are already in Denver working up enthusiasm in behalf of the Minnesota Governor's nomination for the presidency by the Democratic convention.

Beginning with May 1, for the first time the Socialist party will have a daily newspaper of its own in New York City, financed and controlled by the party members.

The National Democratic Club of New York in arranging for its Jefferson Day dinner was divided over the question of inviting Mr. Bryan to attend, but finally a majority prevailed for the invitation.

John Mitchell, the retired head of the miners' union, has declined the President's offer of a place on a commission to investigate Panama conditions, his reason being that he has decided to start a weekly newspaper at Indianapolis.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade in the Chicago district says:

"Business as a whole does not make the progress usual at this season, and demands throughout the leading industries are yet inadequate to warrant increased effort in production. The tone, however, reflects confidence in the outlook, and support is drawn from the favorable official report as to conditions in agriculture. Some conflicting currents find their basis in rumors of further weakness in steel and iron quotations, a possible delay in starting up work at the mines, and a feeling that the stability of prices is not yet assured to heavy consumers of factory supplies.

"Money is not sought to the extent expected, and the plethoric aggregate of idle deposits has brought the lowest discount rate recorded in a long time. The volume of payments through the banks again discloses loss, and the commercial mortality has risen, but credit has strengthened and finances are amply restored to encourage wider enterprise.

"Transportation earnings undergo recovery from the low point, and railroad construction is more active, indicating that the percentage of unemployed cars is under reduction.

"Distributive dealings in general merchandise continue to make a good exhibit, there being sustained buying in the principal staples and improved absorption at both city and country retail stores. Accumulated orders for summer and fall shipments reach a fair aggregate in the textiles, food products, footwear and clothing, and an exceptionally large number of late buyers from nearby States attend the markets and call for immediate forwarding.

"Failures reported in the Chicago district number 29, against 16 last week and 11 a year ago. Those with liabilities over $5,000 number 10, against 3 last week and 5 in 1907."

NEW YORK.

Though irregular, the week's developments have been in the direction of improvement. The approach of Easter has stimulated retail trade in some lines and sections, with a sympathetic effect on some jobbing business and a slight gain in collections. The Southwest and Northwest send the best reports, while southern advices are little more satisfactory as a whole. So far the early crop and soil conditions are better than a year ago and the reports of insect damage are conspicuously fewer than in 1907. One effect of these developments has been to depress cereal and cotton prices to the lowest levels of the year. Lower prices of cottons have brought in some buying of specialties, but men's wear woolens and winter wear hosiery show little gain. The strength in sole leather continues and hides are slightly higher. Fashion has made the tan shoe situation a good one, but eastern shoe shipments are 27 per cent below 1907, and the loss from last year is about 25,000 cases per week since Jan. 1.

Business failures for the week ending April 9 number 258, against 247 last week, 194 in the same week of 1907, 161 in 1906, 196 in 1905 and 198 in 1904. Canadian failures for the week ending April 9 number 28, as against 32 last week and 28 in this week a year ago.—Bradstreet's Commercial Report.

THE MARKETS

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $7.05; hogs, prime heavy, $4.00 to $5.90; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $6.40; wheat, No. 2, 91c to 92c; corn, No. 2, 65c to 67c; oats, standard, 51c to 52c; rye, No. 2, 76c to 78c; hay, timothy, $9.50 to $16.00; prairie, $8.00 to $12.00; butter, choice creamery, 25c to 28c; eggs, fresh, 11c to 15c; potatoes, per bushel, 65c to 75c.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $7.00; hogs, good to choice heavy, $3.50 to $6.25; sheep, common to prime, $3.00 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2, 92c to 93c; corn, No. 2 white, 63c to 65c; oats, No. 2 white, 51c to 52c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $4.50 to $7.25; hogs, $4.00 to $5.85; sheep, $3.00 to $6.25; wheat, No. 2, 97c to 98c; corn, No. 2, 65c to 66c; oats, No. 2, 49c to 50c; rye, No. 2, 77c to 79c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.75; hogs, $4.00 to $6.30; sheep, $3.00 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2, 95c to 96c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 65c to 66c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 51c to 52c; rye, No. 2, 82c to 84.

Detroit—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.50; hogs, $4.00 to $6.10; sheep, $2.50 to $6.00; wheat, No. 2, 92c to 93c; corn, No. 3 yellow, 66c to 67c; oats, No. 3 white, 55c to 56c; rye, No. 2, 80c to 81c.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, $1.04 to $1.06; corn, No. 3, 65c to 66c; oats, standard, 52c to 53c; rye, No. 1, 80c to 81c; barley, No. 2, 86c to 87c; pork, mess, $18.35.

Buffalo—Cattle, choice shipping steers, $4.00 to $6.90; hogs, fair to choice, $4.00 to $6.25; sheep, common to good mixed, $4.00 to $6.75; lambs, fair to choice, $5.00 to $8.40.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, 91c to 93c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 67c to 69c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 53c to 54c; rye, No. 2, 79c to 79c; clover seed, prime, $12.25.

APRIL

L 903

0145

The Firm of Girdlestone

BY

A. CONAN DOYLE

CHAPTER XXII.—(Continued.)

Another moment and the door was stealthily opened. Once again the broad golden bar shot out across the lawn almost to the spot where the confederates were crouching. In the center of the zone of light there stood a figure—the figure of the girl. Even at that distance they could distinguish the pearl-grey mantle which she usually wore and the close fitting bonnet. She had wrapped a shawl round the lower part of her face to protect her from the boisterous wind. For a minute or more she stood peering out into the darkness of the night, as though uncertain whether to proceed or to go back. Then, with a quick, sudden gesture she closed the door behind her. The light was no longer there, but they knew that she was outside the house, and that the appointment would be kept.

What an age it seemed before they heard her footsteps. She came very slowly, putting one foot gingerly before the other, as if afraid of falling over something in the darkness. Once or twice she stopped altogether, looking round, no doubt, to make sure of her whereabouts. At the instant the moon shone out from behind a cloud, and they saw her dark figure a short distance off. The light enabled her to see the withered oak, for she came rapidly towards it. As she approached she satisfied herself apparently that she was the first on the ground, for she slackened her pace once more and walked in the listless way that people assume when they are waiting. The clouds were overtaking the moon again, and the light was getting dimmer.

"I can see her still," said Ezra in a whisper, grasping his father's wrist in his excitement.

The old man said nothing, but he peered through the darkness with eager, straining eyes.

"There she is, standing out a little from the oak," the young merchant said, pointing with a quivering finger. "She's not near enough for him to reach her."

"He's coming out fro mthe shadow now," the other said huskily. "Don't you see him crawling along the ground?"

"I see him," returned the other in the same subdued, awestruck voice. "Now he has stopped; now he goes on again! He is close behind her! She is looking the other way."

A thin ray of light shot down between the clouds. In its silvery radiance two figures stood out hard and black, that of the unconscious girl and of the man who crouched like a beast of prey behind her. He made a step forward, which brought him within a yard of her. She may have heard the heavy footfall above the shriek of the storm, for she turned suddenly and faced him. At the same instant she was struck down with a crashing blow. There was no time for a prayer, no time for a scream. One moment had seen her a magnificent woman in all the pride of her youthful beauty, the next left her a poor battered senseless wreck. The navvy had earned his blood money.

At the sound of the blow and the sight of the fall both the old man and the young ran out from their place of concealment. Burt was standing over the body, his bludgeon in his hand.

"Not even a groan," he said. "What d'ye think of that?"

Girdlestone wrung his hand and congratulated him warmly. "Shall I light the lantern?" he asked.

"Don't!" Ezra said earnestly.

"I had no idea that you were so faint-hearted, my son," the merchant remarked. "However, I know the way to the gate well enough to go there blindfold. What a comfort it is to know that there is no blood about! That's the advantage of a stick over a knife."

"You're correct there, guv'nor," Burt said, approvingly.

"Will you kindly carry one end and I'll take the other. I'll go first, if you don't mind, because I know the way best. The train will pass in less than half an hour, so we have not long to wait. Within that time every chance of detection will have gone."

Girdlestone raised up the head of the murdered girl, and Burt took her feet. Ezra walked behind as though he were in some dreadful dream. He had fully recognised the necessity for the murder, but he had never before realised how ghastly the details would be. Already he had begun to repent that he had ever acquiesced in it. Then came thoughts of the splendid possibilities of the African business, which could only be saved from destruction by this woman's death. How could he, with his luxurious tastes, bear the squalor and poverty which would be his lot were the firm to fail. Better a rope and a long drop than such a life as that! All these considerations thronged into his mind as he plodded along the slippery footpath which led through the forest to the wooden gate.

CHAPTER XXIII.

When Tom and the major arrived at Waterloo station, the latter in a breathless condition, they found the German waiting for them with his two fellow exiles. The gentleman of Nihilistic proclivities was somewhat tall and thin, with a long frock coat buttoned almost up to his throat, which showed signs of giving at the seams every here and there. His grizzly hair fell over his collar behind, and he had a short bristling beard. He stood with one hand stuck into the front of his coat and the other upon his hip, as though rehearsing the position in which his statue would be some day erected in the streets of his native Russia, when the people had their own, and despotism was no more. In spite of his worn attire there was something noble and striking about the man. His bow, when Baumser introduced him to the major and Tom, would have graced any court in Europe. Round his neck he had a coarse string from which hung a pair of double eyeglasses. These he fixed upon his aquiline nose, and took a good look at the gentlemen whom he had come to serve.

Bulow, of Kiel, was a small, dark-eyed clean shaven fellow, quick and energetic in his movements, having more the appearance of a Celt than of a Teuton. He seemed to be full of amiability, and assured the major in execrable English how very happy he was to be able to do a service to one who had shown kindness to their esteemed colleague and persecuted patriot, Von Baumser. Indeed both of the men showed great deference to the German, and the major began to perceive that his friend was a very exalted individual in socialistic circles. He liked the look of the two foreigners, and congratulated himself upon having their co-operation in the matter on hand.

Ill luck was in store for the expedition, however. On inquiry at the ticket office they found that there was no train for upwards of two hours, and then it was a slow one, which would not land them until eight o'clock at Bedsworth. At this piece of information Tom Dimsdale fairly broke down, and stamped about the station, raving and beseeching the officials to run a special, be the cost what it might. This, however, could by no means be done, owing to the press of Saturday traffic. There was nothing for it but to wait. The three foreigners went off in search of something to eat, and having found a convenient cook shop they disappeared therein and feasted royally at Von Baumser's expense. Major Tobias Clutterbuck remained with the young man, who resolutely refused to leave the platform. The major knew of a snug little corner not far off where he could have put in the time very comfortably, but he could not bring himself to desert his companion even for a minute.

Indeed, it was well that day that young Dimsdale had good friends at his back. His appearance was so strange and wild that the passers-by turned back to have another look at him. His eyes were open and staring, giving a fear-inspiring character to his expression. He could not sit still for an instant, but paced up and down and backwards and forwards under the influence of the fierce energy which consumed him, while the major plodded along manfully at his side, suggesting every consideration which might cheer him up, and narrating many tales, true and apocryphal, most of which fell upon heedless ears.

Ezra Girdlestone had four hours' start of them. That was the thought which rankled in Tom's heart and outweighed every other consideration. He knew Kate's nature so well that he was convinced that she would never have expressed such fears to Mrs. Scully unless she had very assured reasons for them. In fact, apart from her own words, what could this secrecy and seclusion mean except foul play? After what he had learned about the insurance of the ships and the manner in which the elder Girdlestone had induced him to cease corresponding with Kate, he could believe anything of his employers. He knew, also, that in case of Kate's death the money reverted to her guardian. There was not a single link missing in the chain of evidence which showed that a crime was in contemplation. Then, who was that butcher-like man whom Ezra was taking down with him?

The major has put it on record that those two hours appeared to him the longest that ever he passed in his life, and Tom, no doubt, would indorse the sentiment. Everything must have an end, however, and the station clock, the hands of which seemed several times to have stopped altogether, began at last to approach the hour at which the Portsmouth train was timed to depart. Baumser and his two friends had come back, all three smoking cigarettes, and looking the better for their visit to the cookshop. The five got into a first-class railway carriage and waited. Would they never have done examining tickets and stamping luggage and going through all sorts of tedious formalities? At last comes the shrill whistle of the guard, the answering snort from the engine, and they are fairly started upon their mission of rescue.

There was much to be arranged as to their plan of action. Tom, Von Baumser and the major talked it over in a low voice, while the two socialists chatted together in German and consumed eternal cigarettes. Tom was for marching straight up to the Priory, and demanding that Girdlestone should deliver his ward up to them. To the major and the German this seemed an unwise proceeding. It was to put themselves hopelessly wrong from a legal point of view. Girdlestone had only to say, as he assuredly would, that the old story was a ridiculous mare's nest, and then what proof could they adduce, or what excuse give for their interference? However plausible their suspicions might be, they were, after all, only suspicions, which other people might not view in as grave a light as they did.

"What would you advise, then?" Tom asked, passing his hand over his heated forehead.

"I'll tell you now," the old soldier answered, "and I think me friend Von Baumser will agree with me. I understand that this place is surrounded by a wall to which there is only one gate. Sure we shall wait outside this wall, and one of us can go in as a skirmisher and find out how the land lies. Let him ascertain from the young lady herself if she requires immediate help, and what she would wish done. If he can't make his way to her, let him hang about the house and see and hear all that he can. We shall then have something solid to work on. I have a whistle here on me watch chain. Our skirmisher could take that with him, and if he wants immediate help one blow of it would be enough to bring the four of us over to him. Though how the devil I am to git over a wall," concluded the major ruefully, looking down at his own proportions, "is more than I can tell."

"I hope, my vriends," said Von Baumser, "dat you vill allow me the honor of going first."

"That is my place," said Tom with decision.

It was nearly eight o'clock by the time they reached their destination. The station master directed them to the Flying Bull, where they secured the very vehicle in which Kate and her guardian had been originally driven up. By the time that the horse was put in it was close on to the half hour.

"Drive as hard as you can go to the Priory, me man," said the major.

The sulky ostler made no remark, but a look of surprise passed over his phlegmatic countenance. For years back so little had been heard of the old monastery that its very existence had been almost forgotten in Bedsworth. Now, whole troops of Londoners were coming down in succession, demanding to be driven there. He pondered over the strange facts as he drove through the darkness, but the only conclusion to which his bucolic mind could come was that it was high time to raise the fare to that particular point.

It was a miserable night, stormy and wet and bitterly cold. None of the five men had a thought to spare for the weather, however. The two foreigners had been so infected by the suppressed excitement of their companions, or had so identified themselves with their comrades' cause, that they were as eager as the others.

"Are we near?" the major asked.

"The gate is just at the end o' the lane, sir."

"Don't pull up at the gate, but take us a little past it."

"There ain't no way in except the gate," the driver remarked.

"Do what you're ordered," said the major sternly.

Once again the ostler's face betrayed unbounded astonishment. He slewed half way round in his seat and took as good a look as was possible in the uncertain light at the faces of his passengers. It had occurred to him that it was more than likely that he would have to swear to them at some future date in a police court. "I'd know that thick 'un wi' the red face," he muttered to himself, "and him wi' the yeller beard and the stick."

They passed the stone pillars with the weather-beaten heraldic devices, and drove along by the high park wall. When they had gone a hundred yards or so the major ordered the driver to pull up, and they all got down. The increased fare was paid without remonstrance, and the ostler rattled away homewards, with the intention of pulling up at the county police station and lodging information as to the suspicious visitors whom he had brought down.

"It is loikely that they have a watch at the gate," said the major. "We must keep away from there. This wall is a great hoight. We'd best keep on until we find the nisiest place to scale it."

"I could get over it here," Tom said eagerly.

"Wait a bit. A few minutes can make no difference one way or the other. Ould Sir Colin used to say that there were more battles lost by over haste than by slowness. What's the high bank running along on the right here?"

"Dat's a railway bankment," said Von Baumser. "See the posts and the little red lights over yonder."

"So it is. The wall seems to be to be lower here. What's this dark thing? Hullo, here's a door lading into the grounds."

"It is locked, though."

"Give me a hoist," Tom said imploringly. "Don't throw a minute away. You can't tell what may be going on inside. At this very moment, for all we know, they may be plotting her murder."

"He has right," said Von Baumser. "We shall await here until we hear from you. Help him, my vriends—shove him up."

Tom caught the coping of the wall, although the broken glass upon the top cut deeply into his hands. With a great heave he swung himself up, and was soon astride upon the top.

"Here's the whistle,' said the major, standing on tiptoe to reach a downstretched hand. "If you want us give a good blow at it. We'll be with you in a brace of shakes. If we can't get over the wall we'll have the door down."

Tom was in the act of letting himself drop into the wood, when suddenly the watchers below saw him crouch down upon the wall, and lie motionless as though listening intently.

"Hush!" he whispered, leaning over. "Some one is coming through the wood."

The wind had died away and the storm subsided. Even from the lane they could hear the sound of feet, and of muffled voices inside the grounds. They all crouched down in the shadow of the wall. Tom lay flat upon the glass-studded coping, and no one looking from below could distinguish him from the wall itself.

(To be continued.)

Spiteful.

Miss Elder—I'm having just the loveliest gown made. It's tan cloth with old rose trimming. Don't you think that will be becoming?

Miss Chellus—Yes, the 'old' rose will be especially appropriate for you.—Philadelphia Press.

REVIEW OF INDIANA

Fire caused $1,500 loss in John Bookhouse's grocery in Muncie, the result of mice gnawing matches. The loss is covered by insurance.

A friend in North Carolina has advised Mrs. Charles C. Hodgin, of Westfield, of the death of a wealthy aunt in that State, and that she has been remembered in the will.

The commissioners of Hamilton County have awarded contracts for the construction of twenty-eight gravel roads, amounting to $131,644.35. Noblesville banks have promised to purchase all the bonds.

Frank Burger, of Decatur, has filed suit against the Chicago & Erie Railroad Company, in which he demands $2,000 for injuries he sustained in a collision while returning from Illinois with horses belonging to the Decatur Horse Sale Company.

The fact that chloroform makes J. B. Hoffmeyer "holler" saved his home in Indianapolis from being looted. He awoke "hollering" he told the police, and felt all the sensations that accompany the use of chloroform. The telephone wires in the house had been cut and a back door was open.

Dan Whittinghill, negro, wanted at Owensboro, Ky., for shooting his wife, was captured in Princeton, and he has confessed his guilt. A week ago Whittinghill went home and found another man there, and as the couple ran he shot at the man but hit his wife. She is still alive. Whittinghill has been returned to Owensboro for trial.

Capt. J. W. Barnett, 80 years old, narrowly escaped death at his home in Owensville when he attempted to drive a cow out of his yard. The animal attacked Captain Barnett, knocking him down and wounding him with its horns. The timely arrival of Mrs. Barnett saved her husband from death. With a broom Mrs. Barnett drove the cow into the street. Captain Barnett's injuries are not thought to be serious.

Carl Thompson, of Shelbyville, was made a cripple for life while playing leap frog with a number of small companions, while returning from school. He was supposed to be "down," when one of the boys ran against him, knocking him to the ground. His right arm was injured at the elbow, and a physician says that the injury will cause his arm to be stiff for the remainder of his life. He is only 10 years of age.

Elijah Hammond, proprietor of Hammond's Cafe in Columbus, owned twenty-four fine, fat hogs. He was feeding them, with the intention of marketing them in a few days. Then he bought some more porkers from a farmer, one of which had the cholera. In a short time the whole bunch of hogs became affected. Along came another farmer and told Hammond to give the hogs strychnine. Hammond took an ounce of the drug and put it in a slop barrel. Then he fed the hogs. Seventeen soon died. Others are sick and may die.

William H. Nead, of Lawrenceburg, while in his garden, removing a brush pile, accidentally stepped on a large black snake, which coiled around his leg. In attempting to escape he stepped on its mate and fell to the ground, and in a second both snakes entwined his body and made an attempt to squeeze him to death. Mr. Nead, recovering from his fright, remembered he had a pruning knife in his pocket, which he drew and began slashing the bodies of the snakes in two before they ceased attack. Mr. Nead also slashed his own clothing in several places while releasing himself.

A hawk weighing twelve pounds attacked Miss Daisy McKernan while she and two other girls were fishing in the Island Valley pond near Jasonville. The girls had caught a few small fish, and they were examining them when the hawk swooped down and tried to carry off one of the fish. Miss McKernan struck the bird with a stone, and it dropped the fish and attacked the girl, alighting on her shoulder and clawing and picking her hair. Miss McKernan knocked the hawk off with her hands, and struck it with a stick on the head, killing it. Except for a few scratches the girl escaped unhurt.

Several High School students of Hartford City are threatened with arrest for their rowdy actions at the home of L. C. Johnson, where a party was given for the members of the senior class by Miss Dale Johnson. The uninvited guests made things miserable for a time, and some damage to property resulted. While the party was lunching the outsiders broke into the kitchen and pilfered the refrigerator, and when discovered by the hostess and several guests they showered them with eggs they had found in the cooler. Later the gang returned and, getting a ladder, climbed into an upstairs bedroom and threw the bed clothes out the window.

Prof. R. M. Tyron, of Vincennes, has been elected to the principalship of the Madison City High School, vice H. D. Sparks, resigned.

Nearly 600 conversions have resulted from the revival services in the Christian church of Frankfort, conducted by the Rev. Herbert Yuell.

Elmer, the 12-year-old son of Geo. Abel, a farmer near Auburn, was crushed to death by falling under the wheels of a B. & O. freight.

While driving home from school Morrison Weir and Prince Hazzard, freshmen in the Scottsburg school, were badly bruised in a runaway accident.

William Taylor, regarded as the oldest man in Kosciusko County, is dead at the home of his son Jerome, three miles northeast of Mentone. He was 97 years old.

The corner stone of the new $75,000 hospital being erected in Logansport by the Sisters of St. Francis, which will be known as St. Joseph's Hospital, will be laid Sunday, May 24.

The work on Marion's new Federal building, for which Congress made an appropriation of $100,000, will begin at once. The contract was awarded to the Charles W. Gindele Company, of Chicago.

Joseph P. Southard, of Jasonville, has been notified of a bequest to him of nearly $27,000 by his brother, Louis Southard, in Switzerland. He will leave without delay to claim possession.

Mary Bratney, of Bloomington, is the adopted daughter of Judith Bratney, a wealthy farmer, recently deceased. She inherited his real estate, valued at $50,000. The court recently changed her name to Bratney.

Fourteen schoolhouses were condemned by the State Board of Health last week. The board has representatives inspecting all the country schoolhouses, and it is expected that 300 or 400 will be condemned.

As the result of a fall from a chair placed on a table, on which to stand while tearing paper from a ceiling, John Taylor is in the City Hospital at Bedford with one leg broken above the knee, collar bone dislocated and one arm broken, besides internal injuries of a serious character.

Miss Maggie A. Wilson, principal of the Jasper High School, has been granted a license to teach, good till 1916, by the Indiana State Board of Education. Miss Wilson passed the examination at Evansville last month and her license covers high school work anywhere in Indiana.

Michael Cronin, a member of the detective force of Boston, Mass., and Mrs. John Hastaday, of Crawfordsville, brother and sister, after a separation of forty-one years, have been reunited. The sister preceded her brother to America from Ireland, and she was married in Crawfordsville.

The petition of Mrs. Joseph Ratliff, of Richmond, recently divorced, asking that her maiden name of Ruth Ann Hunt be restored, has been granted in the Wayne Circuit Court. Mrs. Hunt is nearly 80 years old. Joseph Ratliff, from whom she was divorced, is several years her senior. Both for half a century have been prominent members of the Hicksite branch of the Friends' church.

Philip Kastner, 52 years old, formerly a druggist in Louisville, Ky., later Township Trustee in Jasper County, and more recently roprietor of the new opera house at Jasper, was tried in the Circuit Court, accused of assault with intent to kill his son George, and he was found guilty. The trial was pathetic, and as whiskey seemed to be the cause for his trouble, he was released on his promise to abstain from the use of intoxicants.

Two large turkey gobblers belonging to George Nesbitt, of Woodlawn, attacked R. B. Marshall while walking near the former's home, and it took the combined efforts of the two men to drive the intruders off. The birds, which are massive in size, became enraged at Mr. Marshall's red handkerchief and pecked and beat his legs with their wings, bruising them considerably. His cries were heard by Mr. Nesbitt, who came to the rescue, and by the aid of sticks compelled them to retreat.

Charles Bender, of Portland, who has gone to California to remain several months, is said to be one of the heirs to an estate of $150,000, owned by Jeremiah Bender, who recently died at Bolivar, Ohio. Jeremiah Bender was his bachelor uncle, and was one of a family of four boys and two girls. Among them they accumulated nine big farms. Not one of them married. Two of them, before death, deeded their farms to tenants. After Bender's death $7,000 in cash was found in his home. He was 80 years old and left no will.

APRIL

L 903

Bad Backache

Such agonies as some women suffer, every month, from backache!

Is it necessary? No. It can be prevented and relieved, when caused by female trouble, by taking a medicine with specific, curative action, on the female organs and functions, which acts by relieving the congestion, stopping the pain and building the organs and functions up to a proper state of health. Try.

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMAN'S RELIEF

"I suffered for 15 years," writes Mrs. Malinda A. Akers, of Basham, Va., "with various female troubles. I had such a backache that it drew me over, so I could not stand straight. The doctors could not help me, so I took Cardui, and now I feel like a new woman."

At All Druggists

WRITE FOR FREE ADVICE, stating age and describing symptoms, to Ladies Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. E 28

J. A. PROVINES

TRUSTEE

of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:
THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK at residence in Spencerville, Ind.

DENTIST.

C. R. PRICE,

ST. JOE, IND.

Office in Case building.

Bell Phone No. 44.

C. S. SMITH

Lawyer and Notary Public.

COLLECTIONS and LOANS.

Office in Auburn State Bank Building.

Auburn Indiana.

WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St. Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.

No. 11, Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail 12:05a. m
No. 3, Western Express 8:06 p. m

GOING EAST.

No. 2, Eastern Express 6:34a. m
No. 16, Toledo Acc & Mail 7:21 p. m

Local Briefs

F. H. Langley spent several days this week with his wife.

Easter services were observed by the Lutheran and M. P. churches, Sunday evening. Good programs were rendered and good sized audiences attended.

C. J. Lake and wife, of Ft. Wayne, but who are staying at the home of Samuel Tomlinson, near Newville, are the happy parents of a baby boy, born Thursday, April 16.

Earl Sherer, Frank Ginther, Elgin Curie, Foraker Ferrel, Clarence and Dale Walter, Merritt Hull and lady friend of Ft. Wayne, were Easter guests of their parents, at this place.

The St. Joe News.

One Year - - - $1.00
Six Month - - - 50c
Three Months - - 25c

FRED B. LEIGHTY, Editor.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

Mrs. C. W. Mutzfeld visited her parents at Toledo, last week.

Paul Krabill is finishing his course in telegraphy at Garrett, taking it up at that place a couple weeks ago.

Mrs. Cora Smith and son Harry of Auburn, Mr. and Mrs. Mort Foote and family of near Harlan, Frank Sechler and family and Mrs. Cynthia Engle were guests of Mrs. Nancy Widney and son Sylvester, last Wednesday, it being Mrs. Widney's birthday anniversary.

The Ft Wayne District meeting and Christian Endeavor Rally of the M. P. church is now in full sway at Concord church, beginning Monday evening and continuing until Thursday evening. An excellent program has been arranged and some good speakers will be there. Thursday will be Christian Endeavor Day. The members of the Concord church will serve a free dinner to all, Thursday. A most cordial invitation is extended to you.

Eli Conrad, who for many years has been doing a wholesale business in Ft. Wayne, was informed last Saturday that he would be prohibited from selling any more of his butchered meats in the city. This order does not alone rest on Eli, but it is general among those who have been in the habit of selling dressed meats in Ft. Wayne. Some inspector, who is getting paid for staying around Ft. Wayne, could not find anything else to do, Saturday, and because of the fact that he wanted to stay and see the ball game Sunday, he got busy and issued this order. We would advise him to look around Ft. Wayne and then come out here and we will show him how to butcher and convince him that there is nothing killed here but what is right, but we would have to stop and think awhile before we would eat meat if we knew it was killed in the Ft. Wayne slaughter shops.—Grabill Review. The Spencerville, Harlan and Leo butchers are given the same orders. This will mean a great deal to these men as this was where they made their money, and rather than be taken in they have yielded to the request. This movement is perhaps the work of the packing houses. They have been compelled to clean up and now for revenge they will do all they can to balance the accounts. It is a scheme to have the local butchers buy their meat of the packers, because it would be impossible for them to have stock examined before being killed, without making great expense. This act seems to be general.

The Old Proverb

That "It takes nine tailors to make a man" may possibly mean that it takes nine trials to find the right tailor.

You can save eight trials by coming here first. At this time in the year we can do considerably better by you than later. Not better in style, fabric, fit or finish—that's impossible—but better in price. For Example:—

Suits from $18.00 up.

Pants from $4.00 up

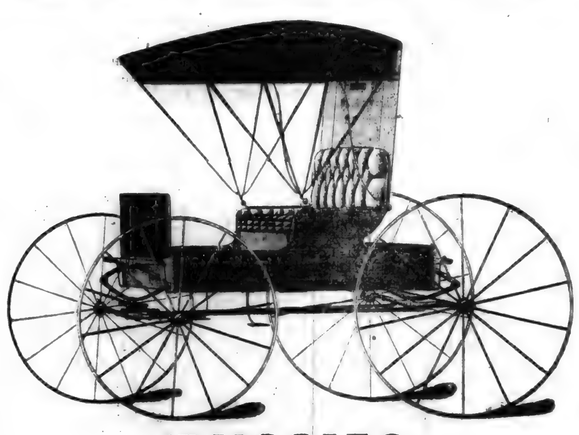
ED MAY,

TAILOR,

Butler, Ind.

Are You Ready for Spring?

Within a few weeks your work will begin in earnest, when it seems that everything must be done at once. Now is the time to prepare. Have your machinery all bought and ready to begin as soon as the weather affords you the opportunity. We are prepared to supply your every requirement in the way of Farm Implements, and supplies. We also try to give you the best values for your money, always.



....BUGGIES....

Our sales on buggies are as good as usual owing to the good makes (Defiance and Kiblinger) and all are of the season's latest designs. The style, finish, appearance, makes, and workmanship of our buggies, pleases everyone who call and inspect. They're beauties and strictly up-to-date. Come in and see ours.

PLOWS....

One should use as much judgement in buying a plow as in buying any other piece of machinery. Our line comprises the Oliver Chilled, Bryan and Fairfield Birch Plows. We also handle the "Celebrated Bryan Disc" the best on the market.

WAGONS....

We handle nothing but the best make of wagons, such as the Weber, Troy, Jackson, Columbus, from which to make your selection. If you are in the market, come in we can save you money.

Wm. Curie

Implement Dealer.

St. Joe, - - - - - Indiana.

Bruce Leighty spent several days last week with relatives, returning home Friday.

The commissioners have given Commodore Hamman written instructions to procee with the construction of Cedar creek. He is superintendent of construction and in this capacity the board look to him to see that the work proceeds. They have also notified Contractor Pearl to get busy. The time limit fixed is May 1.—Dispatch.

The tax assessor is now at large with his little indelible pencil and his package of blanks seeking whom he may fill with interrogations and a wild desire to cuss. When the assessor succeeds in getting a man corralled he makes him take off his hat and swear over the following questions: How old was your father the day your mother was born? How many people do you owe? Do you ever intend to pay any of them? Have you any dogs, cats, goats, monkeys or other beasts of burden? What breed of fleas does your dog prefer? Have you a typewriter? If so, what sex? Do you smoke cigarrette or walk in your sleep? Are you in love? If so, with whose wife? Were you born in the United States or Kansas? Is your watch a stem winder or a self binder and from whom did you steal it? Do you believe in woman's rights If, so, why don't you get married? Do you believe in signs? If so, sign your name; if not, sign it anyway.

Fresh candy now at Milliman's shop

The Twelfth District Medical Association met at Fort Wayne yesterday. Dr. Hurty, secretary of the State Board of health, gave a lecture on "Tuberculosis in Human Beings," besides other lectures and papers on important topics were discussed.

Lawns are beginning to remind one of the home of the Irishman. They are the best reminders of this, the most delightful season of the year.

People who have paid their taxes complain of them being much higher than previous years. The board of review has given them a slight raise.

A Boston schoolboy was tall, weak and sickly.

His arms were soft and flabby. He didn't have a strong muscle in his entire body.

The physician who had attended the family for thirty years prescribed Scott's Emulsion.

NOW:

To feel that boy's arm you would think he was apprenticed to a blacksmith.

ALL DRUGGISTS; 50c. AND $1.00.

APRIL

L 903

MANY

Have Been Convinced

of the merits of the Monarch Attrition Mill

and we are daily grinding feed for satisfied customers. They have learned that the NONARCH makes ideal feed. There is a reason why. Try it and see.

We will grind your grist while you do your trading.

WHEN YOU BUY FLOUR

It's always best to select a brand of established quality "OUR DAILY BREAD" the perfect flour, has been weighed in the balance and has always met the requirements of the best homes. It is an all-round flour of the choicest kind. Many young ladies who expect to be come housewives this fall are, with the aid of this popular flour now learning the better sort of baking. As a consequence an equal number of young men will have occasion to "pat themselves on the back." The best bread bakers use the best flour—that "OUR DAILY BREAD." Its best recommendation is the multitude of housewives who use it.

Keesler Milling Co.

ST. JOE, - - - - INDIANA.

Just Received.

Car Load Wabash Portland Cement.

Consignment of Gasoline Vapor Stoves.

I Keep on Hands

Hydrated Ground Lime

Stoves and Ranges Cooking Utensils

Steel Goods of all kinds.

All Kinds of Roofing:

Best quality Red Cedar Shingles

Gravel Roofing Asbestos, Rubber, Felt and Galvanized Roofing.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT

Linseed, Automobile and Lubricating Oils, Gasoline, Etc.

GLASS, SASH AND DOORS.

Quality Right. Prices Right.

D. J. Baker.

Local Items.

Envelopes 5c a bunch.

Did you see my new Easter bonnet?

The Easter services at the three M. P. churches of St. Joe circuit were well attended and exercises good. The collections were at least 90 per cent better than last year. Concord takes the banner this year.

Chas. Widney and wife of Adrian, Mich., were visitors of the former's mother, Mrs. Matilda Widney, a few days last week. They returned to their home Friday morning with the intention of packing their goods and moving here to take care of his mother who is in very poor health.

Over next Friday and Sunday is the next quarterly meeting of the St. Joe circuit of the M. P. church, in the Fairview church. Quarterly conference on Friday at 2 p. m. Preaching next Sunday at 10 a. m and 4:30 p. m. Communion services after the morning sermon, to which all who love Jesus Christ are invited.

W. R Davis, manager of the saw mill at this place, returned from Michigan, last week, where he had had been for several days in the interest of the Noble Hoop Co. He informed us that all of their northern timber would be shipped to St. Joe, sawed and then shipped to Tiffin, O., as the Fort Wayne factory has more than they can do, working night and day in order to keep their timber from spoiling. Monday of this week logs began to arrive from Fremont, Mich. Mr. Davis says that he has about 350,000 feet of timber to be shipped here from Michigan, 35 car loads coming from Fremont alone. The timber is of the best sized elm and it will be worked up as soon as possible. This will be a busy place for some time to come, and as soon as the woods are settled their teams will be hauling from the surrounding country.

Wanted wood on subscription.

John Bickhart and wife of Harlan spent last Thursday with Frank Walter and family.

Mrs. S. Heminger of Adrian, Mich., is spending the week with her husband, during the District meeting.

Money to loan on farms at 5 per cent interest. Payable on or before 10 years. Partial payments allowed. Call on or write us. Brown & Rhoads, Lawyers, City National Bank Building, Auburn, Ind.

The ladies of the M. P. church gave the Easter Bazaar in the Kinsey Furniture room, Saturday. Everything imaginable and unimaginable in the fancy work, notion and staple line they had for sale: aprons, fancy and plain, sunbonnets, laundry bags, bibs, clothespin aprons, collars, handkerchief, dollies, centerpieces, disnciothe pin cushions, pin cases, towels, sofa pillows, work bags, veil holders, glove boxes, handkerchief boxes, etc., etc. and at very cheap prices. Several of the articles for sale were sent by old members of the church who live at a distance. The ladies were busy all day from early morning. They also served a fine Easter lunch consisting of biscuit, butter, jelly, potato salad, pickled eggs, cucumbers, pickled beet fruit, cake and coffee. They cleared $50.00 The ladies are raising money for the repairing and remodeling of the church.

A Twenty Year Sentence.

"I have just completed a twenty year health sentence, imposed by Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which cured me of bleeding piles just twenty years ago," writes O. S. Woolever, of LeRaysville, N. Y. Bucklen's Arnica Salve heals the worst sores, boils, burns, wounds and cuts in the shortest time. 25c at H. Milliman's drug store.

Isaac Staley of Oakwood, Ohio, visited last Tuesday with His son-in-law, J. W. Sherer, and also his sister-in-law, from Michigan, who is visiting at Geo. Wade's, east of town.

It is a well established fact that City Treasurer Ed. Shilling is a hustler. But a record made over Sunday set such a pace that the swiftest will not be able to keep even. Saturday afternoon he sowed some tomato seed in a small box and Monday noon they were up. Now if that isn't "going some", then we surrender our reputation as a judge. Now Ed was tickled to death to look upon that little crop of tomatoes and see how they had grown by leaps and bounds and so good did he feel that when they reached the half inch station he rushed to the postoffice and told Uncle Sam's force. Why he did it we don't know unless he realized that they were great disseminators of news to the public. Mailing Clerk Grover and Deputy Thrush told him at that rate he would see the tomatoes in bloom on Wednesday and on Friday he would have the first of the season for dinner, Believing them he immediately went to the first grocery and ordered a "quarter's worth" of sugar sent up to the house with explicit instructions to hurry for fear the tomatoes would get there first. This may seem like a tomato story but it is a fact. Ed had the "goods" to show any who were from Missouri. There is a secret which we dare not divulge but with a confidential understanding with our readers that they keep still we will reveal it. Remember, you are not to tell anybody. Mr. Shilling placed the seeds in a box and putting a glass tumbler over them set the box in the west window of his office. He left it there until the electric lights were turned on and then set it under a light which was left burning all night. This same treatment was repeated on Sunday and until Monday noon when the tender plants waived their green leaves to greet the many who were curious as to the real truth of their mushroom growth. Mr. Shilling holds the record until some one can beat it.—Dispatch.

Among the many propositions before the country, as considered by our legislators on Capitol Hill in Washington, is one suggested and urged by Postmaster General von Meyer to establish a postal savings bank. The Postmaster General has been for a long time in Europe, and he knows something about those European institutions to which we are disposed to contemptuously refer as "effete." Among them is the parcels post and the postal savings bank, made possible in monarchies, but almost unattainable in a country ruled by banking interests and express company interests like ours. A postal savings bank system has been demanded and urged by thousands of letters from people all over the country. It is as earnestly opposed by bankers and trust companies and other business enterprises. The bill for the postal savings bank which is advocated by Senator Carter, secures the legal exemption of all the deposits and an interest of two per cent. per annum to the depositor. The deposits are limited to $1,000 for each individual and the postal savings bank will accept sums as low as ten cents. Such banks would surely encourage thrift and economy among people with small means. But instead of injuring the banks, Senator Carter's bill would really help them. It provides that the government shall place all the funds thus collected in the national banks nearest the places of deposits at a rate not to exceed two and one fourth per cent. By this means the banks will have the use of the money for a smaller charge than is customary with other savings banks It is evident that any person who has saved a thousand dollars by taking care of the pennies, will either invest it or put it in a bank instead of squandering it as he would have done but for the suggestion of the postal savings bank.

Cured of Rheumatism.

Mr. Wm. Henry of Chattanooga, Tenn. had rheumatism in his left arm. "The strength seemed to have gone out of the muscles so that it was useless for work" he says. "I applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and wrapped the arm in a flannel at night, and to my relief I found that the pain gradually left me and the strength returned." If troubled with rheumatism try a few applications of Pain Balm. You are certain to be pleased with the relief which it affords. For sale by H. Milliman, St. Joe, F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

For Mortgage Exemptions, see S. S. WIDNEY.

S. S. Widney and mother visited several days last week with Marion Smith and family at Auburn.

Loyd Shuler a six year old boy at Grabill, fell from a second story window in the Grabill Review office, last week, and was practically uninjured, although it was a distance of fourteen feet.

Wanted.—Good reliable salesman to sell first class House, Barn and Roof Paints and Varnishes. Liberal terms to hustlers. References required with application. Federal Paint Company, Cleveland, Ohio.

The W. C. T. U. executive committee of DeKalb county met at the home of the president, Mrs. C. A. Patterson, Tuesday, April 14. Those in attendance were Mrs. A. Lewis, Mrs. Anna Silver, Miss Laura Shutt of Auburn; Mrs. H. C. Hathaway of this place, and Mrs. M. T. Bishop, president of the local union

Geo. Grund, a popular candidate for recorder on the democrat ticket, died very suddenly at his home in Auburn, last Tuesday night. He had been ill only four days, and while he was seriously ill, death was unthought of, and was apparently no worse until a few minutes before when his heart became affected. He was a barber in Auburn and was popularly known over the county. The deceased was forty-nine years of age.

Note books at THE NEWS office.

Wednesday, July 15, is W. C. T. U. day at Winona. George R. Stewart, a well known and popular temperance speaker will be there; also Mrs. Armor of Georgia, and many other well known W. C. T. U. workers.

$1000 for a Woman.

There may be nothing new under the sun, but "When the Mummy Moves" is certainly an original title for a story. It is, of course, a story of mystery, and is so ingenous and interesting a mystery that The Chicago Record Herald, in which it appears serially, offers a first prize of $1000 to the woman who makes the best solution, with 115 other cash prizes for women and girls who make the next best solutions. The story begins in the Record-Herald Thursday, April 23, and and the conditions of this mystery contest will be found accompanying each installment in that paper. Those who have been unable to get The Record-Herald containing the early installments may obtain a reprint of those installments by writing to the Prize Mystery Editor, The Record-Herald, Chicago. While the masculine sex is not eligible in this competion it is probable that it will interest the whole family circle and there is no reason why men should not help their wives, daughters or friends to a successful solution.

Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also furnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable.

Beams & Baker.

Concord Township
Sunday School Convention.
Concord Methodist Church
Sunday, May 3rd.

...Programme...

2:00	Song Service
2:10	Devotional	Rev. C. B. Sweeney
2:20	Leaks	Frank Scholes
2:35	Discussion	Rev. F. A. Dressel, Clyde Hart
2:50	Duet	Misses Vera and Flossie Copp
3:00	Teaching by example by adult—versus—Teaching the child by precept; which the more important	M. T. Bishop
3:15	Discussion	Mrs. F. Buchanan, Rev. S. Heminger
3:30	Quartet
3:40	Address "The Story of David and Its Application to Young People."	W. E. Moudy
3:55	Song
4:00	Benediction	Rev. J. A. Brown

Lora Hall, Secretary. Clarence Woodcox, President.

The News, - - $1 per year.

APRIL

0148
L 903

FROM SUNNY ORANGE GROVES.

The Twice-Told Experience of a San Bernardino, Calif., Man.

From Sunny San Bernardino, in the midst of orange groves, writes Lionel M. Heath, of 158 Eighth street: "For fifteen years I suffered with pains in my back, frequent calls to pass the secretions, dropsy, rheumatic aches and other symptoms of kidney trouble. I could get no relief until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured me five years ago, and this is twice I have publicly said so. The cure was thorough."

Sold by all dealers, 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

That's It.

"I don't know why my wife isn't happy, she has everything money can buy."

"It is the things which money cannot buy that make a woman happy."—Houston Post.

Any 12 Year Old Girl

Can make those delicious Lemon, Chocolate and Custard pies as well as the more experienced cook if she uses "OUR-PIE" preparation, which is now sold by nearly all grocers at 10 cents per package. Just the proper ingredients in each package. Put up by D-Zerta Food Co., Rochester, N. Y.

A Japanese man, who claims to be 170 years old, is said to be the oldest man in the world.

Red Cross Ball Blue

Should be in every home. Ask your grocer for it. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

NATIVE ESKIMO CLOTHES.

Light in Weight, Soft in Texture and Absolutely Cold Proof.

When winter set in and Eskimos began to visit the ship, it soon became apparent that they were much better clothed to meet the cold than were the white explorers, though the latter had everything that money could command in the way of an "approved arctic outfit." The Finnish boots, or "Finnskor," used by Nansen and other arctic explorers, were excelled both in lightness and warmth by the native boots. A single fur coat of deerskin made in Norway weighed as much as an entire Eskimo suit of outer and inner garments, with boots and mittens included, and was stiff as wet sailcloth, while the native garments were soft as a kid glove. A well-made Eskimo suit—socks and boots, underwear, trousers, and coat with hood—weighs ten or eleven pounds, about as much as your spring suit, and in it you could sit comfortably on a block of snow, with your back to the wind, fishing through a hole in the ice, with a temperature of 50 degrees F., as the writer has repeatedly done, feeling cold nowhere but on the face, the only part of the body that must be left uncovered. We found a deerskin shirt with the hair turned in warmer, lighter and more comfortable than a woolen, and a cap unnecessary when the hooded coat is worn. There was not an item of the arctic clothing that was not advantageously replaced by garments bought from the Eskimos. No one wore garments of European make if he was able to get his hands on the Eskimo equivalent.—V. Stefansson in Harper's Magazine.

COFFEE EYES.

It Acts Slowly but Frequently Produces Blindness.

The curious effect of slow daily poisoning and the gradual building in of disease as a result, is shown in numbers of cases where the eyes are affected by coffee.

A case in point will illustrate:

A lady in Oswego, Mont., experienced a slow but sure disease settling upon her eyes in the form of increasing weakness and shooting pains with wavy, dancing lines of light, so vivid that nothing else could be seen for minutes at a time.

She says:

"This gradual failure of sight alarmed me and I naturally began a very earnest quest for the cause. About this time I was told that coffee poisoning sometimes took that form, and while I didn't believe that coffee was the cause of my trouble, I concluded to quit it and see.

"I took up Postum Food Coffee in spite of the jokes of Husband whose experience with one cup at a neighbor's was unsatisfactory. Well, I made Postum strictly according to directions, boiling it a little longer, because of our high altitude. The result was charming. I have now used Postum in place of coffee for about 3 months and my eyes are well, never paining me or showing any weakness. I know to a certainty that the cause of the trouble was coffee and the cure was in quitting it and building up the nervous system on Postum, for that was absolutely the only change I made in diet and I took no medicine.

"My nursing baby has been kept in a perfectly healthy state since I have used Postum.

"Mr. ——, a friend, discarded coffee and took on Postum to see if he could be rid of his dyspepsia and frequent headaches. The change produced a most remarkable improvement quickly."

"There's a Reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

The Popular Pulpit

ENLARGING THE LIFE.

By Henry F. Cope.

"And if thou draw out thy soul to the hungry and satisfy the afflicted soul, then shall thy light rise in obscurity and thy darkness be as the noon day."—Isaiah, lviii, 10.

It is the things that draw us out that lift us up. The measure of any life is in the extent to which it goes out to the interests of other lives, the extent to which sympathy is cultivated and intelligent service is rendered where it is most needed.

The difference between the wise and the ignorant is in the range of the knowledge, the experience, and life interests which each is able to use. The difference between the great life and the little one is similar; the former finds nothing foreign to him; the latter limits his horizon usually by living wholly for himself.

Selfishness is a fatal barrier to any enlargement of the life. If you desire greatness only for your own sake, indeed, if you are thinking of either greatness or of yourself you never will find it. The lives that have been flung away in sublime abandon, those that have poured themselves out in answer to love's imperative are those that have found the full life.

Selfishness is the saddest sin, the one that seems to underlie almost all others. It blights with its first breath all the fair flowering and rich fruitage of any life that yields to it. It compels us to lose our legitimate prizes by snatching greedily at all the prizes; it insures pain by leading us to seek only our own pleasure.

Under how many guises comes this form of soul suicide? One calls it culture, another ambition, another self-respect, yet often each does but mean that the life has only one end, its own advantage, every action but one motive, personal advantage, and conscience asks but one question, "What do I make by this?"

If in every act, in every hour, you are thinking first or only of yourself; if you have adopted the policy of caring for "number one" as the guiding principle in life, you may make money, you even may make a reputation, but there are some other things you will not make, some other things your money cannot buy nor your reputation secure. You will not make friends; you will not make joy of life or an enduring name.

Somehow in the press of life we too often think of it as wholly a matter of business shrewdness; we look to find success and satisfaction by following closely the rules of business, by playing the game of life with an eye single to our own glory and personal profit. But in what way is such a life, no matter what its profit may be, better than that of any galley slave chained to the oar?

It is not the life that seeks only to gather and rake in, it is the life that radiates, gives out, reaches its interests, thoughts, and helpfulness to ever widening circles, that grows, that finds life, that knows its joys, that really is cultured, developed, educated.

This is the vital principle of the Christian religion, but we too often have obscured it with our self-seeking. How often has religion meant simply the passion to insure the individual's soul against some dreaded punishment, or to secure to the individual some peculiar peace or joy. The surest way to miss any such blessings is to seek them for themselves and for ourselves alone.

He who lets others into his life enlarges thus his own. He who opens the doors of his heart to the needy, the lonely, the sad, the mourning, finds that as they bring in their sorrows and their tears fair flowers of joy spring up about him, the cheer he gives them becomes in greater measure his own, and the love he gives away becomes his choicest possession.

The man who went about doing good, who had no thought save for the needs and cares of others, is the one who, above all others, found the full and satisfying life. He who knew so well the way of life called on no man to save his own soul, uttered no shrewd precepts of self-preservation, but taught by a life of self-giving the secret of full living.

There is only one way to discover whether this philosophy is best or not, try it for a while. Try thinking of the helpless, planning pleasures for dreary lives, bearing some loads for weak and weary backs, being willing to lose your own life, and see whether he was not right who said, "He that loseth his life shall find it."

GOD'S ECONOMY.

By Cyrus Townsend Brady.

The day was far spent; the night was at hand. The great multitude which had followed Jesus out into the country were ready to disperse to seek shelter until the morrow. Multiplied by the Bread Giving Hand, the five small cakes and two tiny fishes had satisfied the hunger of the five thousand. With words of thanksgiving and praise they were about to depart. The disciples had gathered around the Master to accompany him to some evening resting place. There yet remained, however, in the mind of Christ something to be done. A few words conveyed his desire to them:

"Gather up the fragments that remain that nothing be lost."

In them is found one of the most precious and comforting thoughts of the Divine revelation. In the economy of God nothing was wasted. Christ, despised and rejected of men, knew the futility and folly of human contempt. He knew the worth of the thing which nobody cares for, which every one disdains. The fragments in the eyes of the satisfied multitude, in the eyes even of the chosen few, were worth nothing; they were to be thrown aside, abandoned, trodden under foot of men. But Christ knew that they would feed some hungry souls who had not enjoyed the advantages of the five thousand in being in close touch with him. He knew their use. The material providence in his thought suggests the spiritual providence in his soul.

"If God so clothe the grass of the field, shall he not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith?"

Here is a wretched woman of the town, painted, tawdry, brazen; here is a poor, ground-down, stunted, ill-nourished toiler; here is a sickly, ignorant, impudent child of the slums; here is an idle, depraved woman of fashion; here is a hard, bitter, conscienceless procurer of child labor; here is a wretched, perverted bomb-thrower; here is a bloodless, soulless, heartless oppressor of industry—human fragments, worthless in the eyes of good men, to be trodden under foot ruthlessly, or to be dealt with rigorously by the law on either hand. What does Christ say about them?

We are all made in the image of God. God has a right to expect from each one of us a representation of himself. What broken, mutilated monster we show to the all-seeing eye of the Father. If we could see with his power of vision, with what horror we would shrink from the images presented, what disgust would fill our souls! Yet God wants every one of those human fragments. Christ's prayer, Christ's hope was that none of them might be lost. The image may be distorted and marred, but it is still God's image. There is some of the divine in every human being. Men cannot see it, but God can. He would fain have nothing lost and nothing will be lost unless it deliberately loses itself.

What is the lesson of this comprehensive inclusive prayer, nay command of Christ? It is the old lesson of kindness to one another, of the gentle consideration of our fellows, of trying to discover the good in humanity rather than exploit the bad. It is a condemnation of arrogance and self-satisfaction. It is a lesson of brotherhood in its active sense. It says thus, "Judge not."

SHORT METER SERMONS.

Love always is a good loser.

Sorrow is sympathy's school.

Short prayers may go farthest.

All helpful service is born of sympathy.

Polishing the spigot does not fill the barrel.

A touchy disposition often goes with a tough heart.

A frown on the face does not insure a crown on the head.

How many a time have we missed perfection while hunting for praise.

It is easy to get into crooked ways when you test all things by the dollar sign.

The religion that does not improve human relations has no business with humanity.

HYMNS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

The Angel Choir.

Hark! what mean those holy voices,
Sweetly sounding through the skies?
Lo! the angelic host rejoices;
Heavenly hallelujahs rise.

Listen to the wondrous story,
Which they chant in hymns of joy;
"Glory in the highest, glory,
Glory be to God most high!

"Peace on earth, good will from heaven,
Reaching far as man is found;
Souls redeemed and sins forgiven!
Loud our golden harps shall sound.

"Christ is born, the great anointed;
Heaven and earth his praises sing;
O receive whom God appointed,
For your prophet, priest, and king.

"Hasten, mortals, to adore him;
Learn his name, and taste his joy;
Till in heaven ye sing before him,
'Glory be to God most high!'"

Pattern Department

UP-TO-DATE DESIGNS FOR THE HOME DRESSMAKER

Misses' Princesse Dress.

Princesse dresses are as well liked for the young girls as they are for their elders, and this one with sleeves cut in one with the gown is one of the latest to have appeared. In the illustration a pretty plaid veiling is trimmed with banding and combined with chemisette and cuffs of white henrietta cloth banded with soutache, that matches one of the pretty colors in the plaid. But almost all the seasonable materials are appropriate for the dress, while the chemisette and cuffs can be of any contrasting material that may be liked. The dress is made with a foundation lining over which the blouse and sleeves are arranged. The front panel of the skirt extends up onto the waist in true princesse style, and the side and back portions of the skirt are circular and are joined to the blouse by means of a belt.

PATTERN NO. 5914.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:

Order Coupon.

No. 5914.

SIZE .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

Pattern to Refoot Stockings.

That the foot of the stocking is quite sure to wear out while the leg portion is perfectly good is well known. Darns are exceedingly trying and often injurious, but new feet can be set in with perfect success if a little care be taken. The illustration shows two sorts, both of which are equally good and which can be cut from the good portions of one stocking and inserted in others. The seams are so arranged that there is no danger of discomfort or of any annoying rubbing.

PATTERN NO. 5896.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:

Order Coupon.

No. 5896.

SIZE .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

The General Demand

of the Well-Informed of the World has always been for a simple, pleasant and efficient liquid laxative remedy of known value; a laxative which physicians could sanction for family use because its component parts are known to them to be wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, acceptable to the system and gentle, yet prompt, in action.

In supplying that demand with its excellent combination of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, the California Fig Syrup Co. proceeds along ethical lines and relies on the merits of the laxative for its remarkable success.

That is one of many reasons why Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is given the preference by the Well-Informed. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists. Price fifty cents per bottle.

When you ask for the BEST COUGH CURE
and do not get Kemp's Balsam

You are not getting the best and will be disappointed. KEMP'S BALSAM costs no more than any other cough remedy, and you are entitled to the best when you ask for it.

Kemp's Balsam will stop any cough that can be stopped by any medicine, and cure coughs that cannot be cured by any other medicine.

It is always the Best Cough Cure.

At all druggists, 25c., 50c. and $1.

Don't accept anything else.

Grandfather's Cure for Constipation

GREAT medicine,—the Sawbuck. Two hours a day sawing wood will keep anyone's Bowels regular.

No need of pills, Cathartics, Castor Oil, nor "Physic," if you'll only work the Sawbuck regularly.

* * *

Exercise is Nature's Cure for Constipation and,—a Ten-Mile walk will do, if you haven't got a wood-pile.

But, if you will take your Exercise in an Easy Chair, there's only one way to do that, because,—there's only one kind of Artificial Exercise for the Bowels and its name is "CASCARETS."

Cascarets are the only means to exercise the Bowel Muscles without work.

* * *

They don't Purge, Gripe, nor "upset your Stomach," because they don't act like "Physics."

They don't flush out your Bowels and Intestines with a costly waste of Digestive Juice, as Salts, Castor Oil, Calomel, Jalap, or Aperient Waters always do.

No—Cascarets strengthen and stimulate the Bowel Muscles, that line the Food passages and that tighten up when food touches them, thus driving the food to its finish.

A Cascaret acts on your Bowel Muscles as if you had just sawed a cord of wood, or walked ten miles.

Cascarets move the Food Naturally, digesting it without waste of tomorrow's Gastric Juice.

* * *

The thin, flat, Ten-Cent Box is made to fit your Vest pocket, or "My Lady's" Purse. Druggists—10 Cents a Box.

Carry it constantly with you and take a Cascaret whenever you suspect you need one.

Be very careful to get the genuine made only by the Sterling Remedy Company, and never sold in bulk. Every tablet stamped "CCC." 732

Paxtine

TOILET ANTISEPTIC

Keeps the breath, teeth, mouth and body antiseptically clean and free from unhealthy germ-life and disagreeable odors, which water, soap and tooth preparations alone cannot do. A germicidal, disinfecting and deodorizing toilet requisite of exceptional excellence and economy. Invaluable for inflamed eyes, throat and nasal and uterine catarrh. At drug and toilet stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.

Large Trial Sample

WITH "HEALTH AND BEAUTY" BOOK SENT FREE

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., Boston, Mass.

Agent Wanted Steady, this locality, take orders, appoint sub-agents; fastest seller ever produced. Send 10c for sample, terms, catalogue. Chemo Mfg. Co., 660 6th Ave., New York City

APRIL

L 903

THE COME AND SEE SIGN

This sign is permanently attached to the front of the main building of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

What Does This Sign Mean?

It means that public inspection of the Laboratory and methods of doing business is honestly desired. It means that there is nothing about the business which is not "open and aboveboard."

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Is it a purely vegetable compound made from roots and herbs — without drugs?

Come and See.

Do the women of America continually use as much of it as we are told?

Come and See.

Was there ever such a person as Lydia E. Pinkham, and is there any Mrs. Pinkham now to whom sick woman are asked to write?

Come and See.

Is the vast private correspondence with sick women conducted by women only, and are the letters kept strictly confidential?

Come and See.

Have they really got letters from over one million, one hundred thousand women correspondents?

Come and See.

Have they proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured thousands of these women?

Come and See.

This advertisement is only for doubters. The great army of women who know from their own personal experience that no medicine in the world equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female ills will still go on using and being benefited by it; but the poor doubting, suffering woman must, for her own sake, be taught confidence, for she also might just as well regain her health.

THE MAN WHO SWEARS BY THE FISH BRAND SLICKER

is the man who has tried to get the same service out of some other make

TOWER'S FISH BRAND

Clean - Light - Durable
Guaranteed Waterproof and Sold Everywhere
at $3.00

ILLUSTRATED CATALOG FREE FOR THE ASKING

A. J. TOWER CO., BOSTON, U.S.A.

160 Acre FARMS IN Western Canada FREE

What a Settler Can Secure in

WESTERN CANADA

160 Acres Grain-Growing Land FREE.
20 to 40 Bushels Wheat to the Acre.
40 to 90 Bushels Oats to the Acre.
35 to 50 Bushels Barley to the Acre.
Timber for Fencing and Buildings FREE.
Good Laws with Low Taxation.
Splendid Railroad Facilities and Low Rates.
Schools and Churches Convenient.
Satisfactory Markets for all Productions.
Good Climate and Perfect Health.
Chances for Profitable Investments.

Some of the choicest grain-producing lands in Saskatchewan and Alberta may now be acquired in these most healthful and prosperous sections under the

Revised Homestead Regulations

by which entry may be made by proxy (on certain conditions), by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Entry fee in each case is $10.00. For pamphlet, "Last Best West," particulars as to rates, routes, best time to go and where to locate, apply to W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or W. H. Rogers, 3d Floor Traction Terminal Building, Indianapolis, Ind., and H. M. Williams, Room 20, Law Building, Toledo, Ohio, Authorized Government Agents.

Please say where you saw this advertisement.

Let us do your Printing using

Eagle Linen

for your office stationery. You can get the paper and envelopes to match.

It is the real thing. Take no other.

THE CALL OF THE SOIL.

Days of Financial Stress Make Farm Lands Look Rich.

A staff contributor of a Southern newspaper has taken up the question of the return to the farm of many who had forsaken it for the glitter of the city. He says: "It is a well-known fact that the history of this government shows that those men who have been most successful in life and who have left their impress upon its people and its institutions as statesmen, soldiers, financiers, have as a rule been those whose youth was spent on the farm, and it is to such as these that there comes with overmastering power THE CALL OF THE SOIL. More especially does it come with redoubled persuasiveness, greater power and sweeter pleading to the man of affairs when the clouds of financial unrest begin to darken the sky; when the cry of panic causes people to lose their wits and act like stampeded cattle; when with reason or without reason there arises before him the specter of ruin, grinning in his face and waving its gaunt arms in threatening gesticulation.

The pitiable state into which some men were brought by the recent financial flurry, which happily is now passed, suggests these reflections. Some were ruined and a very few became insane because of their losses. Two or three took their own lives.

It is when such times come that the statesman, the great financier, and the man of affairs becomes tired of the struggle. He lays down his pen, turns from his desk and listens to THE CALL OF THE SOIL.

There are hundreds of cases throughout the United States of those who have money in the banks and are looking for investment in lands. No investment is better or safer. Take for instance, the lands in Western Canada that can be bought at from $10 to $15 per acre which yield a revenue equal to and often greater than their original cost. These lands make a certain investment. During the past two months large investments in these lands have been made, some intending to use the lands for farming purposes of their own, others to re-sell to farmer friends. The agents of the government of Canada located at different points throughout the United States have in their possession particulars of districts in which there are free homestead grants of 160 acres, each accessible to railways, markets, schools, churches, etc. These are valuable lands. These agents will be pleased to give information to any desirous of securing and will tell all about the railway rates, etc.

Sixscore Now.

"I notice," observed the sporting editor, "Bishop Fallows sees the psalmist's three score and ten years and goes him fifty better. Well, the world has wised up and got a good deal niftier since David's time—but I'm still betting on David."—Chicago Tribune.

Garfield Tea, the herb medicine, insures a healthy action of liver, kidneys, stomach and bowels. Take it for constipation and sick-headache. Write Garfield Tea Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., for free samples.

Appetite.

Investor—What's your idea in wanting to buy that trolley line? It doesn't compete with your system. It's merely a feeder.

Railway Magnate—Well, don't you suppose we want to do our own feeding?

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions, and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN,
Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

The Excuse Suited Him.

The bear had grown conscientious. When he found the squirrel's stock of nuts he hesitated.

"See here," he cried, "where did you get all this hoarded nutriment?"

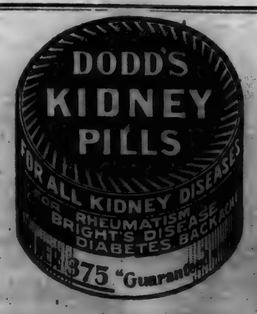
"F-from the farmer's trees," stammered the frightened squirrel.

The bear frowned darkly.

"Did you permit any competition in the acquirement of the hoard?"

"N-no, sir," replied the squirrel.

"Then it is predatory wealth," said the bear, and at once confiscated the entire stock.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.



FLASHES OF FUN

"Why is Jones raising a beard?" "Oh, I believe his wife made him a present of some ties."—Leslie's Weekly.

"What is instinct? It is th' nachral tendency iv wan whin filled with dismay to turn to his wife."—Mr. Dooley.

Madge—Why did you refuse him if he is such a prudent man? Dolly—He said he thought if he got married he could save more money.—Puck.

First M. P.—And do most of your constituents think as you do on this question? Second M. P.—Well, most of them think as they think I do.

Ethel—Have you heard of Jack's engagement to Eleanor? Harold—Dear me! No. Then Jack has finally succeeded? Ethel—No; succumbed.—London Tattler.

Patience—Don't you think great pianists are born? Patrice—Well, I don't believe any child is born with as much hair as a pianist has to have!—Yonkers Statesman.

She—I hear Miss Chatter is talking of getting married again. He—Didn't know she was ever married. She—She wasn't; I said she was talking of it again.—Comic Cuts.

Tommy (hampered with a conscience and home from an afternoon party)—Mamma, darling, I've a great favor to ask of you. Please don't ask me how I behaved!

Mamma—Helen, you know that I whip you because I love you and wish you to grow up a good girl. Helen—Well, mamma, I wish you didn't think quite so much of me.

"The office should seek the man, you know." "That's all right," replied the avowed aspirant, "but I gave it a fair chance, and it seemed diffident."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

"And do you mean to say you prefer Chollie? You told me that you always feel so perfectly at home with Algie." "So I do, but with Chollie I feel as if I were at a restaurant."—Harper's Bazar.

Mrs. Benham—Why don't you see him and ask him for the money he owes you? Benham—You don't know what a plausible talker he is, my dear; if I should meet him, he would borrow more of me.

Reporter—I suppose you don't know what the Senator thinks about this tariff reform business? Senator's Private Secretary—No; no more than you do. I only know what he says about it.—Chicago Tribune.

Tom (at the musicale)—Don't you think Miss Screecher sings with considerable feeling? Jack—Not so I can notice it. If she had any feeling for the rest of us she wouldn't sing at all.—Chicago Daily News.

Mistress—Jane, I saw the milkman kiss you this morning. In the future I will take the milk in. Jane—'Twouldn't be no use, mum. He's promised never to kiss anybody but me.—London Illustrated Bits.

The teacher had been talking about a hen sitting on eggs, and, with the incubator in mind, asked if eggs could be hatched in any other way. "Yes, sir," said an experienced person of nine. "Put 'em under a duck."

Madame (to the nursemaid, who has just brought home her four children from a walk)—Dear me, Anna, how changed the children look since I last saw them! Are you quite sure they are the right ones?—Fliegende Blatter.

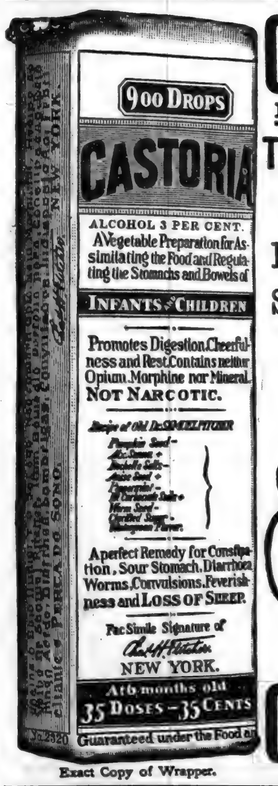
"Pardon me, sir," began the portly person in the railroad train to the man who sat next to him, "but what would you say if I sat on your hat?" "Suppose you sit on it and then ask me," suggested the other. "I did," admitted the portly person, calmly.—Harper's Weekly.

"Things look rather run down around here," remarked the man who had returned after many years to his native village. "Run down? I should say so," replied the friend of his youth. "There's an automobile comes through here about every three minutes."—Philadelphia Record.

Mother—Elsie, you mustn't make such a noise on the stairs. Now, just go right up to the top and come down quietly like a good girl. (After the descent.) You see? I never even heard you that time. Elsie—All right, mother, I will always slide down the banisters in the future.

Harvey—You should have seen Hotayre swell up at that mind-reading seance the other night when the blindfolded lady actually told him the number of his automobile. Beattie—But he has no auto, Harvey—Of course not. But he looked astounded and acknowledged she was right.—Puck.

"Well," said the young lawyer, after he had heard his new client's story, "your case appears to be good. I think we can secure a verdict without much trouble." "That's what I told my wife," said the man, "and yet she insisted at first that we ought to engage a first-class lawyer."—Philadelphia Press.



Exact Copy of Wrapper.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

One trial will convince you that will relieve soreness and stiffness quicker and easier than any other preparation sold for that purpose.

Sloan's Liniment

It penetrates to the bone, quickens the blood, drives away fatigue and gives strength and elasticity to the muscles.

Thousands use Sloan's Liniment for rheumatism, neuralgia, toothache sprains, contracted muscles, stiff joints, cuts, bruises, burns, cramp or colic and insect stings.

PRICE 25¢, 50¢, & $1.00

Dr. Earl S. Sloan, Boston, Mass, U.S.A.

The artificial cultivation of snails is an extensive and flourishing industry in France, no less than 2,500,000 pounds of this succulent delicacy—as Frenchmen consider it—being consumed annually.

You Can Get Allen's Foot-Ease FREE

Write to-day to Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y., for a FREE sample of Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder to shake into your shoes. It cures tired, sweating, hot, swollen, aching feet. It makes new or tight shoes easy. A certain cure for Corns and Bunions. All Druggists and Shoe Stores sell it. 25c.

Hyphen Understood.

Small Grafter—The boys haven't peached on us yet. How have you managed 'em?

Big Grafter—Hush! Money.

It's Pettit's Eye Salve, that gives instant relief to eyes, irritated from dust, heat, sun or wind. All druggists or Howard Bros., Buffalo, N. Y.

The total value of the stone product of the country in 1906 was $66,378,794, an increase of $2,570,046 over that of 1905, and an increase of $42,413,565 over that of 1896.

All Up-to-Date Housekeepers

Use Red Cross Ball Blue. It makes the clothes clean and sweet as when new. All Grocers.

As to Johnny.

Johnny was stealing jam;
He couldn't deny the fact.
He was caught by his watchful mam
Red handed in the act.

SKIN SORE EIGHT YEARS.

Spent $300 on Doctors and Remedies, but Got No Relief—Cuticura Cures in a Week.

"Upon the limbs and between the toes my skin was rough and sore, and also sore under the arms, and I had to stay at home several times because of this affection. Up to a week or so ago I had tried many other remedies and several doctors, and spent about three hundred dollars, without any success, but this is to-day the seventh day that I have been using the Cuticura Remedies (costing a dollar and a half), which have cured me completely, so that I can again attend to my business. I went to work again to-night. I had been suffering for eight years and have now been cured by the Cuticura Remedies within a week. Fritz Herschlaff, 24 Columbus Ave., New York, N. Y., March 29 and April 6, 1906."

England spends $40,000,000 per year for eggs and poultry, for one-half of which she is dependent on foreigners.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

F. W. N. U. - - - No. 17—1906

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Advertisement in this paper

W. L. DOUGLAS $3.00 SHOES $3.50

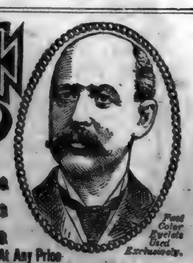
SHOES AT ALL PRICES, FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE FAMILY, MEN, BOYS, WOMEN, MISSES AND CHILDREN.

W. L. Douglas makes and sells more men's $2.50, $3.00 and $3.50 shoes than any other manufacturer in the world, because they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater value than any other shoes in the world to-day.

W. L. Douglas $4 and $5 Gilt Edge Shoes Cannot Be Equalled At Any Price

CAUTION. W. L. Douglas name and price is stamped on bottom. Take No Substitute. Sold by the best shoe dealers everywhere. Shoes mailed from factory to any part of the world. Illustrated Catalog free to any address.

W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.



Fast Color Eyelets Used Exclusively.

APRIL

L 903

Weak Heart Action

There are certain nerves that control the action of the heart. When they become weak, the heart action is impaired. Short breath, pain around heart, choking sensation, palpitation, fluttering, feeble or rapid pulse, and other distressing symptoms follow. Dr. Miles Heart Cure is a medicine especially adapted to the needs of these nerves and the muscular structure of the heart itself. It is a strengthening tonic that brings speedy relief. Try it.

"For years I suffered with what I thought was stomach trouble, when the doctors told me I had heart trouble. I had tried many remedies, when the Dr. Miles' almanac came into my hands, and I concluded to try Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. I have taken three bottles, and now I am not suffering at all. I am cured and this medicine did it. I write this in the hope that it will attract the attention of others who suffer as I did."
MRS. D. BARRON,
804 Main St., Covington, Ky.

Your druggist sells Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and we authorize him to return price of first bottle (only) if it fails to benefit you.

Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind

FAIRVIEW

There will be preaching services at this place, Friday evening.

Miss Oma Coyle entertained company from Fairfield a few days.

Mrs. Almira Krise and son Charles, took dinner with Cecil Metcalf's, Sunday.

Norman Rollands visited with their parents, northwest of Garrett, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Houser and family visited with Mrs. Houser's father, A. Hathaway, Sunday.

The Misses Bessie Hart, Esther Hollabaugh, Hazel Koeppe, Jessie Wade and Lola Nimmons will accompany Chastine Johnston to Ft. Wayne, Friday, to attend the piano recital by Teresa Carenno.

The Easter program at this place attracted a full house and well repaid those who came. Especially pleasing were "A Spring Garden" and a vocal solo by Miss Gladys Smith, the latter being one of the best ever heard here.

SPENCERVILLE R F D NO 1.

G. W. Horn went to Missouri last week.

Clem Treece was to Ft. Wayne on business, Thursday.

Miss Lola Astry is working at the restaurant at Grabill.

David Grill and wife of Ft. Wayne spent Easter with the formers parents.

Bernice Boger was able to teach her school last week. She has been ill for a long time.

Will Goldsmith and wife spent Sunday with the latters parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Deitrick of Coburn Corners.

Mrs. Abram Vanzile, who lives with her daughter, Mrs. Shambaugh at Hurshtown, is quite sick at this writing.

Mrs. Alice Boger spent a few days with her sisters, Mrs. Houk of Spencerville and Mrs. G. Horn of this vicinity.

Winnie and Ethel Astry have returned to Ft. Wayne to business college again. They were home sick for a few weeks.

Geo. Paff has been on the sick list for the past few weeks.

Mary and Venus Horn attended the last day of school at Egypt, Friday.

Last week there was a barn burnt on the Ed Nusbaum farm, ½ mile east of Springfield Center school house. There was not much in the barn. The cause of the fire is unknown.

SPENCERVILLE R F D No 2.

Will Tyndall and family spent Saturday in Ft. Wayne.

Clara Keesler of Spencerville took dinner with Pluma Kimes, Sunday.

Mrs. Aaron Hart of Spencerville spent Sunday with Kell Hart and family.

Earl Stiman visited with his parents, Wes Zimmerman and family, Sunday.

Lizzie Hart, who has been working in St. Joe, spent Sunday with her parents.

Clarence Beery of Ft. Wayne spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Beery, and other friends.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Heyman of Spencerville and Laten Lake of Butler spent Sunday with John Benninghoff's.

Miss Lelah Thomas of Indianapolis; Mrs. Mintie Rhoads and Rilla Beam of Spencerville were callers at Harvie Kimes, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernie Swaidner entertained at their country home Sunday, Miss, Frankie Walker, Fred Gethart and Edna Braybrook of Ft. Wayne; Harry DeLong, Georgia Miller Miss Vernie Persen, Gladys Eager, Orval, Vinton and Kennith Miller. All report a fine time.

Whooping Cough.

I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family in cases of whooping cough, and want to tell you that it is the best medicine I have ever used.—W. F. Gaston, Posco, Ga. This remedy is safe and sure. For sale by H. Milliman, St. Joe; F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

WABASH CORNERS.

Roy White purchased a cow of Mrs. P. A. Shurts, Thursday.

Foster Gee of St. Joe was the guest of Winfield Pervines, Sunday evening.

George Wade and Sherman Rickett was to Ft. Wayne on business, Friday.

Frank Johnson of Fairview called on Sherman Wolff and wife, Saturday evening.

Mr. Moughler of Butler ate dinner with Manuel Ulms and wife, one day last week.

George Simanton and family of St. Joe were Sunday guests of Aunt Em Simanton.

F. E. Rhoads attended the Democrat Convention at Kendallville, Thursday.

Mr. Koeppe and wife of near Butler ate supper with F. E. Rhoads and wife, one evening last week.

George Pervines, wife and daughter Wabneta, were guests of Joe Davis and family of Edgerton, Sunday.

Hazel, Roscoe and Lois Stafford of Garrett were guests of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Pervines from Saturday until Monday.

Dennis Burley, Gene White and family and the correspondent were Sunday guests of J. B. White and wife of St. Joe.

As last Saturday was Aunt Em Simanton's 75th birthday on Sunday morning she found a pail full of bananas, oranges and apples hanging on her gate post. She says she will find out who left it there when they come after the pail.

Undertaking a Specialty.

Eliza Kinsey takes charge of all funerals. Calls answered day or night Prices reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

Phone No. Office 37-2. Residence 37-3

COUNTY LINE

Geo. Rinehold and wife made a business trip to Luotto.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stuckey called at Rose Lawn, Sunday.

Tom Stafford and family spent Sunday with Joe Kister and wife.

Walter Binns and family spent Easter Sunday with Henry Rakestraw and family.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Wastler spent Sunday with their daughter and husband Mr. and Mrs. Clay Rinehold

A. E. Sponhour and daughter Zula attended quarterly meeting service at Union Chapel Saturday and Sunday.

The Missionary meeting and entertainment at Hopewell, Sunday evening April 12, was a success both financially and as an entertainment.

Milt Simanton and wife, Milt Carnahan, Curt Simanton, Will McCann and wife, Mike Hensinger and wife, George Rinehold, wife and daughter Agnes spent Easter Sunday with W. T. Wyatt and family.

Ben Gerig and family, Geo. Lochner and family, C. A. Conner and family, Solomon Goldsmith and wife, Misses Alda and Perl Goldsmith and Miss Ortilla Beck of Onio, took Easter dinner with Joe Goldsmith and wife.

A Woman Tells How To Relieve Rheumatic Pains.

I have been a very great sufferer from the dreadful disease, rheumatism, for a number of years. I have tried many medicines but never got much relief from any of them until two years ago, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I found relief before I had used all of one bottle but kept on applying it and soon felt like a different woman. Through my advice many of my friends have tried it and can tell you how wonderfully it has worked.—Mrs. Sarah A. Cole, 140 S. New St., Dover, Del., Chamberlain's Pain Balm is a liniment The relief from pain which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. It makes rest and sleep possible. For sale by H. Milliman, St Joe; F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

Local Briefs

J. D. Leighty was at Wayne, Monday.

Charley Koch was at Fort Wayne Sunday.

Mr. Wm. Monroe of Hicksville, visited relatives several days last week.

Mrs. Amanda Coburn and children visited friends at Maysville, Saturday.

Miss Beulah Koch returned to her work as telephone operator at Albion, Saturday.

Jerry Klopfenstein and wife of near Grabill, visited with Wm. Curie and family, Sunday.

Luther Lane of Cave-in-Rock, Ill., was the guest of Miss Carrie Bleeks, last Wednesday.

Mrs. B. B. Smith of Hicksville visited over Sunday with Mrs. G. M. Barney and family.

Wm. Curie attended the Democratic executive committee meeting at Auburn, yesterday.

Miss Edith James and Mr. Timbrook of Harlan, were guests of Morris Curie and wife, last Thursday.

Five car loads of piling was shipped from this place to Auburn Junction, yesterday for the Lakeshore Rail'y Co.

Pale, Thin, Nervous?

Then your blood must be in a very bad condition. You certainly know what to take, then take it—Ayer's Sarsaparilla. If you doubt, then consult your doctor. We know what he will say about this grand old family medicine.

This is the first question your doctor would ask: "Are your bowels regular?" He knows that daily action of the bowels is absolutely essential to recovery. Keep your liver active and your bowels regular by taking laxative doses of Ayer's Pills.

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of

Ayer's HAIR VIGOR. AGUE CURE. CHERRY PECTORAL.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

Oxfords.

The Brown Shoe Co's

WHITE HOUSE LOW CUTS For Women

Shoe fashion predicts a great oxford season. The next foot wear you buy just try a pair and see how cool and comfortable they will feel to your feet.

Ladies' Patent Leather Oxfords $2, 2.50, and 3.00.
Ladies' Tan Oxfords, $2, 2.50 and 3.00.
Gent's Patent Leather Oxfords, $2.50, 3, and 3.50.
Gent's Tan Oxfords, $3 and 3.50.

Our foot wear has the snap and style together with the wearing qualities which are the essentials of all desirable footwear.

Big Four Store.

St. Joe, Ind.

Born to Wall Wasson and wife a baby girl, Monday afternoon.

Lafe Bailey came Monday to assist his father in the meat market.

The front of C. B. Price's office has been brightened with a coat of paint.

Miss Bessie Bartlett of Ft. Wayne, is visiting with relatives in this vicinity.

Bill Fales of Spencerville, is here building a wood house for Ed Leighty this week.

Miss Addie Thorn of Albion, spent several days this week in the home of Wm. Koch and family.

Chas. Hoffman and wife visited several days last week with their daughter at Auburn, returning home Friday.

Miss Vera Andress, of Auburn, accompanied by little Miss Chalma Miser, spent Easter with her parents M. Andress and wife.

Having had 5 years experience, am prepared to do all kinds of cement work, foundations, side walks and cisterns a specialty.
5-1 WID WILLIAMS.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Patterson visited M. E. Olds and wife at Bluffton, Tuesday. They attended a Senior class entertainment Tuesday evening as guests of Archie Olds, who is a member of the class.

Rev. B. W. Anthony D. D., president of Adrian College, will speak at the District meeting at Concord on Wednesday, 3 p. m. on "Our Adrian," and then preach at 7:30 p. m. He cannot be there on Tuesday. Rev. M. T. Iliff will preach on Tuesday evening.

The graduating class in the Bluffton high school this year number twenty-three and of this number seventeen are young men, something worthy of mention as the ratio is almost universally in favor of young ladies. Archie Olds, a former St. Joe boy is in the class.

We publish in this issue, the announcement of the candidacy of W. H. Leas of Waterloo, for the office of clerk of the DeKalb Circuit Court, subject to the decision of the Democratic primary election. His profession as attorney well fits him to efficiently perform the duties of the office and his long service in the cause of his party entitles him to fair consideration of his claims.

The Cheesetown school closed on last Friday afternoon. Owing to the sickness of the teacher, Geo. Beams during the winter, it was necessary to carry the term two weeks longer than usual to make up. The parents of the scholars came in and after a program was rendered they ate dinner. The Coburntown band was present and furnished music for the occasion. A most enjoyable time was had by those present.

Plenty of Trouble

is caused by stagnation of the liver and bowels. To get rid of it and headache and biliousness and the poison that brings jaundice, take Dr. King's New Life Pills, the reliable purifiers that do the work without grinding or griping. 25c at H. Milliman's drug store.

The saloon at Auburn Junction was destroyed by fire Monday evening. We were unable to learn the particulars.

Tom Able, Roscoe Barney and Morris Curie attended the ball game at New Haven, between Ft. Wayne and New Haven.

M. E. Olds of Bluffton, was in town Thursday calling on friends. He has sold out his interest in the dry goods store and he thinks he will now go at printing again, having purchased a job office of that place.

The baseball fever is raging in St. Joe at the present time and should they become more enthused St. Joe will be in line for some games this summer. If a suitable ground can be secured we will get in the harness. St. Joe has a reputation for ball playing that can't be beaten and we would advise our surrounding towns to have their teams out and practicing.

Charles Bookmiller, in charge of the dredging of the St. Joseph river at Montpelier, Ohio, had an exciting experience last Thursday. Three or four attempts to secure co-operation of the officers of the Wabash Railway failed and upon their refusal to remove their bridge to give right-of-way to the dredge, Mr. Bookmiller with a force of men, including the board of commissioners, two sheriffs and twenty deputies, proceeded Thursday to remove the bridge, first offering to give bonds that he would clear the bridge of dredge work inside of three hours. The company brought a United States marshal and a force of men, but the bridge was removed the dirt 65 feet at the top, 30 feet at the bottom and 24 feet deep was removed in a trifle over an hour when the company proceeded to replace the bridge. During the break in the line all Wabash trains on the Fort Wayne line were detoured via the G. R. & I. through Kendallville until Sunday night when the work of restoring the bridge was completed.—Waterloo Press. Had the Wabash granted the requests of the contractor, no trouble would have resulted, and so doing their service was "bum" for several days.

Death Was on His Heels.

Jesse P. Morris, of Skippers, Va., had a close call in the spring of 1906. He says: "An attack of pneumonia left me so weak and with such a fearful cough that my friends declared consumption had me, and death was on my heels. Then I was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It helped me immediately, and after taking two and a half bottles I was a well man again. I found out that New Discovery is the best remedy for coughs and lung disease in all the world." Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store. 50c and $1.00 Trial bottle free.

APRIL

9151

L 903

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXII. ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 29, 1908. NO. 18

Every little bit added to what you've got makes just a little bit more.

Is your money making money for you?
The more of it you have working for you, the less you need to work yourself. We pay 4 per cent interest compounded semi-annually on Certificates of Deposit.

$1.00 will double itself in 17 years 188 days.
$1.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $147.49.
$5.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $737.43
$10.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $1474.85

Now is the time to save. Anyone can save from $1.00 to $10.00 a month if they only will. It's not what you earn but what you save Four per cent interest added to what you've already got makes just a little bit more

Grabill State Bank,

Grabill, Indiana.

Joseph Witmer, Pres. Albert Egly, Cashier.
David Klopfenstein, V. Pres. Marcus Yager, Asst. Cashier.

Reception.

Mrs. C. F. Kagey was hostess to the Owl Club, Monday night, who gave a farewell reception in honor of one of their members. Mrs. Wes Mutzfeld, who left for Butler, Tuesday to reside. The evening was spent in games. Mrs. Buchanan gave a splendid reading. Refreshments were served by the hostess. Mrs. Mutzfeld was presented with a china chop plate as a token of esteem in which she was held. The pleasing way of these people have won many friends here who regret to have them leave.

Clavical Bone Broken

Fairfield Meese met with a serious accident Saturday. He was riding on the handle bars of a bicycle being run by his brother Fred. In some way the wheel gave a quick turn and the boys fell, Fred getting up immediately but Fairfield began making a fuss. He was taken to Dr. Lake's office and the doctor called. Upon examination it was found that the clavical or collar bone was broken off entirely, which rarely occurs. The physician seems to believe that he will recover but that he will be deformed slightly as it is impossible to knit the bones together evenly as before. This makes the second accident that has happened in this way and this should be a good lesson for others. He is improving as much as possible at this writing.

The Booster Trip

As Told By Lester Curie, a Former St. Joe Boy, in a Recent Letter To His Parents. Lester Thinks Tulsa is Just About Right.

TULSA, OKLAHOMA,
APRIL 19, 1908.

DEAR PARENTS:—

Have just had our dinner on this Easter Day and the day could not be more perfect than it is. This morning it looked as if we might have rain but the sun came out in all its glory. We have been having a rainy spell for the last ten days. There is something about this country which makes a person want to stay here always, and I know that with all the pleasures of the great East there is nothing there just like the rough and undeveloped West. Every person is judged by what he is and not by the house he lives in. I have found that the true western people who never saw the east, place implicit confidence in a person and that they are open and aboveboard, but when their confidence is betrayed it is the opposite.

I want to speak of the Boosters, who are on the great trip through the east by special train. No doubt you have seen articles in the Indianapolis papers. They are being royally entertained in every town at which they stop. They received a grand reception in St. Louis and were handled by the Indianapolis people in great style, also at Louisville and Cincinnati. At Washington they were greeted by the President in the White House and not in the executive offices where most of his receptions of parties like that are held. He delivered an address regarding the restrictions of the Indians being removed. Senator Owen, of Oklahoma, was there and he went from Washington to New York City with the Boosters, where are to day and tomorrow until Tuesday morning. Every paper along the railroads, on which the Boosters travel, are giving a column of space regarding the novel feat of the citizens of Tulsa, Oklahoma. Oh! yes they had a magnificent time in Baltimore. From New York City they go to Harrisburg, Pa., to Philadelphia Pittsburg. From Pittsburg to Cleveland, O., Sandusky and Toledo and then a jump to Chicago where Governor Haskell is going to meet the train. The following towns out Chicago will be honored: Joliet, Ottawa, LaSalle, Davenport, Rock Island, Moline and Kansas City. There is going to be an excursion from here to Kansas City the night before the Boosters reachthere from Tulsa. They are going to do Kansas City about five hundred strong. The east can come to Tulsa and kneel at her feet for blessing and knowledge when it comes to hustle, push and determination.

It is about two months until I will be packing up preparatory to leaving for the effete east. It will be only a short time but an anxious one. I would not care to go back at all to the dead part beyond the Mississippi, only for the sake of seeing my dear parents, brothers and other relations.

Your loving son,
LESTER.

He Got What He Needed.

"Nine years ago it looked as if my time had come," says Mr. C. Farthing, of Mill Creek, Ind. Ter. "I was so run down that life hung on a very slender thread. It was then my druggist recommended Electric Bitters. I bought a bottle and I got what I needed—strength. I had one foot in the grave, but Electric Bitters put it back on the turf again, and I've been well ever since." Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store. 50c.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank the friends and neighbors for their sympathy and assistance in the death of our beloved wife and mother. Also the Rebekah Sisters for their beautiful floral offerings.

BALLARD BOWEN AND FAMILY.

Henry Sebert Dead.

Henry Sebert died at his home on the Wingate farm seven miles east of Auburn, Sunday. He was past fifty years of age and had been a resident of the county all his life. He was highly respected and honored for his upright character and sterling worth. It is such citizens as he who make this world worth while.

He was sick but a few days suffering from a complication of diseases. Until in March of this year he had lived on Mrs. Emaline George's farm in Jackson township. He is survived by his wife, two sons, Roy, who lived on the same farm, and Arthur, who lives near Hudson, and one daughter, Mrs. Pearl Timbrook. He also leaves three brothers, Frank, Otis and John Sebert and one sister, Mrs. Ella High. Only on Thursday last Miss Mollie George of this city, a sister to his wife passed away.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 10 o'clock at the Concord church.—Dispatch.

W. G. DeLong made a business trip to Auburn, Friday.

Monday is the last day to pay your taxes in. Paid yours yet?

Mrs. Sarah Maxwell and son Paul were at Auburn, Monday.

Fresh Fish to-day at Leighty's Meat Market, St. Joe. Phone 75.

Miss Ruth DeLong spent a few days with her grandparents at Newville

To-morrow is the last day for Mortgage Exemptions to be filed this year.

The banks of the river were lined Sunday with fishermen. Some fine catches were made.

Rev. S. Heiniger will deliver the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday evening in the M. P. church at this place.

Miss Lizzie Pervines of Garrett spent Sunday with her parents. On her return home Monday, she was accompanied by her brother, Winfield.

The quarterly meeting held in the Fairview M. P. church was well attended, Sunday. The meeting was very successful, Four were baptized into the church at that time.

The Wabash railroad has posted notices up at their depots to the effect that all persons must present their ticket before boarding any train. This will be a severe ruling as anyone not having time to secure tickets will be left behind. This goes into effect May 1 st. 1908.

Work commenced Monday on the west end ball grounds. The club has rented the held and a permanent organization will be perfected. The people must give them their support in order to make it win. We have a fast bunch and as soon as the grounds are shaped up they will be up and doing. The line-up will be published later.

On last Friday evening at the home of Miss Helen Patterson, the Juniors and Freshmen of the St. Joe High School entertained in honor of the Seniors. The evening was spent in games, contests and music. Light refreshments were served consisting of ice cream and assorted cakes. The rooms were prettily decorated in the seniors' colors, black and orange. At a seasonable hour they all departed thanking their young hostess for the royal good time had.

NOTICE.

Sale of Lands by Commissioner.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that I, Jacob D. Leighty, a commissionef appointed by the DeKalb Circuit Court in an action therein pending, wherein Barbara Etta Shutt is plaintiff and Laura Shutt, et. al., are defendants, by virtue of authority in said cause conferred upon me by said Court, will, on the 8th day of May, 1908, and at such other times as I may hereafter fix, without further notice, offer for sale, at private sale, at not less than the appraised value thereof, in separate parcels of not more than forty (40) acres, but will sell the same in less parcels than forty (40) acres, to any purchaser or purchasers, the following described lands, to-wit:

The north west fourth (¼) of the north west quarter (¼) of section twenty-nine (29), township thirty-three (33), north of range fourteen (14) east, containing forty (40) acres more or less.

The east one half (½) of the north west quarter (¼) of section twenty-nine (29), township thirty-three (33), north of range fourteen (14) east, containing eighty (80) acres more or less.

The west one half (½) of the north east quarter (¼) of section twenty-nine (29), township thirty-three (33), north of range fourteen (14) east, excepting therefrom the right of way of the Fort Wayne and Detroit Railroad Company, containing seventy-three and seventy-nine hundredths (73 79-100) acres more or less.

All that part of the west half (½) of the south east quarter (¼) of section twenty-nine (29), township thirty-three (33), north of range fourteen (14) east, lying east of the east line of the right of way of the Fort Wayne and Detroit Railroad Company, excepting therefrom eleven and seventy-seven hundredths (11 77-100) acres in Shutt's and Henderson's Addition to the Town of Spencerville, bounded as follows:—Commencing at an iron monument at the south east corner of said west half (½); thence north at right angles to the section line three hundred eighty (380) feet; thence west parallel with the center line of said section thirteen hundred fifty (1350) feet; thence south to the south line of said west half (½); thence east thirteen hundred fifty (1350) feet to the place of beginning, leaving a balance in said tract of sixty-four and nineteen hundredths (64 19-100) acres.

All that part of the east half (½) of the south west quarter (¼) of section twenty-nine (29), township thirty-three (33), north of range fourteen (14) east, lying east of the east line of the right of way of the Fort Wayne and Detroit Railroad Company, containing eleven and fifty hundredths (11 50-100) acres.

The west half (½) of the north east one fourth (¼) of the south east quarter (¼) of section twenty-nine (29), township thirty-three (33), north of range fourteen (14) east, containing twenty (20) acres.

The north east one fourth (¼) of the north east quarter (¼) of section thirty-two (32), township thirty-three (33), north of range fourteen (14) east, excepting therefrom a tract seven and one half (7½) rods in width east and west off the west side thereof, and nineteen (19) acres in the form of a parallelogram off the east side thereof, leaving a balance of seventeen and one fourth (17¼) acres.

Also lots one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4), five (5), six (6), seven (7), eight (8), nine (9), ten (10), eleven (11), twelve (12), thirteen (13), fourteen (14), fifteen (15), sixteen (16), seventeen (17), eighteen (18), nineteen (19), twenty (20), twenty-one (21), twenty-two (22), twenty-three (23), twenty-four (24), twenty-five (25), twenty-six (26), twenty-seven (27), twenty-eight (28), forty (40), forty-one (41), forty-two (42), forty-three (43), forty-four (44), forty-five (45), forty-six (46), forty-seven (47) and forty-eight (48) in Shutt's and Henderson's Addition to the Town of Spencerville, according to the recorded plat thereof.

Terms of Sale.

One third (1-3) cash; one third (1-3) in six months, and one third (1-3) in one year from date of sale, and for the deferred payments the purchaser or purchasers shall execute to me their notes bearing six (6) per cent interest from date, containing the usual provisions as to attorneys' fees, waiver of valuation and appraisement laws, and secured by mortgage or mortgages upon the real estate so sold, but the purchaser or purchasers may optionally pay at the time of the purchase the entire amount of the purchase money, or greater amount than one third thereof, and he or they may optionally pay said notes or any of them before maturity.

JACOB D. LEIGHTY,
Commissioner.

CHARLES E. EMANUEL,
and
W. and E. LEONARD,
Attorneys.

314 West Second St. AUBURN, IND.

Watch this space

Next Week.

C. M. TenEyck & Son,

Proprietors.

HOME and BELL TELEPHONES.

Announcement.

We have opened our

Soda Fountain

and are prepared to fill all orders for Ice Cream in any quantities.

Fancy Drinks Our Specialty.

Chas. F. Kagey,

St. Joe, Indiana.

APRIL

L 903

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

FRED B. LEIGHTY, - - Publisher.

1908 APRIL 1908

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
•	•	•	1	2	3	4
5	6	7	8	9	10	11
12	13	14	15	16	17	18
19	20	21	22	23	24	25
26	27	28	29	30	•	•
•	•	•	•	•	•	•

N. M. 1st. F. Q. 8th. F. M. 16th. L. Q. 23rd.

FEATURES OF INTEREST

ABOUT THAT WHICH HAS BEEN AND IS TO BE.

All Sides and Conditions of Things are Shown. Nothing Overlooked to make it Complete.

Congressmen In Wreck.

A dispatch from Washington, D. C., says: Representative Tawney, of Minnesota, chairman of the House Committee on Appropriations, was injured in the back; Representative John C. Chaney, of Indiana, was painfully injured on the hip and a score of other passengers suffered slight injuries as the result of a rear-end collision on the Pennsylvania avenue line of the Capitol Traction Company at Four and a Half street and the avenue. Representative Chaney received a severe shaking up. With some assistance he was able to reach his home. A heavy Mount Pleasant car was speeding rapidly behind a Georgetown car and the motorman of the former claims that the accident was caused by the brakes of his car refusing to work.

Business District Wiped Out.

The business section of Vergennes, Ill., was destroyed by fire which started in the drug store of Foss & Son. Total loss $60,000, partly covered by insurance. A number of fire fighters were partially overcome by heat, but there were no casualties. The inhabitants were aroused from sleep by the firing of pistols and ringing of bells. The town has no fire department. Bucket brigades were speedily formed, but not until the business section had been practically wiped out were the flames subdued.

Eight Lumbermen Killed in Wreck.

A work train on the Susquehanna & New York railroad near Lacquin, Pa., was wrecked by a runaway car which dashed into the train after descending a steep grade. Eight lumbermen were killed outright, one died later after being taken to a hospital, and fifteen were seriously injured. The wreck occurred on the Lacquin Lumber Company's log road leading up into the mountains. The men were riding on the log train, which was being pushed up the steep ascent by the engine.

Home Destroyed by Dynamite.

A dynamite bomb was exploded under the residence of James L. Gallagher in East Oakland, Cal. The entire front of the house was destroyed. Gallagher was a member of the self-confessed boodling Board of Supervisors of San Francisco and is an important witness for the prosecution in the bribery trials now pending in San Francisco. There is no clue to the perpetrators.

McKinley Home to Be a Hospital.

The McKinley home in Canton, Ohio, has been donated to Bishop Ignatius F. Horstmann, of the Cleveland Catholic diocese, to be used as a nonsectarian hospital. "It will be open to everyone," Cleveland authorities said. The home was bought by Mrs. Rose Klorer, of Canton, for $21,000. It will be known as "Mercy Hospital."

Stitched Man's Heart—He Lives.

Surgeons now say that Robert Inglis, of Yonkers, N. Y., is out of danger, though several stitches had to be taken in his heart after he was stabbed on April 4. Dr. Edward F. Duffy, who performed the operation, says the wound has healed and that Inglis' chances of recovery are good.

Needle Diet Fatal at Last.

Stephen Yoder, a pioneer farmer of Johnson County, Iowa, is dead as the result of swallowing a needle forty years ago. Surgeons could not fathom the mystery of his recent death, and an autopsy was held. The needle was found between his stomach and liver. He was 60 years old.

Train Kills Babe Playing on Track.

North-bound Pan Handle train No. 41 struck and instantly killed the 2-year-old son of Frank Johnson at the crossing south of Jewell, Ind. The child was sitting in the middle of the track playing and the engineer thought it was a dog until it was too late to stop the train.

WORK OF CONGRESS

Injunction against the enforcement of State laws can only be issued by a majority of three federal judges, who are to pass upon them if a bill that passed the Senate Friday becomes a law. The bill was opposed by Mr. Heyburn on the ground that the great distances between federal courts in the West would operate to delay the granting of necessary injunctions. Senator Knox favored the bill. The attitude of Emperor William and the Berlin court toward David Jayne Hill was the subject of comment in the House during the consideration of the diplomatic and consular bill. Mr. Perkins of New York and Mr. Slayden of Texas condemned the practice of selecting men of great wealth to be the nation's diplomatic representatives. Under license of general debate Mr. Griggs of Georgia spoke in advocacy of the disfranchisement of the southern negro; Mr. Burton of Ohio discussed the causes of the recent financial depression and various other matters were discussed. With the diplomatic bill still under consideration the House recessed until 11:30 a. m. Saturday.

-:—:-

Tributes of respect to the memory of the late Senators Morgan and Pettus of Alabama, both of whom died during the recess of Congress last summer, occupied nearly the entire session of the Senate Saturday. The District of Columbia appropriation bill was reported during the day. Sharp criticism of lavish entertainment by rich American diplomats in order to establish a social standard abroad was heard in the House in the course of consideration of the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill, which was passed under suspension of the rules. It carries an aggregate of $3,520,283. After having been in continuous session since April 6, by resorting to the process of recessing from day to day, the House at 6:15 p. m. adjourned.

-:—:-

The Brownsville affair was again a subject of interest in the Senate Monday, when Senator Borah of Idaho took the ground that negro soldiers of the Twenty-fifth Infantry were guilty of the raid in the Texas town Aug. 13, 1906. The Senate gave further consideration to the bill devoting about $5,600,000 received from the sale of public lands in Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Ohio and Wisconsin to the construction of drainage works in those States. The section of the bill authorizing the loaning of this fund to States, corporations, etc., for the drainage of State and private lands was stricken out. The naval and agricultural appropriation bills were reported to the Senate. With the exception of Messrs. Cooper and Nelson of Wisconsin, Republicans, the House by a strict party vote declared that the action of Speaker Cannon the previous Saturday in summarily adjourning the House was not "a breach of the privilege of the House affecting its safety, dignity and the integrity of its proceedings." The declaration was made when a resolution by Mr. Williams holding such a breach to have been committed was tabled, 146 to 119. The Republicans put through an amendment to the rules making any day "suspension day" and substituting a majority for a two-thirds vote to pass any measure. Mr. Dalzell, its author, notified the Democrats that they could trust to their imaginations for any legislation they would get this session. The Democrats forced repeated roll calls during the day.

-:—:-

Calling attention to the Grand Army button he wore on the lapel of his coat and insisting that he had no prejudice against negro soldiers, some of whom he claimed as comrades, Senator Warner of Missouri in the Senate Tuesday declared his conviction that the town of Brownsville, Texas, had been shot up by negro soldiers of the Twenty-fifth Infantry in 1906. Without concluding his remarks, Mr. Warner gave way for the naval appropriation bill, which was read in part. An amendment was adopted making the 20 per cent increase in the pay of officers apply to those retired as well as on the active list. The Senate then entered into a long discussion of the policy of sending the naval flotilla around the world. The Senate adopted the conference report on the Indian appropriation bill, and adjourned. Although several hours were consumed in roll calls the day in the House was one of comparative activity and several measures of importance were put through. The principal of these perhaps was the resolution by Speaker Cannon providing for an investigation of the paper trust, and in pursuance of its provisions the speaker announced as the committee of six who will conduct the investigation Mann, Illinois; Miller, Kansas; Stafford, Wisconsin; Bannon, Ohio; Sims, Tennessee, and Ryan, New York. The Democrats as a unit voted against the resolution. Another measure passed practically creates the board of general appraisers at New York a trial court in matters pertaining to customs duties, appeals therefrom to be taken to the Circuit Court of Appeals instead of the Circuit Court, as heretofore.

NATIONAL CAPITAL NOTES.

Senator Carter of the committee on postoffice and post roads introduced a bill to establish postal savings banks.

The Senate passed a bill repealing the act of 1867 prohibiting payment of the claim of any one who could not prove his loyalty to the United States during the Civil War.

OPENING OF THE BASEBALL SEASON.

DEATH OF FAMOUS BRITON.

Campbell-Bannerman, Liberal Leader, Succumbs to Lingering Illness.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, who retired recently from the British premiership, died Wednesday at his official residence in London. The death of Sir Henry after a lingering illness did not come as a surprise.

From the beginning of the present session of parliament Sir Henry had been suffering ill health and, after the opening day, he practically had not been able to attend the sessions at all, Chancellor Asquith acting as premier in his absence. He was seriously stricken after a big political meeting held at Bristol on Nov. 13, and he was obliged to give up his plans for a series of political speeches that he intended to make.

SIR HENRY CAMPBELL-BANNERMAN.

Few invalids have been the object of so much solicitude and attention as was bestowed upon Sir Henry, there having been a constant stream of callers at his Downing street residence, including King Edward, who visited him on two occasions; Queen Alexandra, and the dowager empress of Russia, the prince and princess of Wales and many diplomats and men prominent in public life.

On his resignation, April 5, the representatives of all parties united in paying tribute to his ability and strong character. Mr. Asquith said of him: "In the annals of our history there is no man who after long years spent in the thick of public contention has ever laid down the highest office under the crown more universally and deservedly beloved."

Mr. Redmond, leader of the Nationalists, said that in Campbell-Bannerman's disappearance Ireland suffered a loss second only to the loss caused by the retirement of Gladstone. "There is not an Irish Nationalist in any part of the world," said Mr. Redmond, "who will not deeply deplore that this consistent, brave, honorable friend of Ireland has been taken from the arena of public life."

Can Not Export Jersey Water.

The United States Supreme Court has upheld the New Jersey law prohibiting the exportation of water from the State by pipes, the appeal from that law having been made by a water company which had contracted to deliver a large quantity daily to one part of New York City. The company insisted that the law impaired the contract and therefore was unconstitutional.

FORTUNE FOR LABORER.

Because Thirty-Five Years Before He Saved Benefactor's Life.

To have saved the life of a fellow emigrant in a wreck in 1873 and thirty-five years later to have read in a newspaper plastered upon the wall of a homestead shack an advertisement which led to his becoming the recipient of a fortune of $375,000 is the luck of Peter Andersen, a farm hand, who resides near White Bluffs, Wash. Andersen received a check for $5,000 to enable him to proceed to New York to carry out the final legal formalities necessary in the transfer of the fortune.

Andersen left Denmark in 1873 upon the ship W. J. Gottry. Off the coast of Newfoundland the Gottry was wrecked. Andersen supported Peter Knudsen, a fellow passenger, until they crawled upon a piece of flotsam. Later they were tossed upon the deserted Newfoundland beach. After terrible privations the two men reached New York City, where they separated. Knudsen made $1,000,000 in the glove business in New Jersey.

Emma Goldman Not Barred Out.

When the woman leader of American anarchists, Emma Goldman, returned from a brief trip into Canada, where she went to address striking workmen, an effort was made by the American frontier authorities questioning her right to re-enter this country, and it was supposed that the action was inspired from Washington, in view of the current federal activities against those of her cult. She submitted papers showing that she had married J. E. Keersner, an Americanized foreigner, and with this explanation she was admitted.

Alexander Berkman, the New York anarchist and comrade of Miss Goldman, was released from custody of the local police in connection with the Union Square bomb throwing. Silverstein, the man who was injured in trying to throw the bomb at the police, still lingered between life and death at the hospital and is said to have told the police how he made the bomb and intended to get revenge upon the police, who had clubbed him.

ODDS & ENDS OF SPORT

The national baseball commission has taken Player Campbell from Winnipeg and awarded him to Chicago.

The national baseball commission proposes that players who played in the California State League during the winter be fined $100 each, as the California league is an outlaw.

In a fight at Dublin, Tommy Burns, the American heavyweight champion, knocked Jem Roche, the Irish champion, out of the ring in one minute and thirty-eight seconds.

George Hackenschmidt would like to regain his wrestling title, but he will not attempt it in a Chicago ring. This was the statement the thoroughly tamed "lion" made as he boarded the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse to return to Europe. "Hack" claims he was not fairly treated in his match with Gotch. Experts who witnessed the match say "Hack" had not the endurance to wrestle under American rules. His limit is 20 minutes to a bout.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade in the Chicago district says:

Easter trade in personal needs rose to satisfactory proportions and retail sales generally made a seasonable recovery, higher temperature stimulating the demand in leading lines. Favorable weather conditions at interior points induced a wider absorption of light weight apparel, and there is increase in the receipt of reorders requiring immediate shipment.

Late buyers have found the reduction of stocks better than was expected and many now find it difficult to obtain all the goods required. Visiting merchants from the Northwest select more freely in the principal staples and report their local conditions brightening, there being a large inflow of settlers and numerous new towns springing up under the influence of railroad extensions through promising territory.

Forwarding by the wholesale houses continues exceptionally large in dry goods, food products, housewares and hardware, and there is also increasing activity in vehicles, camping and sporting goods. Mail orders from road men make an improving exhibit in clothing, woolens, footwear and furniture for fall deliveries, and the outlook affords more encouragement with the sustained high prospects in agriculture. Provisions disclose some decline in the east-bound tonnage, foreign orders being smaller, but there is returning strength in the markets for hides and leather, and wool displays increasing consumption.

Mercantile collections in the West and Southwest make a good showing, bank deposits steadily grow and further ease appears in the discount rate for accommodation. Financial conditions do not indicate that liquidation has run its course, but commercial defaults include none of notable significance, and the volume of payments through the banks again is seen to compare favorably with that of a year ago.

Operations in the prominent manufactures present no material change as to production. More interest is noted in real estate and construction. Shipments of lumber have gained and more hands find work in the yards and at planing mills. Furnace and plate mill outputs remain much less than normal, but additional contracts for rails and structural steel extend the period of assured activity.

Failures reported in the Chicago district number 21, against 29 last week and 17 a year ago. Those with liabilities over $5,000 number 6, against 10 last week and 9 in 1907.

NEW YORK.

Easter trade at retail, though affected in sections by unfavorable weather, is on the whole fair. Collections show slight improvement at a few centers and filling in orders by jobbers are a trifle better, but reports from leading industries are no more favorable, rather more weakness is noted in iron and steel and fall trade in leading lines is still disappointingly backward. The dullness in building lines—expenditures for the first quarter being 40 per cent below 1907—affects all the lines of materials and export and import trade are ebbing, indicating the first decrease in foreign trade from the preceding fiscal year noted for five years past.

The number of idle hands is as large as for some time past, wage reductions curtail buying power and the number of failures continues far ahead of a year ago. Business in pig iron is very light and lower prices have been made to attract even the small business going. Finished iron and steel are likewise quiet and rail orders are only fair. Plates are exceptionally dull, and fabricators of structural material, particularly in the Chicago district, have named some low quotations on business recently booked, although there is no evidence that the shapes have brought lower than list prices.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending April 16 number 261, against 258 last week, 167 in the like week of 1907, 167 in 1906, 183 in 1905 and 190 in 1904. Canadian failures for the week ending April 16 number 29, against 28 last week and 18 in this week a year ago.—Bradstreet's Commercial Report.

THE MARKETS

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $7.20; hogs, prime heavy, $4.00 to $6.05; sheep, fair to choice, $4.00 to $6.25; wheat, No. 2, 92c to 94c; corn, No. 2, 65c to 66c; oats, standard, 51c to 52c; rye, No. 2, 79c to 80c; hay, timothy, $9.50 to $16.60; prairie, $8.00 to $13.00; butter, choice creamery, 25c to 28c; eggs, fresh, 11c to 15c; potatoes, per bushel, 65c to 77c.

Detroit—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.00; hogs, $4.00 to $5.80; sheep, $2.50 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2, 93c to 94c; corn, No. 3 yellow, 66c to 67c; oats, No. 3 white, 55c to 56c; rye, No. 2, 80c to 81c.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, $1.03 to $1.06; corn, No. 3, 65c to 66c; oats, standard, 52c to 53c; rye, No. 1, 79c to 80c; barley, No. 2, 86c to 87c; pork, mess, $13.35.

APRIL

L 903

The Firm of Girdlestone

BY

A. CONAN DOYLE

CHAPTER XXIII.—(Continued.)

The voices and the footsteps sounded louder and louder, until they were just at the other side of the boundary. They seemed to come from several people walking slowly and heavily. There was the shrill rasping of a key and the wooden door swung back on its rusty hinges, while three dark figures passed out who appeared to bear some burden between them. The party in the shadow crouched closer still, and peered through the darkness with eager anxious eyes. They could discern little save the vague outlines of the moving men, and yet as they gazed at them an unaccountable and overpowering horror crept into the hearts of every one of them. They breathed an atmosphere of death.

The newcomers tramped across the road, and pushing through the thin hedge, ascended the railway embankment upon the other side. It was evident that their burden was a heavy one, for they stopped more than once while ascending the steep grassy slope, and once, when near the top, one of the party slipped, and there was a sound as though he had fallen upon his knees, together with a stifled oath. They reached the top, however, and their figures, which had disappeared from view, came into sight again standing out dimly against the murky sky. They bent down over the railway line, and placed the indistinguishable mass which they bore carefully upon it.

"We must have the light," said a voice.

"No, no; there's no need," another expostulated.

"We can't work in the dark," said the third, loudly and harshly. "Where's the lantern, guv'nor? I've got a lucifer."

"We must manage that the train passes over right," the first voice remarked. "Here, Burt, you light it."

There was the sharp sound of the striking of a match, and a feeble glimmer appeared in the darkness. It flickered and waned, as though the wind would extinguish it, but next instant the wick of the lantern had caught, and threw a strong yellow glare upon the scene. The light fell upon the major and his comrades, who had sprung into the road, and it lit up the group on the railway line. Yet it was not upon the rescuing party that murderers fixed their terror-stricken eyes, and the major and his friends had lost all thought of the miscreants above them—for there standing in the center of the roadway, there with the light flickering over pale sweet face, like a spirit from the tomb, stood no other than the much-enduring, cruelly-treated girl for whom Burt's murderous blow had been intended.

For a few seconds she stood there without either party moving a foot or uttering a sound. Then there came from the railway a cry so wild that it will ring forever in the ears of those who heard it. Burt dropped upon his knees and put his hands over his eyes to keep out the sight. John Girdlestone caught his son by the wrist and dashed away in the darkness, flying wildly, madly, with white face and staring eyes, as men who have looked upon that which is not of this world. In the meantime, Tom had sprung down from his perch, and had clasped Kate in his arms, and there she lay, sobbing and laughing, with many pretty feminine ejaculations and exclamations and questions, saved at last from the net of death, which had been closing upon her so long.

CHAPTER XXIV.

The ruffian Burt was so horror-stricken at the sight of the girl whom he imagined that he had murdered, that he lay groveling on the railway line by the side of his victim, moaning with terror, and incapable of any resistance. He was promptly seized by the major's party, and the Nihilist secured his hands with a handkerchief so quickly and effectively that it was clearly not the first time that he had performed the feat. He then calmly drew a very long and bright knife from the recesses of his frock coat, and having pressed it against Burt's nose to insure his attention, he brandished it in front of him in a menacing way, as a hint that an attempt at escape might be dangerous.

"And who is dis?" asked Baumser, lifting up the dead woman's head, and resting it upon his knee.

"Poor girl! She will never speak again, whoever she may have been," the major said, holding the lantern to her cold, pale face. "Here's where the cowards struck her. Death must have been instantaneous and painless. I could have sworn it was the young lady we came after, if it were not that we have her safe down there, thank the Lord!"

"Where are those oders?" asked Von Baumser, peering about through the darkness. "If there is justice in the country, they will hing for the work of dis night."

"They are off," the major answered, laying the girl's head reverently down again. "It's hopeless to follow them, as we know nothing of the counthry, nor which direction they took. They ran like madmen. Hullo! What can this be?"

The sight whach had attracted the veteran's attention was nothing less than the appearance at the end of the lane of three brilliant luminous discs moving along abreast of one another. They came rapidly nearer, increasing in brilliancy as they approached. Then a voice rang out of the darkness, "There they are, officers! Close with them! Don't let 'em get away!" and before the major and his party could quite grasp the situation they were valiantly charged by three of those much-enduring, stout-hearted mortals known as the British police force.

These three burly Hampshire policemen, having been placed upon our friends' track by the ostler of the Flying Bull, and having themselves observed maneuvers which could only be characterized as suspicious, charged down with such vehemence that in less time than it takes to tell it, both Tom and the major and Von Baumser were in safe custody. The Nihilist, who had an inextinguishable hatred of the law, and who could never be brought to understand that it might under any circumstances be on his side, pulled himself very straight and held his knife down at his hip as though he meant to use it, while Bulow, of Kiel, likewise assumed an aggressive attitude. Fortunately, however, the appearance of their prisoners and a few hurried words of the major made the inspector in charge understand how the land lay, and he transferred his attentions to Burt, on whose wrists he placed the handcuffs. He then listened to a more detailed account of the circumstances from the lips of the major.

"Who is this young lady?" he asked, pointing to Kate.

"This is the Miss Harston whom we came to rescue, and for whom no doubt the blow was intended which killed this unhappy girl."

"Perhaps, sir," said the inspector to Tom, "you had better take her up to the house."

"Thank you," said Tom, and went off through the wood with Kate upon his arm. On their way she told him how, being unable to find her bonnet and cloak, which Rebecca had abstracted, she had determined to keep her appointment without them. Her delay rendered her a little late, however; but on reaching the withered oak she heard voices and steps in front of her, which she had followed. These had led her to the open gate, and the lighting of the lantern had revealed her to friends and foes. Ere she concluded her story Tom noticed that she leaned more and more heavily upon him, until by the time that they reached the Priory he was obliged to lift her up and carry her to prevent her from falling. The hardships of the last few weeks, and this final terrible and yet more joyful incident of all, had broken down her strength. He bore her into the house, and laying her by the fire in the dining room, watched tenderly over her, and exhausted his humble stock of medical knowledge in devising remedies for her condition.

In the meantime the inspector having thoroughly grasped the major's lucid narrative, was taking prompt and energetic measures.

"You go down to the station, Constable Jones," he ordered. "Wire to London, John Girdlestone, aged sixty-one, and his son, aged twenty-eight, wanted for murder. Address, Eccleston square and Fenchurch street, City. Send a description of them. Father, six feet one inch in height, hatchet-faced, grey hair and whiskers, deep-set eyes, heavy brows, round shoulders. Son, five feet ten, dark faced, black eyes, black curly hair, strongly made, well dressed."

"Yes, that's near enough," observed the major.

"Wire to every station along the line to be on the lookout. Send a description to the chief constable of Portsmouth, and have a watch kept on the shipping. That should catch them. Let us carry the poor scul up to the house," the inspector continued, after making careful examination of the ground all round the body. The party assisted in raising the girl up, and in carrying her back along the path by which she had been brought.

Burt tramped stolidly along behind with the remaining policeman beside him. The Nihilist brought up the rear with his keen eyes fixed upon the navvy, and his knife still ready for use. When they reached the Priory the prisoner was safely locked away in one of the numerous empty rooms, while Rebecca was carried upstairs and laid upon the very bed which had been hers.

"We must search the house," the inspector said, and Mrs. Jorrocks having been brought out of her room, and having forthwith fainted and been revived again, was ordered to accompany the police in their investigation, which she did in a very dazed and stupefied manner. Indeed, not a word could be got from her until, entering the dining room, she perceived her bottle of Hollands upon the table, on which she raised up her voice and cursed the whole company, from the inspector downwards, with the shrillest volubility of invective. Having satisfied her soul in this manner, she wound up by a perfect shriek of profanity, and breaking away from her guardians, she regained the shelter of her room and locked herself up there, after which they could hear by the drumming of her heels that she went into a violent hysterical attack upon the floor.

Kate had, however, recovered sufficiently to be able to show the police the different rooms, and to explain to them which was which. The inspector examined the scanty furniture of Kate's apartment with great interest.

"You say you have been living here for three weeks," he said.

"Nearly a month," Kate answered.

"No wonder you look pale and ill. You have a fine prospect from the window." He drew the blind aside and looked out into the darkness. A gleam of moonlight lay upon the heaving ocean, and in the center of this silver streak was a single brown-sailed fishing boat running to the eastward before the wind. The inspector's keen eye rested upon it for an instant, and then he dropped the blind and turned away. It never flashed across his mind that the men whom he was hunting down could have chosen this means of escape, and were already beyond his reach.

CHAPTER XXV.

Ezra Girdlestone had given many indications during his life, both in Africa and elsewhere, of being possessed of the power of grasping a situation and of acting for the best at the shortest notice. He never showed this quality more conclusively than at that terrible moment, when he realized not only that the crime in which he had participated had failed, but that all was discovered, and that his father and he were hunted criminals. With the same intuitive quickness which made him a brilliant man of business, he saw instantly what were the only available means of escape, and proceeded at once to adopt them. If they could but reach the vessel of Captain Hamilton Miggs they might defy the pursuit of the law. He had hired a boat near Claxton.

The Black Eagle had dropped down the Thames on the very Saturday which was so fruitful of eventful episodes. Miggs would lie at Gravesend, and intended afterwards to beat round to the Downs, there to await the final instructions of the firm. If they could catch him before he left, there was very little chance that he would know anything of what had occurred. It was a fortunate chance that the next day was Sunday, and there would be no morning paper to enlighten him as to the doings in Hampshire. They had only to invent some plausible excuse for their wish to accompany him, and get him to drop them upon the Spanish coast. Once out of sight of England, and on the broad ocean, what detective could follow their track?

They reached the ship. The early part of the voyage of the Black Eagle was extremely fortunate. The wind came round to the eastward and wafted them steadily down channel, until on the third day they saw the Isle of Ushant lying low upon the skyline. No inquisitive gunboat, or lurking police launch came within sight of them, though whenever any vessel's course brought her in their direction the heart of Ezra Girdlestone sunk within him. On one occasion a small brig signalled to them, and the wretched fugitives, when they saw the flags run up, thought that all was lost. It proved, however, to be merely some trivial message, and the two owners breathed again.

The wind fell away on the day that they cleared the channel, and the whole surface of the sea was like a great expanse of quicksilver which shimmered in the rays of the wintry sun. There was still a considerable swell after the recent gale, and the Black Eagle lay rolling about as though she had learned habits of inebriation from her skipper. The sky was very clear above, but all round the horizon a low haze lay upon the water. So silent was it that the creaking of the boats as they swung at the davits, and the straining of the shrouds as the ship rolled, sounded loud and clear, as did the raucous cries of a couple of gulls who hovered round the poop. Every now and then a rumbling noise ending in a thud down below showed that the swing of the ship had caused something to come down with a run. Underlying all other sounds, however, was a muffled clank, clank, which might almost make one forget that this was a sailing ship, it sounded so like the chipping of a propeller.

"What is that noise, Captain Miggs?" asked John Girdlestone, as he stood leaning over the quarter rail, while the old sea-dog, sextant in hand, was taking his midday observations. The captain had been on his good behavior since the unexpected advent of his employers, and he was now in a wonderful and unprecedented state of sobriety.

"Them's the pumps agoin'," Miggs answered, packing his sextant away in its case.

"The pumps! I thought they were only used when a ship was in danger?" Ezra came along the deck at this moment, and listened with interest to the conversation.

"This ship is in danger," Miggs remarked calmly.

"In danger!" cried Ezra, looking round at the clear sky and placid sea. "Where is the danger? I did not think you were such an old woman, Miggs."

"We will see about that," the seaman answered angrily. "If a ship's got no bottom in her she's bound to be in danger, be the weather fair or foul."

"Do you mean to tell me this ship has no bottom?"

"I mean to tell you that there are places where you could put your fingers through her seams. It's only the pumpin' that keeps her afloat."

"This is a pretty state of things," said Girdlestone. "How is it that I have not been informed of it before? It is most dangerous."

"Informed!" cried Miggs. "Informed of it! Has there been a v'yage yet that I haven't come to you, Muster Girdlestone, and told ye I was surprised ever to find myself back in Lunnon? A year agone I told ye how this ship was, and ye laughed at me, ye did. It's only when ye find yourselves on her in the middle o' the broad sea that ye understan' what it is that sailor folk have to put up wi'."

"I presume," Girdlestone said, in a conciliatory voice, "that there would be no real danger as long as the weather was fine."

"It won't be fine long," the captain answered gruffly. "The glass was well under thirty when I come up, and it is fallin' fast. I've been about here before at this time o' year in a calm, with a ground swell and a sinkin' glass. No good ever came of it."

(To be continued.)

Heading Him Off.

Blox—I want to give you a piece of good advice, old man.

Knox—All right; but before you do, let me give you a piece.

Blox—What is it?

Knox—Follow the advice you are going to give me.

REVIEW OF INDIANA

The new city directory, just issued, shows Evansville to have 80,000 people.

Robbers forced the lock leading into a magazine belonging to M. W. Arnold, of Claypool, and carried away 200 pounds of dynamite. Everybody is guessing as to what they will do with it.

Earl Smather, son of William Smather, near Hudson, in Steuben County, was perhaps fatally crushed by the giving way of a bridge across which he was driving a team drawing a heavy road roller.

The Rev. Irvin Conkle, of Winona Lake, has invented a device for tying packages, and he is now negotiating with the United States Government, looking to utilizing his device in the Postoffice Department.

The Rev. J. P. Henson, of Veedersburg, who has been ministering to the Baptist churches there and at Waynetown, has accepted a call to the First Baptist church at Blue Rapids, Kas., a progressive city of 2,000 people, ninety-five miles west of Atchison.

Hessie Board, colored, 16 years old, was killed at North Vernon while stealing a ride on a B. & O. S. W. freight train. With a companion, he was beating his way from Louisville to Cincinnati, and near the limits of the city he fell off the bumpers and was cut in two.

Because a spirit medium in Springfield, Mo., told a daughter of John H. Howe, of that place, that a large fortune left him by his father awaited him in Bartholomew County, Indiana, the records of the courthouse in Columbus are being carefully probed by his relatives.

A monster gas well which promises to eclipse any gasser in the State was drilled in by the Pure Oil Company near Oakland City, at a depth of 1,180 feet. When the gas was struck the drill was forced high into the air and the derrick was almost demolished, so great was the pressure, and the drillers are unable to cap it.

One feature of the attractions at Winona Lake Assembly this summer will be Longfellow's "Hiawatha," by fifty full-blooded Indians. A mammoth stage portray realistic scenes and incidents will be erected on the water near Sol C. Dickey's home, and the play will portray realistic scenes and incidents of life among the red men.

Albert Beck, of Morocco, owns a dog noted as a breadwinner. Beginning with the 1st of November and closing with March, the average monthly earnings of the dog in killing fur-bearing animals was $70; a total of $350 for the five months. The dog is of the breed known as "yaller cur," and gives little indication of being an exponent of the strenuous life.

Charles Davis and wife, with their child, barely escaped cremation in an eight-room cottage which burned at Knightstown. An overheated gas stove started the trouble, and the flames were almost at the bedside of the family before they were awakened. They were compelled to flee in their night clothes. The building and contents were almost completely destroyed.

"Uncle Tom" Gooch, 94 years old, has volunteered to assist in tearing down the old Owensville Methodist church, preparatory to building a new house of worship. The present structure, a brick, was erected fifty years ago. "Uncle Tom" was manufacturing brick by hand at that time and the brick used in the construction was made by him. He has been a member of the church ever since it was established.

Besides a kitten of her own, a cat owned by O. E. Black, a farmer south of Newcastle, is raising three young fox squirrels. Mr. Black and some assistants were cutting timber when in a hollow tree they had cut down they found the little fox squirrels. As an experiment, Mr. Black took the baby squirrels and placed them in with the cat and her kitten. Mr. Black was surprised to see mother cat immediately take charge of the squirrels and caress them the same as if they were her kittens. She is giving them the best of care and the unique family is attracting considerable attention.

Wrapped in an old umbrella and in a Chicago newspaper bearing date of April 7, were found enough nitroglycerin to crack every safe in Linton; enough keys to unlock almost every door, with batteries, dynamite, etc., not counting a sufficient number of cartridges to put up a bloody battle. The package was picked up at the outskirts of the city of Linton several days ago while two young men were gathering flowers. The police believe they know to whom the "goods" belong. Recently a local newspaper warned citizens that a gang of thugs and safeblowers was in the city, and this is thought to have something to do with the hiding.

C. C. Carter, a real estate agent, whose home was at Dalhart, Tex., committed suicide at Fort Wayne by breathing illuminating gas.

Two little daughters of William M. Watts, of Worthington, were cremated in a barn that caught from a bonfire. One was aged 7 and the other 3.

Harry Hunt, of Milton, is claiming the championship on smoking. He claims to have smoked eighty-two cigars and three 10-cent cans of tobacco inside of three days recently.

Irvin Smith, 25 years old, a victim of unrequited love, committed suicide at Fort Wayne by swallowing carbolic acid, while at the home of his brother-in-law, Peter Junk, a policeman.

Fifteen gallons of gasoline exploded in the cleaning and dye house of Locker & Keesling, in the Redding building in Newcastle, and four men were badly burned. The explosion wrecked the room.

William Ellinger, farmer, returned to his home near Goshen to find his wife dying of carbolic acid, self-administered, having first written a note that she was tired of life. No other cause can be assigned.

Mrs. Edward Rea, aged 54 years, of Muncie, poured kerosene upon a coal fire. The explosion that followed fatally burned the woman and set fire to the house. She crawled to a hydrant in the yard, but became exhausted before she could turn on the water.

The Mount Vernon Construction Company has begun work on twenty miles of gravel roads and one mile of macadam street in Poseyville. These will be the first gravel roads in the township. The entire cost of roads and street will exceed $75,000.

William Finch has been fined $60 by the mayor of Connersville for "bootlegging." The mayor has furnished each saloonkeeper with a list of men to whom intoxicants must not be sold. Finch pleaded guilty to selling intoxicants to one of these men.

The manager of the Ball Bros.' fruit jar factory in Marion has received orders to reopen the plant, and fires have been started. Old employes are being summoned to return, and 200 men will be employed. The plant did not reopen last September, owing to the failure of the fruit crop.

A week ago Mrs. Frank Anderson of Muncie, pried the lid off a kettle filled with boiling water, and the steam flared up in her face, rendering her totally blind. It was feared she would never again regain her sight, but she is now able to distinguish daylight from darkness, and physicians ar encouraged by her condition.

Fire destroyed the Holden factory plant in Franklin recently. The water pressure was poor, and the department was practically helpless. The loss is estimated at $25,000, only partly covered by insurance. The buildings of brick were originally used for pork-house purposes, and still lated by the National Starch Company. The Holden Company began operating there three years ago.

After many months of training Miss Mary Lightfoot, of Warsaw, has taught a common house mouse to waltz to the music of a harp. Every evening at exactly 7:30 the rodent appears in Miss Lightfoot's music room and will enjoy an hour's dancing. Then a supper of grated cheese is given the little animal, which, after finishing, twirls his whiskers, nods his head, and shoots back to his hiding place.

Herbert Vanlaningham, 16 years old of Ayrshire, while duck hunting, shot and instantly killed himself. Vanlaningham and a companion were in a boat on the Patoka river, and when the gun was discharged the load struck him in the breast and face, causing instant death. The force of the charge knocked the body from the boat into the river, but his companion saved it from being lost in the swift current.

Anonymous letters of scurrilous nature continue to reach well-known residents of Pierceton, Kosciusko County, through the United States mail. Several of these letters have been turned over to the postal authorities at Washington. The letters indicate that the writer is attempting to slur members of the Baptist church, of that place. The postmaster has requested that a postoffice inspector be sent there to investigate.

Work on Richmond's new Y. M. C. A. building is now well under way and contractors hope to complete the job by midsummer. The building will be ready for occupancy by September 1. The board has decided to make the furnishings throughout modern in every respect and in keeping with the beauty of the structure. Harvey I. Allen, of Topeka, Kas., is regarded as the probable physical director of the gymnasium.

APRIL

Agonies Of Pain

Never give up, and think that all women, yourself included, have to suffer pain.

Thousands of women have written to tell how they have cured their womanly ills, and relieved their pains; and over a million have been benefited, in various other forms of female disease, during the past 50 years, by that popular and successful female remedy

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMAN'S RELIEF

"I believe I would now have been dead," writes Mrs. Minnie Lambe, of Lebanon Junction, Ky., "if it hadn't been for Cardui. I had suffered with bad cramping spells, pains in my back, sides and arms, and awful bearing-down pains. Now these pains have all gone, as a result of using Cardui."

At All Druggists

WRITE FOR FREE ADVICE, stating age and describing symptoms, to Ladies Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. E 39

J. A. PROVINES

TRUSTEE

of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:
THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK at residence in Spencerville, Ind.

DENTIST.

C. R. PRICE,

ST. JOE, IND.

Office in Case building.

Bell Phone No. 44.

C. S. SMITH

Lawyer and Notary Public.

COLLECTIONS and LOANS,

Office in Auburn State Bank Building.

Auburn Indiana.

WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St. Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.

No. 11. Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail 12:05p.m
No. 3, Western Express 8:06 p. m

GOING EAST.

No. 2, Eastern Express 6:34a. m
No. 16, Toledo Acc & Mail 7:21 p. m

Primary Rules.

The democratic county central committee met Tuesday afternoon and adopted the rules which will govern the primaries to be held June 4, to select the nominees for county offices in the coming campaign. The rules were adopted with a few minor changes as drawn by a committee appointed to draft them consisting of C. M. Brown, Emory Shook and D. M. Link who acted in in conjunction with County Chairman Miles Baxter. The rules briefly are as follows;

The executive committee will be in charge assisted by a board of election commissioners consisting of three persons appointed by the county chairman. The chairman will also appoint inspectors, judges and clerks for the several townships to be in charge at the primaries and make returns of the vote polled to the election commissioners who on June 5, will canvass the vote in Auburn. The already established Australian system of voting with several modifications will be followed.

The expenses of the primaries will be borne by the candidates who must hand their names to Chairman Baxter on or before May 27 accompanied by the assessment made. It is estimated that the expenses will reach nearly $500. The number of voting places in the county has been cut down from thirty-seven to twenty, thus doing away with considerable expense. Each township in the county will have but one except Keyser, Concord, Wilmington, Smithfield and Richland each of which will have two except Keyser, which will have three.

No one will be barred from the primaries who is known to be a democrat or who is believed to have a desire of voting for the "rooster's" ticket this fall or any young voter who will be old enough by election time. Anyone whom the board believes will not vote such a ticket at election will be barred from the primaries. Polls open at 11 o'clock and close at 8 o'clock.

The St. Joe News.

One Year - - $1.00
Six Month - - 50c
Three Months - - 25c

FRED B. LEIGHTY, Editor.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe — as second-class mail matter.

Whooping Cough.

I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family in cases of whooping cough, and want to tell you that it is the best medicine I have ever used.—W. F. Gaston, Posco, Ga. This remedy is safe and sure. For sale by H. Milliman, St. Joe: F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

Increase of Suicides.

Reports compiled by the chief of the Indiana bureau of statistics show that there was an increase in 1907 not only in suicides but in homicides and deaths by accident. The report is made up from reports from county coroners of the state, and shows the number of coroners' inquests. The figures show that there were 365 inquests in suicide cases in 1907, and in 1906 the number was 303. The increase number of suicides was wholly among the white population of the state. The number of white men who committed suicide in 1907 was 256 and the number in 1906 was 224. The number of white women who committed suicide in 1907 was ninety-four and the number in 1906 was seventy four. The number of suicides among the colored population was five for each year. In 1907 four colored males and one female committed suicide. In 1906 these figures were reversed.

The Old Proverb

That "It takes nine tailors to make a man" may possibly mean that it takes nine trials to find the right tailor.

You can save eight trials by coming here first. At this time in the year we can do considerably better by you than later. Not better in style, fabric, fit or finish—that's impossible—but better in price. For Example:—

Suits from $18.00 up.

Pants from $4.00 up

ED MAY,

TAILOR,

Butler, Ind.

"Good Old Summer Time."

Could Paradise be fairer? Perhaps the long and tedious winter through which we have just passed, has brightened our appreciation of this season of bud and blossom, for we enjoy all things by contrast, and, perhaps this passing from the snow and cold of winter to the warmth and verdure of summer at a single bound, is unprecedented in the memory of the "oldest inhabitant" and produces an unwonted thrill of pleasure. At any rate you may talk of the purple haze of Italy the vine-clad hills of France, the sea-queen tints of the Emerald Isle, the quiet lanes of England fragrant with their blossoming hedgerows; but whoever will rise with the sun these mornings can enjoy the essence of them all and not leave their own door yards.

No sea girt isle can boast a fresher green than our grass and foliage. The air is vocal with the songs of birds and odorous from the blossoming trees. Flowers of every hue are springing from their retreats and bearing to our heart bright promises for the morrow.

All Nature seems instinct with life and hope. Come then ye sick and sorrowful to this feast of good things Don't spend these precious mornings tossing wearily on your couch, hoping the doctor will find a panacea for your ills, or that something will turn up to dissipate your gloom.

Go out to meet these healing, inspiring influences which Nature is providing for your relief, open your lungs and hearts to her sweet breath and words of cheer, and a balm more potent than any ever patented by A God given panacea for the ills of humanity, shall be given you. You will be glad you are alive and in this state and that it is a beautiful summer morning.

Goes to Butler.

C. W. Mutzfeld, our popular harness maker, after eighteen months of successful business at this place concludes to return to his home town, Butler, where he and his brother have bought out the harness business of their father, whose failing health compels him to retire from active business life. During the year and a half he has been here in business he has worked up a splendid trade and it would be a good location for any good harness maker, who wants a worked-up trade. We regret to lose Mr. Mutzfeld and his estimable wife from our little city, but wish them all possible success in their new home.

NOTICE

Is hereby given that there will be a petition presented to the Honorable Board of DeKalb county, State of Indiana commissioners at their June session of 1908., praying for the location of a public highway described as follows, to-wit: Commencing in the center of the public highway at the northwest corner of section nineteen, township thirty-three (33), north of range fourteen (14) east, State of Indiana, thence south on the section line to the center of the public highway at the south west corner of said section nineteen (19), county and state aforesaid pnd then to end. Said proposed highway will affect lands owned by Maletus A. High, Samuel M. High, Lorenzo D. Nelson, Charles R. Morr, Carrie V. Morr, Rosa High and Malvina Nelson. Said proposed highway being on the west line of said section nineteen.

Business men at Waterloo petitioned for an ordinance requiring a license fee for distributing advertising matter in their city. It was adopted by the town board and a fee of $5 fixed They do not propose to have their people attracted from home by gaudy, glaring advertisers of the outside world.

PATENTS

and TRADE-MARKS promptly obtained in all countries, or no fee. We obtain PATENTS THAT PAY, advertise them thoroughly, at our expense, and help you to success.

Send model, photo or sketch for FREE report on patentability. 30 years' practice. SURPASSING REFERENCES. For free Guide Book on Profitable Patents write to

503-505 Seventh Street, WASHINGTON, D. C.

D. SWIFT & CO.

WANTED--A RIDER AGENT IN EACH TOWN and district to ride and exhibit sample Latest Model "Ranger" bicycle furnished by us. Our agents everywhere are making money fast. Write for full particulars and special offer at once.

NO MONEY REQUIRED until you receive and approve of your bicycle. We ship to anyone, anywhere in the U. S. without a cent deposit in advance, prepay freight, and allow TEN DAYS' FREE TRIAL during which time you may ride the bicycle and put it to any test you wish. If you are then not perfectly satisfied or do not wish to keep the bicycle ship it back to us at our expense and you will not be out one cent.

FACTORY PRICES We furnish the highest gride bicycles it is possible to make at one small profit above actual factory cost. You save $10 to $25 middlemen's profits by buying direct of us and have the manufacturer's guarantee behind your bicycle. DO NOT BUY a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone at any price until you receive our catalogues and learn our unheard of factory prices and remarkable special offers to rider agents.

YOU WILL BE ASTONISHED when you receive our beautiful catalogue and study our superb models at the wonderfully low prices we can make you this year. We sell the highest grade bicycles for less money than any other factory. We are satisfied with $1.00 profit above factory cost.

BICYCLE DEALERS, you can sell our bicycles under your own name plate at double our prices. Orders filled the day received.

SECOND HAND BICYCLES. We do not regularly handle second hand bicycles, but usually have a number on hand taken in trade by our Chicago retail stores. These we clear out promptly at prices ranging from $3 to $8 or $10. Descriptive bargain lists mailed free.

COASTER-BRAKES, single wheels, imported roller chains and pedals, parts, repairs and equipment of all kinds at half the usual retail prices.

$8.50 HEDGETHORN PUNCTURE-PROOF SELF-HEALING TIRES $4.80 A SAMPLE PAIR TO INTRODUCE, ONLY

The regular retail price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but to introduce we will sell you a sample pair for $4.80 cash but this order $4.50.

NO MORE TROUBLE FROM PUNCTURES

NAILS, Tacks or Glass will not let the air out. Sixty thousand pairs sold last year. Over two hundred thousand pairs now in use.

Notice the thick rubber tread "A" and puncture strips "H" and "L," also rim strip "B" to prevent rim cutting. This tire will outlast any other make—SOFT, ELASTIC and EASY RIDING.

DESCRIPTION: Made in all sizes. It is lively and easy riding, very durable and lined inside with a special quality of rubber, which never becomes porous and which closes up small punctures without allowing the air to escape. We have hundreds of letters from satisfied customers stating that their tires have only been pumped up once or twice in a whole season. They weigh no more than an ordinary tire, the puncture resisting qualities being given by several layers of thin, specially prepared fabric on the tread. The regular price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but for advertising purposes we are making a special factory price to the rider of only $4.80 per pair. All orders shipped same day letter is received. We ship C. O. D. on approval. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them strictly as represented.

We will allow a cash discount of 5 per cent (thereby making the price $4.56 per pair) if you send FULL CASH WITH ORDER and enclose this advertisement. We will also send one nickel plated brass hand pump. Tires to be returned at OUR expense if for any reason they are not satisfactory on examination. We are perfectly reliable and money sent to us is as safe as in a bank. If you order a pair of these tires, you will find that they will ride easier, run faster, wear better, last longer and look finer than any tire you have ever used or seen at any price. We know that you will be so well pleased that when you want a bicycle you will give us your order. We want you to send us a trial order at once, hence this remarkable tire offer.

IF YOU NEED TIRES don't buy any kind at any price until you send for a pair of the Hedgethorn Puncture-Proof tires on approval and trial at the special introductory price quoted above; or write for our big Tire and Sundry Catalogue which describes and quotes all makes and kinds of tires at about half the usual prices.

DO NOT WAIT but write us a postal today. DO NOT THINK OF BUYING a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone until you know the new and wonderful offers we are making. It only costs a postal to learn everything. Write it NOW.

J. L. MEAD CYCLE COMPANY, CHICAGO, ILL.

An Ideal All-Around Newspaper.

Probably no other newspaper in the United States can show so brilliant an array of special features suited to the tastes and needs of every member of the family as The Chicago Record-Herald. Its regular daily and Sunday features include the letters of William E. Curtis and Walter Wellman, besides the special dispatches from the great centers. Next in importance comes The Record Herald's unparalleled foreign news service, embracing its own special cables, and those of the New York Herald, World Journal of Commerce and Associated Press. Its pages devoted to commercial and financial news of all kinds are unsurpassed in scope and accuracy. Among other noteworthy features are its popular sporting page, its sound editorials, Kiser's humorous "Alternating Currents," the lively "Stories of the Street and Town," the railroad and insurance columns, music and drama, society and clubs, daily reviews of the latest books, the continued story, the "Woman Beautiful" department, the daily fashion article, "Meals for a Day," news of the lakes, etc., besides a complete array of local and domestic news—all uniting to give the people of Chicago and the Northwest a complete and interesting all-around newspaper.

The Sunday Magazine of The Record Herald is an artistic and literary triumph. Famous authors and illustrators, fine paper and presswork combine to make it the rival of the great independent periodicals and a distinct departure in Sunday journalism.

S. S. Widney and mother returned Thursday from a visit with relatives at Auburn.

Fresh candy now at Milliman's shop

Wm. Mutzfeld of Butler visited in town Wednesday.

Herman Grubb of New Haven, was in town, last Wednesday.

Frank Barney was at Cincinnati a few days last week, returning home Monday.

Mrs. Frank Kinsey visited her parents at Butler Wednesday. Little Madonna Kinsey who has been visiting there for a few days returned home with her.

The rush for garden making these pleasant days is so intense that disabled husbands are inquiring for "little spadettes" so their wives can do the outdoor work. Bright idea.

The Hicksville Tribune contained a picture of a "Runabout" made by Monroe Bros., and it said:—

The machine is a particularly handsome and complete one. It possesses many features that are carefully devised and constructed improvements over all machines of the buggy kind that have yet met our attention. It is of sixteen horse power and is so constructed that it has no difficulty in actually delivering that amount. The mechanism for its operation, guidance and control is peculiarly one of its strong features. The parts are all simple as regards details, but remarkably effective and sure. Another good feature of the machine is its rigidity and in consequence absence of tremble. In finish it is also fine. It is beautifully upholstered and painted, making one of the nobbiest rigs to be seen anywhere. The construction also admits of quick and simple access to all the parts. The machine will be sold and we hope, will lead to numerous others of like kind being built here. Messrs. Monroe Bros. are to be congratulated upon their handicraft.

Most people know that if they have been sick they need Scott's Emulsion to bring back health and strength.

But the strongest point about Scott's Emulsion is that you don't have to be sick to get results from it.

It keeps up the athlete's strength, puts fat on thin people, makes a fretful baby happy, brings color to a pale girl's cheeks, and prevents coughs, colds and consumption.

Food in concentrated form for sick and well, young and old, rich and poor.

And it contains no drugs and no alcohol.

ALL DRUGGISTS; 50c. AND $1.00.

APRIL

L 903

0155

LOCAL NEWS

LOCAL HISTORY MADE DURING THE PAST WEEK, IN BRIEF PARAGRAPHS

Cad Woodcox of Garrett, visited in town, last Friday.

Chloe Rhodenbaugh visited with relatives at Auburn, last week.

Fred Jenkins of Auburn, spent several days of last week at this place.

S. P. White of Kendallville, visited his father, E. D. White, last Thursday.

We welcome the Sherwood Chronicle as a new exchange. It is a bright newsy sheet.

Procrastination doesn't clean up the back yard, spade the garden nor mow the lawn.

The Wauseon, O., Savings Bank and Trust Company went up last week, but it is believed they will be able to pay depositors in full.

Edgar Atkinson, candidate for clerk, was making political calls in this vicinity, last Thursday. His smiling countenance brightened our office for a few minutes.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Henderson of near Walkerville, Mich., are the proud parents of a new son, born last week. Mrs. Henderson was formerly Miss Ann Curie.

A $35,000 dam will be built at Robinson Park this year in the old canal feeder. The park has changed management and many new attractions will be added this summer. The park opens May 31.

For the sixteenth time during the last sixteen months there has been a change made in the Auburn news department of the Kist-News Bureau to the Fort Wayne Journal Gazette. R. H. Weamer, who lately moved to Auburn, from Hudson, has taken the position of news correspondent.

The W. C. T. U. at Garrett have set aside a day in each month for the gathering up of garbage in their city and also to personally attend the job and see it is done thoroughly. The city is not able to employ a garbage man as yet and the ladies have taken up the matter to the satisfaction of all.

Money to loan on farms at 5 per cent interest. Payable on or before 10 years. Partial payments allowed. Call on or write us. Brown & Rhoads, Lawyers, City National Bank Building, Auburn, Ind.

Mrs. Mary J. Hamilton of Concord, in a suit for divorce filed late Wednesday afternoon charges her husband, William, with being a habitual drunkard, spending his nights away from home in gambling dens, cruelty, and failure to provide. In her complaint she recites that they were married in 1900 and separated in 1907, during which time she left him twice because of the above and as many times returned to him upon promises to reform. He is now in Chickasha, Oklahoma.—Dispatch.

The hand, arm and shoulder blade of a man were found on the banks of Crooked lake lake near Angola a few days ago. The members were considerably decomposed. Whether a murder has been committed or whether some one has drowned in the lake and a portion of the remains have just washed to shore is not known. It may also be that some one has committed suicide or the remains may have been taken from a cemetery nearby.

Wm. Hert of Auburn, was in town, Friday.

Wm. Ringwalt of Fort Wayne, was in town, Thursday.

Mrs. Wm. Koch was called to Albion last Wednesday by the death of a very dear friend.

C. A. Woodcox has opened up a paint shop in Wm. Leighty's building and will paint buggies.

S. W. Tustison visited over Sunday with Frank Bishop and wife at Garrett. Mrs. Bishop is improving in health quite rapidly.

An eminent divine advises young ladies to pray for husbands, which suggests to married women that there would be no harm done if they should do the same thing.

D. A. Hodge, the jeweler, at Auburn, will sell his business at that place and remove with his family to Seattle, Wash., where he will be connected with a wholesale jewelry firm. He makes the change on account of his failing health.

The following changes in real estate occured recently. Concord township:—T. H. Elson to Ernest Johnson, 40 acres, sec. 8, $1400; T. H. Elson to Lovina Johnson, 40 acres, sec. 8, $1400; E. F. Bills to Martin Tustison, 80 acres, sec. 10, $300. St. Joe:—Martha Tustison to E. F. Bills, one lot L. add., $300.

Gov. Hanly announces that he has fixed the date for a special election election in the Thirteenth district to elect a successor to the late Congressman Brick for Nov. 3, the same date for the regular election. The vacancy will not be filed during the remainder of the present session of Congress.

"Lony" Ziegler, Auburn's "bad boy" who has been at Winona, trying to reform, has been changed to the state reformatory. The Winona faculty notified Judge Bratton that "Lony" had broke into the college store and stole goods and also had got hold of some whiskey and that they could not do anything for him.

An Irishman was sitting in a depot smoking, the other day when a woman came in and sitting down remarked, "Sir, if you were a gentleman you would not smoke here." "Mum" he said, if yez was a lady ye'd sit farther away." "If you were my husband I'd give you poison." "Well, mum," returned the Irishman as he puffed away at his pipe, "if yez was my wife I'd take it."—Ex.

Don Johnston and Floyd Ridgway two of St. Joe's young men have joined the U. S. Navy, Floyd leaving today for Wayne, where he will meet the officer and be shipped to some point. Don will leave a week from to-day unless he recieves further notice. It is necessary that the boys have schooling before entering the service as they are too young to enter the service direct. The experience will be one that they will never forget and it will surely be a great trip. Some of our other boys are getting the fever.

A Twenty Year Sentence.

"I have just completed a twenty year health sentence, imposed by Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which cured me of bleeding piles just twenty years ago," writes O. S. Woolever, of LeRaysville, N. Y. Bucklen's Arnica Salve heals the worst sores, boils, burns, wounds and cuts in the shortest time. 25c at H. Milliman's drug store.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
Write or come to us at 625 Ninth Street, opp. United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.

C.A.SNOW & CO.

Late Bailey returned home Saturday.

Mrs. Z. T. Kagey and mother, Mrs. E. Bishop of Auburn, visited relatives at this place, over Sunday.

Mrs. H. A. Frysinger and daughter of Auburn Jct., were guests of Mrs. Belle Ridgway and family over Sunday

Mrs. Viola Kinsey and daughters, Vada and Violet, were guests of W. E. Baxter and wife at Garrett, over Sunday.

Ed. Leighty began clerking for H. C. Hathaway, Monday morning, having quit his job at Barney's store, Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Crooks and son Leonard and Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Patterson of Hicksville, were callers Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Patterson.

Chastine Johnston, accompanied by a party of young ladies, attended a piano recital at Fort Wayne, Friday given by Teresa Carenno, the world's greatest lady pianist.

Mrs. Sarah Walter of east of Spencerville, visited with her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Hull, a couple of days last week. On Saturday she left for Montgomery, Mich., where she expects to make an extended visit with relatives.

Marriage engagements made after Easter will not be binding in the in the world of the Catholic Church unless made in writing and signed by two parties in the presence of either the parish priests or two witnesses. The priests or two witnesses affix their signature to the document. The church will also no longer recognize a marriage performed by a Justice of the Peace as binding. The marriage must take place in the church in the presence of two or more witnesses.

What might have been a serious blaze occured at Clark Roberts', three and one half miles north of town, Friday. In some mysterious way the strawstack caught fire and had gained considerable headway by eight o'clock in the morning when it was first discovered. Neighbors came and helped to put it out. They were all fighting the flames to save the buildings and as it was about the windiest day of last week it is almost a miracle that they succeeded.

If your seat is hard to sit upon, stand up. If a rock rises up before you roll it away or climb over it. If you want money, earn it. If you wish for confidence, prove yourself worthy of it. It takes longer to skin an elephant than a mouse but the skin is worth something. Don't be contented with doing what others have done, surpass it. Deserve success and it will come. The boy was not born a man. If the job be long, the pay will be greater; if the task be hard, the more competent you must be to do it.

Hard Jobs.

To deafen an ear of corn.
To trepan the scull of a boat.
To pry loose the jaws of death.
To bring a flush to a door cheek.
To read the lines in a date palm.
To bring tears to the eye of a potato
To shingle the roof of one's mouth.
To shape a corset to the waist of a ship.
To remove wrinkles from the brow of a hill.
To tell how tired a wagon is by looking at his tongue.
To manicure the hands of a clock or even the finger of scorn

Cured of Rheumatism.

Mr. Wm. Henry of Chattanooga, Tenn. had rheumatism in his left arm. "The strength seemed to have gone out of the muscles so that it was useless for work" he says. "I applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and wrapped the arm in a flannel at night, and to my relief I found that the pain gradually left me and the strength returned." If troubled with rheumatism try a few applications of Pain Balm. You are certain to be pleased with the relief which it affords. For sale by H. Milliman, St. Joe, F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

Just Received.

Car Load Wabash Portland Cement.
Consignment of Gasoline Vapor Stoves.

I Keep on Hands

Hydrated Ground Lime
Stoves and Ranges Cooking Utensils
Steel Goods of all kinds.

All Kinds of Roofing:

Best quality Red Cedar Shingles
Gravel Roofing Asbestos, Rubber, Felt and Galvanized Roofing.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT
Linseed, Automobile and Lubricating Oils, Gasoline, Etc.

GLASS, SASH AND DOORS.

Quality Right. Prices Right.

D. J. Baker.

District Meeting of I. O. O. F.

The district meeting of the DeKalb county I. O. O. F. held in Auburn on Friday evening was attended by Odd Fellows from Waterloo, Garrett, Butler, St. Joe, Kendallville, Fort Wayne, and other places and was a most enjoyable occasion. The degree work in the initiation of candidates in the first degree was at the old Armory building and was done by the Garrett team, following which there was a banquet at Herrick's restaurant, about 200 being seated at the tables.

Prior to the initiatory work the Odd Fellows had the pleasure of listening to an address from E. L. Hastings, the grand master for Indiana, the occasion being the first time he had ever visited here. He spoke of the strength and work of the Odd Fellows, saying there were 75,000 members of the order in the state and that they paid out each week $5,000 in benefits.

The grand master, in speaking of the work being done by Odd Fellowism, said "it wars against vice in all its forms," and he was most enthusiastically applauded when he made the statement that if Odd Fellows were to live up to what they teach and preach that vice would be decreased most remarkably, emphasizing the fact that "the vice, the liquor traffic would be swept from the face of the earth."

Mr. Sol Barney of St. Joe presided at the meeting.—Courier. Those present from St. Joe were W. C. DeLong, B. F. Walter, John Betz, H. H. Meek, J. C. Hull and Sol Barney.

Seed Potatoes

Seed potatoes of the very best tested varieties, early and late, also eating potatoes. Prices right.

W. H. NORTHRUP & SON.

There are more McCall Patterns sold in the United States than of any other make of patterns. This is on account of their style, accuracy and simplicity.

McCall's Magazine (The Queen of Fashion) has more subscribers than any other Ladies' Magazine. One year's subscription (12 numbers) costs 50 cents. Latest number, 5 cents. Every subscriber gets a McCall Pattern Free. Subscribe today.

Lady Agents Wanted. Handsome premiums or liberal cash commission. Pattern Catalogue (of 600 designs) and Premium Catalogue (showing 400 premiums) sent free. Address THE McCALL CO., New York

Are You Sick?

Much sickness is due to a weak nervous system. Yours may be. If it is, you cannot get well until you restore nerve strength. Your nervous system is nature's power house; the organs of your body get their power from it. If the power is not there, the action of the organs is weak, and disease (sickness) follows. Dr. Miles' Nervine cures the sick because it soothes the irritated and tired nerves and gives the system a chance to recuperate. Try it, and see if you do not quickly feel its beneficial effect.

"I was given up to die by a leading doctor. Got one of Dr. Miles' books and found that Dr. Miles' Nervine fit my case. From the very first dose I took I got better. I am better now than I have been for years, and do all my own work on the farm. That's what Dr. Miles' Nervine has done for me, and I am glad to recommend it to others."

JOHN JAMES, Riverton, Neb.

Your druggist sells Dr. Miles' Nervine, and we authorize him to return price of first bottle (only) if it fails to benefit you.

Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind

Buy our stationery,

Note books at THE NEWS office.

For Mortgage Exemptions, see S. S. WIDNEY.

The farmers have begun to market their crop of wool here.

Wes Mutzfeld went to Bluffton last Wednesday on business.

Miss Bessie Bartlett of Fort Wayne visited Miss Grace George, last week.

Frank George of Goshen has been at home the past week, entertaining the mumps.

Little Lois Morris of near Hicksville spent several days last week her sister, Mrs. Bert Woodcox.

This year we have the most complete line of commencement invitations we have ever had. We invite you to come and see them. Prices reasonable.

Having had 5 years experience, am prepared to do all kinds of cement work, foundations, sidewalks and cisterns a specialty.

5-1 WID WILLIAMS.

Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also furnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable.

Beams & Baker.

The News, - - $1 per year.

APRIL

9156

L 903

This woman says that after months of suffering Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made her as well as ever.

Maude E. Forgie, of Leesburg, Va., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I want other suffering women to know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. For months I suffered from feminine ills so that I thought I could not live. I wrote you, and after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and using the treatment you prescribed I felt like a new woman. I am now strong, and well as ever, and thank you for the good you have done me."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

160 Acre FARMS In Western Canada FREE

Illustration Showing Mixed Farming Scene in

WESTERN CANADA

Some of the choicest lands for grain growing, stock raising and mixed farming in the new districts of Saskatchewan and Alberta have recently been Opened for Settlement under the

Revised Homestead Regulations

Entry may now be made by proxy (on certain conditions), by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader. Thousands of homesteads of 160 acres each are thus now easily obtainable in these great grain-growing, stock-raising and mixed farming sections.

There you will find healthful climate, good neighbors, churches for family worship, schools for your children, good laws, splendid crops, and railroads convenient to market.

Entry fee in each case is $10.00. For pamphlet, "Last Best West," particulars as to rates, routes, best time to go and where to locate, apply to W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or W. H. Rogers, 3d Floor Traction-Terminal Building, Indianapolis, Ind., and H. M. Williams, Room 20, Law Building, Toledo, Ohio, Authorized Government Agents.

Please say where you saw this advertisement.

Paxtine

TOILET ANTISEPTIC

Keeps the breath, teeth, mouth and body antiseptically clean and free from unhealthy germ-life and disagreeable odors, which water, soap and tooth preparations alone cannot do. A germicidal, disinfecting and deodorizing toilet requisite of exceptional excellence and economy. Invaluable for inflamed eyes, throat and nasal and uterine catarrh. At drug and toilet stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.

Large Trial Sample

WITH "HEALTH AND BEAUTY" BOOK SENT FREE

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., Boston, Mass.

Get your Letter Paper and Envelopes printed at this office. We can give you the

EAGLE LINEN

PAPER and ENVELOPES

It is fine and will suit you. Try it.

MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS FOR CHILDREN,

A Certain Cure for Feverishness, Constipation, Headache, Stomach Troubles, Teething Disorders, and Destroy Worms. They Break up Colds in 24 hours. At all Druggists, 25 cts. Sample mailed FREE. Address A. S. OLMSTED, Le Roy, N. Y.

90 BUSHELS OF OATS TO THE ACRE.

What Mr. Kaltenbrunner Has to Say About His Grain Crops in Central Canada.

Writing from Regina, Saskatchewan, Central Canada, Mr. A. Kaltenbrunner writes:

"Some years ago I took up a homestead for myself, and also one for my son. The half section which we own adjoins the Moose Jaw Creek; is a low, level and heavy land. We put in 70 acres of wheat in stubble, which went 20 bushels to the acre, and 30 acres of summer fallow, which went 25 bushels to the acre. All the wheat we harvested this year is No. 1 hard. That means the best wheat that can be raised on the earth. We did not sell any wheat yet, as we intend to keep one part for our own seed, and sell the other part to people who want first class seed, for there is no doubt if you sow good wheat you will harvest good wheat. We also threshed 9,000 bushels of first class oats out of 160 acres; 80 acres has been fall plowing, which yielded 90 bushels per acre, and 80 acres stubble, which went 80 bushels to the acre. These oats are the best kind that can be raised. We have shipped three carloads of them, and got 53 cents per bushel clear. All our grain was cut in the last week of the month of August before any frost could touch it.

"Notwithstanding the fact that we have had a late spring, and that the weather conditions this year were very adverse and unfavorable, we will make more money out of our crop this year than last.

"For myself I feel compelled to say that Western Canada crops cannot be checked, even by unusual conditions."

Information regarding free homestead lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta may be had on application to any Canadian Government Agent, whose advertisement appears elsewhere. He will give you information as to the best route and what it will cost you to reach these lands for purposes of inspection.

Water and Life.

Of all the conditions preparatory to life the presence of water, composed of oxygen and hydrogen, is at once the most essential and the most worldwide, for if water be present the presence of other necessary elements is probably assured. If water exist, that fact goes bail for the necessary temperature, the gamut of life being coextensive with the existence of water as such. It is so consequentially, life being impossible without water. Whatever the planet, this is of necessity true. But the absolute degrees of temperature within which life can exist vary according to the mass of the body, another of the ways in which mere size tells. On the earth 212 degrees F. limits the range at the top and 32 degrees F. at the bottom in the case of fresh water, 27 degrees F. in the case of salt. On a smaller planet both limits would be lowered, the top one the most. On Mars the boiling point would probably be about 110 degrees F. Secondly, from the general initial oneness of their constituents a planet that still possesses water will probably retain the other substances that are essential to life—gases, for the reason that water vapor is next to hydrogen and helium the lightest of them all, and solids because their weight would still more conduce to keep them there. Water, indeed, acts as a solution to the whole problem.—Professor Lowell's "The Evolution of Life" in Century Magazine.

Household economy is taught to the girls in the public schools of Belgium.

BUILT RIGHT.

Brain and Nerves Restored by Grape-Nuts Food.

The number of persons whose ailments were such that no other food could be retained at all, is large and reports are on the increase.

"For 12 years I suffered from dyspepsia, finding no food that did not distress me," writes a Wis. lady. "I was reduced from 145 to 90 lbs., gradually growing weaker until I could leave my bed only a short while at a time, and became unable to speak aloud.

"Three years ago I was attracted by an article on Grape-Nuts and decided to try it.

"My stomach was so weak I could not take cream, but I used Grape-Nuts with milk and lime water. It helped me from the first, building up my system in a manner most astonishing to the friends who had thought my recovery impossible.

"Soon I was able to take Grape-Nuts and cream for breakfast, and lunch at night, with an egg and Grape-Nuts for dinner.

"I am now able to eat fruit, meat and nearly all vegetables for dinner, but fondly continue Grape-Nuts for breakfast and supper.

"At the time of beginning Grape-Nuts I could scarcely speak a sentence without changing words around or 'talking crooked' in some way, but my brain and nerves have become so strengthened that I no longer have that trouble." "There's a Reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

SHEAR NONSENSE

"Did you ever spend any money foolishly?" "Sure. I was engaged to a girl once myself."—Detroit Free Press.

Intelligent Rescuer (to skater who has fallen through)—Steady, old man, steady! Keep cool!—London Bystander.

"What do you think of the simplified spelling?" "It would be all right if it wasn't so hard to learn."—Detroit Free Press.

"They seem to live happily together." "Yes; he lets his wife select his neckties and his stenographers."—Nashville American.

"They seem to be having a duet in the next suite." "Yes, the man is practicing on the cornet while his wife talks."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Karr—What makes you think that you are going to succeed in business? Bagster—Because my partner has $500,000.—Somerville Journal.

"I always try to treat my maid as if she were a member of the family." "Gracious, how do you get her to put up with it?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Dolly—Pardon me, dear, but you cut a ridiculous figure on the street yesterday. Polly—Oh, forgive me, dear! If I had seen you I should have spoken.—Cleveland Leader.

Bacon—Do you think it is proper for a man to say things behind his wife's back? Egbert—Well, if he's trying to button her dress, how can he help it?—Yonkers Statesman.

She—But, Fred, dear, fancy coming in such shabby clothes when you are going to ask pa's consent. Fred—Ar, but, dearest, I once had a new suit ruined.—The Sketch.

Passenger—Boatman, hadn't we better bail her out? She's half full of water. Irish Boatman—Och, niver mind, sor. Sure she'll run over when she's quite full."—Punch.

"To what do you attribute your success in acquiring money?" "Partly to the success of other men in letting go of it," replied the great financier.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

"I've never had any great luck," declared the pessimist. "Neither have I," admitted the optimist. "Made my money by hard work and advertising."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Plumber—Have you got all we want for Brown's job? Boy—Yes. Plumber—Wot? You 'aven't forgotten nothin'? Bless my soul, 'ow d'you expect to make a plumber?—The Bystander.

The Dentist—Now, open wide your mouth and I won't hurt you a bit. The Patient (after the extraction)—Doctor, I know what Ananias did for a living now.—Chicago Home Herald.

The Artist—So you can't use my sketches, then. Would you mind telling me what you think of them? The Editor—I can't now, there are some ladies in the next room.—Leslie's Weekly.

"Justin," said Mrs. Wyss. "Yes," replied Mr. Wyss. "Will you speak a kind word to Fido and make him wag his tail. He hasn't had one bit of exercise all day."—Lippincott's Magazine.

"How did Harry enjoy his trip abroad?" "Very much; he looks happy, and has gained 115 pounds." "One hundred and fifteen pounds?" "Yes, and she's an heiress."—Brooklyn Life.

"The manager always keeps back a portion of the villain's salary." "Why does he do that—afraid he'd skip?" "No; but he always acts his part better when he's mad."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"You told me this ring was a fire opal; an expert tells me it isn't anything of the kind." "My frent, you go tell dot eggspert he's a liar mit my compliments. Dot opal vas in four fires."—Life.

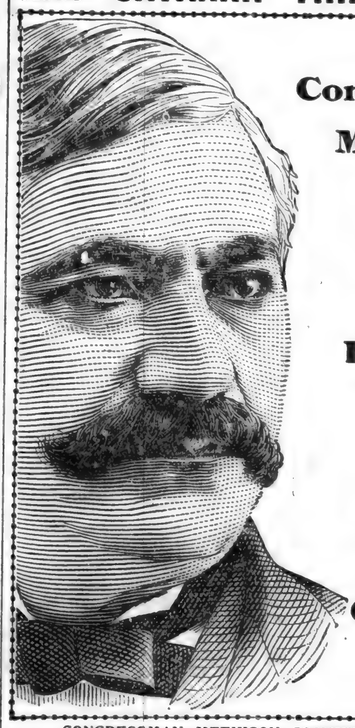
Charming Hostess (to dyspeptic guest, who has been refusing dish after dish)—I am so distressed. You've had no dinner at all! Guest—Thank you—but I have to be very particular about my food.—Punch.

"Is my son getting well grounded in the classics?" asked the anxious millionaire. "I would put it even stronger than that," replied the private tutor, "I may say that he is actually stranded on them."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Church—What's that piece of cord tied around your finger for? Gotham—My wife put it there to remind me to mail a letter. Church—And did you mail it? Gotham—No; she forgot to give it to me!—The Congregationalist.

"Do you think Biggins would make a good husband?" asked the conscientious youth. "Why do you ask?" inquired the girl, in surprise. "Because if you think such a fool as Biggins could manage it, I have a good mind to take a chance myself."—Washington Star.

HAD CATARRH THIRTY YEARS.



Congressman Meekison Gives Praise To Pe-ru-na For His Relief From Catarrh.

CONGRESSMAN MEEKISON COMMENDS PE-RU-NA.

"I have used several bottles of Peruna and I feel greatly benefited thereby from my catarrh of the head. I feel encouraged to believe that if I use it a short time longer I will be fully able to eradicate the disease of thirty years' standing."—David Meekison.

OTHER REMARKABLE CURES.

Mr. Jacob L. Davis, Galena, Stone county, Mo., writes: "I have been in bad health for thirty-seven years, and after taking twelve bottles of your Peruna I am cured." Mr. C. N. Peterson, 132 South Main St., Council Bluffs, Iowa, writes: "I cannot tell you how much good Peruna has done me. Constant confinement in my store began to tell on my health and I felt that I was gradually breaking down. I tried several remedies, but obtained no permanent relief until I took Peruna. I felt better immediately, and five bottles restored me to complete health."

A SINCERE RECOMMENDATION.

Mr. D. C. Prosser, Bravo, Allegan Co., Mich., writes: "Two years ago I was badly afflicted with catarrh of the stomach. I had had a run of typhoid fever, was very depleted. I could find nothing I could eat without causing distress and sour stomach. Finally I came to the conclusion that I had catarrh of the stomach and seeing Peruna advertised, began to take it. It helped me soon, and after taking three or four bottles I was entirely cured of stomach trouble, and can now eat anything."

Manufactured by PERUNA DRUG MANUFACTURING COMPANY, Columbus, Ohio

GET WHAT YOU ASK FOR—THE GENUINE

CASCARETS Candy Cathartic are always put up in blue metal box, our trade-marked, long-tailed C on the cover—tablet octagonal, stamped C C C. Never sold in bulk. All druggists, 10c, 25c, 50c. Sample and booklet free. Address STERLING REMEDY CO., Chicago or New York.

Cascarets

CANDY CATHARTIC

THEY WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

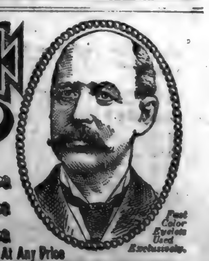
$3.00 $3.50

SHOES AT ALL PRICES, FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE FAMILY, MEN, BOYS, WOMEN, MISSES AND CHILDREN.

W. L. Douglas makes and sells more men's $3.50, $3.00 and $2.50 shoes than any other manufacturer in the world, because they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater value than any other shoes in the world to-day.

W. L. Douglas $4 and $5 Gilt Edge Shoes Cannot Be Equalled At Any Price

CAUTION. W. L. Douglas name and price is stamped on bottom. Take No Substitute. Sold by the best shoe dealers everywhere. Shoes mailed from factory to any part of the world. Illustrated Catalog free to any address. W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.



Fast Color Eyelets Used Exclusively.

Zoological Post Cards—Second Series.

If you are a collector or dealer of postal cards, you will be interested in an attractive set of eight cards just published, showing the most valuable wild animals in the Ringling Bros.' Menagerie, a set will be mailed you for 16c. Special prices in lots to dealers. There is a great opportunity to make money in selling these cards to collectors or the general public. Address The Evening Wisconsin Co., Post Card Dep't., Milwaukee, Wis.

His New Plea.

Charitable Matron—You are in more straitened circumstances this time than ever before, are you? Why is that?

Saymold Storey—Me taxes is due, ma'am, an' I can't meet 'em.

FITS St. Vitus' Dance and all Nervous Diseases Permanently Cured by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Send for Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. DR. R. H. KLINE, Ld., 931 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

APRIL

0157

L 903

Truth and Quality

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing. Accordingly, it is not claimed that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is the only remedy of known value, but one of many reasons why it is the best of personal and family laxatives is the fact that it cleanses, sweetens and relieves the internal organs on which it acts without any debilitating after effects and without having to increase the quantity from time to time.

It acts pleasantly and naturally and truly as a laxative, and its component parts are known to and approved by physicians, as it is free from all objectionable substances. To get its beneficial effects always purchase the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

Headache

Can be cured only by a remedy that will remove the cause.

The oftener you stop it with headache powders or pills the quicker will it return.

Generally, headache comes from a disturbed stomach or irregular bowels, and almost invariably

Lane's Family Medicine

(a tonic laxative) will cure headache in short order by regulating the bowels and reinvigorating the stomach.

It is a great blood medicine and the favorite laxative of old and young.

At druggists', 25c. and 50c.

Out of the Dim Past.

Samuel Woodworth had just written "The Old Oaken Bucket."

"Nothing in it!" he muttered as he read it over and reflected upon the probable price it would bring.

But posterity evidently found something in it.

If you use ball blue, get Red Cross Ball Blue, the best ball blue. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

An Expensive Possession.

Another case of the universality of labor on the part of every member of the family save the paternal parent is cited in Punch. A small applicant for a country holiday is interviewed by the town visitor.

"What is your father?" asks the visitor.

"'E's me father."

"Yes, but what is he?"

"Oh! 'E's me stepfather."

"Yes, yes, but what does he do? Does he sweep chimneys or drive buses, or what?"

"O-o-w!" says the small applicant, with dawning light of comprehension. "No, 'e ain't done nothin' since we've 'ad 'im."

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOR ALL KIDNEY DISEASES

FOR RHEUMATISM, BRIGHT'S DISEASE, DIABETES, BACKACHE

75 "Guaranteed"

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

WIDOWS' PENSIONS under NEW LAW obtained by JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.

If afflicted with sore Eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

Pattern Department

UP-TO-DATE DESIGNS FOR THE HOME DRESSMAKER

Fancy Blouse Waist.

Mandarin sleeves of the modified sort are always charmingly graceful and are to be extensively worn throughout the season. Illustrated is an exceptionally attractive blouse that shows them used to advantage, and which includes many of the newest fancies of fashion. The guimpe portion is made with a yoke of lace and the over blouse provides long and becoming lines, while the sleeves are shaped to be very generally becoming and graceful. As illustrated crepe de Chine is combined with guimpe portions of chiffon in matching color and yoke of lace and is trimmed with velvet ribbon and heavy lace applique. Almost every material that is adapted to indoor gowns is appropriate, however, and voile, marquisette and the many beautiful Liberty fabrics are all especially to be commended. The contrasting yoke allows of various combinations and would be handsome made of silk braided with soutache if something a bit more substantial than lace is wanted.

PATTERN NO. 5830.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:

Order Coupon.

No. 5830.

SIZE .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

Misses' Seven Gored Skirt.

The plain seven gored skirt is one of the later favorites for young girls as well as for their elders and this model can be relied upon as being exceedingly smart both for the present and for the coming season. In this instance it is made of Copenhagen blue broadcloth simply stitched with belding silk, and the several rows of stitching are especially to be commended just now, but it can, nevertheless, be treated in a variety of ways. It can be trimmed with straight bands or with braid applied over some simple design, or it can be trimmed with handing of any sort that may be liked.

PATTERN NO. 5872.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly.

Order Coupon.

No. 5872.

SIZE .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

BABY IN TERRIBLE STATE.

Awful Humor Eating Away Face—Body a Mass of Sores—Cuticura Cures in Two Weeks.

"My little daughter broke out all over her body with a humor, and we used everything recommended, but without results. I called in three doctors, but she continued to grow worse. Her body was a mass of sores, and her little face was being eaten away. Her ears looked as if they would drop off. Neighbors advised me to get Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, and before I had used half of the cake of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment the sores had all healed, and my little one's face and body were as clear as a new-born babe's. I would not be without it again if it cost five dollars, instead of seventy-five cents. Mrs. George J. Steese, 701 Coburn St., Akron, O., Aug. 30, 1905."

The Icelanders' Language.

How strange it would seem to us today if there existed, say in Newfoundland, a colony of Anglo-Saxons, sent there by King Alfred and speaking still the pure old Saxon tongue of King Alfred's Wessex! Yet this would exactly parallel the case of Iceland. While Danes and Swedes have modernized the ancient Scandinavian of the sagas into the Danish and Swedish of the present day, the Icelanders still go on speaking the tongue of their forefathers pretty much as it was spoken by Rolf the Ganger and Harold Hardrada. They read the sagas in the tongue of the old singers as easily as our children can read Shakespeare and the English Bible.

WOMEN'S KIDNEYS

Are the Source of Most Women's Sickness.

Mrs. Rebecca Mock, 1795 E. Rich street, Columbus, Ohio, writes: "I believe I would still be a victim of kidney troubles but for Doan's Kidney Pills, for when I started using them I was in constant pain with my back, and no other remedy had been of any use. The kidney secretions were irregular, and I was nervous and lacked energy. But Doan's Kidney Pills gave me prompt relief and continued use cured me."

Sold by all dealers, 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Newton's Telescope.

Newton's telescope is a clumsy looking instrument, nine inches in length, two inches in aperture and capable of magnifying thirty-eight times. It was entirely made by Newton himself, who first exhibited it before the Royal society in 1671, and more than 100 years later his successor in the presidency of the society laid before George III. Sir William Herschel's scheme for making a telescope on Newton's plan, to be forty feet in length and four feet in aperture.—Pall Mall Gazette.

The Higher Mathematics.

Nibbs—Do you suppose it's ever possible to come anywhere near the size of a man's income?

Diggs—Yes; just take the figure he gives to the assessor, add to it the figure he tells his friends and then divide the result by two and you'll have it near enough."—Illustrated Bits.

Those Delicious Lemon Pies.

The kind that "make your mouth water" are easily made with no fussing and at least possible expense if you use "OUR-PIE" Preparation. Don't hesitate. Try it and tell your friends. At grocers, 10 cents. Three kinds: Lemon, Chocolate and Custard. Put up by D-Zerta Food Co., Rochester, N. Y.

Unambitious.

"Have you ever made any effort to get into politics?"

"No," answered Farmer Corntossel. "I don't see what fun I'd get out of it. I don't like to make speeches an' I don't like to listen to 'em an' I kin git enough plain, ordinary hard work right here on the farm."—Washington Star.

Yellow Clothes Are Unsightly.

Keep them white with Red Cross Ball Blue. All grocers sell large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

No Tobacco There.

"Why don't you try one of those tobacco cures on your son?" asked Gaddie.

"That wouldn't have any effect on him," replied Popley.

"Oh! yes, they simply kill all appetite for tobacco."

"But he smokes cigarettes."

SORE EYES, weak, inflamed, red, watery and swollen eyes, use PETTIT'S EYE SALVE. All druggists or Howard Bros., Buffalo, N. Y.

Had Been There.

"I read in a book of statistics that the average woman carries from thirty to thirty-five miles of hair on her head."

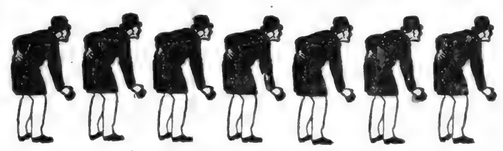
"And then she raises the deuce if her husband happens to carry a yard or two of it on his coat sleeve."

Sudden Reversal.

Customer—You're working at the wrong corn. That one doesn't hurt me any.

Chiropodist—Doesn't it?

Customer—Great Scott, yes! Ouch!



"OUCH, OH MY BACK"

NEURALGIA, STITCHES, LAMENESS, CRAMP TWINGES, TWITCHES FROM WET OR DAMP ALL BRUISES, SPRAINS, A WRENCH OR TWIST THIS SOVEREIGN REMEDY THEY CAN'T RESIST

ST JACOBS OIL

PRICE 25c AND 50c

CAME TO STAY.

Return of the Prodigal with Money and a Large Check.

Old home week had come, and the returned sons and grandsons were gathered together. One after another they rose and told with pardonable pride their achievements in the great world, impressing their importance on the stay at homes. At length Mr. Jameson spoke:

"I went away from here twenty years ago a poor young man, with only one solitary dollar in my pocket. I walked the four miles from my father's farm to the station, and there I begged a ride to Boston on a freight car. Last night I drove into town behind a spirited pair of horses, and my purse—guess how much my purse holds in money to-day, besides a large check," and Mr. Jameson looked about him with a smile.

"Fifty dollars!"

"Seventy-five!"

"A hundred!" shouted the boys, filled with admiration.

"No," said Mr. Jameson, drawing a large flat purse from his pocket when the clamor had subsided, "none of you has guessed right. When I had paid the 25 cents to Ozy Boggs for my refreshing drive in the coach I had, besides my trunk check (which I retained for financial reasons), exactly 4 cents. I have come back, my friends, to stay. Any little jobs of sawing and splitting will be gratefully received."—Woman's Home Companion.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by all Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Beyond Him.

The Admirable Crichton who had just delivered an impromptu speech in verse, knocked out a professional pugilist, deciphered a cryptogram that nobody else could solve, and disarmed in a twinkling two experts who had attacked him with their rapiers, all within the space of an hour or so, heaved a sigh of regret.

"I can do these things easily enough," he said, "but to save my life I can't pitch a curved ball!"

From which we see that the distinguished men of the olden time were only relatively great.

Garfield Tea is a natural laxative—it regulates the digestion, purifies the blood, cleanses the system, clears the complexion, brightens the eyes and brings the glow of splendid Health!

A Good Rule.

"I seldom make a mistake," said the man, as he placed the lighted end of his cigar in his mouth."

"But when I do," he continued, "I rectify it immediately."

And he reversed the cigar and went on with his conversation.

Figured.

"You say there's no such thing as matter? Then there is no such thing as a gas meter. Yet you are paying out your good money for 8,000 feet of gas registered by a machine that doesn't exist."

"Certainly; there is no such thing as money."

BORAX, NATURE'S DISINFECTANT, CLEANSER AND PURIFIER

Everybody realizes the necessity of some method of purification of sinks, drains and utensils in which may lurk the germ of a dreaded disease.

Health is a question of cleanliness and prevention.

Most people are familiar with the use of disinfectants in their ordinary sense—all of which are unpleasantly associated with disagreeable odors, on which are depended to kill the contagion (which disinfectants must of necessity be of a more or less dangerous character) and must be used for this purpose and for no other, and in consequence kept from children and careless handling.

There is, however, within the reach of all our readers a simple, safe and economical article that will not only answer for every disinfecting purpose—but can also be used for a multitude of domestic cleansing and purifying purposes—Borax.

Borax is a pure, white harmless powder coming direct from Nature's laboratory; in fact Borax has often been called "Nature's Cleanser and Disinfectant."

Two tablespoonfuls of Borax in a pailful of hot water poured down the grease-choked pipes of a sink, or flushed through a disease-laden drain, cleanses and purifies it, leaving it clean and sweet.

Bed clothing and clothes used in a sick room can be made hygienically clean and snowy-white, if washed in a hot solution of Borax water.

Kitchen and eating utensils, used during illness will be kept from all possibility of contagion if Borax is used when washing them. Pure as snow and harmless as salt, and because it can be used for almost every domestic and medical purpose, Borax must be considered the one great household necessity.

EPILEPSY ITS

If you suffer from Fits, Falling Sickness or Spasms, or have Children that do so, my New Discovery and Treatment will give them immediate relief, and all you are asked to do is to send for a Free Bottle of Dr. May's

EPILEPTICIDE CURE

TRIAL FREE

Complies with Food and Drugs Act of Congress June 30th 1906. Complete directions, also testimonials of CURES, etc., FREE by mail. Express Prepaid. Give AGE and full address

W. H. MAY, M. D., 546 Pearl Street, New York.

MADE FOR SERVICE and guaranteed absolutely WATERPROOF

TOWER'S FISH BRAND

OILED SUITS, SLICKERS AND HATS

Every garment guaranteed Clean - Light - Durable

Suits $3.00 Slickers $3.00

SOLD BY BEST DEALERS EVERYWHERE

CATALOG FREE FOR THE ASKING

A. J. TOWER CO. BOSTON, U.S.A.

TOWER CANADIAN CO. LIMITED

New Mexico Land Improved and unimproved. Anywhere air is pure, soil rich and land is cheap. Write for bargain list. Largest dealers in Northern New Mexico. The Springer Land Co., Springer, N. Mex.

R. W. N. U. - - - No. 18—1908

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

There is Only One

"Bromo Quinine"

That is

Laxative Bromo Quinine

USED THE WORLD OVER TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.

Always remember the full name. Look for this signature on every box. 25c. E. W. Grove

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES

Color more goods brighter and faster colors than any other dye. One 10c package colors all fibers. They dye in cold water better than any other dye. You can dye any garment without ripping apart. Write for free booklet—How to Dye, Bleach and Mix Colors. MONROE DRUG CO., Quincy, Illinois.

APRIL

L 903

0158

Political Announcements.

FOR SHERIFF.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Please announce my name as a candidate for the nomination of sheriff of the county subject to the decision of the democratic primary.

RALPH W. THOMAS.

FOR SHERIFF.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Please announce my name as a candidate for sheriff subject to the decision of the Democratic primary.

JAMES S. LOWE.

RECORDER.

Please announce my name as a candidate for the democratic nomination for county recorder, subject to the wishes of the voters at their primary.

J. M. NORFORD.

FOR CLERK.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Please announce my name as a candidate for the democratic nomination for clerk of the DeKalb Circuit court subject to the wishes of the voters at their primary.

EDGAR W. ATKINSON.

FOR CLERK

EDITOR MEWS:—

Please announce that I am a candidate for the democratic nomination for county clerk, subject to the wishes of the voters at their primary.

JOHN HEBEL.

CLERK,

EDITOR NEWS:

Please announce my name as a candidate for the democratic nomination of clerk of the DeKalb circuit court, subject to the wishes of the voters at their primaries, June 4, 1908.

WM. H. LEAS.

RECORDER.

EDITOR NEWS:—

You may announce my name as a candidate from Keyser township, for the democratic nomination for Recorder, subject to the decision of the coming primary election.

D. E. HERSHBERGER.

CLERK

EDITOR NEWS:—

You may announce my name as a candidate for clerk of the county subject to the Democratic primary.

WARREN A. AUSTIN.

Plenty of Trouble

is caused by stagnation of the liver and bowels. To get rid of it and headache and biliousness and the poison that brings jaundice, take Dr. King's New Life Pills, the reliable purifiers that do the work without grinding or griping. 25c at H. Milliman's drug store.

SPENCERVILLE R F D NO 1.

B. Dwyer and family drove over to Maysville, Saturday.

Miss Zona Horn spent last Saturday with Mrs. J. B. Hailey.

The High school at Maysville gave a concert at that place, last Saturday.

The school at Hurshtown will give an entertainment next Friday evening.

Mrs. Vanzile, who has been in a critical condition, remains about the same.

There was delightful weather last week and a good many gardens were planted.

Mrs. Ella Horn went to Peru last Friday to spend a few days with her sister, Mrs. Cummings and family.

Henry Goldsmith, sr. and wife of Grabill, spent Saturday and Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Hollabaugh Mr. Goldsmith attended church and Sunday school at the Lutheran church.

Undertaking a Specialty.

Elza Kinsey takes charge of all funerals. Calls answered day or night Prices reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

phone No. Office 37-2. Residence 37-3

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

BELL PHONE NO. 82.

St. Joe, - Indiana.

SPENCERVILLE R F D No 2.

Mr. Sam Kimes of Indianapolis, spent a couple days with his parents, Harvie Kimes.

Wes Zimmerman, wife and daughter made a business trip to Ft. Wayne Monday of this week.

Mrs. Callie Mahew of Cedarville spent Thursday with her brother, Oscar Spitler and family.

Perry Miller spent Sunday with his lady friend, Miss Mae Silberg, who is working near Ft. Wayne.

Mrs. Jennie Wilmot and children of near Harlan, spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Wes Zimmerman.

Mesdames Judy and Halter of Cedarville, visited with their brother and family, Jerome Cook's, one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Rube Dietrick of Coburntown, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Goldsmith of near Grabill and Mr. Verule Kelley were Sunday visitors at the home of Wallace Miller and family.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stafford of Hicksville, spent Sunday wieh Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Kelley and also called upon her mother, Mrs. Louisa Shutt of spencerville, who has been sick, but is improving.

Mrs. Jake Olds and granddaughter of Ft. Wayne, Laten Lake of Butler, Miss Flora Wren, Mrs. Wm. Tyndall and Mrs. Lake and children were Sunday visitors at, Mr. and Mrs. John Benninghoff's.

FAIRVIEW

Henry Milliman entertained relatives from St. Joe, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Snyder and family spent Sunday evening with their parents.

During the week ending Monday of this week, Mrs. W. D. Johnston sold one hundred and forty dozen eggs.

Chas. O. Krise was poisoned with poison Ivy and for a few days last week was quite sick, but is better at this writing.

The Misses Laura Baker, Ethel and Erma Houser, Vera and Letha Coyle were guests of Ethel and Florence Snyder, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Baker and little granddaughter were visiting with their daughter, Mrs. Roy Gibford, south of Auburn, Sunday.

WABASH CORNERS.

Horace Herrick of Maysville, called on Mell Herrick and wife Wednesday.

Tom Phillips of Auburn, called on F. E. Rhoads and family, one day last week.

Little Catherine Shull returned to her home at this place Sunday after a weeks' visit with relatives at Coburntown.

Mrs. Flossie Rhoads of Concord, was a passenger to Butler, Thursday evening, returning Saturday noon, accompanied by Mr. Sturgis and family.

Miss Lela Shilling attended the piano recital at Ft. Wayne and visited with Mr. and Mrs. Federspiel, a few days, returning home Sunday evening.

Frank Herrick spent Thursday in Butler.

Dennis Burley and son Don made a business trip to Auburn, Wednesday.

May Daily was the guest of Bessie Hart, near Coburntown, Tuesday night.

Rev. Helninger and wife of Adrian, spent Sunday night at Orange Herrick's.

George Ridgway and Neva Andress, of St. Joe, were Sunday guests at Wm. Pervines.

Marie and Goldie Hull were guests of Miss Bessie Bartlett in Ft. Wayne, from Friday until Sunday.

Mrs. James Draugoo, Mrs. Ernest Johnson and daughter Thelma were guests of Mrs. Mart Hull, last Friday.

A Woman Tells How To Relieve Rheumatic Pains.

I have been a very great sufferer from the dreadful disease, rheumatism, for a number of years. I have tried many medicines but never got much relief from any of them until two years ago, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I found relief before I had used all of one bottle but kept on applying it and soon felt like a different woman. Through my advice many of my friends have tried it and can tell you how wonderfully it has worked.—Mrs. Sarah A. Cole, 140 S. New St., Dover, Del., Chamberlain's Pain Balm is a liniment The relief from pain which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. It makes rest and sleep possible. For sale by H. Milliman, St Joe; F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

Organization Effected.

The meeting held at the opera house Sunday at 2 o'clock p. m. resulted in a permanent organization for the observance of Decoration Day. The officers are as follows:—President D. J. Baker; Vice-President, Harry Kees; Secretary, C. C. Woodcox; Treasurer, M. T. Bishop. The executive committee composes the above named officers and J. D. Leighty, Commander: O. H. Widney, Sen. Vice-Commander and Mahlon Baker, Jun. Vice Commander of the Post. After adjournment the executive committee held a meeting and selected the following committee on program, D. J. Baker, Nettie Baker, C. C. Woodcox, Frnk Walter and Mrs. Florence Buchanan. Committee on music, Mrs. Ella Patterson, M. T. Bishop, Mrs. Harry Kees, Mrs. Mahlon Baker, Mrs. Blanch Leighty, and Miss Lora Hull. Committee on speakers, J. D. Leighty, Mahlon Baker, and O. H. Widney. On account of the comrades at St. Joe and others desiring to attend Decoration services at other places during the day, it was decided to hold the services at about 6 o'clock on the evening of May 30. A column of the old soldiers, the school children and the citizens generally, will form at the opera house, march to the cemetery and decorate the graves of Comrades James H. Abel, Martin F. Hody, and Jeremiah Ulm, being all that are buried in the St. Joe cemetery. The column, after decorating the graves of the above named comrades, will return to the opera house, where an appropriate program will be carried out. It is the desire that our citizens decorate their business houses and homes on this occasion and also that all attend and take part in the ceremonies. When the program is completed it will be published in the columns of the NEWS.

Does Your Heart Beat

Yes. 100,000 times each day. Does it send out good blood or bad blood? You know, for good blood is good health; bad blood, bad health. And you know precisely what to take for bad blood—Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Doctors have endorsed it for 60 years.

One frequent cause of bad blood is a sluggish liver. This produces constipation. Poisonous substances are then absorbed into the blood. Keep the bowels open with Ayer's Pills.

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of HAIR VIGOR, AGUE CURE, CHERRY PECTORAL.

Ayer's

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

RIGHT NOW

Is when you want House Cleaning "Fixins." The demand for Rugs for floor coverings is ever increasing. We have a large assortment for you to select from and we are sure if you'll give us a chance we'll please you both in style and price.

9 x 12 Oriental designs, velvet rugs. Sold at all city stores for $25.00. Our price..... $21.98

Lineoleums

A large range of patterns in in 6 and 12 foot wide, cut to fit your room at 45c, 50c and 60c sq. yd.

Curtain Material.

By the yard.....10c to 30c

Carpets.

From the cheapest cotton to the best all-wool in a large variety of patterns, 25c to 70c per yd.

Door Panels

In pretty designs at 25c to 50c

Lace Curtains

A large variety of patterns to select from in both white and ecru. Per pair

98c to $6.00.

Curtain poles in Brass extension at.....10c and 15c

White enameled curtain poles at.....10c

Curtain stretchers.....$1.00

Window Shades.

In all colors, 7 ft long at 25c. Window shades for large windows always in stock.

Big Four Store.

St. Joe, Ind.

Coburn's Corners

Cleve Washler is a member of the band now.

Little Bertha Shull is quite sick at this writing.

Walter Abel and Washington Hart are improving.

The Aid Society will meet with Mrs. Wilmot Coburn next Thursday.

Preparations are being made for Children's exercises at this place.

Mrs. Boston of Springfield Tp. ate dinner with Cad Shull and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Webb of Springfield Tp. called on Mr. and Mrs. Cad Shull Monday.

Wm. Knouse of Fauslers Corners, was the guest of John Ulm and family Sunday.

Fred Hart and family were guests of Clarence Hart and family, Sunday afternoon.

Ford Scholes and wife visited his grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Scholes, last Sunday.

Wash Hart and wife visited their son, Adrian and family, of Hicksville, a few days last week.

S. P. Hadsell and family were guests of the former's parents, Byron Hadsell and wife of Hicksville, Sunday.

W. M. Abel spent Saturday and Sunday with his daughter, Mrs. Philip Carper and family of near Auburn.

Under All Moods.

We are so apt, when everything seems desolate, to think that there is nothing in the world but our own mood. It comes like sunrise, sometimes, to remember that under all moods is the will of God.—George H. Morrison.

Paper of Real Value.

Some genius has invented a new kind of paper that will crumble and go to pieces a short time after it has been written on. It is especially recommended to people with the love-letter habit who dread breach of promise suits.

The Good on Hand.

Never be discouraged because good things get on so slowly here; and never fail to do daily that good which lies next to your hand. Do not be in a hurry, but be diligent. Enter into the sublime patience of the Lord.—George McDonald.

Local Items.

Mesdames Anna Daily, Ida Herrick, Amelia Walter, Mary Bowman and Etta Hull attended the Rebekah Lodge at Fort Wayne, Tuesday evening, witnessing the degree work, which was conferred by the South Whitley degree team.

Envelopes 5c a bunch.

Mortgage Exemptions must be filed each year.

I will be at my place in St. Joe next Saturday, May 2nd, to sell potatoes to all who wish to buy. Must be cash.

HENRY MILLIMAN.

The Thirty-first annual meeting of the Old Settlers Association of DeKalb county will be held at Auburn on Thursday, June 16, 1908. A large attendance and a good time is expected.

Last Tuesday eve at their regular meeting night the Pythian sisters initiated into the mysteries of their order, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. F. Abel, Mrs. Nettie Baker and Mrs. Gale Reasoner. Refreshments were served.

Pythians Meet.

The district Convention of Pythian Sisters was held at Kendallville, Friday, April 24, in the K. of P. hall. The work was beautifully exemplified in the afternoon by Kendallville Temple after which questions were discussed and then adjourement for supper, which was given by the Ladies of the M. E. church at their church parlors. The evening session was public about 400 being present. Several solos were rendered by competent ladies and some splendid speeches were made by some of the Grand officers. The Waterloo team gave an exhibition drill which was fine and received loud applause.

Rev. Mahlin of Waterloo gave a fine talk on pythianism, illustrating; Purity, Love, Equality and Fidelity. After the close of the evening session all visiting members were treated to cake and lemonade. The hall was tastefully decorated in the lodge colors, white, red, yellow and blue with crepe paper, potted plants and cut flowers. Those who were in attendance from this place were Jennie White, Blanche Leighty, Lenore Kagey, Daisy DeLong and May Woodard. All report a fine time. Mrs. Blanche Leighty was elected delegate with Mrs. W. C. DeLong as alternate.

Death Was on His Heels.

Jesse P. Morris, of Skippers, Va., had a close call in the spring of 1906. He says: "An attack of pneumonia left me so weak and with such a fearful cough that my friends declared consumption had me, and death was on my heels. Then I was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It helped me immediately, and after taking two and a half bottles I was a well man again. I found out that New Discovery is the best remedy for coughs and lung disease in all the world." Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store. 50c and $1.00 Trial bottle free.

0159

L 903

MAY

MAY

L 903

9160

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXII. ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA. WEDNESDAY, MAY 6, 1908. NO. 19

Every little bit added to what you've got makes just a little bit more.

Is your money making money for you? The more of it you have working for you, the less you need to work yourself. We pay 4 per cent interest compounded semi-annually on Certificates of Deposit.

$1.00 will double itself in 17 years 183 days.
$1.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $147.49.
$5.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $737.43
$10.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $1474.85

Now is the time to save. Anyone can save from $1.00 to $10.00 a month if they only will. It's not what you earn but what you save Four per cent interest added to what you've already got makes just a little bit more

Grabill State Bank,

Grabill, Indiana.

Joseph Witmer, Pres. Albert Egly, Cashier.
David Klopfenstein, V. Pres. Marcus Yager, Asst. Cashier.

WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St. Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.

No 11. Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail 12:05p.m
No. 3, Western Express 8:06 p. m

GOING EAST.

No. 2, Eastern Express 6:34a. m
No. 16, Toledo Acc & Mail 7:21 p. m

Harness Shop.

A. B. Umstead of Harlan, was in town, Monday, looking up a location for a harness shop. He has rented the Zeigler shop and will make preparations for moving about Saturday of this week. Mr. Umstead will place his 19 year old son here to attend to the trade. He has had experience, being engaged in the business with his father all his life. We are glad he is making this his starting place and we feel sure that he will meet with success. Mr. Mutzfeld, who has just left our town did more business than any other harness maker we ever had and we are told that Mr. Umstead is an up-to-date harness maker and business man and there is no reason why he can't make a good thing. The trade is already established, which means a great deal to anyone starting in business and the sooner the shop is opened the better it will be for the town.

Fatal Whiskey.

Hercules Cole, at Butler, was found dead in his bed last Wednesday afternoon, by his brother Theodore. He and his brother kept bachelors hall and were in the habit of going on occasional sprees after drawing their wages. They had been on a protracted jag of several days length and on Wednesday Hercules complained of a pain and Theodore procured a quart whiskey to kill the pain. They lay down to sleep off the effects of the whiskey, and Theodore arising about four o'clock went to awaken his brother, but found him cold in death, the whiskey had succeeded in killing both pain and man. The corner's verdict was heart failure due to alcoholism. The dead man and his brother were thirty and thirty-eight years old respectively.

314 West Second St. AUBURN, IND.

We are Trying

Our best to be up-to-date in everything; we take great pride in our Floral Designs and growing the best grade of Cut Flowers. Our Garden plants are A-No. 1.

MAKE OUR ACQUAINTANCE.

C. M. TenEyck & Son,

Proprietors.

HOME and BELL TELEPHONES.

Baccalaureate.

The baccalaureate sermon was delivered in the M. P. church by the pastor, Rev. S. Heininger, on last Sunday evening, to a large audience. Special music for the evening was rendered by the choir. The scripture lesson was read from Matt. 25; 14-30. The text was taken from the latter part of John 18: 37; "To this end was I born and came into the world."

The pastor says, in part: "In preaching this sermon to these graduates I have a special aim in view. I would impress upon you the great fact, that the language of my text is true of everyone of you: "To this end was I born and came into the world." By this I do not mean to say that there is but one avocation in life that you can follow and make success; I think that would be to narrow a view of your abilities; but this is what I do mean to say: there is some one special end for which every one of us was intended, and to make the greatest success in life, prove the greatest blessing to our race, and credit to our Maker; we must fill our specific mission. The German poet certainly found the secret of a happy life when he said:

"For it is a life of joy,
One of infinite delight,
When to God we are submissive
Here and in eternity."

L. L. C.

The Ladies Literary Club held their last and regular session for the year, Wednesday evening, April 29, at the home of Mrs. Addie Filley. The President called the Club to order and after a short lesson and discussion on the same she referred to business.

The Book Committee reported that the Club would use as their text book for the ensuing year "Great Authors as Life's Teachers." Yearly reports of secretary and treasurer were read and accepted. Next in order was the election of officers for the ensuing year, which was as follows:

President... Mrs. Bessie Tustison
V. President.....Mrs. Cora Price
Searetary.....Mrs. Belle Barney
Critic.....Mrs. Georgia Millman
Treasurer....Mrs. Jennie Sechler

This finishing the work for the evening the president then declared the Club adjourned.

The hostess then served a dainty two course luncheon which was much appreciated by all.

Obituary.

Henry Sebert was born in Jackson township, DeKalb county, Ind., Mar. 36, 1852; and died at his son, Leroy's, in Wilmington township 8 p. m., Sunday April 26, 1908, aged 56 years and 1 month, having typhod fever and a complication of diseases. He was united in marriage Oct. 12, 1873 to Miss Florence George. To this union were born three children, two sons and one daughter, Leroy A., Arthur E., and Nellie Pearl. He leaves to mourn their loss, his wife, three children, three little grand daughters, one sister, and three brothers. In early life he and his wife joined the Methodist Protestant church at Concord and lived a consistent Christian life. He was a man who tried to live and do right with his neighbors and fellowmen. He left a bright testimony that he was ready and willing to die. He was a member of the Maccabee Lodge, Auburn Tent.

The funeral was held at the Concord M. P. church, Wednesday forenoon. Rev. S. Heininger delivered the sermon. Interment at Auburn, Adams & Dilgard, funeral directors.

Potatoes for sale. HENRY MILLIMAN.. Phone 76-12.

An admission fee of 10 cts. will be charged at the door for defraying expenses of the commencement exercises, Wednesday and Thursday evening.

J. S. Lowe of Butler, was looking after his political interests at this place yesterday.

Freeman Ables and wife are visiting at this place.

Aveline Hotel Burns

At Ft. Wayne, Sunday Morning Already Eleven Bodies have Been Recovered from the Wreckage.

Frank Baxter of Auburn, a Victim.

At 3:30 Sunday morning the New Aveline hotel at Fort Wayne was discovered on fire. The bell boy had taken a guest up to his room and when the boy attempted to start the elevator down, the machinery refused to work. He run down the stairways notifying the clerk and a moment later fire was discovered in the elevator shaft. The shaft acted very much like a chimney drawing the flames upward and in an incredible short time the entire shaft was a seething furnace with the flames bursting out into the stairways and hallways shutting off all escape for the guests in this way. This left only the fire escapes as a safe means of egress and in many instances these could not be reached because of the headway the flames had made. Guests who could not reach these made their escape in varied ways, all of which were perilous and dangerous to say the least, or they remained in the burning building to be burned like rats in a trap.

It is impossible for anyone to say how the fire originated says the engineer because it was not discovered until under such a great headway. All manner of theories have been advanced as to its origin. The hotel register has not been found and it is not known how many were in the fire but Clerk Pauley says, there were sixty-three people there for supper, Saturday night besides what came in on late trains. The total number of guests were placed at 74, out of this number 69 persons living and dead have been accounted for. Eleven bodies has been removed from the mass of wreckage. At 3:30 o'clock Monday morning another body was discovered. It lay near the east wall south of the second brick partition, almost directly under the place where room 70 had been situated. From the location it was thought immediately that this body was that of Frank C. Baxter, of Auburn, and later identification by Dr. Hoffman, of Auburn, proved this surmise to be correct. Although the work of taking out the debris was continued all day no other bodies were recovered. The body was removed to the N. W. Bloom morgue and the identification of the charred body was completed Monday afternoon when Dr. Hoffman, of Auburn, a dentist who had performed some work on the teeth of the young victim of the fire, positively identified the teeth as the ones which he had filled for Frank Baxter.

It is claimed that the electric fuse burned out in the elevator shaft and ignited some substances. The business places below were compelled to move into new quarters. The total loss is placed at $113,000. Insurance $62,100.

Number of known dead 11.
Number of missing 3.
Number of injured 12.

ANNOUNCEMENT TO CHICKEN OWNERS

We have just received a shipment of

Corno Poultry Feed

Made from a combination of only pure grain, scientifically mixed—contains no grit which makes weight—no elevator or weed seeds, which chickens will not eat—no cereal by-products or fine stuff—positively no waste. Every pound of CORNO Poultry Feed is an honest one and of full feeding value.

CORNO HEN FEED, makes hens lay, CORNO CHICK FEED, made from grain and millet seed, saves the life of little chicks.

Your chickens will be a profit to you when you feed them right.

Give CORNO Poultry Feed a trial—that's all we ask.

SOLD BY

Chas. F. Kagey.

MAY

L 903

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

FRED B. LEIGHTY, - - Publisher.

1908 MAY 1908

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
•	•	•	•	•	1	2
3	4	5	6	7	8	9
10	11	12	13	14	15	16
17	18	19	20	21	22	23
24	25	26	27	28	29	30
31	•	•	•	•	•	•

N. M. 8th. F. Q. 15th. F. M. 22nd. L. Q. 29th.

FEATURES OF INTEREST

ABOUT THAT WHICH HAS BEEN AND IS TO BE.

All Sides and Conditions of Things are Shown. Nothing Overlooked to make it Complete.

Mother and Children Cremated.

The removal of four charred bodies, the blackened forms of three children huddled about that of the mother as if for protection, the arrest, of Ray Lamphere, formerly employed by Mrs. Belle Gunness, the victim, and the collapse of Lamphere at the jail, has caused excitement that at any moment may break forth in mob violence. Mrs. Gunness lived on her farm near Laporte, Ind., with her three children. At 4 o'clock Tuesday morning Joseph Maxwell, an employe on the place, was awakened by smoke. He made every effort to rescue the family but failed. Late in the afternoon, the bodies of Mrs. Gunness and her three children, Myrtle, aged 11; Lucy, aged 9, and Philip, aged 5, were removed from the smoldering ruins. Lamphere had been employed on the Gunness farm and was infatuated with Mrs. Gunness, who was a beautiful woman. Mrs. Gunness declared that the man annoyed her and filed proceedings to have him declared insane, but a jury found him sane.

Interurban Car is Wrecked.

The first wreck of any consequence on the Terre Haute, Indianapolis and Eastern Traction Companys line, occurred at Harmony, Ind. An extra freight car crashed into the rear of the passenger coach, carrying a load of miners to their work. The passenger car was derailed and thrown to one side and the rear end was smashed to splinters. Nicholas Lydinger, motorman, and Harley Akers, conductor of the miners' car, were both seriously hurt by being thrown against the seats of the car. Lydinger received severe cuts and bruises and his chest was crushed. His injuries may be fatal. He was taken to his home in Knightsville. Akers, while he was suffering intensely from his injuries, was able to go on with his car. Geo. Williams, a miner, was slightly hurt about the shoulders and back by being thrown against a seat.

Gives $50,000 to Wabash College.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of Wabash College held in Crawfordsville, Ind., a gift of $50,000 from the Rockefeller general board of education was formally accepted. This gift was made on condition that the college raise $150,000, or three times the amount of the gift, on its endowment fund. A committee was appointed to take charge of the campaign for a large endowment and it will begin work soon.

Miss Reid Engaged.

The engagement of Miss Jean Reid, daughter of Whitelaw Reid, the American ambassador to London, Eng., to Hon. John Hubert Ward, brother of the Earl of Dudley, has been announced. Mr. Ward is a favorite with King Edward, to whom he is equerry-in-waiting. He is popular at court and in the exclusive social set, and is well known as a racing man and enthusiastic sportsman.

Cresceus Goes to Russia.

M. W. Savage, the Minneapolis horseman, has sold the trotting stallion Cresceus to a horseman of St. Petersburg, Tshmerxin, for $25,000. For a long time the Russian people have been after Cresceus, and Mr. Savage finally agreed on a price. Cresceus' record is 2:02¾, and his total winnings over $100,000.

One Woman Dead; One Dying.

Mrs. A. R. Banford, aged 52, was burned to death and her aged mother, Mrs. J. Killen, dangerously burned by explosion of gas at their home in Sidney, Ohio. The latter received her injuries while attempting to save her daughter and is in such a condition that her death is momentarily expected.

Amelia Bingham, Actress, is Ill.

Amelia Bingham is seriously ill at her home in New York City. The actress is suffering from acute intestinal obstruction, complicated with peritonitis.

SEASON OF THE CYCLONE.

With many places yet unheard from, the death list in the tornado which recently devastated the States of Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Georgia is estimated at 400 and the tally of injured exceeds 1,200. Arkansas contributes a list of three dead and thirty injured. The following table gives the casualties in the towns so far heard from:

	Killed.	Injured.
Albertsville, Ala.	25	35
Bergen, Ala.	4	15
Cedar Creek, Ala.	8	12
Democrat, Ala.	5	6
Fort Deposit, Ala.	3	25
Reids, Ala.	2	3
Thomas Mill, Ala.	2	10
Warrior, Ala.	3	7
Hector, Ark.	3	30
Griffin, Columbus, Shipley, Locust Grove, Harris City and McDonough, Ga	15	...
Thome, Ga., district	9	12
Cameo, Ga.	2	...
Stinson, Ga.	1	...
Cove Springs district, Ga.	15	...
Riufton, Ga.	3	...
Amite, La.	15	100
Angie, La.	2	10
Caddo Parish, La.	2	9
Richland, La.	4	10
Adams County, Miss.	25	100
Baxterville, Miss.	6	10
Church Hill, Miss.	35	100
Columbus, Miss.	1	4
Fayette County, Miss.	3	75
McCallum, Miss.	12	35
McLain, Miss.	8	25
Natchez, Miss.	09	200
Port Gibson, Miss.	1	5
Purvis, Miss.	02	250
Wahalak, Miss.	8	35
Wingate, Miss.	3	10
Total	356	1,178

WEATHER FOR MAY.

St. Louis Forecaster Predicts Fierce Storms, Snows and Frosts.

May is to be a continuous performance of tornadoes, thunderstorms, hail and frost. Rev. Irl R. Hicks has hung out the danger signals in his long-distance forecasts for the month, and trouble is feared by those who have faith in his prognostications.

Violent thunderstorms, approaching tornadic violence in the West, heavy rains and hail, followed by snow squalls and sleet, are among the things predicted.

Careful watching is advised by the St. Louis prognosticator early in the month as frost is due. High temperature, daily rains and thunderstorms, with probable tornadoes, is on the menu for the 13th to the 16th, and floods over wide sections follow immediately. Much cooler weather is due from the 16th to the 19th. From the 19th to the 22d is not seriously threatening, but look out for tornadoes, says Mr. Hicks.

Quiet and calm and much warmer until the 24th will usher in the most dangerous period of the month, and Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the 25th, 26th and 27th, storms may be expected to become very threatening, if not tornadic. The 27th is the twelfth anniversary of the St. Louis cyclone. The danger area extends over the central and western parts of the country. The month is to end in comparative peace, although seismic disturbance is possible, from the 27th to the 31st.

The Comic Side of The News

The latest spring hats are almost as high as their price.

The furnace-shaking days have gone, the saddest of the year.

Even Canada is banging the door in the face of Japanese immigrants.

After the marriages of the Ducs and Dukes come the tailors' bills.

Time for "spring opening" of the millinery stores and papa's pocketbook.

Anarchy is one imported plant that ought to be pulled up by the roots.

Only immensely rich people can afford more than one nobleman in the family.

A western bishop advises old maids to "pray for husbands." Whose husbands?

Other people can be just as unhappy as Mrs. Hetty Green on much less money.

Science has made the discovery that Pharaoh had toothache and gout. It will be possible to think more kindly of him now.

A Michigan man ate three electric lights in an attempt to commit suicide. Some people attempt to make light of death.

CURRENT COMMENT

Candidates of six political parties received votes in the presidential election of 1904. Only two of the parties were represented in the electoral vote. Eight parties polled a vote in 1900 large enough to be recorded; six of them failed to choose a single presidential elector.

In national elections the great majority of the voters remain loyal to one or the other of the old political parties. Other parties are sometimes strong enough to carry State elections in the West and the South, and by holding the balance of power to decide elections in the East.

Presidential electors have cast their votes for a third party candidate only twice since the Civil War. The first time was in 1892, when Mr. Weaver, the People's party candidate, carried Colorado, Idaho, Kansas and Nevada, and won an elector in North Dakota and in Oregon. Four years later Thomas E. Watson, who was a candidate for the Vice Presidency with Mr. Bryan on the People's party ticket, by means of a coalition with the Democrats, divided with the Democratic Vice Presidential candidate the electoral votes of ten States. As Horace Greeley died between the time of the popular vote in November, 1872, and the meeting of the electors, the Democratic vote of that year was distributed among other candidates.

In the transition period election of 1860 the electoral vote was divided among one Republican, one Union and two Democratic candidates; but in 1856 Millard Fillmore, as "American" and Whig candidate, carried Maryland, and received its electoral votes.

This year the number of independent, or extra party, candidates is likely to be large, but it is probable that all the electoral votes will go either to the Democratic or to the Republican candidates as usual.—Youth's Companion.

To Use Furnace Waste Heat.

"To pick 100,000 horse-power off the tops of eight roaring blast furnaces and use it in performing a hundred giant tasks is the purpose of the colossal apparatus now being installed in the wonderful steel plant building at Gary, Ind.," writes H. G. Hunting in the March Technical World Magazine. By a heretofore unthought of device this power will entirely displace steam in the great mills. Thirty-three huge gas engines are being installed, each of 3,000 horse-power to use the gas produced by the iron smelters and convert it into electric power. At the top of each of the blast furnaces an outlet for the heated gas is provided leading into a cleansing tube where the dust is removed by means of a series of tanks or "washers." About 30 per cent of the product is diverted to the blast stoves to heat up in preparation for the air blast.

WORK OF CONGRESS

As the Senate was about to conclude consideration of the naval appropriation bill Thursday Senator Piles of Washington proposed an amendment increasing from two to four the number of new battleships to be authorized. As several Senators desired to speak on the amendment, the further consideration of the bill was postponed. An amendment to the naval bill was adopted appropriating $7,000,000 to begin construction on the two battleships authorized. An amendment to remove the restriction of the purchase of materials for the construction of the battleships, submarine boats, etc., to those of domestic manufacture was defeated. Senator Rayner of Maryland spoke on the constitutional rights of the States and executive encroachments. He insisted that the commerce act of the Constitution had been interpreted as applying to the industrial life of the country to a far greater degree than was contemplated by the framers of the Constitution. By the overwhelming vote of 245 to 8 the House, after several hours' discussion, adopted without amendment the Senate joint resolution introduced by Senator Tillman authorizing the Attorney General to file suits against the Oregon and California Railroad Company for the forfeiture of all or part of 2,800,000 acres of land grants in the western part of Oregon. It is claimed by the government that by reason of breaches and violations of the act making the grants the railroad company had forfeited all right to the land in question.

-:—:-

Arguments in favor of the President's program for four battleships consumed most of the session of the Senate Friday. Mr. Hale laid before the Senate a statement of battleships and other features of the American naval program, which he said showed that as large a fleet as is now in the Pacific can be kept there, and at the same time there would be ships for a still larger fleet for the Atlantic. Senator Beveridge concluded the debate for the day with a strong appeal for four battleships. The Senate passed a bill appropriating $100,000 for a survey of an inland water route from Boston to Wilmington. The business of the House proceeded at a rapid gait, despite the fact that the Democrats forced six roll calls.

-:—:-

Another day was spent by the Senate Saturday in considering the amendment to the naval appropriation bill, but a vote was not reached at the close of the discussion, which was participated in by a dozen Senators. Mr. Hale secured an agreement for a vote before adjournment of the Senate on Monday. Much of the discussion was devoted to the improbability of war being forced upon the United States. Senators Beveridge and Piles were sharply criticized by Senators Aldrich, Perkins and Macumber for their statement Friday, and several heated colloquies occurred. At the conclusion of the debate a number of bills were passed. The House was in legislative session only two hours, during which time, after considerable discussion, it passed the bill reclassifying and increasing the pay of certain officials and employes of the customs side.

-:—:-

By an overwhelming vote President Roosevelt's four battle ship program failed in the Senate Monday, after a three days' debate. As finally passed the bill appropriates $123,115,659—provides for two battle ships, two colliers; purchase of three additional colliers, construction of other naval craft and a general increase of pay. The House rules, keyed up to meet a Democratic filibuster, reacted to prevent a message from President Roosevelt from being read. It was with an eye single to political capital that the House proceeded throughout the day. A resolution was passed authorising the news print paper investigating committee to spend the necessary funds to carry on the investigation. The sundry civil appropriation bill was debated for three hours. Mr. Marshall, North Dakota, attacked the Aldrich bill. Mr. Spight, Mississippi, urged Congress to refund to the Southern States the $60,000,000 cotton taxes collected in the Civil War, and Mr. Shackelford, Missouri, took the Republicans generally to task and criticised the shortage in the St. Louis subtreasury.

-:—:-

The pension and the District of Columbia appropriation bills were passed by the Senate Tuesday. In addition, the special message of the President urging a legislative program was read, and another chapter of Senator Warner's speech on the Brownsville affray was heard. The resolution of the House to give government aid to cyclone sufferers in the South was passed. The resolution to extend the time when the commodity clause of the railroad rate law shall become operative was called before the Senate by Mr. Elkins, but went over under objection from Mr. Culberson. Ostensibly considering the sundry civil appropriation bill, the House devoted most of its time to-day to speeches covering a wide range of subjects and concluded the session by giving an attentive hearing to the President's special message referring to the multi-millionaire "whose son is a fool and his daughter a foreign princess" was reached there was a storm of applause.

NATIONAL CAPITAL NOTES.

A joint resolution was adopted by the House committee donating to the State of Oklahoma "the first flag bearing forty-six stars, which for the first time floats over the capitol to-day." The resolution places the flag in the custody of the Oklahoma Historical Society.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade in the Chicago district says:

"Business activity, while recovering slowly, is seen to be upon a steadier basis. Liquidation remains but causes less apprehension as to results, and the commercial defaults, although yet seemingly numerous, include none of conspicuous influence upon credits. Lower cost of accommodation is accompanied by a heavier movement of money and preparations indicate prompt settlements of the May interest payments, a considerable portion of which will rest here. A very satisfactory volume appears in the distribution of general merchandise, and interior buyers not only make frequent calls for reassortments, but also place liberal advance orders for fall and winter lines.

"Railroad traffic returns suffer from a limited marketing of crops and restricted shipments from the factories. Weakness in pig iron discourages large buyers, and ore supplies carried over show an unusual surplus, which may be slow of reduction, unless additional furnaces resume. Factory work in the iron branches runs more steadily, especially in machinery, heavy hardware and farm implements, but the forges and foundries have little forward work and resumption of normal operations is not yet discerned.

"Restriction yet appears in wood working branches, but not so severe as a month ago, there being more activity in furniture and boxmaking, while planing mills obtain increasing orders from the extension of building enterprises.

"Mercantile collections throughout the near by States exhibit more promptness with the growing ease in money. Farm advices are uniformly good as to progress in spring work and condition of winter wheat.

"Failures reported in the Chicago district number 34, against 21 last week and 19 a year ago. Those with liabilities over $5,000 number 10, against 6 last week and 7 in 1907."

NEW YORK.

Improved weather conditions and excellent crop reports throughout the greater part of the country, coupled with the favorable construction put upon recent financial developments, have made for the growth of a better feeling as regards the outlook, but the actual effect upon distributive trade and industry is as yet of the slightest. Some gain is reported in a few sections, notably the South and central West, in retail trade, but at the South retail business since Easter is rather quieter, and Easter trade as a whole was not up to expectations. Some enlargements in filling-in orders by jobbers is noted, and a few western points report slightly more buying for fall delivery, but hesitancy and conservatism rule operations to an extent not approached in recent years. Textiles are very much depressed, though weather and crop reports are harbingers of hope for the future and short time is well-nigh universal, North and South. The shoe trade reports more orders, especially at leading western markets, but business is hardly up to expectations.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending April 23 number 254, against 261 last week, 157 in the like week of 1907, 177 in 1906, 193 in 1905 and 197 in 1904. Canadian failures for the week number 36, as against 29 last week and 23 in this week a year ago.

THE MARKETS

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $7.25; hogs, prime heavy, $4.00 to $5.55; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $6.00; wheat, No. 2, 97c to 99c; corn, No. 2, 65c to 66c; oats, standard, 51c to 52c; rye, No. 2, 80c to 81c; hay, timothy, $9.50 to $16.00; prairie, $8.00 to $13.00; butter, choice creamery, 21c to 25c; eggs, fresh, 11c to 15c; potatoes, per bushel, 65c to 78c.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $6.90; hogs, good to choice heavy, $3.50 to $5.90; sheep, common to prime, $3.00 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2, 96c to 97; corn, No. 2 white, 63c to 65c; oats, No. 2 white, 51c to 52c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $4.50 to $7.00; hogs, $4.00 to $5.60; sheep, $3.00 to $6.25; wheat, No. 2, $1.01 to $1.02; corn, No. 2, 65c to 66c; oats, No. 2, 48c to 49c; rye, No. 2, 76c to 77c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.50; hogs, $4.00 to $5.95; sheep, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, 98c to 99c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 67c to 68c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 51c to 52c; rye, No. 2, 82c to 84c.

Detroit—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.50; hogs, $4.00 to $5.65; sheep, $2.50 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2, 97c to 99c; corn, No. 3 yellow, 69c to 70c; oats, No. 3 white, 54c to 55c; rye, No. 2, 81c to 82c.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, $1.07 to $1.09; corn, No. 3, 65c to 66c; oats, standard, 52c to 53c; rye, No. 1, 79c to 80c; barley, No. 2, 86c to 87c; pork, mess, $13.35.

Buffalo—Cattle, choice shipping steers, $4.00 to $6.85; hogs, fair to choice, $4.00 to $5.85; sheep, common to good mixed, $4.00 to $6.75; lambs, fair to choice, $5.00 to $8.10.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, 97c to 99c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 67c to 68c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 53c to 54c; rye, No. 2, 80c to 81c; clover seed, prime, $12.00.

MAY

L 903

A LONELY GIRL

By Mrs. Hungerford

THIS is a strong, wholesome story, by Mrs. Hungerford, who wrote that celebrated masterpiece of fiction, "Molly Bawn." It will win a welcome from every person who appreciates a first-class romance.

The story is original, pleasing and fascinating. It is a delight to follow the heroine, Amber, through the chapters of her young love life, full of mingled sunshine and shadow, until, in the end, the womanly loyalty of her innocent nature makes everything bright and happy.

CHAPTER I.

"So nice to find ourselves all here together once again!" says Mrs. Clarence with a satisfied sigh, throwing her pretty head a little backwards and sideways—her charming insincere face smiling out of its aureole of flaxen hair. In town this delicate yellow hair of hers has created a small sensation for more years than she now cares to be reminded of, though in reality she is only thirty. For the rest she has little to complain of in her life; her means being ample, her charms beyond reproach, and her very uncongenial husband at this moment at the Antipodes.

In this small country place—an insignificant spot in the south of Ireland—she is regarded by the villagers in the little town below with feelings that sway between awe and delight.

"'Tis a vision she is," said Mr. Twoomey the opulent owner of the small hotel in Carrigmahon, when Mrs. Clarence had swept through the town in her cousin's—old Sir Lucien Adare's—carriage. Sir Lucien, who as a rule detests this Irish home of his, took a freak into his head the last month, and after eight years' absence from it, decided on gathering together such of his kinsfolk as accompanied him on his last visit, and spending a month or two in the pleasant wilds of Carrigmahon.

Carrig Castle—The Castle, as it is called "for short" by the peasantry—is sufficiently charming a home to tempt most people, had they been its possessors, to visit it at least once a year. But not its delights have brought Sir Lucien to it in this sunny mid-August. Old associations have given him a distaste for Carrig that amounts to positive aversion, and but for several important reasons it is quite certain that he would not have come here at all. A defaulting agent for one. A battery of leters from his coutnry that Bryan Deane was home again and staying at the old mill, for a third, and strongest of all. He had always believed that fellow knew something of the missing jewels!

"Yes. Isn't it?" says a very pretty girl, answering Mrs. Clarence's languid remark. There is very little languor about Mary Adare, or May, as she is generally called. "Hilary and I were delighted to come, weren't we, Hilary?"

She leans towards her brother, a tall young man sitting in a lounging chair near one of the open windows, through which the moonlight is streaming so vividly as to almost put the many shaded lamps out of countenance.

"Intensely," returns Captain Adare politely. It is possible that Hilary, Mary's brother and Sir Lucien's heir, scarcely heard his sister's question, his mind being at the moment many miles away—in a conservatory at that last dance he went to, before leaving town, before "being dragged down here," as he termed it. Amongst the flowers on that memorable evening he had told himself that the girl whose fan he was then caressing was the prettiest creature in the world. A week after he still thought so; six weeks later he is sitting here trying to think so still, and failing a little. Six weeks is a long time—when one is only twenty-eight.

"How many years since last we were here?" asks someone from the background, someone dangling gracefully over the sill of the window, and twanging gaily, with a remorseless disregard for time and tune, on a banjo.

"What a horrid question!" says Mrs. Clarence, with a delicate ruffling of her fair brows. "It must be Owen's!"

She peers round, softly parting with her fan the two men next to her to make them stand aside until she can see the place where her brother, the Hon. Owen McGrath, sits revealed.

"Oh! do stop that dreadful noise!" cries May, covering her little shell-pink ears with her hands.

"You know you love it," says Mr. McGrath, unmoved. He turns his head so far inwards that one can see that he is fat, fair and twenty-four or so. His face is innocent of hair, and so, very nearly, is his head. His sister and his father, Lord Kilfern, make much of him now and then, and so do a good many far better people. "Come here, and I'll sing to you! You won't? . . . You shall!" He has seized her frock and pulled her down beside him. There is a cousinship between them, as indeed there is between everyone now staying in Sir Lucien's house.

"Owen, don't be stupid!" May gives him a vigorous little push, but Mr. McGrath, with his arm so far thrust through hers as to enable him to get a purchase on the banjo, is already uplifting his terrible voice to the moonlit skies.

A young man had come rather quickly up to the window when Miss Adare had been brought so swiftly to a seat beside the interpreter of the banjo.

"Oh, is that you, Gilbert?" exclaims she. "Yes, help me up. I must say, Owen," turning wrathfully to her late companion, "if you think that music . . ."

"Won't you wait for the next verse? Do," says Mr. McGrath. "It's teeming with interest. It is a proposal—from you to me—you won't wait? How blind people are to their own interests nowadays, I might—impossible as it sounds—actually have said 'Yes.'"

No one is listening to him, no one ever does as a rule—which says much for the wisdom of his acquaintances and friends.

But if the present company think to disconcert him by this disregard of his remarks, they are indeed mistaken. He rises like the Phœnix from its ashes to even fresher life, and the knowledge that Gilbert Grey is now at the other side of the room, getting as near to an open quarrel with May as he dares. Indeed so far does the fight go on that now May, leaving Gilbert Grey, and treading the floor as she comes, with the dainty air of a Titania insulted, drops into a seat next Eustace Everard, who as one has come to know, is always very close to Mrs. Clarence.

He is a man of about forty, with blue eyes and a pensive expression. He gives immensely to charities, especially to orphanages, and has about the worst reputation in Europe. His pensive expression, however, stands to him, and then he is so good to the little fatherless ones! A man who considers the Orphans must be good! And besides he is so very rich!

"For me, I am delighted to be here again," May murmurs to him, with the exaggerated delight of a girl who doesn't mean a word she is saying. "I told you so a moment ago, didn't I, Dolly?" to Mrs. Clarence—May always appeals. "I was awfully bored last season."

She says this a little more clearly, so that Gilbert Grey may hear. He had been particularly attentive to her last season—and she, if she told the truth, had been very attentive to him. Mrs. Clarence regards her with a pitying stare.

"My dear May!"

"Oh, yes, I know," frowning and tilting an angry shoulder. "You need not look at me like that. I hate town! The cool green country has charms for me."

"So it has for me," says Everard in his slow way, getting a glance of gratitude from May in return.

"Last time I was here," says Mr. McGrath suddenly and apropos of nothing, "there was a donkey. I used to ride him barebacked, with his disgustingly short mane as reins."

"In what circus were you then?" asks Captain Adare anxiously. But McGrath continues his speech unmoved—"I wonder if he is here still?"

"Ask Sir Lucien," says May.

"Not much! My dear girl, do you know me? No, I shall find him out for myself. I remember he had a little black cross of hair over his shoulders."

"Where's Uncle Lucien?" asks May suddenly.

"I don't know really," said Hilary, "But I made out he went for a long walk, and came back tired; he looked wretched, I thought."

"Yet he ought to be happy," says his sister. "He has every one of his relations around him!"

"For the matter of that," says Mrs. Clarence, "Sir Lucien has not got all his relations round him; there is yet another niece of his living in this part of the country. Have you all forgotten her? But it is not to be wondered at, as of her he never speaks."

CHAPTER II.

There is a pause. Everyone looks as if in search of something once known, but forgotten for years and years. Hilary alone smiles.

"I declare I had forgotten all about her!" cries May, growing suddenly excited. "But now I remember she is our cousin—our first cousin, isn't she, Hilary? Her mother was our aunt—Uncle Lucien's sister! Yet imagine," spreading her pretty hands abroad for a mere charming second. "We have none of us ever yet seen her. Have you, Hilary? No? Then where was she when last we were all here?"

"Where you ought to have been—in the school room," returns her brother, laughing.

"You are wrong," says Mrs. Clarence, "She was in Paris with that precious mother of hers."

"Is she there still?" asks Everard.

"Oh, no! she is here now, as I tell you. Has been here indeed for some time; ever since her mother's death, which took place about six years ago. She is living in an old house seven miles from this, with some relations of her father called Deane."

"Fancy that," says Mary. "Isn't it ridiculous that one can't see her? One's own cousin, and only seven miles away!"

"In a great old rambling house," goes on Hilary, taking up Dolly Clarence's revelations. He has not as yet, however, seen the house of the unknown cousin. "A regular barracks of a place, I'm told; huge, empty; and with a dilapidated mill at the end of the lawn, or somewhere."

"Her father used to work it," says Gilbert Grey; "at least so I am told."

"Her grandfather!" corrects Mrs. Clarence. "Thank heaven they are neither of them alive now. I suppose in a way, they would be relations—of a sort—too."

"A miller," puts in May a little disdainfully.

"Well, yes and no," says her brother. "If you allude to her father, hardly that, in the usual acceptation of the term, as I believe though he still made pretence of working the mill, he let it go to irretrievable ruin. He was a decent enough sort of fellow I have heard—connected not so badly either on his mother's side but not quite—you know!" with a comprehensive nod all round. "A bookworm, too, which is fatal if one is not—exactly—you see!"

"Pity Sir Lucien won't recognize her," says Gilbert Grey, who has a good heart if a very jealous one.

"Pity he should recognise her now," puts in Captain Adare with a shrug. "If he had recognized her long ago, something might have been made of her, but now—she must be a child of the soil indeed."

"A little touch of injustice somewhere," suggests Everard with a pensive expression. It brings a smile to the lips of Mrs. Clarence. She knows him. When had he ever done justice to anyone?

"Well, I agree with Hilary," says May in her little rushy way. "An impossible, vulgar, countryfied girl by this time! How is she to be accepted? Oh!" —impatiently. "How could Uncle Lucien's sister have married so dreadfully!"

"I've just been telling you it wasn't so bad as all that," says her brother. "He was a miller certainly, so was his father and grandfather, and great-grandfather, I believe, before him; and really nowadays if one can show up three generations one ought to get the Victoria Cross. What the girl is like is the question. Run wild, I shouldn't wonder. The old mill is standing still; I hear."

"Very still," says Everard, with a laugh. "It was in the last stage of decay when we were here—how many years ago?" turning to Mrs. Clarence, who gives him a glance in return that makes him laugh inwardly. "Well, when we were here yesterday!"

"But what has all this got to do with our mysterious cousin?" asks Mr. McGrath, who has been weaving all the silken things in the room into a sort of lasso with which to embarrass May presently, and drag her into his net, to the sure discomfiture of Gilbert Grey. "Let us come back to her; I hate ruins. Some tomfools admire them—to me they suggest nothing but old women!"

"You haven't been listening," says Mrs. Clarence severely; "of course Sir Lucien was frantic when his sister made so low a match, and now he visits on the girl that ancient feud."

"Just like him," declares Grey indignantly. "Fancy making the life of a young girl wretched just because her people had not done according to his tenets!"

"There was more," says Mrs. Clarence. "Haven't you heard, Gilbert, about the disappearance of those jewels?" She leans forward, jewels appeal to her. "Surely you must have heard!"

"I have not indeed. Jewels! Whose?"

"What? Jewels? I never heard of them, either," cries May, growing suddenly most deeply interested. "Did you ever hear about them, Hilary?"

"Years ago! But I confess I had forgotten all about them until lately, when there seemed to be a chance of the revival of the sensation that marked their disappearance."

"But I never heard of their appearance," protested May.

"You must have been asleep, my good child," says Dolly.

"Not a bit more than Gilbert," a little indignantly. She resents this speech. "You never heard of them either, Gilbert, did you?"

"Never!" says Grey emphatically. Blessed ignorance that seems to bring them even a degree nearer to each other.

"Well, tell us about them." May is somewhat mollified.

"Oh! It's a long story." Mrs. Clarence looks bored.

(To be continued.)

So to Speak.

"Mrs. Binks is a leader in the dress reform movement, isn't she?"

"Well, I guess you might call her that. She runs a cleaning and dyeing establishment."—Cleveland Leader.

REVIEW OF INDIANA

Mrs. August Pieleimier was seriously injured in a runaway accident at Bicknell.

Mrs. William Meglemer, of Bedford, attempted to throw a strange black cat from her home recently. Her right shoulder was dislocated.

Another change in hotel property was made in Newcastle when Frank Bundy was succeeded by C. M. Bailey, of Chicago, in the management of the Imperial.

Herbert H. Edwards, prominent Mason, Republican politician and relative of Senator John H. Edwards, fell from a second-story window at his home in Bedford, dying shortly after the accident.

Rev. C. W. Lynch, who four years ago succeeded H. W. Bennett as presiding elder of the Goshen district of the Methodist conference, died last week in Warsaw after a prolonged illness.

Daisy Martin, 13 years old, was disfigured for life at her home near Shelbyville. A horse kicked her in the face. Her nose was almost torn from the face and both lips were cut and a tooth knocked out.

The smallest child ever born in the vicinity of Jasper came recently to Mr. and Mrs. Chris Frank, of Ireland. The little one weighed only two pounds with clothing on. It is a healthy child. The father and mother are medium-sized people.

The Michigan division of the Big Four railroad has abolished all third trick positions for operators on the Michigan division between Anderson Ind., and Benton Harbor, Mich., and including Anderson. The operators are threatening to strike.

Henry C. Stuart, Democratic candidate for Governor of Virginia, and the owner of 55,000 acres of land in his home State, recently visited the live stock farm of Frank C. Cotton in Shelby County, and made a number of purchases for his farm.

The new Odd Fellows' Hall at Petersburg, costing $15,000, was dedicated last week. Horace Kean, Deputy State Grand Master, delivered the address. Twenty-three lodges throughout Southern Indiana were represented and 600 Odd Fellows were in the procession.

James Hallock, of Mt. Carmel, captured a large stork near his home. The bird has a broken wing, and was unable to escape. It stands four feet high, and is regarded as a fine specimen. Mr. Hallock is being urged to send the stork to President Roosevelt.

Coke is being made from Indiana coal two miles from Linton, in coke ovens of the latest and most improved beehive type. It sounds strange to hear this statement made after it has been argued for all these many years that Indiana coal would not make coke.

The loss of her only son by drowning a year ago, followed by an injury to her husband and his subsequent death, has unbalanced the mind of Mrs. Mary Rush, of Logansport, and she has been committed to the Northern Indiana Hospital as an insane woman.

While descending a steep hill on the Boston turnpike, two miles south of Richmond, the steering apparatus of the automobile driven by Omar G. Murray refused to act, and the vehicle ran off the road into a ditch. Mr. Murray and his wife were both thrown out and received slight injuries. The automobile was badly wrecked.

Mrs. Mary Johnson, 69 years old, died at the home of her son, Frank Johnson, in Jasonville last week of strangulation, caused by enlargement of the muscles of the throat. Mrs. Johnson was in apparent good health otherwise, and she was rocking her little grandchild when death seized her. She was a pioneer of Greene County.

Miss Margaret Vanati, of Milton, after the death of her parents thirty-six years ago, stored her household goods. Recently she determined to go to housekeeping, and upon opening the boxes for the first time in the years named, the bed clothing was found in excellent condition, save that one quilt had been slightly nibbled by mice and one blanket had been disturbed by moth.

Perry C. Farmer, 71 years old, near Middletown, while driving to Newcastle to pay taxes, was thrown from his buggy in a runaway accident, his horse becoming frightened at an automobile, and he was severely bruised. Repairs were made and he continued his journey. Two hours later while in the city, Mr. Farmer was struck by another runaway horse attached to a buggy, the vehicle passing over his body. He was again badly cut and bruised, but no bones were broken. After paying his taxes he started homeward, convinced that he had had a strenuous day.

Spiceland, a prosperous little town seven miles south of Newcastle, is in the throes of the mumps. There are many cases of the disease, but so far no fatalities.

Strawberry growing in the extensive berry-growing district back of New Albany has sustained heavy losses on account of a hailstorm that visited that section Sunday night. Truck farmers also were severe losers.

Sanitary Officer Freeman Moss, of Evansville, has discovered the "Merry Widow" bug. The bugs are the queerest ever seen in that part of the State. They have immense wings and protuberances on the tops of their heads. The bugs have been worrying the family of J. L. Angel, in Upper Fourth street, for several days.

Priding itself on its reputation for patriotism and hospitality, and bent on maintaining that reputation, Kokomo is sparing neither time nor money in the preparations it is making for the twenty-ninth annual encampment of the Department of Indiana, Grand Army of the Republic, which is to be held there May 19, 20 and 21.

Mrs. Albert G. Dahn had a large bunch of spring chickens at Columbus. Now she has only a few left. Mrs. Dahn was cleaning house, when she found some rat paste. She decided that the paste might as well be thrown out, because all of the rats around the house had been killed long ago. She threw it out and the chickens ate it. About forty are dead.

Indiana made a record in divorce statistics in 1907, as shown by information gathered by the Indiana Bureau of Statistics, while cupid was not so busy as during the previous year. The number of divorces granted in 1907 was 3,980. The number granted in 1906 was 3,669; in 1905, 3,885 and in 1904, 3,449. On the other hand there were only 28,702 marriages in 1907, this being 86 less than the number for 1906.

Although a gale was blowing, a bucket brigade at Yorktown saved that place from destruction by fire last week. Every able-bodied man in town was pressed into service. The mischief started in Henry Bitser's restaurant. The restaurant building and contents were destroyed, causing a loss of $1,500. Nicholas Donoman's home caught fire several times, and so did other buildings, but the bucket brigade was equal to the emergency.

A. Lloyd Hickson and Miss Chloe Simms were married recently at the home of the bride in Sheridan. Mr. Hickson has been the principal of the High School, and his bride has been a teacher in Boone County. Both have received appointments from the Government to teach school in the Philippine Islands and will sail from San Francisco May 5. They will be accompanied by J. R. Malott and wife, of Bloomington, young people who were recently graduated from Indiana University.

While Miss Emma Williams, daughter of P. H. Williams, a farmer near Jasonville, was building a fire with which to prepare breakfast, she attempted to stimulate it by using coal oil, but instead took gasoline. The flame flashed into her face and enveloped her hands, and also caught the curtains and other inflammable material in the room. By difficult work her father prevented the house from being consumed. Miss Williams escaped with her life but one hand was burned to a crisp.

State Food Inspector Owens who, with Dr. McIntosh, the inspector at Terre Haute, has been visiting dairies for two weeks, reports an alarming instance of sickness of a number of children, whose milk, from the same dairy, contained a considerable per cent. of pus bacteria. A hypodermic injection of the milk was administered to a rat, and within forty-eight hours the animal had an abscess, from the effects of which it died. What the result to the children would have been had they continued using the milk is made certain. The dealer who supplied the milk has been put out of business for all time to come.

The neighborhood known as Stony Quarry Mills, eight miles south of Newcastle, enjoys the distinction of what is now a novelty, a flowing gas well. Despite the fact that gas wells by the score all over the county have either died entirely or else diminished their flow to almost nothing, the gas well as the Stony Quarry Mills continues to work. It is among the earliest wells drilled in Henry County, having been put down in 1889. It is still doing satisfactory service, furnishing fuel for a dozen families in the neighborhood. There is not another well in the county, drilled two-thirds that many years, still doing business. All have petered out.

MAY

0163

L 903

For Female Ills

You should take, for female ills, a medicine which acts on the female organs and functions.

Cardui is not a man's medicine. It is for women. Its pure, healing, curative, vegetable ingredients, go direct to the womanly organs, relieve their pain and inflammation, and build up their strength.

"Tongue cannot tell," writes Miss Nola Smith, of Sweetser, Ind., "what has done for me. I am on my third bottle and am so much better. Before I began to take Cardui, I could not do a day's work. Now I can work all day. Mother took four bottles of Cardui before confinement, got along fine and has been real strong ever since."

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMAN'S RELIEF

At All Druggists

WRITE FOR FREE ADVICE, stating age and describing symptoms, to Ladies Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. E 40

J. A. PROVINES

TRUSTEE

of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:
THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK
at residence in Spencerville, Ind.

DENTIST.

C. R. PRICE,

ST. JOE, IND.

Office in Case building.

Bell Phone No. 44.

C. S. SMITH

Lawyer and Notary Public.

COLLECTIONS and LOANS.

Office in Auburn State Bank Building.

Auburn Indiana.

A Californian's Luck.

"The luckiest day of my life was when I bought a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve," writes Charles F. Budahn, of Tracy, California. "Two 25c boxes cured me of an annoying case of itching piles, which had troubled me for years and that yielded to no other treatment." Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store.

The St. Joe News.

One Year - - $1.00
Six Month - - 50c
Three Months - - 25c

FRED B. LEIGHTY, Editor.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

Smile.

This is the happy time of year for youth and old age and all between those extremes of life. The cherry blossoms and dandelion SMILE at each other as they enter on their new career of usefulness and extravagant decoration over the earth. There is a SMILE, a very broad SMILE this season, in the new spring head gear that has already made its bow to the public by virtue of dame fashion's ruling, and even an attempt is made at some sort of a SMILE when the bill is presented. The gentle kine in the meadows wear an unmistakable SMILE as they mow away the luxuriant grass of spring time and are duly appreciative of the change from a diet of husks through the long winter months The face of every school pupil radiates with the smile of anticipated liberty in the days soon to come and their patient instructors join heartily in the promised pleasures and relaxations that follow months of study and toil over books. The man with the snow shovel SMILES as he lays away that wooden tool and a frown that attempts to freeze his visage of sudden gladness, on second thought of the lawn mower and garden rake, is hastily driven to cover by another cheering and ever-sustaining thought that house cleaning will soon end. The widow SMILES with a heartfelt gratitude, when she surveys the depleted coal bin and then contemplates the generous provisions of providence dence and nature in the free, God-given warmth and light of the summer's sun. Another smile of thankfulness follows, too, as she remembers that these blessings have not, as yet, been cornered by John D. and the Pennsylvania Baer. There's a smile in this sunlight that is poisonous to capitalistic greed and that has an ever-present tendency to rob it of many a cherished dollar, loft, by decree of the soul-warming rays stowed away in the widow's purse.

There's a smile in the budding trees and it seems the man in the moon takes on a broader grin as he looks down on mother nature's doing's this time o' the year. A harmonious blending of rippling laughter and smiles is carried through forest and field on every stream and brook and borne onto the tide waters by broad smiling rivers. The mists and vapors that are patiently gathered by heat units until they mantle heoven's dome in threatening storm clouds can not resist the temptation to join in earth's spring-time gladness and again they return, transformed in the smiles of April showers. Their return automatically brings forth another smile from old Sol that in itself is an invitation to the wild flowers of May to come out from their hiding places and smile—because in their innocent beauty and unaffected sweetness of life they are grander than Solomon in all his glory.

Most any season in the year has attractions that invite the smile but spring-time forces it from the heart and the result starts the world on a renewed mission of happiness and gayety.

There are times however when it seems next to an utter impossibility to work up even the slightest semblance of a smile for some of us and as a last recourse, when the sunshine and blossoms of spring have faced to touch the happy seat of joy, and it is an imperative necessity that everyone should smile in the spring time in order to make the thing unanimous.

Relief From Rheumatic Pains.

"I suffered with rheumatism for over two years," says Mr. Rolland Curry, a patrolman, of Key West, Fla. "Sometimes it settled in my knees and lamed me so I could hardly walk, at other times it would be in my feet and hands so I was incapacitated for duty. One night when I was in severe pain and lame from it my wife went to the drug store here and came back with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I was rubbed with it and found the pain had nearly gone during the night. I kept on using it for a little more than two weeks and found that it drove the rheumatism away. I have not had any trouble from that disease for over three months." For sale by H. Milliman, St. Joe: F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

The Cost of a Creamery.

During the past few years there have been built in the United States several thousand creameries, many of which have been successful from the start, while others have failed after a few months operation and some were never even started.

An investigation of the creamery business in several States by the United States Department of Agriculture has shown that the cause of many of the failures was due to lack of a sufficient number of cows, which should not be less than 400, and that others failed because of improper organization, in the case of co-operative creameries, and excessive cost of building and equipment. Many creameries have cost about twice their actual worth, and were not of the type suited to the locality in which they were built.

The cost of a building about 28 by 48 feet will vary from $800 to $1400, dependent upon the locality, the construction, and the cost of material and labor. Such a building usually consists of a main work room, engine and boiler room (including space for refrigerator, storeroom, and office.

Machinery for a hand-separtor plant consisting of 15-horsepower boiler, 10-horsepower engine, combination churn with a capacity of 600 pounds of butter, and other necessary apparatus, will cost approximately $1,200. Machinery for a whole-milk plant will cost about $1,850. This equipment will handle from 1,000 to 1,200 pounds of butter per day. If a refrigerating machine is including machine is included the cost will be from $600 to $1,000 more.

The total cost of a creamery would therefore vary from $2,000 for a simple hand-separator plant without artificial refrigeration, where labor and material are cheap, to $4,250 for a whole-milk plant including artificial refrigeration and a higher cost of labor and material.

The Department of Agriculture is prepared to furnish information for the proper organization of creameries and cheese factories and upon request will supply plan of organization, list of machinery, and plan for creamery. Correspondence should be addressed to the Dairy Division, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

The Old Proverb

That "It takes nine tailors to make a man" may possibly mean that it takes nine trials to find the right tailor.

You can save eight trials by coming here first. At this time in the year we can do considerably better by you than later. Not better in style, fabric, fit or finish—that's impossible—but better in price. For Example:—

Suits from $18.00 up.

Pants from $4.00 up

ED MAY,

TAILOR,

Butler, Ind.

A Suggested Monument for a Town.

Grit
Vim
Push Boost Energy
Schools Morality Churches
Harmony
Cordiality
Advertising
Talk about it
Write about it
Speak well of it
Healthy location
Help to improve it
Advertise in its paper
Elect good men to office
Honest competition in prices
Faith exhibited by good work

Try to make the conditions healthy. Fire all croakers, loafers and deadbeats. Let your object be the welfare growth and promotion of your town and its people. Speak well of public spirited men, and also be one of them yourself. Be honest with your fellow men. Be impartial.

Having had 5 years experience, am prepared to do all kinds of cement work, foundations, sidewalks and cisterns a specialty.

5-1 WID WILLIAMS.

WANTED—A RIDER AGENT IN EACH TOWN and district to ride and exhibit a sample Latest Model "Ranger" bicycle furnished by us. Our agents everywhere are making money fast. Write for full particulars and special offer at once.

NO MONEY REQUIRED until you receive and approve of your bicycle. We ship to anyone, anywhere in the U. S. without a cent deposit in advance, prepay freight, and allow TEN DAYS' FREE TRIAL during which time you may ride the bicycle and put it to any test you wish. If you are then not perfectly satisfied or do not wish to keep the bicycle ship it back to us at our expense and you will not be out one cent.

FACTORY PRICES We furnish the highest grade bicycles it is possible to make at one small profit above actual factory cost. You save $10 to $25 middlemen's profits by buying direct of us and have the manufacturer's guarantee behind your bicycle. DO NOT BUY a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone at any price until you receive our catalogues and learn our unheard of factory prices and remarkable special offers to rider agents.

YOU WILL BE ASTONISHED when you receive our beautiful catalogue and study our superb models at the wonderfully low prices we can make you this year. We sell the highest grade bicycles for less money than any other factory. We are satisfied with $1.00 profit above factory cost. BICYCLE DEALERS, you can sell our bicycles under your own name plate at double our prices. Orders filled the day received.

SECOND HAND BICYCLES. We do not regularly handle second hand bicycles, but usually have a number on hand taken in trade by our Chicago retail stores. These we clear out promptly at prices ranging from $3 to $8 or $10. Descriptive bargain lists mailed free.

COASTER-BRAKES, single wheels, imported roller chains and pedals, parts, repairs and equipment of all kinds at half the usual retail prices.

$8.50 HEDGETHORN PUNCTURE-PROOF SELF-HEALING TIRES A SAMPLE PAIR TO INTRODUCE, ONLY $4.80

The regular retail price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but to introduce we will sell you a sample pair for $4.80 cash with order $4.55).

NO MORE TROUBLE FROM PUNCTURES

NAILS, Tacks or Glass will not let the air out. Sixty thousand pairs sold last year. Over two hundred thousand pairs now in use.

DESCRIPTION: Made in all sizes. It is lively and easy riding, very durable and lined inside with a special quality of rubber, which never becomes porous and which closes up small punctures without allowing the air to escape. We have hundreds of letters from satisfied customers stating that their tires have only been pumped up once or twice in a whole season. They weigh no more than an ordinary tire, the puncture resisting qualities being given by several layers of thin, specially prepared fabric on the tread. The regular price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but for advertising purposes we are making a special factory price to the rider of only $4.80 per pair. All orders shipped same day either is received. We ship C. O. D. on approval. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them strictly as represented.

We will allow a cash discount of 5 per cent (thereby making the price $4.55 per pair) if you send FULL CASH WITH ORDER and enclose this advertisement. We will also send one nickel plated brass hand pump. Tires to be returned at OUR expense if for any reason they are not satisfactory on examination. We are perfectly reliable and money sent to us is as safe as in a bank. If you order a pair of these tires, you will find that they will ride easier, run faster, wear better, last longer and look finer than any tire you have ever used or seen at any price. We know that you will be so well pleased that when you want a bicycle you will give us your order. We want you to send us a trial order at once, hence this remarkable tire offer.

IF YOU NEED TIRES don't buy any kind at any price until you send for a pair of Hedgethorn Puncture-Proof tires on approval and trial at the special introductory price quoted above; or write for our big Tire and Sundry Catalogue which describes and quotes all makes and kinds of tires at about half the usual prices.

DO NOT WAIT but write us a postal today. DO NOT THINK OF BUYING a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone until you know the new and wonderful offers we are making. It only costs a postal to learn everything. Write it NOW.

J. L. MEAD CYCLE COMPANY, CHICAGO, ILL.

Notice the thick rubber tread "A" and puncture strips "B" and "D," also rim strip "H" to prevent rim cutting. This tire will outlast any other make—SOFT, ELASTIC and EASY RIDING.

It Reached the Spot.

Mr. E. Humphrey, who owns a large general store at Omega, O., and is president of the Adams County Telephone Co., as well as the Home Telephone Co. of Pike County, O., says of Dr. King's New Discovery: "It saved my life once. At least I think it did. It seemed to reach the spot—the very seat of my cough—when everything else failed." Dr. King's New Discovery not only reaches the cough spot; it heals the sore spots and the weak spots in throat, lung and chest. Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drugstore, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

St. Joe was visited Thursday by five tramps all being fairly well dressed. They have been laborers and being laid off are without a cent.

The Republican Congressional congressional convention will be held at Auburn on May 28, at 2:00 p. m. This was the decision made by the county chairmen, who met at Fort Wayne, April 23.

We Trust Doctors

If you are suffering from impure blood, thin blood, debility, nervousness, exhaustion, you should begin at once with Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the Sarsaparilla you have known all your life. Your doctor knows it, too. Ask him about it.

Unless there is daily action of the bowels, poisonous products are absorbed, causing headache, biliousness, nausea, dyspepsia, and thus preventing the Sarsaparilla from doing its best work. Ayer's Pills are liver pills. Act gently. All vegetable.

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of

Ayer's HAIR VIGOR. AGUE CURE. CHERRY PECTORAL.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

Programme.

Of the Commencement Exercises of the St. Joe High School, to be Held in Widney Opera House, the Evenings of May Sixth and Seventh.

Wednesday Evening, May 6, 1908.

Piano Solo ..... Lora Hull
Invocation ..... Rev. J. A. Brown
Vocal Solo ..... Skipper of St. Ives ..... C. A. Woodcox
Oration ..... "A GIRL'S EDUCATION" ..... ETHEL WAYNE LEIGHTY
Oration ..... "THE ACCOMPLISHING OF A PURPOSE" ..... LAURA VESTA WOODCOX
Violin Solo ..... "IN THE AIR—Bandia ..... Fuelala Hasbell
Oration ..... "SILENT HOME" ..... Flossie C. Cope
Vocal Solo ..... A MAN MORE INFLUENCES" ..... Grace Kain
Oration ..... "PRINCIPLES OF CIVILIZATION" ..... Mrs. S. W. Tisdson
Oration ..... "NO GALE WITHOUT PAIN" ..... MARY SCHOLES
Quartette ..... O'er Sparkling Wave ..... CALVIN C. KAIN
..... Messdames Patterson, Baker, Sechler, Hathaway ..... Campana
Benediction ..... Rev. F. A. Dressel

Thursday Evening, May 7, 1908.

Sextette ..... Schubert
..... Messdames Patterson, Baker, Tisdson, Sechler, Curie, Hathaway
Cornet Solo ..... Foraker Ferrell
Class Address, Prof. Fairfield of Tri State Normal.
Violin Solo ..... Estelle D'Amour—Tellier
Presentation of Diplomas ..... Fuelala Hasbell
Vocal Solo ..... C. A. Woodcox

Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also furnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable.

Beams & Baker.

MAY

0164

L 903

Undertaking a Specialty.

Eliza Kinsey takes charge of all funerals. Calls answered day or night Prices reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

Phone No. Office 37-2. Residence 37-3

PATENTS

and TRADE-MARKS promptly obtained in all countries, or no fee. We obtain PATENTS THAT PAY, advertise them thoroughly, at our expense, and help you to success. Send model, photo or sketch for FREE report on patentability. 20 years' practice. SURPASSING REFERENCES. For free Guide Book on Profitable Patents write to

903-906 Seventh Street, WASHINGTON, D. C.

D. SWIFT & Co.

Local Items.

Clarence Hart was at Auburn, Monday.

Before buying galvanized roofing call on F. Kinsey and get prices.

Miss Casebere of Winona, has been the guest of C. A. Patterson and family the past week.

Mr. Anthony Snyder and wife of Harlan, visited over Sunday with Simeon Wineland and wife.

W. E. Turritin and wife of Bowling Green, O. were the guest of the former's sister, Mrs. Belle Barney, a few days last week.

The commencement exercises will be held in Widney's opera house tonight and Thursday evening. On Friday evening the Alumni banquet will be given.

In the call for primary elections the chairman designates the place of voting in the northeast and northwest precincts of Concord township at St. Joe. South precinct of Concord township at Spencerville school house, June 4.

No country on the globe freer from disastrous storms than northern Indiana. Hurricanes and cyclones are almost entirely unknown, and a close observation on the part of any citizen will be convincing of this fact. The prairie states frequently suffer from cyclones, but for some reason, no doubt, they never visit this section in a disastrous form at least. Neither can we ever have a flood of a serious order, unless it would come from a cloud burst.

Good Words For Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

People everywhere take pleasure in testifying to the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. Edward Phillips of Barclay, Md., writes: "I wish to say that I can recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My little girl Catherine, who is two years old, has been taking this remedy whenever she has had a cold since she was two months old. About a month ago I contracted a dreadful cold myself, but I took Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was soon as well as ever." This remedy is for sale by H. Milliman, St. Joe, F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

Money to loan on farms at 5 per cent interest. Payable on or before 10 years. Partial payments allowed. Call on or write us. Brown & Rhoads, Lawyers, City National Bank Building, Auburn, Ind.

Monday was pension day.

J. D. Leighty was at Auburn Thursday.

Mrs. Harlow Ulm was at Auburn one day last week.

Mrs. Mae Openlander visited with her parents over Sunday.

Wm. Hull of Auburn made a couple of days visit with relatives here last week.

Sam White of Kendallville, was in town, last week. Sam intends moving back to Ft. Wayne.

Sam George went to Auburn Thursday and from there he went to St. John to visit his daughter a few days.

Mrs. W. R. Wiers of this place visited with her daughter, Mrs. Bert Bachtel, also with Dr. Broughton's at Waterloo, several days last week.

W. C. DeLong has made a wonderful improvement on his property on Widney Avenue. The house was raised up and moved back, a cellar put in and a cement block wall. Bill believes in having things nice.

Miss Maud Scholes, who has been teaching school at Huntertown was at home, last week suffering with blood poison in her foot. Miss Nellie Scholes supplied her place the past week. Miss Maud returned Sunday.

Geo. Snyder of Auburn, was in town last Wednesday afternoon to see Dr. Bowman, who was the attending physician of Henry Siebert. Mr. Snyder looks after the insurance of deceased members of the Maccabee lodge at Auburn.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Andress were initiated in the mysteries of the Degree of Rebekah Friday evening. After the work dainty refreshments were served by the entertaining committee, Mesdames Hull, Northrup, Herrick and Rickett.

During 1907 there was one divorce to every seven marriages, whereas in 1906 there was but one to every eight, while the number of divorces increased by 311, the number of marriages decreased by eighty-six. In all 3,980 divorces were granted last year, and 28,792 marriages were solemnized.

When local recruiting officers enlisted ten men from this city yesterday they stated that they were confident that they would maintain the lead of the entire United States for Indiana. Last week notice was received that Indiana had distanced New York, which was very welcome news to the recruiting officers who have been making strenuous efforts to win the race. Now that the lead is gained they are confident that they can maintain it. The men accepted yesterday were F. G. West, N. Smith H. J. Valroff, of this city; G. C. Romy of Bluffton; C. M. Swofford, of Huntington; A. R. Henry of Warsaw; W. W. Bleeks, of St. Joe; H. A Ellison, F. S. Rhodes and P. Leith, of Willshire, O.—Fort Wayne News; April 30.

Walter Bleeks after passing the examination successfully determined to go immediately. Geo. Ridgway was successful and will go today with Don Johnson and Floyd Ridgway. Several other of our boys have the fever and will try for admittance. St. Joe has certainly done her share toward the army and navy.

The effect of malaria lasts a long time.

You catch cold easily or become run-down because of the after effects of malaria.

Strengthen yourself with Scott's Emulsion.

It builds new blood and tones up your nervous system.

ALL DRUGGISTS; 50c. AND $1.00.

Frank George returned to Goshen last week after spending a week at home with the mumps.

Geo. Wade and Chas. Franks were visitors at the county seat, Wednesday, paying their taxes.

The B. & O. company have given the old brick pump house to F. M. Monroe, for the moving of it. He will commence to tear it down this week.

Mr. Frank Hettinger and Miss Blanch Hettinger of Harlan and Mrs. Jennie Buchan of Chicago, were the guests of Chris Saylor and family over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Piter and daughter Nora visited their daughter, Mrs. John Nechler and husband, Sunday. Miss Nora remained and will visit her sister this week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Woodcox are the happy parents of a nine pound baby boy, born Saturday, May 2nd. Mrs. Woodcox is staying at the home of her parents in Garrett.

The Ladies Aid Society of the M. P. church will meet with Mrs. Mary Shuff, Saturday, May 9th, at 2 o'clock. Let every member be present as the election of officers will take place at that time.

L. D. Nelson, democratic candidate for recorder, made this office a pleasant call last Thursday. His announcement appears elsewhere in this paper. Mr. Nelson is an honorable man and will make an honest effort for the nomination.

The Concord tower was cut out entirely last Thursday, thus throwing two operators out of work. They do not know how long this will continue Mr. G. E. Baker who had 2nd trick, will be changed to Midway, O., where he will work on 3rd trick.

The Butler ice cream company, of Butler, has put in a new ice cream machine. You pour the cream into the hopper, they say, and it goes through it about like a sausage grinder and comes out nicely frozen cream. The machine will freeze cream at the rate of seventy-gallons per hour.

Prof. Joseph E. Colburn, who has been employed as superintendent of the Churubusco schools, has been re-employed for another year. Prof. Colburn is well known among DeKalb county's pedagogues. Before going to Busco he was superintendent of the St. Joe schools.

The Ashley Times was moved across the line last week from Steuben to DeKalb county. It seems to be democratic in its proclivities. There are now published in DeKalb county, ten weekly papers and two dailies, six democratic and four republican. There isn't much prospects of any of the publishers ever becoming millionaires, unless some of their rich relatives who knew better than to engage in newspaper work, should die and take pity on these editors.

Garrett has a pronounced democratic candidate for nomination for county office in the person of D. E. Hershberger, whose announcement for recorder appears elsewhere in the Courier. Mr. Hershberger has been engaged in the grocery business at Garrett for several years past. He came to that city from Tiffin, O., and took a position in the B. & O. offices and after working there for some time resigned and entered the grocery business. Two years ago he was elected treasurer of the city as a democrat, resigning a few months ago on account of his business affairs. Previous to going to Garrett, Mr. Hershberger was a school teacher. With his education and business experience he is finely equipped for the duties of the office he seeks.—Courier.

A large crowd from this place attended the Sunday School convention at Concord, Sunday afternoon. The convention was well attended by the Sunday schools of the township and it was an enthusiastic meeting. The talks were excellent, Sunday desecration and its remedy being largely touched upon. W. E. Moudy made an excellent talk to the young people on "The Story of David." We cannot all be a David, but we can fit ourselves so that if the opportunity and time comes we will be prepared. The congregation singing was enthusiastic under leadership of Reuben Koch. Special music was rendered by Master Howard Shilling in a solo; Misses Vera and Flossie Copp, in a duet; Messrs. Scholes and Williams and the Misses Nellie and Mary Scholes, in a mixed quartet. The township president, C. C. Woodcox, is fortunate in having the co-operation of all the schools and in being able to make the convention a success.

Just Received.

Car Load Wabash Portland Cement.

Consignment of Gasoline Vapor Stoves.

I Keep on Hands

Hydrated Ground Lime

Stoves and Ranges Cooking Utensils

Steel Goods of all kinds.

All Kinds of Roofing:

Best quality Red Cedar Shingles

Gravel Roofing Asbestos, Rubber, Felt and Galvanized Roofing.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT

Linseed, Automobile and Lubricating Oils, Gasoline, Etc.

GLASS, SASH AND DOORS.

Quality Right. Prices Right.

D. J. Baker.

Fresh candy now at Milliman's shop

Simon Wineland opened a boarding and lodging house last week.

Get prices on galvanized roofing before buying. F. KINSEY.

The grist mill has been out of commission this week on account of them having the rollers sharpened. It was necessary to send them to Indianapolis and it is thought they will be ready to run by tomorrow. In order to do custom work, the mill was in operation day and night last week.

Rules Regulating the Postage on Post Cards.

There seems to be various opinions relative to amount of postage required on Post cards and Postal cards mailed under cover of envelopes, either sealed or unsealed, envelopes transparent or otherwise. The following orders were issued from the bureau of the Third Assistant Postmaster General under date of Oct. 3, 1907 and published in the Postal Guide for Nov. 1907:

"Post cards and postal cards mailed under cover of sealed envelopes (transparent or otherwise) are chargeable with postage at the first class rate—two cents an ounce or fraction thereof. If enclosed in unsealed envelopes they are subject to postage according to the character of the message—at the first class rate (one cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof) if entirely in print, and the postage should be affixed to the envelopes covering the same. Postage stamps affixed to to such cards inclosed in envelopes having an opening exposing the stamps cannot be recognized in payment of postage thereon.

D. J. BAKER,
Postmaster.

Seed Potatoes

Seed potatoes of the very best tested varieties, early and late, also eating potatoes. Prices right.

W. H. NORTHRUP & SON.

The World's Best Climate

is not entirely free from disease, on the high elevations fevers prevail, while on the lower levels malaria is encountered to a greater or less extent, according to altitude. To overcome climate affections, lassitude, malaria, jaudice, biliousness, fever and ague, and general debility, the most effective remedy is Electric Bitters, the great alterative and blood purifier; the antidote for every form of bodily weakness, nervousness and insomnia. Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store. Price 50c.

Pain Weakens

Headache, rheumatism, neuralgia, or pains of any nature weaken the system—they are a strain upon the nerves. Almost instant relief can be obtained by taking Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills, and without any bad after-effects. Take one on first indication of an attack—it will ward it off. They are a pleasant little tablet, sold by druggists everywhere, 25 doses 25 cents; never sold in bulk.

"I was subject to constant headaches for a period of four years. At times I was almost unfitted for the work in which I am engaged, that of station agent. Through the advice of a friend I tried Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, and the result has been that I have entirely eradicated my system of those continuous headaches that follow a continual mental strain. They have done for me all that is claimed for them."

O. L. RUSSELL,
Agt. C. & N. W. Ry., Battle Creek, Ia.

"I have used Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for a year now for neuralgia and find there is nothing like them. They surely have been a blessing to me." MRS. M. J. HAMILTON,
Upper Alton, Ills.

Your druggist sells Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, and we authorize him to return the price of first package (only) if it fails to benefit you.

Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind

Buy our stationery.

Note books at THE NEWS office.

Hiram Reasoner and wife spent Saturday and Sunday with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Potter, at Fort Wayne.

This year we have the most complete line of commencement invitations we have ever had. We invite you to come and see them. Prices reasonable.

A remarkable story of the "blowing up" of a hand cream separator comes from the rural home of Albert Hogue southwest of town. Mrs. Hogue was turning the crank and had run out about a half gallon of milk, the tank containing about five gallons still, when the thing exploded. The tank was thrown to the ceiling with great force, knocking down the plastering, a part of the machine flew through the window and every rod in it was twisted and bent in a wonderful manner. Mrs. Hogue was not injured and is at a loss to account for the strange happening.—Clipper.

The News, - - $1 per year.

MAY

L 903

NATURE AND A WOMAN'S WORK

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

Nature and a woman's work combined, have produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers they relied upon the roots and herbs of the field to cure disease and mitigate suffering.

The Indians on our Western Plains to-day can produce roots and herbs for every ailment, and cure diseases that baffle the most skilled physicians who have spent years in the study of drugs.

From the roots and herbs of the field Lydia E. Pinkham more than thirty years ago gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills, more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is now recognized as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

Mrs. Bertha Muff, of 515 N.C. St., Louisiana, Mo., writes:

"Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my troubles public.

"For twelve years I had been suffering with the worst forms of female ills. During that time I had eleven different physicians without help. No tongue can tell what I suffered, and at times I could hardly walk. About two years ago I wrote Mrs. Pinkham for advice. I followed it, and can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice restored health and strength. It is worth mountains of gold to suffering women."

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Muff, it will do for other suffering women.

160 Acre FARMS in Western Canada FREE

What a Settler Can Secure in

WESTERN CANADA

160 Acres Grain-Growing Land FREE.
20 to 40 Bushels Wheat to the Acre.
40 to 90 Bushels Oats to the Acre.
35 to 50 Bushels Barley to the Acre.
Timber for Fencing and Buildings FREE.
Good Laws with Low Taxation.
Splendid Railroad Facilities and Low Rates.
Schools and Churches Convenient.
Satisfactory Markets for all Productions.
Good Climate and Perfect Health.
Chances for Profitable Investments.

Some of the choicest grain-producing lands in Saskatchewan and Alberta may now be acquired in these most healthful and prosperous sections under the

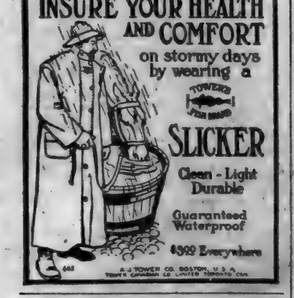
Revised Homestead Regulations

by which entry may be made by proxy (on certain conditions), by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Entry fee in each case is $10.00. For pamphlet, "Last Best West," particulars as to rates, routes, best time to go and where to locate, apply to W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or W. H. Rogers, 3d Floor Traction Terminal Building, Indianapolis, Ind., and H. M. Williams, Room 2a, Law Building, Toledo, Ohio, Authorized Government Agents.

Please say where you saw this advertisement.

INSURE YOUR HEALTH AND COMFORT on stormy days by wearing a



TOWER'S FISH BRAND SLICKER

Clean - Light Durable

Guaranteed Waterproof

$3.00 Everywhere

A. J. TOWER CO. BOSTON, U. S. A.
TOWER CANADIAN CO. LIMITED TORONTO, CAN.

Let us do your Printing using

Eagle Linen

for your office stationery. You can get the paper and envelopes to match.

It is the real thing. Take no other.

FAMILY'S SKIN TROUBLES.

Eczema, Heat Rash, and Scalp Affections Afflict Different Members, but Cuticura Cures Them.

"My wife had eczema for five or six years. It was on her face and would come and go. We thought we would give the Cuticura Remedies a trial. We did so and she has never had a sign of eczema for four years. I myself used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment some time ago for falling hair. I now have a very heavy head of hair. We used Cuticura Remedies for our baby, who was nearly bald when young. She has very nice hair now. She is very fleshy, and we had so much trouble with heat that we would bathe her with Cuticura Soap and then apply Cuticura Ointment, it would dry the heat up so much quicker than anything else. Mr. H. B. Springmire, 323 So. Capitol Street, Iowa City, Ia., July 16, 1905, and Sept. 16, 1906."

Quick Reflex Action.

Shocked and Grieved Parent—Tommy, where did you get those beautiful little spotted eggs? You have been robbing some bird's nest, you wicked boy!

Tommy—I'm goin' to set the old hen on 'm, mamma, and raise some pretty little birds, so you can put some more of 'em on your hat.—Chicago Tribune.

In a Pinch, Use Allen's Foot-Ease.

A powder to shake into your shoes. It rests the feet. Cures Corns, Bunions, Swollen, Sore, Hot, Callous, Aching, Sweating feet and Ingrowing Nails. Allen's Foot-Ease makes new or tight shoes easy. Sold by all Druggists and Shoe Stores, 25c. Sample mailed FREE. Address Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Survival of the Unfittest.

Science at last had evolved the boneless shad.

"Just what I've been waiting for," said the German carp.

Subsequent events showed that there wasn't room for both, and the boneless shad passed into history.

Don't Try Uncertain Recipes.

It is entirely unnecessary to experiment with this, that and the other recipe. Get from your grocer, for 10 cents, a package of "OUR-PIE" Preparation—Lemon, Chocolate or Custard—for making pies that are sure to be good. Put up by D-Zerta Food Co., Rochester, N. Y.

Oldest Weather Man.

Dennis Horigan, who is connected with the United States naval observatory, is perhaps the oldest weather man in the United States, says a Washington dispatch to the New York Sun. He has been keeping tab on the weather for fifty-two years.

Long before the weather bureau was established Mr. Horigan was making observations at the observatory night and day every three hours, noting the temperature, the barometric pressure, the nature of the clouds and the direction of the wind. Appointed under the administration of President Buchanan, in 1857, he has been in the service ever since.

He is now old, yet in fair health, considering his long service and the fact that it included night work. He came from the old country in the '50s, and settled in Georgetown, then the most important part of the District of Columbia.

He was at the old observatory in 1861 when Capt. M. F. Murry left to join the south in the civil war. He has served with many naval officers and scientists, among them Commander Maury, Capt. Gillis, Admirals Davis, Sands, Rodgers, Rowan, Shufeldt, Franklin, Belknap, Pythian, McNair, C. H. Davis and Chester, and Prof. Hall, Newcomb, Markness, Eastman, Prisby and Skinner.

Uncle Henry.

"Uncle Henry, what is a sociologist?

"A sociologist, my boy, is a person who can inspect a garbage can and find enough material in it for a long lecture on the needs of society.

FRIENDS HELP

St. Paul Park Incident.

"After drinking coffee for breakfast I always felt languid and dull, having no ambition to get to my morning duties. Then in about an hour or so a weak, nervous derangement of the heart and stomach would come over me with such force I would frequently have to lie down.

"At other times I had severe headaches; stomach finally became affected and digestion so impaired that I had serious chronic dyspepsia and constipation. A lady, for many years State President of the W. C. T. U., told me she had been greatly benefited by quitting coffee and using Postum Food Coffee; she was troubled for years with asthma. She said it was no cross to quit coffee when she found she could have as delicious an article as Postum.

"Another lady, who had been troubled with chronic dyspepsia for years, found immediate relief on ceasing coffee and beginning Postum twice a day. She was wholly cured. Still another friend told me that Postum Food Coffee was a Godsend to her, her heart trouble having been relieved after leaving off coffee and taking on Postum.

"So many such cases came to my notice that I concluded coffee was the cause of my trouble and I quit and took up Postum. I am more than pleased to say that my days of trouble have disappeared. I am well and happy." "There's a Reason." Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

The Firm of Girdlestone

BY

A. CONAN DOYLE

CHAPTER XXV.—(Continued.)

By evening the gale was at its height. The Black Eagle was running under maintopsail and foretopmast staysail. The sea had risen very quickly, as it will when the wind comes upon a swell. As far as the eye could see from the summit of a wave there was a vista of dark towering ridges with their threatening crests of foam. When the barque sank in the hollow these gleaming summits rose as high as her mainyard, and the two fugitives, clinging to the weather-shrouds, looked up in terror and amazement at the masses of water which hung above them. Once or twice waves actually broke over the vessel, crashing and roaring down the deck, and washing hither and thither until gradually absorbed between the planks or drained away through the scupper holes. On each of these occasions the poor rotten vessel would lurch and shiver in every plank, as if with a foreknowledge of its fate.

The carpenter came aft, balancing himself as best he could, for the deck was only a few degrees off the perpendicular.

"The leak is gainin' fast," he said. "The hands are clean done up. There's land on the starboard bow."

"Keep your heart up!" Miggs shouted, and then crawled along to the Girdlestones. "There's no hope for the ship, but we may save ourselves," he said. "You'll have to take your turn at the pumps."

"He's not fit to command," said Ezra to the mate. "What would you advise?"

"We'll bring her round and lower the boats on the lee side. They may live or no, but it's the only chance for us. Them two boats will hold us a' easy."

The ship was settling down in the water so fast that it was no difficult matter to let the boats down. They only hung a few feet above the surface. The majority of the crew got safely into the long boat, and the two Girdlestones with Miggs and four seamen, occupied the gig. The sun was shining on the rugged precipices, showing out the green turf upon their summit and a little dark group of peasants, who were watching the scene from above, but making no effort to assist the castaways. There was no alternative but to row straight in for the nearest point of land, for the boats were filling, and might go down at any moment.

"The ship's gone!" Ezra said, as they rose on the summit of a wave. When they came up again all looked round, but there was no sign of the ill-fated Black Eagle.

As he spoke a great wave hurled the boat in upon its broad bosom, and flung it down upon the cruel jagged rocks, which bristled from the base of the cliff. There was a horrible, rending crash, and the stout keel snapped asunder, while a second wave swept over it, tearing out the struggling occupants, and bearing them on, only to hurl them upon a second ridge beyond. The peasants upon the cliff gave piteous cries of grief and pity, which blended with the agonized groans and screams of drowning men and the thunder of the pitiless surge. Looking down they could see the black dots, which indicated the heads of the poor wretches below, diminishing one by one as they were hurled upon the rocks or dragged down by the undercurrent.

Ezra was a strong swimmer, but when he had shaken himself free of the boat, and kicked away a seaman who clung to him, he made no attempt to strike out. He knew that the waves would bear him quickly enough on to the rocks, and he reserved himself for the struggle with them. A great roller came surging over the outlying reef. It carried him in like a feather and hurled him up against the face of the cliff. As he struggled upon its crest, he mechanically put out his hands and seized a projecting portion of the rock. The shock of the contact was tremendous, but he retained his grasp and found himself, when the wave receded, standing battered and breathless upon a small niche in the front of the rock which just gave him foothold. It was a marvelous escape, for looking on either side he could not see any break in the sheer declivity.

He was by no means safe as yet. If a wave had handed him there, another might come as high and drag him away. Looking down, he saw one or two smaller ones break into spray far below him, and then a second great green billow came rolling majestically towards him. He eyed it as it came foaming in, and calculated that it would come at least as high as his knees. Would it drag him back with it, or could he hold his own? He braced himself as firmly as he could, placing his feet apart, and digging his nails into the inequalities of the rock until the blood gushed from them. The water surged up upon him, and he felt it tugging like some murderous demon at his legs, but he held on bravely until the pressure decreased. Looking below he saw the wave sinking down the face of the cliff. Another wave overtook it and welled it up again, and then from the depths of the green waters Ezra saw a long white arm shoot up, and grasp the edge of the ledge upon which he stood.

Even before the face appeared the young man knew that the hand was his father's. A second followed the first, and then the old merchant's face was uplifted from the waves. He was cruelly bruised and battered, and his clothes had been partly torn away. He recognized his son, however, and looked up at him beseechingly, while he held on with all his strength to the ledge of rock. So small was the space that his clinging fingers touched Ezra's toes.

"There's no room here," the young man said, brutally. "Hardly room for one." The merchant was hanging with the lower portion of his body in the water. It was but a few instants, but the old man had time to think of many an incident in his past life. He looked up appealingly at his son. Ezra saw that the next wave would lift him right up on to the ledge. In that case he might be hustled off.

"Leave go!" he cried.

"Help me, Ezra!"

His son brought down his heavy heel upon the bloodless hands. The old African trader gave a wild shriek and fell back into the sea. Looking down, Ezra saw his despairing face gazing at him through the water. Slowly it sank until it was but a flickering white patch far down in the green depths. At the same instant a thick rope came dangling down the face of the cliff, and the young man knew that he was saved.

CHAPTER XXVI.

Great was the excitement of the worthy couple at Phillimore Gardens when Kate Harston was brought back to them. Good Mrs. Dimsdale pressed her to her bosom and kissed her and scolded her and wept over her, while the doctor was so moved that it was only by assuming an expression of portentous severity and by bellowing and stamping about that he was able to keep himself in decent control.

"And you really thought we had forgotten you because we were insane enough to stop writing at that villain's request?" he said, patting Kate's pale cheeks tenderly, and kissing her.

"I was very foolish," she said, blushing prettily and rearranging her hair, which had been somewhat tumbled by her numerous caresses.

"Oh, that scoundrel—that pair of scoundrels!" roared the doctor, shaking his fist and dancing about on the hearthrug. "Pray heaven they may catch 'em before the trial comes off!"

The good physician's prayer was not answered in this case, for Burt was the only criminal who appeared in the dock. Our friends all went down to the Winchester Assizes to give evidence, and the navvy was duly convicted of the death of Rebecca Tayforth and condemned to death. He was executed some three weeks afterwards, dying as he had lived, stolid and unrepenting.

There is a little unpretending church not far from Phillimore Gardens, in which a little unpretending clergyman preaches every Sunday out of a very shabby pulpit. It lies in Castle lane, which is a narrow by-way, and the great crowd of church goers ebbs and flows within a hundred yards of it, but none know of its existence, for it has never risen to the dignity of a spire, and the bell is so very diminutive that the average muffin man produces quite as much noise. Hence, with the exception of some few families who have chanced to find their way there, and have been so pleased with their spiritual welcome that they have returned, there is a poor and fluctuating congregation. So scanty is it that the struggling incumbent could very well weep when he has spent the week in polishing and strengthening his sermon, and then finds upon the Sunday how very scanty is the audience to whom it is to be addressed.

Imagine, then, this good man's surprise when asked to publish the bands of marriage of two couples simultaneously, each of whom he knew to be in the upper circles of life, and when informed at the same time that the said marriages were actually to be celebrated under his own auspices and in his own church. In the fullness of his heart he at once bought a most unwearable black bonnet with lilac flowers and red berries, which he brought in triumph to his wife, who, good woman, affected extreme delight, and afterwards cut away all the obnoxious finery and replaced it to her own taste. The scanty congregation was no less surprised when they heard that Tobias Clutterbuck, bachelor, was about to marry Lavinia Scully, widow, and that Thomas Dimsdale was to do as much to Catherine Harston, spinster. They communicated the tidings to their friends, and the result was a great advertisement to the little church, so that the incumbent preached his favorite sermon upon barren fig trees to a crowded audience, and received such an offertory as had never entered into his wildest dreams.

And if this was an advertisement to the Castle lane church, how much more so was it when the very pompous carriages came rolling up with their very pompous drivers, all of whom, being married men, had a depreciatory and weary expression upon their faces, to show that they had done it all before and that it was nothing new to them. Out of one carriage there jumped a very jaunty gentleman, somewhat past the middle age and a little inclined to stoutness, but looking very healthy and rosy nevertheless. Beside him there walked a tall, tawny-bearded man, who glanced solicitously every now and again at his companion, as though he were the bottle-holder at a prize fight, and feared that his man might collapse at a moment's notice. From a second carriage there emerged an athletic, brown-faced young fellow accompanied by a small winged gentleman in spotless attire, who was in such a state of nervousness that he dropped his lavender glove twice on his way up the aisle. These gentlemen grouped themselves at the end of the church conversing in low whispers and looking exceedingly uncomfortable, as is the prerogative of the sterner sex under such circumstances. Mr. Gilray, who was Tom's best man, was introduced to Herr Von Baumser, and everyone was very affable and nervous.

Now there comes a rustling of drapery, and every one turns their heads as the brides sweep up to the altar. Here is Mrs. Scully, looking quite as charming as she did fifteen years ago on the last occasion when she performed the ceremony. She was dressed in a French-grey gown with bonnet to match, and the neatest little bouquet in the world, for which the major had ransacked Covent Garden. Behind her came bonny Kate, a very vision of loveliness in her fairy-like lace and beautiful ivory satin. Her dark lashes drooped over her violet eyes and a slight flush tinged her cheeks, but she glided steadily into her place and did her share in the responses when the earnest little clergyman appeared upon the scene. There was Dr. Dimsdale, too, with the brightest of smiles and snowiest of waistcoats, giving away the brides in the most open-handed fashion. His wife, too, was by his side in tears and purple velvet, and many other friends and relations, including the two socialists, who came at the major's invitation, and beamed on every one out of a side pew.

Then there was the signing of the registers, and such a kissing and a weeping and a distributing of fees as never was seen in Castle-lane church before. And Mrs. Dimsdale, as one of the witnesses, would insist upon writing her name in the space reserved for the bride, on which there were many small jokes passed, and much laughter. Then the wheezy old organ struck up Mendelssohn's wedding march, and the major puffed out his chest and stumped down the aisle with his bride, while Tom followed with his, looking round with proud and happy eyes. The carriages rolled up, there was a slamming of doors and a cracking of whips, and two more couples had started hand in hand down the long road of life which leads—who shall say whither?

The breakfast was at Phillimore Gardens, and a very glorious breakfast it was. Those who were present still talk of the manner in which the health of the brides was proposed by Dr. Dimsdale, and of the enthusiasm with which the toast was received by the company. Also of the flowery address in which the major returned thanks for the said toast, and the manly demeanor of the younger man as he followed suit. They speak, too, of many other pleasant things said and done upon that occasion. How Von Baumser proposed the health of the little incumbent, and the little incumbent that of Dr. Dimsdale, and the doctor drank to the unpronounceable Russian, who, being unable to reply, sang a revolutionary song which no one could understand. Very happy and very hearty was everyone by the time that the hour came at which the carriages were ordered, when, amid a pattering of rice and a chorus of heartfelt good wishes, the happy couples drove off upon their travels.

The liabilities of the firm of Girdlestone proved to be less serious than was at first imagined. After the catastrophe which had befallen the founder of the business, there was almost a panic in Fenchurch street, but on examination it proved that though the books had been deliberately falsified for some time, yet trade had been so brisk of late that, with a little help, the firm could continue to exist. Dimsdale threw all his money and his energy into the matter, and took Gilray into partnership, which proved to be an excellent thing for both of them. The firm of Dimsdale & Gilray is now among the most successful and popular of all the English firms connected with the African trade. Of their captains there is none upon whom they place greater reliance than upon McPherson, whose boat was providentially saved from the danger which destroyed his former captain and his employer.

What became of Ezra Girdlestone was never known. Some years after Tom heard from a commercial traveler of a melancholy, broken man who haunted the low betting houses of San Francisco, and who met his death eventually in some drunken fracas. There was much about this desperado which tallied with the description of young Girdlestone, but nothing certain was ever known about the matter.

And now I must bid adieu to the company with whom I have walked so long. I see them going on down the vista of the future, gathering wisdom and happiness as they go. There is the major, as stubby-toed and pigeon-breasted as ever, broken from many of his Bohemian ways, but still full of anecdote and of kindliness. There is his henchman, Von Baumser, too, who is a constant diner at his hospitable board, and who conveys so many sweets to a young Clutterbuck who has made his appearance, that one might suspect him of receiving a commission from the family doctor. Mrs. Clutterbuck, as buxom and pleasant as ever, makes noble efforts at stopping these contraband supplies, but the wily Teuton still manages to smuggle them through in the face of every obstacle. I see Kate and her husband, chastened by their many troubles, and making the road to the grave pleasant to the good old couple who are so proud of their son. All these I watch as they pass away into the dim coming time, and I know as I shut the book that, whatever may be in store for us there, they, at least, can never in the eternal justice of things, come to aught but good.

(THE END.)

The Virtue of Brevity.

Kwoter—Too many words, of course, are wearisome. Brevity is the soul of wit.

Wise (with a yawn)—Not always; but in any event it is always commendable.—Philadelphia Press.

Those who jump at conclusions often take a tumble.

MAY

A Safe and Sure Cough Cure.

Kemp's Balsam

Does not contain Opium, Morphine, or any other narcotic or "habit-forming" drug.

There is no Narcotic in Kemp's Balsam.

Nothing of a poisonous or harmful character enters into its composition.

This clean and pure cough cure cures coughs that cannot be cured by any other medicine.

It has saved thousands from consumption.

It has saved thousands of lives.

A 25c. bottle contains 40 doses.

At all druggists', 25c., 50c. and $1.

Don't accept anything else.

Paxtine

TOILET ANTISEPTIC

Keeps the breath, teeth, mouth and body antiseptically clean and free from unhealthy germ-life and disagreeable odors, which water, soap and tooth preparations alone cannot do. A germicidal, disinfecting and deodorizing toilet requisite of exceptional excellence and economy. Invaluable for inflamed eyes, throat and nasal and uterine catarrh. At drug and toilet stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.

Large Trial Sample

WITH "HEALTH AND BEAUTY" BOOK SENT FREE

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., Boston, Mass.

A Perverted Bromidium.

"Oh, girls," exclaimed the gushing maiden on the crowded street car, "I've just washed my hair and I can't do a thing with it!" Just then the car gave a lurch and she shrieked as the man in front of her stepped on her foot.

"Beg pardon," muttered the weary straphanger who had done the stepping. "You see, I've just washed my feet and I can't do a thing with them." —Judge.

The Pekin Gazette, which has been published for 1,100 years, is taking on some modern features, such as an editorial page and half-tone pictures.

ALMOST A MIRACLE.

Raised Up When Science Said There Was No Hope.

C. W. L. Nesbitt, Depot street, Marion, Ky., writes: "I was a chronic invalid with kidney troubles and often wished death might end my awful sufferings. The secretions were thick with sediment, my limbs swollen and my right side so nearly paralyzed I could not raise my hand above my head. The doctor held out no hope of my recovery and I had given up, but at last started using Doan's Kidney Pills and made a rapid gain. After three months' use I was well and at work again."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

A new monthly postal service across the Sahara has just been established. The messengers are mounted on camels.

Good Housekeepers Use the Best.

That's why they use Red Cross Ball Blue. At leading grocers, 5 cents.

Tommy's Blunder.

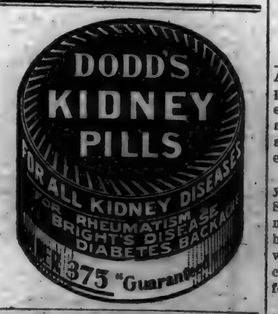
Mrs. De Smythe—Tommy, do you want some nice plum jam?

Tommy—Yes, mother.

Mrs. De Smythe—I was going to give you some to put on your bread, but I've lost the key to the pantry.

Tommy—You don't need the key, mother. I can reach down through the window and open the door from the inside.

Mrs. De Smythe—That's what I wanted to know. Now just wait till your father comes home.—Catholic Mirror.



GARFIELD DIGESTIVE TABLETS

From your druggist, or the GARFIELD TEA CO., Brooklyn, N. Y., 25c. per bottle.

WIDOWS' PENSIONS under NEW LAW obtained by JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.

Pattern Department

UP-TO-DATE DESIGNS FOR THE HOME DRESSMAKER

Misses' Blouse or Shirt Waist.

Simple blouses are exceedingly becoming to young girls and are much in vogue for school and all similar occasions. This one closes at the left side in a distinctly novel manner and is adapted to silk, flannel, linen, madras and all waistings of a similar weight, and also will be found admirable for the thinner, lighter ones, such as embroidered batiste and Swiss muslin, materials of this sort made in shirt waist style being one of the features of the incoming season. In the illustration the sleeves are long, finished with straight cuffs, but they can be made in three-quarter length and finished with narrower bands if liked.

PATTERN NO. 5919.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:

Order Coupon.

No. 5919.

SIZE .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

Men's Plain Outing Shirt.

The plain outing shirt is one that is well liked by most men. It can be made from plain cheviot or figured, from madras or from percale, from pongee, wash silk, from every material that is used for garments of the sort. This one can be finished with neck band and wristbands and worn with separate collar and cuffs, or with a roll-over collar attached to the neck and with cuffs stitched to the sleeve edges.

PATTERN NO. 5916.

Again, it allows a choice of a yoke or plain back, so that it fulfills almost every need and requirement. There is a patch pocket on the left front and a wide box plait finishes the front edge.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:

Order Coupon.

No. 5916.

SIZE .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna

Cleanses the System Effectually, Dispels Colds and Headaches due to Constipation; Acts naturally, acts truly as a Laxative.

Best for Men, Women and Children—Young and Old.

To get its Beneficial Effects Always buy the Genuine which has the full name of the Company

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

by whom it is manufactured, printed on the front of every package.

SOLD BY ALL LEADING DRUGGISTS.

one size only, regular price 50¢ per bottle.

Everything Was Work.

On a warm Tuesday afternoon in February—there are such in New York—after "Polly of the Circus" had been at the Liberty Theater nearly two months, Frederick Thompson, detecting some carelessness in the work of two of his actors, called a rehearsal. The company, frightened into unwonted alertness and activity, had reached the end of the second act when Mabel Taliaferro, the star, declared that she had been working too hard, and was going to rest for a while.

"Working hard!" exclaimed her husband and manager. "Mrs. Thompson, do you know what work is?"

"I certainly do," replied the wee actress icily, "everything is work."

"Don't jest," said the manager. "Remember that you are Miss Taliaferro in the theater, and not Mrs. Thompson."

"Everything is work," said the little lady.

"Is this work?" exclaimed Mr. Thompson, pounding the chair on which he was seated.

"Yes, it's wood work," said his wife.

She rested.—Success Magazine.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss
LUCAS COUNTY.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

(SEAL.) A. W. GLEASON, NOTARY PUBLIC.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Father to the Man.

The man who sighs for the bygone day
When a barefoot boy he ran
Is the same old boy who used to say:
"Gee, I wish I was a man."

Zoological Post Cards—Second Series.

If you are a collector or dealer of postal cards, you will be interested in an attractive set of eight cards just published, showing the most valuable wild animals in the Ringling Bros.' Menagerie. a set will be mailed you for 16c. Special prices in lots to dealers. There is a great opportunity to make money in selling these cards to collectors or the general public. Address The Evening Wisconsin Co., Post Card Dep't., Milwaukee, Wis.

Foreign and Domestic.

His Wife (reading)—I see they had a bread riot in Spain recently.

Her Husband—Yes; and we'll have one at home soon if there isn't an improvement in your biscuits.

If You Have Common Sore Eyes, if lines blur or run together, you need PETTIT'S EYE SALVE, 25c. All druggists or Howard Bros., Buffalo, N. Y.

The timber output of Maine last winter was 900,000,000 feet and the indications are that these figures will be about equaled this year. The scarcity of labor prevented operations to a large degree.

Don't Spoil Your Clothes.

Use Red Cross Ball Blue and keep them white as snow. All grocers, 5 cents a package.

Used a Counter Irritant.

"Baldwin, you've been drinking!"

"I don't show it half as much as you do, Rambo."

"That's because you sobered yourself by getting your safe open. It took you half an hour to work the combination. I've been watching you, you glaring old fraud!"

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

F. W. N. U. - - - No. 19—1908

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Advertisement in this paper

THE MUSSULMANS.

They Are Not Easily Disturbed While Saying Their Prayers.

When saying his prayers the true Mussulman is not easily disturbed. Hans Doering, in his account of his travels in Chinese Turkestan, writes: "It is an interesting sight to see a Mussulman perform his devotions. Through the piece of glass in my paper window, I saw the interpreter spread his carpet in front of his house just opposite the one in which I was living. His wife and child sat quite close to him talking loudly with some visitors, but this did not in the least disturb the old man at his devotions.

"In spite of the noise the melodious chanting of the Koran was qute audible. The worshiper kotowed several times and cried 'Allah, Allah, Allah!' then for awhile stood reverentially clasping his hands crosswise upon his breast, after which he joined in the conversation.

"His wife then went through the same performance, doing exactly the same as her husband. This they do every morning and evening whether there are friends with them or not."

The Society for the Destruction of Vermin is an English organization, with the object of warring on the rats in that country.

A Remedy for Neuralgia or Pain in Nerves.

For neuralgia and sciatica Sloan's Liniment has no equal. It has a powerfully sedative effect on the nerves—penetrates without rubbing and gives immediate relief from pain—quickens the circulation of the blood and gives a pleasant sensation of comfort and warmth.

"For three years I suffered with neuralgia in the head and jaws," writes J. P. Hubbard, of Marietta, S. C., "and had almost decided to have three of my teeth pulled, when a friend recommended me to buy a twenty-five-cent bottle of Sloan's Liniment. I did so and experienced immediate relief, and I kept on using it until the neuralgia was entirely cured. I will never be without a bottle of Sloan's Liniment in my house again. I use it also for insect bites and sore throat, and I can cheerfully recommend it to any one who suffers from any of the ills which I have mentioned."

BABY'S Favourite

Skin Soap

Warm baths with Cuticura Soap followed, when necessary, by gentle anointings with Cuticura, the great Skin Cure, preserve, purify and beautify the skin, scalp, hair and hands of infants and children, relieve eczemas, rashes, itchings, irritations and chafings, permit rest and sleep and point to a speedy removal of torturing, disfiguring humours when all else fails. May be used from the hour of birth.

Sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27, Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5, Rue de la Paix; Australia, R. Towns & Co., Sydney; India, B. K. Paul, Calcutta; China, Hong Kong Drug Co.; Japan, Maruya, Ltd., Tokio; Russia, Ferrein, Moscow; So. Africa, Lennon, Ltd., Cape Town, etc.; U.S.A., Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

Post Free, Cuticura Booklet on the Skin.

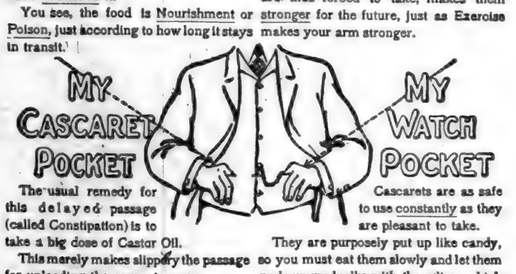
How to Exercise the Bowels

Your Intestines are lined inside with millions of little suckers, that draw the Nutrition out of food as it passes them.

But, if the food passes too slowly, it decays before it gets through. Then the little suckers draw Poison from it instead of Nutrition.

This Poison makes a Gas that injures your system more than the food should have nourished it.

You see, the food is Nourishment or Poison, just according to how long it stays in transit.



The usual remedy for this delayed passage (called Constipation) is to take a big dose of Castor Oil.

This merely makes slippery the passage for unloading the current cargo.

It does not help the Cause of delay a trifle.

It does slacken the Bowel-Muscles more than ever, and thus weakens them for their next task.

Another remedy is to take a strong Cathartic, like Salts, Calomel, Jalap, Phospate of Sodium, Aperient Water, or any of these mixed.

What does the Cathartic do?

It mere flushes out the Bowels with a waste of Digestive Juice, set flowing into the Intestines through the tiny suckers.

* * *

But, the Digestive Juice we waste in doing this today is needed for tomorrow's natural Digestion. We cannot afford to lose it.

That's why Cascarets are the only safe medicine for the bowels.

They do not waste any precious fluid of the Bowels, as Cathartics do.

They do not relax the Intestines by greasing them inside like Castor Oil or Glycerine.

They simply stimulate the Bowel Muscles to do their work naturally, comfortably, and nutritiously.

And, the Exercise these Bowel Muscles are thus forced to take, makes them stronger for the future, just as Exercise makes your arm stronger.

Cascarets are as safe to use constantly as they are pleasant to take.

They are purposely put up like candy, so you must eat them slowly and let them go down gradually with the saliva, which is in itself, a fine, natural Digestive.

They are put up purposely in thin, flat, round-cornered Enamel boxes, so they can be carried in a man's vest pocket, or in a woman's purse, all the time, without bulk or trouble.

Price 10c a box at all druggists.

Be very careful to get the genuine, made only by the Sterling Remedy Company and never sold in bulk. Every tablet stamped "CCC."

718m

* * *

FREE TO OUR FRIENDS!

We want to send to our friends a beautiful French-designed GOLD-PLATED BONBON BOX hard-enameled in colors. It is a beauty for the dressing table. Ten cents in stamps is asked as a measure of good faith and to cover cost of Cascarets with which this dainty trinket is loaded.

Send to-day, mentioning this paper. Address Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago or New York.

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES $3.00 $3.50

SHOES AT ALL PRICES, FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE FAMILY, MEN, BOYS, WOMEN, MISSES AND CHILDREN.

First Color Effects Used Exclusively.

W. L. Douglas makes and sells more men's $2.50, $3.00 and $3.50 shoes than any other manufacturer in the world, because they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater value than any other shoes in the world to-day.

W. L. Douglas $4 and $5 Gilt Edge Shoes Cannot Be Equalled At Any Price

CAUTION. W. L. Douglas name and price is stamped on bottom. Take No Substitute. Sold by the best shoe dealers everywhere. Shoes mailed from factory to any part of the world. Illustrated Catalog free to any address.

W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES

Color more goods brighter and faster colors than any other dye. One 10c package colors all fibers. They dye in cold water better than any other dye. You can dye any garment without ripping apart. Write for free booklet—How to Dye, Bleach and Mix Colors. MONROE DRUG CO., Quincy, Illinois

MAY

L 903

Political Announcements.

FOR SHERIFF.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Please announce my name as a candidate for the nomination of sheriff of the county subject to the decision of the democratic primary.

RALPH W. THOMAS.

FOR SHERIFF.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Please announce my name as a candidate for sheriff subject to the decision of the Democratic primary.

JAMES S. LOWE.

RECORDER.

Please announce my name as a candidate for the democratic nomination for county recorder, subject to the wishes of the voters at their primary.

J. M. NORFORD.

FOR CLERK.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Please announce my name as a candidate for the democratic nomination for clerk of the DeKalb Circuit court subject to the wishes of the voters at their primary.

EDGAR W. ATKINSON.

FOR CLERK

EDITOR NEWS:—

Please announce that I am a candidate for the democratic nomination for county clerk, subject to the wishes of the voters at their primary.

JOHN HEBEL.

CLERK.

EDITOR NEWS:

Please announce my name as a candidate for the democratic nomination of clerk of the DeKalb circuit court, subject to the wishes of the voters at their prinfaries, June 4, 1908.

WM. H. LEAS.

RECORDER.

EDITOR NEWS:—

You may announce my name as a candidate from Keyser township, for the democratic nomination for Recorder, subject to the decision of the coming primary election.

D. E. HERSHBERGER.

CLERK

EDITOE NEWS:—

You may announce my name as a candidate for clerk of the county subject to the Democratic primary.

WARREN A. AUSTIN,

SURVEYOR.

Please announce my name as a candidate for the nomination for the office of county surveyor from Keyser township subject to the decision of the voters expressed at the democratic primaries to be held on June 4th.

CHARLES L. WAGONER.

RECORDER.

Please announce my name as a candidate for the democratic nomination for county recorder, subject to the wishes of the democratic voters as expressed at their primaries to be held on June 4, (Jackson township.)

L. D. NELSON.

RECORDER.

Please announce my name as a candidate for nomination for the office of county recorder from Wilmington township, subject to the decision of the democratic primaries to be held June 4th.

S. G. HAVERSTOCK.

COMMISSIONER

EDITOR NEWS:—

Announce my name as a democratic nominee for comissioner of the southeast district subject to the primary elections June 4.

AMOS SNYDER.

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

BELL PHONE NO. 82.

St. Joe, - Indiana.

WABASH CORNERS.

Manuel Ulms is building a new sheep shed.

Frank Scott went to Minnesota last week.

Mrs. Anna Rickett spent Thursday in Auburn.

Wm. Pervines and wife spent part of last week at Garrett.

Orange Herrick and son Ray made a business trip to Auburn, Saturday.

Cal Loux was the guest of Miss Susie Sumption at Fort Wayne Sunday.

Mrs. J. R. Shilling called on her sister, Mrs. Manuel Ulms, Saturday afternoon.

Bessie Hart of near Coburn's Corners, was the guest of May Daily, Wednesday night.

Ella Gill, Ida Woodcox and son Homer of St. Joe, were guests of Ida Herrick, Thursday.

George Arnold of Grand Rapids, M., was the guest of Sherman Rickett and family, Thursday night.

Mrs. Anna Henderson and daughter Ruth of Spencerville, were the guests of John Smith and family, Thursday.

Ernest Johnson, wife and daughter Thelma, Loyd and Dell Draggoo of Concord, were Sunday guests at Mart Hull's Winfield Pervines was operated on at the Sacred Heart hospital at Garrett, Wednesday. He is getting along as well as could be expected.

Valued Same as Gold.

B. G. Stewart, a merchant of Cedar View, Miss., says: "I tell my customers when they buy a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills they get the worth of that much gold in weight; if afflicted with constipation, malaria or biliousness." Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's, drug store. 25c.

SPENCERVILLE R F D No 2.

Wm. Wearley and wife of Woodburn, were guests at D. M. Kelley's Sunday.

Mrs. Cora Steward and son Fred spent Sunday with Harvie Kimes and family. A number from here attended the entertainment at Spencerville, Friday evening.

Henry Shippleman and wife of Woodburn, were visitors at Harvie Kimes' Monday.

Mr Crist Sheppelmar of near Woodburn was the guest of Miss Pluma Kimes Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Daub of Garrett, spent Sunday with the latter's parents, Wm. Davis and wife.

Wallace Miller, wife and daughter Eva and son Terman were callers at the home of C. M. Wearley, Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Shutt and Mrs. Wm. Ringwalt of Fort Wayne came down in their auto, Sunday and took supper with Clint Wearley and family, also attended the funeral of Mrs. Louisa Shutt, returning home Monday evening.

The people of this community were greatly shocked to learn of the death of Mrs. Louisa Shutt, which occured at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ida Kelley, Friday evening about nine o'clock. The family has the sympathy of the neighbors during their sad bereavement.

KRESO DIP

(STANDARDIZED)

For All Live Stock

EASY AND SAFE TO USE.

KILLS LICE, TICKS, FLEAS, MITES. CURES MANGE, SCAB, RINGWORM, SCRATCHES, ETC. DESTROYS DISEASE GERMS AND DRIVES AWAY FLIES.

NON-IRRITATING. EFFECTIVE. INEXPENSIVE.

THE IDEAL DIP

FOR SALE BY

F. R. Bowman,

Spencerville, Ind

ASK FOR FREE BOOKLETS.

Willie Benninghoff has accepted a position as chauffeur at Elkhart.

Plenty of Trouble

is caused by stagnation of the liver and bowels. To get rid of it and headache and billiousness and the poison that brings jaundice, take Dr. King's New Life Pills, the reliable purifiers that do the work without grinding or griping. 25c at H. Milliman's drug store.

FAIRVIEW

Russel Houser began working for Wm. Knight last week.

Miss Pearl Rolland of near Garrett, was the guest of Ethel Houser a few days last week.

Gay Hay and family and Lankey Morr and family spent Sunday with Edward Bassett's.

Calvin Hathaway, Wife and little daughter Mildred of Garrett, were guests of Norman Rolland Sunday,

Mrs. Elic Platter and daughter went to her brother's near Spencerville, Sundayand brought his little girl home with them to spend a few days.

The farmers around here will certainly be able to do a lot of hard work these days without sweating much. They are doing their plowing with their overcoats on.

Last Friday W. D. Johnston sold J. R. Shull twenty-five dozen eggs for hatching purposes. He bought twenty dozen previously this year. Many neighbors and others at a distance have secured from five to twenty dozen each.

The Auburn Woodmen Band has engaged Chastine Johnston to compose a march and make a band arrangement of twenty-four parts to include certain points and to be used as a special feature at the Woodmen State Log Rolling Association to be held in Auburn, August 15. He has it about half done at this writing.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

There is probably no medicine made that is relied upon with more implicit confidence than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. During the third of a century in which it has been in use, people have learned that it is the one remedy that never fails. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take. For sale by H. Milliman, St. Joe; F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

Notice.

Sale of Lands by Commissioner.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that I, Jacob D. Leighty, a commissioner appointed by the DeKalb Circuit Court in an action therein pending, wherein Barbara Etta Shutt is plaintiff and Laura Shutt, et. al., are defendants, by virtue of authority in said cause conferred upon me by said Court, will, on the 8th day of May, 1908, and at such other times as I may hereafter fix, without further notice, offer for sale, at private sale, at not less than the appraised value thereof, in separate parcels of not more than forty (40) acres, but will sell the same in less parcels than forty (40) acres, to any purchaser or purchasers, the following described lands, to-wit:

The north west fourth (¼) of the north west quarter (¼) of section twenty-nine (29), township thirty-three (33), north of range fourteen (14) east, containing forty (40) acres more or less.

The east one half (½) of the north west quarter (¼) of section twenty-nine (29), township thirty-three (33), north of range fourteen (14) east, containing eighty (80) acres more or less.

The west one half (½) of the north east quarter (¼) of section twenty-nine (29), township thirty-three (33), north of range fourteen (14) east, excepting therefrom the right of way of the Fort Wayne and Detroit Railroad Company, containing seventy-three and seventy-nine hundredths (73 79-100) acres more or less.

All that part of the west half (½) of the south east quarter (¼) of section twenty-nine (29), township thirty-three (33), ndrth of range fourteen (14) east, lying east of the east line of the right of way of the Fort Wayne and Detroit Railroad Company, excepting therefrom eleven and seventy-seven hundredths (11 77-100) acres in Shutt's and Henderson's Addition to the Town of Spencerville, bounded as follows:—Commencing at an iron monument at the outh east corner of said west half (½); thence north at right angles to the section line three hundred eighty (380) feet; thence west parallel with the center line of said section thirteen hundred fifty (1350) feet; thence south to the south line of said west half (½); thence east thirteen hundred fifty (1350) feet to the place of beginning, leaving a balance in said tract of sixty-four and nineteen hundredths (64 19-100) acres.

All that part of the east half (½) of the south west quarter (¼) of section twenty-nine (29), township thirty-three (33), north of range fourteen (14) east, lying east of the east line of the right of way of the Fort Wayne and Detroit Railroad Company, containing eleven and fifty hundredths (11 50-100) acres.

The west half (½) of the north east one fourth (¼) of the south east quarter (¼) of section twenty-nine (29), township thirty-three (33), north of range fourteen (14) east, containing twenty (20) acres.

The north east one fourth (¼) of the north east quarter (¼) of section thirty-two (32), township thirty-three (33), north of range fourteen (14) east, excepting therefrom a tract seven and one half (7½) rods in width east and west off the west side thereof, and nineteen (19) acres in the form of a parallelogram off the east side thereof, leaving a balance of seventeen and one fourth (17¼) acres.

Also lots one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4), five (5), six (6), seven (7), eight (8), nine (9), ten (10), eleven (11), twelve (12), thirteen (13), fourteen (14), fifteen (15), sixteen (16), seventeen (17), eighteen (18), nineteen (19), twenty (20), twenty-one (21), twenty-two (22), twenty-three (23), twenty-four (24), twenty-five (25), twenty-six (26), twenty-seven (27), twenty-eight (28), forty (40), forty-one (41), forty-two (42), forty-three (43), forty-four (44), forty-five (45), forty-six (46), forty-seven (47) and forty-eight (48) in Shutt's and Henderson's Addition to the Town of Spencerville, according to the recorded plat thereof.

Terms of Sale.

One third (1-3) cash; one third (1-3) in six months, and one third (1-3) in one year from date of sale, and for the deferred payments the purchaser or purchasers shall execute to me their notes bearing six (6) per cent interest from date, containing the usual provisions as to attornays' fees, waiver of valuation and appraisement laws, and secured by mortgage or mortgages upon the real estate so sold, but the purchaser or purchasers may optionally pay at the time of the purchase the entire amount of the purchase money, or greater amount than one third thereof, and he or they may optionally pay said notes or any of them before maturity.

JACOB D. LEIGHTY,
Commissioner.

CHARLES E. EMANUEL,
and
W. and E. LEONARD,
Attorneys.

RIGHT NOW

Is when you want House Cleaning "Fixins." The demand for Rugs for floor coverings is ever increasing. We have a large assortment for you to select from and we are sure if you'll give us a chance we'll please you both in style and price.

9 x 12 Oriental designs, velvet rugs. Sold at all city stores for $25.00. Our price..... $21.98

Lineoleums

A large range of patterns in in 6 and 12 foot wide, cut to fit your room at 45c, 50c and 60c sq. yd.

Curtain Material.

By the yard.....10c to 30c

Carpets.

From the cheapest cotton to the best all-wool in a large variety of patterns, 25c to 70c per yd.

Door Panels

In pretty designs at 25c to 50c

Lace Curtains

A large variety of patterns to select from in both white and ecru. Per pair

98c to $6.00.

Curtain poles in Brass extension at.....10c and 15c

White enameled curtain poles at.....10c

Curtain stretchers.....$1.00

Window Shades.

In all colors, 7 ft long at 25c. Window shades for large windows always in stock.

Big Four Store.

St. Joe, Ind.

ANOTHER NEW SENATOR.

Frank B. Gary of South Carolina, Who Fills the Late Mr. Latimer's Seat.

Frank Boyd Gary, who has been chosen to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator A. C. Latimer of South Carolina, is a son of the late Dr. F. F. Gary and a nephew of the noted Confederate soldier Mart W. Gary. He has a brother, Eugene B. Gary, who is a member of the South Carolina supreme court, and still another, Ernest, who is a member of the bench of the United States circuit court. Senator Gary himself has been a special circuit judge. He was born in Abbeyville, S. C., in 1860, and studied at Union college, Schenectady, N. Y. He first entered politics in South Carolina in

SENATOR FRANK B. GARY.

1890, when he was elected to the state house of representatives, of which feur years later he was chosen speaker. He served in that capacity for five years and in 1902 ran for governor, being the first advocate of local option as between prohibition and the dispensary system. He was again chosen to the legislature in 1906. He is a supporter of William J. Bryan for the Democratic nomination for president, and his nearest competitor for the senatorial post, Legrand G. Walker, recently announced himself in favor of Governor John A. Johnson as the Democratic nominee.

Envelopes 5c a bunch.

Local Briefs

Wanted wood on subscription.

Mrs. Vincent Dilley is the guest of relatives at Auburn this week.

Miss Laura Shutt and Mrs. Eva Elson of Auburn were in town, Tuesday.

Miss Mabel Williams went to Hicksville, Monday, to work in the home of J. M. Ainsworth.

Wm. Staman Jr. of Chicago came home yesterday for a short visit with his parents. He is laid up with a sprained side.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 903 Ninth Street, opp. United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CA·SNOW &C.

MAY

L 903

0168

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXII. ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA. WEDNESDAY, MAY 13, 1908. NO. 20

Every little bit added to what you've got makes just a little bit more.

Is your money making money for you?
The more of it you have working for you, the less you need to work yourself. We pay 4 per cent interest compounded semi-annually on Certificates of Deposit.

$1.00 will double itself in 17 years 183 days.
$1.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $147.49.
$5.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $737.43
$10.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $1474.85

Now is the time to save. Anyone can save from $1.00 to $10.00 a month if they only will. It's not what you earn but what you save Fourper cent interest added to what you've already got makes just a little bit more

Grabill State Bank,

Grabill, Indiana.

Joseph Witmer, Pres. Albert Egly, Cashier.
David Klopfenstein, V. Pres. Marcus Yager, Asst. Cashier.

Decoration.

The meeting of the ex-soldiers at G. A. R. Hall, Saturday, May 9, 1908, was well attended and the general arrangement for observing Memorial and Decoration services at the various cemetries within the jurisdiction of John C. Carnes, Post No. 144 Dept. of Indiana, was complied. Memorial services will be held on Sunday, May 24, at 2 o'clock P. M. at Widney's Opera House in St. Joe Rev. S. E. Slater of Auburn will deliver the sermon. Memorial services will be held at Newville at the U. B. church in the evening. Rev. Hill will deliver the sermon. Decoration services will be held at the following places.

Spencerville, 9:30 A. M. Standard.
Coburntown, 9:30 A. M. Standard.
Newville, 2:00 P. M. Standard.
St. Joe, 6:00 P. M. Standard.

Rev. Hill will deliver address at Newville; Rev. Brown at Coburntown; and Revs. Brown and Hill at St. Joe.

At Spencerville the speaker at this date has not been selected. The comrades and citizens at Spencerville will hold a general meeting at Spencerville in the evening of May 11 to make arrangements for Decoration services, so you can be assured of a good speaker being selected for Spencerville. At the Jenkins, Township Line, Bear Creek and Watson cemeteries a committee was appointed to decorate the graves of comrades buried in these cemetries and report to the meeting at St. Joe. The number of ex-soldiers buried at the above cemetries are as follows:-

Spencerville 37; Newville 48; Coburntown 9; Jenkins 4; Watsons 2; Bear Creek 4; Township Line 1; St. Joe 3. Total 108.

Thus you see that the "Old Soldiers" is fast passing away only a few more years, shall they be forgotten or will future generation observe these beautiful ceremonies, we hope they will. In the published report of the citizens organization at St. Joe the names of the execution committee improperly quoted, we will give the committee in full, D. J. Baker. Pres. of citizens organization; Harry Kees, Vice Pres.; C. C. Woodcox, Sec. M. T. Bishop, Treas. J. D. Leighty, Commander; O. H. Widney, Sr. Vice Com. Mahlon Baker, Jr. Vice Com. G. A. R. and Mrs. Mahlon Baker, Mrs. Bert Patterson and Mrs. Dr. Sheffer composed that committee.

The arrangments at all these meetings will be complete with good music. We hope that the public will lay aside their general work and attend these services. Let us take one day from the busy turmoil of life and devote it to remembering our dear friends that have passed over the river to the other shore. And now as in this silent camping ground of our dead, with soldierly tenderness and love we garland these passionless mounds let us recall those who make their breasts a barricade between our Countryand its foes.

Harness Shop.

I have opened a harness shop in St. Joe and am ready for all work. Prices given on new work. If you need repair work done, bring it in and same will receive our prompt attention.

WM. UMSTEAD.

A Californian's Luck.

"The luckiest day of my life was when I bought a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve," writes Charles F. Budahn, of Tracy, California. "Two 25c boxes cured me of an annoying case of itching piles, which had troubled me for years and that yielded to no other treatment." Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store.

Wedded.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scholes, Saturday evening, occurred the marriage of their daughter Nellie, to Mr. Robert Ulm. The ceremony was performed by Elder J. A. Brown of Church of Christ. The bride and groom were attended by Miss Maude Scholes and Mr. Dehner of Ft. Wayne.

We extend congratulations.

Old People's Day.

On next Sunday the Christian church will observe "Old peoples day" and a special invitation is extended to all of the old people whether members of the church or not. Old songs will be sung and some special music prepared. Come and enjoy the day with us.

J. A. BROWN, Minister.

Alumni Banquet.

The 5th annual banquet of the High School Alumni on Friday evening was the social event of the week. Over one hundred alumni and invited guests sat down to the tables and partook of an elegant five course banquet, served by the Ladies Aid of the Christian church. The banquet consisted of tomato bouillon, wafers, pickles, celery and olives, 1st. course; Fricasee of chicken, mashed potatoes, salmon salad, jelly and bread and butter, 2nd. course: ice cream and cake, 3rd. course; coffee and cheese wafers, 4th. course; bon bons, 5th. course. The following toasts were responded to: "Six Little Chickens," Lee O. Tustison, '00; 'Cain' C. C. Woodcox; "The Timber," Bert Woodcox, '03; "The Leap Year Girl," Ethel Berry, '05; "Honey Boy, Nettie Palmer Baker; "Last but Not Least," Ray Herrick, '07. Rob Ulm, '03, acted as toastmaster.

Preceding the banquet an interesting program was given, consisting of the singing of the Alumni Ode by all present; Welcome Address, Merritt Sechler, '03; Response, Mary Scholes, '08; Piano Solo, Esther Hollabaugh, '04; Original Poetry, Earl Sherer, '02; Duet, Lora Hull '02 and Merritt Sechler, '03; Reading, Edna Koch Moudy, '04; Trio, Hazel Berry, '06, Vera Copp, '07 and Emma White.

Those present from out of town were: Mrs. Dessie Reasoner Potter, '00 Earl Sherer, '02. Elgin Curie, '06, of Fort Wayne; Blanche Woodcox, '07, Caseyville, Ky; Lee O. Tustison, '00, South Whitley, Ind., Fuchsia Hadsell '05, Peru, Ind., Lola Reichelderfer and Joy Shutt, Harlan, Ind., Chas. Bishop and wife of Reading, Mich., Esther Bowman, '01, Miss Jennie Steward, Messers Ed Cupp and Connie Davis, Spencerville.

The banquet was excellent in every particular and was well attended, 108 being in attendance.

Class of 1908.

FLOSSIE C. COPP
ETHEL WAYNE LEIGHTY
MARY SCHOLES
LAURA VESTA WOODCOX
GRACE KAIN
CALVIN C. KAIN

Another year of school work has gone and at its close the St. Joe High School turns out a class of six, the class of 1908. Five young ladies and one young man have had the persever ance to continue to strive for a higher education. The commencement exercises, Wednesday evening, was the culmination of three years of earnest work on the excellent high school course laid down by the St. Joe High school.

Notwithstanding the very unfavorable weather conditions a large audience attended the exercises on Wednesday evening. The opera house was tastefully decorated in the class colors, orange and black, foliage of flowers, evergreens, potted plants and class banners. The center piece of the decorations was a large horseshoe on which the class motto was printed: Rowing not drifting.

The program was opened by a piano solo by Miss Lora Hull, who rendered a selection from the opera William Tell, in a very creditable manner. After the invocation by Rev. Hill, C. A. Woodcox sang "The Skipper of St. Ives" and responded to an encore. Miss Ethel Leighty's oration was "A Girl's education". Miss Leighty easily carried off the honors in delivery. Her voice had power and she was master of her subject in every particular. "The Accomplishing of a Purpose" was the subject of Miss Laura Woodcox's oration. Miss Woodcox's delivery was quite good, but lacked in force and mastery.

A violin solo by Miss Fuchsia Hadsell, of Peru, received hearty appreciation. Miss Flossie Copp's oration, "The Home" was a well written production, but lacked in force of delivery. Miss Grace Kain's effort, "Silent Influences" was well written and delivered in good voice. A vocal solo, "A May Morning" by Mrs. S. W. Tustison was given in her usual pleasing style. The next oration, "Progress of Civilization" was given by Miss Mary Scholes. With a subject so broad, Miss Scholes did justice to her composition. Her delivery was somewhat lacking in force. "No Gain without Pain" was the subject of Calvin Kain's oration. Mr. Kain's voice lacked power, somewhat detracting from his well prepared effort. The last musical number, a ladies quartette, "O'er sparkling wave" by Mesdames Patterson, Baker, Sechler and Hathaway was well rendered. The benediction was pronounced by F. A. Dressel. The piano used for the commencement exercises was a fine Chute & Butler I. S. Hadsell generously donating the use of it for the exercises.

Class Address.

Delivered by Prof. Fairfield, of the Tri-State Normal College of Angola.

The weather man was working harder, Thursday evening, than on the previous evening. The rain began earlier and kept coming down so steadily that a great many people remained at home, altho the audience was quite large. Prof. Fairfield of Angola, delivered the class address and those who were there were well repaid for braving the rain. His address was interesting and instructive and was listened to with marked attention. "Be men and women in all that true manhood and womanhood implies" was the summing up of his closing remarks. The musical features of the program, a ladies sextette by Mesdames Patterson, Baker, Tustison, Sechler, Curie and Hathaway; a cornet solo by Foraker Ferrell; a violin solo by Fuchsia Hadsell and vocal solo by C. A. Woodcox, all received hearty appreciation. In fact, the musical part of both evenings were above the average.

Notice.

All persons interested in having the cemetery cleaned and the graves fixed up are requested to meet at the cemetery, Tuesday, May 19th, for the purpose of assisting in this work. Bring shovels, hoes, rakes, mattocks, scythes and lawn mowers. Work will commence in the morning and continue until completed.

Potatoes for sale. HENRY MILLIMAN. Phone 76-12.

314 West Second St. AUBURN, IND.

We are Trying

Our best to be up-to-date in everything; we take great pride in our Floral Designs and growing the best grade of Cut Flowers. Our Garden plants are A-No. 1.

MAKE OUR ACQUAINTANCE

C. M. TenEyck & Son,

Proprietors.

HOME and BELL TELEPHONES.

ANNOUNCEMENT TO CHICKEN OWNERS

We have just received a shipment of

Corno Poultry Feed

Made from a combination of only pure grain, scientifically mixed—contains no grit which makes weight—no elevator or weed seeds, which chickens will not eat—no cereal by-products or fine stuff—positively no waste. Every pound of CORNO Poultry Feed is an honest one and of full feeding value.

CORNO HEN FEED, makes hens lay. CORNO CHICK FEED, made from grain and millet seed, saves the life of little chicks.

Your chickens will be a profit to you when you feed them right.

Give CORNO Poultry Feed a trial—that's all we ask.

SOLD BY

Chas. F. Kagey.

MAY

0169

L 903

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

FRED B. LEIGHTY, - - Publisher.

1908 MAY 1908

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
					1	2
3	4	5	6	7	8	9
10	11	12	13	14	15	16
17	18	19	20	21	22	23
24	25	26	27	28	29	30
31

N. M. 8th. F. Q. 15th. F. M. 22nd. L. Q. 29th.

PAST AND PRESENT

AS IT COMES TO US FROM ALL CORNERS OF THE EARTH.

Telegraphic Information Gathered by the Few for the Enlightenment of the Many.

A Mollycoddle Rooster.

The mollycoddle rooster, of Maplewood, Mo., is now a mother. He hatched twelve Plymouth Rock chicks out of fifteen eggs on which he has been sitting three weeks, and is inordinately proud of the achievement. But he was not allowed to enjoy the pleasure of motherhood. N. D. Kitchell, his owner, was afraid he would injure the chickens in moving awkwardly among them—a fear which was increased by the rooster's desire to exhibit his brood to the others in the barnyard—and took all twelve away from him, placing them in the charge of a hen. The rooster could not be appeased. Whenever Kitchell walked away the bird returned to his attack upon the hen that had dispossessed him. Immediately Kitchell struck on a happy experiment. He put out fifteen more eggs for the rooster to sit on. This subterfuge had the desired effect, and Mr. Mollycoddle is again on the job.

A Test of Prayer.

At a meeting of the members of the Crabite church at Columbus, Ind., next Sunday the members of this new religious sect will allow one member of the congregation to be bitten by a rattlesnake. They claim that the power of their prayer will prevent the poison from having any effect. The Rev. Mr. Crabb is the minister in charge of the church, and the members are known as "the children of the first born." The church offered $20 for a rattlesnake, and there was a general rush among the hills of Brown County for the reptile. The snake was delivered to the Rev. Mr. Crabb by a boy.

Lad Attempts Wholesale Murder.

A 16-year-old boy known as Carmello and employed in a barber shop in Brooklyn, N. Y., cut the throats of his employer, Antonio Peraso, Mrs. Peraso and three barbers while they lay asleep in Peraso's apartment at 107 Fulton street. The wounds of Peraso and his wife are believed to be mortal while those of the three barbers are serious, but probably not fatal. The boy escaped. The police have a theory that the boy was an agent of a black hand gang.

Thaw Has Respite from Asylum.

As a result of proceedings to secure the release of Harry Thaw from the Matteawan insane asylum, it was decided that Thaw shall not be returned to the asylum while the hearing is in progress, but shall be confined in the Dutches County jail at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Thaw expressed pleasure at the decision.

Fleet Enters Golden Gate.

Four months and twenty days out from Hampton Roads, the Atlantic fleet of battleships and the second American torpedo boat flotilla steamed within the Golden Gate and cast anchor in the harbor of San Francisco, Cal., where a welcome characteristic of truly western hospitality awaited them.

Walkerton Sufffers $25,000 Fire Loss.

The main part of the business district of Walkerton, Ind., was destroyed by fire which broke out in E. K. Byrer's furniture store. The fire did its work quickly and in a short time was under control. Seven buildings were burned, causing a total loss of $25,000; insurance, $12,000.

Two Thousand Shopmen Laid Off.

Two thousand employes of the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad shops in Springfield, Mo., were laid off for an indefinite period. The reason assigned by the company for the shutdown is financial depression.

Floods in Indiana.

Pike County, Indiana, is facing a serious flood. Heavy rains have caused sudden, great, and unexpected rises in the Patoka and White rivers and lowlands are being submerged.

ELEVEN DIE IN FLAMES

The New Aveline Hotel, Fort Wayne, Indiana, One of the Oldest in the State, Burned to the Ground.

THE GREWSOME SEARCH OF RUINS IS STILL GOING ON

One Unidentified Body Has Been Taken from Ruins --Cause of the Fire Was the Burning Out of the Electric Fuse in the Elevator.

VALUABLE PROPERTY INCLUDING TRAVELING MEN'S SAMPLES DESTROYED

Flames fatal in their fury engulfed the New Aveline Hotel Block at the corner of Calhoun and Berry streets, Fort Wayne, Ind., at 3:30 o'clock Sunday morning, May 3.

The fire started in the basement in the elevator shaft, which acted as a chimney to carry the destructive elements to each of the six floors with a rapidity that appalled the few boys on duty as the rescuers of the lives of seventy-five guests.

Fire gongs were sounded and the Clerk sent warning cries throughout the building.

Before the fire department arrived flames were creeping along the hallways surrounding the elevator shaft and smoke was belching its suffocating and overpowering fumes into remote corners of the narrow aisles on each floor. Guests opening their doors were greeted with bursts of smoke and flashes of fire.

Pandemonium reigned among the half awakened guests and in a few minutes cries of distress and screams for aid were heard from almost every window in the six stories of the doomed hotel.

THE AVELINE HOUSE RUINS AS VIEWED FROM THE NORTHWEST CORNER OF CALHOUN AND BERRY STREETS.

Coroner Kesler has begun his official inquiry into Sunday morning's horror in which eleven persons are now known to have lost their lives in the burning of the New Aveline Hotel. Of the roll of the dead ten have now been identified.

THE DEAD.

J. B. MILLER, of Sheboygan, Wis., traveling salesman for Landow & Brown, 14 North Fifth street, Philadelphia, handlers of ladies' waists.

E. J. ELLIS, traveling salesman for Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., Chicago, formerly with Edson, Moore & Co., of Detroit.

MISS SARAH HATHAWAY, 58; superintendent Children's Aid Society, Mishawaka, Ind.

MISS MARY BURKETT, 55, nurse; Mishawaka, Ind.

FRANK BAXTER, of Auburn, Ind.

MORRIS HIRSCH, 22 years old, of Chicago, traveling salesman for the Pacific Coast Borax Company. He is a brother of Isaac Hirsch, secretary of the Howard Club, Chicago. Hirsch was burned all over the body and his face was charred but not beyond recognition.

WILLIAM PITCHER, of Duluth, Minn., representative of the S. F. Bowser Co., of Fort Wayne.

R. S. JOHNSON, of Pana, Ill., traveling salesman for the Watson-Plummer Shoe Company, Chicago. Johnson was killed by falling out of a window.

JOSEPH W. DEVINEY, of Philadelphia, Pa., traveling salesman for Crawford & Lehman, of 332 North Front street, Philadelphia, a wholesale commission house. Deviney is a married man. He was badly burned.

R. E. TRIEBEL, of Dalhart, Texas.

UNIDENTIFIED BODY, consisting only of the trunk and the head burned beyond all recognition as human remains. Pronounced by coroner to be the body of a man and may possibly be that of Charles Benjamin, a salesman of Detroit, Mich.

THE MISSING.

HERMAN SELIGMAN of New York.

CHARLES BENJAMIN, of Detroit.

MR. McGREGOR, of Chicago.

THE INJURED AT HOSPITALS.

E. M. Matthews, traveling salesman, of Columbus, Ohio; condition serious.

Nathaniel H. Bell (colored), house man at the Aveline, Fort Wayne.

George Sill, traveling salesman for S. F. Bowser Oil Tank Company, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

F. C. Phillips, traveling salesman, of Calumet, Mich.

John P. Strohecker, traveling salesman, of New York City.

James A. Foster, traveling salesman, of Lowell, Mass. Traveled for Marsh & Franklin, of Boston, Mass.

Margaret Meehan, of 820 Walnut street, Fort Wayne, waitress at the hotel.

Anna Block, Fort Wayne, housekeeper at Aveline Hotel.

Agnes Nadeau, of Wyandotte, Mich., head waitress at Aveline Hotel.

Lyman Campbell, traveling salesman, Chicago.

With the single exception of E. M. Matthews, of Columbus, Ohio, all the injured persons are making satisfactory progress toward recovery and are believed to be out of danger.

FIRE MADE CLEAN SWEEP.

The fire made a clean sweep through the main portion of the hotel. Every floor is down and only the outer walls, shaky and tottering, are still standing. In the center of the structure, about where the cigar stand was located, is a great mass of debris, timbers and ashes where the floors and roof fell. Looking upward from this mass nothing is to be seen but the clear sky.

On the Berry street side of the building the huge cornice, along which numbers of persons crawled to safety, is hanging by slim fastenings. A portion of it, at the Calhoun street corner, fell during the course of the fire and it is feared that the remainder will go down. On the Calhoun street side the walls near the top are pierced with holes where the bricks were forced out by the tremendous heat. In the rear the "L" of the building was not greatly damaged by the flames.

Some were fortunate enough to reach the fire escapes, and down the iron stairways they were able to reach the ground in safety. When the firemen arrived they found the fire escapes and balconies crowded, and ladders were immediately raised to take them down.

But cut off from access to the fire escapes were many others, and these stood at the windows, crouched low to escape the suffocating smoke, and with faces blanched with terror they looked down upon the rescuers below, and with heartbreaking sobs and pitiful pleas begged for succor.

History of the Aveline Hotel.

The New Aveline Hotel was owned by the Shoaff estate and with the lot had a value of about $160,000. This sum had been refused for the property. Originally the property cost about $120,000. The loss is only partially covered by insurance. The insurance amounts to about $40,000. The loss on the building is almost total.

There were four other tenants in the Aveline hotel building beside the hotel proper and the bar and pool room in connection with the latter. On the corner was the C. B. Woodworth drug store. Next to this was the Postal Telegraph office, following that came the Commercial Bank and finally the barber shop. All of these suffered extreme loss in the fire, but just what the same will amount to cannot be ascertained until an examination is made of the properties.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

"Although the usual index of business activity lags behind, there is a distinct improvement in the money market and increasing distribution in general merchandise, grain, provisions and live stock. Little change is noted in production of the leading industries, especially in iron and steel, and the scarcity of new contracts gives prices a weaker tendency. Large surplus stocks of ore indicate reduced outputs at the furnaces and mining is expected to be placed upon a smaller scale, but pig iron quotations reflect pronounced weakness in market conditions and melters confine their purchases to actual wants.

"Receipts of the raw materials for factory consumption exceed those of a year ago in hides and wool, but are much lower in lumber, copper and other metals, and the average of prices exhibits no special recovery, although more strength is seen in hides.

"Outdoor work exhibits seasonable expansion, more workers are needed at western points and there is less idle labor, although pay rolls remain under normal in various manufacturing lines. Cement, brick and quarry products move in heavier quantities and the consumption will expand with new building enterprises. More frequent calls appear for planing mill outputs, structural steel and furniture, and the tonnage of wire and hardware forwardings steadily improves.

"Mercantile collections improve with the increasing ease in money and the discount rate for choice commercial paper is more favorable toward encouraging accommodation. Retail trade sustains its recent good showing, the absorption of spring merchandise thus far being even better than expectations. Wholesale dealings in the staples maintain more extended proportions in both reassortments for immediate use and advance orders for fall and winter goods.

"Failures reported in the Chicago district number 39, against 34 last week and 15 a year ago. Those with liabilities over $5,000 number 9, against 10 last week and 3 in 1907."

NEW YORK.

Weather conditions have been unfavorable to distributive trade this week, and a rather quiet trade is reported the country over. Jobbing trade has remained quiet, with business confined to small filling in orders. Fall business has shown no particular increase in activity and orders are still scarce. Collections are still slow and extensions asked for or granted are still a feature. Thus far industrial output shows little or no disposition to expand. Curtailment is still the feature in textile lines, and some leading centers report production 40 per cent off the normal. Iron and steel industries show little change from preceding quiet conditions, except that talk of price reductions in the crude iron branch is becoming more pronounced, while finished lines hold at previous quotations. Railway tonnage is at a very low point, idle cars have increased to a record total, with coal cars prominent, indicating that this trade is especially short of work.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending April 30 number 282, against 254 last week, 163 in the like week of 1907, 139 in 1906, 196 in 1905 and 176 in 1904. Canadian failures for the week number 22, as against 36 last week and 18 in this week a year ago. —Bradstreet's.

THE MARKETS

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $7.25; hogs, prime heavy, $4.00 to $5.70; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2, $1.01 to $1.04; corn, No. 2, 69c to 70c; oats, standard, 52c to 53c; rye, No. 2, 80c to 81c; hay, timothy, $9.50 to $16.50; prairie, $8.00 to $13.50; butter, choice creamery, 21c to 25c; eggs, fresh, 11c to 15c; potatoes, per bushel, 65c to 80c.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $6.90; hogs, good to choice heavy, $3.50 to $5.90; sheep, common to prime, $3.00 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2, 96c to 97c; corn, No. 2 white, 63c to 65c; oats, No. 2 white, 51c to 52c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $4.50 to $7.25; hogs, $4.00 to $5.75; sheep, $3.00 to $6.25; wheat, No. 2, $1.02 to $1.03; corn, No. 2, 67c to 69c; oats, No. 2, 49c to 50c; rye, No. 2, 76c to 77c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.50; hogs, $4.00 to $5.87; sheep, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, $1.03 to $1.04; corn, No. 2 mixed, 67c to 69c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 50c to 51c; rye, No. 2, 82c to 84c.

Detroit—Cattle, $4.00 to $7.00; hogs, $4.00 to $5.95; sheep, $2.50 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2, $1.01 to $1.03; corn, No. 2 yellow, 70c to 71c; oats, No. 3 white 54c to 55c; rye, No. 2, 83c to 85c.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern $1.07 to $1.09; corn, No. 3, 67c to 68c; oats, standard, 53c to 54c; rye, No. 1, 80c to 81c; barley, No. 2, 77c to 78c; pork, mess, $13.35.

Buffalo—Cattle, choice shipping steers, $4.00 to $7.00; hogs, fair to choice, $4.00 to $5.95; sheep, common to good mixed, $4.00 to $6.75; lambs, fair to choice, $5.00 to $7.85.

MAY

A LONELY GIRL

By Mrs Hungerford

CHAPTER II.—(Continued.)

"I'll tell you," says Everard, who seems amused. "Your Uncle Lucien's sister—an only sister—was by a clause in her father's woill entitled on her marriage to take possession of the family jewels. I have heard it said that they were unique—that their price was fabulous; but at all events there is no doubt about it, that they were some of the best stones in Europe. Of course the old man always thought that with her beauty and position she would marry brilliantly, and so left her the jewels. She, however, elected to marry the miller, O'Connell."

"She ought to have been ashamed of herself," yawns Mrs. Clarence.

"But what an extraordinary arrangement! About the will, I mean!" says Grey.

"The absurdest on record. There was, however, a proviso. She was to have the jewels for her life, or until she had a son. There was no mention of a daughter, or else our unknown cousin would be the richest heiress in England to-day. Failing the son, they were to revert to the family again. To Sir Lucien, in fact. He did all he could to make his father change this will, but even after the disastrous marriage the old man would not. She was to have the jewels for her life, or for her son."

"Yes, that was it," says Mrs. Clarence. "I remember it all now quite clearly. And no son was born. Only a girl. Therefore the diamonds—very valuable—half a king's ransom, as they say—should have come to Sir Lucien. But, how was it, Eustace?" to Everard. "On her death the jewels were not to be had. They were lost; gone. And never a single sign of them since. Isn't that it?"

"A very graphic description. On Mrs. O'Connell's death, demand was made for the jewels, but from that day to this no tidings of them has ever been heard.

"Her husband?"

"O'Connell, they all said, made away with them."

"From all I have heard of her," puts in Mrs. Clarence indolently, "I should say Lilian Adare—Mrs. O'Connell—had more to do with the disposing of them than anyone else. Aunt Maria, who knew her very intimately, says she was a vain, intolerably selfish creature, with a capacity for spending money, that——"

"Even you could not rival," says Everard in a little low teasing whisper that reaches her ear alone.

"Still a woman, however extravagantly inclined, could hardly sell a quantity of valuable stones without a chance of their being traced," says Gilbert Grey.

"What madness to make a will like that!" says Everard. "To give stones of almost untold value into the hands of a girl who was unable to manage even her own life. I don't exactly hanker after Sir Lucien, but I'm sorry he failed in getting his father to change his will. But it seems the old man would not hear of it. He stood firm. The fact is he was not in love with Sir Lucien, and he adored his daughter—perhaps because she was his only one——"

"Oh, no! Because she was domineering—hard, unloving, but very beautiful," says Mrs. Clarence with a cynical shrug of her shoulders.

"There might have been another reason for the old man's obstinacy," says Gilbert Grey. "Everard has hinted at it. We all know he hated his eldest son—Sir Lucien. Have you forgotten it?"

"Hardly forgotten!" Mr. McGrath, who has been so taken up with knotting his noose as to be unable to bear the noble part he usually does in every conversation, whether it concerns him or otherwise, now breaks in solemnly—"We merely felt it was unnecessary to mention it! Our dear relative, Sir Lucien, has made known to us by this time his many engaging qualities. You say he went for a long walk to-day with Hilary, in the direction of the old mill?"

"Yes," May nods her head, "that is where his sister, Mrs. O'Connell, used to live."

"Where our aunt used to live," corrects her brother, lifting his brows, and smiling a little.

"She only married him to the disgust of all her family," says Mrs. Clarence. "Her father—your grandfather, May—lived here then, and as she was the light of his eyes he forgave her, though her brother, Sir Lucien, never did. But her father's forgiveness did her little good, as he died three days after her wedding. Your poor father, you know, died two years before that."

"Yes, I know," says May slowly. She hardly remembers either her father or her mother. Her father had been Sir Lucien's younger brother.

"It was quite a tragedy," murmurs Mrs. Clarence, in a tone that would have suited quite as admirably if she had said, "It was quite a comedy."

"How she must have felt that," says May, in a low tone. "Her father dying so soon after her terrible defiance of all his wishes, his desires——"

"Sir Lucien must be a genius!" remarked Mr. McGrath.

"You are wrong there. He feels something," says Gilbert Grey, who always contradicts Owen if possible. "He feels the loss of those stones."

"I think he has come here this time because of them," says Everard. "You know that fellow Deane is in the country. He was a nephew of O'Connell's, and after O'Connell's death Sir Lucien took it into his head that Deane knew something of the jewels. He feels certain that they are still intact, hidden somewhere, and that probably Deane, as the sole relative of O'Connell, may know something of them."

"Why not the girl, rather?"

"Well, he is divided between suspicion of her and Deane. That's why he hates her."

"What fun it would be to make him receive her and acknowledge her whilst we are here," says Mrs. Clarence, her eyes brightening.

"Oh, no!" May grows a little uncertain. "I daresay, I am sure she is dreadful. Quite a common girl, an impossible person."

"That's where the fun would come in!" declares Mrs. Clarence languidly. "To catch a wild creature like that, and try to tame her—and with Sir Lucien looking on!" She laughs in her low, soft, somewhat wicked little way.

"Oh, if it came to that. To catch anything, and try to do it good," says May. "There would be some excitement about that. I should quite like it."

CHAPTER III.

On this old mill, once fine in its strength and its proportions—now dilapidated and grown grey and wrecked through stress of age and neglect, the August sun is smiling, lighting up its moss-grown corners, its falling chimneys, and its crumbling walls, that would have crumbled even faster but for the faithful ivy, friend of many years, that still clings to it.

Over there—a little further up the hill, and half hidden by a belt of trees that had been planted between it and the mill—the house may be seen—"O'Connell's House," as it is called by the peasants round. A very ordinary old house, square and bare, and exposed to all the winds of heaven, with sad touches here and there on it, made by time and want of care, and redeemed only entirely from the basest commonplace by a splendid old mullioned window on the north side, and the massive oak wood of the doorway. A forbidding looking house, with the remains of an old moat running round it, that once perhaps was full of water, but now is dry and overgrown with rank grass and poisonous weeds. No doubt in the past generation the river that flooded it had been turned into another channel to feed the old mill below, that now in its turn is dry and silent too.

The sun to-day is shining too hotly for the comfort of one person at all events. Captain Adare, who has been out fishing since early dawn, has now, as it draws towards evening, reached the small river Arrigaun, that beginning quite a long way up between the shoulders of the two big hills runs down here straight into the arms of the old mill.

He looks to right and left—but no one comes in sight, and there is not a rising cloud of smoke upon the air to tell of a peasant's cottage. Once again he turns his glance on the old mill that had appeared so homeless a derelict to him at his first glance that he had given it up as a means of communication with his fellow creatures. Who could live there, in that old wind-ridden barrack of a place, windowless, almost roofless, a mere splendid ruin uprearing its damaged head to the skies—that never care?

His eyes sweep it carelessly, as if knowing nothing is to be got from it, and then all at once grow concentrated on one spot—one opening, where a window in the past no doubt had been. Surely there, in the framework of it, someone can be seen. He can hardly be sure, as the sun, so brilliant half an hour ago, has now capriciously retired, giving way to a soft pale grey mist that rising, rapidly envelops most things in its delicate folds. Piercing the mist for a moment, the sun shines out again, making the figure more prominent—tall, slender, girlish.

"The Maid of the Mist," he tells himself with a smile. "Well, anyway, I suppose she can send me on my way with or without her blessing."

He wades through the river, banked so closely and so shallow as to be hardly dignified by that name any longer, and taking a fence, pulls up presently right under the old mill. He has got beyond the range of the window where the figure stood and the old gaunt framework of the place becomes a blank to him.

"Still she was there," he says to himself, and going farther on, and rounding a corner or two, finds himself in front of a huge opening in the walls; it was once a doorway, no doubt, and of these doorways he can see that there are several farther on, but he stays at the first he comes to, and, entering it, runs up a bare tottering staircase that lay clinging, as it were, to the wall on his right.

Before going up this rotten treadway he had noticed distinctly, yet with indifference at the time, the mark of an arrow—a small black arrow painted on the side of the wall by which he had come in—an arrow pointing downwards.

Now he has come to the top of the stairway, and bowing his head beneath an arch that has been built very low, finds himself upon a floor, that once had had many a bushel of grain upon it, but is now broken and rotten, a mere trap for unwary feet.

She stands up as he comes in. Once again the heavens, as though in recognition of her beauty, open wide, and the sun, shining through their clefts, falls upon her. She had turned at his approach, and is now looking at him; it is a calm, dignified look, that has no fear in it, and no ill-bred confusion. Erect, beautiful, expectant, she stands, her eyes on his, her head a little forward bent, a book, half closed, lying between the fingers of the hand, that has now, in her surprise, been lowered to her side.

"I beg your pardon," says Adare, greatly taken aback at this sudden coming on a gently born girl, where he had expected to find only a young woman of the farming class, who would have set him on his right road to Carrig Castle. "But the fact is, I've lost my way, and I couldn't see a living soul in sight to make inquiries of, until I caught sight of you in the window."

"Yes?" She too smiles faintly, and as her lips part he acknowledges yet more deeply the charm, the loveliness of her perfect face. "You," with a glance at his fishing boots, "saw me from the river?"

"From down there," pointing through the bare open space where a window once had been, to a turn in the stream below. "Of course, I cannot be sure it was you I saw——"

"Oh, yes." She nods her head gravely. "I am the only one who ever enters this old ruin."

"I feel I've been awfully presumptuous," says Adare. "Coming here disturbing you. But will you be so good as to tell me where I am?"

"You are in the townland of Beanreagh, and this is the old mill. O'Connell's Mill, they call it. It belonged to my father. Our house is up there." Her eyes go over his shoulder, and one slender hand points to where, as he turns round, he can see through a broken window a big gaunt white house, dull and unattractive.

"Your house. You are, then"—regarding her closely—"your name is—O'Connell?"

"I am Amber O'Connell," returns she gently, yet with growing amazement.

"And I," quickly, "am Hilary Adare."

"Adare?" She lifts her brows. The name, so far as he is concerned, evidently conveys nothing to her.

"Surely," a little hotly, "you have heard of us!"

"I am sorry. But," coloring slightly, as if ashamed of an ignorance that seemed to hurt him, "I really have not. Of course, I know the name. There is even someone—an old man—Sir Lucien Adare—who I believe used to live in this part of the world, at one time; but he has been in England for years, and——"

"He is not in England now; he is here."

"Here!" All at once her face changes. Her lip curls. Instinctively she draws herself up, and a very passion of anger and defiance blazes in her dark blue eyes. "At Carrig!" She draws her breath sharply. "And you?" demands she imperiously.

"I am Sir Lucien's nephew, and—I think—your cousin!"

There is a long pause, whilst two frowning eyes gaze into two dark-brown eyes, that are full of entreaty. Then——

"Come, I can't help being his nephew, can I?" says Adare. With this he frankly holds out his hand to her. But she puts hers behind her back.

"His nephew?"

"But your cousin!"

She sighs quickly, and then—as if the generous nature of her rebels against the thought of anger against a man who, however closely connected with the enemy, still has done her no wrong of his own accord—draws one small brown hand from behind her and lays it daintily in his broad palm; with a certain reservation, and a touch of hauteur, however, that sits most charmingly upon her. He takes it, holding it gently, whilst he looks at her. Then lets it go again.

"Yes, we are cousins!" she admits in a very low voice, that he feels not only thrust back but almost discarded.

"Don't say you are sorry about it."

"Not about that! No, I am only sorry that we have ever met! Do you think I have not felt—have not suffered from your indifference to me?"

"Mine! My indifference?"

"Oh! it is all the same." She turns away from him, looking out through the window to the river beyond, and yet in such a way that he knows she cannot see the river because her eyes are filled so full of tears, that she fears the overflowing of them. "You are on his side, I am on this."

"I am not on Sir Lucien's side, if you mean that."

"You must be. It is useless to talk about it. There!" she glances kindly at him, kindly but distantly. "Let us make an end of it. We have met to-day; to-morrow——"

"We shall," eagerly, "meet again."

"Oh, no. We shall probably forget that we have ever met."

"I shall not," with decision. "Where are you going now?" She has made a step towards the stone staircase outside.

"Home." Her manner is cold, almost disagreeable. Perhaps she feels the little touch of discourtesy, because she turns to him, with her foot on the topmost stair, and says:

"You want to know the shortest way to Carrig, do you not? Come with me, and I will point it out to you."

He follows her, she going very silently, and silence thus being imposed upon him, he has time to glance round him, but nothing on his way down these dangerous old stairs attracts his attention, until on coming once again to the doorway, his eyes light on the small arrow painted black upon the wall, that had first caught his eye on coming in. A little farther on another arrow can be seen, and both these arrows point downwards.

(To be continued.)

REVIEW OF INDIANA

James Davis, of Mexico, Miami County, is dying of hiccoughs, of which he has been afflicted for ten days.

The school enumeration of Greenfield shows a gain of but 12 over last year. The total is 1,342, all of whom are white but 32.

Ernest Hiday, of Greenfield, has been appointed a teacher at the Leech reservation, near Walker, Minn., and he will report for duty in two weeks.

At the Indiana Reformatory last week the convicts numbered 1,212. Eighteen were authorized for parole later by the trustees, who examined forty-nine eligibles.

Mrs. Arosa Brooker, widow of Geo. Brooker, died at her home at Henryville, while seated at the breakfast table. She had been in poor health for several days. She was 70 years old, and lived with a niece, having no children.

August Monk, a resident of Dayton, Ohio, was found dead at Richmond, having fallen down an embankment. He was on his way to Newcastle, to take a position. The cause of Monk's death is something of a mystery, as his neck was not broken in the fall.

John R. Albertson, who left Richmond thirteen years ago as a boy, not having since seen his parents, reappeared last week and quietly walked in on them at their home in Fairview. Young Albertson left home in a fit of anger and his pride kept him away all these years.

A Winona limited traction car was wrecked by a freight train on the Grand Trunk railway at the Eddy street crossing in South Bend. Fifteen passengers escaped serious injury although the car was turned over. Motorman Charles Burwell stuck to his post and went over with the car, but was not hurt.

Charles W. Condit, of New Albany, employed at Bray's clothing store in Louisville, shot and killed himself in the store. Ill health is assigned as the cause. He was 60 years old, and leaves a widow and two sons—Calvin Condit and Arthur Condit, the latter a graduate of High School and Wabash College, and now attending the University of Cincinnati.

Henry Crofoot, one of the wealthiest farmers in the State, died at his home near Mishawaka. He was 70 years old. His death is largely attributed to mental suffering growing out of an incident by which he was swindled out of $10,000 in gold by two sharpers, and the severe cross-examination to which he was subjected when the case reached the courts.

Harry Dalton, 19 year sold, was arrested at Princeton several days ago on a charge of making a false application for whisky at a local drug store. He signed an application for a quart of whisky, saying that he desired it for medicinal purposes, and then took it, and, with several other boys, got drunk on it. Dalton pleaded guilty, and Mayor Cushman withheld sentence until after the trial of the druggist's clerk. The minimum fine for the offense is $25.

A year ago, while a passenger on a C., B. & C. train between Portland and Bluffton, Ray Headington, of Portland, lost a fountain pen which he highly prized, as it was presented to him at the time of his High School graduation. The following day he left for Vicksburg, Mich., and was not again a passenger on the line till one day last week. As he boarded the train the pen was handed to him by Ross Grable, brakeman, who found it and had remembered the owner.

L. Cheesman, a well-known farmer, is at point of death at his home near Noblesville from the effect of blood poison, resulting from being "horned" by a catfish which he caught in Cicero creek. While removing the hook the fish made a plunge, one of the horns penetrating the little finger on Mr. Cheesman's left hand. Little heed was paid to the injury till blood poisoning began to develop. The finger was amputated, but the operation came too late to prevent the poison from spreading all through his system.

An autopsy on the body of Robert Alexander Adamson, of Elwood, who died of stomach trouble, revealed peculiar conditions. For two years Adamson had complained of his stomach, but always insisted that the pain was in the region of the intestines. The autopsy disclosed that the stomach had slipped out of place and was ten inches below its normal position, covering the small intestines. While the average man's stomach holds but three pints, it was found that Adamson's was four times as large, holding a gallon and a half. During his life Adamson was unable to satisfy his appetite, eating more than two ordinary men did at a meal, yet he was of spare build, his food apparently doing him little good.

The home of Williard Wade, near Columbus, was burned; loss about $2,500; partly insured.

Charles Davis, of Milton, caught a black bass in Whitewater that was 19½ inches long, 6 inches wide and weighed four pounds.

John Lanning, an employe of the Portland Tile and Hollow Block Works in Portland, was seriously injured by falling ten feet on a pile of tile.

Conrad Haase, aged 81 years, furniture and mattress manufacturer at Evansville for fifty years, is dead. He was formerly a resident of Cincinnati.

Miami County is to have a fair the coming summer. A stock company has been organized at Converse, with T. Hatfield as president of the organization.

Sixty acres of hilly land on the Frank Tobias farm near Wabash has been leased for a rifle range, and it is now being placed in readiness for use by the soldiers.

Mrs. Allie Elzy wants $5,000 damages from John H. Brown, merchant of New Albany, because, in entering his store, she slipped on an iron plate, fracturing her spine.

While playing wiht a loaded revolver, George Doolittle, a boy of 16, living in Muncie, accidentally shot his brother Floyd, 17, in the right ankle, causing an ugly wound.

Jess Smith was fatally injured during the horse show at Cynthiana. He attempted to cross the street in front of a number of horses, and was knocked down and run over.

Following the commencement exercises of the Brownstown High School Miss Ruth Johnston, one of the graduates, became the bride of Oakley Allen, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Johnston. The bridegroom is the son of Oscar Allen, Township Trustee, and the bride is the daughter of Walter Johnston, merchant.

Ozro Mason, of Urbana, has filed suit at Wabash against the Ft. Wayne & Wabash Valley Traction Company for $20,000 damages, the result of an accident several months ago, at which time a car struck a buggy in which the plaintiff and Miss Catherine Frushour were seated, killing the young woman. Mason hovered between life and death for several weeks.

Investing in cattle when the market was low last fall, Noah Eaton, who lives near Palestine, is now about $1,000 to the good on his investment. Last week he shipped five car loads of cattle from Kokomo to his farm. He purchased these steers and cows at a very low figure and during the past few days has refused an offer that would have given him a profit of $1,000.

Charles Creamer attempted to board a moving train while intoxicated at Mitchell, and he fell between the platform and the rail. The flesh of one arm was stripped off, but the bone was not broken. However, his hip was dislocated, and he suffered a severe scalp wound. Several weeks ago he entered the stall of a horse while intoxicated, and he was kicked so badly that the physicians reported recovery not possible.

A severe electrical storm swept over the region of Cambridge City with a veritable cloudburst of rain and hail. Lightning entered the home of George Shafer, near the city, by means of telephone wires, breaking the furniture, hurling the piano from one side of the room to the other and smashing eleven panes of window glass. The members of the home were temporarily stunned, being hurled violently to the floor.

Six weeks ago a small dog belonging to a farmer near Shoals was attacked by a strange dog. Later it fought with other dogs, developed rabies, and was shot. Recently many dogs in that neighborhood developed the disease, and twenty-five or more died. It is feared that a large number have been bitten, and that also cattle have suffered, and that serious financial loss to farmers will follow. Care is being taken to prevent the infection being communicated to persons, but so far no one has been troubled.

The descendant of Mrs. Anna Lowry Noel Thomas, Posey County's oldest citizen, who recently died in Mt. Vernon, are probably as widely scattered through Indiana as the descendants of any other woman of her age—ninety-two years. She was the mother of ten children, four of whom survive. There are nineteen living grandchildren and twenty great-grandchildren. One of the children is Mrs. A. M. DeSouchet, of Indianapolis. Mrs. Thomas saw this country develop from a wilderness, and was able until within a short time of her death to talk entertainingly of the early pioneer days. Her children and grandchildren relate many interesting incidents of her career.

MAY

These Bad Pains

which give you such exquisite suffering, every month, are caused, as you know, by female trouble.

Relief seldom or never comes of itself. It is necessary to cure the cause, in order to stop the pains, and this can only be done if you will take a specific, female remedy, that acts directly on the womanly organs.

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMAN'S RELIEF

"Cardui did wonders for me," writes Mrs. H. C. Larson, of Olds, Ia. "I had female trouble for 8 years. 6 had displacement, which increased my suffering, the doctor could only relieve me at times. Now, I am so much better, I hardly know when my time begins or when it ends."

At All Druggists

WRITE FOR FREE ADVICE, stating age and describing symptoms, to Ladies Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. E 21

J. A. PROVINES

TRUSTEE

of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:
THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK
at residence in Spencerville, Ind.

DENTIST.

C. R. PRICE,

ST. JOE, IND.

Office in Case building.

Bell Phone No. 44.

WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St. Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.

No. 11. Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail 12:05p.m
No. 3, Western Express 8:06 p. m

GOING EAST.

No. 2, Eastern Express 6:34a. m
No. 10, Toledo Acc & Mail 7:21 p. m

The Old Proverb

That "It takes nine tailors to make a man" may possibly mean that it takes nine trials to find the right tailor.

You can save eight trials by coming here first. At this time in the year we can do considerably better by you than later. Not better in style, fabric, fit or finish—that's impossible—but better in price. For Example:—

Suits from $18.00 up.

Pants from $4.00 up

ED MAY,

TAILOR,

Butler, Ind.

The St. Joe News.

One Year - - $1.00
Six Month - - 50c
Three Months - - 25c

FRED B. LEIGHTY, Editor.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

In the Light Of Publicity.

Arthur I. Vorys, Taft Boomer. Governor Toole — Representative Frank Clark. Seth Low and His Public Services.

ARTHUR I. VORYS.

ARTHUR I. VORYS, who is managing the Taft presidential boom, was considered an easy going country lawyer up to a few months ago, but the way he has handled things since, taking hold of the task of promoting and organizing Taft sentiment, has made older and more experienced politicians sit up and take notice. He was born in Lancaster, O., in 1856, went to the grammar schools and the Lancaster high school and for a time attended the Ohio State university. He studied law and in 1880 was admitted to the bar. He was twice city auditor of Lancaster and in 1900 was appointed state insurance commissioner, which office he still holds. He is genial and approachable and built a good deal on the Taft style. It is his busy season now, and between running the Taft literary bureau and straightening out the numerous complications which arise in the course of the canvass he has plenty to think about between now and the month of June.

It is an unusual thing for a governor to resign his office during the middle of his term, and the action of Governor Joseph K. Toole of Montana to this effect has created comment. The governor, who was born in Savannah, Mo., in 1851, and who was admitted to the bar in Helena in 1869, was a delegate in congress from Montana when it was a territory and did much to secure its admission as a state. He was its first governor and has several times been re-elected, the term for which he was last chosen expiring in 1909. In explanation of his resignation of office he refers to his long service and to a clause in the state constitution providing that an elective official shall not absent himself from the state for more than thirty days. He is not in good health and feels that his ailment could not be remedied within that time. He plans to spend some months in southern California and then return to Helena and resume the practice of his profession.

JOSEPH K. TOOLE.

The governor revisited Washington not long ago and registered at the New Willard. It reminded him, he said, of when he used to lodge at the old Willard. "I hadn't been there long," he remarked, "when I discovered that an army of rats made it their home. One day I found a hole as big as a biscuit in one of a brand new pair of custom made oxfords. I took the shoes to the affable Charlie Leavens, chief clerk of the place, and called on him to behold the ruin of my footgear.

"'It's those rats,' said Leavens, 'but leave the shoe, and I'll have it fixed so you'd never know anything ever was the matter.' I did as requested, and the next day my shoe came back very cleverly repaired. Thinking to put on the pair, I hunted up its mate, when, to my unqualified disgust, I found that it, too, had been as badly gnawed in the meanwhile as its fellow had previously been. Another trip to Leavens followed, but this time I took both shoes and told him to put the repaired one in the safe while the other was receiving the attention of the cobbler."

Immense Area of Canada.

Canada is as large as 30 United Kingdoms. She has received over half a million immigrants in ten years.

For Clerk, W. H. Leas.

The united Democratic party of Waterloo and Grant township will ask the voters who will take part in the primary election in June to cast their ballots for W. H. Leas for clerk of the courts.

While other towns in the county have from two to five aspirants for place on the Democratic ticket the party voters in Grant township are willing to distribute these honors around and will ask for only one place and we think their request will be granted.

Before Mr. Leas announced his name he wanted to see whether the town or township would have a candidate and none were forthcoming because it was generally concluded that he by virtue of his unsuccessful efforts in former years was entitled to the undivided support of the party in this township.

Of our candidate there is no need to say much because he is well-known all over the county. He comes from one of the old families and was reared in DeKalb county. For years he has practiced law in DeKalb county and has been engaged in other enterprises. He has served year after year on the township and county organization and has always had a good word to say for the Democratic party.

His professional training has well fitted him to fill the office of clerk of the courts. If he secures the nomination he will be a great help to the entire county ticket.—Dawn. * *

Seed Potatoes

Seed potatoes of the very best tested varieties, early and late, also eating potatoes. Prices right.

W. H. NORTHRUP & SON.

Relief From Rheumatic Pains.

"I suffered with rheumatism for over two years," says Mr. Rolland Curry, a patrolman, of Key West, Fla. "Sometimes it settled in my knees and lamed me so I could hardly walk, at other times it would be in my feet and hands so I was incapacitated for duty. One night when I was in severe pain and lame from it my wife went to the drug store here and came back with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I was rubbed with it and found the pain had nearly gone during the night. I kept on using it for a little more than two weeks and found that it drove the rheumatism away. I have not had any trouble from that disease for over three months." For sale by H. Milliman, St. Joe: F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

Indiana Patents

Granted this week. Reported by C. A. Snow & Co., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C.

F. Draper & O. L. Curtiss, Cayuga, Exhaust-steam regenerator; W. C. Horner, Indianapolis, Circuit-breakers for automobiles; T. F. Muldoon, Indianapolis, Cabinet for liners and baldes for linotype-machines; F. E. Ott, Indianapolis, Road drag; J. S. Park, Rockport, earth-augur; A. Schmidt, Indianapolis, rotatable distributing nozzle; T. F. Schillard, Warsaw, heating system; W. W. Wainright, Connersville, Motor-vehicle; T. W. Warsaw & F. H. Jones, Muncie, selective lever.

For copy of any above patents send ten cents in postage stamps with date of this paper to C. A. Snow & Washington, D. C.

Rules Regulating the Postage on Post Cards.

The following article from last week's issue now stands corrected.

"Post cards and postal cards mailed under cover of sealed envelopes (transparent or otherwise) are chargeable with postage at the first class rate—two cents an ounce or fraction thereof. If enclosed in unsealed envelopes they are subject to postage according to the character of the message—at the first class rate if wholly or partly in writing, or the third class rate—(one cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof) if entirely in print, and the postage should be affixed to the envelopes covering the same. Postage stamps affixed to such cards inclosed in envelopes having an opening exposing the stamps cannot be recognized in payment of postage thereon.

D. J. BAKER, Postmaster.

WANTED—A RIDER AGENT IN EACH TOWN and district to ride and exhibit a sample Latest Model "Ranger" bicycle furnished by us. Our agents everywhere are making money fast. Write for full particulars and special offer at once.

NO MONEY REQUIRED until you receive and approve of your bicycle. We ship to anyone, anywhere in the U. S. without a cent deposit in advance, prepay freight, and allow TEN DAYS' FREE TRIAL during which time you may ride the bicycle and put it to any test you wish. If you are then not perfectly satisfied or do not wish to keep the bicycle ship it back to us at our expense and you will not be out one cent.

FACTORY PRICES We furnish the highest grade bicycles it is possible to make at one small profit above actual factory cost. You save $10 to $25 middlemen's profits by buying direct of us and have the manufacturer's guarantee behind your bicycle. DO NOT BUY a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone at any price until you receive our catalogues and learn our unheard of factory prices and remarkable special offers to rider agents.

YOU WILL BE ASTONISHED when you receive our beautiful catalogue and study our superb models at the wonderfully low prices we can make you this year. We sell the highest grade bicycles for less money than any other factory. We are satisfied with $1.00 profit above factory cost.

BICYCLE DEALERS, you can sell our bicycles under your own name plate at double our prices. Orders filled the day received.

SECOND HAND BICYCLES. We do not regularly handle second hand bicycles, but usually have a number on hand taken in trade by our Chicago retail stores. These we clear out promptly at prices ranging from $3 to $8 or $10. Descriptive bargain lists mailed free.

COASTER-BRAKES, single wheels, imported roller chains and pedals, parts, repairs and equipment of all kinds at half the usual retail prices.

$8.50 HEDGETHORN PUNCTURE-PROOF SELF-HEALING TIRES $4.80 A SAMPLE PAIR TO INTRODUCE, ONLY

The regular retail price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but to introduce we will sell you a sample pair for $4.80 (cash with order $4.55).

NO MORE TROUBLE FROM PUNCTURES

NAILS, Tacks or Glass will not let the air out. Sixty thousand pairs sold last year. Over two hundred thousand pairs now in use.

DESCRIPTION: Made in all sizes. It is lively and easy riding, very durable and lined inside with a special quality of rubber, which never becomes porous and which closes up small punctures without allowing the air to escape. We have hundreds of letters from satisfied customers stating that their tires have only been pumped up once or twice in a whole season. They weigh no more than an ordinary tire, the puncture resisting qualities being given by several layers of thin, specially prepared fabric on the tread. The regular price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but for advertising purposes we are making a special factory price to the rider of only $4.80 per pair. All orders shipped same day letter is received. We ship C. O. D. on approval. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them strictly as represented.

We will allow a cash discount of 5 per cent (thereby making the price $4.55 per pair) if you send FULL CASH WITH ORDER and enclose this advertisement. We will also send one nickel plated brass hand pump. Tires to be returned at OUR expense if for any reason they are not satisfactory on examination. We are perfectly reliable and money sent to us is as safe as in a bank. If you order a pair of these tires, you will find that they will ride easier, run faster, wear better, last longer and look finer than any tire you have ever used or seen at any price. We know that you will be so well pleased that when you want a bicycle you will give us your order. We want you to send us a trial order at once, hence this remarkable tire offer.

Notice the thick rubber tread "A" and puncture strips "B" and "D," also rim strip "H" to prevent rim cutting. This tire will outlast any other make—SOFT, ELASTIC and EASY RIDING.

IF YOU NEED TIRES don't buy any kind at any price until you send for a pair of Hedgethorn Puncture-Proof tires on approval and trial at the special introductory price quoted above; or write for our big Tire and Sundry Catalogue which describes and quotes all makes and kinds of tires at about half the usual prices.

DO NOT WAIT but write us a postal today. DO NOT THINK OF BUYING a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone until you know the new and wonderful offers we are making. It only costs a postal to learn everything. Write it NOW.

J. L. MEAD CYCLE COMPANY, CHICAGO, ILL.

Obituary.

Louisa Clemmer was born at Springfield, Summit Co., Ohio., Ohio, July 16, 1846. Departed this life, May 1st, 1908, at her farm residence near Spencerville, Ind. When but a child, she with her parents came to Indiana. At about the age of fourteen she united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, in which faith she lived a devoted Christian life. December 30, 1865, she was united in marriage with Levi Shutt, with whom she lived until her husbands death, June 14, 1896. After this her home was transient until the last four years during which time she lived with her sister, Mrs. Gus Cupp of Spencerville,

Two daughters, Mrs. Viola Stafford and Mrs. Ida Kelley, one sister, Mrs. Gus Cupp, a brother, Sylvester, eight grand children and a large circle of friends remain to mourn their loss.

Mrs. Shutt's death was a very sad surprise to us all. Having been always cheerful and seemingly rugged, scarcely any knew of her sickness until after her death. As a mother, Mrs. Shutt was loving and tender, as a friend faithful and true, as a christian, consistent and loyal. She was always found in her place at the various church services and did cheerfully her share in church undertakings. Though being rigidly industrious she was always cheerful, with a smile and a pleasant word for those she met. The home circle has lost a precious member and the church and community at large suffer a severe loss which will be difficult to replace.

The funeral services were held at 10:30 a. m., May 4, at the M. E. church of Spencerville, the pastor, Rev C. B. Sweeney in charge, assisted by Rev. Dressel and Rev. Erick. Interment was made in the Spencerville cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank the friends and neighbors for their sympathy and assistance in the death of our beloved mother and sister.

THE RELATIVES.

Depends on Ourselves.

Our own attitude determines our friends or enemies.—Wood.

It Reached the Spot.

Mr. E. Humphrey, who owns a large general store at Omega, O., and is president of the Adams County Telephone Co., as well as the Home Telephone Co. of Pike County, O., says of Dr. King's New Discovery: "It saved my life once. At least I think it did. It seemed to reach the spot—the very seat of my cough—when everything else failed." Dr. King's New Discovery not only reaches the cough spot; it heals the sore spots and the weak spots in throat, lung and chest. Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drugstore, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Paper of Real Value.

Some genius has invented a new kind of paper that will crumble and go to pieces a short time after it has been written on. It is especially recommended to people with the love-letter habit who dread breach of promise suits.

My Hair is Scraggly

Do you like it? Then why be contented with it? Have to be? Oh, no! Just put on Ayer's Hair Vigor and have long, thick hair; soft, even hair. But first of all, stop your hair from coming out. Save what you have. Ayer's Hair Vigor will not disappoint you. It feeds the hair-bulbs; makes weak hair strong.

The best kind of a testimonial—"Sold for over sixty years."

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of Ayer's SARSAPARILLA. PILLS. CHERRY PECTORAL.

Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also furnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable.

Beams & Baker.

MAY

9172
L 903

A GIRLS EDUCATION.

AN ORATION WRITTEN BY ETHEL WAYNE LEIGHTY, A ST. JOE GRADUATE.

A girl's position in ancient times was generally regarded as being about half-way between Oriental seclusion and Western freedom. Her main duties in the home were to cook and spin and to oversee the domestic slaves, of whom SHE was practically one. In society she was seldom allowed to appear in public, or to meet even in her own home, the male friends of her husband, and the husband at any time had the right to divorce his wife even on the slightest offense. She could exert no such elevating and refining influence as she casts over the modern home. At the present time the woman is the leading character in society and one of the leading characters in the home she has as much right in the home as her husband. She has the right to hold possession of land and even more has the right to sell it and purchase what she desires. Therefore, the education of woman receives far more attention than it formerly did, and the kind of an education she should receive is the subject of our theme.

EDUCATION may be defined as the process of advancing the powers of a person, so as to develop and cultivate him, physically, mentally and morally It prepares and fits an individual for any calling or business that he may wish to follow. A girl's education should differ widely from that of a boy and the kind of an education she should receive is a problem of no little importance. It is something more than a social problem, it is a civil, political, moral and religious problem as well. Inasmuch as the presence of women constitutes one of the chief charms and benefits of society, and inasmuch as it is she who far more than man gives character to society, the education of her girlhood is a social problem and should receive most careful attention. The natural position which God intended for the girl is the home. All girls however are not content to settle down to a life of home making and there are many girls at the present time who are studying law, pharmacy, dentistry and other professions. These of course are natural positions of men, but they are open to women as well. Why then should a talented and ambitious girl lament that there is no field open for her?

One might say if the position which God intended for the girl is the home why need she have an education? But to this person we could say that the girl in the HOME is the girl most needful of an education, for into her care is entrusted the nation's future welfare. The men soon to be clothed with authority in our nations are now having their characters fashioned by some women. Not only is woman entrusted with the guardianship of the intellect and character of the world's statesmen and philosophers, but her gentle presence as she bends over the cradle and the silent influences of her daily life are shaping the entire moral characters of the coming generation. All the grand truths of the mother are inherited by her children, the language which she uses becomes the language of the little child as soon as it able to talk. If the mother's mind is weak and narrow in its range, the child is affected by this fact long before words have any meaning to it. But if the mother's mind is cultured and refined the child's soul will grow and expand under the influence of the thoughts as the plant grows under the influence of the sun.

A girl should not only have an education qualifying her for motherhood. but she should be possessed with a good education along practical lines. Three times each day our lives are at the mercy and good judgement of a woman. Even more for the world's character is largely what its food makes it. Whoever controls a being's stomach; controls his destiny. Woman then casts a powerful influence over the loves, hates, hopes, fears, joys, sorrows, of those who gather abovt her table. What then can be more important than that a girl should be educated in cookery and the sciences of chemistry and hygiene. This then is what we mean by a girl being educated for the home, that they should be taught through wisdom and experience of mothers and also through books how to engage in the noble occupation of housewife with the best advantage to mankind

Since the presence of girls constitutes one of the chief charms and benefits of society then, certainly she should have an education qualifying her for society. Take the girl in the church, we know from personal experience that a girl with a varied and complete education is the one who is the most able to lead and advance others to a higher life, for as has been said, "Education is the handmaid of religion." If the best and highest minds do not in some way associate knowledge and religion, why are all our colleges and seminaries under the direct supervision of the Christian church?

Take the mother in the school. If she has been reared to care nothing for high ideals she will in no way care for her boys and girls, they will be allowed to be absent when ever and as long as they wish. But if she has been reared to care for a good education even though she has none, she will endeavor to teach her children high ideals. They will be kept in school and the mother will be found many times in the school room in hearty co-operation with the teacher.

Therefore we as girls should have as our Excelsior or aim an education which will prove of benefit in a home and society. Even if we have not the wealth to accomplish what our imagination may picture to us. Let us do as Sir Isaac Newton who picked only a few pebbles from the great sea of knowledge. If we have the privlege to pick only a few pebbles let us select those best adapted to our needs, and again I say in what ever realm we find ourselves let our aim be for higher ideals and nobler character, one which will especially fit us for the high and noble purpose for which God created us, for all may have glory's crown as has been said,

"From every lowly cottage roof,
However poor and brown,
From every dusty hovel, points,
A hand at glory's crown."

Undertaking a Specialty.

Eliza Kinsey takes charge of all funerals. Calls answered day or night Prices reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

Phone No. Office 37-2. Residence 37-3

Local Items.

Mr. Thos. Phillips of Auburn, was in town, Wednesday.

Aaron Thomas and wife spent Sunday with Neff Culler and family.

Before buying galvanized roofing call on F. Kinsey and get prices.

Frank Hathaway of Garrett, visited in the home of H. C. Hathaway, last week.

Cap Andress visited several days last week, with His brother, Marshall and family.

Otis Wise and wife of Garrett were guests of Alva Reasoner and family and the latters parents, east of town.

Jess Copp and lady friend, Miss Bertha Sterm of New Haven, were commencement guests in the home of Abner Copp and family.

Frank Philley and wife of Huntington, came last Wednesday for a visit with the formers mother, Mrs. Addie Filley, and other relatives.

Mrs. Chas. Bishop of Reading, M., came Wednesday for a visit with her parents. Mr. Bishop joined his wife, Friday. They returned home Monday.

The transfers for the week ending May 4th were as following: St. Joe:—J. Wineland to S. Wineland, 1 lot, O. P. $2200,00. Concord Township:—J. M. Beans to J. W. Beans, 2 acres, sec. 33, $300.

A bill has been introduced in Congress by Senator Gallinger providing that letter carriers who have been in the service forty years and have reached the age of seventy years shall be retired by the Postmaster General upon 80 per cent of the salary they may be receiving at the time of such retirement.

Money to loan on farms at 5 per cent interest. Payable on or before 10 years. Partial payments allowed. Call on or write us. Brown & Rhoads, Lawyers, City National Bank Building, Auburn, Ind.

The following pupils from the primary department attended the full eight months term of school and were neither tardy nor absent:- Waldo Milliman, Howard Williams, Lloyd Miller, Merritt Milliman, Vergil Perry and Clayton Hathaway. This is Waldo's second, and Howard's third year with an unbroken record.

Japan is in bad odor all over the world. She has not a single friend. England her ally, or at least the English, hate her more than any other people. England has on account of her great foreign trade, closer contact and competition with Japan than any other people, her lack of conscience and intolerance of anything that uses the same road by land or sea.

Miss Ollie M. Gratz, who for 2 years has been employed in the west by B. & O. Ry. Co. and now employed at Swanton, Ohio, as night operator for L. S. & M. S. Ry. was home in Spencerville for a few days last week visiting parents and friends, returned to her work. Tuesday, accompanied by a chum, operator of Delta, Ohio, Miss Jessie Mitchell, also of Lake Shore Ry. Co.

The weather prophet, Hicks, in his prognostications of the weather for May put it pretty well for opening of the month. He said: "The month entered with a storm extending from the Gulf of Mexico to the Ohio river to be followed by a few days of warm weather which in turn will give place to another storm and many cold and ugly days." Continueing he says: "About the 15th a storm will advance over the country from west and there will be a cold wave about the 25th to 27th. The last two or three days of May will be pleasant. The 24th will usher in the most dangerous period of the month and Monday; Tuesday and Wednesday, the 25th, 26th and 27th, storm periods may be expected to be very threatening if not tornadic."

Good Words For Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

People everywhere take pleasure in testifying to the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. Edward Phillips of Barclay, Md., writes: "I wish to say that I can recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My little girl Catherine, who is two years old, has been taking this remedy whenever she has had a cold since she was two months old. About a month ago I contracted a dreadful cold myself, but I took Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was soon as well as ever." This remedy is for sale by H. Milliman, St. Joe, F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

Just Received.

Car Load Wabash Portland Cement.
Consignment of Gasoline Vapor Stoves.

I Keep on Hands

Hydrated Ground Lime
Stoves and Ranges — Cooking Utensils
Steel Goods of all kinds.

All Kinds of Roofing:

Best quality Red Cedar Shingles
Gravel Roofing — Asbestos, Rubber, Felt and Galvanized Roofing.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT
Linseed, Automobile and Lubricating Oils, Gasoline, Etc.

GLASS, SASH AND DOORS.

Quality Right. Prices Right.

D. J. Baker.

The World's Best Climate

is not entirely free from disease. on the high elevations fevers prevail, while on the lower levels malaria is encountered to a greater or less extent, according to altitude. To overcome climate affections, lassitude, malaria, jaudice, biliousness, fever and agne, and general debility, the most effective remedy is Electric Bitters, the great alterative and blood purifier; the antidote for every form of bodily weakness, nervousness, and insomnia. Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store. Price 50c.

G. C. Lucas is a new subscriber to THE NEWS.

Mrs. Bowman has been on the sick list the past week, but is better at this writing.

Miss Grace Sechler, who is attending school at Angola, visited her parents over Sunday.

Miss Fuchsia Hadsell of Peru, was the guest of Miss Ethel Berry over commencement. She also visited at Hicksville, returning to her home, Sunday evening.

Heart Troubles

The heart may be weak just the same as the eyes, stomach or other organs. It often happens that a person is born with a weak heart. Then again disease, fevers, over-exertion, anxiety, nervousness, rheumatism, etc. weaken the heart. The result is shortness of breath, palpitation, pain in the heart, or in some of the nerves of the chest or abdomen. The heart should be strengthened with a tonic, and for this nothing equals Dr. Miles' Heart Cure.

"I had La Grippe last fall as I thought in a mild form. I was weak, tired feeling, and short of breath; could hardly go about, and a good deal of the time sort of an asthmatic breathing and extremely nervous. I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nervine and now I feel so much better in every way. I am so thankful that I began taking this medicine, and shall not hesitate to tell others how much good it has done me."
MRS. F. J. NORTON.
Plainville, New York.

Your druggist sells Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and we authorize him to return price of first bottle (only) if it fails to benefit you.
Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

PATENTS

and TRADE-MARKS promptly obtained in all countries, or no fee. We obtain PATENTS THAT PAY, advertise them thoroughly, at our expense, and help you to success.

Send model, photo or sketch for FREE report on patentability. 30 years' practice. SURPASSING REFERENCES. For Free Guide Book on Profitable Patents write to

503-505 Seventh Street, WASHINGTON, D. C.

D. SWIFT & Co.

Buy our stationery,

Note books at THE NEWS office.

Get prices on galvanized roofing before buying. F. KINSEY.

Frank Meek of Lima, O., was the guest of H. H. Meek and wife a few days last week. He is a traveling salesman.

Miss Gladys Morris of Fort Wayne, was the guest of her sister Mrs. Bert Woodcox, several days last week.

Mrs. S. W. Tustison entertained at supper, Friday evening, the Misses Ethel and Hazel Berry and Gladys Barney in honor of Miss Hadsell of Peru.

This year we have the most complete line of commencement invitations we have ever had. We invite you to come and see them. Prices reasonable.

Ern Johnson and family, who lived on the Frank Dragoo farm near Concord, moved to town last week, occupying the Hettinger property in the west end.

There is probably as much jealousy and spite among Senators in the United States Senate as there is among girls at a boarding school, or as there is in any assembly where nongregarious antipathetic people are thrown together. Senator Lodge of Massachusetts is jealous of Senator Beveridge of Indiana, because that youngling presumes to be an advocate for the president's policies which Sen. Lodge looks upon as an usurpation of his special role. Senators Hale, Aldrich and all the old war horses resent the rise of the younger Senators with the idea doubtless that children should be seen and not heard.

C. S. SMITH
Lawyer and Notary Public.
COLLECTIONS and LOANS,
Office in Auburn State Bank Building.
Auburn Indiana.

The News, - - $1 per year.

MAY

L 903

BABY'S ECZEMA GREW WORSE

Hospitals and Doctors Could Not Relieve Him—But Cuticura Remedies a Speedy, Permanent Cure.

"Eczema appeared when our baby was three months old. We applied to several doctors and hospitals, each of which gave us something different every time, but nothing brought relief. At last, one of our friends recommended to us Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. A few days afterwards improvement could be noted. Since then we have used nothing but Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, and now the baby is six months old and is quite cured. All that we used was one cake of Cuticura Soap and two boxes Cuticura Ointment, costing in all $1.25. C. F. Kara, 343 East 65th Street, New York, March 30, 1906."

The use of electric power in the great staple industries of the south is constantly increasing, and a very broad central-station development is under way.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten-fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by Druggists. Price, 75c. per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

The ostrich farming industry of southern California represents an investment of $750,000 and the annual output of feathers is worth about $100,000.

Most economical to buy. All dealers. Save the package tops; each are worth 12 coupons in exchange for presents. Premium List free of PACIFIC COAST BORAX CO., Chicago.

Next to the attar of roses, the most valuable perfume is oil of jasmine, which is quoted at $380 a pound.

If you wish beautiful, clear, white clothes, use Red Cross Ball Blue. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

The eyes of seven persons out of ten are not matched as far as their power is concerned.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

Trousseau Gowns.

"Trousseau gowns are lovelier than ever," says the fashion editor of the Woman's Home Companion, "but as they have increased in beauty, they have lessened in number. Very few brides of to-day, no matter how fashionable they may be, order a trousseau consisting of a great number of costumes. The reason for this is that fashions change so that it is necessary every little while to have a new-style gown if one is to keep pace with the capricious modes.

"The bridal princess gown is a style which will be in fashion for a long time to come. One can wear it as long as the material lasts by merely changing the sleeves to meet the requirements of the prevailing fashion."

Price of His Treason.

Benedict Arnold died in London June 14, 1801. His life after his treason was a most unhappy one. He was avoided by men of honor and on many occasions deliberately insulted. He received a considerable sum of money from the British government and made several unsuccessful attempts to engage in business in British America and the West Indies and finally returned to London, where he died in obscurity. His second son, born in 1780, entered the British army in 1798, served with credit in many parts of the world and three years before his death in 1854 was made a lieutenant general.—Household Companion.

CHANGE IN FOOD

Works Wonders in Health.

It is worth knowing that a change in food can cure dyspepsia. "I deem it my duty to let you know how Grape-Nuts food has cured me of indigestion.

"I had been troubled with it for years, until last year my doctor recommended Grape-Nuts food to be used every morning. I followed instructions and now I am entirely well.

"The whole family like Grape-Nuts, we use four packages a week. You are welcome to use this testimonial as you see fit."

The reason this lady was helped by the use of Grape-Nuts food, is that it is predigested by natural processes and therefore does not tax the stomach as the food she had been using; it also contains the elements required for building up the nervous system. If that part of the human body is in perfect working order, there can be no dyspepsia, for nervous energy represents the steam that drives the engine.

When the nervous system is run down, the machinery of the body works badly. Grape-Nuts food can be used by small children as well as adults. It is perfectly cooked and ready for instant use.

Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

The Popular Pulpit

THE EXPRESSION OF RELIGION.

By Henry F. Cope.

"And whosoever shall give to drink unto one of these little ones a cup of cold water only in the name of a disciple, verily I say unto you, he shall in nowise lose his reward."—Matt. x., 42.

The greatest present need in religion is the discovery and use of adequate methods of practical expression of our beliefs and emotions. There are more than sufficient forms and means of oral expression; we need to know how we may put into work and service the ideals, aspirations, passions, conceptions and convictions that make one's religion.

No healthy being can be content to sit and listen to sermons forever. Many turn from the church and the organized forms of religion because these too often simply seem to be arrangements for satisfying the desire for better things here by listening to flowery descriptions of a fairer world and an ideally adjusted social order somewhere else.

Feelings move the world; but the life of feeling alone soon becomes a living falsehood. The finer the emotions that are sedulously nurtured and then denied their normal expression, the greater the damage to the life. This life of ours needs fine feelings deeply stirred, but only that we may be moved to do the things of which we dream and right the wrongs over which we weep.

A man feels this strongly in religion. He is conscious of the world's sin and sorrow; he knows its imperfections and his own; he is moved to righteous indignation against social abuses and enormities; he is stirred to longing after lofty, spiritual ideals; but unless he is already atrophied by emotions unexpressed, he is crying. What can we do about these things?

It often seems that all that is being done, as definite expression of religious ideals, to bring about better conditions for individuals and for society is being done outside the church. The churches furnish the stimulus and leave to juvenile courts, mothers' congresses, child labor leagues, to the many organizations that care for the helpless and defenseless these things that the great Master Himself began to do amongst men.

All these movements for the betterment of our neighbors and our race are good and it is not much use our talking about our religion unless we are doing our part along with all those who seek to wipe away needless tears and redeem humanity from darkness, who feed the hungry and clothe the destitute. No man needs to worry over his spiritual life if he is moved by the spirit of sacrificing love for his fellows, if he is giving himself thus to them.

Yet sometimes we feel that such means are too formal for the full, free living out of the religious life. We can only touch these great problems occasionally and in spots; whatever we may do through organizations, there still remains much of our faith without adequate expression. Do we not here need to learn of him who taught men so well the religious life?

The best way to put our religion into our lives is to live his kind of a life, to be just what the man of Nazareth was to men, a friend to every one whom he met. Full, free, living friendship is the best avenue for the expression of the best in any of us, and the faith that does not make a man a friend amongst men is not the faith of the great friend of sinners.

Our world needs friends. Folks need more than movements, organizations, and impersonal machinery for their relief; they need folks, eyes that look into theirs, hands that touch theirs, lips that frame simple words of kindness, hearts that go out to their own and, fusing in the fire of sympathy, lift their hearts and raise their eyes to better things, to hope and cheer and happiness.

How simple it all is, how sufficient, just to be a true, helpful friend to every other one, to look on him, not with the critic's eye, but with friendship's eye of faith; to lift him, not officially but with a brother's tenderness and strength, just to go about amongst men with the strength, cheer, sympathy and helpfulness of the friendship that lifts and ennobles.

CANTANKEROUS GOODNESS.

By Rev. Charles F. Aked, D. D.

Let not then your good be evil spoken of.—Romans 14:16.

Too much of the goodness of this world is cantankerous goodness.

It is a rule of universal applicability, full of universal fruitfulness. If you are going to do a thing, do it. Either come in or go out. God Almighty cannot make a door to be both open and shut at the same time. If you are going to do a thing, do it properly. Sit down and consider the cost if you must, though it is better to do the right in scorn of cost, not so much as considering whether there be such a thing as cost.

Why are you helping this man at all? Why, to help him. Out of the goodness of your heart and out of a wish to be of service to him. Then how foolish to do it in such a way as to spoil his happiness in receiving. How foolish to defeat your own object by a way of doing things which brings you no gain and involves him in loss. There are men who have tried to do us a kindness and they have set about it in such a fashion that we have not forgiven them yet. Give or do not give—one or the other. But if you are to be generous, be generous generously, and get all the credit, all the benefit, all the happiness and all the influence for good out of it.

So with all life, not merely with the giving of money, time or service. Have you to make a concession or accept an unpleasant position or submit to an awkward fact or put yourself in the position of one who acknowledges error and offers frank apology? Then do it heartily. Let not your good be evil spoken of. Concede the point or refuse it; fight and die in your last ditch if you think that is Christian duty. These are reasonable, consistent courses. But it is neither reasonable nor consistent, it is neither Christianity nor common sense to yield grudgingly and with a bad grace, to submit to the humiliation of defeat without securing the self-approbation which accompanies whole-heartedness, to say that you forgive while muttering under your breath that you will not forget or to offer an apology which neither satisfies your conscience nor clears the offense.

Wisdom is in this advice, the common sense of daily life. But deeper things are in it. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ is in the spirit which gives itself freely, pouring out its own life in saving and redeeming men, making life beautiful and sweet.

DEATH A REVEALER.

By Rev. Frederick E. Hopkins.

Death is a great revealer. If we had seen many of our blessings before they were taken from us half as clearly as we have seen them a thousand times since, what a difference it would have made in our lives. If we had known our friend before he was taken from us forever as we have understood him through the magnifying power of tears, we should have been bound together with hooks of steel.

It was all very plain to the disciples as they trudged on through the shadows on the way from Jerusalem to Emmaus that their best friend had lived and suffered and died for them, and they had taken everything He had to give, but they had not raised a hand or spoken a word in His defense. It seemed, doubtless, that every nail that pierced His body went through the cross and now rankled in their hearts on account of their ingratitude. If what they said in that evening's walk had been preserved it would have made the greatest sermon ever preached on the importance of seeing your blessings.

Keep your eyes open as you go through life, and when you have a husband or wife, son or daughter, lover or friend, such as God often sends into our lives, do not wait until it is too late, but appreciate and serve and love and praise and do your best to make them happy right now. Wills are often broken, but no one can rob us of the double value in a daily kindness. Then, when our loved ones have passed beyond the reach of praise or blame, among the other sorrows, of which we usually have enough, there will not be the sorrow of self-reproach.

HYMNS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

A Soldier of the Cross.

Am I a soldier of the cross,
A follower of the Lamb?
And shall I fear to own his cause,
Or blush to speak his name?

Must I be carried to the skies
On flowery beds of ease,
While others fought to win the prize,
And sailed through bloody seas?

Are there no foes for me to face?
Must I not stem the flood?
Is this vile world a friend to grace,
To help me on to God?

Sure I must fight, if I would reign;
Increase my courage, Lord;
I'll bear the toil, endure the pain,
Supported by thy word.

Thy saints, in all this glorious war,
Shall conquer though they die;
They view the triumph from afar,
And seize it with their eye.

When that illustrious day shall rise,
And all thine armies shine
In robes of victory through the skies,
The glory shall be thine.

Pattern Department

UP-TO-DATE DESIGNS FOR THE HOME DRESSMAKER

Tucked Negligee.

Such a pretty, graceful yet simple negligee as this one is certain to be liked. It can be made from cashmere, as in this instance, from albatross or any similar material, from pretty, soft silk or from the slightly heavier Scotch and French flannels. It is eminently attractive and dainty, yet it is by no means difficult to make. The sleeves can be open at the outer edges, as illustrated, or left plain as liked, and in place of the scalloped edge any little banding or simple finish can be used, which will lessen the labor, although the scallops are very charming and are much in vogue. Both plain colors and figured materials are used for the purpose, and there are a whole host of pretty washable fabrics that are to be commended just now.

PATTERN NO. 5928.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:

Order Coupon.

No. 5928.

SIZE .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

Five Gored Petticoat.

The shapely, well-fitting petticoat is absolutely essential to the well-fitting gown. This one is designed to flare just sufficiently at the lower edge to mean comfortable walking and grace while it is perfectly smooth over the hips. In the illustration it is made of plain colored taffeta trimmed with bands of plaid, but it is just as well adapted to the lingerie materials as to silk, and it is appropriate for mohair and the many mercerized skirtings. When made in round length the frills are joined one to the other, making one flounce, but for the walking length they can be used in this way or left separate and arranged over the foundation as may be preferred. The petticoat is cut in five gores and is fitted by means of darts in the side gores.

PATTERN NO. 5899.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly.

Order Coupon.

No. 5899.

SIZE .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

Habitual Constipation

May be permanently overcome by proper personal efforts with the assistance of the one truly beneficial laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, which enables one to form regular habits daily so that assistance to nature may be gradually dispensed with when no longer needed as the best of remedies, when required, are to assist nature and not to supplant the natural functions, which must depend ultimately upon proper nourishment, proper efforts and right living generally.

To get its beneficial effects, always buy the genuine

Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna

manufactured by the

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. ONLY

SOLD BY ALL LEADING DRUGGISTS

one size only, regular price 50¢ per Bottle

Zoological Post Cards—Second Series.

If you are a collector or dealer of postal cards, you will be interested in an attractive set of eight cards just published, showing the most valuable wild animals in the Ringling Bros.' Menagerie, a set will be mailed you for 10c. Special prices in lots to dealers. There is a great opportunity to make money in selling these cards to collectors or the general public. Address The Evening Wisconsin Co., Post Card Dep't., Milwaukee, Wis.

FITS St. Vitus' Dance and all Nervous Diseases Permanently Cured by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Send for Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. DR. R. H. KLINE, Ld., 931 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Literal Charity.

"I would like to take the sense of the meeting about this charity relief," said the professional philanthropist.

And when the contribution was taken up he found he had taken nothing else. —Baltimore American.

For Any Disease or Injury to the eye, use PETTIT'S EYE SALVE, absolutely harmless, acts quickly. All druggists or Howard Bros., Buffalo, N. Y.

Reverse English.

"Johnny, don't stuff yourself so. If you 'eat properly you'll live long.'"

"Nothin' in that, paw. I'd ruther eat long an' live properly."

Are Your Clothes Faded?

Use Red Cross Ball Blue and make them white again. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

Discovering Writers.

The rejection of a manuscript often left a pang, but the acceptable manuscript, especially from an unknown hand, brought a glow of joy which richly compensated me for all I suffered from the others. To feel the touch never felt before, to be the first to find the planet unimagined in the illimitable heaven of art, to be in at the dawn of a new talent, with the light that seems to mantle the written page, who would not be an editor for such a privilege? I do not know how it is with other editors who are also authors, but I can truly say for myself that nothing of my own which I thought fresh and true ever gave me more pleasure than that I got from the like qualities in the work of some young writer revealing his power.—W. D. Howells in Atlantic.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOR ALL KIDNEY DISEASES

FOR RHEUMATISM, BRIGHT'S DISEASE, BACKACHE, DIABETES.

1875 "Guaranteed"

ROUGH ON RATS TRADE MARK

DON'T DIE IN THE HOUSE

UNBEATABLE EXTERMINATOR

THE OLD RELIABLE THAT NEVER FAILS

Being all poison, one 15c box will spread or make 50 to 100 little cakes that will kill 500 or more rats and mice, and thousands of Roaches, Ants and Bed Bugs.

15c, 25c & 75c boxes at all druggists and country stores.

FREE Send for our comic postal cards and lithograph which have convulsed the world with laughter.

E. S. WELLS, Chemist, Jersey City, N. J.

20 MULE TEAM

BORAX

IN A NEW PACKAGE

5 lbs.

WIDOWS PENSIONS under NEW LAW obtained by JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.

MAY

L 903

This woman says that sick women should not fail to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she did.

Mrs. A. Gregory, of 2355 Lawrence St., Denver, Col., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was practically an invalid for six years, on account of female troubles. I underwent an operation by the doctor's advice, but in a few months I was worse than before. A friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it restored me to perfect health, such as I have not enjoyed in many years. Any woman suffering as I did with backache, bearing-down pains, and periodic pains, should not fail to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Bad Breath.

A well-known physician, who undoubtedly knows, declares that bad breath has broken off more matches than bad temper.

There are ardent lovers who must sometimes wish their sweethearts presented sweeter mouths to be kissed.

Good teeth cannot prevent bad breath when the stomach is disordered.

The best cure for bad breath is a cleansing out of the body by use of the tonic laxative.

Lane's Family Medicine

This is a herb medicine, sold in 25c. and 50c. packages by druggists and it is saving more doctor's bills than any other medicine has ever saved.

It cures headache, backache, indigestion, constipation and skin diseases.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS. Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

DO YOU KNOW THE WET WEATHER COMFORT AND PROTECTION afforded by a TOWER'S FISH BRAND SLICKER?

Clean-Light Durable

Guaranteed Waterproof

$3.00 Everywhere

A. J. TOWER CO. BOSTON U.S.A. TOWER CANADIAN CO. LIMITED TORONTO, CAN.

Mother Gray, Nurse in Children's Home, New York City

MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS FOR CHILDREN,

A Certain Cure for Feverishness, Constipation, Headache, Stomach Troubles, Teething Disorders, and Destroys Worms. Will Break up Colds in 24 hours. At all Druggists, 25 cts. Sample mailed FREE. Address A. S. OLMSTED, Le Roy, N. Y.

If afflicted with sore Eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

WORK OF CONGRESS

The Senate had under consideration all day Thursday the agricultural appropriation bill. Practically all the committee amendments were disposed of except those relating to the forest service, which will be taken up Friday. Consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill was resumed in the House. Mr. Townsend of Michigan, offered an amendment increasing from $50,000 to $350,000 the appropriation for the enforcement by the interstate commerce commission of that clause of the Hepburn act directing the commission to cause to be made examinations of the accounts of the interstate railroads of the country to determine whether that law is being violated and to make public the results of such examinations. After a debate lasting four hours the amendment was agreed to. The House disagreed to the Senate amendments to the District of Columbia and pension appropriation bills and sent those bills to conference.

-:—:-

The time of the Senate was taken up for two hours Friday with a speech by Senator Jeff Davis of Arkansas, asking that the committee on the judiciary be discharged from further consideration of his bill for the suppression of trusts. The remainder of the day was given over to the consideration of a resolution by Senator Elkins, suspending until Jan. 1, 1910, the commodity clause of the Hepburn railroad rate law. The resolution provoked so much debate and so many amendments were offered dealing with other phases of the railroad legislation that the whole matter went over until Monday. The House spent all of the day's session in considering and passing paragraph by paragraph under suspension of the rules, the sundry civil appropriation bill.

-:—:-

The policy sought to be established by the government of providing and equipping buildings for its ambassadors in European capitals received a setback Saturday in the Senate, where the diplomatic bill was under consideration. Through a point of order by Mr. Culberson of Texas, an amendment appropriating $400,000 for such a building at Paris was stricken out. The bill was then passed, following which eulogies on the life and public services of the late Senators Mallory and Bryan of Florida were delivered. Passage by paragraph, under suspension of the rules, of the sundry civil appropriation bill was continued in the House, but was not completed.

-:—:-

Senator Bulkeley of Connecticut, a member of the military affairs committee, spoke at length in the Senate Monday on the Brownsville affray. He declared his belief in the innocence of the negro soldiers of the Twenty-fifth Regiment and said the rioters in the town on the night of Aug. 13-14, 1906, in his judgment, were lawless Mexicans from outside the town, assisted by the lawless class within Brownsville. The House resolution appropriating $250,000 to relieve the recent cyclone sufferers in Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi and Louisiana was passed. The House completely overrode the committee on appropriations in connection with several items in the sundry civil appropriation bill. When the measure was laid aside for the day $250,000 had been added to the sum granted by the committee, which included $100,000 for gauging the streams and determining the water supply of the United States; an increase of $50,000 in the appropriation for testing structural materials and $130,000 for testing coal, lignites and other fuel substances.

-:—:-

An extended speech in opposition to the forestry service was made by Senator Heyburn of Idaho in the Senate Tuesday, while the agricultural appropriation bill was under consideration. He criticised the practice of speaking of "any man's policy," saying that the only policies of the government that are not fictitious are those that are written in the laws of the land. Mr. Warner of Missouri continued his speech on the Brownsville affray, but did not conclude. A lively debate was kept up all day in the House on the sundry civil appropriation bill. Repeated efforts were made by Messrs. Gaines of Tennessee and Chaney of Indiana, supported by many other members, to procure an appropriation for any investigation looking to increasing safety in mining, and they had about got Chairman Tawney to the point where he would consent to an appropriation of $50,000, when Mr. Underwood of Alabama objected and the proposition, for the time at least, was dropped. A provision in the bill for the purchase of over 6,000 acres of land as an addition to Fort McKinley, Philippine Islands, based on a recommendation by Gen. Leonard Wood, elicited severe criticism of that officer by Messrs. Fitzgerald of New York and Butler of Pennsylvania, the former continually referring to him as "Dr. Wood." The provision, on motion of Mr. Hay of Virginia, was stricken out by unanimous vote. The three remaining hours of the session were taken up by a succession of roll calls, caused by a refusal of the House to take a recess at 5 o'clock, as a result of a joke on the part of some Republicans to hold the Democrats in the House until the time the Republican caucus was scheduled to be held.

NATIONAL CAPITAL NOTES.

The Senate passed Senator Hepburn's resolution calling on the names of employes of the forestry division who have attended forestry conventions and whether any expense has been incurred by the government thereby.

A JAPANESE TOILET.

The Demure Brown Maiden in Her Holiday Attire.

The Japanese college girl entertained the fudge party with oriental reminiscences.

"On every holiday," she said, "the Japanese maiden must rise and have her toilet finished before the sun looks over Fujiyama, our sacred mountain.

"And what a toilet! The long, coarse black tresses are washed, combed and greased till the head shines like a knob of polished black marble. The cheeks are rouged a fine pink. The throat, neck and bosom are powdered, but at the nape of the neck there are left three lines of the original brown skin, in accordance with the rules of Japanese cosmetic art.

"With charcoal she rounds and lengthens her eyebrows. She reddens her lips with cherry paste, adding a gilt diamond to the center of the pouting lower lip. She puts on eight fresh garments, and she ties her obi, or great sash, in a symbolical knot. Her socks—she doesn't wear stockings—are very white and pure, and her clogs are lacquered till they shine like a silk hat.

"Now she is ready to set out. She fills her silk tobacco pouch, thrusts her pipe in her girdle, puts six paper handkerchiefs up her wide sleeve and sallies forth, turning her toes in and waving her fan with a demure grace."—Los Angeles Times.

AT A CRITICAL TIME.

Women Are Likely to Suffer with Dangerous Kidney Disorders.

Mrs. John Kirk, R. F. D. No. 2, Detroit, Mich., says: "Five years ago at a critical time of life I was on the verge of a collapse with kidney troubles, backache, dizziness, puffy dropsy swellings and urinary irregularities. I lost flesh and felt languid, nervous or unstrung all the time. As my doctor did not help me I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. In a few weeks all these symptoms left me. I now weigh 163 pounds and feel in excellent health."

Sold by all dealers, 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Literature's Narrow Escape.

With the fire of genius flashing in his eye, Rienzi raised his voice, and his magnificent exordium rang out:

"I come not here to talk——"

"The hook! The hook!" yelled the galleries. "He didn't come here to talk, and he's talking! Give him the hook!"

Instantly the long handled implement shot out from the wings, and Rienzi, howling and protesting, was yanked from the stage.

Later, however, he secured leave to print, and his address, as every schoolboy knows, was given to the public in full.

Lemon, Chocolate and Custard Pies.

It does not require an experienced cook to make good pies from "OUR-PIE." Just the proper proportions of all ingredients are in the package, ready for immediate use. At grocers, 10 cents per package. Order a few packages to-day. Put up by D-Zerta Food Co., Rochester, N. Y.

Doesn't Fease Him.

"That new preacher you have is a pretty wide-awake young man, isn't he?"

"Yep. Keeps right on preachin' when everybody else is asleep."—Cleveland Leader.

EPILEPSY ITS

TRIAL FREE

If you suffer from Fits, Falling Sickness or Spasms, or have Children that do so, my New Discovery and Treatment will give them immediate relief, and all you are asked to do is to send for a Free Bottle of Dr. May's

EPILEPTICIDE CURE

Complies with Food and Drugs Act of Congress June 30th 1906. Complete directions, also testimonials of CURES, etc., FREE by mail. Express Prepaid. Give AGE and full address

W. B. MAY, M. D., 546 Pearl Street, New York.

What is Pe-ru-na?

Is it a Catarrh Remedy, or a Tonic, or is it Both?

Some people call Peruna a great tonic. Others refer to Peruna as a great catarrh remedy.

Which of these people are right? Is it more proper to call Peruna a catarrh remedy than to call it a tonic?

Our reply is, that Peruna is both a tonic and a catarrh remedy. Indeed, there can be no effectual catarrh remedy that is not also a tonic.

In order to thoroughly relieve any case of catarrh, a remedy must not only have a specific action on the mucous membranes affected by the catarrh, but it must have a general tonic action on the nervous system.

Catarrh, even in persons who are otherwise strong, is a weakened condition of some mucous membrane. There must be something to strengthen the circulation, to give tone to the arteries, and to raise the vital forces.

Perhaps no vegetable remedy in the world has attracted so much attention from medical writers as HYDRASTIS CANADENSIS. The wonderful efficacy of this herb has been recognized many years, and is growing in its hold upon the medical profession. When joined with CUBEBS and COPAIBA a trio of medical agents is formed in Peruna which constitutes a specific remedy for catarrh that in the present state of medical progress cannot be improved upon. This action, reinforced by such renowned tonics as COLLINSONIA CANADENSIS, CORYDALIS FORMOSA and CEDRON SEED, ought to make this compound an ideal remedy for catarrh in all its stages and locations in the body.

From a theoretical standpoint, therefore, Peruna is beyond criticism. The use of Peruna, confirms this opinion. Numberless testimonials from every quarter of the earth furnish ample evidence that this judgment is not over enthusiastic. When practical experience confirms a well-grounded theory the result is a truth that cannot be shaken.

Manufactured by PERUNA DRUG MANUFACTURING COMPANY, Columbus, Ohio

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES $3.00 $3.50

SHOES AT ALL PRICES, FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE FAMILY, MEN, BOYS, WOMEN, MISSES AND CHILDREN.

W. L. Douglas makes and sells more men's $2.50, $3.00 and $3.50 shoes than any other manufacturer in the world, because they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater value than any other shoes in the world to-day.

Head Color Eyelets Used Exclusively.

W. L. Douglas $4 and $5 Gilt Edge Shoes Cannot Be Equalled At Any Price

CAUTION. W. L. Douglas name and price is stamped on bottom. Take No Substitute. Sold by the best shoe dealers everywhere. Shoes mailed from factory to any part of the world. Illustrated Catalog free to any address.

W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

Garfield Digestive Tablets

From your druggist, or the GARFIELD TEA CO., Brooklyn, N.Y.; 25c per bot.; samples upon request.

160 Acre FARMS IN Western Canada FREE

Illustration Showing Mixed Farming Scene in

WESTERN CANADA

Some of the choicest lands for grain growing, stock raising and mixed farming in the new districts of Saskatchewan and Alberta have recently been Opened for Settlement under the

Revised Homestead Regulations

Entry may now be made by proxy (on certain conditions), by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader. Thousands of homesteads of 160 acres each are thus now easily obtainable in these great grain-growing, stock-raising and mixed farming sections.

There you will find healthful climate, good neighbors, churches for family worship, schools for your children, good laws, splendid crops, and railroads convenient to market.

Entry fee in each case is $10.00. For pamphlet, "Last Best West," particulars as to rates, routes, best time to go and where to locate, apply to W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or W. H. Rogers, 3d Floor Traction Terminal Building, Indianapolis, Ind., and H. M. Williams, Room 30, Law Building, Toledo, Ohio, Authorized Government Agents.

Please say where you saw this advertisement.

Paxtine

TOILET ANTISEPTIC

Keeps the breath, teeth, mouth and body antiseptically clean and free from unhealthy germ-life and disagreeable odors, which water, soap and tooth preparations alone cannot do. A germicidal, disinfecting and deodorizing toilet requisite of exceptional excellence and economy. Invaluable for inflamed eyes, throat and nasal and uterine catarrh. At drug and toilet stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.

Large Trial Sample

WITH "HEALTH AND BEAUTY" BOOK SENT FREE

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., Boston, Mass.

Get your Letter Paper and Envelopes printed at this office. ::: ::: We can give you the

EAGLE LINEN PAPER and ENVELOPES

It is fine and will suit you. Try it.

F. W. N. U. - - - No. 20—1908

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Advertisement in this paper

A CASE OF BAD BOWELS

Are you happy? Not if your liver and bowels don't work. Happiness depends on the bowels. Every time you eat, you put into your body not only good material for repairs and fuel, but a mass of useless stuff that has to be removed promptly or it will clog your machinery, poison your blood, throw your liver out of gear, and make you act mean to those you love. Your stomach is sour, your skin yellow, your breath offensive, and you hate yourself and all mankind. Winter or summer it's all the same, when you are unclean inside, you are unhappy and so is everybody near you. The cure is pleasant, quick, easy, cheap, never fails. Cascarets, the world's greatest bowel cleaner and liver tonic. Cascarets are guaranteed to cure constipation, lazy liver, bad blood, bad breath, sour stomach, biliousness, and all summer and winter bowel troubles. Don't be unhappy—buy a box today. All druggists, 10c, 25c, 50c. Write for health booklet and free sample. Address Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago or New York.

CURED BY Cascarets CANDY CATHARTIC

MAY

L 903

0175

Political Announcements.

FOR SHERIFF.

EDITOR NEWS:—
Please announce my name as a candidate for the nomination of sheriff of the county subject to the decision of the democratic primary.
RALPH W. THOMAS.

FOR SHERIFF.

EDITOR NEWS:—
Please announce my name as a candidate for sheriff subject to the decision of the Democratic primary.
JAMES S. LOWE.

RECORDER.

Please announce my name as a candidate for the democratic nomination for county recorder, subject to the wishes of the voters at their primary.
J. M. NORFORD.

FOR CLERK.

EDITOR NEWS:—
Please announce my name as a candidate for the democratic nomination for clerk of the DeKalb Circuit court subject to the wishes of the voters at their primary.
EDGAR W. ATKINSON.

FOR CLERK

EDITOR MEWS:—
Please announce that I am a candidate for the democratic nomination for county clerk, subject to the wishes of the voters at their primary.
JOHN HEBEL.

CLERK.

EDITOR NEWS:
Please announce my name as a candidate for the democratic nomination of clerk of the DeKalb circuit court, subject to the wishes of the voters at their primaries, June 4, 1908.
WM. H. LEAS.

RECORDER.

EDITOR NEWS:—
You may announce my name as a candidate from Keyser township, for the democratic nomination for Recorder, subject to the decision of the coming primary election.
D. E. HERSHBERGER.

CLERK

EDITOR NEWS:—
You may announce my name as a candidate for clerk of the county subject to the Democratic primary.
WARREN A. AUSTIN,

SURVEYOR.

Please announce my name as a candidate for the nomination for the office of county surveyor from Keyser township subject to the decision of the voters expressed at the democratic primaries to be held on June 4th.
CHARLES L. WAGONER.

RECORDER.

Please announce my name as a candidate for the democratic nomination for county recorder, subject to the wishes of the democratic voters as expressed at their primaries to be held on June 4, (Jackson township.)
L. D. NELSON.

RECORDER.

Please announce my name as a candidate for nomination for the office of county recorder from Wilmington township, subject to the decision of the democratic primaries to be held June 4th.
S. G. HAVERSTOCK.

COMMISSIONER

EDITOR NEWS:—
Announce my name as a democratic nominee for comissioner of the south-east district subject to the primary elections June 4.
AMOS SNYDER.

COMMISSIONER.

EDITOR NEWS:—
Announce my name as a candidate for commissioner of the south-east district, subject to the decision of the voters at their primaries, June 4.
JOHN R. MOORE.

TREASURER.

EDITOR NEWS:—
Please announce my name as a candidate for renomination for the office of county treasurer, subject to the wishes of the voters at the democratic primary, June 4th, Smithfield township.
HIRAM H. SLAYBAUGH.

Local Items.

Envelopes 5c a bunch.

Ralph Thomas was in town, yesterday, circulating among his democratic friends.

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

BELL PHONE NO. 82.

St. Joe, - Indiana.

SPENCERVILLE

A new business building is talked of.

Preparations for decoration day are being made.

John Medcalf of Garrett is visiting his uncle, Ed Beams.

Mrs. Rollie Moffett and daughter of Auburn Were guests of relatives, Friday.

W. P. Steward is now traveling for the E. U. Heringsen Cigar Co. at Springfield, Ohio.

Ladies Guild of the M. E. church will meet at the M. E. church on Thursday at 2:00 P. M.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bishop of Reading, Mich., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Bowman, Sunday.

W. W. Fisher is traveling for Robert Johns People of Chicago, his territory being in Indiana.

A debating society was organized here at the school building, Saturday evening The time set for the meetings will be published later with the subject named for next meeting.

The High school was defeated by the Harlan High school in a game at Harlan last Friday. The rain prevented the game to be finished. The first team will play Harlan first on next Saturday at Harlan.

Plenty of Trouble

is caused by stagnation of the liver and bowels. To get rid of it and headache and biliousness and the poison that brings jaundice, take Dr. King's New Life Pills, the reliable purifiers that do the work without grinding or griping. 25c at H. Milliman's drug store.

SPENCERVILLE
R. F. D. No. 1.

Miss Pearl Gingery is working for Mrs. Frank Wertman.

Mary Horn spent last week with her aunt, Alice Boger.

Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Horn spent Sunday with Joel Betz and family.

A little son was born to Mr. and Mrs. John McNabb, Thursday night.

The little son of Harry Haifley had the misfortune of having a horse step on his back, though serious he is getting along alright and will recover.

Mrs Adaline Omo, who was staying with her brother John, died the latter part of the week and funeral was held Monday at Scipio Center. She had been a sufferer for several months with dropsy.

Mrs. Gongawer, mother of Mrs. Frank Wertman, living near the Wise school house, passed away about seven o'clock, Monday morning. For months Mrs. Gongawer was an intense sufferer with cancers. She formerly lived about three miles from Coesse and was a devoted member of the Lutheran church at that place about two years ago her husband died and was buried at Coesse. The arrangements are that a short service be held at the house and then the undertaker from where she formerly lived will drive across the country with other friends here and funeral will be held at her old home church. Bro. Dressel of Spencerville will officiate it being a request of the deceased.

Valued Same as Gold.

B. G. Stewart, a merchant of Cedar View, Miss., says: "I tell my customers when they buy a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills they get the worth of that much gold in weight; if afflicted with constipation, malaria or biliousness." Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's, drug store. 25c.

WABASH CORNERS.

Frank Rhoads and family spent Friday in Wayne.

Sherman Bickett and wife spent Friday in Ft. Wayne.

Orange Herrick purchased a cow of W. F. Rhoads of Concord.

Wayne Scott and wife spent Sunday with Mart Hull and family.

George Culbertson called on Sherman Wolff and wife, Sunday evening.

Aunt Em Simanton, who was on the sick list last week, is slowly improving.

A young lady of near New Haven was canvasing in this neighborhood last week

John Ulm and family of Coburn's Corners were Sunday guests of Manuel Ulm and wife.

Roy White and family were the guests of Dennis White and wife of Auburn, Friday.

Benjamin Hamilton and wife of Coburntown were Sunday guests of O. K. Shull and family.

J. B. White and wife of St. Joe and Gene White and family were Sunday guests of Sherman Wolffs'.

Abe Culbertson, wife and daughter, Mabel Baker, of Concord spent Sunday with Frank Herricks'.

Ray Herrick came home from Ft. Wayne, Wednesday evening, to attend the commencement at St. Joe.

John Maurer and wife of Coldwater Mich., are rejoicing over a 9½ lb. boy which arrived at their house, May 5th. Mrs. Maurer was formerly Miss Clara Burley of this place.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

There is probably no medicine made that is relied upon with more implicit confidence than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy During the third of a century in which it has been in use, people have learned that it is the one remedy that never fails. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take. For sale by H. Milliman, St. Joe; F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

John Baxter and wife of Auburn were in town, yesterday.

Railroad Building in China.

Hardly a province of China has escaped the recent mania for railways, and if all the lines projected are carried out some of the remotest parts of the empire will be rendered easy of access.

KEPT HER PROMISE.

Rosie Boote Said She Would Wed a Nobleman and Did So.

The Marchioness of Headfort, who is visiting this country with her husband, was formerly a music hall favorite. The Marquis of Headfort, a nobleman who, with the exception of the Duke of Abercorn and Duke of Leinster, enjoys the highest title in Ireland, fell madly in love with her when as Rosie Boote she was doing the part of Mazie in "The Messenger Boy" at the London Gaiety. He determined to wed the fascinating actress despite the protests of his mother, the colonel of the Life guards, of which he was a member, and the king himself.

THE MARCHIONESS OF HEADFORT.

When the marchioness was singing at the Gaiety and before she had met her present husband she had a particularly fetching song which ran thus:

Some day I mean to wed a duke—don't doubt me!
And none will dare to hint rebuke about me.
The biggest swells will come to me
On Thursday afternoons for tea,
And emperors will make their bows
When I'm at Cowes.

When the marquis heard her sing the lines he determined to help her fulfill her promise. Among the obstacles in the way was the opposition of the king. This led to the nobleman's writing the famous note to his majesty which concluded thus: "The lady I am about to marry is Miss Rosie Boote of the Gaiety theater, who doubtless is known to your majesty." The marquis was reprimanded by the colonel of the Life guards on account of this letter. He was ordered to duty in India, but resigned from his regiment rather than give up his fiance.

RIGHT NOW

Is when you want House Cleaning "Fixins." The demand for Rugs for floor coverings is ever increasing. We have a large assortment for you to select from and we are sure if you'll give us a chance we'll please you both in style and price.

9 x 12 Oriental designs, velvet rugs. Sold at all city stores for $25.00. Our price..... $21.98

Lineoleums

A large range of patterns in in 6 and 12 foot wide, cut to fit your room at 45c, 50c and 60c sq. yd.

Curtain Material.

By the yard.....10c to 30c

Carpets.

From the cheapest cotton to the best all-wool in a large variety of patterns, 25c to 70c per yd.

Door Panels

In pretty designs at 25c to 50c

Lace Curtains,

A large variety of patterns to select from in both white and ecru. Per pair

98c to $6.00.

Curtain poles in Brass extension at.....10c and 15c
White enameled curtain poles at.....10c
Curtain stretchers.....$1.00

Window Shades.

In all colors, 7 ft long at 25c. Window shades for large windows always in stock.

Big Four Store.

St. Joe, Ind.

The Pythians.

The Pythians Sisters have added 18 new members to the order within the past six weeks on last Tuesday eve, Mrs. H. Krabill, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Reasoner, C. F. Kagey, Harry Milliman and N. Funk were iniated into the order. A fine two course lunch was served and a good time was had by all.

$1 A SHAVE.

The barbers of the old Aveline shop which was recently destroyed by fire, opened a five chair shop on east Main street, north of Court House at Ft. Wayne, last Saturday. The office has been equipped with the latest style of furniture and hydrolic chairs. Saturday being the first day in their new location, Merritt Hull of this place, had the honor of shaving the first man for which shave the genial fellow gave Merritt $1.00. The boys will have it framed and hung up in the shop as a souvenir and good luck piece. Mr. Hull was also the hign man in cash receipts the first day, working all day on Aveline customs. This shop is well located and starts out with a fine business. Success boys.

FAIRVIEW

Wanted wood on subscription.

Born to Norman Wyatt and wife, a baby girl. May 10.

Norman Rollands' were visited by their parents, Sunday.

J. H. Krabill entertained friends from Newville, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Coyle called on W. D. Jonnstons, Saturday night.

Cora and Ora Bassett spent Sunday with their uncle, Edward Bassett.

Arraugments have been made for a Children's Day service at this place.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ferguson of Auburn visited relatives, Friday and Saturday.

E. L. Saylor, Geo. Walter and J. H. Krabill each bought a load of corn at Auburn, last week.

Lawrence Brown and Harry Siebert were visiting with the formers cousin Owen Elson at Fairfield Center, a few days last week.

The doctor at Concord says that seven year old Glen Houser has about ten times as much nerve as his papa has. They both had some teeth extracted lately and Glen had one which required the second hard pull before it came out. But he never even groaned.

KRESO DIP

Keeps Stock In the Pink of Condition

KILLS LICE, TICKS, MITES AND FLEAS.

CURES MANGE, SCAB, RINGWORM AND OTHER SKIN DISEASES.

Disinfects, Cleanses, Purifies. Prevents Contagious Diseases, such as Hog Cholera, Distemper, Abortion, etc.

We have booklets describing these diseases and giving directions for treatment. Ask for them.

F. R. Bowman.

(16)

Roy White has a field of corn planted. It takes a hustler to get ahead of him.

Mrs. Alda Brown went to Ft. Wayne, one day last week, to see her daughter, Mrs. Albert Ginther, who is sick with the measles.

Crows will carry away young chickens. Mrs. W. P. Johnston caught one in the act, last Wednesday. Mrs. J. D. Smith also verifies the fact from having seen it done previously. Chicken raisers will do well to watch crows as well as hawks.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. We report search and free report, free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc. IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 625 Ninth Street, opp. United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CA·SNOW &C

0176

L 903

MAY

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXII. ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 20, 1908. NO. 21

Every little bit added to what you've got makes just a little bit more.

Is your money making money for you? The more of it you have working for you the less you need to work yourself. We pay 4 per cent interest compounded semi-annually on Certificates of Deposit.

$1.00 will double itself in 17 years 183 days.
$1.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $147.49.
$5.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $787.43
$10.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $1474.85

Now is the time to save. Anyone can save from $1.00 to $10.00 a month if they only will. It's not what you earn but what you save Fourper cent interest added to what you've already got makes just a little bit more

Grabill State Bank,

Grabill, Indiana.

Joseph Witmer, Pres. Albert Egly, Cashier.
David Klopfenstein, V. Pres. Marcus Yager, Asst. Cashier.

DeKalb County Battalion.

Will hold their annual reunion and picnic at St Joe, August 6th, 1908. Every ex-soldier in the county are expected to be present. The convenience of attending is so good that no one need stay away. Come in the morning on the B. & O. R. R. or at noon on either the B. & O. or Wabash R. R., you can return on the B. & O. at 8:42 P. M. to almost any town or city in the county. The program will be arranged to suit your return. The citizens of St. Joe extend to you a hearty welcome. The public invited. Program later.

F. C. Waterman. Adjt. O. H. Widney. Col.

Harness Shop.

I have opened a harness shop in St. Joe and am ready for all work. Prices given on new work. If you need repair work done, bring it in and same will receive our prompt attention.

WM. UMSTEAD.

Wm. Umstead of this place and Samuel Stafford of Butler are new subscribers to THE NEWS.

Our Candidate.

Last Friday, Hiram D. Poper, a prominent farmer in this section of the county, who lives east of town, announced his name as a candidate for commissioner for the south-east district, subject to the democrats at their primaries June 4. Mr. Poper has been a resident of DeKalb county for the past twenty-eight years and has several times, while living in this township, been elected supervisor and once while in Stafford township. He has given eminent satisfaction owing to the fact he was elected to that office several times. He is also a man of good judgement and there is no reason why the people should not give him a hearty support. We are entitled to a commissioner in this territory and we believe the people will make no mistake in supporting a man like Mr. Poper.

Valued Same as Gold.

B. G. Stewart, a merchant of Cedar View, Miss., says: 'I tell my customers when they buy a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills they get the worth of that much gold in weight; if afflicted with constipation, malaria or biliousness." Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store. 25c.

314 West Second St. AUBURN, IND.

DECORATION DAY,

We are making the usual preparations for this time. Wreathes and Cut Flowers for decorations. Phone to us and we will give it our prompt attention.

MAKE OUR ACQUAINTANCE

C. M. TenEyck & Son,

Proprietors.

HOME and BELL TELEPHONES.

County Line News.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rakestraw were at Auburn, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ely Warner spent Saturday night with Allen Warner.

Clare Rinehold and wife spent Sunday evening with R. R. Wyatt and wife.

Geo. Rinehold and wife spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Abner Carnaham.

Frank Stuckey and wife spent Sunday with the formers brother, Joe Stuckey and wife.

Aunt Lucy Frederick of Dutch Ridge is spending a few weeks with Abner Carnaham and wife.

Chas. Kruse has sold his farm and purchased another near Huntertown. He moved to his new home, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. T. Wyatt attended the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hollopeter, Monday.

Solomon Goldsmith and wife spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Martha Geng of Hursh and called at Rose Lawn as they returned.

W. T. Wyatt and wife spent Sunday afternoon with Grandma Stevice of Leo. A number of friends and relatives gathered at her home in honor of her 82 birthday.

The Aveline Hotel disaster was duplicated in minature at the poultry head quarters of Mrs. Ellen Sauders one day last week. Some 80 chicks were in a small house all contented and happy when the furnace, which was an oil lamp or stove, exploded setting fire to the structure. All the little guests escaped but 35 and these perished in the flames, before they could be rescued or the fire extinguished. Some inventive person might provide a fire escape for incubators and brooders and thus prevent the premature roasting of poultry. In a swift little city in northern Indiana a gentleman not adicted to the habit of rearing poultry, he thought himself to try a plan of his own. He would feed the little fellows bran and await results. He became so enthused with the work that he dreamed over it. In his dreams he discovered that the little fellows had wheat beards in their eyes, the bran had evidently been a product of beardy wheat. He is now feeding them sand in hopes of creating a soil for his new product.

A Californian's Luck.

"The luckiest day of my life was when I bought a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve," writes Charles F. Budahn, of Tracy, California. "Two 25c boxes cured me of an annoying case of itching piles, which had troubled me for years and that yielded to no other treatment." Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store.

Local News Items

Before buying galvanized roofing call on F. Kinsey and get prices.

Miss Morrison of Cleveland, O. has come to spend the summer with her aunt, Mrs. Vernon Wilmot.

Lawyer Rose of Auburn was in town Monday on business.

The storm Saturday evening did considerable damage. The barn belonging to Corma Wartenbee was destroyed by fire and Roy Blackburn's barn was also burned. Mr. Blackburn lives southeast of here.

The B. & O. passenger train No. 17 which was due at St. Joe at 12:05, changed time Sunday. The scheduled time being 11:58.

"Biddy" Burns, former Garrett ball player and B. & O. brakeman, who was confined in an asylum several months ago because he had an hallucination that he was an author whose writing were inspired by direct telephonic connection with heaven, was released last week and has gone to Memphis, Tennessee, to play ball this season.—Clipper.

PROGRAMME

of the Jackson Township Sunday School Association to be held at Meese Chapel, Sunday Afternoon, May 24, '08 at 1:30 p. m.

Order of Exercises.

Opening song. Devotional exercises .....Rev. W. L. Meese
Song. "How can the Teacher best secure home study on the part of the scholars."....Rev. P. W. Boxell
Song. Discussion.....W. M. Depew
Song.
"How can Quarterly Review Sunday be made Interesting and Profitable"?.....Rev. C. B. Sweeney
Song. Discussion.....B. F. Hilkey
Song. Miscellaneous business
Election of Officers. Adjournment.

BRING PENTECOSTAL HYMNS AND HELP IN SONG SERVICE.

S. M. HIGH, President,
MARY PROVINES, Secretary,
E. J. ARMSTRONG, Chorister.

Note books at THE NEWS office.

Get prices on galvanized roofing before buying. F. KINSEY.

The Big Four has some swell derbies in black at $2.00, $2.50 and $3.00. Tans at $2.50 and $3.00.

J. M. Milliman, Wm., Monroe, J. Y. Davis and Benjamin Hamilton are attending the encampment at Kokomo this week.

The ladies of the Lutheran church will serve supper in the basement, next Saturday evening from 4:30 to 7:00. Mite, 10 cts.

Mrs. Sarah Walter, who has been visiting relatives at Montgomery Mich., for the past three weeks, returned home last Saturday.

Mrs. Chas. Thayer and Miss Mary Flint of Holden, Mass., arrived last Tuesday evening. They are at the home of B. S. Sheffer and expect to spend the summer here. Chas. is at Seattle, Wash. His health is much improved and he expects to stay there for some time with his father.

Mrs. Lete High, who has been seriously ill for some time, was taken to the Hope hospital at Fort Wayne, Monday noon. Two physicians were called from Wayne to consult with Drs Bowman and Shook Saturday, it was decided that something must be done, and that done quick.

The St. Joe dray line has been sold. John Wineland being the present owner. Claude Mason the former owner has had the draying business for several years and gave satisfaction. The present owner carries the mail and passengers to the Wabash and together with the dray and sprinkling he will have a good paying business. Success to you John.

Frank Simanton and wife of Auburn were guests in the Rhodenbaugh home over Sunday.

Amos Snyder, democrat candidate for comissioner of the Southeast district, was in town yesterday mingling with local politicians and voters generally.

Quite a number of our enterprising citizens set yesterday for a day to gather at the cemetery and make a general cleaning up of the graves before decoration day. Quite a few turned out to help in the work and they are to be commended upon the good work done.

Blame for Ft. Wayne Fire.

Dr. Kesler, coroner, made public Saturday his findings in the case of fire that destroyed the Aveline Hotel on May 3, with a loss of twelve lives. He places responsibility upon the Shoaff estate, owner of the building, for failure to provide enough fire escapes, as required by its contract with Jones, Stevens & McAlevy, the lessees. The coroner blames the permitting the elevator shaft to be lined with pine, and for failure to protect the wooden floor over the boiler from overheating. He blames the lessees for failing to equip the rooms with ropes, as the law provides. He charges that the state building inspector inspected the hotel three times without recommending that approaches to fire escapes be kept open. The city comes in for caustic criticism for failure to have fire ladders, nets, etc., to save life. Anna Nadeau, waitress, has sued the hotel owners for $15,000 because of her injuries. Other suits will follow.

ANNOUNCEMENT TO CHICKEN OWNERS

We have just received a shipment of

Corno Poultry Feed

Made from a combination of only pure grain, scientifically mixed—contains no grit which makes weight—no elevator or weed seeds, which chickens will not eat—no cereal by-products or fine stuff—positively no waste. Every pound of CORNO Poultry Feed is an honest one and of full feeding value.

CORNO HEN FEED, makes hens lay. CORNO CHICK FEED, made from grain and millet seed, saves the life of little chicks.

Your chickens will be a profit to you when you feed them right.

Give CORNO Poultry Feed a trial—that's all we ask.

SOLD BY

Chas. F. Kagey.

MAY

L 903

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

FRED B. LEIGHTY, - - Publisher.

1908 MAY 1908

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
•	•	•	•	•	1	2
3	4	5	6	7	8	9
10	11	12	13	14	15	16
17	18	19	20	21	22	23
24	25	26	27	28	29	30
31	•	•	•	•	•	•

N. M. 8th. F. Q. 15th. F. M. 22nd. L. Q. 29th.

FEATURES OF INTEREST

ABOUT THAT WHICH HAS BEEN AND IS TO BE.

All Sides and Conditions of Things are Shown. Nothing Overlooked to make it Complete.

Tidal Bore Drowns 10,000 in China.

News of one of the greatest disasters that China has ever known, a sudden tidal bore in the Yang Tse Kiang, which involved the loss of nearly ten thousand lives at Hangow, was brought by the steamer Titan, which just arrived at Seattle, Wash. A bore twenty-six feet in height, flooded, without warning, down the river over which hung thousands of junks, sampans and small boats and wrecking some large river steamers. Some three thousand Chinese were sleeping in sampans and small craft and mat sheds and huts by the river side at Hangow and they were enveloped by the great wave, which swept broken junks, splintered sampans and an heterogeneous mass of debris with swarms of drowned Chinese mixed with the wreckage. The scenes for many days after the disaster were horrible, the river side being strewn with dead and debris of wrecked craft for many miles.

Black Hand Explosion.

"Black Hands" made an attempt to blow up the house occupied by Italian fruit dealers, Agostina Iannarino, and his brother, in Mt. Vernon Ave., Columbus, Ohio. The eight people occupying the house were all thrown out of bed by a terrific explosion of dynamite placed on the steps. The steps were wrecked and also a part of the lower part of the house, but none of the inmates was seriously hurt. Iannarino said that he had received "Black Hand" letters about a month ago, demanding $10,000. Later, letters were received demanding $2,000 and threatening to blow up his home in case he did not respond with the cash. He paid no attention to the letters.

Cyclone Takes Many Lives.

Five persons are known to have been killed and a score injured by a tornado which swept over the northern part of Sarpy County, Nebraska. The storm, which gained velocity on its way south, started in Omaha. At Bellevue the college buildings were damaged to the extent of probably $50,000 and several persons were injured, none fatally. The storm moved on to Louisville, Richfield and Springfield, where the principal damage and loss of life occurred.

Night Riders Apply the Torch.

Night Riders applied a torch to the large barn of William Shell, four miles west of West Union, Ohio, almost under the very noses of soldiers under command of Captain Darnell. The property loss is $3,500. Only one man saw the riders. They sent two men on foot up to the barn to fire the building. Shell is an independent tobacco grower, a member of the Law and Order League.

Bishop Horstman is Dead.

Bishop Ignatius Horstmann, D. D., of Cleveland, Ohio, died at the parsonage of St. John's church, Canton, Ohio, at 9:20 o'clock Wednesday evening. Death was due to exhaustion caused by overwork and heart failure. The end came suddenly while the physician who had been in attendance during the day was absent from the house.

Huntington Has $30,000 Fire.

The W. P. Briant Company's four-story frame bending factory, on State street, Huntington, Ind., was burned to the ground, causing a loss of $30,000. Insurance on risks of this sort is very heavy and the company carried less than $5,000 insurance. The concern was one of the principal industries of Huntington.

Wealthy Stockman Killed.

James Brown, a wealthy stockman living at Galveston, was shot and killed at Logansport, Ind., by Robert D. Cotterman, a tenant on one of Brown's farms. The shooting was the result of a quarrel over Cotterman's eviction.

Tonopah Hotel Burns.

Fire at Tonopah, Nev., completely laid in ruins the Palace Hotel block, causing a loss estimated at $150,000. There was no insurance.

WORK OF CONGRESS

The forestry provision of the agricultural appropriation bill was before the Senate several hours Thursday. Senator Teller of Colorado denounced that service as unwise and its administration as arbitrary, while Senator Depew spoke in advocacy of the extension of the work of the forest reserves. An address in support of the bill to establish postal savings banks was made by Senator Carter of Montana. Senator Culberson of Texas called the atention of the Senate to newspaper publications to the effect that the President and the interstate commerce commission had agreed to allow the railroads to increase freight rates. This suggestion precipitated a discussion as to the powers of the President or the commission to make such an agreement. The Senate passed a bill appropriating $5,000 toward the erection of a monument to Pocahontas at Jamestown, Va. After ten days' discussion consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill was completed by the House, but before putting it on its passage a recess until Friday was taken. The bill carries a total appropriation of $106,066,369, or $1,241,000 more than as reported by the committee. A provision providing that salaries and wages for work on the Panama canal should not exceed by more than 25 per cent the salaries and wages paid in the United States for similar work was defeated, 10 to 101.

-:—:-

But little progress was made in the Senate Friday on the agricultural appropriation bill, the session being devoted to a discussion upon the principle of forest reserves and the administration of that service. Senator McCumber called the attention of the Senate to a deadlock among the conferees on the pension appropriation bill on the Senate amendment requiring a continuance of the present system of having the pension fund disbursed through eighteen pension agents located throughout the country instead of through a single agent in Washington. Many Senators expressed the desire that the conferees should insist on the Senate amendment. The officers and enlisted men of the army won their fight for increased pay, when the House agreed to the conference report on the army appropriation bill. An appropriation of $7,000,000 was made for the purpose, $5,000,000 of which will go to the enlisted men.

-:—:-

The debate on the main features of the agricultural appropriation bill was practically concluded by the Senate Saturday. Senator Smoot of Utah spoke at length in advocacy of the forest reserve service. Senators Lodge and Newlands also supported the policy of the service. Senator Clarke of Wyoming reviewed at length what he said he regarded as the weakness of the forestry service. Although on several occasions it had difficulty in maintaining a quorum, the House transacted considerable business. A number of measures were passed, including a child labor law for the District of Columbia, intended as a substitute for the Senate bill; permitting appeals in naturalization cases from the District to the Circuit courts of appeal; providing for the widening of the channel of Michigan City, Ind., and repealing the act of the legislature of New Mexico of 1903 regarding civil procedure in personal injury cases.

-:—:-

The Senate Monday passed the agricultural appropriation bill, carrying an appropriation aggregating $12,142,146. Senator Rayner introduced a resolution providing for a court of inquiry to investigate charges against Colonel William F. Stewart, now stationed at Fort Grant, Arizona. The conference report on the naval appropriation bills was agreed to. The House devoted its time to the consideration of miscellaneous business. By agreeing to some Senate amendments the House took the final congressional step by which betting on horse races at Benning will hereafter be prohibited. A bill authorizing the appointment, as an addition to the regular military establishment, of fifty captains to command the Philippine scouts was passed. Other bills which got through were as follows: Amending the homestead laws so as to permit the entry of 320 acres instead of 100 acres of non-irrigable public lands in Western States, and authorizing the drainage of certain swamp lands in the Red Lake Indian reservation, Minnesota. A bill allowing the States of Idaho and Wyoming 2,000,000 additional acres of land for reclamation was defeated.

-:—:-

The Senate Tuesday passed the post-office army appropriation bill, carrying amounts aggregating $229,027,307. As passed the bill allows $1 per day expenses for railway postal clerks when away from terminals. Amendments adopted by the Senate provide for weighing the mails annually instead of every four years. Senator Rayner spoke on his resolution directing the President to order a court of inquiry into charges against Colonel William F. Stewart, U. S. A., now stationed at Fort Grant, Arizona, and read a letter from the President giving reasons for the action that had been taken against Colonel Stewart, which the Senator declared to be trivial. After a debate lasting practically the entire session the House by a vote of 136 to 124 agreed to the conference report on the naval appropriation bill. The insertion of a new provision relating to increase in pay for officers and men of the marine corps and navy drew forth a good deal of criticism of the conferees, who were charged with having taken liberties and with having violated the trust reposed in them by the House. The bill now goes to the President.

SAVE NATURE'S GIFTS IS PLEA OF PRESIDENT

Roosevelt Addresses Concourse of Governors, Officials and Prominent Men.

NATURAL RESOURCES THE TOPIC

"Reckless and Wasteful Use" of Timber and Minerals Condemned by Nation's Executive.

Washington correspondence:

The White House was the scene Wednesday of the assemblage of many of the most notable figures in the political and industrial life of the nation. It was perhaps one of the most representative gatherings that have ever met to consider a great public question in that historic mansion. The occasion was the conference by President Roosevelt with the Governors of practically all the States and Territories to consider the broad question of conservation of the country's natural resources.

The men who know how the natural resources of the country have been wasted—captains of industry who have dealt with these resources and experts who have studied the conditions—told of the nation's prodigality in the exploitation and consumption of its natural resources.

Representing the government were the President of the United States, the Vice President, the cabinet, justices of the United States Supreme Court and members of both houses of Congress. The States were represented by their chief executives and the conferees appointed by them. The industries were represented by Andrew Carnegie, the iron master; James J. Hill, the genius of railway expansion; John Mitchell, the labor leader; Prof. T. C. Chamberlin of the University of Chicago, and Dr. I. C. White, State geologist of West Virginia and perhaps the leading expert on coal in the United States. The specially invited guests included three men mentioned as Democratic presidential candidates—William Jennings Bryan, Judge George Gray of Delaware and Gov. John A. Johnson of Minnesota. The subjects considered included the use and conservation of mineral resources, resources of the land and resources of the waters.

The conference was opened by the President with an address on "Conservation as a National Duty." The program for the day included addresses by Andrew Carnegie on "Ores and Related Minerals," and by Dr. I. C. White, professor of geology, University of West Virginia, and State geologist of that State, on "Mineral Fuels." Former President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America, led the general discussion on coal mining.

The President's speech is not controversial. Nor is it an alarm cry to the people. It does not even voice a demand for remedial legislation. On the contrary it is a simple plea couched in businesslike and statesmanlike terms for constructive action upon the weightiest problem now before the nation. Upon the practical, homely plea that a father must provide for his sons Mr. Roosevelt rests his whole case. Using almost the same figure Mr. Gifford Pinchot has recently said; "We have hitherto as a nation taken the same course as does at first the young man who comes into possession of his property. It is time for a change."

Our wonderfully rapid development has led us to destroy needlessly our forests, to waste our mineral wealth in careless mining and still more careless use, to exhaust our soils and to ruthlessly neglect our rivers for the sake of faster transportation by steam. Our duty to the next generation makes it imperative that we should do better in all these respects.

How this new business system shall be installed or what form it shall take the President does not attempt to dictate. Having called together a national council be properly leaves the ways and means to the determination of the councilors, laying down only the policy of Washington that water ways, forests, agricultural and mineral wealth should be treated as one indivisible subject in all plans made for their proper use and conservation. He closes by citing important judicial decisions indicating how far such plans may go under the fundamental law.

BRINGS NEWS OF 10,000 KILLED.

Steamer Titan Has Details of Tidal Wave Engulfing Chinese.

News of one of the greatest disasters that China has ever known, a sudden tidal bore in the Yangtse-kiang, which involved the loss of nearly 10,000 lives at Hankow, was brought to Seattle by the steamer Titan. A bore twenty-six feet in height passed without warning down the river, over which hung thousands of junks, sampans and small boats, wrecking large river steamers.

MURDER FARM IS A MAGNET.

Thousands Visit Scene of Slaughter—Officials Will Push Investigation.

Lemuel Darrow, mayor of Laporte, Ind., after a conference with prominent citizens, has declared that the investigation into the Gunness murder mystery would be pushed with greater vigor. Said the mayor: "I suspect that more tragedies will be discovered. We intend to push this inquiry the way it should be pushed. There should be a more centralized effort to solve this mystery."

Laporte of late has beeen a morbid magnet. Morgues and morticians have been the centers of attraction which converted the city into a show ground, and the murder farm an exhibition tract that would make a circus manager turn green with envy.

Thousands of curious persons, their sordid cravings supreme, have trampled over the ruins, gaped at the open graves in the Gunness yard and struggled to tear down the doors of the barn where the disarticulated skeletons of the credulous victims of Belle Gunness' blood passion and money lust lay.

On the Sunday following the discovery from dawn until darkness an alternating procession of humanity choked the narrow winding thoroughfare which leads from the town to the gore-stained scene. While hucksters, livery men and souvenir venders raked in the shekels from the gay throng of holiday corso searchers and human bone yard picnickers, the agents of the law were continuing the serious business of attempting to solve the mysterious crime.

Two letters written to Mrs. Gunness just before the fatal fire, which reached the Laporte postoffice after the four charred bodies had been removed from the ruins, are now in the hands of the authorities and some clews which may lead to the discovery of co-conspirators in her death-luring marriage bureau are said to have been found in them. It is the conviction of Sheriff Smutzer that Mrs. Gunness had some one associated with her in the operation of her marriage bureau. Perhaps it was Ray Lamphere. He is suspected. The probability that it might have been some one else is not, however, being overlooked.

METHODISTS IN CONFERENCE.

Quadrennial Meet at Baltimore Is One of Much Interest.

The general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church is in session at Baltimore. It is an imposing gathering. It convenes once in four years and its sessions cover the month of May.

It is the law-making and governing body of an ecclesiastical denomination whose church spires point heavenward in every country on the face of the globe. John Wesley, the founder of the church, declared that the world was his parish and that spirit has animated the church from the days of the fathers. The church is noted for its missionary zeal, and the amount of money sent to heathen lands every year is marvelous.

The conference is having many important matters to consider. There is always an element in every church denomination which is ready to agitate creed revision. One element is fearful that the church will deteriorate unless the articles of faith are "modern." Others hesitate about departing from "the old paths" lest the foundations of faith be undermined. Out of the antagonism of these two elements emerges the decision as to what stand the church shall take. There has been much talk that the Methodist church is about to modify its long-time attitude with reference to the amusement question, and church people of all denominations have been interested in the outcome of the discussions.

Another important and always interesting matter is the naming of new members of the board of bishops. During the last quadrennium Joyce, McCabe and Fowler have passed away. Other members are very old and are ready to lay aside the work. Much care has been exercised in selecting new men to take up the great responsibilities in these offices.

Then there is the arranging of the finances which will require the most skilled management, and a multitude of other matters which enter into the general scheme of church management and polity.

Singer Tower Outrivaled.

The tower of the Metropolitan Life building at Madison Square, New York City, which was to have been 668 feet, according to original plans, is now to be stretched still a little higher, and when completed will measure 700 feet from sidewalk to top. The Singer tower is 612 feet high.

The 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Loken of Brismade, N. D., accidentally shot his 3-year-old sister, and the child died a few minutes later. A shotgun had been left in the buggy in a shed and the children were playing around it. In some way the boy managed to pull the trigger, the charge entering the little girl's side.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

Heavy May settlements and interest disbursements account for a largely increased volume of payments through the banks, while commercial defaults sustain their recent high average. The business situation generally presents no special development, production and distribution in the leading industries reflecting but little departure from conservative policies pending a clearly defined revival in demands. Unusually wet weather hinders seasonable activity in leading retail lines, construction and farm work, but encouragement is derived from further favorable reports as to winter wheat growth and the promising outlook in agriculture. Crop marketings run short of those a year ago, and there is smaller outgo of breadstuffs from this market, although operations in the May deliveries appear on a heavy scale and prices have risen to the highest average this season.

Money is quoted lower and choice commercial paper commands the easiest rate in several years. Offerings of desirable discounts, however, remain extremely light, the best borrowers being in position to dispense with customary accommodation. More investment is seen in real estate and improvements, and better demand strengthens the market for high-grade bonds, but sales of local securities are of smaller volume than at this time last year, with values moving irregularly, although averaging above those of a month ago.

Bank deposits here and at interior points show steady gain, but some complaint is noted as to the inability to find adequate employment of surplus funds.

Freight movements compare unfavorably with the corresponding period of last year, there being continued falling off in heavy materials forwarded.

Iron and steel returns disclose little headway in outputs over recent low figures. Quarry products, builders' hardware, cement and plumbing materials reflect wider absorption, and there is more demand for some hard woods.

Failures reported in the Chicago district number 36, against 39 last week and 19 a year ago. Those with liabilities over $5,000 number 9, against 9 last week and 4 in 1907.—Dun's Review of Trade.

NEW YORK.

Weather, trade and industrial conditions are little changed from last week, and farm work, retail and jobbing business and the movement of old crops to market have been restricted by heavy rains, low temperatures or bad roads. The only notable exceptions to this are found in the Pacific coast and at a few southwestern centers.

Reports from the leading industries are still of great quiet. Manufacturers feel the lack of confident buying by jobbers and wholesalers, who, in turn, report final distributers cautious in buying only what they need to replenish broken stocks. The textile trades are dull and on short time, but cotton goods men are more confident that bottom prices have been reached. The iron and steel industries show little change. The leather trade is rather quieter and eastern shoe shipments are 30 per cent off from 1907. Collections are still backward as a whole.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending May 7 number 288, against 282 last week, 154 in the like week of 1907, 162 in 1906, 158 in 1905, and 201 in 1904. Canadian business failures for the week number 22, which compares with 22 last week and 18 in this week of 1907.—Bradstreet's Commercial Report.

THE MARKETS

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $7.40; hogs, prime heavy, $4.00 to $5.67; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $5.75; wheat, No. 2, $1.02 to $1.05; corn, No. 2, 70c to 71c; oats, standard, 54c to 55c; rye, No. 2, 81c to 82c; hay, timothy, $9.50 to $16.50; prairie, $8.00 to $13.50; butter, choice creamery, 21c to 23c; eggs, fresh, 11c to 15c; potatoes, per bushel, 60c to 77c.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $7.00; hogs, good to choice heavy, $3.50 to $5.75; sheep, common to prime, $3.00 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2, 90c to $1.00; corn, No. 2 white, 63c to 65c; oats, No. 2 white, 51c to 52c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $4.50 to $7.15; hogs, $4.00 to $5.60; sheep, $3.00 to $6.25; wheat, No. 2, $1.04 to $1.05; corn, No. 2, 72c to 73c; oats, No. 2, 49c to 51c; rye, No. 2, 79c to 80c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.55; hogs, $4.00 to $5.80; sheep, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, $1.02 to $1.03; corn, No. 2 mixed, 71c to 72c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 51c to 52c; rye, No. 2, 82c to 84c.

Detroit—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.50; hogs, $4.00 to $5.60; sheep, $2.50 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, $1.01 to $1.02; corn, No. 3 yellow, 71c to 72c; oats, No. 3 white, 53c to 54c; rye, No. 2, 86c to 87c.

New York—Cattle, $4.00 to $7.15; hogs, $3.50 to $6.10; sheep, $3.00 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2 red, $1.02 to $1.03; corn, No. 2, 78c to 75c; oats, natural white, 58c to 60c; butter, creamery, 23c to 25c; eggs, western, 13c to 17c.

MAY

L 903

A LONELY GIRL

By Mrs Hungerford

CHAPTER IV.

"What a wonderful old place," says Adare, stopping and peering down through a great hole in the flooring near the doorway. A trap-door once had covered it no doubt, because some of the broken fastenings can still be seen, whilst a ladder caught on by iron crooks hangs over the gaping space. "Does it ever come to an end?"

"I don't know. I suppose so, down there." She has come up close to him, and is now bending, as he is, over the yawning gulf in the rotten boards, and gazing into seemingly unfathomable depths below. "Do you know," she goes on, "this old mill has the strangest fascination for me. I cannot keep away from it. I think," smiling, "it will make me, or mar me, some day. Black as it looks down there, another floor is beneath it, and beyond that something else lies—I don't know what."

"A cellar, probably."

"I daresay. As I tell you, I don't know. I have not had the courage to go down. There is a sound of water when you get to the flooring below, and that means rats! I hate rats—I'm a coward—I confess it."

They are standing together, peering into the black void beneath, but now she turns and gives him a little glance. It is the archest, merriest little glance—the most innocent one—and she accompanies it with a laugh, soft and light-hearted.

"You spoke of home a while ago," says he presently. "It is that house up there, is it not? But a house does not mean a home, and you have told me nothing of yourself. You have friends?"

"I have"—slowly—"relations. And then, with a cold little smile, "You had not even learned so much about me?"

"I am so seldom here," begins Adare, flushing hotly. Then losing all his self-control, "I know you have been most disgracefully treated by the lot of us. But for the most part we never knew."

"And did not care to inquire." Her tone is no longer aggressive. It is low, and a little sigh breaks from her lips. "Well, you shall know all there is to know. I live here with a cousin of my father's, Esther Deane. She has some little money, and I have a little more, and so she says it is well for us both to keep house together."

"Yours being the house?"

"O, yes! If such a torn-down old ruin can be called one."

She seems crushed for the moment, but almost in a moment recovers herself. Adare, who has not known the Irish character sufficiently well to make allowances for these sudden inexplicable changes of mood, is a little taken aback, when she says calmly:

"Talking of that, I must seem very inhospitable. That is my house up there, and yet—— Won't you come in and have a cup of tea? Esther, I am sure, will be——"

"Not to-day, thank you. I am afraid, as it is, I shall be a little late for dinner. But another day, if you will allow me——"

He breaks off, expecting an answer. But she is silent. Her whole air up to this has been so gracious and so sweet, that he turns sharply to look at her. Her eyes are steadily downcast; a faint tinge of color that seems to him born of confusion warms her cheek. To cover it he goes on quickly:

"You have another relation here, have you not?"

She glances at him quickly, a little disdainfully perhaps. And Adare grows less sure that that touch of color a moment since was born of confusion.

"You know something about me, after all, then?" says she. "Yes, Esther's brother, Brian Deane, is staying here, for the present only." Had that quick flush meant that he was out now, but might be in another day? "He came from Australia about a month ago, where he has a sheep farm. Why he came, or for what, I don't know; but Esther says on business. I know she wrote to him to come."

"On business?"

"So she says. I sometimes think she wants to go back with him. And they both want me to go, too. However," with sudden recollection, "these details cannot possibly interest you. And—you want to know your road home, do you not? You see that hill over there? You go up that, and then in the valley below it you will see a straight white road. Follow it, and it will take you straight to Carrig." She bows her head slightly. "Good-by!"

"We are not living so very far apart," says he hopefully; "we shall certainly meet again."

"I don't think so. I hope not. Don't think me too rude, but believe me it will be better that our acquaintance, such as it is, shall be ended now. There could never be friendship between our houses."

"There might be," begins he impulsively, "if you and Sir Lucien were to meet."

"I have no desire to meet Sir Lucien," says she in a low voice full of concentrated bitterness. "He believes my father stole and sold those jewels that my mother was given by—Oh!" (passionately) "of course you, too, know the whole of that detestable, hideous slander." Her eyes are aflame. "If you had known my father——"

"I believe the whole story a most despicable lie." His tone is almost as vehement as her own.

"How does that old man dare to say my father was a thief? Oh, yes, he did! He met Brian the other day, and accused him of knowing what my father had done with them. My father! As if he would touch them! My mother had them—I know that. I often saw them. The necklets—the tiaras. And they were her own—she often said so—that her father gave them to her."

"Yes. But——"

"Oh!" haughtily, and tilting her rounded chin, "I know what you would say—that they were only hers for a time. But how could my father help it if she lost them? And of course she lost them; because if she had sold them, there would be the money—do you see? But there was never any money! Therefore they must be lost—I know they are lost."

She turns deliberately and runs down the path away from him. His eyes follow her until she is out of sight, then, with a quickening of his breath, he turns and makes for the hill she had pointed out.

He has hardly gone a few yards, however, before his attention is caught by a man who has jumped over a wall into the road, a man of about forty, tall, dark, forbidding looking, handsome of a sort, and with a certain strength of character written on his low brow.

He goes by Hilary with a swing that has something of aggression in it; in passing, however, the eyes of the two men meet—rage in one, contempt in the other. Both had seen each other before within the last three days. Then a turn in the road takes Brian Deane beyond the other's sight, and presently to the side of Amber.

"Who was that man you parted from just now?" demands he, as he catches her up. His tone is harsh and rough; his breath is coming from between his whitened lips in short, suppressed gasps; his nostrils are dilated.

Amber regards him curiously. Her beautiful eyes run over the disorder of his face as if not only surprised, but a little disgusted, at the excitement so distinctly printed on it.

"That was Captain Adare, my cousin," returns she, deliberately.

"Your cousin!" His face twitches. "The nephew of the man who has dubbed your father a liar and thief! And so you would condone the offense?" He laughs derisively. "As though all those vipers were not bred in one nest. And pray how did this special viper, this cousin, this Hilary Adare, find his way here to-day? By your connivance? By your appointment?"

Amber stands still and confronts him. She is quite calm.

"Talking of ways," says she, in her clear, soft voice, "this is my way," turning to the left; "see that yours leads somewhere else!"

CHAPTER V.

"After all, I'm rather glad we decided on coming," says Mrs. Clarence, drawing the carriage rug closer round her. "Nothing at this dreadful woman's party can be duller than the hours we should have spent at home. I wonder if she has changed, and what direction the change has—has——"

Here the landau drives into a heavy rut, so that whatever Mrs. Clarence would have said about Madam O'Flaherty is lost to posterity forever. The shock is sufficiently great to unseat them all, in a measure. This to Mr. McGrath seems a most suitable opportunity of making himself unpleasant all round, so with a wild shriek of dismay he seizes May in his arms, and holds her closely to him, while a frenzied expression grows upon his brow.

"Let me go, Owen! Don't," cries May, angrily pushing him from her.

"What on earth do you mean, McGrath?" exclaims Grey furiously.

"I thought she was killed," says Owen, with rather suspicious excitement. "Oh, Grey, what should I—what should you have done—had she been killed?"

"I don't know," returns Grey, so gruffly, so indifferently as it seems to May, that for the whole of the remainder of the day she refuses so much as to look at him.

"Her roads haven't changed, anyway," says Mrs. Clarence with disgust; her laces have been shaken a little out of place. "I expect neither is she! We shall have an awful time here, I know."

"What is she like?" asks May.

"As I remember her, she was a big, fat, dreadful creature, with a brogue you could sit on without fear of breaking down. I think it is a monstrous thing, a perfect infliction, to be compelled to come here to-day just because this ridiculous old woman happens to be a sort of connection of Sir Lucien's. He has made us come—said he'd arrive after us."

"She is so fearfully inquisitive," says Everard. "You know I met her at the Brownes the other day. She asked me every question under the sun."

They have driven up to the hall door of "The Larches," Madam O'Flaherty's house, by this time; the hostess comes lumbering down from the topmost step of the stone flight to receive them.

So far as May can see, Madam O'Flaherty is distinctly remarkable. She is a gigantic woman, with three chins and a topknot. On the topknot rests a hat—a sailor hat, that a girl of fifteen might have worn—perched at an angle of 45 degrees.

"Here you are, here you are," cries she, prancing up to the door of the landau, and pushing the footman triumphantly to one side. "So glad to see you all. But where's Lucien? No nonsense about his being engaged now. I know all about that. He can't be. Faith," with a sudden thought—"'twould be a fool would be engaged to him!" Here she pauses in her rapid utterance, to give way to a loud and raucous laugh in appreciation of her own wit.

Mrs. Clarence shudders:

"He—he's coming!" says she, which is the readiest lie that occurs to her.

"He gave us distinctly to understand that nothing would keep him away," supplements her brother nobly.

"Well, come along, come along," cries Madam O'Flaherty, with great hospitality. "Tea's over there in the tent."

With their hostess they go round the corner of the house, and into full view of the guests already assembled.

A miscellaneous lot enough. Some very charmingly and daintily clad, who stand in groups together; others a little impossible perhaps, but not so altogether out of the running as to be beyond knowing; on the outskirts of both these, some really awful beings.

Beyond all these, a little, slender, graceful figure, leaning over the bank, and dropping leaves or twigs into the stream below, catches Hilary's eye.

It is Amber! In a flash he knows her. What other form on earth could be like hers? Who else could claim such delicate coloring, and that half-petulant, half-haughty turn of the chin?

"Here we all are now!" cries Madam in her loud and strident tones. "Here we all are—I really don't think I have any more folks to expect. So now," with an encouraging and altogether joyous glance round at her guests, "sort yourselves and go for a little stroll round the place. The gardens are looking lovely, and we can't all play tennis."

A rather alarming silence follows upon this noble command to go for a sentimental "promenade" in the shrubberies; even the impossible ones sit motionless waiting on events. Madam has forgotten to make formal introductions.

Mrs. Clarence and May are struggling with a wild desire for laughter, whereas Mr. McGrath looks sad. Madam O'Flaherty sees his dejection.

"What's the matter with you?" asks she anxiously.

"I feel such a difficulty about sorting myself," says Owen modestly.

"My darling boy," cries Madam. "Not at all—not at all. You see those girls on the bench over there, the Moore girls; you know them, eh? No? Oh, that won't matter; there isn't one of them won't be delighted to go for a stroll with you, if you'll only ask them. To tell you the truth, they've been expecting your party all the day long. Society here, my dear Owen, is going to the bad for want of a few men. But now that you've all come for a while, we'll be looking up a bit. To let you into a small secret, I'm thinking of giving a bit of a dance."

"Madam! the first waltz is mine," cries Owen enthusiastically.

"Oh, get out with you! 'Pon me honor and word, I don't know what you boys are coming to. But look here, Owen, I think if I give a hop, Sir Lucien might well give another. He owes it to us all, down here. But he's such an old hunks, there's no being up to him. Just to think, my dear boy, that he should be alive and kicking, and my poor darling Denis, who used to keep the 'table in a roar,' gone forever. 'Tis a queer world, my dear."

(To be continued.)

A Bit of Home.

One is always glad to see a familiar face on foreign soil. Hardly less welcome is the sight of some object associated with one's native country. Some people never discover their patriotism until they catch sight of their flag in a strange land. Samuel Cox found a bit of the United States in Russia, and tells about it in "Arctic Sunbeams."

While visiting Peterhof we were rowed out to a fairy island on the lake. Then the guide took us to an oak about thirty feet high. On it was a brass plate registering the fact that the tree grew from an acorn taken from an oak by George Washington's grave and sent to the Emperor Nicholas. The tree was well-grown and thrifty.

It was curious to see how the name Washington was spelled in Russian. I do not know the Russian type, but this is the nearest approach to it I can make:

BamuHrmoHa.

I asked the guide to spell and pronounce it, and he said:

"Va-sha-li-n-g-ton-a"

Perfectly Plain.

With all the impartiality of the partisan, Prof. Price set forth the contentions of both political parties regarding the tariff.

At the close of his talk he was surrounded by the fair members of the Woman's Current Events Club.

"Oh, Prof. Price," cooed the fairest, "thank you so much for your perfectly lovely talk! I understand all about the tariff now. It's just like a lover's comparisons—the free traders are the other girls!"

They Get Over It.

Willie (aged 6)—Say, pop, what's an idealist?

Mr. Henpeck—A very young man who thinks all women are angels.

There are about 54,000 Chinese in the Transvaal gold mines, which is giving the Britishers some concern.

REVIEW OF INDIANA

Grief over the death of her husband, Daniel J. Goldsmith, of Evansville, several weeks ago, caused the death of Mrs. Martha Goldsmith, aged 74 years.

Randall McDonald, of the National Soldiers' Home, while delivering milk at the home commissary, accidentally fell, receiving concussion of the brain which may prove fatal. He has been a member of the home for several years.

Marion Kreider, Perrysburg, while working in his tile mille, caught his sleeve on a belt and was whipped against the ceiling. The machinery was stopped by an employe, and he escaped with a compound fracture of his right arm and many cuts and bruises.

William Davis, aged 50, and William Allen, aged 56, of Indianapolis, were sentenced to from two to fourteen years in the penitentiary. They stole a horse and rig from Otto Bond, at Parker, it is alleged, and three farmer boys trailed them sixty miles, capturing them near Arcanum, Ohio.

Alonzo Pease, a member of the fire department of Terre Haute, sent his resignation to the Board of Safety and disappeared. He informed a few friends that he had $200 in bank which he would draw, and give his wife of a year all but $2, after which he would start for Boston and go to sea on a sailing vessel.

A year in advance the Protestant churches of Muncie with two or three exceptions have by united effort secured the promise of Evangelist "Billy" Sunday, the former National League baseball player, to hold a five weeks' meeting in Muncie. The exact date has not been determined, but it will be some time next spring.

The farm of George Ade, near Brook, will in the near future be brilliant with roses and other flowers from Newcastle. Mr. Ade has enlisted the services of Charles S. Hernly, to whom he has made known his desire of having roses on his place like those grown in Newcastle. Soil from that city will be shipped there, and the start of the roses made under the most favorable circumstances.

John Sullivan, bridge builder, 43 years old, unmarried, started for the Granville bridge, south of Lafayette, in a scow, floating with the current of the Wabash river. After reaching midcurrent he was seen to be sawing back and forth, and before boatmen could reach his side he pitched headlong into the water and was drowned. The body was recovered some distance below the scene of the accident.

When the old family horse which she was riding to school became frightened at a passing auto Miss Bessie Skirvin, 14 years old, was thrown into a ditch and her left leg was broken in two places. It is not known to whom the automobile belonged, but the girl says it did not check when her horse began to scare. She is the daughter of Samuel Skirvin, north of Bloomington, and a High School student there.

Fire Chief "Jack" Kennedy, of Terre Haute, is a victim of his heroic effort to save the life of Bertram, the baker, who several weeks ago was carried from his burning home by the fire chief, but who died later from the effect of the fumes. While rescuing Bertram, Chief Kennedy ran a nail in his ankle. The wound was slight, and little attention was paid to it. In the last few days, however, he has been confined to his home suffering intensely, and there is danger of blood poisoning.

Grief, resulting from the accidental killing of his brother, has caused Walter Graf, a young man of Harrison Township, Miami County, to become mentally unbalanced, and he will be removed to the Northern Indiana Insane Hospital. A year ago, while he was handling a double-barreled shotgun the weapon was accidentally discharged, killing Harvey Graf, a younger brother. The accident preyed upon Walter's mind till it gave way, and he attempted violence on relatives and friends.

A clever gang of thieves is again operating along the line of the Lake Shore railway between Chicago and Buffalo, as shown by the fact that John A. Herzog, shoe merchant of Mishawaka, has, within the last three months, lost entire cases of shoes of the finest grade, the cost of which must be borne by the manufacturers or the transportation companies, the aggregate loss being over $3,000. Shirts and men's wearing apparel have also been stolen. Last week a shipment of $1,500 in shoes came there eight cases short. The others had been broken open and then nailed up with slats, fence boards and rough lumber. There is a score of special detectives working between Chicago and Buffalo, but up to this time there have been no arrests of the skilful car thieves.

Roy Toney, near Greencastle, while removing a shotgun from a buggy, accidentally shot himself in the bowels, and is not expected to recover.

While a burly fellow was rapidly pushing through the big revolving door at the postoffice in Fort Wayne, it caught and hurled Mrs. Spereisen, an aged woman, to the floor, to her very serious injury.

The Saloon League, composed of all of the saloon keepers of Jasper, has resolved on a blacklist. Every man known to them as a person who is in the habit of becoming intoxicated, and who, when under the influence of liquor, becomes noisy and disorderly, is to have his name entered on the blacklist and be refused liquor.

When the family of Fred Taylor returned to their home in Terre Haute, after a day's absence, they found a dead man in bed upstairs. He had committed suicide with carbolic acid, but before getting in bed and taking poison he had removed his shoes and trousers. The body was poorly clothed with nothing leading to identification.

After deferring them from month to month, while awaiting a court opinion on the validity of the three-mile road law, the commissioners of Madison County have granted eight of twenty-four petitions for building gravel roads under the three-mile road law. As rapidly as other petitioners insist upon final action by the board the petitions will be granted.

Driven to distraction by a succession of deaths in her family, Mrs. Charles McDermitt, a young mother of Hartford City, has been declared of unsound mind, and she will be removed to the Eastern Indiana Hospital for treatment. A short time ago Mrs. McDermitt lost her mother by death. Then followed the death of her husband, and still more recently that of a child. The triple sorrow preyed so heavily that her mind gave way.

After a meeting of the Terre Haute City Council a force of firemen and policemen tore down a "spite" fence erected by Otto Bagans, at the side of the home of W. A. Dorgan, with whom he had quarreled. Dorgan appealed to the courts to have the fence removed, and he also brought suit for damages. Then he appealed to the City Council, which unanimously passed an ordinance providing that no fence inside the fire limits should exceed five feet in height.

That his body should be given to the doctors for an autopsy, then to the medical department of Indiana University for dissection, and finally cremated and the ashes scattered over the graves of his two children, was the strange request of Cron Thrasher, 32 years old, former fire chief of Bloomington, who died of Bright's disease. Thrasher had been separated from his wife and had lost two children, on whom he doted. He predicted his death when apparently well four days before it occurred.

Milo Cline, said to be an illegal fisherman, living in North Webster, was shot by Charles Douglass, of Warsaw, an officer who was scouring the vicinity of Webster Lake with Andrew Vanderford, Columbia City, and John Rigney, of Goshen, deputy fish and game commissioners. Cline escaped into the woods. Afterward he called on a physician and had his wounds dressed and he again disappeared. The residents of North Webster are threatening to shoot the next deputy fish and game warden who opens fire on any person in that vicinity.

Haskell Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bennett, of Columbus, is proving himself an electrical wizard. Although only a high school boy, he has constructed a complete wireless telegraphic outfit, and every day he sends and receives messages to and from one of the block signal stations on the Pennsylvania lines, north of Columbus. The boy has long been interested in electricity, and has shown a special interest in wireless. After reading all he could find on wireless subjects, he went to work and constructed an outfit. With the aid of a Pennsylvania operator he made a test, which proved successful.

John Russell, colored, 75 years old, and believed to be the tallest man in Indiana, is dead at his home in Kokomo. He was seven feet two inches in height, and his attenuated form made him look even taller. He took no pride in his stature, and always resented being called a giant. Russell lived in Howard County forty-three years, coming there at the close of the War of the Rebellion from Georgia, where he was reared as a slave on the Gordon plantation. He accumulated considerable property, owning a good farm and several residences in the city. He was a devout Baptist, and he contributed practically all the funds for building the colored Baptist church in Kokomo.

MAY

These Bad Pains

which give you such exquisite suffering, every month, are caused, as you know, by female trouble.

Relief seldom or never comes of itself. It is necessary to cure the cause, in order to stop the pains, and this can only be done if you will take a specific, female remedy, that acts directly on the womanly organs.

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMAN'S RELIEF

"Cardui did wonders for me," writes Mrs. H. C. Larson, of Olds, Ia. "I had female trouble for 8 years. I had displacement, which increased my suffering, the doctor could only relieve me at times. Now, I am so much better, I hardly know when my time begins or when it ends."

At All Druggists

WRITE FOR FREE ADVICE, stating age and describing symptoms, to Ladies Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. B 33

J. A. PROVINES

TRUSTEE

of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:
THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK
at residence in Spencerville, Ind.

DENTIST.

C. R. PRICE.

ST. JOE, IND.

Office in Case building.

Bell Phone No. 44.

WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St. Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.

No. 11, Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail 12:05p.m
No. 3, Western Express 8:06 p. m

GOING EAST.

No. 2, Eastern Express 6:34a. m
No. 16, Toledo Acc & Mail 7:21 p. m

The Old Proverb

That "It takes nine tailors to make a man" may possibly mean that it takes nine trials to find the right tailor.

You can save eight trials by coming hese first. At this time in the year we can do considerably better by you than later. Not better in style, fabric, fit or finish—that's impossible—but better in price. For Example:—

Suits from $18.00 up.

Pants from $4.00 up

ED MAY,

TAILOR,

Butler, Ind

The St. Joe News.

One Year - -	$1.00
Six Month - -	50c
Three Months - -	25c

FRED B. LEIGHTY, Editor.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

Prominent Speakers at Vincennes, Indiana.

Among those who will address the State Sunday School workers in their 44th Annual State Convention at Vincennes are: Mr. Marion Lawrence of Chicago, the best known Sunday school man in the world. He is General Secretary of the International Sunday School Association. Another speaker is Rev. H. M. Hamill, D. D., of Nashville, Tenn. He is just returning from a six months, tour of Japan and China in the interest of the work there. Rev. Aquilla Lucas of Sackville N. B. Canada. International Secretary to the West Indies and South America who recently organized the Sunday School work in the Canal Zone will also attend. There will be several others, and the music is in charge of Prof. E. O. Excell, the world famous composer and leader of music. The date is June 2-3-4. Particulars may be had by addressing Indiana Sunday School Association, 419 Law Building, Indianapolis.

School Enumeration.

The enumeration of the school children as made by the school trustees or their assistants has just been reported to County Supt. H. E. Coe. Most of the reports were in by the first of the week but one did not come until Friday so it could not be given completely. Mr. Coe has until the 15th of May to send in the report to State Superintendent F. A. Cotton. Failure to do so by that time means a reduction of $25 from the next apportionment of school revenue to which the county is entitled, which sum may be collected from him by suit. This enumeration forms the basis of distribution as made by the auditor.

The report of 1908 is:

Townships.	Males	Females	Total
Butler	119	119	238
Concord	184	146	330
Fairfield	193	198	391
Franklin	173	148	321
Grant	97	83	180
Jackson	189	186	375
Keyser	175	158	333
Newville	99	72	171
Richland	131	114	245
Smithfield	196	152	348
Stafford	56	45	101
Troy	66	74	140
Union	126	130	256
Wilmington	194	149	343
Towns
Ashley	36	39	75
Altona	56	58	114
Corunna	40	39	79
St. Joe	69	57	126
Waterloo	138	125	263
Cities
Auburn	371	444	905
Butler	225	217	442
Garrett	660	560	1220

Males in townships, 1996; females in townships, 1774; total in townships, 3772. Males in towns, 339; females in towns, 318; total 657. Males in cities, 1356; females in cities, 1211; total, 2567. Grand total of males, 3693; grand total of females, 3303; two colored children, one in Auburn and one in Garrett, making a grand total of both sexes 6,998.

In the grand totals of all in the county there are 220 less this year than last, 154 males and 66 females. In the respective townships Butler shows a decrease of 11; Franklin, 10; Jackson 34; Keyser, 32; Newville, 11; Richland, 13; Smithfield, 6; and Union, 15. Fairfield shows an increase of 5; Grant, 3; Stafford, 8; Troy, 10; and Wilmington, 32. Concord has the same. Ashley shows a decrease of 57; Altona, 34; Corunna, 13; and Waterloo, 20. St. Joe has an increase of 7. Auburn shows a falling off of 31, while Butler adds 6 to her enrollment and Garrett 3.

Obituary.

Louisa Clemmer was born at Springfield, Summit Co., Ohio, July 16, 1846. Departed this life, May 1st, 1908, at her farm residence near Spencerville, Ind. Age 61 yrs. 9 mo. 15 days. When but a child, she with her parents came to Indiana. At about the age of fourteen she united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, in which faith she lived a devoted Christain life. December 30, 1865, she was united in marriage with Levi Shutt, with whom she lived until her husbands death. June 14, 1896. After this her home was transient until the last four years during which time she lived with her sister, Mrs. Gus Cupp of Spencerville.

Two daughters, Mrs. Viola Stafford and Mrs Ida Kelley, one sister, Mrs. Gus Cupp, a brother, Sylvester, eight grand children and a large circle of friends remain to mourn their loss.

Mrs. Shutt's death was a very sad surprise to us all. Having been always cheerful and seemingly rugged, scarcely any knew of her sickness until after her death. As a mother, Mrs. Shutt was loving and tender, as a friend faithful and true, as a christian, consistent and loyal. She was always found in her place at the various church services and did cheerfully her share in church undertakings. Though being rigidly industrious she was always cheerful, with a smile and a pleasant word for those she met. The home circle has lost a precious member and the church and community at large suffer a severe loss which will be difficult to replace.

The funeral services were held at 10:30 a. m., May 4, at the M. E. church of Spencerville, the pastor, Rev. C. B. Sweeney in charge, assisted by Rev. Dressel and Rev. Erick. Interment was made in the Spencerville cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS.

The family desires to express their thanks to their many friends and neighbors for help and sympathy. To the ministers and choir, to the friends who so beautifully decorated the church, and also for the many beautiful floral tributes. And to the citizens in general for their kindly interest and feelingly expressed sympathy, We can never forget it.

THE FAMILY.

It Reached the Spot.

Mr. E. Humphrey, who owns a large general store at Omega, O., and is president of the Adams County Telephone Co., as well as the Home Telephone Co. of Pike County, O., says of Dr. King's New Discovery: "It saved my life once. At least I think it did. It seemed to reach the spot—the very seat of my cough—when everything else failed." Dr. King's New Discovery not only reaches the cough spot; it heals the sore spots and the weak spots in throat, lung and chest. Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drugstore, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

SPENCERVILLE R F D NO 2.

[Intended for last week.]

Perry Miller was at Auburn, Saturday.

William Miller spent Sunday at Ft. Wayne.

Rosco Walters spent Sunday with Ort Wearley.

Will Lake and family were at Fort Wayne, Saturday.

Clint Wearley made a business trip to Auburn, Saturday.

Pluma Kimes spent Sunday afternoon with Clara Heesler.

David Furnish spent Saturday night with Ort Wearley.

Mrs. Bessie Lake and children returned to their home at Ft. Wayne, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Kyle of Hicksville spent Sunday with their brother and sister, Isaac and Sarah Kyle.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Gillingladder of Spencerville were callers at the home of Wes Zimmerman and family, Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rhoads of Concord and Charlie Rhoads, wife and son of Spencerville spent Sunday afternoon with Will Lake and family.

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Lake of St. Joe; Mr. and Mrs. King of Spencerville; Will Tyndall and family, Harvie Kimes and Minnie Tompson were Sunday visitors at the home of Nelson Lakes'.

The young people of Spencerville and vicinity have organized a literary society. The question for debate Saturday evening, May 23, will be. Resolved: "That reading affords greater knowledge than traveling".

WANTED—A RIDER AGENT IN EACH TOWN and district to ride and exhibit a sample Latest Model "Ranger" bicycle furnished by us. Our agents everywhere are making money fast. Write for full particulars and special offer at once.

NO MONEY REQUIRED until you receive and approve of your bicycle. We ship to anyone, anywhere in the U. S. without a cent deposit in advance, prepay freight, and allow TEN DAYS' FREE TRIAL during which time you may ride the bicycle and put it to any test you wish. If you are then not perfectly satisfied or do not wish to keep the bicycle ship it back to us at our expense and you will not be out one cent.

FACTORY PRICES We furnish the highest grade bicycles it is possible to make at one small profit above actual factory cost. You save $10 to $25 middlemen's profits by buying direct of us and have the manufacturer's guarantee behind your bicycle. DO NOT BUY a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone at any price until you receive our catalogues and learn our unheard of factory prices and remarkable special offers to rider agents.

YOU WILL BE ASTONISHED when you receive our beautiful catalogs and study our superb models at the wonderfully low prices we can make you this year. We sell the highest grade bicycles for less money than any other factory. We are satisfied with $1.00 profit above factory cost. BICYCLE DEALERS, you can sell our bicycles under your own name plate at double our prices. Orders filled the day received.

SECOND HAND BICYCLES. We do not regularly handle second hand bicycles, but usually have a number on hand taken in trade by our Chicago retail stores. These we clear out promptly at prices ranging from $3 to $8 or $10. Descriptive bargain lists mailed free.

COASTER-BRAKES, single wheels, imported roller chains and pedals, parts, repairs and equipment of all kinds at half the usual retail prices.

$8.50 HEDGETHORN PUNCTURE-PROOF SELF-HEALING TIRES $4.80 A SAMPLE PAIR TO INTRODUCE, ONLY

The regular retail price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but to introduce we will sell you a sample pair for $4.80 (cash with order $4.55).

NO MORE TROUBLE FROM PUNCTURES

NAILS, Tacks or Glass will not let the air out. Sixty thousand pairs sold last year. Over two hundred thousand pairs now in use.

Notice the thick rubber tread "A" and puncture strips "B" and "D," also rim strip "H" to prevent rim cutting. This tire will outlast any other make—SOFT, ELASTIC and EASY RIDING.

DESCRIPTION: Made in all sizes. It is lively and easy riding, very durable and lined inside with a special quality of rubber, which never becomes porous and which closes up small punctures without allowing the air to escape. We have hundreds of letters from satisfied customers stating that their tires have only been pumped up once or twice in a whole season. They weigh no more than an ordinary tire, the puncture resisting qualities being given by several layers of thin, specially prepared fabric on the tread. The regular price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but for advertising purposes we are making a special factory price to the rider of only $4.80 per pair. All orders shipped same day letter is received. We ship C. O. D. on approval. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them strictly as represented.

We will allow a cash discount of 5 per cent (thereby making the price $4.55 per pair) if you send FULL CASH WITH ORDER and enclose this advertisement. We will also send one nickel plated brass hand pump. Tires to be returned at OUR expense if for any reason they are not satisfactory on examination. We are perfectly reliable and money sent to us is as safe as in a bank. If you order a pair of these tires, you will find that they will ride easier, run faster, wear better, last longer and look finer than any tire you have ever used or seen at any price. We know that you will be so well pleased that when you want a bicycle you will give us your order. We want you to send us a trial order at once, hence this remarkable tire offer.

IF YOU NEED TIRES don't buy any kind at any price until you send for a pair of the special Hedgethorn Puncture-Proof tires on approval and trial at the special introductory price quoted above; or write for our big Tire and Sundry Catalogue which describes and quotes all makes and kinds of tires at about half the usual prices.

DO NOT WAIT but write us a postal today. DO NOT THINK OF BUYING a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone until you know the new and wonderful offers we are making. It only costs a postal to learn everything. Write it NOW.

J. L. MEAD CYCLE COMPANY, CHICAGO, ILL.

Mr. E. Leighty and Mr. Sylvester Clemmer spent Sunday with D. M. Kelley and family.

Between the almost universal prohibition movement and the Pure Food Law, John Barleycorn and his shops are having a hard time. On July 1st, the Pure Food Law in relation to all alcoholic drinks will go into effect and after that what is known as "straight whiskey", that is, whiskey that has been aged by time and not mixed with other spirits, will alone be entitled to the name of "whiskey". Blended or compounded whiskey must be marked on the barrel in letters at least one inch long and burned into the barrel "Blended Whiskey". A mixture of whiskey with alcohol, provided there is enough potable spirits to make a real compound and not a semblance of one, will be marked as a "compound of". Such spirits with the distillant with which it is mixed, commercial alcohol or wines which have been manipulated by the aid of artificial flavors, colors or extracts so as to resemble some particular kind of spirits, will be marked with the name of such spirits, preceded with the word "imitation". This will make a great revolution in the business of rectifying or blending whiskey for most of the whiskey now sold is compounded, blended, or imitated within the meaning of the Pure Food Act and after July 1st, none of these products can leave the place of manufacture without carrying a mark which will indicate to the common mind that the stuff is some inferior article.

Potatoes for sale. HENRY MILLIMAN., Phone 76-12.

Ethel Berry is suffering from a felon on her right hand, thus leaving us short a typesetter.

Addison Kline has purchased a restaurant at Garrett and took possession Monday. Mr. Kline was very successful in the business here, and with his ability, his many friends predict for him a bright future at Garrett. It is certain that no man in Butler has more friends than Ad Kline.—Herald.

Relief From Rheumatic Pains.

"I suffered with rheumatism for over two years," says Mr. Rolland Curry, a patrolman, of Key West, Fla. "Sometimes it settled in my knees and lamed me so I could hardly walk, at other times it would be in my feet and hands so I was incapacitated for duty. One night when I was in severe pain and lame from it my wife went to the drug store here and came back with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I was rubbed with it and found the pain had nearly gone during the night. I kept on using it for a little more than two weeks and found that it drove the rheumatism away. I have not had any trouble from that disease for over three months." For sale by H. Milliman, St. Joe: F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

Sale Bill is—we print them.

Mr. and Mrs. James of Ft. Wayne is visiting relatives here.

Bert Bowman of Chicago came Saturday and made a few days visit with his family, returning to his work, Tuesday.

For the Children

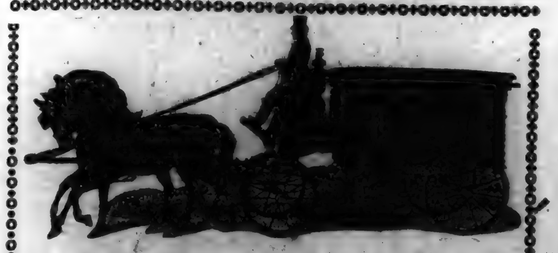
To succeed these days you must have plenty of grit, courage, strength. How is it with the children? Are they thin, pale, delicate? Do not forget Ayer's Sarsaparilla. You know it makes the blood pure and rich, and builds up the general health in every way.

The children cannot possibly have good health unless the bowels are in proper condition. Correct any constipation by giving small laxative doses of Ayer's Pills. All vegetable, sugar-coated.

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of

Ayer's HAIR VIGOR. AGUE CURE. CHERRY PECTORAL.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.



Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also furnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable.

Beams & Baker.

MAY

L 903

SILENT INFLUENCES.

By Grace Kain.

The influences which steal into our lives are the tools which shape our destinies. They come to us as silent friends or foes. We do not know when they have entered our lives or from what source they have come. In the busy rounds of life we do not consider what an important part "Silent Influence" play or how they determine their actions and deeds. There is more danger that we shall under-estimate than over-estimate their value. They are, perhaps the most important force in our lives.

The early influences which surround a child mold themselves firmly into his life. As the enviroments of a plant determine its fruitfulness, so the influences of a child determine his usefulness in life. Take for example two children of the same physical, moral and intellectual abilities, and notice the part that influences play in their lives. Place one in a home of high ideals and culture where he receives the love and tender care from the father and mother. Before he is able to lisp his first baby word the influences of the home have stolen silently into his life to shape his future actions. Place the other in a home of low ideals and morals, where he sees only the stern face of the mother and hears only harsh words from the father. The mother is a silent foe to her son, while the father acts as a curse to blight the boy's life. He has no one to point out to him the beauties of life and no one to encourage him in his undertakings. He is neglected and uncared for.

Both boys have the same opportunities for securing an education but while the one receives encouragement at home the other receives nothing but discouragement. In this way they grow up to manhood. Both have planned for themselves a bright and useful future. They meet with obstacles but while the one has a loving father and mother to go to in trouble the other has no friend to share his burdens, and when they become too heavy he must fall under their weight. At length the one will become a good and useful man, the other who has received nothing but disappointment in life will in the end be a disappointment to himself and to the world.

From this we see that the early influences of a child are far reaching. We cannot over estimate the value of a kind smile or a word fitly spoken.

A great man's influences live many years after he is dead. It is said that Shakespeare is of no age. He speaks a language which thrills one's blood in spite of the separation of two hundred years. His thoughts, passions, strains of fancy are of this age as they were of his own and his genius will be contemporary with the minds of every generation for a thousand years to come.

Shakespeare's influence lives to-day untarnished by time. Although his lips are silent his influences are living on. When we read his great works he seems to be speaking telling us, all his greatest and noblest thoughts. It is well said that a thought is a living voice. It is a spirit walking on the face of the earth. Men pass away, monuments crumble into dust; what survives and remains is human thought.

The life of Shakespeare reminds us of one of Longfellows poems in which he says.

Lives of great men all remind us,
We can make our lives sublime
And departing leave behind us,
Footprints on the sands of time.
Footprints that perhap another,
Sailing o'er lifes solemn main
A forlorn and shipwrecked brother
Seeing, shall take heart again.

We cannot escape the fact of our own personal influence. Each person casts some influence whether great or small, for no man liveth to himself. Our actions cast a broader influence than our words. They are the silent messengers that tell what our real character is. Our influences depend chiefly on what we are, not what we have, or what we know. When influences have once gone forth from our lives they can never be recalled. We may change but our inufience already exerted will not change. If they have been good they will go forth as a silent blessing, if bad as a silent curse. Our influence never grows less but always more and more. One life is touched and through that a score of others, we should exert influences that are at all time good. The fact that other lives are constantly being modified by ours ought to make us very careful how we live. At our place of labor, on the street, in our homes, when we talk and when we act our influence like a shadow, falls on some one who will be either better or worse for having been in our presence.

Each person has his own part to act on this great stage of life. He is responsible for his own influence and the part they play in the lives of others. If they raise some fallen brother he shall receive his reward, but if they lower some one he must bear his punishment.

Let us ask ourselves this question. What influence do I cast about me? Is it one that will cheer and help my associates or one that will weaken their true courage and ambition. Let us profit by this question and determine to live a purer and nobler life so when our lives are drawing to a close we may look back on a life well spent; in which our influence have been as silent friends guiding others over the stony places in lifes pathway.

May Wed.

Clyde G. Rectenwalt, 24, telegraph operator, and Princess Butler, 21, both of Concord township.

Sheep Killed.

Sheep dogs have been doing some of their work. Last Saturday morning, Frank Sechler, discovered that dogs had been in his sheep and upon investigating he found that in all 15 were killed and injured. The sheep were in the woods nearly a half mile from the house and it is supposed they did the work, Friday night.

Wm. Monroe of Hicksville, was in town, Saturday. He was on his way to Kokomo.

Undertaking a Specialty.

Elza Kinsey takes charge of all funerals. Calls answered day or night Prices reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

Phone No. Office 37-2. Residence 37-3

Local News Items

Several from here attended the carnival at Garrett, last week.

W. E. Baxter and wife visited relatives here several days last week.

Miss Frankie Baltz left last Saturday for Old Fort, Ohio, where she will visit for two or three weeks with relatives.

Miss Casebeer moved her goods from this place, last week, to Winona Lake which place she expects to make her permanent home.

Bert Tyson, Tom Maxwell and Don Cosper of Butler were guests of Frank Leighty and Grover Curle, Sunday. The boys were chums while in the navy.

Mrs. W. C. DeLong and Emma White left Sunday evening for Indianapolis to attend the Rebekah Assembly this week. They expect to return to-morrow.

Word came Monday that Merrill Everett of Elkhart was united in marriage to Miss Alice Barns of that city. Merrill is traveling salesman for a Toledo cigar company.

M. T. Bishop is in attendance to the Prohibition State Convention at Indianapolis, this week. He received an invitation to assist in the singing. Several others are contemplating going.

Rev. M. Lucas, a student of Adrian College, expects to preach at the M. P. church at St. Joe next Sunday at 10:15 a. m. and at Fairview at 7:30 p. m. He is a fine young christian man. Come and hear him.

Little Dorris Keesler accidentally fell last Saturday, while at the grist mill and received an injured arm, while it is thought nothing serious may result. She fell from the door to the cement floor in the engine room. The little one is now carrying its arm in a sling.

Rev. Brown of the Christian church delivered a fine sermon, Sunday morning on "The Old Folks". Special music was rendered for the occasion. He showed how in this mad rush of life that the "Old Folks" were soon forgotten and shoved aside to take care of themselves. A fair sized crowd attended.

Money to loan on farms at 5 per cent interest. Payable on or before 10 years. Partial payments allowed. Call on or write us. Brown & Rhoads, Lawyers, City National Bank Building, Auburn, Ind.

Nearly fifty drains are in process of construction in DeKalb county at the present time. At present there are twenty-three ditch proceedings in the circuit court, seven in commissioner's court and nine in the hands of the surveyor. There are at present four men and two ladies working on ditch matters besides Surveyor John Eckright and Drainage Commissioner Phil S. Carper. Calvin Grube, ex-drainage commissioner, is retained to assist in old ditch proceedings because of his familiarity with them and his capability of handling them better than a stranger to those particular ditches. In view of all this immense volume of work that necessarily accompanies the construction of such a number of drains Surveyor Eakright finds it difficult to explain to the many anxious petitioners that there is an almost unlimited amount of routine work that requires time to do and that the drains have to have their turn and do if not stopped by any litigation, remonstrance or other hindrance. It takes time, patience and money to establish an outlet to one's land.

Good Words For Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

People everywhere take pleasure in testifying to the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. Edward Phillips of Barclay, Md., writes: "I wish to say that I can recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My little girl Catherine, who is two years old, has been taking this remedy whenever she has had a cold since she was two months old. About a month ago I contracted a dreadful cold myself, but I took Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was soon as well as ever." This remedy is for sale by H. Milliman, St. Joe, F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

Just Received.

Car Load Wabash Portland Cement.
Consignment of Gasoline Vapor Stoves.

I Keep on Hands

Hydrated Ground Lime
Stoves and Ranges Cooking Utensils
Steel Goods of all kinds.

All Kinds of Roofing:

Best quality Red Cedar Shingles
Gravel Roofing Asbestos, Rubber, Felt and Galvanized Roofing.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT
Linseed, Automobile and Lubricating Oils, Gasoline, Etc.

GLASS, SASH AND DOORS.

Quality Right. Prices Right.

D. J. Baker.

The World's Best Climate

is not entirely free from disease, on the high elevations fevers prevail, while on the lower levels malaria is encountered to a greater or less extent, according to altitude. To overcome climate affections, lassitude, malaria, jaudice, biliousness, fever and agne, and general debility, the most effective remedy is Electric Bitters, the great alterative and blood purifier; the antidote for every form of bodily weakness, nervousness, and insomnia. Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store. Price 50c.

Mr. Brown and wife of Hicksville were Sunday guests of their daughter, Mrs. Harry Milliman. Andrew Patterson, wife and son also of Hicksville were guests of W. C. Patterson and family.

Harry Metzger and family, who have been the guests of J. D. Leighty and wife, are at Ft. Wayne this week. Mr. Metzger is ailing with consumption and is visiting among his relatives to avoid the city as much as possible.

Rheumatism

Do you want to get rid of it? If so, take Dr. Miles Nervine modified as directed in pamphlet around bottle. In addition to the direct curative properties it has a soothing effect upon the nervous system by which the rheumatic pains are controlled, and rest and sleep assured. It has made many cures of this painful disease, some of them after years of suffering. If it will cure others why not you. If your case is complicated, write us for advice, it costs you nothing and may save you prolonged suffering.

"I was so crippled that I could scarcely walk. After having my shoes on for an hour or two I could manage to walk by suffering the pain. Then I began to have pains all through my system. My doctor told me I had an acute attack of inflammatory rheumatism. I read about Dr. Miles' Nervine, bought a bottle and I commenced to get better from the start and for the past six months have scarcely any pain, and am able to walk as well as ever."

JAS. H. SANDERS,
P. O. Box 5, Rockaway, N. J.

Your druggist sells Dr. Miles' Nervine and we authorize him to return price of first bottle (only) if it fails to benefit you.

Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind

PATENTS

and TRADE-MARKS promptly obtained in all countries, or no fee. We obtain PATENTS THAT PAY, advertise them thoroughly, at our expense, and help you to success.

Send model, photo or sketch for FREE report on patentability. 20 years' practice. SURPASSING REFERENCES. For free Guide Book on Profitable Patents write to

503-505 Seventh Street, WASHINGTON, D. C.

D. SWIFT & Co.

Buy our stationery,

Note books at THE NEWS office.

J. C. Hull and wife drove to Wayne, last Tuesday afternoon,

Jacob Sechler and wife were guests of Butler relatives, Sunday.

Henry Abel visited with his sons at Auburn several days last week.

Miss Vera Andress of Auburn spent a few days with her parents, Marshall Andress and wife.

Miss Chloe Rhodenbaugh left Thursday for an extended visit with Allen A. Wood and family at Petersburg, Va.

Mrs. Henry Hathaway and children returned home, Saturday, after several days visit with relatives at Garrett.

Elza Kinsey left last week for Indianapolis to attend the Undertakers Convention and to go to school for a couple of weeks.

We desire to call your attention to the list of democrat candidates in another column of THE NEWS. Several new ones have been added to our list since our last issue, Recorder J. W. Henderson returned from Spencerville, Wednesday night, where he closed a deal with J. D. Leighty, commissioner appointed by the court to sell the Shutt land, where by he came into possession of 74 acres of the Shutt estate about ten acres of which are divided into town lots in Spencerville the remaining 64 joining them on the rear. This land is situated just across the road from Mr. Henderson's farm. All told Mr. Henderson has 292 acres of land and of that good variety for which Concord township is noted.—Dispatch.

C. S. SMITH

Lawyer and Notary Public.

COLLECTIONS and LOANS.

Office in Auburn State Bank Building.

Auburn Indiana.

The News, - - $1 per year.

MAY

L 903

HOUSE WORK

Thousands of American women in our homes are daily sacrificing their lives to duty.

In order to keep the home neat and pretty, the children well dressed and tidy, women overdo. A female weakness or displacement is often brought on and they suffer in silence, drifting along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have help to overcome the pains and aches which daily make life a burden.

It is to these faithful women that comes as a boon and a blessing, as it did to Mrs. F. Ellsworth, of Mayville, N. Y., and to Mrs. W. P. Boyd, of Beaver Falls, Pa., who say:

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

"I was not able to do my own work, owing to the female trouble from which I suffered. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me wonderfully, and I am so well that I can do as big a day's work as I ever did. I wish every sick woman would try it.

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

160 Acre FARMS In Western Canada FREE

What a Settler Can Secure in

WESTERN CANADA

160 Acres Grain-Growing Land FREE.
20 to 40 Bushels Wheat to the Acre.
40 to 90 Bushels Oats to the Acre.
25 to 50 Bushels Barley to the Acre.
Timber for Fencing and Buildings FREE.
Good Laws with Low Taxation.
Splendid Railroad Facilities and Low Rates.
Schools and Churches Convenient.
Satisfactory Markets for all Productions.
Good Climate and Perfect Health.
Chances for Profitable Investments.

Some of the choicest grain-producing lands in Saskatchewan and Alberta may now be acquired in these most healthful and prosperous sections under the

Revised Homestead Regulations

by which entry may be made by proxy (on certain conditions), by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Entry fee in each case is $10.00. For pamphlet, "Last Best West," particulars as to rates, routes, best time to go and where to locate, apply to W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or W. H. Rogers, 3d Floor Traction-Terminal Building, Indianapolis, Ind., and H. M. Williams, Room 30, Law Building, Toledo, Ohio, Authorized Government Agents.

Please say where you saw this advertisement.

THE MEN WHO KNOW

THE SUPERIOR QUALITIES OF

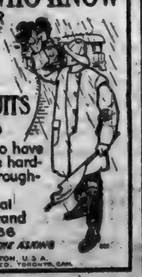
TOWER'S FISH BRAND

SLICKERS, SUITS AND HATS

are the men who have put them to the hardest tests in the roughest weather.

Get the original Tower's Fish Brand made since 1836

CATALOG FREE FOR THE ASKING



A. J. TOWER CO. BOSTON, U. S. A.
TOWER CANADIAN CO. LIMITED, TORONTO, CAN.

Let us do your Printing using

Eagle Linen

for your office stationery. You can get the paper and envelopes to match.

It is the real thing. Take no other.

ITCHING RASH 18 YEARS.

Girl's Rash Spread and Grew Worse Under Specialist's Care—Perfect Cure by Cuticura Remedies.

"When my daughter was a baby she had a breaking out behind the ears. The doctor said that she would outgrow it, and it did get somewhat better until she was about fifteen years old, and after that she could get nothing that would drive it away. She was always applying something in the way of salves. It troubled her behind the knees, opposite the elbows, back of the neck and ears, under the chin, and then it got on the face. That was about three years ago. She took treatment with a specialist and seemed to get worse all the time. We were then advised to try the Cuticura Remedies, and now I don't see any breaking out. M. Curley, 11-19 Sixteenth St., Bay City, Mich., May 20, 1906."

Not Particular.

"I'd like to get some nice shirts for my husband. To-morrow's his birthday, and I want to surprise him."

"Yes, ma'am. What size?"

"Does that make any difference? O, assorted sizes, I suppose. George can wear almost anything. But there mustn't be any saw teeth on the collar. He's got some of that kind, and he doesn't like them."

Ask Your Dealer for Allen's Foot-Ease

A powder to shake into your shoes. It rests the feet, Cures Corns, Bunions, Swollen, Sore, Hot, Callous, Aching, Sweating feet and Ingrowing Nails. Allen's Foot-Ease makes new or tight shoes easy. Sold by all Druggists and Shoe Stores, 25c. Sample mailed FREE. Address Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

More Trouble.

"My husband had an awful time collecting that debt," Mrs. Lapsling was saying. "I don't pretend to understand law terms, but I heard him say that before he could get the money he had to Barney Shea the man's wages."

Your Wife, Mother or Sister

Can make Lemon, Chocolate and Custard pies better than the expert cook by using "OUR-PIE," as all the ingredients are in the package ready for immediate use. Each package, enough for two large pies, 10 cents. Order to-day from your grocer. Put up by G-Zerta Food Co., Rochester, N. Y.

Enjoying a Sermon.

"Talk about the superiority of mind over matter!" said the argumentative boarder. "It's just the other way. If you want to be sure not to forget a thing you don't trust it to your memory. You take a pencil and a slip of paper and make a memorandum of it."

Clear, white clothes are a sign that the housekeeper uses Red Cross Ball Blue. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

Village Improvement.

The State Grange of Massachusetts, comprising over 200 individual granges with a total membership of about 3,000, has decided to make village improvement a regular part of its work in the future, says Maxwell's Talisman. The grange thus admits the value of improvement work and gives to it a broad interpretation, including among the proper fields for development the general environment, the home, the individual, the farm, the neighborhood and the town. The desire to co-operate with all other forces for the improvement of civic conditions is also expressed. The end in view, "an increase in the beauty and attractiveness" of the towns of the State, is commendable. By this alone may the town compete with the city and cease to be decadent. The grange has already done good work in this field in individual cases, and this broader movement promises much.

Had Learned Something.

"Ever notice it?" queried the party who propounds questions in sections.

"Did I ever notice what?" asked the innocent bystander.

"That the longer a man is married the less he dodges when his wife throws things at him?" said the installment interrogator.

"Yes, I've noticed it," replied the l. b., who had been up against the matrimonial game for several years. "He soon gets wise to the fact that there is no danger if he doesn't move."

FIT THE GROCER

Wife Made the Suggestion.

A grocer has excellent opportunity to know the effects of special foods on his customers. A Cleveland grocer has a long list of customers that have been helped in health by leaving off coffee and using Postum Food Coffee.

He says, regarding his own experience: "Two years ago I had been drinking coffee and must say that I was almost wrecked in my nerves.

"Particularly in the morning I was so irritable and upset that I could hardly wait until the coffee was served, and then I had no appetite for breakfast and did not feel like attending to my store duties.

"One day my wife suggested that inasmuch as I was selling so much Postum there must be some merit in it and suggested that we try it. I took home a package and she prepared it according to directions. The result was a very happy one. My nervousness gradually disappeared and to-day I am all right. I would advise everyone affected in any way with nervousness or stomach troubles, to leave off coffee and use Postum Food Coffee." "There's a Reason." Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

The Popular Pulpit

THE RICHES WITHOUT COST.

By Henry F. Cope.

"Come buy wine and milk without money and without price."—Is. lv., 1.

Did you ever stop to think that all the best things in life come without cost to ourselves? They are given freely. The things that in their value are without money and beyond price are also in the method of their acquisition without money and without price. Every life is rich in the measure that it has discovered and possesses these treasures.

A man may pay many thousands of dollars for the painting of a sunrise, and yet it never will be nearly so beautiful, so inspiring, so valuable as the sunrise itself, a spectacle which the poorest may enjoy without the expenditure of so much as a cent. All our works of art, costly as they may be, are but imitations of the originals which, while far exceeding them in beauty, may be ours for the taking.

The real pleasures of life are not to be bought. Amusement is for sale; but joy comes without price and without bargaining. There are no figures set upon happiness; it springs up in the pathway like a flower the seed of which has been wafted from some other world. The quiet, deep joys of life, benison like, fall from heaven upon our hearts. None can command them, none can corner them.

You may purchase assistance and interest, but affection and love come unsought, unsolicited, unbought. What wealth have you greater, more worth to you, than the tender kindness, the sympathy, the spirit of self-giving that goes out to you from other lives? These assets are not on our office ledgers, but on the great ledgers of life from which our final balances are struck they are writ large.

When we make up the inventory of our lives, if our hearts have any appreciation of true values, if we have learned to distinguish between life's tools and its product, we find that those things we could least afford to lose are those that have come upon us without our labor, perhaps without our deserving, always beyond our powers of purchase.

How foolish then are we, who have the greatest, the enduring treasures by simply taking them, if we waste our powers and our time in striving after the things that are not worth while. There are at least two ways of living—one is to try to make enough money to be able to buy pleasure or affection or whatever you may most desire, the other is to keep the life ever open to all the joy and love and enriching that is about it.

This world is full of beauty. We alone, with the enginry of our greed, make it ugly. But we cannot altogether succeed in hiding all its beauty, and the open eye and appreciative heart still, without going far afield, may catch glimpses and often behold the full glory of field and flower and starry heaven.

How deeply must we pity the life to which the beauty of the world brings no enriching, he who does not take a deep breath and feel a thrill of pleasure at sight of mountain, prairie, or sea. And all the prodigal beauty of this world is but a message to us of the greater love of the life that upholds it all, of the riches of him that inhabiteth eternity.

And fairer yet than field or flower, treasures greater and more enduring are ours for the taking, the appreciating, in friendships, human love, and companionships. The peace that broods from a mother's face, the strength of a father's life, the light in our children's eyes, the joys of home and heartside—are not these the best riches of life?

What would we think of a man who maintained an orchard for the sake of the soil, or the grass or the firewood in the trees? Yet are we not even more foolish who seem to live only for the means of life; for its agencies and not for its ends. We prize the soil, we treasure the trees; we toil for leaves and twigs and slight the fruits of life, humanity, character, love, friendships.

Sometimes we say life is getting more complex; its demands are becoming greater. No man can be rich without immense material resources. How foolish it all is. Life's essential demands are still few and simple; life's real riches are within the reach of all. We have but to lift up our eyes, to open our hearts.

The darkest fate that could come to any is to be so immersed in the struggle for things, so absorbed in the means of making a living that we are blind altogether to the meaning of life itself, and so lose altogether the enduring riches, the lasting, sustaining joys, the fair fruitage of life.

MAN SHOULD DISCOVER.

By Rev. John R. Mackay, PH. D.

What is written in the law? How readest thou?—Luke 10:26.

Macaulay in one of his reviews says: "The deeper and more complex parts of human nature can be exhibited by means of words alone."

To many of us they are mirrors, histories. Every new science adds many new words to our language. Every new discovery, every war adds a few more. Each one of these new words enlarges our knowledge.

But words do not increase our knowledge of men morally or in the language of the heart. Moral science may have become more elaborate, but the vital and instinctive principles which are for the guidance and development of manhood and character have not been improved. All those words called the Ten Commandments, spoken at least 4,000 years ago, describe man just as fully and exhaustively to-day as they did then.

So also is this true of the laws of the heart. If one of the Pharaohs looked in upon us he would be bewildered at the multitudinous changes in social, civic, commercial and industrial affairs; yet what a gleam of intellectual recognition and appreciation would come into his eyes the moment he looked upon two lovers or a mother nursing her baby, or into the faces of sorrow by an open grave. These are the same throughout all ages. They are like the physical laws of steam and of air and of electricity and of motion. They are always here. Man does not invent them; he is their discoverer.

Thus it is that man never progresses by trying to invent moral truth. When he seeks to discover it, follow it, love it, make it the supreme object in life, then he finds himself close to the Divine presence, touching the things of God, breathing the spirit of God. And he needs not to go far afield, for he finds it in himself in his relationship with his fellows and in God's word.

It is too often assumed that moral laws are restrictions, fences, guards, but the truth is that it is sin that is the restriction. It is sin that retards manhood growth, it is sin that causes the retarding complications in life, it is sin that perverts man's ambitions, clouds his vision, dulls his ear, confuses and blights his affections, whereas his hearty, loyal response to the moral and spiritual laws of God gives him freedom. It is in them that he finds his true self, his manhood, the joy of living, calling into play his noblest powers.

The national laws are not restrictions, fences curtailing personal liberty; they may be that to the criminal, but to the good citizen they are the means by which he reaches his best citizenship. We cannot imagine a citizenship without laws any more than we can imagine a manhood without laws, and so moral law is an essential art of every human life. This may be proved by looking upon manhood's failures as well as upon manhood's successes. They have come by breaking through the provisions God has provided.

Therefore, Jesus did not merely express a religious truth, but one of the profoundest, deepest, furthest-reaching of all moral principles when He said to the young lawyer, "How readest thou? * * * This do and thou shalt live." Through that doorway he would find abundant life, he would find his true self, for just within it he would find God the source of truth and life, he would find Christ the ideal, the renewer, the pattern, the inspiration to the only life worth living—the life of God in the human soul.

Many a man casts his eyes up to heaven that the world may forget that his hands are in its pockets.

HYMNS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

True Worship.

Behold us, Lord, a little space
From daily tasks set free,
And met within thy holy place
To rest awhile with thee.

Around us rolls the ceaseless tide
Of business, toil and care,
And scarcely can we turn aside
For one brief hour of prayer.

Yet these are not the only walls
Wherein thou mayst be sought;
On homeliest work thy blessing falls
In truth and patience wrought.

Thine is the loom, the forge, the mart,
The wealth of land and sea;
The worlds of science and of art,
Revealed and ruled by thee.

Then let us prove our heavenly birth
In all we do and know,
And claim the kingdom of the earth
For thee, and not thy foe.

Work shall be prayer, if all be wrought
As thou wouldst have it done;
And prayer, by thee inspired and taught,
Itself with work be one.

Pattern Department

UP-TO-DATE DESIGNS FOR THE HOME DRESSMAKER

Boy's Blouse Suit.

The normal, active boy finds no suit more desirable than this one. It allows perfect freedom and activity, yet it is becoming and attractive in appearance and he can keep himself tidy without effort. In the illustration blue serge is stitched with belding silk, but cheviots, both plain ones and the new suggested plaids and checks, are much liked for suits of the sort, while the model also will be found an admirable one for the inexpensive wash fabrics. The suit consists of the blouse and the knickerbockers. The blouse is tucked at the front to give the wide box plait effect and includes moderately full sleeves that are tucked at their lower edges. It is drawn up at the lower edge by means of elastic inserted in a hem. The knickerbockers are of the regulation sort, and also are finished with hems at their lower edges, in which elastic is inserted to regulate the size.

PATTERN NO. 5888.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly. For which elastic is inserted to regulate the following coupon:

Order Coupon.

No. 5888.

SIZE ....

NAME ....

ADDRESS ....

Fancy Waist with Vestee.

No form of fancy blouse is likely to be smarter or better liked than this one. It includes a little vestee and the Japanese sleeve effect, while it also is made with the chemisette that is always so dainty and thoroughly charming. In this case the materials are crepe de Chine for the waist proper, taffeta with silk embroidery for the vestee and trimming bands and a pretty embroidered net for the chemisette.

PATTERN NO. 5775.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:

Order Coupon.

No. 5775.

SIZE ....

NAME .....

ADDRESS ....

Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna acts gently yet promptly on the bowels, cleanses the system effectually, assists one in overcoming habitual constipation permanently. To get its beneficial effects buy the genuine.

Manufactured by the
CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
SOLD BY LEADING DRUGGISTS - 50¢ per BOTTLE

A 25c. Bottle of Kemp's Balsam
Contains 40 DOSES,
And each dose is more effective than four times the same quantity of any other cough remedy, however well advertised and however strongly recommended that remedy may be.

Remember always that KEMP'S BALSAM is the Best Cough Cure.
It has saved thousands from consumption.
It has saved thousands of lives.
At all druggists', 25c., 50c. and $1.
Don't accept anything else.

Paxtine
TOILET ANTISEPTIC
Keeps the breath, teeth, mouth and body antiseptically clean and free from unhealthy germ-life and disagreeable odors, which water, soap and tooth preparations alone cannot do. A germicidal, disinfecting and deodorizing toilet requisite of exceptional excellence and economy. Invaluable for inflamed eyes, throat and nasal and uterine catarrh. At drug and toilet stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.

Large Trial Sample
WITH "HEALTH AND BEAUTY" BOOK SENT FREE
THE PAXTON TOILET CO., Boston, Mass.
A Skin of Beauty is a Joy Forever.

DR. T. Felix Gouraud's Oriental Cream or Magical Beautifier.

Removes Tan, Pimples, Freckles, Moth Patches, Rash, and Skin Diseases, and every blemish on beauty, and defies detection. It has stood the test of 50 years, and is so harmless we taste it to be sure it is properly made. Accept no counterfeit of similar name. Dr. L. A. Sayre said to a lady of the haut-ton (a patient): "As you ladies will use them, I recommend 'Gouraud's Cream' as the least harmful of all the skin preparations." For sale by all druggists and Fancy-Goods Dealers in the United States, Canada and Europe.
FERD. T. HOPKINS, Prop., 37 Great Jones Street, New York.

ROUGH on RATS
TRADE MARK
DON'T DIE IN THE HOUSE
UNBEATABLE EXTERMINATOR
THE OLD RELIABLE THAT NEVER FAILS
Being all-poison, one 15c box will spread or make go to too little cakes that will kill 500 or more rats and mice, and thousands of Roaches, Ants and Bed Bugs.
15c, 25c & 75c boxes at all druggists and country stores.
FREE Send for our comic postal cards and lithograph which have convulsed the world with laughter.
E. S. WELLS, Chemist, Jersey City, N. J.

DAISY FLY KILLER Placed anywhere, attracts and kills all flies; neat, clean, ornamental, convenient, cheap. Lasts all season. Absolutely harmless; will not soil or injure anything. Guaranteed effective. All dealers or sent prepaid for 25c. Harold Somers, 149 DeKalb ave. Brooklyn, N. Y.

WIDOWS' PENSIONS under NEW LAW obtained by JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.

Defined.

"Paw, what is a philosopher?"

"He's a man, my son, who can eat sawdust and make himself think it's ice cream."

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

SHEAR NONSENSE

"What is the capacity of your church?" "About 300 spring hats."—Life.

Jeweler—Shall I engrave the bride's initials on the inside? Fiance—Better say, "For my best beloved."—Fliegende Blaetter.

Miss Millyuns (rather aged)—Will you love me when I'm old? Brighton Early (absently)—Well, what do you think I'm doing now?

The Professor's Wife—You haven't kissed me for a week. The Professor (absently)—Are you sure? Then who is it I have been kissing?—Life.

Maggie (calling upstairs)—The gas stove went out, mum. Mistress—Well, light it! Maggie—It went out through the roof, mum.—Success Magazine.

De Quiz—Have you heard a robin yet? De Whiz—No, but I've seen a woman with her head tied up in a towel beating a carpet in the back yard.—Judge.

Waiter (who has just served up some soup)—Looks uncommonly like rain, sir. Diner—Yes, by Jove, and tastes like it, too! Bring me some thick soup.—London Tatler.

"Bilger eloped with his cook, the unfeeling wretch!" "Well, I don't know. Why shouldn't he if he wanted to?" "But his wife was just going to give a dinner party."—Life.

"The corporation has resolved at last to lay out a park for the benefit of the poor." "Have the preparations begun?" "Rather! All the 'Keep Off the Grass' boards have arrived already."—Tit-Bits.

"Going to make a garden?" "Not much." "I thought you were so enthusiastic on the subject last summer." "Won't you allow a man to learn anything by experience?" — Nashville American.

Wink—He didn't use to dodge his rich relatives, but he does now. Bink—Does, eh? And as poor as he is? Wink—Sure! All his rich relatives have bought automobiles. — Chicago Daily News.

Bill—I see in a favorable wind a fox can scent a man at a distance of one-quarter of a mile. Jill—Of course, he could scent him farther if the man happened to be in an automobile.—Yonkers Statesman.

"Beware!" whispered the fortune teller; "your bitterest enemy will shortly cross your path——" "Hooray!" cried the man, delightedly; "my new motor car won't do a thing to him."—Philadelphia Press.

Boston Bill—I'm getting weary of this blase, nomadic, peripatetic existence, aren't you, pal? Omaha Red (after recovering)—Why—e-r, yer see, Bill, it never struck me in dat light before. Is it really as bad as all dat?—Puck.

"Excuse me for not stopping," exclaimed Little. "I'm in a hurry to get home." "That's rather unusual," said Large, "what's the trouble?" "My wife has a cold," explained Little, "and she can't speak above a whisper."—The Bohemian.

"The Swelltons seem to keep up an imposing establishment," remarked the canned goods drummer. "You bet they do," replied the groceryman, with a sigh long drawn out, "and I'm one of the fellows they impose on."—Chicago Daily News.

"Mamma, is the old black hen going to be sent away for the summer?" "No Tommy; but why do you ask?" "Well I heard papa tell the new governess that he would take her out riding when he sent the old hen away for the summer."—Harper's Weekly.

"Confound it," cried the angry husband, "any old thing appeals to you if it's only cheap!" His bargain-hunting wife grimly smiled. "Don't forget," she sarcastically remarked, "that you yourself are one of my characteristic investments."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"What brought you here, my poor man?" inquired the prison visitor. "Well, lady," replied the prisoner, "I guess my trouble started in attendin' too many weddin's." "Ah! You learned to drink there, or steal, perhaps?" "No, lady; I was always the bridegroom."—Tit-Bits.

"Have you fixed up my will just the way I told you?" asked the sick man, who was the possessor of many needy relatives and some well-to-do but grasping ones. "I have," asserted the lawyer. "Just as strong and tight as you can make it, eh?" asked his client. The lawyer nodded. "All right," said the sick man. "Now I want to ask you one thing—not professionally—who do you think stands the best chance of getting the property when I'm gone?"—Youth's Companion.

DOG INTELLIGENCE.

How the Faithful Animal Is Trained by the Eskimos.

The Eskimo begins to train his dog for sledge work before it is a month old. One of the most interesting features of the Eskimo villages are puppies tied to the pole of a tent. They pull on the rope with all their puppy strength in the effort to break away and join in the frolics of their elders.

Not until a dog bred for mail service is one year old is it put in training for the trail. It begins by running ten miles with the team, then it is dropped out. Next day, says St. Nicholas, it runs the same distance. Gradually the distance is increased until it reaches its fifteenth month of life, when it becomes part of the regular service. The life of a small dog is from three to four years. No greater punishment can be inflicted than to lay a dog off from service. When unruly they are often threatened with a lay-off, and with almost human intelligence they seem to understand the disgrace it implies in the eyes of their fellow workers on the trail. All fight to be leaders. A constant spur to an unambitious dog is the "outsider," who will quickly take away the leadership not only in the mail service, but in teams maintained chiefly for the pleasure of the sport. The intelligence of the malamute is remarkable, its scent wonderful, its instinct, as a rule, unerring.

Some dogs are better trail followers than others, as some are better leaders. In a blizzard the best of them lose the trail, but invariably find it. When on the trail they never eat but once a day; then at the end of the journey. After feeding, like weary children, they fall asleep and are never quarrelsome. It takes an average of twenty pounds of food a day for a team of eleven dogs on a hard route.

FOUND THE CAUSE

After Six Years of Misery and Wrong Treatment.

John A. Enders, of Robertson avenue, Fen Argyl, Pa., suffered for six years with stinging pain in the back, violent headaches and dizzy spells, and was assured by a specialist that his kidneys were all right, though the secretions showed a reddish, brick-dust sediment. Not satisfied, Mr. Enders started using Doan's Kidney Pills. "The kidneys began to act more regularly," he says, "and in a short time I passed a few gravel stones. I felt better right away and since then have had no kidney trouble."

Sold by all dealers, 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Refined Torture.

"Lil, you just ought to have heard how Miss Capsicum talked the other day when she was real mad. You don't know what you missed."

"What did she say, Jen?"

"Gracious! You don't expect me to say the dreadful things she said, do you?"

Good for Sore Eyes, for over 100 years PETTIT'S EYE SALVE has positively cured eye diseases everywhere. All druggists or Howard Bros., Buffalo, N. Y.

Hard to Please.

Eminent Statesman—What are the infernal newspapers saying about me now, Chicksey?

Private Secretary—They haven't mentioned your name for a month, Senator Eminent Statesman—Blank dash the newspapers!

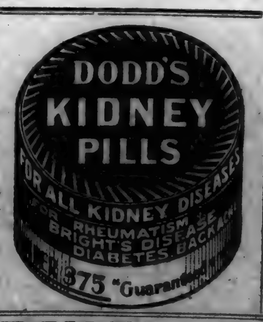
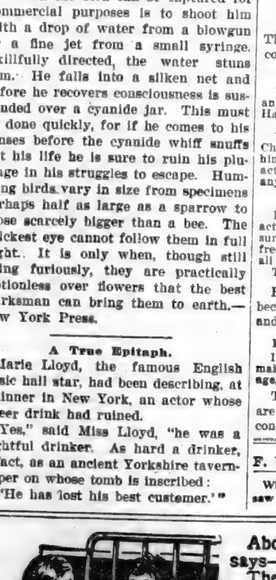
Garfield Tea is of particular benefit to those subject to rheumatism and gout! It purifies the blood, cleanses the system, and eradicates disease. Drink before retiring.

Apply It to Your Life.

Have you ever watched the exceeding delicate and yet firm pressure of the hand of a skillful tuner? He will make the string produce a perfectly true note, vibrating in absolute accord with his own never changing tuning fork. The practiced hand is at one with the accurate ear, and the pressure is brought to bear with most delicate adjustment to the resistance. The tension is never exceeded, he never breaks a string, but he patiently strikes the note again and again till the tone is true and the ear is satisfied, and then the muscles relax and the pressure ceases.





Exact Copy of Wrapper.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

Birds Shot with Water.

Shooting a humming bird with the smallest bird shot made is out of the question, for the tiniest seeds of lead would destroy his coat. The only way in which the bird can be captured for commercial purposes is to shoot him with a drop of water from a blowgun or a fine jet from a small syringe. Skillfully directed, the water stuns him. He falls into a silken net and before he recovers consciousness is suspended over a cyanide jar. This must be done quickly, for if he comes to his senses before the cyanide whiff snuffs out his life he is sure to ruin his plumage in his struggles to escape. Humming birds vary in size from specimens perhaps half as large as a sparrow to those scarcely bigger than a bee. The quickest eye cannot follow them in full flight. It is only when, though still flying furiously, they are practically motionless over flowers that the best marksman can bring them to earth.—New York Press.

A True Epitaph.

Marie Lloyd, the famous English music hall star, had been describing, at a dinner in New York, an actor whose career drink had ruined.

"Yes," said Miss Lloyd, "he was a frightful drinker. As hard a drinker, in fact, as an ancient Yorkshire tavern-keeper on whose tomb is inscribed:

"'He has lost his best custemer.'"

Still in Evidence.

Matron (out on house hunting expedition)—Who occupied these apartments last?

Janitor—A family named Johnson.

Matron—Know anything about them?

Janitor—No, ma'am.

Matron (sniffing the air)—Well, I do. They were fond of onions, sauerkraut, and codfish.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

WALDING, KINMAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Both sugar and salt will preserve meat, because they absorb the moisture in it, and so prevent decomposition.

Do Your Clothes Look Yellow?

If so, use Red Cross Ball Blue. It will make them white as snow. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

The eyes of seven persons out of ten are not matched as far as their power is concerned.

F. W. N. U. - - - No. 21—1908

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Advertisement in this paper

About the first thing the doctor says—How are your bowels?

Then, "Let's see your tongue."

Because bad tongue and bad bowels go together. Regulate the bowels, clean up the tongue. We all know that this is the way to keep well.

You can't keep the bowels healthy and regular with purges or bird-shot pills. They move you with awful gripes, then you're worse than ever.

Now what you want is Cascarets. Go and get them today—Cascarets—in metal box—cost 10c. Eat them like candy, and they will work gently—while you sleep. They cure, that means they strengthen the muscular walls of the bowels, give them new life. Then they act regularly and naturally. That's what you want. Cure guaranteed. Be sure you get Cascarets. Sample and booklet free. Address

Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago or New York.

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES
$3.00 SHOES AT ALL PRICES, FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE FAMILY. $3.50 MEN, BOYS, WOMEN, MISSES AND CHILDREN.

W. L. Douglas makes and sells more men's $2.50, $3.00 and $3.50 shoes than any other manufacturer in the world, because they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater value than any other shoes in the world to-day.

W. L. Douglas $4 and $5 Gilt Edge Shoes Cannot Be Equalled At Any Price

CAUTION. W. L. Douglas name and price is stamped on bottom. Take No Substitute. Sold by the best shoe dealers everywhere. Shoes mailed from factory to any part of the world. Illustrated Catalog free to any address.

W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES
Color more goods brighter and faster colors than any other dye. One 10c package colors all fibers. They dye in cold water better than any other dye. You can dye any garment without ripping apart. Write for free booklet—How to Dye, Bleach and Mix Colors.
MONROE DRUG CO., Quincy, Illinois

MAY

0183
L 903

Political Announcements.

FOR SHERIFF.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Please announce my name as a candidate for the nomination of sheriff of the county subject to the decision of the democratic primary.

RALPH W. THOMAS.

FOR SHERIFF.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Please announce my name as a candidate for sheriff subject to the decision of the Democratic primary.

JAMES S. LOWE.

RECORDER.

Please announce my name as a candidate for the democratic nomination for county recorder, subject to the wishes of the voters at their primary.

J. M. NORFORD.

FOR CLERK.

EDITOR NEWS'—

Please announce my name as a candidate for the democratic nomination for clerk of the DeKalb Circuit court subject to the wishes of the voters at their primary.

EDGAR W. ATKINSON.

FOR CLERK

EDITOR MEWS:—

Please announce that I am a candidate for the democratic nomination for county clerk, subject to the wishes of the voters at their primary.

JOHN HEBEL.

CLERK.

EDITOR NEWS:

Please announce my name as a candidate for the democratic nomination of clerk of the DeKalb circuit court, subject to the wishes of the voters at their primaries, June 4, 1908.

WM. H. LEAS.

RECORDER.

EDITOR NEWS:—

You may announce my name as a candidate from Keyser township, for the democratic nomination for Recorder, subject to the decision of the coming primary election.

D. E. HERSHBERGER.

CLERK

EDITOR NEWS:—

You may announce my name as a candidate for clerk of the county subject to the Democratic primary.

WARREN A. AUSTIN,

SURVEYOR.

Please announce my name as a candidate for the nomination for the office of county surveyor from Keyser township subject to the decision of the voters expressed at the democratic primaries to be held on June 4th.

CHARLES L. WAGONER.

RECORDER.

Please announce my name as a candidate for the democratic nomination for county recorder, subject to the wishes of the democratic voters as expressed at their primaries to be held on June 4, (Jackson township.)

L. D. NELSON.

RECORDER.

Please announce my name as a candidate for nomination for the office of county recorder from Wilmington township, subject to the decision of the democratic primaries to be held June 4th.

S. G. HAVERSTOCK.

COMMISSIONER

EDITOR NEWS:—

Announce my name as a democratic nominee for comissioner of the south-east district subject to the primary elections June 4.

AMOS SNYDER.

COMMISSIONER.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Announce my name as a candidate for commissioner of the south-east district, subject to the decision of the voters at their primaries, June 4.

JOHN R. MOORE.

COMMISSIONER.

EDITOR NEWS:—

You may announce my name as a candidate for commissioner of the south-east district, subject to the democratic primaries, June 4.

WILLIS A. DANNELLS.

TREASURER.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Please announce my name as a candidate for renomination for the office of county treasurer, subject to the wishes of the voters at the democratic primary, June 4th, Smithfield township.

HIRAM H. SLAYBAUGH.

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

BELL PHONE NO. 83.

St. Joe, - Indiana.

COUNTY REPRESENTATIVE.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Announce my name as a democratic candidate for the nomination of county representative, subject to the decision of the democratic primary, June 4.

E. M. MCKENNAN, atty.

FOR COMMISSIONER.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Announce my name as a candidate for the nomination of commissioner of the south-east district, subject to the decision of the democrats at their primaries June 4.

HIRAM D. POPER.

A Rumor.

I am to be married next Sunday: so I hear. I would be very glad if those who are managing the affair would be kind enough to let me know the details.—Such a life sentence at hard labor without the knowledge of the principals is not legal. Go it! and see who will have the most fun. I dislike to think I know many who are so feeble minded, small and lacking in common sense and have so little to do as to tell such rot. I don't believe the evidence is sufficient to convict. I hope I have as good a right to see a girl occassionally as anyone, if I want to and they don't object. Some poor idiots must gossip or die of ennui, and I suppose while I am holding their attention, some other poor offender is getting a rest. This is the sixteenth time I have been notified of my coming sorrow and rather enjoy it as you can see. Who will be the next ssge or seer to forsee and forteil the next ceremony. I am expecting to hear that I am already married and that half a dozen breach of promise cases have been filed.

Chastine Johnston.

May Jurors.

GRAND JURY.

Jerry Garman—Jackson.
Henry B. Eckhart—Keyser.
Charles Krise—Concord.
George J. Beard—Franklin.
Jefferson Betz—Franklin.
D. J. Goodwin—Smithfield.

PETIT JURY.

Jerry Mortorff—Smithfield.
Fred Jenkins—Concord.
Frank Hoffelder—Smithfield.
Geo. W. Probst—Keyser.
Jacob Burns—Wilmington.
J. G. Philbrick—Garrett.
Alvin W. Gushwa—Keyser.
William Hoodelmier—Union.
Scott Cook—Wilmington.
Aaron S. Baker—Butler.
Reinhold Duchow—Keyser.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

There is probably no medicine made that is relied upon with more implicit confidence than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy During the third of a century in which it has been in use, people have learned that it is the one remedy that never fails. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take. For sale by H. Milliman, St. Joe; F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 625 Ninth Street, opp. United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

C.A.SNOW & Co.

WABASH CORNERS.

May Daily is working for Mrs. Harris of Auburn Junction.

Roy White purchased a horse of Hiram Luce of near Auburn.

George Pervines made a trip to Auburn, Wednesday afternoon.

Little Waneta Pervines fell out of an up-stair window one day last week, but received no injuries.

Winfield Pervines came home Saturday, after nearly a three weeks stay in the hospital at Garrett, and is improving fast.

Marvin Poper, Winnie Bailey and Neva Andress of St. Joe and John Smith were guests of Wm. Pervines and family, Sunday afternoon.

Roscoe Rickett and Bessie Daily attended a surprise party for Harry Wasson at the home of Nute Wasson near Spencerville, Tuesday evening of last week.

Mrs. Ella Gill of St. Joe and Mrs. Angelia Wolff went to Orland, Tuesday, to visit their brother, Mart White and family, and from there to Hamilton to visit their nephew, Chas. White and family and niece, Mrs. Henry Gaul and family.

FAIRVIEW

Mr. and Mrs. Brandon, north of Auburn, spent sunday with Ellc Platter.

Earl Sherer was a guest of Wm. Johnston and family, Sunday afternoon.

James Colman and wife spent Sunday evening with Reuben Koch and wife.

Frank May and wife spent Sunday with the latters mother, Mrs, Wm. Krise.

Lenora Sherer was visiting with friends at this place a few days last week.

The date for Children's meeting at this place has been fixed for the 14th of June.

The preaching services next Sunday evening will be conducted by Rev. Lucas, a young man from Adrian, Michigan.

H. F. Houser and son went to Huntertown, Saturday, to purchase some corn. Houser is living in hopes of not having to be so dependent on Allen county farmers after this. He has one field of corn planted now.

Plenty of Trouble

is caused by stagnation of the liver and bowels. To get rid of it and headache and billiousness and the poison that brings jaundice, take Dr. King's New Life Pills, the reliable purifiers that do the work without grinding or griping. 25c at H. Milliman's drug store.

SPENCERVILLE R F D NO 2.

Mrs. Chris Hursh is on the sick list.

D. M. Kelley and wife visited with relatives at Hicksville, Saturday.

Ort Wearley and Inez Rhoads spent a couple of days visiting at Huntertown.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Squires of near Auburn spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Emma Smith and family.

The Messers Corma and Vernie Kelley visited over Sunday with their uncle and family at Woodburn.

Mrs. Allen Gorrell of Harlan called on Mrs. Calvin Saylor, Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Gorrell is formerly known as Jennie Braybrook.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Gillinglighter, Mrs. Anna Boger, Grandma Getz and Earl Stiman spent Sunday with Wes Zimmerman and family.

The Misses Julia Stevens, Clara Keesler, Zenith and Fern Wearley and the Messers Robert Beams, Murray Erick, Edward Carnes and Argyl Beams spent Sunday afternoon at Erick's Grove. All reported a fine time.

SPENCERVILLE
R. F. D. No. 1.

Mr. Munn is putting an addition to his barn, had the raising last Monday.

John Dilley and wife spent Sunday afternoon with F. A. Horn and family.

E. L. Dilley returned home last week from Ohio, where he had been visiting his sister and other relatives for the past few weeks.

Fern Walter of this route and the Misses Lola Reichelderfer and Beryl Boston of Harlan, left Saturday for Terre Haute to attend school. They will not return until August. Hazel Greenawalt is also attending school there.

Summer Underwear.

We can supply your wants in most anything in the Summer Underwear line. Our stock is larger this spring than ever.

Men's shirts and drawers.....50 and $1 suit.
Men's Union suits.....$1, 1.50 and 1.75.
Men's and boys sleeveless athletic shirts 25, 50c.
Men's elastic seam jeans drawers.....50c.
Men's light weight australian wool shirts..$1.00.

Ladies Vests 10, 15 and 25c.
Ladies Pants, Gauze and Muslin, 25 and 50c.
Ladies Union Suits, - 25, 50c.
Misses and Childrens Vests and pants 10 to 30c.

Big Four Store.

St. Joe, Ind.

Henry Walter was at Ft Wayne on business, last week.

Lester Vanzile and Bertha Stewart of Hursh were married, last week.

Mrs. Maria Oberholtzer took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Horn, Sunday.

Mrs. Clara Krick and baby visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Grill, last week.

Henry Goldsmith and wife of Grabill spent last week with their son, William and wife.

Will Boger and family of Auburn, visited with the formers aunt, Mrs. Geo. Horn, Monday.

Mrs. Abram Vanzile, who is staying with her daughter at Hursh, is in a very critical condition.

There was a Sunday school organized at Hursh, last Sunday afternoon. Quite a large crowd was in attendance

There is not much corn planted in this vicinity. The farmers have a good share of their ground to plow yet on account of the heavy rains during last week.

Seed Potatoes

Seed potatoes of the very best tested varieties, early and late, also eating potatoes. Prices right.

W. H. NORTHRUP & SON.

Mrs. Nute Wyatt of Concord was a passenger to Butler, Friday night.

There are more McCall Patterns sold in the United States than of any other make of patterns. This is on account of their style, accuracy and simplicity.

McCall's Magazine (The Queen of Fashion) has more subscribers than any other Ladies' Magazine. One year's subscription (12 numbers) costs 50 cents. Latest number, 5 cents. Every subscriber gets a McCall Pattern Free. Subscribe today.

Lady Agents Wanted. Handsome premiums or liberal cash commission. Pattern Catalogue (of 800 designs) and Premium Catalogue (showing 400 premiums) sent free. Address THE McCALL CO., New York.

Railroad Building in China.

Hardly a province of China has escaped the recent mania for railways, and if all the lines projected are carried out some of the remotest parts of the empire will be rendered easy of access.

Paper of Real Value.

Some genius has invented a new kind of paper that will crumble and go to pieces a short time after it has been written on. It is especially recommended to people with the love-letter habit who dread breach of promise suits.

Dogmatism Defined.

It was Douglas Jerrold who defined dogmatism as "puppyism come to maturity," a happy piece of wise wit.

Use high quality paint and get a job that will be lasting and satisfactory.

Good paint—quality paint—is well worth its cost. It looks better, wears longer, and affords greater protection to the surface of the wood than any other kind. Appearance, wear and protection are the prime objects of painting—the paint you use should guarantee these.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT. PREPARED

is the standard of paint quality. There is nothing too good for it in its manufacture and there is nothing too good we can say for it. S.W.P. is made of the finest raw materials. The Sherwin-Williams Co. go back to the source—owning and operating linseed oil mills, zinc and lead mines and smelters, and the largest dry color factory in America. The result is that wear and service are in the goods.

We would like to have a paint talk with you when you are ready. We are confident that the many strong points in S.W.P. will appeal to your best judgment. And every package is U. S. Standard "full measure."

F. R. BOWMAN,

Spencerville, - - - Indiana.

MAY

0184

L 903

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXII. ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA. WEDNESDAY, MAY 27, 1908. NO. 22

Every little bit added to what you've got makes just a little bit more.

Is your money making money for you? The more of it you have working for you, the less you need to work yourself. We pay 4 per cent interest compounded semi-annually on Certificates of Deposit.

$1.00 will double itself in 17 years 183 days.
$1.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $147.49.
$5.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $737.43
$10.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $1474.85

Now is the time to save. Anyone can save from $1.00 to $10.00 a month if they only will. It's not what you earn but what you save Four per cent interest added to what you've already got makes just a little bit more

Grabill State Bank,

Grabill, Indiana.

Joseph Witmer, Pres. Albert Egly, Cashier.
David Klopfenstein, V. Pres. Marcus Yager, Asst. Cashier.

Another Accident.

Occurred at the B. & O. Crossing Thursday Morning.

Last Thursday morning as Mrs. Chas. Koch and children were on their way north, their horse became frightened to a passing freight. The horse was immediately stopped and the occupants alighted from the rig, Mrs. Koch taking the horse by the bits until the train would pass. The horse began to rage and upset the buggy and then made a lunge forward, throwing Mrs. Koch to the ground, and running into the train. By the appearance the horse was struck in the shoulder and where it was thrown side-ways the thill run into the horse's side about 18 inches. With all the injuries the horse was in such great misery, that it was necessary to kill the horse. Mrs. Koch was greatly frightened and was slightly injured. However it was a lucky accident. The horse belonged to Uncle Joe Koch. This is surely a bad place for accidents. Some precaution should be taken to prevent any such accidents gates or some means should be installed by the railroad.

Get prices on galvanized roofing before buying. F. KINSEY.

Former St. Joe Girl Wedded.

Among the pretty and propitious nuptial events of the merry month of May is that of Mr. Floyd F. Wood and Miss Garnet Andress. The ceremony was performed Wednesday eve at 8 o'clock in the rooms of the Rev. O. L. Hull of the Church of Christ, that minister officiating. The couple were attended by Mr. Clermont VanCuren and Miss Eula Shamo and there were no other witnesses. Mr. and Mrs. Wood and Mr. VanCuren and Miss Shamo immediately repaired to the new home of the happy couple on Walsh street, already cozily furnished, where a dainty and delicious wedding supper was served. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Wood and is a machinist by trade, employed at the Kiblinger auto buggy plant at Auburn. His bride is a daughter of Mrs. Ida Andress and is an accomplished musician, having composed several pieces of music. Both are very estimable young people and numerous friends wish them every happiness.—Clipper.

Note books at THE NEWS office.

Harry Milliman and family spent Sunday with John Simantons'.

314 West Second St. AUBURN, IND.

DECORATION DAY.

We are making the usual preparations for this time. Wreathes and Cut Flowers for decorations. Phone to us and we will give it our prompt attention.

MAKE OUR ACQUAINTANCE

C. M. TenEyck & Son,

Proprietors.

HOME and BELL TELEPHONES.

Program for Decoration Day.

Decoration day exercises will be observed at St. Joe, Saturday May 30th as follows. Parade to cemetery will start from Widney's Opera House promptly at 6:30 p. m. Standard time. Parade will be led by Coburntown Band followed by the children of St. Joe and vicinity, carrying flags. The children in the parade will be in charge of Mrs. Harry Kees and Mrs. Clarence Woodcox. It is especialy desired that all the children of the community march in this parade. Flags will be provided for all. Next in the parade will come the wreath carriers, Lena Coburn, Frankie Rhodenbaugh, Edna Walter and Vera Andress, they will be followed by the "Old Soldiers" together with the soldiers in the Spanish-American war. Next in line will be the choir followed by the citizens. Now let us all turn out and take part in this parade and show the soldiers, who are living, our appreciation in part of the sacrifices made by them. After the exercises at the cemetery the parade will march back to Widney's Opera House where the following program will be carried out.

Music	Choir
Invocation	Rev. Heininger
Music	Choir
Recitation	Helen Patterson
Address	Elder J. A. Brown
Music	Choir
Recitation	Agnes Krabill
Address	Rev. Hill
Flag Drill
Music	Choir
Benediction	Rev. Dressel

Valued Same as Gold.

B. G. Stewart, a merchant of Cedar View, Miss., says: "I tell my customers when they buy a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills they get the worth of that much gold in weight; if afflicted with constipation, malaria or billousness." Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store. 25c.

Prohibition State Ticket.

For Governor—Sumner W. Haynes, Portland.

For Lieutenant Governor—Dr. Abraham Huntsinger, Mishawaka.

For Secretary of State—W. H. Hill, Vincennes.

Treasurer of State—William H. Crowder, Sullivan.

For Auditor of State—Dr. Henry Coons, Lebanon,

For Attorney General—Tilman E. Ballard, Brook.

Reporter Supreme Court—B. F. Watson. Indianapolis.

Superintendent Public Instruction—Monroe J. Vayhinger, Upland.

Chief Bureau of Statistics—Jesse B. Davis, Scottsburg.

The Indiana prohibitionists have nominated a strong ticket headed by Sumner W. Haynes; a well known and able lawyer of Portland. The party did not come into northeastern Indiana to supply any of the needs of its ticket, although there is no section of the state where temperance sentiment is making better progress. The platform adopted by the convention is first of all a strong and unequivocal declaration for destruction of the liquor traffic, but there is adequate attention to other live issues which appeal strongly to all the people. One plank demands the enactment of national laws that shall forever destroy the evil of polygamy in the United States. Another very timely declaration demands a "rigid inspection of all public buildings, mines and hotels with a view of preventing such horrors as so often occur." Sentiment expressed at the convention was for the most aggressive campaign ever waged by the prohibition party in Indiana.

Local Items.

Merritt Hull of Ft. Wayne was at home, Sunday.

FOR SALE:—Potato crates. Noble Hoop Co. St. Joe, Ind.

Go to the Noble Hoop Co. St. Joe, Ind., for your potato crates.

Before buying galvanized roofing call on F. Kinsey and get prices.

Mrs. Wm. Hart of Auburn visited friends at this place over Sunday.

Sam White and wife of Ft. Wayne visited his father and other relatives here, Sunday.

Marion Smith and family of Auburn, were guests of Mrs. Nancy Widney and son, over Sunday.

Merritt Walter of Auburn, Clarence Walter and John Walker of Fort Wayne visited Frank Walter and family, Sunday.

H. H. Grubb and family of New Haven and Chas. Kinsey and family of Auburn were here, Sunday. They came in their automobiles.

A special meeting will be held in the M. P. church, Monday evening, June 1, at which time the building committee will make reports. All members of the church, who are interested in the church's welfare are earnestly requested to be present.

A Californian's Luck.

"The luckiest day of my life was when I bought a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve," writes Charles F. Budahn, of Tracy, California. "Two 25c boxes cured me of an annoying case of itching piles, which had troubled me for years and that yielded to no other treatment." Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store.

Curbstone Philosophy.

It is easier to hit a lion than a hare.

A bird in the hand catches no worms.

An iron will needs analyzing. It may be pig iron.

Even the Kohinoor had to be cut and polished.

The fresh consider themselves the salt of the earth.

Take care of the pennies, and somebody else will take care of the dollars.

No man was ever truly wise. Even Solomon took more than one wife.

The world is usually willing to step aside for a man who knows where he is going.

Memorial Services

Memorial services of the G. A. R. post of this place were held Sunday at 2:00 o'clock p. m. in the Widney's opera house. America, our National hymn was sung by entire audience. The proclamation of Gov. J. Frank Hanly was read by J. D. Leighty, which we reproduce a portion as follows:

"A grateful nation cannot forget its defenders, nor the lovers of liberty cease to remember them that saved the temple of freedom from destruction.

"They gathered up, each for himself all the cherished purposes of life—its aims and ambitions, its dearest affections—and flung all, with life itself, into the scale of battle. They died in defense of the rights and liberties of mankind and they should share for all time in the glory of the cause for which they died. Their valor immortalized the nation, their sacrifice ennobled the race. For four years they and their comrades, from Sumter to Appomatox, became

'The pillar of the people's hope
The center of the world's desire.'

"Their faith was flawless, their consecration unselfish and entire, their daring heroic, their courage sublime. But for them liberty would have here no habitation, freedom no temple. Grateful observance of this day is both our duty and our privilege. Their graves billow every battle field, and make shrines of many places. Let us turn with tenderness to the passionless mounds that hold their mortal dust—in cemetery, church yard, lonely lawn, far distant grove and national field. Let none be forgotten or overlooked. Let even the unknown be remembered. Let their sepulchers, however humble and wherever found, be to us so many baptismal founts at which to renew our faith in the cause they defended, and to rededicate ourselves to the service of the government they preserved.

"Let us on this day above all others respect the law and obey its mandates Let us not desecrate the hour with frivolous and noisy amusements. Let the ceremonies held be the expression of the heart's sincere affection. Let the occasion be marked with song and speech and flower and by the silence which alone can characterize the feelings of the soul in its highest hours—a tribute more eloquent than speech can ever be."

The music was furnished by the 3 choirs and was most excellent ever rendered on such an occasion. The choirs then sang "Slowly Passing," it being very appropriate for the occasion The memorial sermon was delivered by Rev. S. E. Slater of Auburn. His text was taken from Nehemiah 2: 5. Rev. Slater talked very enthusiastically concerning loyalty to the American flag and the sectionalistic spirit between the north and the south which is slowly but surely dying out. The address was interesting from start to finish. The choir then sang a beautiful song. Revs. Heininger and Dressel made short interesting talks. After a song the benediction was pronounced by Rev. E. W. Erick.

A large crowd attended memorial services and it is hoped that everyone will turn out on next Saturday evening at six o'clock and do honor to the departed soldiers.

Swift's Pride Soap
for easy house cleaning

per cake
5c.
6 for 25.

Sol Barney,

Lost.

between St. Joe and Coburntown, ladies wide, oval, band ring with monogram inscribed on inside. Finder call at News Office and receive reward.

Strawberries.

H. M. Widney says he has the best prospects for strawberries he has ever had. He will use from 50 to 100 pickers for this season. Here is a fine chance for the ladies to earn some extra change in healthful out door work.

Rumor. No. 2.

For more than a year I have constantly had one and at times two students employed to copy music, etc, that I did not have time to do myself, Is there anything improper about that? I haven't published it before; but I don't care who knows it. It is tedious work as any one can learn by trying it. Not every one can do it satisfactorily. Miss Ethel Houser is doing this work for me now at my urgent request and a stated rate. Some shallow brained, prying, gossiping liars with more mouth than sense have been trying to misconstrue the above, saying I was giving lessons for nothing.

If I want to give lessons free, that is my business. Innumerable teachers and institutions do it and advertise the fact, making it a strong point.

I got a letter from Indianapolis less than a month ago, asking for names of talented students and offering free scholarships.

I enjoy this gossip myself; but I do hate to have the feeling of innocent persons hurt by such lies and wont if I can prevent it. Hence this article. Hope they choke on the next one.

Chastine Johnston.

MAY

0185

L 903

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

FRED B. LEIGHTY, - - Publisher.

1908 MAY 1908

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
•	•	•	•	•	1	2
3	4	5	6	7	8	9
10	11	12	13	14	15	16
17	18	19	20	21	22	23
24	25	26	27	28	29	30
31	•	•	•	•	•	•

N. M. 8th. F. Q. 15th. F. M. 22nd. L. Q. 29th.

FEATURES OF INTEREST

ABOUT THAT WHICH HAS BEEN AND IS TO BE.

All Sides and Conditions of Things are Shown. Nothing Overlooked to make it Complete.

BLAME FOR HOLOCAUST.

Coroner's Verdict on the Aveline Hotel Fire is Sensational.

Elevator shaft lined with inflammable wood, constituting a ready means of communicating fire.

Furnace left without attention after midnight.

No competent watchman on duty after 9 p. m.

Fire escape difficult of access.

Rooms without balconies leading to fire escapes.

Rooms unprovided with chains and knotted ropes.

State inspector's inspection superficial and incomplete.

State inspector did not order provision of facilities for escaping from fire.

Night clerk negligently called only chemical engine instead of entire fire department.

Fire department equipment and life-saving apparatus inadequate, owing to city's gross neglect.

The foregoing are the causes of the loss of a dozen lives in the Aveline hotel fire, as set forth in the verdict of Coroner A. J. Kesler.. The verdict has been filed with the County Clerk. The findings are the result of a minute inquiry, in the course of which the Coroner examined scores of witnesses and the testimony covers over 700 typewritten pages. The blame for the holocaust, it will be seen, is divided, the hotel management, the men in charge of the building at night, the proprietors, the State Building Inspector and the municipality all coming in for a share of the responsibility. The Coroner finds the origin of the fire to have been near the furnace, in the timbers which were located in close proximity to the firebox, and following the joists to the elevator shaft, which was lined with inflammable pine instead of metal. The State Factory Inspector is held responsible because, although he inspected the building three times, he did not order proper measures taken to facilitate the escape of the inmates in case of fire.

Lose Life While Out Boating.

A dispatch from Clarendon, Ark., says: Seven prominent young society people were drowned when the tank of a gasoline launch in which they were going for a moonlight excursion exploded, wrecking the boat. Other members of the party were rescued with difficulty. The boat left Clarendon bearing a merry party who had planned to go several miles down the river. When about five miles below Clarendon the tank of the launch exploded, wrecking the boat and hurling the occupants into the river, which, at this point, more than fifty feet from shore, is very deep. Few could swim and some were stunned by the force of the explosion and went down before swimmers in the party could make an effort at rescue. The boat was a gasoline launch about thirty feet long and capable of seating twenty or thirty persons.

Train Robbers Get $10,000.

Ten thousand dollars was the loot gathered by two negroes who went through two sleeping cars on a train running between the City of Mexico and Vera Cruz. One of the doors of each car was locked and one robber stood at the other door with a revolver. His partner went through the car and robbed every passenger. The negroes then locked the passengers in and escaped.

To Wipe Out 100 Saloons at Gary.

The County Commissioners at Lake County, Indiana rendered a decision abolishing saloons in Calumet Township. This will include the city of Gary, Ind. More than 100 saloons will be affected. The agitation was started by the Indiana Anti-Saloon League.

BLOW UP A CAR.

Cleveland Strike Sympathizers Use Dynamite and Stones.

Dynamiting, rioting and other violence has characterized the Cleveland street car strike. A Detroit avenue car was dynamited near 100th street. The trucks were badly damaged, but the single passenger and the crew were not injured. Bricks were thrown at a Woodland car while it was passing East Fourteenth street and Woodland avenue. David Benjamin and his wife, who were in the car, were both struck by missiles. Mrs. Benjamin's jaw was broken. Her husband had his face lacerated by the brick. A mob stoned a Woodlawn-Lorain car and seriously injured the only passenger, Mrs. Elizabeth Meiser. A box which the police say contained deadly explosives was found on the tracks at Broadway and East Fifty-fifth street. The box was discovered when a car was less than 500 feet away.

Strikers cut the trolley wires and linemen for the Municipal Traction Company turned out in force to repair the damage, but were driven back by a mob of 300 men. A Broadway car was thrown off the tracks at East Thirty-second street, the passengers being injured in their panic-stricken dash through windows and doors. One woman fainted and was trampled. A West Madison street car was wrecked by explosion of dynamite at West Ninety-seventh street, one woman being so seriously injured she was taken to St. John's hospital, her head cut open by flying glass. From this car men were hurled to the curbstone. The car was a wreck, only its trucks and sidewall ironwork being intact. The motor operated, however, and it was run to the barn. Half an hour later another car was blown up a few hundred feet from the corner. No passengers were aboard this car.

CLEVELAND STRIKE DIRECTORS.

At Calgary, Alberta, a snow slide carried two boarding cars with forty Japanese laborers down the mountain side. They all perished.

Correspondence from Caracas tells how the official organ of President Castro of Venezuela has accused President Roosevelt of "searching for light incidents out of which to create a conflict with Venezuela," referring to Minister Russell's protest against the violation of American mail pouches of the steamer Tacoma at La Guayra. The article adds that if the aspiration of Roosevelt is the abdication of Venezuela's territorial sovereignty, it is high time that the truth be known. The opening of the Tacoma's mail bags was shown to have been a clerical error.

The Porte having yielded on every point in dispute with the Italian government, the latter discontinued preparations for a naval demonstration which had been planned on a large scale. The intention was to seize a Turkish island off the Asia Minor coast. The trouble arose over the refusal of the Turkish government to allow Italian postoffices in Turkish territory and also over the murder of an Italian missionary in Tripoli. Turkey held that while it had tolerated the postoffices of other powers it had never officially authorized them, but Italy felt that for years the Porte had taken advantage of the mixed diplomatic situation to ignore complaints made by Italy concerning the treatment of Italian subjects.

WORK OF CONGRESS

The sundry civil appropriation bill, carrying a total of about $120,000,000, was passed by the Senate Thursday. This is the last of the large supply bills, and its passage places the Senate squarely alongside the House in the consideration of the appropriation bills, and of the entire fourteen leaves only the general deficiency and the military academy bills to be considered. A portion of the session was devoted to the consideration of the bill suspending the penalty feature of the commodity clause of the railroad rate bill. The House devoted the entire day to the Vreeland currency bill, which was finally passed under suspension of the rules.

-:—:-

The Vreeland currency bill, which was passed by the House Thursday, was delivered to the Senate Friday and at once sent to the committee on finance. Senator Aldrich promptly made a report from the committee substituting the Aldrich bill in an amended form, and it was passed by the Senate. This action threw the bill into conference, and an effort will be made to reach an agreement at an early day. The work of cleaning up legislation in the House preparatory to adjournment May 23 proceeded at a rapid pace. With only a short time allowed for debate the military academy appropriation bill and the omnibus public building bill were passed, leaving of the supply bills only the general deficiency bill to be considered. Eight hundred and twenty-five private pension bills were put through. A bitter and sensational attack on former Speaker Keifer of Ohio by his colleague, Gen. Sherwood, was a feature of the day's proceedings. By a strict party vote the Vreeland currency bill as amended by the Senate was, after a lively debate, sent to conference—yeas 150, nays 103, "present" 6.

-:—:-

The Senate Saturday adopted a resolution reported by Mr. Aldrich from the committee on finance giving that committee authority to employ expert assistants necessary to provide for an intelligent revision of the tariff and to report that further legislation is needed to secure an equitable treatment for agricultural and other products of the United States. The committee is also instructed to collect proof of the relative cost of production in this and the principal competing foreign countries. A bill was passed appropriating $5,000,000 for the acquisition of lands on the water sheds of navigable streams in the southern Appalachian Mountains and the White Mountains of New Hampshire and Maine. Senator Carter secured an agreement to make the postal savings bank bill a special order in the Senate for Dec. 14 next. The process of cleaning up preparatory to adjournment was continued in the House. The sundry civil appropriation bill was sent to conference, the conference report on the military academy bill was agreed to, the general deficiency appropriation bill was reported and the following bills passed: Granting compensation to government employes for injuries sustained in the service, authorizing the continuance of the inland waterways commission and creating a national forest in Minnesota. With the view to paving the way for a revision of the tariff a resolution was passed permitting the committee on ways and means to sit during the coming recess and conduct hearings.

-:—:-

The Senate held a short legislative session Monday, nearly half of which was consumed by Senator Heyburn in a speech against a conference report on a bill to increase homesteads on norirrigible lands from 160 to 320 acres, which he declared would apply to the richest farm land of Idaho. The report was withdrawn. The conference report on the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill was approved. Senator Bulkeley of Connecticut spoke in favor of his bill to authorize the President to re-enlist the negro soldiers of the Twenty-fifth Infantry. The passage by the House of the general deficiency appropriation bill, carrying $17,368,572, marked the completion by that body of the last of the great supply measures.

-:—:-

A Democratic speech prepared for circulation in the coming campaign was delivered Tuesday by Senator Taylor of Tennessee. Mr. Taylor devoted his attention chiefly to the tariff and currency policies of the Republican party. The Senate agreed to the conference report on the agricultural bill carrying a total of $11,672,106. The conference report on the legislative appropriation bill was agreed to in the House; conference reports on the agricultural and fortifications appropriation bills were received; the bill making an appropriation of $1,500,000 for representation by the United States at the Tokio exposition in 1912 was passed, as were also two omnibus bills embodying forty separate measures, having to do with public lands and matters in the territories. Pending a vote on a bill providing for the issuance of leases of public lands in the Panama canal zone, a recess was taken until 11 o'clock Wednesday.

NATIONAL CAPITAL NOTES.

A parcels-post convention has been concluded between the United States and The Netherlands to take effect July 1.

The application of the city of San Francisco, made in 1901, for the Lake Eleanor and Hetch Hetchy valley reservoir sites in the Yosemite national park for a city water supply was formally approved by Secretary of the Interior Garfield.

PLANS ABOUT READY FOR DENVER MEETING

Work on Auditorium Hurried Until All that Remains Is the Placing of the Seats.

RECORD THRONG IS EXPECTED

Democrats Say Requests for Places Are Twice as Numerous as at Any Other Convention.

Preparations for the national Democratic convention have been practically completed. Work on the new auditorium in Denver has been hurried until nothing remains to be done except to place the seats in position and allot the space to various delegations.

As an indication of what the attendance will be, the unusual demand for seats is significant. Those in charge of the convention for the national committee say the requests are easily twice as numerous as at any other convention the Democratic party has held.

All the delegations so far selected by the various States have been provided with headquarters and the printing of tickets and badges has been attended to. A special souvenir badge has been prepared for the members of the national committee, and there also will be a special badge for delegates. The arrangements for doorkeepers and guards in the auditorium have not been fully made. This work will be more comprehensive than usual this year.

Admission tickets to the general public will provide for seats in certain specified sections, to which ticket holders will be directed by ushers. In this manner the confusion and noise occasioned by a large crowd pressing toward the most desirable seats will be eliminated. It is expected that at each session of the convention 14,000 people will be provided with seats. There also will be a limited number of standing room tickets issued.

The members of the national committee will hold a meeting in Denver in the latter part of June and decide on the temporary chairman. The decorations for the convention will be the most elaborate that have been attempted in Denver. Electrical effects will be conspicuous and flags and bunting will be used in a lavish manner.

BURROWS FOR CHAIRMAN.

Michigan Senator First Presiding Officer of Republican Convention.

Senator Julius C. Burrows, of Michigan, has been selected as temporary chairman of the Republican national convention, which will assemble in Chicago June 16.

Temporary Chairman—Senator J. C. Burrows, Michigan.

General Secretary—John R. Malloy, Columbus, Ohio.

Chief Assistant Secretary—Lafayette B. Gleason, New York, N. Y.

Assistant Secretaries—Charles Brooks Smith, Parkersburg, W. Va.; Ernest Walker Smith, Hartford, Conn.; Philip M. Heofolo, St. Louis, Mo.; M. J. Tobin, Vinton, Iowa; Charles M. Harger, Abilene, Kan., and Allen Hollis, Concord, N. H.

Reading Clerks—Thomas W. Williamson, Edwardsville, Ill., and George A. Wilson, Des Moines, Iowa.

Parliamentarian—Asher C. Hinds, Washington, D. C.

Official Reporter—M. W. Blumenberg, Washington, D. C.

Messenger to the Chairman—Empsirdell Stone, Indianapolis, Ind.

Messenger to the Secretary—John H. Jackson, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Sergeant-at-Arms—William F. Stone, Baltimore, Md.

First Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms—Ed. P. Thayer, Greenfield, Ind.

Chief of Doorkeepers—Stephen R. Mason, Baltimore, Md.

Julius Caesar Burrows, who is to be temporary chairman of the Republican national convention, has represented the State of Michigan in the United States Senate since 1895, when he was elected to succeed Francis B. Stockbridge, who died three years before his term expired. Mr. Burrows' home is at Kalamazoo. He was an officer in the Union army and was appointed supervisor of internal revenue for Michigan and Wisconsin in 1867. He was elected a representative to the Forty-third, Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh Congresses and appointed solicitor of the government Treasury Department by President Arthur in 1884, but declined the office. He was in the Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, Fifty-first, Fifty-second, Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Congresses and was twice elected Speaker pro tem. of the House of Representatives during the Fifty-first Congress. His present term of service in the Senate will expire March 3, 1911.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

The mortality in business now shows less than a year ago, but the volume of payments through the banks again furnishes an unfavorable comparison, and the State bank exhibits reflect further piling up of deposits and unemployed funds. The latter conditions appear as a natural result of curtailed commercial operations and are less disturbing than the spread of labor troubles in the coal fields and the purpose to advance railroad freight tariffs.

The situation in the leading industrial branches has become no worse, but the uncertainty as to the trend of costs and the paucity of demands for finished products add to the hesitation in making important contracts.

Weather conditions continued mostly adverse to seasonable activity in distributive dealings and local retail trade was irregular. More favorable reports as to the consumption of general merchandise come from the interior and buying would be even better were the rush of delayed farm work less pressing.

Visiting buyers in the wholesale district are not now expected in large numbers, as necessaries have been obtained or provided for, but the current buying is yet good in staples, although confined to absolute needs. Mail advices indicate that road salesmen meet with less difficulty in securing substantial orders in fall and winter goods. Continued ease in money is making collections generally prompt.

Transportation returns testify to further falling off in the offerings of freight by both rail and lake. Local building operations steadily extend and there is more heavy construction being planned.

Failures reported in the Chicago district number 24, against 36 last week and 26 a year ago. Those with liabilities over $5,000 number 7, against 9 last week and 4 in 1907.—Dun's Review of Trade.

NEW YORK.

Weather, trade and crop reports are irregular, warm days alternating with heavy rainstorms, and retail and jobbing demand has been of a fluctuating character. There is evident, however, a measurable improvement in the tone of affairs, commercial and industrial, a partial reflection, perhaps, of the better feeling in financial lines. The most significant feature in actual trade circles is perhaps the wider acceptance of the belief in the cotton goods trade that this branch of trade has seen the bottom as to prices. There are reports of a slight gain in orders by woolen manufacturers and large auction sales of carpets and silk ribbons have developed demand.

Best reports as to the improvement in fall buying come from the larger centers like New York, Chicago and St. Louis, while current retail trade reports are best in the Southwest and Northwest.

Agreements to maintain pig iron quotations having proved ineffectual, efforts to "peg" the market at a steady level have been abandoned. Therefore prices are easier, and those who were bound by obligations are again in a position to take business.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending May 14 number 281, against 288 last week, 184 in the same week of 1907, 161 in 1906, 191 in 1905 and 215 in 1904. Business failures in Canada for the week number 22, against 22 last week and 22 in the corresponding week of 1907.—Bradstreet's Commercial Report.

THE MARKETS

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $7.25; hogs, prime heavy, $4.00 to $5.50; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2, 99c to $1.00; corn, No. 2, 73c to 76c; oats, standard, 53c to 54c; rye, No. 2, 82c to 84c; hay, timothy, $9.50 to $15.50; prairie, $8.00 to $13.00; butter, choice creamery, 17c to 21c; eggs, fresh, 12c to 16c; potatoes, per bushel, 60c to 70c.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $7.00; hogs, good to choice heavy, $3.50 to $5.52; sheep, common to prime, $3.00 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2, 99c to $1.00; corn, No. 2 white, 63c to 65c; oats, No. 2 white, 51c to 52c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $4.50 to $7.15; hogs, $4.00 to $5.55; sheep, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, $1.01 to $1.03; corn, No. 2, 71c to 72c; oats, No. 2, 49c eto 51c; rye, No. 2, 80c to 82c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.75; hogs, $4.00 to $5.60; sheep, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, 99c to $1.00; corn, No. 2 mixed, 74c to 75c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 52c to 53c; rye, No. 2, 82c to 84c.

Detroit—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.60; hogs, $4.00 to $5.40; sheep, $2.50 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2, 98c to 99c; corn, No. 3 yellow, 75c to 76c; oats, No. 3 white, 54c to 56c; rye, No. 2, 83c to 85c.

New York—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.80; hogs, $5.50 to $6.00; sheep, $3.00 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2 red, $1.03 to $1.04; corn, No. 2, 73c to 75c; oats, natural white, 57c to 58c; butter, creamery, 21c to 22c; eggs, western, 13c to 17c.

MAY

L 903

A LONELY GIRL

By Mrs. Hungerford

CHAPTER VI.

Adare, after a few moments lost in getting away from the others, goes straight to where, across the shaven tennis courts, the slender figure is bending over the bank.

"After all, in spite of your unfriendly wish, you see we have met again," says he, in a low tone.

She starts as one might who has been suddenly roused from a dream filled with the saddest import, and some light leaves that she had been holding, drop with a little jerk into the stream and sail away hurriedly, as if in desperate haste to get to the end of all things. This momentary sign of agitation is all she shows. Her face is calm, if smileless, as she turns it to him.

"What a strange task you have allotted yourself," he goes on, pleasantly; "and on such an important occasion, too! Casting leaves into a river! Is this doing your duty to your neighbor? Is there, then, no one here to whom you will deign to speak?"

"There are only a very few here," says she, with a clear enunciation born of great courage, and perhaps greater pride, "who would deign to notice me!"

"What folly is this?" asks he, with a frown. "Who is there here who would dare——"

"Ah, you forget." The pale pink of her face grows paler. "All the county knows of the loss of these jewels, that, after my mother, should have come to Sir Lucien. That knowledge has branded my father's name with infamy, and I"—spreading her hands a little abroad—"as I reminded you before, am my father's daughter."

"This must be put an end to."

"It is very difficult to put an end to slanders," says the girl, gently, if bitterly. "Many here believe in that stupid lie."

"But this is monstrous," says Adare. "I thought this—this—idea—this old story—was confined to our family alone. A mere diseased fancy of Sir Lucien's brain, as of late I have learned to regard it. You mean to tell me that the people—the idiots—round here hold you responsible for——"

"Oh, no, you must not run away with things. I really do not know what they hold me responsible for; but I do know that they will not receive me."

"Yet you are here to-day?" He questions her gravely, anxiously; it would be impossible to find fault with him.

"Madam is a sort of cousin of mine, you know, as she is a cousin of yours, too. Let us say she has a more liberal spirit than most. The very fact of her being connected with me should have militated against her being attentive to me. I don't know why I accepted her invitation, why I came here to-day. The moment I answered it I regretted so mad a step. But Madam insisted on it."

"Then she——?"

"She is the one kind friend I have on earth," says Amber, her earnest eyes on his. Adare is conscious of a shock of surprise. That big, awful, ungainly, inquisitive creature, to pose as protector to this desolate little thing—surely human nature is strange to the verge of comedy. Anyway, Hilary tells himself he will never forget Madam's kindness to this poor little cousin of his.

"It's abominable," says he. "I'll take care it shan't continue. I'll"—in his vehemence, his rage, his pain he goes a little too far—"make the old man acknowledge you."

She winces slightly; then with a flash: "There is no acknowledgment to be made. I am his niece, quite as much as you are his nephew. He can't lie about that."

"I know—I know," hastily, seeing his mistake. "But this scandal. That can be put an end to by his receiving you."

"Oh, don't!" cries she, fiercely—if in a very low tone. Her face has lost all its color. "You mean to be kind—I know you do; but every word—it hurts so! Oh! can't you see that I will not be received as a favor by the man who has made my father's name a byword in the county?"

"I can see, indeed. But look here, Amber; sit down here for a moment," pointing to the grassy bank, "and let us talk it over. None of us, you know, can afford to defy fate. We are almost strangers, and I feel I have no right to dictate to you a line for this or that; but in spite of what I say, I implore you for your own good—yours only—to accept any olive branch that Sir Lucien may hold out to you."

"I beg you will take no trouble of any sort about me." She rises. Her face is clouded, and her beautiful lips show a sense of great resentment. "It would be the merest waste of time. I should never accept apology, or hospitality of any sort, from the man who, so cruelly and openly, maligned my father."

"You are sure he did so openly?"

"Quite sure."

"And your mother?"

"She was spared, though the jewels were always in her possession, not in my father's. But, then," with a curl of her lip, "my mother chanced to be Sir Lucien's sister, and of course no suspicion of disgrace could be allowed to touch her."

"Is that so bad a sentiment, after all?" says Adare, purposely ignoring her real meaning—the selfish regard of Sir Lucien for his own respectability. "She was his sister. Of course he would protect her; that is the meaning of kinship. Do you think, to take another case, that finding you now to be my cousin, I would not protect you?"

Is there a touch of passion in his tone? For a moment they stand looking into each other's eyes, and then, slowly, Amber gives way; her glance falls from his face to his shoulder, and then to the ground.

"I must go back to Esther," she says, quietly, taking a step forward, that shows him even more than her words that she is bent on leaving him.

"Miss Deane is here?"

"Yes, she is over there."

Adare glances in the direction indicated, and looks hard at a small, fragile woman sitting on a garden chair. She looks entirely harmless, but a second thought conveys to him the impression that she could be obstinate, or firm, or determined; there are so many terms for it! Certainly her chin, short and upturned, looks a little unscrupulous. His glance wanders idly from Miss Deane to the man standing next to her. It is Deane. That strange, unpleasant fellow whom Sir Lucien will persist in believing is in league with the purloiner of those abominable and troublesome lost stones.

"Good-by," says Amber; "my cousin, I know, is waiting for me."

"One moment. You will let me introduce my sister to you?"

"To what purpose?" Her tone is cold, repellent, but there are tears in her eyes.

"To make you known to each other. Amber, do not refuse me."

"Oh, I refuse you nothing. It is useless. I refused to see you again the last—the first—time we met, and yet now—"

"You will meet her, then?"

"If—if your sister wishes to know me, I feel that to say—no—would be——"

She stops abruptly. May with Gilbert Grey is almost at their sides.

"May, this is our cousin, Amber O'Connell," says Hilary at once. "And this," indicating Grey, "is a cousin of yours and ours also, Mr. Grey, Miss O'Connell."

"How d'ye do?" says May, the introduction to Grey having given her time to recover her extreme surprise, and holding out her hand with a warmth that goes far to kill for Amber those sad beliefs of hers as to the cruelty of all her mother's relations. "I was here some years ago, but we did not meet then."

"I was in Paris with my mother."

"Happy you! But now that we have met, I hope we shall be friends."

"It takes time," says Amber, her earnest eyes fixed on May's.

"To make a friendship? Oh, but"—holding out her hand—"not much time when it has to do with you and me." So prettily she says it that Amber, with a sudden smile that makes her beautiful face still more lovely, lays her hand in hers.

"It is a bargain," says May, gaily.

"Yes, even if—which is most likely—we never meet again."

"Oh, but we shall—we shall," says May. "Going? Well, remember our bargain. I shall come and see you soon—very soon."

CHAPTER VII.

"I shall call on her," says May. Dinner is over, and Sir Lucien has stalked off as usual to the cold seclusion of his library. "Dolly, you'll come with me, won't you?"

"Delighted," says Mrs. Clarence. "Anything for a sensation in this benighted spot. When do you start? Now?"

"Oh, if you're going, to be sarcastic," says May, "Gilbert, will you come?"

"You and Dolly had bettor go alone, if you mean it," says Adare. There's a vibration in his voice, a sudden sharp interest, that makes Everard raise his eyes from the magazine he is reading, to cast a furtive glance at him.

"But why go?" asks Mrs. Clarence, lazily. "It seems such a silly visit, with no meaning in it. Now, if we called to ask her to spend a week here—you know I suggested that at first—there would be something in it. But as it is——"

"I'm afraid that would be hopeless," says May.

"Why should it be?" says Adare. "Why should our cousin not be asked here? She has had nothing to do with the loss of those jewels, at all events."

"If anyone were to suggest to Sir Lucien that she had something to do with them, he'd ask her here at once," says Mrs. Clarence, with an air of lazy amusement.

"I'll ask him," declares May. "I'll risk it. He can't eat me, and I'd love to have her here. Isn't she pretty? Isn't she a darling? You know Uncle Lucien has been interviewing that cousin of hers, Mr. Deane, ever since he came down here, questioning him about those stones that are lost; and as Uncle Lucien is very angry with him because he can't find out anything from him, he might like to spite him by asking Amber here."

"How would that spite Mr. Deane?" asks Gilbert Grey.

"Because Mr. Deane is in love with Amber."

"What?" says Adare.

"Oh, yes, it's quite true, Hilary. I know. I saw how he looked at her yesterday!" There was a pause. Really, from May, who is the gayest of all butterflies, this is immense.

"What an awful gown Madam had on to-day!" says Mrs. Clarence, turning the conversation. "What a shade! It made my eyes burn."

"I like her," says Adare. This is so sudden, so unexpected, that they all look at him.

"Really, I think, so do I." May, as a rule, always follows her brother's lead. "She isn't half bad, and I think it was rather nice of her to think of giving a dance."

"She won't give one unless Sir Lucien does."

"Well, he may," says Owen.

"Fancy believing Sir Lucien would put one hand before the other to please anyone," says Mrs. Clarence. "You and May must be full of faith. I can't say how I admire you! As for me, I have none. You see, I have made him a special study for so many years."

And she is quite right, as the future proves. When the subject was broached to Sir Lucien, his indignation knew no bounds. A dance in his house! Never!

Despair fell upon the younger members of his household; but presently, when Madam O'Flaherty, after calling Sir Lucien "an old wretch" and various other unpleasant names—thus relieving her feelings nobly——declared herself eager to give her dance "in spite of him," peace was restored with honor.

"Well, if he won't, he won't," says Owen, taking all the airs of an advanced philosopher, "and if Madam will, she will. There's comfort somewhere! Though, after all"—falling suddenly from his late high level to a very despondent one—"who knows? How is one to trust anybody nowadays?"

"By their faces," says Everard, who never in his life trusted anybody.

CHAPTER VIII.

By a singular clause in the will of Sir Lucien Adare's grandfather, some old and absolutely unique jewels were to go to the eldest daughter of the house on her marriage—to be held by her in pawn, as it were, until she either had a son or died. If she died without leaving a son to inherit them, they went back to the head of the family. The head of the family, in this instance, meant Sir Lucien. Sir Lucien's father, Sir John Adare, had left three children, the present baronet, and his brother, who had died very shortly after May's birth, and when Hilary was about seven years old—and an only daughter Lilian. The latter was the idol of his heart.

She was a willful, wild, disobedient creature, extraordinarily beautiful, but perverse and unmanageable; yet the old man adored her for her beauty, and even when she openly and defiantly married a man who was half a bankrupt already, a mere mill owner, a person who, though his forefathers had been of decent birth, had never been received into the society round—he forgave her. Forgave her so completely as to absolutely refuse to dispute her right to those jewels, which she most insolently demanded, and were worth, as Everard had said, a king's ransom, although his eldest son, Lucien, had almost resorted to violence to compel him to do so.

"It was a sacrilege!" said Lucien, fighting then as always for his rights. "There must be some law to prevent the giving away of a huge fortune to a mere contemptible miller."

But the old man was obstinate. He would not dispute that strange clause in his father's will. Lilian was to have the jewels for her lifetime, and after her they were to go to her son. If there was no son, Lucien would have them—in time.

As a fact there was no son, only a little daughter, born after many years; a tiny thing carried hither and thither—from Paris to Berlin, from Berlin to Italy, and back again wherever the willful, restless mother elected to go. If to travel means a liberal education, Amber was indeed highly educated; she learned to speak many languages, she caught a grace of manner that held to her always; she was distinctly strong on geography so far as Europe was concerned, but she was disgracefully weak on the tender mercies of one's neighbors.

When she was fifteen her mother died, leaving the girl to her father's care. A short guardianship, as he died six months later—unable, some said, to survive the beautiful woman who had so cruelly treated him—so recklessly ruined him.

Even as she lay on her deathbed Sir Lucien had begun inquiries about the jewels. But Mrs. O'Connell had laughed at him, and had indeed died flouting him. He should never see them—never!

She had beckoned to the stupid man who had married her, and had not even sense enough to repent, and pulling him down to her with her thin arms in a last eager effort, had whispered something into his ear. He was "to promise—to swear." She was dying, and he promised. He had been her slave all his life, it was not likely that when grief intolerable held him, he should even try to break his bonds.

Resolutely ignored by her family all along, when he declared ignorance of the whereabouts of the jewels after her death, no one believed him. His own death six months later complicated matters.

That the stones, the sapphire necklace, especially, had been sold, was a preposterous idea. The necklace was famous, and indeed the central sapphire was supposed to be the largest in the world. The great engines of the law were set to work, but nothing came of all their whirligigs. And from then to now, no tale or tidings of the missing jewels had been heard.

(To be continued.)

Father and Son.

Father (age 50)—At your age a man thinks he knows everything.

Son (age 21)—Yes, and at your age he knows he does.

France has no old-age insurance measure, but a large amount is annually spent in relief to aged natives.

REVIEW OF INDIANA

Burglars entered the C. H. Lucas cafe in Linden, stealing $13 in nickels, which were taken from a cigar wheel. Two fine watches and $5 in the money drawer were undisturbed.

Pennsylvania feright train No. 87, second section, north-bound, struck a mule at Waynesville and a serious wreck followed, in which Engineer William McGregor was killed and Fireman James Ross and Brakeman S. I. Pedigo fatally injured. The three men lived at Jeffersonville.

August Buses, near Morgantown, while blasting stumps, run out of fuses, and he made one of old rags. The explosion not coming as soon as expected, he started to investigate, and as he reached the stump the blast let go. A fragment of wood fractured his skull. He is thought to be fatally hurt.

Goel Price, 23 years old, employed at Henry Fields' livery barn in Lyons, was instantly killed as he was driving across the railway tracks, being caught by the engine to which the Vandalia pay car was attached. His horses escaped. He was the only son of Mrs. Henry Stalcup, and he leaves a wife and child.

Miss Nettie Stanley, 22 years old, attempted suicide by swallowing carbolic acid in her room in Anderson. She is a daughter of Mrs. Rosina Stanley, near Pendleton. A year ago Miss Stanley prepared to marry James Little. The wedding dinner was ready and the guests had arrived, but Little failed to appear. Since that time she has been despondent.

Arthur Nye, 18 years old, was shot and seriously, if not fatally, wounded by his brother Roscoe, 16 years old, while they were hunting near Marion. At least forty shot entered the young man's body, some of them penetrating his stomach and bowels. Roscoe attempted to shoot a squirrel, not knowing his brother was in range, and the shot covered Arthur from head to foot.

An examination of the carcasses of the carp now being hauled away from the lakes surrounding Rome City reveals the fact that their stomachs are lined with cement caused by the marl in which they had been burrowing, which being swallowed, hardened into cement. As the carp is the arch enemy of all other fish and are valueless as a food product, their loss is not greatly deplored, but rather hailed with delight by fishermen.

Daniel Klinger, aged 83, a widely known farmer in Huntington County, died last week. Saturday morning he sent for a lawyer and made his will, saying he was going to die in a few hours. In the afternoon he sent for a carpenter to measure him for a casket, saying he wanted everything in readiness when the end came. He directed the measurement of his body, gave orders regarding his funeral and shortly after he had finished his arrangements he began to weaken and in a few hours he passed away.

George W. Johnson, aged 71 years, who is serving a fine of $150 and fifty days in the county jail at Lawrenceburg, on the charge of bigamy, has received word from Goldfield, Nev., that the Mansfield and Two Twins mines have made very rich strikes. The ore is in large quantities and will pan out finely in the assay. Mr. Johnson has several hundred shares of stock in each mine, and, at the expiration of his confinement he will leave for Nevada. A number of moneyed people of Lawrenceburg and vicinity are interested in the Mansfield company.

Os Bambraugh, of Elwood, has a dog that points mushrooms. Mr. Bambraugh and Dan Foland have been going to the woods and returning home with large baskets full of mushrooms. Others returned after long tramps empty handed, and they pressed Mr. Bambraugh for an explanation. He told them, and, to show "doubting Thomases" what his dog could do, he turned it loose in the fields. The animal immediately struck a scent, and when it found a mushroom it pointed it as a bird dog does a bird. However, instead of keeping silent, the dog sets up a howl.

Charles Raats, of Lochiel, Benton County, is under treatment in St. Elisabeth Hospital, Lafayette, with his left eye torn out, his head cut and his face fairly ripped into shreds. A fulminate of mercury cap, used in touching off dynamite and other explosives for blasting, was found in a street at Lochiel. It was taken to a blacksmith shop, where Raats happened to be, and, placing the cap on an anvil, Raats struck it with a hammer. A white powder was scattered over the anvil and Raats struck the second time. An explosion followed, which hurled him to the floor and tore the anvil apart. Fragments of the cap were driven into his face, while another piece destroyed the eyeball. He may recover.

The mushroom crop in Kosciusko County this spring is large. The fungi is selling on the market at 20 cents a pound.

Carl Hoffman, 15 years old, son of C. R. Hoffman, dry goods merchant, of Seymour, was drowned while bathing in White river.

Andrew Carnegie has offered to give the Central M. E. church at Evansville $1,000 toward buying an organ, if the congregation will contribute $1,000 more.

Bert Burkhart, of Saline, was killed while loading timber on an Evansville & Terre Haute flat car, a heavy piece falling and crushing him to death. He leaves a widow and four children.

The first jury composed entirely of negroes ever impaneled in Southern Indiana served at Princeton, to settle the issues in an assault and battery and provoke case between two families of their race. The jury acquitted both defendants.

Thos. Thompson, of Westville, aged 18, is in jail at Valparaiso charged with attempted criminal assault on Mrs. Mary Kelly, aged 50. The woman's cries on the roadway attracted farmers and he was arrested after a ten-mile chase.

At a meeting of the College Avenue M. E. church congregation at Bloomington, which was largely attended, it was decided to build a new $50,000 church, the work to start as soon as $30,000 is guaranteed. Already $21,000 has been subscribed.

Lightning struck the large barn owned by Frederick Bledsoe near Linton, while he was in the haymow, and instantly the hay was ablaze. Mr. Bledsoe was slightly stunned, but he escaped from the burning mow before he was seriously burned.

Mrs. A. P. Lashee, formerly Miss Simmons, of Jasonville, is the mother of triplets. All are girls, weighing from eight to nine and a half pounds. Mother and children are doing well, and the physician reports that the babies are robust and well formed.

Samuel Dougherty, a farmer near Columbus, has for a hired man, William Nortman, who was a lieutenant colonel in the Boer War. He took the job at $15 per month that he might learn American farming methods in order to introduce them in the Transvaal.

Mr. and Mrs. William Frye, of Hebron, Porter County, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last week. They are 78 and 75 years old respectively, and have seven sons, all married, who were present with their families. They have been residents of the county for sixty years.

Forest Anderson, a well-known farmer near Jasper, is doing his plowing by night, several stands of bees near where his plow is running being too demonstrative in the day time. Both Mr. Anderson and his horses were severely stung, so he is taking advantage of the moonlight to work undisturbed.

Rather than face the Court on his third arrest for speeding Perry C. McDonald, chauffeur for Chester Ragon, of Evansville, drove his machine at breakneck speed eight miles in the country, then ditched it and fled on foot. The police over the State are asked to arrest him on complaint of the automobile owner. The machine is practically ruined.

Leander Jeffries, who several years ago was a candidate for Sheriff on the Republican ticket in Kosciusko County, has completely dropped out of sight. He disappeared on the afternoon of Saturday, April 25, after he had drawn about $440 from the State Bank at Leesburg. He was last seen at the Pennsylvania station in Warsaw. It is believed that he has gone to the Southwest.

Judge Joseph Leffler, of the Circuit Court in Muncie, stopped the hearing of the Turner will case in order that he might unite in marriage Allen Stewart and Mrs. Martha Stewart, who had been divorced for twenty-three years. Instrumental in bringing the two together was their daughter, Miss Alice, who is now 24 years old. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart were divorced in Missouri in 1885.

Charles Watson, convict, of Vigo County, who walked away from the Indiana Reformatory barn May 6, being detailed at the time as driver for the assistant superintendent, has nerve enough to retain his freedom. Twenty-four hours later he came face to face, in Cincinnati, with Ira T. Loos, bandmaster of the institution, and immediately shook hands with him, saying that he had been paroled the day before. Professor Loos was visiting his sick mother, and it was not till his return to the Reformatory that he knew Watson was an escaped man.

MAY

L 903

Are You Regular?

If you are not, it is a sign of disease, a sign of some hidden female trouble, that may be undermining and weakening your constitution, and laying up for you much future suffering.

Many thousands of weak, irregular, suffering women have, in the past 50 years, been greatly benefited or cured by the use of that well-known, successful, purely vegetable, female tonic and curative remedy

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMAN'S RELIEF

Apple G. Barnes, of Alto, Tex., writes: "I caught cold, which made me irregular and gave me pains in my shoulders and sides. For almost 2 weeks I could not lift a chair. Cardui brought me all right again; I have no more pains and am in very good health."

At All Druggists

WRITE FOR FREE ADVICE, stating age and describing symptoms, to Ladies Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. E 34

J. A. PROVINES

TRUSTEE

of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:
THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK
at residence in Spencerville, Ind.

DENTIST.

C. R. PRICE.

ST. JOE, IND.

Office in Case building.

Bell Phone No. 44.

WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

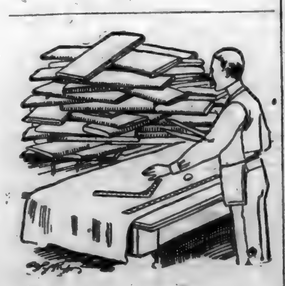
Trains leave the St. Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.

No. 11, Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail 12:05p.m
No. 3, Western Express 8:06 p. m

GOING EAST.

No. 2, Eastern Express 6:34a. m
No. 16, Toledo Acc & Mail 7:21 p. m



The Old Proverb

That "It takes nine tailors to make a man" may possibly mean that it takes nine trials to find the right tailor.

You can save eight trials by coming here first. At this time in the year we can do considerably better by you than later. Not better in style, fabric, fit or finish—that's impossible—but better in price. For Example:—

Suits from $18.00 up.

Pants from $4.00 up

ED MAY,

TAILOR,

Butler, Ind.

The St. Joe News.

One Year - - $1.00
Six Month - - 50c
Three Months - - 25c

FRED B. LEIGHTY, Editor.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

DeKalb Almost Dry.

Ashley will be the only wet spot in DeKalb county for two years after the saloon licenses in Garrett, Butler, Auburn and Waterloo expire.

The remonstrators of Smithfield township had a majority of but three and when the saloon keepers of Smithfield, all being in Ashley town, made their showing, there were enough of the signers to the remonstrance who were stricken off of the list to give the victory to the wets.

The next move was to appear before the commissioners against Elmer McClish, the applicant, on the ground that he was an unfit person to conduct a saloon. This was taken up with a number of witnesses for the temperance side of the question. They were: Sylvanus Clark, Ella Cooper, Charlotte Hinkley, Emma Teeter, Mrs. Hinkley and Rev. Mr. Cummins. Those for the applicant were Samuel Gage, Jesse Camp, George Grate and C. H. Miller.

The case was heard in commissioners court on last Thursday. D. D. Moody was alone for the applicant. He made a brief opening address, followed by C. E. Emanuel, J. W. Baxter and J. E. Pomeroy for the remonstrators, the argument continuing until late in the evening. Mr. Moody also had the closing speech and he did not finish until 10 o'clock Thursday night. The commissioners then adjourned until morning and at 9 o'clock rendered a decision in favor of McClish and his license was granted.—Waterloo Press.

It Reached the Spot.

Mr. E. Humphrey, who owns a large general store at Omega, O., and is president of the Adams County Telephone Co., as well as the Home Telephone Co. of Pike County, O., says of Dr. King's New Discovery: "It saved my life once. At least I think it did. It seemed to reach the spot—the very seat of my cough—when everything else failed." Dr. King's New Discovery not only reaches the cough spot; it heals the sore spots and the weak spots in throat, lung and chest. Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drugstore, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Effects of Good Reading.

Childhood is truly the time to acquire knowledge; a healthy child is never still or idle. Every moment he is awake he is learning something. And all his knowledge of the world is obtained through his five or six senses as some count them, but he learns most, as we guess we will do, from what he is told, from what he sees and from reading. Before he knows one letter from another he will look at pictures an hour at a time and if he can find any one to read or tell him about what he sees, his tongue is as busy as his eyes. His little brain must do some thinking to keep both members so busy. What he learns from a picture book cannot be calculated.

As soon as a child is old enough to read, if he is not provided with reading material there are only two ways for him to do, either to find books and papers for himself or spend his time in some other way. As what a child reads has such a power over his whole life it if very important that parents be careful about what their children read. If a taste or desire for reading or study is not formed early in life it is probable it never will be, or if a passion for worthless, sensational print is acquired it will be difficult to eradicate such a desire. Negligence or thoughtlessness of parents on this question I have known to be the cause of lifelong regret.

The plea that it takes money to buy books or "can't afford it" can be met we think. It may take self denial but better far self denial now than grief and remorse and wayward children in your old age. A little tobacco or a cigar less a day and you would soon save dollars, or if those luxuries are not indulged in, on looking around every one can find something he can do without or with less of. Better to give the children less meat than to starve their minds. Eggs, oatmeal or mush and milk will easily take the place of tough or poorly cooked beefsteak hastily eaten and will not cost half as much. Twenty to twenty-five cents a week laid by will soon amount to enough to pay for all the reading children need and a weekly paper or magazine for the parents. But some parents will say it makes a child lazy or unwilling to help them or to go to school, to let them read all the time. True you see the influence a book can have over children, but it is what is in the book not the amount of reading that has such power over them.

PATENTS

and TRADE-MARKS promptly obtained in all countries, or no fee. We obtain PATENTS THAT PAY, advertise them thoroughly, at our expense, and help you to success.

Send model, photo or sketch for FREE report on patentability. 20 years' practice. SURPASSING REFERENCES. For free Guide Book on Profitable Patents write to

502-506 Seventh Street, WASHINGTON, D. C.

D. SWIFT & CO.

Plenty of Trouble

is caused by stagnation of the liver and bowels. To get rid of it and headache and biliousness and the poison that brings jaundice, take Dr. King's New Life Pills, the reliable purifiers that do the work without grinding or griping. 25c at H. Milliman's drug store.

NEW KENTUCKY MEMBER.

Unique Character and Career of Senator Elect William O. Bradley.

Ex-Governor William O'Connell Bradley, who was recently chosen to the United States senate from Kentucky, was the first Republican ever elected chief executive of the state. His choice for this office occurred in 1895, and he filled it for the four years succeeding. There are a number of unusual things about his career. Born in Girard, Ky., in 1847, he had little opportunity as a boy for gaining knowledge, yet at eighteen he was admitted to the bar by special act of the legislature. When only twenty-three he was chosen prosecuting attorney of his county. He tried as a boy of fifteen to enter the Federal army while the civil war was in progress, but could not get in until he was eighteen and had served only a few months when the war came to a close. When he was twenty-five he made a canvass for election to congress as a Republican, his district being at that time hopelessly Democratic. He ran for congress time and again, and he was his party's candidate for senator four times before he was chosen to that office. In 1887 he was an unsuccessful candidate for governor, and in 1888 he received 106 votes for the Republican nomination for vice president. He was one of the famous 306 who stood out for a third term for General Grant at the Republican national convention of 1880. He is a typical old school Kentuckian, as his father was before him. The elder Bradley rose from the position of a poor farmer's boy to that of leadership at the bar. As a gawky lad he once visited the county seat.

SENATOR ELECT WILLIAM O. BRADLEY.

"What is that?" he asked of some man who chanced to be passing.

"That's the courthouse, you fool," was the response.

"And who is that talking so loud?"

"That's a lawyer making a speech."

"Can I go in?"

"Yes."

Bradley sneaked in and took a seat on the rear bench. The eloquence of the speaker so impressed him that he decided then and there to be a lawyer.

WANTED—A RIDER AGENT IN EACH TOWN and ride sample Latest Model "Ranger" bicycle furnished by us. Our agents everywhere are making money fast. Write for full particulars and special offer at once.

NO MONEY REQUIRED until you receive and approve of your bicycle. We ship to anyone, anywhere in the U. S. without a cent deposit in advance, prepay freight and allow TEN DAYS' FREE TRIAL during which time you may ride the bicycle, compare it with other bicycles, put it to any test you wish. If you are then not perfectly satisfied or do not wish to keep the bicycle ship it back to us at our expense and you will not be out one cent.

FACTORY PRICES We furnish the highest grade bicycles it is possible to make at one small profit above actual factory cost. You save $15 to $25 middlemen's profits by buying direct of us and have the manufacturer's guarantee behind your bicycle. DO NOT BUY a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone at any price until you receive our catalogues and learn our unheard of factory prices and remarkable special offers to rider agents.

YOU WILL BE ASTONISHED when you receive our beautiful catalogue and study our superb models at the wonderfully low prices we can make you this year. We sell the highest grade bicycles for less money than any other factory. We are satisfied with $1.00 profit above factory cost. BICYCLE DEALERS, you can sell our bicycles under your own name plate at double our prices. Orders filled the day received.

SECOND HAND BICYCLES. We do not regularly handle second hand bicycles, but usually have a number on hand taken in trade by our Chicago retail stores. These we clear out promptly at prices ranging from $3 to $8 or $10. Descriptive bargain lists mailed free.

COASTER-BRAKES, single wheels, imported roller chains and pedals, parts, repairs and equipment of all kinds at half the usual retail prices.

$8.50 HEDGETHORN PUNCTURE-PROOF SELF-HEALING TIRES $4.80 A SAMPLE PAIR TO INTRODUCE, ONLY

The regular retail price of these tires is $9.50 per pair, but to introduce we will sell you a sample pair for $4.80 (cash with order $4.55).

NO MORE TROUBLE FROM PUNCTURES

NAILS, Tacks or Glass will not let the air out. Sixty thousand pairs sold last year. Over two hundred thousand pairs now in use.

DESCRIPTION: Made in all sizes. It is lively and easy riding, very durable and lined inside with a special quality of rubber, which never becomes porous and which closes up small punctures without allowing the air to escape. We have hundreds of letters from satisfied customers stating that their tires have only been pumped up once or twice in a whole season. They weigh no more than an ordinary tire, the puncture resisting qualities being given by several layers of thin, specially prepared fabric on the tread. The regular price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but for advertising purposes we are making a special factory price to the rider of only $4.80 per pair. All orders shipped same day ether is received. We ship C. O. D. on approval. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them strictly as represented.

Notice the thick rubber tread "A" and puncture strips "B" and "D," also rim strip "H" to prevent rim cutting. This tire will outlast any other make—SOFT, ELASTIC and EASY RIDING.

We will allow a cash discount of 5 per cent (thereby making the price $4.56 per pair) if you send FULL CASH WITH ORDER and enclose this advertisement. We will also send one nickel plated brass hand pump. Tires to be returned at OUR expense if for any reason they are not satisfactory on examination. We are perfectly reliable and money sent to us is as safe as in a bank. If you order a pair of these tires, you will find that they will ride easier, run faster, wear better, last longer and look finer than any tire you have ever used or seen at any price. We know that you will be so well pleased that when you want a bicycle you will give us your order. We want you to send us a trial order at once, hence this remarkable tire offer.

IF YOU NEED TIRES Don't buy any kind at any price until you send for a pair of Hedgethorn Puncture-Proof tires on approval and trial at the special introductory price quoted above; or write for our big Tire and Sundry Catalogue which describes and quotes all makes and kinds of tires at about half the usual prices.

DO NOT WAIT but write us a postal today. DO NOT THINK OF BUYING a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone until you know the new and wonderful offers we are making. It only costs a postal to learn everything. Write it NOW.

J. L. MEAD CYCLE COMPANY, CHICAGO, ILL.

C. S. SMITH

Lawyer and Notary Public.

COLLECTIONS and LOANS.

Office in Auburn State Bank Building.

Auburn Indiana.

Relief From Rheumatic Pains.

"I suffered with rheumatism for over two years," says Mr. Rolland Curry, a patrolman, of Key West, Fla. "Sometimes it settled in my knees and lamed me so I could hardly walk, at other times it would be in my feet and hands so I was incapacitated for duty. One night when I was in severe pain and lame from it my wife went to the drug store here and came back with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I was rubbed with it and found the pain had nearly gone during the night. I kept on using it for a little more than two weeks and found that it drove the rheumatism away. I have not had any trouble from that disease for over three months." For sale by H. Milliman, St. Joe; F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

At White House

The Governors of forty-four states, each with his staff of three conferees, with other distinguished specialists invited by the President, are in convention this week at the White House. They have been invited to consider the question of the conservation of the natural resources of the country. The President has been urging action on Congress, but Congress, in the shape of Uncle Joe Cannon, has turned a deaf ear to his pleading. Uncle Joe, as is well known, is no mere youth. He was born long before the time of modern improvements and latter day wastefulness. John Sharp Williams, the Democratic leader of the House, said last night, that there were four branches of government, although it had been generally supposed there were only three, the executive, legislative and judicial, but there was a fourth — Uncle Joe Cannon. Uncle Joe does not believe there has been any wastefulness, or that there is any use in reforestization, or of economy in the use of coal, or iron ore, or in fact of anything. He believes that by the time the coal supply in exhausted, another source of heat will be discovered He and the President have been at loggerheads and so great is his power in Congress that he has been able to prevent legislation in spite of popular demand. From all that can be observed, a large majority of the governors are in sympathy with the idea of federal interference and action to prevent, as far as possible the wastefulness that has been going on, especially with reference to erosion of soil from millions of acres, carrying away the top surface of fertile fields and filling the beds of navigable streams and harbors. This is a work too great for states, and inasmuch as these rivers have tributaries frequently from many states, it is thought that it is a subject for federal action.

When the Hair Falls

Then it's time to act! No time to study, to read, to experiment! You want to save your hair, and save it quickly, too! So make up your mind this very minute that if your hair ever comes out you will use Ayer's Hair Vigor. It makes the scalp healthy. The hair stays in. It cannot do anything else. It's nature's way.

The best kind of a testimonial—"Sold for over sixty years."

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of

Ayer's SARSAPARILLA. PILLS. CHERRY PECTORAL.

Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also furnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable.

Beams & Baker.

MAY

L 903

The Home.

Flossie C. Copp.

Home! this word to most of us possesses deep significance. With what reverence do we look back to the home of our childhood now enbalmed in memory as our heart's dearest treasure.

There is music in the word "home". To the old it brings a strain from the harp of memory to the young it is a reminder of all that is near and dear to them.

That grand old Saxon word has for ages held a peerless place wherever the English language is spoken. And thus do we find it, under every zone embalmed in song; cherished in the memory and enshrined in the heart, therefore too much can scarcely be said on such a subject.

Long years may have flown since we saw that home and since the dearest of all earthly friends has slept the long and silent sleep of death but nevertheless it will always awaken the sweetest recollections of our lives, "Home Sweet Home".

In speaking of home we do not mean one surrounded with all the luxuries of life but one even though humble where love reigns surpreme. There many so called homes which are far from the ideal, then again there are some found that may be truly called homes they may be unpretentious, poor and lowly, but that love is there years ago the old home with father and mother and its stores of plenty, did not quite content us; we felt a spirit of unrest taking possession of us. We did appreciate the blessings bestowed upon us as we now do. Parents sometimes think their children do not love them, because they stay long from home and write but few and short letters, but such we do not believe to be the case. It is carelessness. Their thoughtless negligence will cost them many a tear. No person who is true to purer impulses will neglect this sacred duty, because the time will come when the consciousness of having done our duty to those who cherished us will be of more worth than fame or gold.

We find that every man and every woman whom the world has called great, all cherished with the utmost tenderness their memories of happy innocent childhood, and of home. There is no place like home. The ties of it should be, and usually are the strongest and most sacred of any on earth. True, in the busy street, young people go rushing on until the work of the day is over, but when night comes on, the heart is apt to wander back to the "The Old Folks at Home". Many a young man goes to the city, and too soon forgets his father and mother, we own that this is sometimes done but they do not forget him. The social circle, the ballroom and the theatre occupy his time and his evenings are spent away from his room. But "Don't think that the young and giddy friends,

Who make your pastime gay
Have half the anxious thought for you
That the old folks have to-day
The duty of writing do not put off
Let sleep or pleasure wait
Lest the letter for which they have looked and longed
Be a day or an hour too late".

Rascals and vagabonds for the most part come from unhappy homes while bright and prosperous young men are the result of a happy home. Blessed is the good old family worship, the song the little one sings at nightfall when sleep is closing the eyes, and loosening the hand from the toy on the pillow, and the mother's heart, whose every throb is a prayer to God for the salvation of her little one.

Our ideal home is not the home of our youth; it is one that is to meet the wants of life as far as our means will allow enabling us to enjoy the comfort and independence that can never be had by those whose thoughts are of to-day and who let the morrow care for itself. There when the cares of the day are over, beneath your own vine and fig tree, you can recount the successes of the past and plan for the future.

The living room is the heart of a home. It matters not the conditions that surround it, what outward and visible signs of wealth or poverty make up the whole, the room in which a family lives is the spirit of that family group. There is always one spirit in a real living room, the unifying spirit of love. There are homes of wealth and refinement; on every side the things that make for ease and comfort of the body then again you see plainer surroundings from which come the very backbone of our nation's life. We can see that the home holds a very important position with regard to the life of a nation.

A cheerful home and a smiling face does much to make good men and good women, more so than all the learning that can be used. So let our homes be the centres of all our joys on earth.

Never be ashamed of home and mother no matter how humble it may be, for when the world forsakes you the doors of home are thrown open to you and that mother ever ready to clasp you in her arms again as she did in your days of childhood.

Let us not forget that there is a dearer home prepared for the wood and the faithful and death will never knock at the door of that mansion. When once there let thrones decay, empires wither, and let there be no sorrow or crying but "Home Sweet Home".

The world grows old and soon the sun ceases to send out its warming rays, the stars cease to illuminate it and the long story of shame, glory and triumph will turn to ashes; but home influence will roll on and up into the great eternity blooming in all the joys, exulting in all, the songs of heaven, or frowning in all the darkness of the great prison-house. So let us make our home one of the ideal and one to be remembered as "Home Sweet Home".

Sleep

Sleep is nature's rebuilding period, when the energy used by the brain, muscles and organs is renewed. If you lose sleep, your system is robbed of the strength sleep should give. Continued loss of sleep multiplies this loss until you become a physical wreck. Dr. Miles' Nervine quiets the irritated nerves and brings refreshing, invigorating sleep. Nervine contains no opiates, and therefor leaves no bad after-effects.

"For over two years I suffered untold agonies; my friends thought I was going crazy. I could not sleep nor rest at all. I tried different doctors, but failed to find relief. My head would ache all the time; I was like one drunk; could not concentrate my mind, and was so restless and worried that sleep was out of the question. After taking one bottle of Dr. Miles' Nervine I felt wonderfully changed. I am now on my third bottle and am gaining all the time. I can lie down and sleep like a child, and am able to do my work."
MRS. MAY SCOTT, English, Ind.

Your druggist sells Dr. Miles' Nervine, and we authorize him to return price of first bottle (only) if it fails to benefit you.

Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind

Undertaking a Specialty.

Elsa Kinsey takes charge of all funerals. Calls answered day or night Prices reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

Phone No. Office 37-2r Residence 37-3

Seed Potatoes

Seed potatoes of the very best tested varieties, early and late, also eating potatoes. Prices right.
W. H. NORTHRUP & SON.

Local Items.

Stock was shipped from this place, last Saturday.

Potatoes for sale. HENRY MILLIMAN. Phone 76-12.

Get your potato crates of the Noble Hoop Co., St. Joe. Ind.

FOR SALE:—A small family refrigerator. F. M. MONROE.

The Big Four has some swell derbies in black at $2.00, $2.50 and $3.00. Tans at $2.50 and $3.00.

Money to loan on farms at 5 per cent interest. Payable on or before 10 years. Partial payments allowed. Call on or write us. Brown & Rhoads, Lawyers, City National Bank Building, Auburn, Ind.

Jake Muller on a summer's day, raked the meadow sweet with hay, The mule with which he raked the hay, was muckled dun with streaks of gray. Jake's shirt was hickory and pants of brown with a patch on the place where he sits down. Jake cussed in a way that was hard to see for the mule went haw when he said gee. A bumble bee's nest in a stubble lay, where Jake and the mule raked the clover hay. A tooth ran through the bumble home, the bees came out and began to roam in search of the man that summer's day, who raked the meadow of clover hay. The bees swarmed inside of Muller's shirt and quickened the mule to a lively spurt. It was tough on the mule and worse on Jake and worse still on the sulky rake: for the mule turned loose in a promiscous way and scattered the rake all over the hay.

Good Words For Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

People everywhere take pleasure in testifying to the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. Edward Phillips of Barclay, Md., writes: "I wish to say that I can recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My little girl Catherine, who is two years old, has been taking this remedy whenever she has had a cold since she was two months old. About a month ago I contracted a dreadful cold myself, but I took Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was soon as well as ever." This remedy is for sale by H. Milliman, St. Joe, F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

Just Received.

Car Load Wabash Portland Cement.
Consignment of Gasoline Vapor Stoves.

I Keep on Hands

Hydrated Ground Lime
Stoves and Ranges Cooking Utensils
Steel Goods of all kinds.

All Kinds of Roofing:

Best quality Red Cedar Shingles
Gravel Roofing Asbestos, Rubber, Felt and Galvanized Roofing.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT
Linseed, Automobile and Lubricating Oils, Gasoline, Etc.

GLASS, SASH AND DOORS.

Quality Right. Prices Right.

D. J. Baker.

Miss Grace Leighty and Ethel Berry accompanied S. S. Widney to Hicksville, last Wednesday.

A new cement walk was placed in front of the Claude Mason property on 5th street, last week.

Uncle Joseph Koch has been on the sick list several days, caused from overwork in the cemetery, last Tuesday. He is getting at the age where he will have to quit working.

The firm of Hartman & Borst have just completed the longest abstract of title ever made in DeKalb county. It was for the T. & C. Interurban Ry. Co., and comprised over 380 pages. The work is commendable for the abstract firm.

Chas. Benjamin is now operator at this place for the Wabash, John Milliman being relieved last Wednesday. Chas. has been night man at Spencerville since the eight hour law has gone into effect. John and his wife left Saturday morning for Milford Junction, to visit with relatives.

Mrs. Sarah Maxwell is making extensive repairs on her home. The house has been moved to the west side of the lot and a block wall has been placed under it. She has also made a small cellar and built a cistern. The east part of the lot has been filled and will be sown to grass. She will probably put in a new cement walk before long. Osa Maxwell of Butler has been putting in the necessary drains for proper drainage of the lot.

Sale Bills—we print them.

Dr. Bowmans' were at Hamilton, last week, getting their cottage in shape for the summer.

The report is general here that Ruby Meek of Chicago, was married last week, to a Mr. Wall of that city.

The annual commencement of the Concord township schools will be held in the Lutheran church at Spencerville, Wednesday evening, June 3, at 7:00 o'clock. There are thirteen graduates in all. Alvy Place, Gladys Paff, Ralph Sechler, Charlott Miller, Wm. Goings, Iva Zehner, Laura M. Coburn, Ada Fales, Ernest Steward, Ralph G. Hull, Jay Chapman, Zenith Wearley and Frederick Steward.

John R. Moore, of Wilmington township is mentioned as a candidate for commissioner in the Southeast district, subject to the decision of the democratic primary election. Mr. Moore is a DeKalb county product, his entire life having been interwoven with the history of the county, a man of unquestionable integrity and well informed on the needs of the county, and being a tax payer and favorable to all desirable progressive movements would carefully guard the public expenditures and doubtless save money wherever it would be possible to do so. While not of the same school of politics as the writer, we believe that he would be a strong man for his party to nominate because of a clear record and steadfast honorable character.—Press.

ANNOUNCEMENT TO CHICKEN OWNERS

We have just received a shipment of

Corno Poultry Feed

Made from a combination of only pure grain, scientifically mixed—contains no grit which makes weight—no elevator or wood seeds, which chickens will not eat—no cereal by-products or fine stuff—positively no waste. Every pound of CORNO Poultry Feed is an honest one and of full feeding value.

CORNO HEN FEED, makes hens lay. CORNO CHICK FEED, made from grain and millet seed, saves the life of little chicks.

Your chickens will be a profit to you when you feed them right.

Give CORNO Poultry Feed a trial—that's all we ask.

SOLD BY

Chas. F. Kagey.

The News, - - $1 per year.

MAY

L 903

0189

More proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saves woman from surgical operations.

Mrs. S. A. Williams, of Gardiner, Maine, writes:

"I was a great sufferer from female troubles, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored me to health in three months, after my physician declared that an operation was absolutely necessary."

Mrs. Alvina Sperling, of 154 Cleybourne Ave., Chicago, Ill., writes:

"I suffered from female troubles, a tumor and much inflammation. Two of the best doctors in Chicago decided that an operation was necessary to save my life. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound entirely cured me without an operation."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

The Handy Doctor in Your Vest Pocket

IT'S a thin, round-cornered little Enamel Box—

When carried in your vest pocket it means Health-Insurance.

It contains Six Candy Tablets of pleasant taste, almost as pleasant as Chocolate.

Each tablet is a working dose of Cascarets, which acts like Exercise on the Bowels and Liver.

It will not purge, sicken, nor upset the stomach.

Because it is not a "Bile-driver," like Salts, Sodium, Calomel, Jalap, Senna, nor Aperient Waters.

Neither is it like Castor Oil, Glycerine, or other Oily Laxatives that simply lubricate the intestines for transit of the food stopped up in them at that particular time.

* * *

The chief cause of Constipation and Indigestion is a weakness of the Muscles that contract the Intestines and Bowels.

Cascarets are practically to the Bowel Muscles what a Massage and Cold Bath are to the Athletic Muscles.

They stimulate the Bowel Muscles to contract, expand, and squeeze the Digestive Juices out of food eaten.

They don't help the Bowels and Liver in such a way as to make them lean upon similar assistance for the future.

This is why, with Cascarets, the dose may be lessened each succeeding time instead of increased, as it must be with all other Cathartics and Laxatives.

* * *

Cascarets act like exercise.

If carried in your vest pocket, (or carried in My Lady's Purse,) and eaten just when you suspect you need one, you will never know a sick day from the ordinary ills of life.

Because these ills begin in the Bowels, and pave the way for all other diseases.

"Vest Pocket" box 10 cents. 727

Be sure you get the genuine, made only by the Sterling Remedy Company, and never sold in bulk. Every tablet stamped "CCC."

Paxtine

TOILET ANTISEPTIC

Keeps the breath, teeth, mouth and body antiseptically clean and free from unhealthy germ-life and disagreeable odors, which water, soap and tooth preparations alone cannot do. A germicidal, disinfecting and deodorizing toilet requisite of exceptional excellence and economy. Invaluable for inflamed eyes, throat and nasal and uterine catarrh. At drug and toilet stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.

Large Trial Sample

WITH "HEALTH AND BEAUTY" BOOK SENT FREE

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., Boston, Mass.

If afflicted with sore Eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

BABY ITCHED TERRIBLY.

Face and Neck Covered with Inflamed Skin—Doctors No Avail—Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

"My baby's face and neck were covered with itching skin similar to eczema, and she suffered terribly for over a year. I took her to a number of doctors, and also to different colleges, to no avail. Then Cuticura Remedies were recommended to me by Miss G—. I did not use it at first, as I had tried so many other remedies without any favorable results. At last I tried Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Resolvent Pills, and to my surprise noticed an improvement. After using three boxes of the Cuticura Ointment, together with the Cuticura Soap and Pills, I am pleased to say she is altogether a different child and the picture of health. Mrs. A. C. Brestlin, 171 N. Lincoln St., Chicago, Ill., Oct. 20 and 30, 1906."

Ominous.

"Pardon me, old man," began the veteran boarder, "but we don't want to lose you, and I just want to warn you that you'd better begin to pay something on your board."

"Why?" asked the new boarder.

"Well, I noticed that Mrs. Starvem was dangerously polite to you this morning."—Philadelphia Press.

Who Likes Lemon Pie?

You should try at once "OUR-PIE" Preparation for delicious Lemon pies. A lady says: "I will never again try to make Lemon pie in the old way while I can get 'OUR-PIE' Preparation." Try it and you will say the same. At grocers, 10 cents. Put up by D-Zerta Food Co., Rochester, N. Y.

Setting It Right.

"In your paper this morning, sir, you called me a 'bum actor.' I want an explanation."

"I shall be happy to explain, young man. That word 'actor' was inserted by the proofreader, who thought I had omitted it accidentally. I shall take care that it doesn't happen again."—Chicago Tribune.

The Professor.

"I suppose," reflected the professor, "a subway is merely an elevated railroad reduced to its lowest terms."

The hands of the housewife will be kept soft and white and free from all chap, redness or roughness if borax is used.

In a Nitroglycerin "Hill."

In the "danger area" the severest discipline is maintained. All entrances are carefully guarded by searchers, who rigorously examine every individual that desires to enter, relieving him of any metallic objects that may be carried upon his person together with matches and other suspicious objects which upon coming into contact with the dangerous chemicals used in this zone might provoke serious trouble. No matter how often an employe engaged within the hill may pass in and out, every time he enters he must submit to this preliminary and essential operation. There are also some 500 girls employed, and these are under the charge of matrons. Hairpins, ordinary pins, shoe buttons, metal pegs within the soles of the shoes, knitting and other needles are all religiously barred. Their hair is tied with braid or ribbon, and, as with the male employes, every time they enter the "danger area" they are similarly searched by the matrons.—Scientific American.

Living Up to It.

Man with the Bulbous Nose—I believe in a judicious mixture of work and play.

Man with the Bulging Brow—I know you do. You work your friends and play the races.

In this country the death rate among the miners is 3.4 per thousand employed. In Belgium in 1906 the number was 0.94, in Great Britain it was 1.29, in France it was 0.84 in 1905, and in Prussia it was 1.8 in 1904.

DR. TALKS OF FOOD

Pres. of Board of Health.

"What shall I eat?" is the daily inquiry the physician is met with. I do not hesitate to say that in my judgment a large percentage of disease is caused by poorly selected and improperly prepared food. My personal experience with the fully-cooked food, known as Grape-Nuts, enables me to speak freely of its merits.

"From overwork, I suffered several years with malnutrition, palpitation of the heart, and loss of sleep. Last summer I was led to experiment personally with the new food, which I used in conjunction with good rich cow's milk. In a short time after I commenced its use, the disagreeable symptoms disappeared, my heart's action became steady and normal, the functions of the stomach were properly carried out and I again slept as soundly and as well as in my youth.

"I look upon Grape-Nuts as a perfect food, and no one can gainsay but that it has a most prominent place in a rational, scientific system of feeding. Any one who uses this food will soon be convinced of the soundness of the principle upon which it is manufactured and may thereby know the facts as to its true worth." Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

The Popular Pulpit

DRIVING AWAY GLOOM.

By Rev. Guy A. Jamieson.

Why art thou cast down, oh my soul; and why art thou disquiet within me?—Psalm xiii., 16.

Perhaps David's despondency was engendered by the ingratitude and rebellion of his son, dissatisfaction with his own life, remorse for his sins. He had cause a-plenty for being cast down. And so with most of us, if we be honest with ourselves the cause of our depression of spirit will be found in our own acts.

We have refused to live in harmony with the laws of our physical, mental and moral well being. An exhausted body, an overworked brain, a guilty conscience are the answers to the hours of gloom that so unaccountably steal upon us. And yet the seasons of dejection that occasionally dominate the bravest spirit are not always a sign that we have sinned or displeased God. They may spring out of the inevitable circumstances of life, trying relationships, the narrow, monotonous routine of work, for which we are not responsible and from which we seek to escape in vain. But whatever the cause we cannot entertain or indulge gloomy thoughts.

Nothing is so bad for man—body, mind, soul—as despondency. It clouds the intellect, dampens the ardor of life, saps the will power. It will put colored glasses on his eyes; everything will be seen distorted. Molehills will be magnified into mountains. Man can yield himself to moods of depression till the vitality, the joy and beauty of life are gone and he unfitted for its duties. He can live in shadows and darkness until he becomes unable to see the rainbow in the clouds and forgets that the sun still shines above them.

"Why art thou cast down?" We must assert our intelligence and will power; seek to forget ourselves; think of the condition of others. Go on the street and see the aged washerwoman bending over her load, the cripple hobbling toward the passer-by to ask an alm, the thin, fear-haunted faces of half-starved children; think of the hundreds of incurable shut-ins, the hospitals overflowing with the sick and maimed and benighted, the thousands who tramp the streets looking for work; read the newspapers of the disasters by fire and flood and accident that blast homes, break hearts and cast thousands upon the mercy of the world, and perhaps in contrast with the condition of your neighbor you will feel ashamed of your own complainings.

But we must not only look upon the woes of others; we must seek actively to lessen them, so far as lieth in us, if we would escape our own. If we can do nothing else we can cultivate the habit of hopefulness. We can follow the good example of the man who, when assaulted by the blue devil, sought occasion to speak cheerfully to some one who looked as gloomy as he felt. A pleasant face, a sympathetic word, a hopeful prophecy may do more good than a hundred sermons about heaven. No higher compliment can be paid one than to speak of him as good-humored and good-natured, for these qualities usually spring from a healthy body, a healthy mind and a healthy soul.

"Laugh, and the world laughs with you"; weep, and you not only do not weep alone, but you cause others to weep; so woe begets woe just as joyousness begets joyousness. It is more difficult to maintain a bright spirit than to say bright things, and much more commendable.

Then drive away gloom with gladness. Many a man has laughed himself into health, into friends, into success and into heaven.

Finally, "Hope in God." But it won't do any good to pray and wail your complaints to the Eternal until you have done all in your power to overcome the cause of your despondency. If the cause is overfeeding, lack of pure air and exercise, exhausted body or mind, remorse of soul, reformation of habits must come before prayer. If we live soberly, keep a good conscience toward God and man, the spirit of gloom will take its flight, life will seem worth while and we will have entered the kingdom of heaven, the kingdom of goodness.

THE FRUITS OF RELIGION.

By Henry F. Cope.

"By their fruits ye shall know them."—Matt. vii., 16.

There is honest inquiry rather than querulous criticism in the question often asked, Why does not religion produce a higher and stronger type of moral character? Enthusiasm for the teachings of Christ often is cooled by contact with some flabby willed, narrow minded professed follower of those teachings.

It is a common saying with business men that it is hard to find a man of absolute integrity, one who even measures up to the standards of commercial honor among those who are religious, either by vocation or avocation. At any rate, it is true that a certificate of religious affiliations by no means is equivalent to a guarantee of high moral worth.

Yet it is easy to arrive at wrong conclusions when judging the effect of religion on personal character as tested by daily business and living. One is in danger of judging from exceptions. We may remember as a religious person the man who makes the loudest protestations of his piety and fail to recognize the religious sources of strength in the quieter one of whose sterling qualities we need no persuasion.

If we stop to think of the strong men and women we know, of those whose integrity is undoubted, whose character wealth constitutes the real reserve and bulwark of our business stability, we shall find that they are controlled by religious ideals and principles, that the strength and beauty which we admire in them in itself is religion.

They may have or may not have ecclesiastical affiliations; these are but incidental. They do have religion. Somehow we feel that their actions rise not from superficial wells of policy or custom but from deep springs that go back into the roots and rock of things. They look out on life with eyes that see beyond questions of immediate and passing advantage, they see visions and ideals; they are drawn on by lofty aspirations.

The recognition which we accord to real worth, to high, and noble, and strong manhood and womanhood, with the scorn we have for the canting weakling, is but part of our discrimination between a living, deep religion expressed in conduct and a mask or pretense adopted for profit or convenience.

Still there are many good people, sincere in their religious professions, who practically are no good at all when they come to some strain on conscience or some real test in life. Is it not because in their minds religion never has been related to conduct? They are grounded on the eschatology of Christianity but not on its ethics.

It is possible to go through a full course of religious instruction in the regularly appointed agencies of many churches and to come out with clear cut conceptions of heaven and angels, but with the most misty and even misleading conceptions of right relations among men, of honesty, and justice, and truth.

The schools teach us about the stars and the earth, about men dead and beasts living; the church teaches us of saints and seraphs, and about an ancient literature; but who shall teach us and our children the art of living, the laws of human duties? Of what value is all our knowledge unless we get the wisdom of right living?

No man is saved until he is made strong, sane, useful, and reliable. The most irreligious thing in this world is a religion that makes people think that an imputed or technical salvation absolves them from the necessity of practical salvation, the working out of the best and noblest in their lives. Religion without morality is a mockery.

Real religion is the secret and source of the highest, strongest, cleanest character. It furnishes the life with motives mightier than any considerations of advantage or profit; it ties the soul up to eternal and spiritual verities; it refreshes the heart as with living waters when life seems all desert; it gets the heart in step with the Infinite One who marches on through the ages.

HYMNS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

Bethlehem's Star.

When, marshaled on the nightly plain,
The glittering host bestud the sky,
One star alone, of all the train,
Can fix the sinner's wandering eye.

Hark! hark! to God the chorus breaks,
From every host, from every gem;
But one alone the Savior speaks—
It is the Star of Bethlehem.

Once on the raging seas I rode,
The storm was loud, the night was dark—
The ocean yawned—and rudely blowed
The wind, that tossed my foundering bark.

Deep horror then my vitals froze,
Death struck, I ceased the tide to stem;
When suddenly a star arose—
It was the Star of Bethlehem.

It was my guide, my life, my all;
It bade my dark forebodings cease;
And, through the storm and danger's thrall,
It led me to the port of peace.

Now safely moored—my perils o'er,
I'll sing, first in night's diadem,
Forever and forevermore,
The Star—the Star of Bethlehem!

One of the Essentials

of the happy homes of to-day is a vast fund of information as to the best methods of promoting health and happiness and right living and knowledge of the world's best products.

Products of actual excellence and reasonable claims truthfully presented and which have attained to world-wide acceptance through the approval of the Well-Informed of the World; not of individuals only, but of the many who have the happy faculty of selecting and obtaining the best the world affords.

One of the products of that class, of known component parts, an Ethical remedy, approved by physicians and commended by the Well-Informed of the World as a valuable and wholesome family laxative is the well-known Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

Lasting.

"Your suggestion," said a depositor to the bank receiver, "offers very cold comfort. It is a bachelor's comfort—that is to say, no comfort at all.

"'What,' said a bachelor to a benedict, 'only married a year and already so blue?'

"'Ah, but,' groaned the benedict, 'I never imagined that a wife would prove so expensive.'

"The bachelor patted the blue married man on the back in a consolatory way.

"'Yes,' he said, 'a wife is an expensive article, that is true. But then you must remember that she lasts a very long time.'"

If Your Eyes Bother You get a box of PETTIT'S EYE SALVE, old reliable, most successful eye remedy made. All druggists or Howard Bros., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Seasoned Old Verger.

The curate was looking over his church when he met the verger. That morning they had sung the Benedicite.

The verger said: "This morning I followed the Benedicite closer than usual, and they mentioned all things but the verger."

"Surely," said the curate, smilingly, "they mention 'All green things upon the earth.'"—Illustrated Bits.

All Up-to-Date Housekeepers

Use Red Cross Ball Blue. It makes the clothes clean and sweet as when new. All Grocers.

Naming His Babies.

A farmer near Wigtown has eight daughters, who are named to represent his feelings at the time of their birth. The eldest is called "Joy," and the second bears the name of "Summer," as she was born in July. The third arrived at a time of financial difficulties, and would have been called "Sorrow," but her mother refused to have the name. So Sarah was substituted. Things were brighter when number four came, and "Hope" was her portion, while five and six—twins—were respectively "Spring" and "April," this last being their birth month. The seventh was styled "Harvest," and the youngest "Comfort."

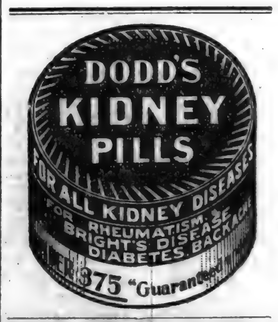

Illustration Showing Mixed Farming Scene in

WESTERN CANADA

Some of the choicest lands for grain growing, stock raising and mixed farming in the new districts of Saskatchewan and Alberta have recently been Opened for Settlement under the

Revised Homestead Regulations

Entry may now be made by proxy (on certain conditions), by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader. Thousands of homesteads of 160 acres each are thus now easily obtainable in these great grain-growing, stock-raising and mixed farming sections.

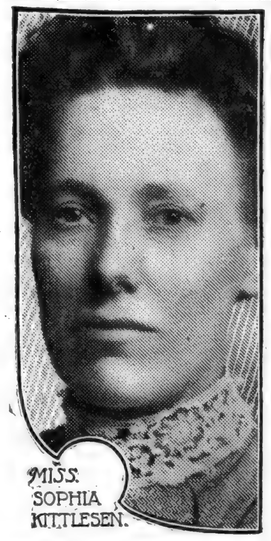
There you will find healthful climate, good neighbors, churches for family worship, schools for your children, good laws, splendid crops, and railroads convenient to market.

Entry fee in each case is $10.00. For pamphlet, "Last Best West," particulars as to rates, routes, best time to go and where to locate, apply to W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or W. H. Rogers, 3d Floor Traction Terminal Building, Indianapolis, Ind., and H. M. Williams, Room 30, Law Building, Toledo, Ohio, Authorized Government Agents.

Please say where you saw this advertisement.

MAY

L 903



HEALTH VERY POOR— RESTORED BY PE-RU-NA.

Catarrh Twenty-five Years— Had a Bad Cough.

Miss Sophia Kittlesen, Evanston, Illinois, U. S. A., writes:

"I have been troubled with catarrh for nearly twenty-five years and have tried many cures for it, but obtained very little help.

"Then my brother advised me to try Peruna, and I did.

"My health was very poor at the time I began taking Peruna. My throat was very sore and I had a bad cough.

"Peruna has cured me. The chronic catarrh is gone and my health is very much improved.

"I recommend Peruna to all my friends who are troubled as I was."

PERUNA TABLETS:—Some people prefer tablets, rather than medicine in a fluid form. Such people can obtain Peruna tablets, which represent the medicinal ingredients of Peruna. Each tablet equals one average dose of Peruna.

Man-a-lin the Ideal Laxative.

Manufactured by Peruna Drug Manufacturing Company, Columbus, Ohio.

GROOMING COUNTS

But it cannot make a Fair Skin or a Glossy Coat.

Women with good complexions cannot be homely. Creams, lotions, washes and powders cannot make a fair skin. Every horseman knows that the satin coat of his thoroughbred comes from the animal's "all-right" condition.

Let the horse get "off his feed" and his coat turns dull. Currying, brushing and rubbing will give him a clean coat, but cannot produce the coveted smoothness and gloss of the horse's skin, which is his complexion. The ladies will see the point.

Lane's Family Medicine

Is the best preparation for ladies who desire a gentle laxative medicine that will give the body perfect cleanliness internally and the wholesomeness that produces such skins as painters love to copy.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

THE MAN WHO SWEARS BY THE FISH BRAND SLICKER

is the man who has tried to get the same service out of some other make

TOWER'S FISH BRAND

Clean-Light-Durable Guaranteed Waterproof and Sold Everywhere at $3.00

A TOWER'S CATALOG SENT FREE

LADIES, with little practice, you can make $2 per day making insoles for us at home. Easy, honest work. Send stamp for information. B. Novelty Co., Muncie, Ind.

WIDOWS' PENSIONS under NEW LAW obtained by JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.

Pattern Department

UP-TO-DATE DESIGNS FOR THE HOME DRESSMAKER

Princesse Gown.

The princesse gown is constantly growing in favor and is always a graceful and attractive one. Here is a model that can be utilized for the simple home gown, for the one of afternoon wear and for the elaborate one of evening, becoming adapted to one or the other as one material or another is used and as it is treated after one manner or another. In the illustration it is made with a V-shaped neck and elbow sleeves and the material is one of the pretty soft silks with trimming of banding;

PATTERN NO. 5938.

but it can be made with either round or square low neck and made of lighter color and material so becoming adapted to evening wear; or it can be made high at the throat and with long plain sleeves and closed at the front, when it becomes a simple morning garment.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:

Order Coupon.

No. 5938.

SIZE .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

Tucked Blouse.

The dainty lingerie waist is one of the garments that is worn at all seasons of the year. This one is quite novel, and as illustrated is made of fine Persian lawn with the yoke of the material embroidered by hand and with trimming of Valenciennes lace.

PATTERN NO. 5898.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly.

Order Coupon.

No. 5898.

SIZE .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and A FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Exact Copy of Wrapper.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. J. W. Dinsdale, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I use your Castoria and advise its use in all families where there are children."

Dr. Alexander E. Mintie, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "I have frequently prescribed your Castoria and have found it a reliable and pleasant remedy for children."

Dr. J. S. Alexander, of Omaha, Neb., says: "A medicine so valuable and beneficial for children as your Castoria is, deserves the highest praise. I find it in use everywhere."

Dr. J. A. McClellan, of Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I have frequently prescribed your Castoria for children and always got good results. In fact I use Castoria for my own children."

Dr. J. W. Allen, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I heartily endorse your Castoria. I have frequently prescribed it in my medical practice, and have always found it to do all that is claimed for it."

Dr. C. H. Glidden, of St. Paul, Minn., says: "My experience as a practitioner with your Castoria has been highly satisfactory, and I consider it an excellent remedy for the young."

Dr. H. D. Benner, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have used your Castoria as a purgative in the cases of children for years past with the most happy effect, and fully endorse it as a safe remedy."

Dr. J. A. Boarman, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria is a splendid remedy for children, known the world over. I use it in my practice and have no hesitancy in recommending it for the complaints of infants and children."

Dr. J. J. Mackey, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I consider your Castoria an excellent preparation for children, being composed of reliable medicines and pleasant to the taste. A good remedy for all disturbances of the digestive organs."

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

In Use For Over 30 Years.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

Vindicated.

"Our readers will remember," wrote the editor of the Spiketown Blizzard, "that when President Roosevelt sent that message to Congress asking for four battleships, we printed a double leaded editorial in big type, protesting in the name of the people against such a reckless expenditure of their money. We said, respectfully but firmly, that it was time to call a halt. We insisted that Congress should refuse to let him have four battleships and give him two instead. Some of our readers didn't like it, but we stood firm. Two big battleships, we said, was enough. Let him have two. And Congress done it. We have nothing more to say. The Blizzard is vindicated."

Red Cross Ball Blue

Should be in every home. Ask your grocer for it. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

Artist and Artisan.

Mrs. Petro—My husband is da granda moosician. He carry de people away with his moosic.

Mrs. Casey—Shure, awn thot is not so much. Me husband carries th' people's music away.

Mrs. Petro (astonished)—Carries da people's moosic away?

Mrs. Casey—Yis. He's a piano mover.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

The Lovers.

"It seems to me, Mabel," said the girl's mother, "that you've become very fond of Mr. Prettyman in a very short time."

"Why, mother," exclaimed the blushing girl, "how can you say that?"

"I overheard you telling him last night that he was 'too hateful for anything.'"—Philadelphia Press.

EPILEPSY ITS

If you suffer from Fits, Falling Sickness or Spasms, or have Children that do so, try

New Discovery and Treatment

TRIAL will give them immediate relief, and all you are asked to do is to send for a Free Bottle of Dr. May's

EPILEPTICIDE CURE

FREE Complies with Food and Drugs Act of Congress June 30th 1906. Complete Directions, also testimonials of CURES, etc., FREE by mail. Express Prepaid. Give AGE and full address

H. E. MAY, M. D., 549 Pearl Street, New York.

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES $3.00 $3.50

SHOES AT ALL PRICES, FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE FAMILY, MEN, BOYS, WOMEN, MISSES AND CHILDREN.

W. L. Douglas makes and sells more men's $2.50, $3.00 and $3.50 shoes than any other manufacturer in the world, because they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater value than any other shoes in the world to-day.

Fast Color Eyelets Used Exclusively.

W. L. Douglas $4 and $5 Gilt Edge Shoes Cannot Be Equalled At Any Price

CAUTION. W. L. Douglas name and price is stamped on bottom. Take No Substitute. Sold by the best shoe dealers everywhere. Shoes mailed from factory to any part of the world. Illustrated Catalog free to any address.

W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

Hard to Do Without Pockets.

"The most annoying thing in navy life for a recruit is the absence of side pockets in the uniform trousers," J. R. Rose, a yeoman at the navy recruiting station, said this morning.

"The average man doesn't realize how strong is the custom of thrusting his hands in his trousers pockets until he dons a pair without pockets. I've worn the navy uniform four years now, and I frequently find myself trying to put my hands in my pockets."—Kansas City Times.

Science and Sound Fact.

"The workings of the human mind when asleep are full of wonder," remarked a scientist who was paying a visit to an acquaintance. "Have you ever started up from a sound dreamless sleep, with every sense on the alert and with your whole being thrilling with a vivid yet indefinable feeling that something was wrong and instant action required?"

"Often," replied his hostess, "and in nearly every case I have found that I was awakened by the fumbling of my husband's key at the front door!"

Comparing Notes.

Mrs. Skimpen—My boarders always pay promptly.

Mrs. Fillem—Mine do for a few weeks after they come, but it doesn't last long.

Mrs. Skimpem—Why not?

Mrs. Fillem—They get so fat they can't get their hands in their pockets

FITS St. Vitus' Dance and all Nervous Diseases Permanently Cured by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Send for Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. DR. R. H. KLINE, Ld., 931 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

The estimated cost of a bridge over the Straits of Dover is $34,000,000.

Get your Letter Paper and Envelopes printed at this office. We can give you the

EAGLE LINEN PAPER and ENVELOPES

It is fine and will suit you. Try it.

Save The Package Tops

and Soap Wrappers from

"20-MULE-TEAM" BORAX

Products and Exchange them Free

For Valuable Premiums

40 page illustrated Free catalogue of 1,000 articles. Address PACIFIC COAST BORAX CO., CHICAGO, ILL.

Mother Gray, Nurse in Children's Home, New York City.

MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS FOR CHILDREN,

A Certain Cure for Feverishness, Constipation, Headache, Stomach Troubles, Teething Disorders, and Destroy Worms. They Break up Colds in 24 hours. At all Druggists. Sent Sample mailed FREE. Address, A. S. OLMSTED, Le Roy, N. Y.

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Adv. in this paper.

MAY

L 903

Political Announcements.

FOR SHERIFF.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Please announce my name as a candidate for the nomination of sheriff of the county subject to the decision of the democratic primary.

RALPH W. THOMAS.

FOR SHERIFF.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Please announce my name as a candidate for sheriff subject to the decision of the Democratic primary.

JAMES S. LOWE.

RECORDER.

Please announce my name as a candidate for the democratic nomination for county recorder, subject to the wishes of the voters at their primary.

J. M. NORFORD.

FOR CLERK.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Please announce my name as a candidate for the democratic nomination for clerk of the DeKalb Circuit court subject to the wishes of the voters at their primary.

EDGAR W. ATKINSON.

FOR CLERK

EDITOR MEWS:—

Please announce that I am a candidate for the democratic nomination for county clerk, subject to the wishes of the voters at their primary.

JOHN HEBEL.

CLERK,

EDITOR NEWS:

Please announce my name as a candidate for the democratic nomination of clerk of the DeKalb circuit court, subject to the wishes of the voters at their primaries, June 4, 1908.

WM. H. LEAS.

RECORDER.

EDITOR NEWS:—

You may announce my name as a candidate from Keyser township, for the democratic nomination for Recorder, subject to the decision of the coming primary election.

D. E. HERSHBERGER.

CLERK

EDITOE NEWS:—

You may announce my name as a candidate for clerk of the county subject to the Democratic primary.

WARREN A. AUSTIN,

SURVEYOR.

Please announce my name as a candidate for the nomination for the office of county surveyor from Keyser township subject to the decision of the voters expressed at the democratic primaries to be held on June 4th.

CHARLES L. WAGONER.

RECORDER.

Please announce my name as a candidate for the democratic nomination for county recorder, subject to the wishes of the democratic voters as expressed at their primaries to be held on June 4, (Jackson township.)

L. D. NELSON.

RECORDER.

Please announce my name as a candidate for nomination for the office of county recorder from Wilmington township, subject to the decision of the democratic primaries to be held June 4th.

S. G. HAVERSTOCK.

COMMISSIONER

EDITOR NEWS:—

Announce my name as a democratic nominee for comissioner of the south-east district subject to the primary elections June 4.

AMOS SNYDER.

COMMISSIONER.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Announce my name as a candidate for commissioner of the south-east district, subject to the decision of the voters at their primaries, June 4.

JOHN R. MOORE.

COMMISSIONER.

EDITOR NEWS:—

You may announce my name as a candidate for commissioner of the south-east district, subject to the democratic primaries, June 4.

WILLIS A. DANNELLS.

TREASURER.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Please announce my name as a candidate for renomination for the office of county treasurer, subject to the wishes of the voters at the democratic primary, June 4th, Smithfield township.

HIRAM H. SLAYBAUGH.

COUNTY REPRESENTATIVE.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Announce my name as a democratic candidate for the nomination of county representative, subject to the decision of the democratic primary, June 4.

E. M. MCKENNAN, utty.

FOR COMMISSIONER.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Announce my name as a candidate for the nomination of commissioner of the south-east district, subject to the decision of the democrats at their primaries June 4.

HIRAM D. POPPE.

SPENCERVILLE.

Potato crates at the Noble Hoop Co. St. Joe, Ind.

Miss Golden Murray is visiting relatives in Hicksville, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wade have moved into the Sam Shutt house.

S. H. Maurer and Will Sommers made a trip to Ft. Wayne, this week.

Mr. Will Allen attended a Democratic convention at Auburn, Friday.

Mrs. Jane Butler spent a few days of this week with friends in Fort Wayne.

Miss Frances Butler spent a few days of this week with her aunt, Mrs. John Henderson.

An industrious crowd assembled at the cemetery, Thursday, and much was accomplished,

Sheriff Reed of Auburn made a call upon this place and invited some of the young men home with him.

Daton Webb has been suffering from a pain in his left eye, which has caused him to loose sleep and work.

Charley Markel had the misfortune to fall down the steps of the school house, Saturday night, breaking his ankle.

Trustee Provines was taken seriously ill in Dr. Shook's office, Friday, and had to be carried to his home. He is much better now.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Rectenwal have returned from their short wedding tour. They will make their home with the bride's parents this summer.

Sherman Tyndall, George Henderson and Jack Beam attended the horse sale at Garrett, Thursday, Mr. Raymond Rhoads and G. M Shutt substituted in the mail routes.

Mrs. Magdalena Henderson and Mrs. Mary Ann Galloway from Robinson Chapal visited their sister, Mrs. Lydia Jane Stewart, Wednesday. Mrs, Henderson returned to her home but Mrs. Galloway is prolonging her visit.

The death of Mrs. Comesky occured Friday at 3:00 o'clock. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon in the M. E. church. Rev. Hornaday, as had been requested by the deceased. delivered the sermon. The interment took place at Cedar Creek cemetery.

Quite an interesting ball game between Hicksville and the local team was played, Saturday. Allen and Kelley battery for spencerville, Spencerville sixteen strikeouts; Hicksville six; hits off Spencerville, three; hits off Hicksville, nine. Score, five to three in favor of Spencerville.

An interested crowd attended the debate given at the school house, Saturday night. The question was, "Resolved that reading does more for the education than traveling". Affirmative, Miss Frances Butler, Mr. Chaunchi and Ort Wearley. Negative: Miss Jennie Steward, Roscoe Walter and Con Davis, chairman, Perry Miller. Judges, Ethel Baker, Clinton Webb and Robert Beam; critic, George Beam. The judges saw fit to decide in favor of the negative.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

There is probably no medicine made that is relied upon with more implicit confidence than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy During the third of a century in which it has been in use, people have learned that it is the one remedy that never fails. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take. For sale by H. Milliman, St. Joe; F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

SPENCERVILLE R F D NO 2.

G. M. Shutt and wife expect to attend Grand Lodge at Indianapolis this week,

Mrs. Claudie Shutt and children spent Sunday afternoon with relatives at Spencerville.

Inez Rhoads spent Sunday with her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rhoads, of near Concord.

Misses Zenith and Fern Wearley spent Sunday evening with Clara Kessler of Spencerville.

Frank Kyle of Hicksville spent Saturday and Sunday with his brother and sister, Issac and Sarah Kyle.

Earl Stiman, Carol Wilmot, wife and children of Harlan spent Sunday with Wes Zimmerman and family.

Harley Wearley of Woodburn came up on his motorcycle and spent Saturday with C. M. Wearley and D. M. Kelley and families.

Lewis Elder and wife and Bert Keesler and family of Ft. Wayne spent Sunday with Clint and Greely Wearley and families. They came in their auto

Neckties to suit everybody at Barnev's

Miss Lizzie Hart spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Charley Gibbons of near Auburn.

FAIRVIEW

Groceries. Anything you want at our store. SOL BARNEY.

Mrs. Tillie Elson and Mr. Provines were guests of Mrs. Alda Brown.

Ethel and Erma Houser took Sunday dinner with Mrs. Alda Brown.

Mrs. Gintherof Ft. Wayne is visiting with her mother, Mrs. Alda Brown.

Attend the ice cream and strawberry social, Saturday evening, St. Joe, Ind.

Viola May and George Coe of Auburn were to church at this place, Sunday evening.

Miss Pearl Rolland and Mr. Edward Camp, north of Garrett, spent Sunday with the formers brother, Norman Rolland.

Crescent Wheat and Corn Flakes at KAGEY'S.

Vera Coyle has been suffering with a breaking out on her face and neck the past week, but is much better at this writing.

NEWVILLE

Zella Willennar of Angola was at this place, Wednesday.

Anything you want in soft, stiff or straw hat line at BARNEY'S.

Mrs. Rose Rex and family of Butler was in town, last Wednesday.

Mrs. Ella Strong went to Butler, last Wednesday, to see her brother, C R. Scoville.

Mrs. Dean and grandaughter Lucile visited relatives at Garrett and Auburn, last week.

Earl Parker of Butler came to Hollis Akins, last Tuesday, where he intends to work for a while.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gee of St. Joe took dinner at the home of Maurice Headley, Saturday.

I. S. Hadsell was in town, Wednesday of last week, and set an organ in the home of Mr. Whitehurst.

Mack Hatch, who has been visiting friends at this place, left Monday for Ft. Wayne where he has been working.

Harry Stamets was so unfortunate as to get his arm broken, Friday. One of his playmates pushed him out of a wagon.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gee, who has been to Peru, came to Newville, Sunday to spend the summer with her daughter, Mrs. Headley,

Mr Benj, Blair died at his home, Monday noon of neuralgia of the heart. The funeral will be held today (Wednesday) at 2:00 p. m.

You'd be surprised to see the line of shiats Barneys offer for the money.

The memorial services held at the U. B. church, Sunday morning, was well attended and everyone enjoyed the address given by Bro. Hill.

Ice cream and strawberries, Saturday eve. Come.

S. Snyder and three girls of Harlan were visiting here, yesterday.

Cream, Switzer and Brick cheese at KAGEY'S.

A sWell line of Men's oxfords, in patents, tans and gun metal at BARNEY'S.

The W. C. T. U. will meet at the home of Mrs. John Koch next Friday afternoon.

We will publish the obituary of Mrs. Ella High next week, space being extremely scarce this week,

Mrs. C. A. Woodcox and little son, returned home Saturday from Garrett, where the former had made an extended visit with her parents.

Cold cooked ham at KAGEY'S for hot weather.

"The Family Affair" is what you all are anxious to hear about, Come to the Widney Opera House on Saturday evening, June 6, and the ball boys will tell all about it in an interesting and lively sketch. Everyone is urged to come and help the boys out in raising incidental expense money.

This is the time of year when you will see the man take up the hoe and rake and dig out the surplus weeds and grass which grows on the outside of walks. This beautifies the streets and makes what otherwise would be very unattractive lawns, beautiful lawns indeed. Let us keep the ball rolling.

Low Rates.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad announce very low fares for Chicago, account meeting of the American Medical Association. Tickets on sale May 28, 29 & 30. Return limit June 12. Consult nearest ticket agent.

Summer Underwear.

We can supply your wants in most anything in the Summer Underwear line. Our stock is larger this spring than ever.

Men's shirts and drawers.....50 and $1 suit.
Men's Union suits.....$1, 1.50 and 1.75.
Men's and boys sleeveless athletic shirts 25, 50c.
Men's elastic seam jeans drawers.....50c.
Men's light weight Australian wool shirts..$1.00.

Ladies Vests 10, 15 and 25c.
Ladies, Pants, Gauze and Muslin, 25 and 50c.
Ladies Union Suits, - 25, 50c.
Misses and Childrens Vests and pants 10 to 30c.

Big Four Store.

St. Joe, Ind.

Carl Grill was at Ft. Wayne, Monday.

Editor Willis of Waterloo was in town, Tuesday.

Try the new breakfast food at KAGEY'S. 10 cts. 3 for 25.

Willis Dannells was making his last political rounds in this vicinity, yesterday.

Ladies Auxillary of the Christian church will serve ice cream and strawberries, Saturday eve.

Shoes for the ladies as well as for men at BARNEY'S. Come in and see them.

One of Chris Curie's cows was struck by lightning, Monday afternoon.

Roscoe Barney and Roy Koch played ball at Huntertown, Sunday, with Harlan.

D. F. Benninghoff has been on the sick list for the past couple weeks, suffering with stomach complaint and other troubles.

Mrs. Chas. Thayer and sister, Miss Mary Flint spent Sunday at Peru, the guests of I. S. Hadsell and family.

Don't forget a package of the breakfast food of KAGEY.

Sneak Thieves.

Hiram Reasoner states that someone broke into his elevator, one morning last week, and was caught in the act of stealing some oats. As Mr. Mooney, his hired man, was on his way to the elevator about 4:00 o'clock in the morning he noticed a sack of oats drop from one of the doors to the ground, this of course excited Mr. Mooney and took the bag and set it near the railroad. He then proceeded to search for the burglar but he became scared out and went for help but by the time Mr. Reasoner was on the scene, Mr. burglar was gone. The sack contained about 20 pounds of oats and Hiram says that if the owner of the sack calls, he will be call it square. Had the rascal been caught he would have been a boarder at the Reed Hotel at Auburn.

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

BELL PHONE NO. 82.

St. Joe, - Indiana.

COBURN'S CORNERS.

Decoration services will be held at Cheesetown, Saturday forenoon. Rev. Brown will deliver the address....Mr. and Mrs. Fremont Nelson and daughtet Jesse of Fort Wayne spent Sunday with Walter Abel and family. On Sunday afternoon Philip Carper and family and Dr. Hines and wife of Auburn drove over in the Dr's. auto and spent the afternoon with Mr. Ables.....Bertha Shull is improving.....Wash. Hart has not been so well the past week.....Cap Andress is visiting in the neighborhood. .....Children's Day exercises at the church, Sunday evening.... ..The band boys made about $5 at their social, Saturday evening....The citizens of this vicinity cleaned the cemetery yesterday.. Lee Tustison of South Whitley is spending the week at home....Clyde Hart is on the jury this week....Fred Hart and family visited with Clem Treece's Sun.

Good Results in Painting mean longest wear, best appearance, greatest economy.

THE SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT

wears longest, because it is made from best materials; because the oil and the pigments are thoroughly combined, making a perfect weather-resisting paint film. It has best appearance because it is ground very fine, spreads evenly, and the colors are clear and strong. It affords greatest economy because being ground fine it covers most surface, costing least in first cost, and because it wears longest, putting off for the longest time the need for repainting. Use it and you'll get satisfaction.

SOLD BY

F. R. BOWMAN,

Spencerville, - - - Indiana.

0192

L 903

JUNE

JUNE

L 903

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXII. ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 3, 1908. NO. 23

Every little bit added to what you've got makes just a little bit more.

Is your money making money for you? The more of it you have working for you, the less you need to work yourself. We pay 4 per cent interest compounded semi-annually on Certificates of Deposit.

$1.00 will double itself in 17 years 183 days.
$1.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $147.49.
$5.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $737.43
$10.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $1474.85

Now is the time to save. Anyone can save from $1.00 to $10.00 a month if they only will. It's not what you earn but what you save Fourper cent interest added to what you've already got makes just a little bit more

Grabill State Bank,
Grabill, Indiana.

Joseph Witmer, Pres. Albert Egly, Cashier.
David Klopfenstein, V. Pres. Marcus Yager, Asst. Cashier.

SPENCERVILLE.

Fordie Kensinger spent Sunday in Huntertown.

Fred Walker of Ft. Wayne spent Saturday and Sunday in town.

Harry Labum of Ft. Wayne visited Chas. Lake and family, Saturday.

Mrs. Mariah Oberholtzer is visiting her daughter in Garrett, this week.

Perry Miller was the guest of Miss Mae Silburg at Ft. Wayne, Sunday.

Mrs. Matilda H. Wheelock of Ft. Wayne visited relatives at this place, this week.

Dr. Carey and family of Ft. Wayne attended the Decoration services and called on many old friends, Saturday and Sunday.

Rev. Erick preached the funeral sermon of Mrs. Abraham Vandle, Sunday, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Shambaugh. The Lutheran choir assisted in the service.

Mrs. Lydia Kresley, Mrs. Ida Herrick and Mrs. Rebecca Rhodenbaugh of Auburn were the guests of Joseph Spitler and family, over Sunday.

Mr. Holsworth of Ft. Wayne and Miss Annie Goldsmith of Grabill spent Sunday with the latters cousin, Mrs. Mary Hollobaugh. They visited the M. E. Sunday school and Mr. Holsworth kindly reviewed the school. Rev. Sweeney having been unexpectedly called away to preach a funeral sermon. Mr. Holsworth gave an address instead of the regular church services.

All the business places were closed for once, Sunday.

William Allen is working this week, for J. C. Hull of St. Joe.

Mrs. Ida Baltz from California, is visiting relatives at this place.

Carl Grill of St. Joe scent Saturday night and part of Sunday with W. P. Steward.

Will Sommers and wife were the guests of relatives at Auburn, Sunday and Monday.

Mrs. Fred Hellman of near Fort Wayne, formerly of this place, is visiting relatives here.

Daniel Bair, who was visiting here, last week, has returned to his home at Findlay, Ohio.

The debating society will meet at the school house, Friday night June, 5th. The question is, "Resolved, that the United States is on a decline."

L. W. Steward was called over to to the state line, Saturday, to view the havoc made by a storm among his timber tract. He found much valuable timber damaged.

Mrs. Ratchel Horn with relatives from Hicksville, spent a part of this week at LaGrange, where they attended the High school commencement of their twin nieces, Misses Bertha and Bernice Galloway.

314 West Second St. AUBURN, IND.

DECORATION DAY.

We are making the usual preparations for this time. Wreathes and Cut Flowers for decorations. Phone to us and we will give it our prompt attention.

MAKE OUR ACQUAINTANCE

C. M. TenEyck & Son,
Proprietors.

HOME and BELL TELEPHONES.

Walter Moffet of Auburn made a business trip to this place, Monday.

Samuel Steward and wife spent Sunday with Ed Berry and family of St. Joe.

Miss Leland Fales has been working at Grabill for a couple of weeks at the home of Henry Goldsmith.

The Annual Commencement exercises will be given in the Lutheran church, Wednesday evening.

Mr. Chas. Markle, whose ankle was reported as broken, but was only severly sprained, is getting along very nicely.

Samuel Kimes has completed his schooling at Indianapolis and is home on a ten days vacation after which he will go to Pierceton, Ind., where he will begin his practice.

On account of the rains the plans for the decoration services were changed, The old soldiers decorated the graves of the comrads at the cemetery and then returned to then Lutheran church were the addresses were given in place of at the cemetry as had been formerly arranged.

The fish commissioners heard that some people were fishing with nets during the high water and immediately investigated the matter. The men who fished were truthful and when asked if they had been netting fish replied truthfully. The commissioners were compelled to fine them but told them if they would go to Auburn they would be saved unnecessary expense. The men did as advised, paid their fine and costs and returned home. They are now trying to solve two problems. First, was DeKalb Co. bankrupt and taking a new method of raising money; second, what would have been the result if they had not heeded the advise given and remained at home.

Political Announcements.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Please announce my name as a candidate for the office of Assessor, subject to the will of the republican convention. (Concord township)

D. W. BAKER.

A Grand Family Medicine.

"It gives me pleasure to speak a good word for Electric Bitters," writes Mr. Frank Conlan of No. 436 Houston St., New York. "It's a grand family medicine for dyspepsia and liver complications; while the lame back and weak kidneys it cannot be too highly recommended." Electric Bitters regulate the digestive functions, purify the blood, and impart renewed vigor and vitality to the weak and debilitated of both sexes. Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store. 50 cts.

Local Briefs

Cream, Switzer and Brick cheese at KAGEY'S.

Vernie Monroe visited with a friend at Ft. Wayne, Saturday and Sunday.

Ora Copp, wife and baby of Garrett visited his father, Abner Copp and family, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard of Ft. Wayne, visited a few days with J. Y. Davis and wife, last week.

Messrs. Geo. Rufus and Ed Kenning of Defiance, were guests of Stanley Monroe, over Sunday.

Get prices on galvanized roofing before buying. F. KINSEY.

Geo. Jenkins and wife and Chas. Jenkins of Auburn, visited relatives at this place, over Sunday.

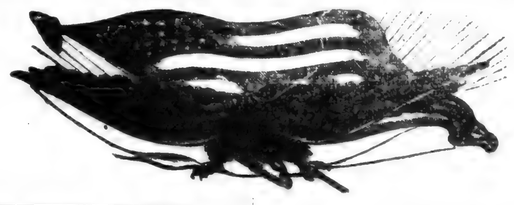
Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bleeks were guests of the latters aunt, Mrs. Hildebrandt at Hicksville, Friday.

A well line of Men's oxfords, in patents, tans and gun metal at BARNEY'S.

Mrs. Margaret Swineford and sister, Mrs. Sarah McCrory visited a week with friends at Spencerville.

Mrs. Hannah Uhl and daughter Rosamond, left yesterday for Springfield, Ohio, to visit with the formers son and daughter.

Miss Grace Ruckman of Hicksville returned home, last week. She was accompanied by Mrs. Jennie White and little Marie Ice, who visited there a few days.



Strawberries.

H. M. Widney says he has the best prospects for strawberries he has ever had. He will use from 50 to 100 pickers for this season. Here is a fine chance for the ladies to earn some extra change in healthful out door work.

Local Items.

Don't forget a package of the breakfast food of KAGEY.

Wm. Curie was at Bowling Green, Monday, on business.

FOR SALE:—Potato crates. Noble Hoop Co. St. Joe, Ind.

Go to the Noble Hoop Co. St. Joe, Ind., for your potato crates.

Before buying galvanized roofing call on F. Kinsey and get prices.

Mrs. Mattie Bowman went to Chicago, Saturday, to visit her husband.

Daisy Howey of Roanoke, Ind., visited several days last week with friends here.

Christ Saylor caught a pike, Thursday morning, weighing 6½ pounds, besides a few carp.

Paul Curie was the guest of his cousin, George Brown, at Auburn a couple of days, last week.

Shoes for the ladies as well as for men at BARNEY'S. Come in and see them.

Earl Sherer, Frank Ginther, Albert Ginther and wife of Fort Wayne spent Sunday at this place.

S. J. Bowen, wife and son Walter, of Ft. Wayne, were guests of Mrs. Nancy Widney and son, over Sunday.

Carrie Bleeks returned home, last Wednesday, after a weeks visit with her brother, Ora Bleeks and family of Defiance.

Miss Minnie Hornberger, Mr. and Mrs. Isbel and little bady, and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Towsly and baby of Elkhart, Ind., are the guests of Geo. Swineford and wife.

Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Bryson of Tustin, Mich., have been the guests of the latters brother, E. E Berry and family for the past several days. They leave for their home to-day.

Otto Ginther and wife of Rockville, Ind., arrived Saturday evening, for a visit with relatives and friends at this place. Mrs. Ginther will be remembered as Miss Sylva Hollabaugh.

You'd be surprised to see the line of shirts Barneys offer for the money.

J. C. Hull and wife are attending the State Sunday School convention at Vincennes, Ind. They are also visiting the formers sister, Mrs. Mary Tiffany of Lawrenceville. They expect to return Thursday of this week.

Mrs. Chas. Koch is in a very critical condition at the present time as a result of the shock, which she recieved a couple of weeks ago in the accident which our readers will remember. Her nerves have entirely given away and it will require time and the best of care for her to regain her former health. She is not allowed to converse with anyone.

Try the new breakfast food at KAGEY'S. 10 cts. 3 for 25.

The DeKalb County Sunday School Association will hold their forty-third convention in the U. B. church, Corunna, June 9-10. An excellent program has been prepared. All the schools from this township, who have not yet elected delegates, are requested to do so. One delegate for every 25 scholars. The officers desire a good attendance from Concord township.

Colic and Diarrhoea.

Pains in the stomach, colic and diarrhoea are quickly relieved by the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by H. Milliman St. Joe; F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

Decoration Day was perhaps more generally observed this year, in the several cemeteries near St. Joe, than ever before. The general public taking a larger interest in the exercises and in the decoration of their homes and their places of business. Are we not all bettered by laying aside on this day, the cares of business and our usual avocations and observing the day "with song and speech and flowers and by silence which alone can characterize the feelings of the soul in its highest hour". On this day throughout the wide boundaries of our great country, eloquent speakers, forgetting partisanship and creed, teach only the purest patriotism and the highest duties of citizenship and recall in glowing words the unselfish devotion of the hundreds of thousadds, who in the supreme test of a government by the people, gave up all that life holds dear, that the nation might live. Beautiful songs stir up our finer feelings and lift the soul out of our grosser nature into the sublime. Yes, we are all bettered by the observance of this day.

At Coburn cemetery there was a large attendance and the day was fittingly observed by songs and music by the Coburntown band, declamations, and after the service by the G. A. R. and decoration of the graves of the ex-soldiers buried there an address was given by Rev. Brown. There are nine buried at this place.

At the Spencerville cemetery the meeting was held at ten o'clock, when ritualistic service of the G. A. R. was given and the graves of the thirty-eight ex-soldiers buried there was decorated. The meeting then adjourned to the Lutheron church in Spencerville. Rev. Dressel delivered a forceful and eloquent address to a fairly well filled house.

At Newville at 2:00 o'clock p. m. a most beautiful and impressive service, which was largely attended, was held in the Christian church. Rev Thomas the pastor, made the address, which was excellent and highly pleased his hearers. The part taken in the service by the young people was beautifully done and very appropriate. An excellent choir furnished the music. The services at the cemetery was in charge of the G. A. R. and consisted of decoration of the graves of the forty-nine ex-soldiers buried there and the service as given in the G. A. R. Ritual. The Coburn band furnished the music.

The services at St. Joe was held at 6:30 in the evening. A large number of school children, carrying flags, with members of the G. A. R. and citizens marched to the cemetery but on account of the threatening rain no services, except the decoration of the graves of the four buried there was held. On adjournment to Widney's Hall a large audience assembled to hear the addresses of Rev. Brown followed by Rev. Hill of Newville. Rev. Brown, spoke of the conflicting and antagonistic ideas that divided the Puritans and Quakers, who settled the eastern and northern shores of our country, from the first settlers of Virginia and the Carolinas and other southern states and traced their influence on the people of the different sections until their culmination in the War of the Rebellion. Of the great results growing out of the triumph of the supremacy of the Nation over the State. Of the importance of memorial day and how its observance inculcates lessons of patriotism, love of country and love of the country's flag. An appropriate address by Rev. Hill, declamations and a flag drill by a number of young people concluded the service. A large choir furnished excellent music for the occasion.

At other burial places, Jenkins, Bear Creek, Watson and Township Line no service was held other than decoration of the graves.

Altogether one hundred and nine graves of ex-soldiers were decorated.

JUNE

L 903

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

FRED B. LEIGHTY, - - - Publisher.

1908 JUNE 1908

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
●	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30	●	●	●	●
●	●	●	●	●

F. Q. 6th. F. M. 14th. L. Q. 21st. N. M. 28th.

PAST AND PRESENT

AS IT COMES TO US FROM ALL CORNERS OF THE EARTH.

Telegraphic Information Gathered by the Few for the Enlightenment of the Many.

Fire Destroys $100,000 Plant.

One man was probably fatally injured, two others were seriously hurt and many families were driven to the street by a fire which destroyed the $100,000 plant of the Standard Sash and Door Company at 5819 Center avenue, Chicago, Ill. Two men who gave their names as Victor Altman and Joseph Krown were arrested near the scene on suspicion of having set fire to the building. The fire started with a terrific explosion in the basement and the flames spread so rapidly that a general alarm was sent in. Immense piles of lumber which surrounded the building were soon enveloped in flames, which threatened to spread to a number of adjoining cottages. Several explosions of less force than the one which started the fire occurred at frequent intervals and rendered the work of the firemen extremely hazardous. It is believed these explosions were caused by large quantities of paint stored in the building.

Old Soldier Slain in State Home.

Acting Coroner Bothwell, of Canton, Ohio, says that John Adams, an old soldier, was killed by attendants at the Massillon State Hospital and that he will present the facts to the grand jury of Stark County and ask for the arrest of two of the attendants. "Before the end of the week," he said, "I will formally charge two of the attendants at the Massillon asylum with manslaughter for the killing of John Adams, of Beach City. He was brutally murdered at the asylum and I shall so state in my verdict. He was beaten, kicked and trampled upon by the attendants the night before his death."

Bones of Old Hero Moved.

After resting for four years less than a century in the Congressional Cemetery in Washington, D. C., the body of George Clinton, once major general in the Revolutionary army, first governor of New York, and a former vice president of the United States, was removed to New York, on its way to Kingston, N. Y., for final interment. The body was escorted from the cemetery to the union station by military, patriotic, civic and commercial organizations, representatives of the state of New York and descendants of Governor Clinton.

Miser Dies From Asphyxiation.

Leaving an estate valued at $100,000, a member of Masonic and Odd Fellows orders and a pioneer saw manufacturer, of Indianapolis, Ind., Thomas Farley, nearly 80 years old, was found lying across a bed in his home dead from asphyxiation. The house was reeking with gas which had been turned on from several burners. In an old-fashioned safe in his bedroom is supposed to be concealed between $50,000 and $60,000. The aged man always paid his bills in cash, taking the money from the safe.

Hogs Root Bone from Wallow.

Several hogs wallowing in the pond at the edge of the private cemetery on the Gunness charnel farm, near Laporte, Ind., brought up a bone of a human arm. The finding of the bone has convinced Sheriff Smutzer that other bodies have been buried beneath the mud at the bottom of the pond. The entire shore will be gone over with long rakes in an effort to bring any bodies the water may secrete to the surface.

Admiral Crowninshield Dead.

Admiral A. S. Crowninshield, U. S. N., retired, died at the Episcopal Hospital in Philadelphia, Pa., Wednesday. The admiral had been at the hospital for about a month and an operation was performed on him for an affliction of the nose.

Tornado in Kansas.

Ten dead, twelve injured, several fatally, hundreds of head of cattle killed, a vast acreage of crops destroyed, ruin and desolation are the results of a tornado near Wichita, Kansas.

REVIEW OF INDIANA

Clement Higgin, sexton of a cemetery in Crawfordsville, hanged himself because he ordered a grave dug in the wrong place.

Bloodthirsty dogs in the vicinity of Crawfordsville are again playing havoc with the sheep and since the first of the month nearly 100 have either been killed or maimed.

The strawberry growers in the vicinity of Boonville are harvesting a large crop. The largest berries of the season were sold by Daniel Munns. Most of the berries were from an inch and a half to two and a half inches in diameter. The price is falling rapidly, as the market is well supplied.

Failing on two occasions in attempts to murder his 2-year-old child, William Hogan, aged 30, a railroader, committed suicide at Lebanon. Mrs. Hogan awoke during the night to find her husband bending over the child. She aroused her parents, and they summoned the police. Hogan left the house, and was later found dead in the yard.

Smallpox is raging in the Eastern part of Carroll County. Dr. W. R. Quick, secretary of the County Board of Health, made an investigation, and reported that he had discovered twenty-five cases, and he is authority for the statement that there are now thirty-five cases. A strict quarantine has been ordetred. No deaths have been reported.

John Farmer, one of the most prosperous farmers in Shelby County, died at his home, two miles west of Shelbyville, last week, the result of heart trouble. He had been in the barn feeding the live stock, when he was taken suddenly ill with heart trouble. He reclined on the hay and shortly afterward told one of the farm laborers that he believed he was dying. A minute later he breathed his last. Mr. Farmer was 51 years old and leaves a widow and one daughter.

A preacher, a barrel of vinegar, a merchant, fourteen rolls of wall paper and a frisky team of young horses, all figured in a sensational runaway that occurred between Bedford and Oolitic, at the Rawlings bridge over Salt Creek. Felix Miller, of Oolitic, merchant, and Rev. Fidrick, a Methodist divine of the same town, were in the wagon when the team became frightened and ran down the hill, striking the bridge, throwing its occupants out, the barrel of vinegar and the wall paper following. The vinegar barrel pinned the minister's coat, holding him fast, and the paper struck him on the head, cutting several gashes.

A general exodus of Gibson County teachers to the Philippine Islands is taking place this spring. A few weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schlenk, of Oakland City, left for the Isainds, and at a recent meeting of the School Board it was learned that Miss Jessie Ritchey, assistant principal, and Geo. Dragoo, principal of the schools, were preparing to accept positions in the auditor's office in Manila. Prof. Claude Reavis, of the faculty of Oakland City College, was selected as superintendent; Superintendent Kinnick, against whom a petition was circulcated a few weeks ago, not being an applicant. Mr. Kinnick's work as superintendent was indorsed, however, by many patrons of the schools.

The stork was a passenger on the Monon fast mail train one night last week, and when it arrived at a wreck of an extra that had struck a bad rail and had been ditched, five miles south of Bedford, Mrs. C. P. Speitel, of Frankfort, who was in a delicate condition and on her way to French Lick Springs, became excited, and, calling Conductor Condon, made known her wants. A hurried search of the train for a physician resulted in finding five, who lost no time in extending their services, assisted by a number of women passengers, who responded spontaneously when called for. A couch was made of cushions at one end of the dining car, which was partitioned off, and soon a baby boy made his advent into the world.

Robert Davidson, head of a large wholesale dry goods house in Evansville, has called on the business men of the city to send out circulars to farmers along the Ohio river urging them to plant fifty-two-day corn this season as their only resource. The flood of a few days ago, which was the fifth since the first of the year, played havoc in the lowlands and many have abandoned planting corn this season. The planting of fifty-two-day corn has never been tried in this part of the State as far as known. In Wisconsin, July and August are the only months, it is said, when frost does not fall, and farmers of that State who depend upon planting fifty-two-day corn raise as good crops as do the farmers of Southern Indiana and Southern Illinois.

Work will soon be commenced on a new $15,000 schoolhouse at Adams.

A cablegram announced the death at Peking, China, of Mrs. John Lake-Hall, of Vevay, a missionary in China for some years.

Freight Engine No. 216, pulling a single caboose, was derailed at Yockey on the Monon railway, near Bedford. No one was hurt.

M. E. Laman, painter on the Goshen court house improvement contract, fell from the dome, fracturing his hip and receiving internal injuries.

Samuel James, of Greencastle, took half a pound of paris green with suicidal intent. James had been out of work for some time and was despondent.

Increase in salaries of enlisted men in the United States army has caused a big increase in the number of applicants at the South Bend recruiting station.

P. H. McCormack, of Columbus, who has the contract for the erection of Miami County's new courthouse, to cost $280,000, is making arrangements to resume the work.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ermentrout recently celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary at their home in Ladoga, the same home in which they were married fifty years ago.

Charles Meckle, a night watchman for the Evansville & Terre Haute railway station, fell asleep on the tracks at Evansville and a passing train cut off his right foot. He came near bleeding to death, and he may not recover.

Mrs. M. A. Tinsley and Mrs. Belle Cole, together with other colored people, are endeavoring to establish a colored hospital in Jeffersonville. They have the backing of a number of physicians, who will attend a public meeting to be held this week to further the project.

Miss Anna J. Rhodes, a young and pretty telephone operator at Mays Station, south of Newcastle, aroused citizens at 1 o'clock in the morning and prevented robbery at the postoffice and three general stores. The yeggmen escaped in a hail of bullets, abandoning stolen rigs.

Ninety-nine candidates were initiated into the Terre Haute Lodge Knights of Columbus last Sunday, many of the candidates coming from other points. Joseph McGowan, of Indianapolis, had charge of the work in the second degree, and W. J. McLaughlin, of Fort Wayne, in the third.

With the applause of the audience still ringing in his ears, William Golden, an actor of Hammond, was arrested at Crownpoint just after he had left the stage. He is charged with obtaining money under false pretenses and is thought to have been implicated in a series of holdups.

Leeches by the thousand abound in the backwater of the Wabash river near Owensville and farmers are catching all they can in hope of creating a market for them among medical colleges and physicians. The frequent overflows of the river during the last two months and the wet condition of the ground where the water has receded is supposed to account for the appearance of the leeches in such great numbers.

An unusually large quantity of wild ginseng is being found near Owensville this year. During the last three years not enough of the root has been found to pay for digging it and ginseng dealers had reached the conclusion that they must depend on those who cultivated the plant. This year, however, considerable quantities of wild ginseng are being collected in the hilly region north of town and ginseng hunters are making good money.

The new pipe-organ bought largely with money subscribed by the inmates of the Indiana Reformatory, has been put in place. The organ cost over $1,000 of which Governor Hanly gave $100, and nearly $900 was contributed by the inmates from over-time earnings. It will be dedicated on Memorial Day, when Mrs. D. D. Mitchell, of Martinsville, will play. Superintendent Whittaker, his son Ralph, and other persons will assist in the program. G. E. Mowrer, a member of the teaching staff, will be regular organist.

George Hill, colored, lies at St. Joseph's Hospital, Logansport, haunted by the white wife he murdered last week. He can not sleep or rest. His sleep is troubled by dreams of his dead wife and in his wakeful spells his mind pictures her at his bedside beckoning him on. He fervently prays for death, so that he may join her and leave behind the haunting sights, dreams and fears. His prayers, however, may not be answered. Physicians say that unless unlooked for complications set in, the three bullet wounds which he inflicted on himself will heal and he will live.

WORK OF CONGRESS

The net result of Saturday's session in the Senate was the adoption of the conference agreement on the omnibus public buildings bill and the approval of a partial agreement on the postoffice appropriation bill, the items in the latter measure relating to weighing the mails and ocean mail subsidy being sent back to conference. Various questions were discussed during the day. Senator Teller reviewed court decisions on the limitations of federal power under the constitution. Mr. Bacon discussed the same topic, both referring to the President's remark that he would veto bills that did not reserve water rights. Mr. Owen of Oklahoma spoke on his joint resolution providing that an amendment to the Constitution for the election of Senators by the people be submitted to the States for ratification. Ineffectual efforts were made by Mr. Beveridge to pass the omnibus territories bill, and by Mr. Newlands to secure consideration of his resolution creating an inland waterways commission. For the second time within twenty-four hours the House, following a discussion of two hours, rejected the mail subsidy provision for ocean steamships and the postoffice bill for the third time wa sent back to conference. The conference reports on the omnibus pension claims bill and on the fortifications appropriation bill were agreed to; the resolution providing for a remission of a part of the Chinese indemnity growing out of the Boxer troubles of 1900 was adopted, as was also a resolution increasing the pay of over a hundred of the House employes and officials: the conference report on the bill enlarging homestead entries in the arid regions from 160 to 320 acres was rejected, thereby finally defeating the bill and the report authorizing an extension of time for the construction of a dam across the Rainey river in Minnesota was passed over the President's veto.

An effort to annihilate time by dilatory tactics without making progress on any legislation except that involved in conference reports was the chief occupation of the Senate under the leadership of Mr. Aldrich. The attempt was so successful that the net result in the way of accomplishment of the day's session was the adoption of the conference report on the sundry civil appropriation bill. Mr. Beveridge was busy in an effort to get a vote on the bill compensating government employes for injuries while on duty, but Mr. Hale said he had information from the House that no action could be expected there Monday on the conference report on the public buildings bill, and that until that measure should be disposed of the deficiency appropriation bill could not be perfected. Working under heavy pressure, with a single eye to adjournment at the earliest possible moment, the House disposed of a great amount of business. The conference reports on the sundry civil and the pension appropriation bills were agreed to, thus sending those measures to the President for signature, and leaving only the general deficiency and military academy appropriation bills to be considered to complete the disposition of the fourteen supply measures of the government. The conference report on the District of Columbia child labor bill also was agreed to, and the following bills were passed: Amending the navigation laws; removing the discriminations against native officers of the Porto Rico provisional regiment of infantry; granting title to a cemetery in Dubuque, Iowa, to the archbishop of that city; authorizing the sale of unallotted lands of the Spokane Indian reservation; encouraging the development of coal deposits in Alaska, and prescribing penalties against the sale of clothing and government property by soldiers.

The session of the Senate dragged along Tuesday in such an unimportant way that little effort was required on the part of managers of the filibuster to occupy the time by dilatory tactics. The conferees on the currency bills met and the Senate was merely kept in session in the hope that something might be done toward substantial progress in the work of closing up the opposition. During the day a bill was passed amending the navigation laws in many minor respects and a resolution was considered calling for names of former postmasters who served from 1864 to 1874 and who have been adjudged by the auditor entitled to additional compensation. The two floor leaders of the House again occupied the center of the stage, and performed their usual feat of charging each other with responsibility for the conditions at present existing in that body. The conference report on the military academy appropriation bill was agreed to. Bills were passed as follows: Refunding certain stamp taxes on foreign bills of exchange and certain duties on anthracite coal, illegally collected; providing for the opening to settlement of portions of the Cheyenne and Standing Rock Indian agencies; promoting the safety of employes on railroads by requiring the equipment of locomotives with ash cans that can be dumped without requiring an employe to go under the locomotive; promoting the safe transportation of explosives. The committee on appropriations suffered defeat in the rejection of a bill to acquire certain lands as an addition to Rock Creek Park in the District of Columbia. After passing resolutions reclassifying the clerks in the government departments at Washington and declaring entitled to their seat Messrs. McGavin (Republican) and Sabath (Democrat) as Representatives from Illinois, the House at 7:43 o'clock, owing to the difficulty of keeping a quorum, took a recess until 11 o'clock Wednesday.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

The usual index of activity reflects slow recovery in business generally, but confidence in the future gains strength and operations indicate a steadier basis Weather conditions this week were less of a drag in distributive branches. Some extension is seen in construction and outdoor work, and a better tone is discerned in iron and steel, the absorption of pig iron being wider and finished steel shapes in good request, although rails and equipment are yet quiet. Factory production shows a slight gain and more hands employed in farm implements, foundry and woodworking. The local demand is good for building materials, lumber and sanitary supplies, and there are seasonable outputs in the leather trades, orders remaining satisfactory for footwear, saddlery and novelties.

Bank clearings, $227,430,132, are 9.7 per cent under those of corresponding week in 1907.

Failures reported in the Chicago district number 28, against 24 last week and 14 a year ago. Those with liabilities over $5,000 number 7, against 7 in last week and 4 in 1907.—Dun's Review of Trade.

NEW YORK.

Mixed conditions prevailing in the crop, trade and industrial situation prevent generalization, except to say that crops as a whole are in rather better shape than a week ago; there is a better tone in some lines of wholesale trade, and retail business has been benefited in some sections by better weather. Still, as a whole, business is quiet beyond the normal, and industry is still slack.

Best reports as to retail trade come from the Southwest and Northwest. Wholesale trade in a few lines, notably dry goods, has a better tone, cotton goods are firmer, there is more doing in staple lines for fall, and some large special sales at auction or at cut prices, notably at New York, Chicago and St. Louis, have distributed large quantities of goods and brought buyers more in evidence than for months past.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending May 21 number 284, against 281 last week, 165 in the like week of 1907, 170 in 1906, 179 in 1905 and 184 in 1904. Business failures in Canada for the week number 39, against 22 last week and 19 in this week of 1907.—Bradstreet's Commercial Report.

THE MARKETS

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $7.30; hogs, prime heavy, $4.00 to $5.50; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, $1.01 to $1.02; corn, No. 2, 73c to 74c; oats, standard, 53c to 54c; rye, No. 2, 82c to 84c; hay, timothy, $9.50 to $15.50; prairie, $8.00 to $13.00; butter, choice creamery, 17c to 22c; eggs, fresh, 12c to 17c; potatoes, new, per bushel, 80c to 86c.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $7.00; hogs, good to choice heavy, $3.50 to $5.80; sheep, common to prime, $3.00 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2, 99c to $1.00; corn, No. 2 white, 63c to 65c; oats, No. 2 white, 51c to 52c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $4.50 to $7.15; hogs, $4.00 to $5.40; sheep, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, $1.01 to $1.02; corn, No. 2, 71c to 72c; oats, No. 2, 51c to 53c; rye, No. 2, 80c to 82c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.50; hogs, $4.00 to $5.75; sheep, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, $1.00 to $1.01; corn, No. 2 mixed, 74c to 75c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 53c to 54c; rye, No. 2, 84c to 88c.

Detroit—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.00; hogs, $4.00 to $5.60; sheep, $2.50 to $4.50; wheat, No. 2, 98c to 99c; corn, No. 3 yellow, 75c to 76c; oats, No. 3 white, 54c to 56c; rye, No. 2, 83c to 84c.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, $1.08 to $1.10; corn, No. 3, 73c to 74c; oats, standard, 54c to 55c; rye, No. 1, 83c to 84c; barley, No. 2, 71c to 72c; pork, mess, $13.72.

Buffalo—Cattle, choice shipping steers, $4.00 to $7.05; hogs, fair to choice, $4.00 to $5.85; sheep, common to good, mixed, $4.00 to $5.30; lambs, fair to choice, $5.00 to $6.00.

New York—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.65; hogs, $3.50 to $6.00; sheep, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2 red, 99c to $1.00; corn, No. 2, 74c to 76c; oats, natural white, 57c to 59c; butter, creamery 21c to 23c; eggs western 13c to 17c.

Toledo—Wheat No. 2 mixed 96c to 98c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 73c to 74c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 53c to 54c; rye, No. 2, 81c to 83c; clover seed, prime, $13.00.

FACTS FOR FARMERS.

Drouth in parts of Texas has resulted in the loss of hundreds of cattle.

Teachers in Illinois hereafter will be required to make the study of agriculture part of their work.

Several of the Western States are planning to hold a national corn exposition next December at Omaha, Neb.

Two business men of Illinois recently purchased a 625-acre ranch in Iowa for $25 an acre. It will be used as a stock farm.

The Southern Cotton Association has made arrangements with the Farmers' Union for holding what remains of the cotton crop in order to stimulate better prices.

JUNE

L 905

0195

AT THE SOLDIERS' GRAVES.

Again, good friends, we gather here,
Each with his grateful offering,
The earliest blossoms of the year,
And greenest laurels of the Spring,
To deck anew the turf that rests
Above our patriot comrades' breasts.

Roses and lilies, all are fair,
With bays to grace each soldier's grave,
But they grow fairer resting there,
If, with the odorous blooms we gave,
A love as strong and sanctified,
As theirs who for our Union died.

When on the battle field they fell,
It was not in a sordid cause,
But in their Country's, lo'ed so well,
For her dear Homes and Freedom's laws,
And so, at need, their love was shown—
To save her life they gave their own.

O, that was love of precious worth,
Allied to love that is divine!
From Heaven alone it came to Earth,
In human hearts to live and shine,
And fill them with the high desires,
That light and foster Freedom's fires.

How well it is with them who sleep
About us here—old friends of ours!
Comrades, for them we do not weep,
But on their graves place May's sweet flowers,
While brave "Old Glory" floats above,
Proud of their deeds—proud of their love!

And in this Home of Liberty—
Her birthplace and most sacred spot—
Her loving children, happy, free,
Come forth from mansion and from cot,
With fragrant blossoms of the May,
To help us keep Memorial Day.

And they and theirs in time will stand
Beside our graves and here relate
How we had fought to save the land,
Now grown so powerful and great,
That Kings and Czars beyond the sea,
Quake at the name of Liberty.

We know not, Comrades, what's ahead—
If for our land waits good or ill,
But not till faith in God is dead,
Shall evil trifle with the will
That nerved our brothers' arms to fight,
And win for Freedom, Truth and Right.

So here, among the memories,
That round these graves responsive start,
Let us anew the moment seize,
And pledge again each Union heart
Shall be, though helpless else to do,
To Flag and Country always true!
—Philadelphia Inquirer.

STORY OF THE FLAG.

Forty Factories Turning Out "Old Glory" as Designed by Betty Ross.

The first American flag was made laboriously by hand, by Mrs. Betty Ross, an upholsterer who lived on Arch street, near Third, Philadelphia. She had done work for Lady Washington, and when Gen. Washington wanted a flag he took his design to her and left it. When he visited her a week later she brought out from her little cupboard a sample flag, and, holding it up before him, said: "I have executed your order, sir; does it please you?" The General made a few changes in it until it became the American flag as you now know it, with the thirteen original stars and stripes.

The American flag has never been changed, although other countries have changed freely. Gen. Washington said: "This flag of the thirteen United States shall be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white, with the union of thirteen stars, white, in a field of blue, to represent a new constellation, and it shall endure forever, a new heaven floating between God's old earth and the bright blue sky"—a prediction that stands a chance of fulfillment.

BIRTH OF THE AMERICAN FLAG.

There are forty flag factories in the United States, scattered through the country, but for the most part located in New England, where the great manufacturing businesses lie. One of the largest is at Lowell, and there Ben Butler turned out bunting for years for the flag. Bunting such as up to that time had never been seen! There was a patriotic look about every inch of the Ben Butler bunting, and, though now you can find a great deal of the same color and weight and just as good, in the days when Ben Butler started his flag factory there were very few flags that looked like flags at all, unless they came from there. At this time of the year all the flag factories are in full blast. They are never very idle, for the American public uses up 3,000,000 flags every year, enough to keep all the flag factories working all the time.

The first big demand for the American flag comes on Flag day, when all the public buildings have new flags, and when the school children carry them to celebrate their new holiday and patriotic citizens hang out their new flag to celebrate the day. Next comes the Fourth of July, which is proverbially a day of the waving of flags, and by the time Flag day and the Fourth are over there will be very few of the new flags left.

The life of an American flag is a short one. In other countries they buy a flag to last; they take care of it; take it down when it rains, do not let the sun shine upon it, and treat it as though it were a thing rich and rare. But the Americans do not treat their flags in this way; the public buildings fling them from the flag posts and leave them there until they are weather beaten; then they are taken down, thrown away, and a new flag put up.

There are three ways of making a flag; all three are equally well patronized, and of the 3,000,000 that are made it may be said that there are 1,000,000 of each, without partiality as to quality or expense.

The commonest flag, that which you see in public most upon the largest buildings, is the woven flag. It is made of cotton bunting, upon a loom that is built especially for flags. The colors are supplied to the loom in regular order, and the machinery takes and distributes them so that when a certain number of inches have been woven you see coming out of the loom a completed flag.

After the loom gets through with it the flag is handed to a number of small boys and girls, who tack it upon a staff; it is then handed to another group of workers, who roll it around the staff, and slip it in a paper wrapper. It is then sent to the packing room to be done up in boxes of 100 each and shipped to the retailers.

There is another kind of flag which is more expensive than this, though not so good for all purposes. This is the sewed flag. It is made out of strips of silk or bunting. Bunting flags are sewed together strip by strip, and fastened to the pole; the blue field is then sewed upon the corner and the white stars are glued or sewed in place. Silk flags are made in the same way, strip by strip, carefully overhanded together, with the "field" and stars sewed or pasted on.

Silk flags are used for draping public halls and for hanging back of patriotic speakers. They are very dear, a silk flag 12 by 18 feet costing $200. What becomes of the flags no one knows, for unless they fall into the hands of the destructive small boy their end is a mystery; 1,000,000 of them, however, perish every year.

A great number of these fine flags go out of the country every year in the trunks of traveling American citizens, who find it very convenient to spread a flag over the top of their belongings, so that the custom house people can see it as soon as the cover of the trunk is lifted.

The commonest flag is the little printed one. This is done upon ordinary calico and is turned off in sheets. These sheets are given to girls to cut apart and glue on sticks. The flags are then packed in boxes for shipment.

When a State is admitted to the Union it means a great deal of extra work for the flag factories, as the entire star design must be changed. This is done by law on the following Fourth of July. When Utah became a State there was a great deal of trouble in adding the forty-fifth star. Secretary Lamont appointed Lieut. Rockwell of Philadelphia to place the extra star, and he made room for it in the fourth row from the top upon the right of the existing stars. At the same time the regulation size of the army flag was made smaller. It is now five and a half feet long and four feet four inches wide. The old army flags were too big; they hung spiritless around the pole instead of flying proudly to the breese, as a smaller flag would. The stripes are now four and a half inches apart. The staff of the regular flag is nine feet long.

Yes, the great war is so long over that there are people who ask, "What is all this about?" when they hear the bands playing and see the veterans parading.

Memorial Day is pure sentiment. Sentiment is one of the most precious jewels in the human life. Without it a man is little better than a savage. He is hard in his business affairs and in his home. Nobody loves the man who has no sentiment in his breast.

With it he is humanized. He reveres the very names of heroes who have fought for the cause they believed in and passed on. He is sorry that they suffered; and tears come easily when he thinks of the grandness of the natures that made possible a great nation, prosperous, happy, progressive.

Tradition! It is the very footstool of this nation. We glorify the greatness of such men as Lincoln and Grant, Jackson and Lee, and say to the rising generation: "A nation must progress to live. See the standard of manhood and devotion set by these heroes. Study them, and know that from your ranks must come the great men who will bear the responsibilities, fight the battles, protect the weak in future. They were real men. You, as their successors, must show an even higher type of manhood. You must do as well, and better.

"They loved their country, as did the thousands of brave fellows who left their wives and children and sweethearts to march to their graves. And only through patriotism and love of one's land is the safety and prosperity of that land assured. If you let business so master you that you have no time to take part in the things that make for the welfare of your country, you will be an obstacle to progress. If you let selfishness exclude sympathy and the chastening effects of memory of good deeds done by others from your mind and heart, you can never be a good citizen."

Perhaps you cannot observe Memorial Day by laying a flower on the grave of some hero, but you can silently thank God for the good that has been and will be; that has been showered on you as a citizen of these United States. You can resolve to be a patriot in the fight for better conditions and higher civilization. It is not waged with swords and guns, but is none the less a battle, and the Right must win if the land of Washington is to endure.

Sentiment! The sentiment that comes from the fragrant flowers of Memorial Day and the haunting notes of the bugle furnishes courage. You realize that the country that was well worth dying for is well worth living and striving for. Put into your part of the fight the spirit of those who have gone, and you will have done well.

The Admiral Relented.

"While Admiral Porter was in command of the Mississippi squadron and at a time when they were most actively engaged," said Captain Lloyd G. Harris of St. Louis, "a young ensign made his appearance on the flagship and astounded the admiral by asking him for a leave of absence. 'Why, sir,' roared Porter, 'don't you understand that no officer can leave at this time, no matter who he is or what his excuse?'

"'But, admiral, it is a case of life and death. I must go.'

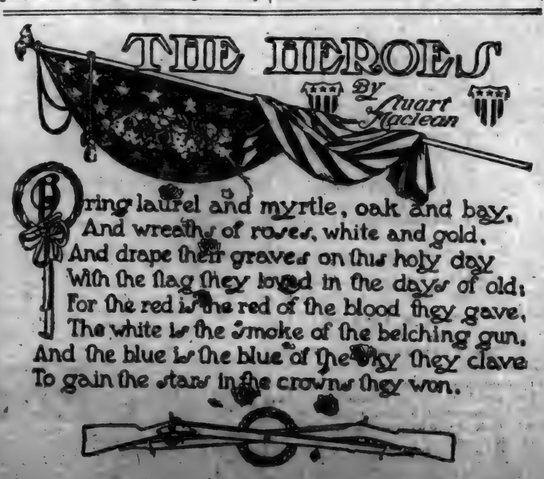
"'But you can't go. It is impossible.'

"'Please hear me, Admiral Porter. When I entered the service I was engaged to as pretty a girl as there is in Northern Illinois. I have just got word that one of those miserable home guards has been courting her, and my friend says it looks as though if I don't come back pretty soon I will lose her. Now, admiral, I think, under the circumstances, you might let me go for a week at least.'

"Porter's heart melted. The ensign got leave, went home and married the girl in triumph."—Chicago Record-Herald.

An Echo of the War.

A singular accident occurred lately near Frankin, Tenn. A poplar tree was cut down on the McGavock farm, and a tenant on the place put a stick of the wood on the fire in his household, when a tremendous explosion took place, painfully injuring a little negro. It was found to be a shell which had been fired by the Federals at the battle of Franklin forty-one years ago and which had lodged in the tree without exploding.—Jackson (Tenn.) Sun.



THE Popular Pulpit

THE DEMANDS OF AN IDEAL.

By Henry F. Cope.

"Sell whatsoever thou hast and give to the poor and come take up thy cross and follow Me."—Mark 10:21.

Ideals are our treasures only so long as they are also tracks in which we tread. The visions of things great and worthy are not given that we might have something beautiful to contemplate; they are calls to serve, to endure, to toil, to bear burdens and meet difficulties.

The dreams of greatness or of goodness that go no further than dreaming leave us weaker, poorer, less than if we had never seen them. He who sees the height and does not strive to attain it is less than he who seeing it not at all lives toward his lowlier vision. Our dreams must determine deeds. Life were empty without its dreams; it were emptier still if it were nothing but dreams.

Yet how easy it is to be satisfied with aspiration; never to make the investment of endeavor, to paint pictures of life's crowns, but never to be willing even to pay the price to gain any of them. So many imagine that they must be saints because they have thought so often of seraphic joys. It takes a good deal more than looking at heaven to make the heavenly life.

Now every sincere man is asking the question, How may I realize the ideal? Every sincere idealist is seeking for means of practical expression of that which is visioned before him. He is not afraid of paying the price. He knows that it will be high if the end is also high. There is an easy descent to the things that are below; there is no facile grade, no means of sliding up unconsciously to the higher levels.

Every attainment means so much loss; every gain so much giving up. No man gains the crown who grasps at every shining pebble by the way. We have to learn to choose, to discriminate, to reject even many good things that we may gain that which is best. None can gain all of everything; all may win all of something if willing to lose other things.

Riches are not a curse of themselves; they are a curse and a cause of the deepest poverty when we choose them before some better things. The young man in the story must sell his possessions because they stood between him and the attainment of his ideals. So long as they were the chief good to him he could make no progress toward any greater good.

Here is the imperative demand of every ideal, that it shall occupy first place. The things you set first in your endeavors, in your affections are the things you will attain. No matter of what good things you may dream, it is the things you really, at bottom of all, desire that will be yours. It may surprise some of us to see the prizes with which we shall at last be found, and yet they always will be those of our supreme choosing.

But the ideal demands more than the giving up of things that conflict; it demands service, expression through work, through activity. It is not enough to give up the things that hinder; these things must be made to serve the lofty ends of the worthy ideal. Where unworthy affections have been cast out there must be no empty places; love still must be there, but directed into new channels.

If you would be great you must do great things. You must not sit down before any task simply because it is high. Duties are not to be admired; they are to be done. The first price of achieving is attempting. Better the humblest effort to do some great thing than the most highly developed picturing of the ideal that satisfies itself with the picture alone.

In a subtle way high idealism becomes the foe of worthy realities. How easy it is to substitute dreaming about heaven for any attempt to bring heaven to our everyday lives. How easy to praise the love of God as a substitute for the practice of the love of man.

The religious life is the life that sees the high visions of life's possibilities, cherishes these visions and steadily, at any cost, with this as the supremely worth while aim of living, seeks their realization, counts all things as worthless compared to this, that fullness of life may be found for one's self and made possible for all others.

It's not the man who dreams the dreams of coming glory, but the man who daily does all his little deeds in the light of that glory who is doing most for this world and for his ideals. The great question is not whether you can talk poetry, but whether you are willing to pay the price of the ideal life.

The world is full of people who wish it well; it needs more who will work for its weal, to whom its welfare, the realization of its highest good, is the supreme thing in life, that for which they are willing to sell all else and to take up any cross. By their deeds shall their ideals be known.

NO SHORT CUTS TO TRIUMPH.

By Rev. George Clarke Peck.

And King David said to Ornan, nay; but I will buy it of thee for the full price.—1 Chronicles 21:24.

Thus did one man decline to take advantage of what the world would call a "bargain." Such refusal, however, might be little better than Quixotic. One needs a good reason when he persists in making things costly to himself. David evidently thought he had such reason.

He had gone up to Ornan's thrashing floor for the purpose of there erecting an altar at his own expense. The shame of his recent crime was so keen that he was willing to pay any reasonable price for expiation. Judge then his surprise to be offered the property without cost to himself. What a chance to economize!

But David knew a thing that we sometimes forget. The soul's processes can never be cheapened. To shave the cost of one altar is to cheat one's self. Life has no real short cuts to triumph. God appoints no bargain days on which the shrewd trader may enrich himself at the expense of the Almighty. To attempt the payment of one's spiritual debts in the property of another, to offer the sacrifices of a contrite heart without personal drain, is a specious fraud.

What is the "spoiling" of a child? What but the payment by parents of the price which the child ought to pay? "My child does not know the meaning of self-denial," said a mother overfond. Pity such a child! Missing the meaning of self-denial, he will miss all the real prizes of life. I knew a young man who made a "hit" at his first public venture. But that first hit was his last; he has never found the range since. Easy success ruined him. The short cut was a blind alley. The sorriest thing that ever happened Coleridge was when his friends guaranteed him against a rainy day. His muse sickened with the absence of bracing airs. Hardship had kept his soul awake, but ease drugged him. Oh, the cheats we practice against ourselves by our economies!

The last place for a man to save money is on his gifts. Let him wear the old overcoat another season if need be; let him reduce the length of a bill of fare, but let him not shave the cost of those altars which love builds. The dearest economies we ever practice are those which touch our benefactions. Our loss is greater than that of the cause we refuse to help. Charity can better stand my withholding of help than I can stand withholding it. To let another do my giving is to let him have my blessing. If Ornan builds my altar for me he also takes my joy.

That man who asks how much he must give up in order to be a good man has gotten hold of the wrong end of the matter. The question rather is how good he wants to be. A disciple who finds that his path includes no crosses may well pause to ask which master he is following. Life's real altars represent the shedding of blood.

To repeat then, David's great renunciation at Ornan's thrashing floor, to hold bravely to the sacrificial quality of human life at its best, to refuse all ignoble lightening of loads, to bleed that we may bless—in spite of all complacent voices to the contrary—this is one of the rich truths of life.

DON'TS FOR CHURCHMEN.

Don't plead justification when you know your plea cannot be justified.

Don't expect God to own you as His child so long as you are not God-like.

HYMNS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

In Heavenly Love.

In heavenly love abiding,
No change my heart shall fear;
And safe is such confiding,
For nothing changes here.
The storm may roar without me,
My heart may low be laid,
But God is round about me,
And can I be dismayed?

Wherever he may guide me,
No want shall turn me back;
My shepherd is beside me,
And nothing can I lack.
His wisdom ever waketh,
His sight is never dim,
He knows the way he taketh,
And I will walk with him.

Green pastures are before me,
Which yet I have not seen;
Bright skies will soon be o'er me,
Where darkest clouds have been.
My hope I cannot measure,
My path to life is free,
My Savior has my treasure,
And he will walk with me.

JUNE

L 903

Easy Confinement

If you have cause to fear the pains of childbirth, remember that they are due to weakness, or disease, of the womanly organs, and that healthy women do not suffer, like weak ones.

The specific, medicinal, vegetable ingredients, of which that famous, female medicine and womanly tonic

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMAN'S RELIEF

is composed, will build up the womanly organs to a healthy state and thus prevent needless suffering.

"Before my confinement," writes Mrs. Rose Schubarth, of Monument, Colo., "I had such bearing-down pains I didn't know what to do. Cardui quickly relieved me. Some months later I had a fine 12-lb. baby, was sick only thirty minutes, and did not even have a doctor."

At All Druggists

WRITE FOR FREE ADVICE, stating age and describing symptoms, to Ladies Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. E 38

J. A. PROVINES
TRUSTEE
of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:
THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK
at residence in Spencerville, Ind.

DENTIST.
C. R. PRICE,
ST. JOE, IND.

Office in Case building.

Bell Phone No. 44.

WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St. Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.

No. 11, Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail 12:05p.m
No. 3, Western Express 8:06 p. m

GOING EAST.

No. 2, Eastern Express 6:34a. m
No. 16, Toledo Acc & Mail 7:21 p. m

The Old Proverb

That "It takes nine tailors to make a man" may possibly mean that it takes nine trials to find the right tailor.

You can save eight trials by coming here first. At this time in the year we can do considerably better by you than later. Not better in style, fabric, fit or finish—that's impossible—but better in price. For Example:—

Suits from $18.00 up.

Pants from $4.00 up

ED MAY,
TAILOR,
Butler, Ind.

The St. Joe News.

One Year - - $1.00
Six Month - - 50c
Three Months - - 25c

FRED B. LEIGHTY, Editor.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

Should Abolish it.

Another custom which it would be well to discontinue is that of opening caskets in public at church funerals. It is a relic of dark ages and has no place in a civilized community. It jars on the sensibility of every tender cord, and is something that the churches and undertakers ought to combines and put to an end. In nine tenths of the cases its merely a pandering of ghoulish curiosity. People who never spoke to the deceased in their life parade around the church gap at the form of our loved one, then go out of the present of death, not to talk of the good deeds done in life, but to criticise the appearance of the poor clay that death has left for once at their mercy. Death is a sacred thing. If we are going on a long journey we do not make adieus before a gaping crowd; we ought not to be expected to bid our dead a last good-bye while curious eyes fatten on our grief, and we ought not to be expected to sit in the house of mourning while the people we never speak to, who have no claim on us or our loved one, jostle each other in their desire to view the remains, and they get together and gossip over what they saw or failed to see. We believe that the majority of the people detest the painful funeral scenes as much as we do and be more than glad to see them ended, but are afraid to break a "custom." But it is a duty the minister and undertaker owe to themselves and the long suffering public to put a stop to the exhibition, and they will find the public glad to uphold them with a hearty amen.

Do Not Neglect the Children.

At this season of the year the first unnatural looseness of a child's bowels should have immediate attention. The best thing that can be given is Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy followed by castor oil as directed with each bottle of the remedy. For sale by H. Milliman, St. Joe; F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

The Returns.

The assessors have finished their work and made their reports to the Auditor, Below we give a few:-

ST. JOE.

Value Lands	15,510
Value Imp.	54,570
Personal	74,270
Total	144,350

Polls, 68.

CONCORD TOWNSHIP

Value Lands	562,570
Imp.	123,500
Ad.	2,050
Personal	201,885
Totol	889,595

Polls, 252.

NEWVILLE TOWNSHIP

Value Lands	216,535
Value Imp.	56,940
Ad. Imp	330
Personal	71,080
Total	346,185

Polls, 83; male dogs, 64; female dogs, 5.

JACKSON TOWNSHIP

Value Lands	554,580
Value Imp.	121,640
Ad. Imp.	2,075
Personal	105,910
Total	843,500

PATENTS

and TRADE-MARKS promptly obtained in all countries, or no fee. We obtain PATENTS THAT PAY, advertise them thoroughly, at our expense, and help you to success.

Send model, photo or sketch for FREE report on patentability. 26 years' practice. SURPASSING REFERENCES. Our free Guide Book on Profitable Patents Write to

503-505 Seventh Street, WASHINGTON, D. C.

D. SWIFT & Co.

Political Announcements.

FOR SHERIFF.

EDITOR NEWS:—
Please announce my name as a candidate for the nomination of sheriff of the county subject to the decision of the democratic primary.
RALPH W. THOMAS.

FOR SHERIFF.

EDITOR NEWS:—
Please announce my name as a candidate for sheriff subject to the decision of the Democratic primary.
JAMES S. LOWE.

RECORDER.

Please announce my name as a candidate for the democratic nomination for county recorder, subject to the wishes of the voters at their primary.
J. M. NORFORD.

FOR CLERK.

EDITOR NEWS:—
Please announce my name as a candidate for clerk of the DeKalb Circuit court subject to the wishes of the voters at their primary.
EDGAR W. ATKINSON.

FOR CLERK

EDITOR MEWS:—
Please announce that I am a candidate for the democratic nomination for county clerk, subject to the wishes of the voters at their primary.
JOHN HEBEL.

CLERK,

EDITOR NEWS:
Please announce my name as a candidate for the democratic nomination of clerk of the DeKalb circuit court, subject to the wishes of the voters at their primaries, June 4, 1908.
WM. H. LEAS.

RECORDER.

EDITOR NEWS:—
You may announce my name as a candidate from Keyser township, for the democratic nomination for Recorder, subject to the decision of the coming primary election.
D. E. HERSHBERGER.

CLERK

EDITOR NEWS:—
You may announce my name as a candidate for clerk of the county subject to the Democratic primary.
WARREN A. AUSTIN,

SURVEYOR.

Please announce my name as a candidate for the nomination for the office of county surveyor from Keyser township subject to the decision of the voters expressed at the democratic primaries to be held on June 4th.
CHARLES L. WAGONER.

RECORDER.

Please announce my name as a candidate for the democratic nomination for county recorder, subject to the wishes of the democratic voters as expressed at their primaries to be held on June 4, (Jackson township.)
L. D. NELSON.

RECORDER.

Please announce my name as a candidate for nomination for the office of county recorder from Wilmington township, subject to the decision of the democratic primaries to be held June 4th.
S. G. HAVERSTOCK.

COMMISSIONER

EDITOR NEWS:—
Announce my name as a democratic nominee for commissioner of the south-east district subject to the primary elections June 4.
AMOS SNYDER.

COMMISSIONER.

EDITOR NEWS:—
Announce my name as a candidate for commissioner of the south-east district, subject to the decision of the voters at their primaries, June 4.
JOHN R. MOORE.

COMMISSIONER.

EDITOR NEWS:—
You may announce my name as a candidate for commissioner of the south-east district, subject to the democratic primaries, June 4.
WILLIS A. DANNELLS.

TREASURER.

EDITOR NEWS:—
Please announce my name as a candidate for renomination for the office of county treasurer, subject to the wishes of the voters at the democratic primary, June 4th, Smithfield township.
HIRAM H. SLAYBAUGH.

COUNTY REPRESENTATIVE.

EDITOR NEWS:—
Announce my name as a democratic candidate for the nomination of county representative, subject to the decision of the democratic primary, June 4.
B. M. MCKENNAN, atty.

FOR COMMISSIONER.

EDITOR NEWS:—
Announce my name as a candidate for the nomination of commissioner of the south-east district, subject to the decision of the democrats at their primaries June 4.
HIRAM D. TOPPE.

WANTED—A RIDER AGENT IN EACH TOWN and district to ride and exhibit a sample Latest Model "Ranger" bicycle furnished by us. Our agents everywhere are making money fast. Write for full particulars and special offer at once.

NO MONEY REQUIRED until you receive and approve of your bicycle. We ship to anyone, anywhere in the U. S. without a cent deposit in advance, prepay freight, and allow TEN DAYS' FREE TRIAL during which time you may ride the bicycle and put it to any test you wish. If you are then not perfectly satisfied or do not wish to keep the bicycle ship it back to us at our expense and you will not be out one cent.

FACTORY PRICES We furnish the highest grade bicycles it is possible to make at one small profit above actual factory cost. You save $10 to $25 middlemen's profits by buying direct of us and have the manufacturer's guarantee behind your bicycle. DO NOT BUY a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone at any price until you receive our catalogues and learn our unheard of factory prices and remarkable special offers to rider agents.

YOU WILL BE ASTONISHED when you receive our beautiful catalogue and study our superb models at the wonderfully low prices we can make you this year. We sell the highest grade bicycles for less money than any other factory. We are satisfied with $1.00 profit above factory cost.

BICYCLE DEALERS, you can sell our bicycles under your own name plate at double our prices. Orders filled the day received.

SECOND HAND BICYCLES. We do not regularly handle second hand bicycles, but usually have a number on hand taken in trade by our Chicago retail stores. These we clear out promptly at prices ranging from $3 to $8 or $10. Descriptive bargain lists mailed free.

COASTER-BRAKES, single wheels, imported roller chains and pedals, parts, repairs and equipment of all kinds at half the usual retail prices.

$8.50 HEDGETHORN PUNCTURE-PROOF SELF-HEALING TIRES $4.80 A SAMPLE PAIR TO INTRODUCE, ONLY

The regular retail price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but to introduce we will sell you a sample pair for $4.80 cash with order $4.55).

NO MORE TROUBLE FROM PUNCTURES

NAILS, Tacks or Glass will not let the air out. Sixty thousand pairs sold last year. Over two hundred thousand pairs now in use.

DESCRIPTION: Made in all sizes. It is lively and easy riding, very durable and lined inside with a special quality of rubber, which never becomes porous and which closes up small punctures without allowing the air to escape. We have hundreds of letters from satisfied customers stating that their tires have only been pumped up once or twice in a whole season. They weigh no more than an ordinary tire, the puncture resisting qualities being given by several layers of thin, specially prepared fabric on the tread. The regular price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but for advertising purposes we are making a special factory price to the rider of only $4.80 per pair. All orders shipped same day letter is received. We ship C. O. D. on approval. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them strictly as represented.

We will allow a cash discount of 5 per cent (thereby making the price $4.55 per pair) if you send FULL CASH WITH ORDER and enclose this advertisement. We will also send one nickel plated brass hand pump. Tires to be returned at OUR expense if for any reason they are not satisfactory on examination. We are perfectly reliable and money sent to us is as safe as in a bank. If you order a pair of these tires, you will find that they will ride easier, run faster, wear better, last longer and look finer than any tire you have ever used or seen at any price. We know that you will be so well pleased that when you want a bicycle you will give us your order. We want you to send us a trial order at once, hence this remarkable tire offer.

Notice the thick rubber tread "A" and puncture strips "B" and "D," also rim strip "H" to prevent rim cutting. This tire will outlast any other make—SOFT, ELASTIC and EASY RIDING.

IF YOU NEED TIRES don't buy any kind at any price until you send for a pair of Hedgethorn Puncture-Proof tires on approval and trial at the special introductory price quoted above; or write for our big Tire and Sundry Catalogue which describes and quotes all makes and kinds of tires at about half the usual prices.

DO NOT WAIT but write us a postal today. DO NOT THINK OF BUYING a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone until you know the new and wonderful offers we are making. It only costs a postal to learn everything. Write it NOW.

J. L. MEAD CYCLE COMPANY, CHICAGO, ILL.

C. S. SMITH
Lawyer and Notary Public.

COLLECTIONS and LOANS.

Office in Auburn State Bank Building.

Auburn Indiana.

How a Publisher Got Even.

A newspaper publisher has recently brought suit against forty-five men who would not pay their subscriptions, obtaining judgement in each claim. Of these twenty-eight made affidavit that they owned no more than the law allowed, thus preventing attachment. Then under the decision of the supreme court they were arrested for petit larceny and bound over in the sum of $300 each. All but six gave bond while six went to jail. The new postal law makes it larceny to take a paper and refuse to pay for it.—Editor and Publisher.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve Wins.

Tom Moore, of Rural Route 1, Cochran, Ga., writes: "I had a bad sore come on the instep on my foot and could find nothing that would heal it until I applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Less than half of a 25 cent box won the day for me by affecting a perfect cure." Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store.

The Primary Election

To-morrow the Democratic primary election will be pulled off. The polls will be open until 8:00 o'clock, giving those who live in the country an opportunity to cast his vote. The law makes it so that any young man who will become of age (21 yrs. old) before the election, may have the right to vote at the primary, if of this faith. Every true and loyal democrat should show his colors on this day and have as much to say, as to who their candidate will be as the other fellow. In another column will be found the list of candidates who are making the race.

A Radical Department.

The most popular illustrated weeklies and monthlies are produced at enormous cost. Competition for the work of the leading authors and illustrators has established a scale of expense that is almost prohibitive.

Yet in addition to its many attractive features The Chicago Sunday Record-Herald furnishes its readers with a Sunday Magazine which compares favorably with the independent periodicals in every way and has some merits peculiar to itself. The most famous writers and illustrators contribute to it. Fine paper and press work and handy size make it a pleasure to read this entertaining publication which marks a radical departure in Sunday journalism.

Harriett A. Sturtevant of Hesperia, Mich., sends us $1.00 on her subscription. She says:- The paper is news from the old home and I would hate to lose a copy

A Hair Dressing

Nearly every one likes a fine hair dressing. Something to make the hair more manageable; to keep it from being too rough, or from splitting at the ends. Something, too, that will feed the hair at the same time, a regular hair-food. Well-fed hair will be strong, and will remain where it belongs—on the head, not on the comb!

The best kind of a testimonial—"Sold for over sixty years."

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of SARSAPARILLA. PILLS. CHERRY PECTORAL.

Ayer's

Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also furnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable.

Beams & Baker.

JUNE

L 903

No Gain Without Pain.

Calvin C. Kain.

This is a subject which young people especially often fail to clearly understand. They start out upon their careers of fame and fortune too often disregarding the fact that they must be well fitted and prepared for the buffets and pitfalls of the social, political and literary worlds. They know not that for every onward or upward action there is a positive and almost equal reaction, that at every corner there is someone enviously plotting their ruin, that at every upward step on life's ladder there is an evil gravity pulling them down, so that they are likely to become weary, heartsick and faint before life's battle is hardly begun. Therefore this subject, "No Gain without Pain" might be translated "No Success without Toil."

This subject is one that applies not only to the king on his throne but to peasant in his hovel; not only to the master but to the slave; not only to you but also to me, and to all mankind, rich or poor, black or white, individually or collectively.

When starting out in life there are many essential qualities which a young man or woman should possess. He should possess a good education that he may be a peer to his neighbor. He should possess courage that he may not tremble at any obstacle natural or artificial. He should have perseverance to uphold his courage. He must have tact, talent, industry, ambition and confidence in himself and his power to succeed.

Then there is one quality which is absolutely indispensable. He must have strength. Strength to bear himself up in his onward career. Strength to bear the aches and pains, the toils and sorrows to which mortal man is heir. What are any of these other qualities without strength? Without strength you could not stand. You would be a ship without a propeller, a wheel without a spoke. Perseverance tells you to go on, strength bears you on; courage urges you into the fray, strength wields the sword; confidence tells you that you can win, strength wins the battle, tact and talent shows the way, strength makes it. Therefore you must have strength. You may hope, you may resolve, you may will you may pray but without strength you are as helpless as a new born babe.

The greatest question in the minds of the young man and woman to day is, what am I going to be? Will I be a writer, a professor, a farmer, a statesman or what? Choose carefully your life's vocation and then toil patiently and diligently to accomplish its requirements. But first remember that you must work, that you must endure, that you must weep and pray, that you must bear the sorrows and heartaches of this life with a determination that wins and a strength that overcomes. If you wish to be a farmer you must expect to toil; if you wish to become a clergyman or a missionary you must prepared to do your duty; if you desire to become a Lincoln you must expect to bear the sorrows of a divided nation; if you wish to be a Milton you must expect to bear the pangs of a fleeting blindness or if you wish to be a Cicero you must be ready to endure the sharp tongues of ridicule and the sneers of jealousy before you can expect to stand forth "the observed of all observers," "the niobe of nations."

All who toil will not succeed but if they toil aright they will be bourne nearer to their goal, and even though they do not reach it they will be better for having tried for

"Toil only gives the soul to shine
And makes rest fragrant and benign."

Some will fail and some will suffer the pangs and remorse of a life unjustly spent. The drunkard and the gambler, the criminal and the knave will live on until their last dollar is spent, until their last hope has vanished and then sink into misery and vice, into death and eternal night.

Then let us take up the armour of right, choose our profession, follow it closely and steadily and never look behind but keep our eyes on the mountain peak, lest in looking back we become faint and dizzy and fall into the abbys below. Let us struggle to become stronger men and women better fitted to cope with the monsters of vice and destruction, for do we not know that upon us some day will press the responsibility of this world's existence, for good or for bad, for growth or for decay. We cannot be too thorough we cannot be good or we cannot be to watchful for temptation abounds on every corner, on every wave, in every breeze. "We should not sigh that we were not born rich. We should be creators not inheritors. We should give instead of borrow and we should feel that it is more honorable to toil for a crust than to inherit lands and gold."

So in conclusion bear in mind that we mould our own lives, that we make our own character and seal our own destiny. That we must reap as we have sown and toil also in the gleaning. That we are all Carnegies or Rockefellers in our own resources, but that we must labor to make these resources productive. If we cannot be Washingtons let us not be Arnolds. If we cannot be kings let us not be culprits, but let us so live that the memory of our lives may cast some ray of hope or raise some fallen brother.

"Press on! there's no such word as fail;
Press nobly on! the goal is near,—
Ascend the mountain! breast the gale!
Press upward, onward, never fear,
Be thou a hero! let thy might
Tramp through eternal snows its way,
And through the ebon walls of night
Hew down a passage unto day."

Epilepsy, Fits

Convulsions, or Spasms and St. Vitus' Dance are Nervous Diseases. Most cases can be cured by strengthening and building up the nervous system. To do this a nerve medicine is needed. Dr. Miles' Nervine will be found efficacious and satisfactory. It has cured many cases of these diseases and we believe it will cure you. We can give you names of many who have been cured through its use. Write for advice.

"My son John had epilepsy for years, and after having him treated by specialists for over 2 years he still continued to have spells. I had almost given up in despair, but knowing the virtue of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for sick headache, I concluded to try the Nervine. During June, 1906, I gave him a teaspoonful three times a day, then in July I gave it as directed, and I could see that he was improving, and he has not had a spell since August 28, 1906, and has taken no medicine since Jan.-07. I am writing this case just as it is hoping it will induce others to try it."
W. R. ALLISON, Mooresville, N. C.

Your druggist sells Dr. Miles' Nervine, and we authorize him to return price of first bottle (only) if it fails to benefit you.

Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind

The Best Pills Ever Sold.

"After doctoring 15 years for chronic indigestion, and spending over two hundred dollars, nothing has done me as much good as Dr. King's New Life Pills. I consider them the best pills ever sold." writes B. F. Aycue, of Ingleside, N. C. Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store. 25c.

Obituary.

Mary Ellen, daughter of John W. and Mary E. Sebert, was born in Jackson Tp., DeKalb Co., Ind., August 16, 1860. In early life she gave her heart to God and became a member of the Concord class of the M. P. church of which she remained a faithful member until called from labor to reward. July 29, 1880 she was united in marriage to Moletus A. High. To this union were born three daughters, Cora, Leona and Nellie, all of whom survive the mother. After a brief illness, she died at the Hope hospital, Ft. Wayne, Ind., to which place she was taken for treatment, May 19, 1908. Aged 47 years 8 months 3 days. She leaves to mourn their loss, a husband, three children, one grandchild, three brothers together with a large circle of friends and relatives. Her father, mother, four brothers and one sister having proceeded her to the better world. Although her sickness was of only a few days, she suffered much pain yet she bore it all with Christain patience and fortitude. Her case was one that seemed to baffle the skill of the physicians from the start, yet all was done for her comfort and recovery that loving hands could do. There comes a time in every life, when human arms are too short, and human aid of no avail; so it is well for us like Sister High to be prepared to answer the call of him who doeth all things well. The funeral which was very large, was held in the Concord, M. P. church on 23 at 10:30 a. m. Rev. S. Heininger, the pastor, officiating. Interment in Woodlawn Cemetery at Auburn.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to return to all our friends and neighbors sincere thanks for their kindness shown us in our great affliction.

M. A. HIGH & CHILDREN.

G. W. Woodcox was at Auburn, Friday.

Potatoes for sale. HENRY MILLIMAN. Phone 76-12.

Get your potato crates of the Noble Hoop Co., St. Joe. Ind.

FOR SALE:—A small family refrigerator. F. M. MONROE.

John Reinoehl and wife are the proud parents of a baby, born Friday.

John Tustison of Lockport, Ill., is visiting his parents, Nelson Tustison and wife.

Miss Blanch Woodcox returned to her home at Caseyville, Ky., last Tuesday, after an extended visit with relatives here.

Foster and Howard Gee visited friends at Bryan, O., several days last week.

Groceries. Anything you want at our store. SOL BARNEY.

Isaac McDannell and wife, of north west of town, left yesterday for an extended visit in Nebraska. Mr. McDannell will take up farming upon his return home.

Money to loan on farms at 5 per cent interest. Payable on or before 10 years. Partial payments allowed. Call on or write us. Brown & Rhoads, Lawyers, City National Bank Building, Auburn, Ind.

Just Received.

Car Load Wabash Portland Cement.
Consignment of Gasoline Vapor Stoves.

I Keep on Hands

Hydrated Ground Lime
Stoves and Ranges Cooking Utensils
Steel Goods of all kinds.

All Kinds of Roofing:

Best quality Red Cedar Shingles
Gravel Roofing Asbestos, Rubber, Felt and Galvanized Roofing.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT
Linseed, Automobile and Lubricating Oils, Gasoline, Etc.

GLASS, SASH AND DOORS.

Quality Right. Prices Right.

D. J. Baker.

Be sure you're right, then go ahead

Don't paint at all 'till you're sure you've got good paint. You can't undo the damage caused by poor paint after it's on the the house. Know the paint you use. Find out something about the manufacturer before you trust his paint.

The Sherwin-Williams Company have been making good paint for over thirty years. They started with a very small building, in a small way. Today they are the largest paint and varnish manufacturers in the world. Their business has been built upon good paint reputation. You'll be safe in using their paint.

SOLD BY

F. R. BOWMAN,

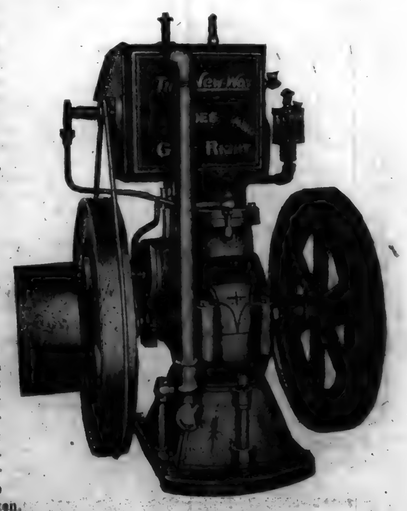
Spencerville, - - - Indiana.

INTERESTING TO UP-TO-DATE FARMERS.

What you need is a reliable gasoline engine to do your work and increase your profits.

The "NEW WAY" Engine is conceded by Mechanical Engineers and men of high authority to be the most perfect engine in mechanical design and construction manufactured.

No water tanks or water. Cooled perfectly by air.



SO SIMPLE YOUR BOY CAN RUN IT.

The next time you are in town, just drop in and examine the 3 to 3 1-2 H. P "NEW WAY" engine on our floor. If you don't say it is the best engine you have ever seen or heard of, we will be greatly mistaken.

Engine can be seen running at The News Office, St. Joe, Ind.

Eugene Hubbard, Butler, Ind.
Exclusive Agent.

Undertaking a Specialty.

Eliza Kinsey takes charge of all funerals. Calls answered day or night Prices reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

Phone No. Office 37-2. Residence 37-3

Mrs. L. W. Yeiser and two sons of Avilla were guests of friends at this place several days last week.

Miss Clara Kyle of Goshen, Ind., spent a few days with Grace Buckman at this place, last week.

JUNE

L 903

HELPFUL ADVICE

You won't tell your family doctor the whole story about your private illness—you are too modest. You need not be afraid to tell Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., the things you could not explain to the doctor. Your letter will be held in the strictest confidence. From her vast correspondence with sick women during the past thirty years she may have gained the very knowledge that will help your case. Such letters as the following, from grateful women, establish beyond a doubt the power of to conquer all female diseases.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Mrs. Norman R. Barndt, of Allentown, Pa., writes:

"Ever since I was sixteen years of age I had suffered from an organic derangement and female weakness; in consequence I had dreadful headaches and was extremely nervous. My physician said I must go through an operation to get well. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I took it and wrote you for advice, following your directions carefully, and thanks to you I am today a well woman, and I am telling all my friends of my experience."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

160 Acre FARMS in Western Canada FREE

What a Settler Can Secure in

WESTERN CANADA

160 Acres Grain-Growing Land FREE.
20 to 40 Bushels Wheat to the Acre.
40 to 90 Bushels Oats to the Acre.
35 to 50 Bushels Barley to the Acre.
Timber for Fencing and Buildings FREE.
Good Laws with Low Taxation.
Splendid Railroad Facilities and Low Rates.
Schools and Churches Convenient.
Satisfactory Markets for all Productions.
Good Climate and Perfect Health.
Chances for Profitable Investments.

Some of the choicest grain-producing lands in Saskatchewan and Alberta may now be acquired in these most healthful and prosperous sections under the

Revised Homestead Regulations

by which entry may be made by proxy (on certain conditions), by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Entry fee in each case is $10.00. For pamphlet, "Last Best West," particulars as to rates, routes, best time to go and where to locate, apply to W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or W. H. Rogers, 3d Floor Traction Terminal Building, Indianapolis, Ind., and H. M. Williams, Room 30, Law Building, Toledo, Ohio, Authorized Government Agents.

Please say where you saw this advertisement.

A Skin of Beauty is a Joy Forever.

DR. T. Felix Gouraud's Oriental Cream or Magical Beautifier.

Removes Tan, Pimples, Freckles, Moth Patches, Rash, and Skin Diseases, and every blemish on beauty, and defies detection. It has stood the test of 50 years, and is so harmless we taste it to be sure it is properly made. Accept no counterfeit of similar name. Dr. L. A. Sayre said to a lady of the haut-ton (a patient): "As you ladies will use them, I recommend 'Gouraud's Cream' as the least harmful of all the skin preparations." For sale by all druggists and Fancy Goods Dealers in the United States, Canada and Europe.

FERD. T. HOPKINS, Prop., 37 Great Jones Street, New York.

Let us do your Printing using

Eagle Linen

for your office stationery. You can get the paper and envelopes to match.

It is the real thing. Take no other.

WIDOWS under NEW LAW obtained
PENSIONS by JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.

SORES AS BIG AS PENNIES.

Whole Head and Neck Covered—Hair All Came Out—Cured in Three Weeks by Cuticura.

"After having the measles my whole head and neck were covered with scaly sores about as large as a penny. They were just as thick as they could be. My hair all came out. I let the trouble run along, taking the doctor's blood remedies and rubbing on salve, but it did not seem to get any better. It stayed that way for about six months; then I got a set of the Cuticura Remedies, and in about a week I noticed a big difference, and in three weeks it was well entirely and I have not had the trouble any more, and as this was seven years ago, I consider myself cured. Mrs. Henry Porter, Albion, Neb., Aug. 25, 1906."

Side Lights on History.

Israel Putnam had shot the wolf.

"I hadn't practiced on the neighbors' cats for nothing," he said, looking around, from force of habit, for a place where he could bury the animal.

Yet he didn't forget to apply for a bounty on the wolf's scalp.

Those Delicious Lemon Pies.

The kind that 'make yo mouth water" are easily made with no fuss ag and at least possible expense if you use "OUR-PIE" Preparation. Don't hesitate. Try it and tell your friends. At grocers. 10 cents. Everybody is pleased with "OUR-PIE." Put up by D-Zerta Food Co., Rochester, N. Y.

When Most Men Pray.

Towns—Scauffer says he never prayed in all his life.

Browne—Well, well, what a monotonous life he has led! Evidently he has never been in a tight place.

If you use ball blue, get Red Cross Ball Blue, the best ball blue. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

Every Year Leap Year.

"That women may propose in leap year is the usually quoted rule, but as a matter of fact, women don't propose then any more or any less than during any other year, for they usually do the proposing, no matter how many days there are in February."

This remark was made by a woman at the close of a club meeting, who expressed her opinions freely, but insisted that she be not quoted.

"Men may think they do the proposing," she continued, "and they do, so far as the formal words are concerned, but the woman has planned and arranged for the proposal long in advance, and has done all that was necessary to lead up to it. It is never so sudden as she makes out.

"Women invite men to propose, and it is perfectly proper that they should do so if their affection prompts it. The fact is, men are often more delicate in love affairs than women. All of you married women have experienced that. They will make the most gentle advances, no matter what it may be. If they are encouraged they proceed, and if they are not they back away gracefully. A woman is quite keen in seeing when a man begins to love her and after that she does the rest.

"Women don't stop for leap year or wait for leap year, for they are the same every year, and encourage a man's love when they want it, and, though they don't tell him in words to propose, they tell him in language he can not misunderstand."—New York Herald.

THE FIRST TASTE.

Learned to Drink Coffee When a Baby.

If parents realized the fact that coffee contains a drug—caffeine—which is especially harmful to children, they would doubtless hesitate before giving the babies coffee to drink.

"When I was a child in my mother's arms and first began to nibble things at the table, mother used to give me sips of coffee. As my parents used coffee exclusively at meals I never knew there was anything to drink but coffee and water.

"And so I contracted the coffee habit early. I remember when quite young, the continual use of coffee so affected my parents that they tried roasting wheat and barley, then ground it in the coffee-mill, as a substitute for coffee.

"But it did not taste right and then went back to coffee again. That was long before Postum was ever heard of; I continued to use coffee until I was 27, and when I got into office work, I began to have nervous spells. Especially after breakfast I was so nervous I could scarcely attend to my correspondence.

"At night, after having coffee for supper, I could hardly sleep, and on rising in the morning would feel weak and nervous.

"A friend persuaded me to try Postum. My wife and I did not like it at first, but later when boiled good and strong it was fine. Now we would not give up Postum for the best coffee we ever tasted.

"I can now get good sleep, am free from nervousness and headaches, I recommend Postum to all coffee drinkers."

"There's a Reason."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

A LONELY GIRL

By Mrs Hungerford

Of late, however, a month or two ago, the knowledge that Brian Deane—O'Connell's nephew—had come back from abroad "on business" had come to Sir Lucien's ears. Business? what business could a man of Deane's stamp have in Ireland? He was doing tolerably well in Australia as a sheep farmer. But business in such a remote little corner of the world as Carrig! When Sir Lucien's lawyer in London saw nothing in his coming, Sir Lucien told him with all his usual urbanity that he was a fool, and started straight for Carrig, and as he hated being alone, without someone on whom to exercise his caustic wit and vile temper, he made a virtue of necessity, and tried to compel some of his relations, and entreat others, to accompany him. Finally he got together neither those who were compelled or were entreated, but a few who from various reasons desired to get out of town for a bit. Amongst them, as we know, Hilary Adare, his nephew and heir.

* * * * * * * *

"May, look here," says Captain Adare, pulling his sister into the library after luncheon. "Did you mean what you said last night?"

"About Amber?"

"Yes. That you were going to get him to ask her here?"

"Of course I meant it."

"Well—ask him now," says he.

"I could have asked him five minutes ago only for you. You would keep talking of partridges. However, 'now,' as you call it, is always the best time." As she spoke she leaves the room.

Adare, thus abandoned to his own thoughts, gives them up to nothing but wonder at the courage that can lie within so frail a body. As for him! Big and strong as he is, he would have thought for many days before plucking up courage to tackle Sir Lucien on such a question as this—or any other either! He is still wondering when May returns.

"Well?" says he, anticipating defeat.

"It is well: I am to invite her to come here on Friday. This day week. Of course he has something on his mind. I think from what he said that he believes Brian Deane is in love with her, and that her coming here—her being acknowledged—will please him so much, that he will give in and make some sort of a compromise about those stones. I was wrong when I thought he would ask her here to spite him. But really, Hilary, I don't think that dreadful man Deane knows anything of them, and even if he did, Amber's coming would not induce him to give them up."

"Oh! he's mad on the point of those stones," says Hilary impatiently. "I don't believe he'll ever see or hear of them again. But all that is beside the mark. Do you mean to tell me, in cold blood, that Sir Lucien has actually given you permission to ask our cousin here?"

"He has, indeed. But, Hilary, why are you so glad?"

"Well, because—because I love her, I think," says Adare, quite simply.

CHAPTER IX.

Adare, finding himself and his horse on the top of a hill that looks straight down on the old mill, hesitated about going home, though he is starving with hunger. Finally—love is a great satisfier—he rushes his good little mare down the hill and makes straight for the mill. Will she be there?

When a man is in love, who backs him up? 'Not his own fellows; they all count him fool! Women don't, however! The man who loves them is wise, they say.

Hilary, having left his horse in the care of a woman whose cabin is noticeable from the road, goes on foot to the mill. Yesterday May had told him of Sir Lucien's consent to her asking Amber to the Castle. To-day he will tell Amber—try to persuade her to accept the invitation. But will she be here? A turn in the road shows him the window in the old mill where first he had seen her, and again a little slim figure—not now in white indeed, but in dark blue serge, catches his eye.

Adare's step quickens, and very soon he has passed over the sodden grasses and weeds lying so thickly and darkly in the enclosure round the old ruin, and having come to the torn-down doorway, mounts the steps with a beating heart, if a glad one, and all at once sees himself in her presence.

"Finding myself here, so close, I thought, you know, seeing you in the window, I might——"

"Of course you might," says she very prettily.

They laugh together very happily. Indeed, so sweet, so confidential is her mood, that Adare thinks the moment wise to break to her the coming of his sister's visit on Friday next, and the invitation from Sir Lucien.

"I've got something to tell you," says he. "You won't like it, I'm afraid, but Sir Lucien wants you to come and stay with us for a week or so."

Amber stares at him.

"Sir Lucien—Sir Lucien wants me to—Oh! it is absurd."

"It is not, indeed. And I entreat you to accept his invitation."

"I—to accept it!"

"Yes. Why not? Look here, now, you are mad with him because you say he has made all the countryside round believe your father had a hand in the selling or doing away with these jewels. Well, if you accept this invitation, all your neighbors will hear of you being a visitor at your uncle's house, and it will do away with all that old gossip, won't it?"

"I don't know," says Amber, in a troubled tone. She has been carried away somewhat by his eloquence—an eloquence that came from his heart.

"It will vindicate your father's memory. It will, indeed. You can see that," goes on Hilary.

"If I thought that——" says she, slowly.

"You may think it. You must."

"Well, I'll go," says she. "Not that I want to, you know"—puckering up her pretty brows into a convincing frown—"but——"

"That's a promise," says he, joyfully. He holds out his hands, and she, with a little laugh that disperses the charming frown at once, lays hers in his.

Dear little hands! In the delight of the moment—the triumph of her consent—he stoops, as if to kiss them. Then, even in the act of stooping, stops short. His eyes become riveted on one of the pretty hands he holds—the right one. Every particle of color in his face dies away.

"Amber," says he, straightening himself, and speaking slowly, and certainly with difficulty, "where did you get those rings?"

CHAPTER X.

He is still staring, as if fascinated, as if disbelieving the sight of his own eyes, at her hand. On it shine two rings; one is a magnificent sapphire, the other a circlet of opals with a diamond of great value in its center. Adare knows them. The old descriptive list of the missing jewels, lent, under certain conditions, to Amber's mother, is well known to him. These two rings, amongst many other far more important possessions, assuredly belong to the lost collection.

"These?" Amber spreads out her small, loveable, brown little hands before her, and lets the rings—the wonderful rings—that shine upon them make full play in the fitful light. "Aren't they pretty? I only wear them sometimes. I don't know why I put them on to-day. But I'm glad now, because you can see them. Mother gave them to me. They are pretty, aren't they?" She pauses, but is so taken up with her delight in her jewelled toys that she does not notice how he lifts his head, that has been lowered, and makes an effort as if to speak—an effort beyond him for the moment.

"I'm afraid," says Adare slowly, and with his very heart dying within him at having to say this awful thing, "that your mother had no right to give them to you."

Her eyes now fill with surprise. There is no anger yet, only surprise.

"No right?"

"Think what you will of me," says he desperately, "I must tell you the truth. Those rings belong to the jewels that your—that Sir Lucien is looking for."

"Oh, no, no, no!" cries she eagerly, passionately, as if with intent of staying his next words. "You are wrong, quite wrong—my mother gave them to me. They could not belong to the jewels that are lost. She gave them to me the very night before she died. Would she give them to me then—and to me—a mere child—if they were not honestly her own?"

He is silent. It is perhaps the most dreadful moment of his life. How can he speak?—how reassure her? His silence strikes to her very heart.

"You don't believe!" cries she, in a low but vehement tone. "Take them, then. Take them!" She pulls them from her fingers, and dashes them with a superb gesture of scorn, and righteous anger, and conscious innocence, at his feet.

They roll round and round, but by a most marvelous chance do not reach any of the many crevices in the old and broken flooring.

"Let me speak!"

"No. Not one word! Go! Do you hear? Go!"

"Not till you hear me!" He stands doggedly before her. He is fighting, as he knows, for his life.

"I will not hear you. Why should I? What are you to me? A month ago I never even heard of you! I care nothing at all about you. Indeed, you are less than nothing to me!"

"Is that true?" says he; and then suddenly catching her hands, "I don't believe it."

"No?" she laughs aloud. Such a miserable laugh. "What do you believe? Neither in me, nor in my father, nor my mother. Not even in your uncle, Sir Lucien, who has been the cause of this last insult. Did he employ you? Did he send you here? Are you a spy?" The smile, now dreadful as her words, is still upon her lips, and she is facing him bravely, defying him, with all the courage of the good old race from which she has sprung, her small head tilted backwards, when suddenly something happens.

The small and slender frame falls a-trembling. She raises two shaking hands to her eyes, and turning sharply aside, ashamed—crushed to the very soul, that he should see her humiliation, she bursts into a passion of tears. A silence, with nothing but that most heart-broken sobbing.

"Amber," exclaims he hoarsely. He goes to her and ventures to touch one of those small hands, pressed so wildly against the bursting lids.

But she shrinks away from him. "Don't touch me. Don't. I could not bear it."

"Don't cry like that, then," says he savagely. "It drives me mad. I wish I had never said a word about those cursed rings. Even now, if you wish it, you can keep them. No one knows of them but you and——"

"Is this another insult?" exclaims she. "Do you think I would have you keep back your knowledge of those rings? Do you think I want to keep them? I suppose my manner is ungracious, but—please pick them up, and"—with a lightning glance at him that very nearly kills him—"go away."

"It shall be as you will, of course," says he, "with regard to my going. But I have nothing whatever to do with those rings; they are yours so far. Sir Lucien may lay claim to them, but how does that concern me? They are his."

"They are nothing to me," says the girl coldly. "Let us make an end of the matter. It is very distasteful to me."

She moves towards the opening in the wall.

"You mean by that"—he follows her—"that you will not accept Sir Lucien's invitation." He stops, looking at her, trying to read her face, his own very pale. "Is this to be the end——?"

She gives a little curt glance, half, only half, turning her head.

"You do not understand me! If I ever hesitated about accepting it, you may be sure all such hesitation is now at an end," says she, smiling at him, but oh! what a cold, repellent smile. "I shall go to Carrig whenever your sister chooses to ask me. I am not one bit ashamed of your finding those rings upon my fingers. I"—with her small head thrown backwards and the brilliant light of battle in her dark blue eyes—"I defy you all!"

"Why should you speak to me like that?" says the young man, a little pale, but with a firm expression round his lips. "Is it fair? Defy Sir Lucien, if you will, but why look upon me as an enemy? Would you have had me act differently? Would you have had me—knowing those rings were not really yours—keep silence?"

"What are you going to do with them?" asks she, faintly. There is a shrinking from them in her sad eyes, and yet a longing—a regret for them, too, that is not to be disguised. She had loved them, delighted in them. They had been her dearest possession, and now he has stepped in and has spoiled her joy in them.

"They are yours as much as mine," says he. "What will you do with them?"

"Oh, no, not mine. It is not that—only——" She covers her face with her hands. "Don't tell him!" A last faint sob escapes her. "Don't tell Sir Lucien!"

"I feel the greatest brute alive," says he. "Do you know I would rather die than make you so unhappy, and yet—Tell him! How could you suggest such a thing? Keep them until the others are discovered——"

"Oh, no. I shall never touch them again; I could not. Could not you?" She looks at him anxiously.

"No. But suppose—suppose we hide them somewhere here." It occurs to him that burying their little secret in the old mill will be a bond between them. "Down in that old cellar we looked into the other day. They could lie there very comfortably until—if ever the others are found."

"Very well." She leads the way down the broken staircase to the hole in the upper flooring, where a mouldy old ladder leads to the cellar beneath.

As Adare puts his foot on the ladder he notices one of the arrows that had attracted his attention before, cut deep into the upper step. "Here is another of those queer marks," says he. "And all pointing downwards. I wonder what it means?"

"Some direction to the mill men, no doubt."

"It is very dark. Are you afraid to come?"

"No." She descends quickly after him, reaching presently a vaulted chamber, dank and dark, and filled with a strong smell of must and earth. It is lighted, if lighted it can be called, by a thin ray of sunshine that creeps in through a small grated opening in a side wall.

Looking round for a likely spot in which to bury them, Adare's eyes suddenly rest on a mark in the wall close to him. An arrow again, and again pointing downwards.

"How curious," says he. "Shall we bury them here? This old arrow may help us to remember them."

"I don't want to remember them," says Amber slowly. "And to dig so near a wall."

"True, it would be harder, no doubt, and we have neither spade nor pick. Well"—moving a little farther from the wall—"here will do, and the arrow, after all, can be a guide even at this distance."

With a bit of iron lying on the earthen floor, Adare digs a little hole in one of the corners close to the grated opening, and there, in his handkerchief, buries the rings. If only he had dug a little further to the right!

(To be continued.)

Soft Fall.

Jinks—I never had much use for feather beds. I don't consider them healthy.

Blinks—Well, I know a man who says he would like to see them all over the country.

Jinks—Indeed! Who is he?

Blinks—Why, an inventor of flying machines.

JUNE

L 903

The General Demand

of the Well-Informed of the World has always been for a simple, pleasant and efficient liquid laxative remedy of known value; a laxative which physicians could sanction for family use because its component parts are known to them to be wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, acceptable to the system and gentle, yet prompt, in action.

In supplying that demand with its excellent combination of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, the California Fig Syrup Co. proceeds along ethical lines and relies on the merits of the laxative for its remarkable success.

That is one of many reasons why Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is given the preference by the Well-Informed. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists. Price fifty cents per bottle.

Trying It on Hubby.

"John, dear, I wish you would taste this milk and see if it's perfectly sweet."

"What for?"

"Because if it's the least bit sour I don't want to give any of it to Fido. It isn't good for him."

You Can Get Allen's Foot-Ease FREE

Write to-day to Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y., for a FREE sample of Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder to shake into your shoes. It cures tired, sweating, hot, swollen, aching feet. It makes new or tight shoes easy. A certain cure for Corns and Bunions. All Druggists and Shoe Stores sell it. 25c.

His Usual Course.

"What do you do," asked the fair bridge player, whispering to the man sitting behind her, "when you have a hand like that?"

"I generally swear," he answered.—Chicago Tribune.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

Lead Us Not Into Temptation.

Hubby—Well, dear, and did you get the stove we needed at the auction sale?

Wifey—No, they hadn't any stoves, but I got a nice refrigerator real cheap.—Boston Transcript.

Instant Relief for All Eyes, that are irritated from dust, heat, sun or wind, PETTIT'S EYE SALVE. All druggists or Howard Bros., Buffalo, N. Y.

Out of every hundred persons in New York city sixty-one are unmarried, thirty-one married, five widowed and three divorced.

Yellow Clothes Are Unsightly.

Keep them white with Red Cross Ball Blue. All grocers sell large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

Greatly Underestimated.

"Bobby," asked his Sunday-school teacher, "do you know how many disciples there were?" The little boy promptly said he did, and answered, "Twelve." Then he went on. "And I know how many Pharisees there were, too."

"Indeed?"

"Yes'm. There was just one less than there was disciples."

"Why, how do you know that? It is nowhere stated how many Pharisees there were."

"I thought everybody knew it," said Bobby. "The Bible says, 'Beware of the 'leven of the Pharisees,' doesn't it?"

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOR ALL KIDNEY DISEASES

OR RHEUMATISM, BRIGHT'S DISEASE, BACKACHE, DIABETES.

375 "Guaranteed"

Paxtine

TOILET ANTISEPTIC

Keeps the breath, teeth, mouth and body antiseptically clean and free from unhealthy germ-life and disagreeable odors, which water, soap and tooth preparations alone cannot do. A germicidal, disinfecting and deodorizing toiletrequisite of exceptional excellence and economy. Invaluable for inflamed eyes, throat and nasal and uterine catarrh. At drug and toilet stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.

Large Trial Sample

WITH "HEALTH AND BEAUTY" BOOK SENT FREE

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., Boston, Mass.

Pattern Department

UP-TO-DATE DESIGNS FOR THE HOME DRESSMAKER

Kimono with Yoke.

The simple full kimono that is made with a smoothly fitted yoke is a favorite one and is always graceful and becoming at the same time that it is easily made. This one can be made either long or short, in sacque style, and with the loose or bishop sleeves. In the illustration a pretty flowered batiste is trimmed with bands of plain color, but there are a great many available materials this season for garments of the sort and many of them are charming in effect while meaning little cost.

PATTERN NO. 5921.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:

Order Coupon.

No. 5921.

SIZE .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

Skirt with Spanish Flounce.

Every design that suits bordered material or flouncing is in demand just now, when there are so many beautiful fabrics of the sort offered. Here is a skirt that is made with a Spanish flounce, and which is eminently graceful and becoming, while it is simple in the extreme. In the illustration it is made of bordered batiste, but there are almost innumerable suitable materials not alone bordered ones, but also al pretty plain materials that are adapted to the style of the skirt, for such always can be trimmed to give a bordered effect.

PATTERN NO. 5957.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:

Order Coupon.

No. 5957.

SIZE .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

A Refuge.

They were speaking of changes in Willowby since Mr. Ransom had left the village, twenty years before, to seek his fortune out West. "Zeb Hobart is enjoying these last years," said the constant resident to the returned wanderer. "He had a pretty exciting life whilst Ruby lived. Never knew what would happen to him next; but he's all calmed down now."

"Somebody wrote there was talk of his marrying the other sister, Polly," said the Westerner; but the response was a violent shake of his old neighbor's head.

"No foundation to that gossip," he asserted, with decision. "Zeb spoke with me about Polly himself. He said to me, 'I won't speak a word against her that's gone,' he said, 'nor her that's left; but there's a man from down below has made me an offer to go with his show as wild-beast tamer, from bearing the luck I had with them bear's cubs I took. And if Polly looms up too close, I shall take up with his offer, and get a chance to live out my days in some kind o' peace and security.' Those were his words, and you can make what you want to out of 'em."

A KENTUCKY CASE

That Will Interest All Suffering Women.

Mrs. Della Meanes, 328 E. Front St., Maysville, Ky., says: "Seven years ago I began to notice sharp pain in the kidneys and a bearing down sensation through the hips, dull headache and dizzy spells. Dropsy appeared and my feet and ankles swelled so I could not get my shoes on. I was in misery and had despaired of ever getting cured when I decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills. One box helped me so much that I kept on until entirely cured."

Sold by all dealers, 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Joke on the Judge.

The appointment of Lord Coleridge recalls that his father, when on the bench, was fond of allowing ladies to sit with him. This was particularly the case in the famous baccarat case. Shortly afterwards Sir Henry Hawkins (Lord Brampton) was trying a case in which some marionettes played a prominent part. Two male dolls and a female figure were produced in court.

"Where shall we put these figures?" asked a lawyer.

"I suppose," replied Sir Henry, maliciously, "the lady ought to be accommodated with a seat on the bench."—Daily Mail.

Uncle Sam Wants Flying Machines.

The United States government is advertising for bids for heavier-than-air flying machines. Acceptable machines must be able to carry two persons of a combined weight of 350 pounds besides fuel sufficient for a continuous flight of 125 miles. The must also be able to make at least 40 miles an hour. They must be able to start from any open field and land in like surroundings without damage.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

THE ETERNAL FEMININE.

Western Woman in New York Loses $3,000 From Her Bustle.

The last article of woman's wearing apparel which has done duty as a bank has failed. In the course of years feminine ingenuity has devised many ways of carrying money with more or less safety, but it remained for a western woman to use a bustle for a bank, as the following advertisement in a New York paper revealed:

LOST—$3,000 by a self-supporting woman; a liberal reward will be paid. TROTH, 148 W. 46th st.

The $3,000 of the advertisement was sewed securely by Mrs. Troth, of Denver, into a little pad stuffed with curled hair, which, with the modern woman in her close fitting tailor suit, is the only thing in the way of a bustle worn. How or when the money disappeared no one knows. It was the savings of years. When the owner discovered that there was a little rip in the top of the pad she investigated and found the money was gone. That is all she knows about it. Mrs. Troth, who is a young woman, went to New York three months ago to perfect herself in tailoring that she might return to Denver and be fully fitted to open a millinery and dressmaking establishment. The money which she was afraid to trust to a bank, was her capital with which she intended to go into business.

The Necessary Shock.

A college professor had been seriously ill of a fever for several weeks, but the fever had left him at last, and he lay in a stupor, utterly exhausted.

"This is the really critical period," the attending physician said to the watchers, in an undertone. "If he has sufficient vitality to carry him through this—and I am strongly disposed to hope he has—he will recover. At present there is nothing we can do but be patient and give nature a chance, watching in the meantime for an opportunity to awaken his interest in what is going on about him."

One of the attendants, who happened to be standing near the window looking at the rosy sunset, remarked to the doctor:

"See what a lurid sky there is."

The sick man opened his eyes and turned his head in the direction indicated.

"Lurid!" he exclaimed, in a tone of disgust. "If you will consult your dictionary, madam, you will find that lurid means gloomy, ghastly, dismal."

"He will recover!" announced the doctor, triumphantly.

The coal purchases of the United States government aggregate in value nearly $6,300,000 annually.

WARM WEATHER

EMOLLIENTS

For Preserving, Purifying and Beautifying the Skin, Scalp, Hair, and Hands, for Sunburn, Heat Rash, Chafings, and for all the purposes of the Toilet.

Sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27, Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5, Rue de la Paix; Australia, R. Towns & Co., Sydney; India, B. K. Paul, Calcutta; China, Hong Kong Drug Co.; Japan, Maruya, Ltd., Tokio; South Africa, Lennon, Ltd., Cape Town, etc.; Russia, Ferrein (Apteka), Moscow; U. S. A., Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

Post-free, Cuticura Booklet on the Skin.

DAISY FLY KILLER Placed anywhere, attracts and kills all flies; neat, clean, ornamental, convenient, cheap. Lasts all season. Absolutely harmless; will not soil or injure anything. Guaranteed effective. All dealers or sent prepaid for 30c. Harold Somers, 149 De Kalb ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

F. W. N. U. - - - - No. 23—1903

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Adv. in this paper.

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

$3.00 $3.50

SHOES AT ALL PRICES, FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE FAMILY MEN, BOYS, WOMEN, MISSES AND CHILDREN.

W. L. Douglas makes and sells more men's $2.50, $3.00 and $3.50 shoes than any other manufacturer in the world, because they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater value than any other shoes in the world to-day.

Fast Color Eyelets Used Exclusively.

W. L. Douglas $4 and $5 Gilt Edge Shoes Cannot Be Equalled At Any Price

CAUTION. W. L. Douglas name and price is stamped on bottom. Take No Substitute. Sold by the best shoe dealers everywhere. Shoes mailed from factory to any part of the world. Illustrated Catalog free to any address.

W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

TEN MILLION BOXES A YEAR

The most wonderful record in all history—merit made it. The great sums of money spent in advertising have only served to make CASCARETS known, but the greatest advertisement ever printed could do no more than induce a person to try CASCARETS once—a free sample, or at most, a 10 cent box. Then comes the test, and if CASCARETS had not proved their merit beyond the highest expectations there would not today, after five years on the market, be a sale of nearly a million boxes a month. This great success has been made by the kind words of our friends. No one who has ever tried CASCARETS fails to be pleased and talk nicely about them. CASCARETS are not only easiest to buy, to carry, to take, to give, but are also the best medicine for the bowels ever discovered. Piles full of voluntary testimonials prove that Cascarets are a perfect cure for Constipation, Appendicitis, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, Insomnia, Palpitation of the Heart, Bad Breath, Bad Blood, Pimples, Piles, Worms and all bowel diseases of childhood and old age. They make mother's milk mildly purgative. Mama takes a CASCARET, baby gets the benefit. Children like to take them. They are the one perfect, unequaled family remedy. Nothing more can be said. Everybody should carry a box in the pocket and have another in the house. Don't forget "they work while you sleep," and "a CASCARET at night makes you feel all right—in the morning." The genuine tablet octagonal, stamped CCC, put up in light blue enameled metal boxes, and never sold in bulk. Sold by all druggists, 10c, 25c, 50c.

Cascarets

CANDY CATHARTIC

THEY WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

GREATEST SALE IN THE WORLD

JUNE

L 903

Swift's Pride Soap

for easy house cleaning

per cake

5c.

6 for 25.

Sol Barney,

SPENCERVILLE R F D NO 1.

Joe Boger went to Michigan, last week.

Zona Horn went to Ft. Wayne, last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Horn took dinner with Wm. Goldsmith and wife, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs Geo. Viberg of Ft. Wayne attended the funeral of Mrs Vanzile, Sunday.

The committee on arrangements for the next Oberholtzer Reunion met at James Oberholtzer, Saturday evening. The reunion will be held August 15 at the home of Charles Hartzel of Maysville.

The largest class of graduates in the history of Allen county numbering 195 will receive their diplomas from the graded school on June 6th at the Princess Rink, Ft. Wayne, Ind. Of the above number Springfield township furnishes the following:- Ethel Mae Roberts, Ruth Miller, Constance Roller, Martin M. Moore, Sarah Roth, Vernon Roller, Ursia Rhea Miller, Jacob Amstutz, Frank Goldsmith, Glyda Umstead, Nannie T. Moore, Sarah J. Reichelderfer, George Pounce, Roy Gessner, Willis Wilson Wann and Iva Ann Miller,

County Line News.

Frank Stuckey is reroofing his barn.

William Watson and family were at Auburn, Saturday.

Mrs. Wm. Wyatt was on the sick list, a few days last week.

Solomon Goldsmith and wife spent Sunday with Ben Gerig and family.

Wm. T. Wyatt and wife attended the decoration service at Auburn, Sunday.

Geo. Rinehold, wife and daughter Agnes, spent Friday with the formers father, John Rinehold of Dutch Ridge who is in feeble health,

R. R. Wyatt received a slight electric shock during the thunderstorm, Monday evening, May 15, while the injuries were slight they will prove troublesome for some time.

FAIRVIEW

Potato crates at the Noble Hoop Co. St. Joe, Ind.

Quite a number from this place attended the Decoration Exercises at Auburn Sunday.

Quite a number from this place and Concord went to the cemetery west of Concord, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ollinger of Canton, Ohio, are guests of their daughter Mrs. Norman Rolland.

Anything you want in soft, stiff or straw hat line at BARNEY'S.

Mrs. Albert Ginther returned to Ft. Wayne Tuesday, her brother Paul Brown accompaning her.

The Misses Ethel and Erma Houser and friend Miss Gertrude Price of Chicago, spent Sunday with George Morr's at Auburn Junction.

Thinks It Saved his Life.

Lester M. Nelson, of Naples, Maine, says in a recent letter: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery many years, for coughs and colds, and I think it saved my life. I have found it a reliable remedy for throat and lung complaints, and would no more be without a bottle than I would be without food." For nearly forty years New Discovery has stood at the head of throat and lung remedies. As a preventive of pneumonia, and healer of weak lungs it has no equal. Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Will be at It.

MR. EDITOR:-

We are frequently asked, will there be a Prohibition ticket in Concord township? Yes, township, county, state, and national in every county in Indiana and every state in the Union. Why? Because we as a political party believe the rum business is wrong local, state or national Therefore demand an unconditional surrender of the whole business under the American flag. A call will be made in due time for a township meeting to nominate the ticket.

By Order of Committee.

METHODIST PROTESTANT CHURCH

At the M. P. church next Sunday at 10:15 a. m. the theme will be "Our Greatest Needs." All are requested to be present especially the members of the church.

S. Heininger, Pastor.

Local News Items

For Sale: Two seated surrey, good as new. H. V. KINSEY & SON.

Wm. and Harry Randall spent Saturday and Sunday at Waterloo.

Tomato, cabbage, sweet potatoes and celery plants for sale at NORTHRUP'S.

Sam Collins and a young Wilderson boy will leave today to join the navy.

Ye Editor will leave tomorrow for Logansport to attend the meeting of the Indiana Editorial Association at that place June 4 and 5.

C. R. Price and wife left last night for Indianapolis, where they expect to attend the meeting of the Indiana Dental Association. Office open after June 10.

L. D. Nelson and wife and Emma White were entertained to dinner at the home of Ed Berry in honor of Mr. Bryson and wife. L. D. Nelson entertained them on Monday.

SPENCERVILLE R F D NO 2.

Clint Wearley and wife made a business trip to Hicksville, Monday.

Several from here expect to attend the commencement at Spencerville, tonight.

Melvin Howey, wife and little son spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Howey.

Mrs. Clara Clark of Garrett, spent a couple of days with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Howey

Mort Shutt and wife attended "Grand Lodge" at Indianapolis a couple of days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stafford and children of Hicksville, spent Saturday with D. M. Kelley and family.

Wallace Miller and family spent Friday evening at the home of D. M. Kelley and family. It being Vernie Kelley's birthday. Ice cream and cake was served.

COBURN'S CORNERS.

Bertha Shull is slowly improving.

Neckties to suit everybody at Barney's

Crescent Wheat and Corn Flakes at KAGEY'S.

There will be no preaching at the Corner's, Sunday.

Lee O. Tustison returned to his work at South Whitley, Sunday.

Memorial day was observed at the Alton cemetery, Saturday forenoon.

Clyde Hart will return to Auburn, Wednesday, as member of petit jury.

C. A. Tustison, wife and son Earl, and W. F. Maxwell, wife and sons were at Butler, Thursday.

Rev. Brown has organized a teachers training class at the Corner's No regular night for meeting has been set.

Cold cooked ham at KAGEY'S for hot weather.

A large crowd attended the children's exercises at the Corner's, Sunday evening. The children did well and deserve much praise. The collection was $21.96.

The band was quite busy Saturday they furnished music for Cheesetown in the morning, Newville in the afternoon and St. Joe in the evening. The boys are improving and deserve the patronage of the community.

Washington Hart isn't so well at this writing.

Class No. 5 are arranging for an ice cream social, June 13.

Fred Walker was guest of his brother, Percy and family, last week.

The Coburntown choir met with Mrs. Pluma Hamilton, Monday night.

Violet Andress of Kendallville, visited with C. M. Andress, last week.

Mrs. Jennie Abel of St. Joe was guest of Mrs. Howard Northrup, Saturday. Anna Abel was also present.

Anna Franks and children of Auburn visited her father a few days, last week.

Little Kathrine Shull is guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hamilton, a few days.

Mrs. Byron Hadsell and granddaughter, Gale of Hicksville, visited with Saxe Hadsell's, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs Art Pinkerton and family and Grace Baltz visited with Clyde Hart and family, Sunday.

Sol Burtsfield

Nicholas Goldsmith and wife were in town Monday enroute to New Paris, Ind., to attend the funeral of one of his old neighbors, Solomon Burtsfield. The news of his sudden death came Monday morning, the funeral being yesterday. Heart trouble causing his death. Mr. Burtsfield lived in the Spencerville community for a number of years, living first on the Hollabaugh farm and then moved to the Houk farm. He has been moved from there about eight years but is remembered by a large number of people.

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

BELL PHONE NO. 82.

St. Joe, - Indiana.

June Muslin Sale.

Begining Thursday Morning June 4th. and ENDING SATURAY NIGHT JUNE 13th.

We are going to give our patrons an opportunity to buy Muslin at the lowest prices in THREE Years. This will be a good time to replenish your Sheets, Pillow Cases, Etc at old time prices. We will also make special prices on made-up Muslin Skirts, Gowns, Corset Covers, Drawers, Etc. Besides the special prices on muslins, we will make special price inducements in all departments of our big store. Don't miss this opportunity to save gold dollars.

Here are some of the prices that will prevail.

20 yds best L L, yard wide brown muslin	1.00	9x12 Axminister rugs - -	$21.98
Ladies muslin corset covers -	23c	Big lot summer wash goods. Sale	10-15c
Ladies muslin night gowns -	42c	Genuine Leather suit case 24 inch	5.00
Real Lonsdale 36in bleached muslin	8 1-2c	3 cans Superior Sweet Corn : :	25c
$1 fine bleached table linen -	89c	All our Best Ginghams :	12c
75c all wool, yard wide carpet -	63c
7ft best spring roller window shades	25c
16yds Sparten brown sheeting -	$1.00
9-4 bleached sheeting worth 30c. Sale	25c
Ladies muslin drawers :	23 and 47c

Special prices on ladies white waists. 15c ladies gauze vests.....11c

Special prices on ladies ready-to wear skirts. 2,000 yds best prints 6c

3¼ lbs Queen Bee crackers.....25c

During this sale we will give a pair of our BEST HOSE with each pair of Oxfords or Shoes sold.

A lot of 15c Ginghams @.....7½c Special prices on all dress goods.

BIG FOUR STORE.

JUNE

L 903

Supplement to the

St. Joe News.

St. Joe, Ind. Wednesday, June 3, 1908. Fred B. Leighty, Pub.

DeKalb County Sunday School Convention.

Corunna, June 9 and 10.

TUESDAY FORENOON.

9:30 Song Service, conducted by W. H. Getts, Corunna.
9:45 Devotional Exercises, led by Mrs. C. B. Jones, Garrett.
10:00 Welcome Address, by Rev. J. F. Metzler, Waterloo.
10:10 Response by Rev. S. E. Slater, Auburn.
10:20 Subject, "What Good, is a Sunday School in a Community?" by Rev. H. H. Spiher, Fort Wayne, Ind.
10.35 General Discussion, led by C. C. Woodcox, St. Joe.
10:50 Duette, Appointment of Committees, Miscellaneous Business, Song and Adjournment.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON.

1:30 Song Service, conducted by J. H. Urey, Corunna.
1:45 Devotional Exercises, conducted by Mrs. Georgie Miller, Ashley.
2:00 Subject, "The Problems of the Day," Rev. Cummins, Ashley.
2:15 Discussion, conducted by Rev. Wells, Butler.
2:35 Solo.
2:40 "Advertising the Sunday School," Rev. S. Heininger, St. Joe.
2:55 Discussion, conducted by Rev. F. A. Dressel, Spencerville.
3:10 "When Is a Teacher Prepared," Mrs. M. A. Ehlers, Auburn.
3:25 Discussion, Mrs. Ida Everetts, Butler.
3:40 Reports of Township President, Song and Adjournment.

WEDNESDAY MORNING.

9:00 Song Service, by Marion Kutzner, Auburn.
9:15 Devotional, led by H. M. Fretz, Auburn.
9:30 "How to Teach a Lesson," illustrated by using International Lesson for June 14-8, by Geo. N. Burnie.
10:00 Music.
10:10 "How Ought the Subject of Temperance Appeal to the Young?" A. L. Moudy, Waterloo.
10:25 General Discussion, R. D. Biven, Waterloo.
10:40 "How to Interest the Young Men," W. E. Moudy, Butler.
10:55 Discussion, Mrs. Mary Strebe, Auburn. Miscellaneous Business, Report of Committees, Song and Adjournment.

TUESDAY EVENING.

7:30 Song Service and Devotional Exercises, Rev. Harry Steevens, Garrett.
7:45 Address, by Geo. N. Burnie, State Sup't. of Education Department. Song and Adjournment.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

1:00 Song Service, F. M. Miller, Hudson.
1:15 "Closing the Gaps Between the Church and Sunday School," Rev. Sterling, Garrett.
1:30 Discussion, H. W. Mounts, Garrett.
1:45 Special Music.
1:50 "The Bible as a Book of Literature," Clyde Hart, Coburntown.
2:05 Discussion, Rev. J. A. Brown, St. Joe.
2:20 Address, State Worker.
2:40 Song, Report of Secretary and Treasurer, State Announcements, Report of Nominating Committee; Installation Prayer, Rev. S. M. Hill, Newville. Unfinished Business and Adjournment.

NEWVILLE.

Mabel Williams of St. Joe visited at John Whitehurst's, Monday.

The sheriff of Auburn was in town Thursday after John Friend, who he took back with him.

Several from this way attended the Children Exercises at Coburntown, Sunday evening and all report a fine entertainment.

Harry and Archie Dean of Auburn are visiting relatives at this place.

Mrs. Anna McDonald left Friday for Elkhart where she joins her son, King, who is going to school at that place,

John Whitehurst has started his restaurant to running again.

Clarence Wyatt took Mr. Mason to Hicksville, Saturday, where he will visit for a few days,

John Wilderson expects to leave, this week, for the navy, if he successfully passes the examination.

Dr. Casebere of Auburn was at Horace Enzors, Friday, to lift the quarantine.

Mrs. Huldah Roberts of Toledo and Mrs. Josephine Brewster of Grand Rapids, Ohio, are visiting relatives at this place.

Mrs. Porter and Mr. Benard and wife of Ft. Wayne; Mr. Wm. Blair of Butler, Mr. Wilder of Farmer and some friends at Hicksville, attended the funeral services of B. F. Blair, last Wednesday.

The Township Sunday school convention was held at the Church of Christ, Sunday. This was the first one this year and a great interest was taken in the work.

WABASH CORNERS.

Winfield Pervines spent Friday at Garrett.

Jake Waits and family of Edon, O., are the guests of Frank Loux and family a few days.

Lizzie Pervines is working in the Herrick restaurant at Auburn.

Will Fairfield of Spencerville did some cement work for Dennis Burley, Thursday.

Little George Nelson is on the sick list.

Sherman Rickett was to Ft. Wayne, Friday.

George Pervines, wife and daughter Walneta were Sunday guests of Wall Wasson and family.

Scott Maurer was the guest of his sister, Mrs. Maud Braithwaite and family of Ft. Wayne, Sunday.

Neva and Pauline Andress and Violet Monroe spent Sunday afternoon with Wm. Pervines and family.

Mrs. Eva Miller was the guest of her parents near New Haven, over Sunday.

Cal Loux of this place and Miss Susie Sumption of New Haven, were married Friday evening, May 29, at the home of Rev. J. C. McCain in New Haven, they returned to this place Saturday evening, when the women gave them a rousing belling. On Sunday the infair dinner was held at the home of Frank Loux, the father of the groom. Those present were Jake Waits, wife and four children of Edon, Ohio. Mrs Mary Wrenn and son Martin and daughter Flora of Spencerville, Mrs. Deem Hull and two daughters Marie and Goldie, Mrs. Wm. Pervines and son Lewis and daughter Mary, Stella Hull, Letitia White and Angelia Wolff. The couple expect to live with the grooms parents during the summer. We see no reason why she should not make Mr. Loux a valued helpmate and together sail on life's sea and not encounter an unusual number of shoals. They have the best wishes of many friends, the correspondent throwing in her mite with the rest. The guests were treated to candy and cigars. Among the amusing events of the evening was when Wm. was taken to the barn and made to dance in a hog trough.

Every Man His Own Doctor.

The average man cannot afford to employ a physician for every slight ailment or injury that may occur in his family, nor can he afford to neglect them, as so slight an injury as the scratch of a pin has been known to cause the loss of a limb. Hence every man must from necessity be his own doctor for this class of ailments. Success often depends upon prompt treatment which can only be had when suitable medicines are kept at hand. Chamberlain's Remedies have been in the market for many years and enjoy a good reputation.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm (an antiseptic liniment) for cuts, bruises, burns sprains, swellings, lame back and rheumatic pains.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for constipation, billiousness and stomach troubles.

Chamberlain's Salve for diseases of the skin.

One bottle of each of these five preparations costs but $1.25. For sale by H. Milliman, St. Joe; F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

JUNE

0202

L 903

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXII. ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA. WEDNESDAY, JUNE 10, 1908. NO. 24

Every little bit added to what you've got makes just a little bit more.

Is your money making money for you? The more of it you have working for you, the less you need to work yourself. We pay 4 per cent interest compounded semi-annually on Certificates of Deposit.

$1.00 will double itself in 17 years 183 days.
$1.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $147.49.
$5.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $737.43
$10.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $1474.85

Now is the time to save. Anyone can save from $1.00 to $10.00 a month if they only will. It's not what you earn but what you save Fourper cent interest added to what you've already got makes just a little bit more

Grabill State Bank,

Grabill, Indiana.

Joseph Witmer, Pres. Albert Egly, Cashier.
David Klopfenstein, V. Pres. Marcus Yager, Asst. Cashier.

METHODIST PROTESTANT CHURCH

On account of Children's Day services at the Fairview M. P. church and the Lutheran church in St. Joe, there will be no preaching at the St. Joe M. P. church next Sunday evening.

S. Heininger, Pastor.

Resolutions of Respect

WHEREAS, our Heavenly Father in His divine Providence has removed a faithful sister, Ella High, to her eternal reward. We the members of Concord M. P. church and Ladies Aid Society have lost a worker whose pure christian character and unselfish devotion to duty have enshrined her in the hearts of all who were fortunate enough to know her.

THEREFORE be it resolved, that we mourn the loss to us and profit by her Christian example in our labors for the master,

Be it RESOLVED, that we extend to the husband and family our heartfelt sympathy. Commending them to the Savior and the realization of the hope in the life beyond.

RESOLVED, that a copy of these resolutions be given to the family printed in the St. Joe News and put on the church record.

Committee { James Erwin. Hattie Dragoo Anna Baker

RESOLVED that we the members of the Concord M. P. Church, through the death of brother Henry Seberts, will be greatly missed from our Church.

RESOLVED that we extend our sympathy to the bereaved wife and family, as God through His divine wisdom has taken from our number a faithful brother

BE IT RESOLVED that we humbly bow in submission to Him who doeth all things well.

RESOLVED that a copy of these Resolutions be given to the family, printed in the St. Joe News, and put on the church record.

Committee { James Erwin Hattie Dragoo Anna Baker

Peter Steward of Spencerville is working for J. C. Hull this week.

Justus Winslow and family of near Auburn were guests of Aron Thomas' and other relatives a few days last week.

314 West Second St. AUBURN, IND.

Choice Cut Flowers and Artistic Floral Work.

ON SHORT NOTICE,

Best Quality at the LOWEST PRICES.

MAKE OUR ACQUAINTANCE

C. M. TenEyck & Son,

Proprietors.

HOME and BELL TELEPHONES.

Editorial Association.

The 38th Annual Meeting of the Northern Indiana Editorial Association meet at Logansport, Ind., June 4 5 of last week, of which your editor had the pleasure of meeting with. The first session was on Thursday evening, in the parlors of the Murdock Hotel, the finest one in the city Just before they did this they were entertained by the Elk's band and Y. M. C. A. orchestra from the plaza of the hotel. And then, when the first of a series of business sessions were over, they all went to the Nelson Theatre to witness the refined vaudeville which was being produced there At 8:30, the editors were called to order by the president, Oliver Hand. The program was carried out as much as possible, owing to the absence of several. The convention was then given a treat to carnations presented them by The Journal. At 10 o'clock the meeting was adjourned until the afternoon, Automobiles were waiting ready to take the visitors out for a sight-seeing trip. In all there were nearly one hundred in attendance and there were room for all. In this trip they were shown the sights of Logansport and in the wind up they were landed at Long Cliff. Here refreshments were served to the party after whichthe guides showed them through the different rooms. The guide stating to our party that the institution contained over 900 persons of which number the men were 486 the balance being women. After viewing the grounds the party walked to the interurban track where a special car was awaiting us. We were then taken to the city and from there to The Country Club, a resort belonging to the well-to-do people of Logansport, about 5 miles east of the city, at this junction a most elaborate dinner was served after which the program was finished. In all the trip was a most enjoyable one and will long be remembered. While at Long Cliff and The Country Club a photo was taken of the association. The Logansport people surely entertained us royally, everything free that we wanted. Below we quote a piece taken from The Journal of Logansport.

Among the arrivals Thursday afternoon were F. B. Leighty, St. Joe News Fred Felix, Peru; O. M. Hand, Royal Centre; F. P. Gould, Kewanna; C. A. McCormick, Kewanna; J. E. Buchanan and wife, Auburn. This with the number already listed brought the number up to about 40.

Leighty, of the St. Joe News, is the only "single footer" in the crowd. All the other editors are accompanied by their wives but Leighty explains that as yet he "has no women folks" and says he looks to the entertainment committee to supply him. There is one more thing that can be said and that is he was the youngest editor present at the meeting.

Political Announcements.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Please announce my name as a candidate for the office of Assessor, subject to the will of the republican convention. (Concord township)

D. W. BAKER.

Dale Walter was at home, Friday.

Frank Walter was at Auburn, Wednesday.

Chas. Kinsey and family visited here, Friday.

To Chicago.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad will sell very low round trip ticket to Chicago June 13, 14, 15 and 16 account the Republican National convention. Return limit June 27. Consult nearest B. & O. agent for further particulars.

THE TICKET.

REPRESENTATIVE
EDWARD M. McKENNAN

CLERK
WARREN A. AUSTIN

TREASURER
HIRAM H. SLAYBAUGH

RECORDER
SAMUEL G. HARVERSTOCK

SHERIFF
RALPH THOMAS

CORONER
FRED BRIGGS

SURVEYOR
CHARLES L. WAGONER

COMMISSIONER S. E.
WILLIS A. DANNELS

COMMISSIONER S. W.
EDWARD KELHAM

Result of Primary Election.

The democratic primary which was held last Thursday, placed the above ticket in the field. The polls were open from 11 o'clock in the forenoon untill 8 o'clock in the evening. The votes show an increase over last year, it is thought that nearly 1000 votes were out. Below is the vote of each candidate:

For Representative
Cyrus E. Gallatin	749
Edward M. McKennan	1315
For Clerk
Edgar W. Atkinson	211
John Hebel	575
Warren A. Austin	834
William H. Leas	519
For County Treasurer
Hiram H. Slaybaugh	1955
For Recorder
Lorenzo D. Nelson	417
J. M. Norford	437
Daniel E. Hershberger	404
Samuel G. Haverstock	831
For Sheriff
Ralph L. Thomas	1608
James S. Lowe	510
For Coroner
Fred Briggs	1627
For County Surveyor
Charles L. Wagoner	1448
C. E. Vanauken	607
Commissioner S. E.
John R. Moore	367
Willis A. Dannells	1013
Amos Snyder	340
Hiram D. Poper	294
Commissioner S. W.
Edward Kelham	1784
Total number of votes cast	2145

Colic and Diarrhoea.

Pains in the stomach, colic and diarrhoea are quickly relieved by the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by H. Milliman St. Joe; F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

Bible Study.

Eight reasons why I believe the Bible is the word of God, is the topic for discussion at the Bible Training Class, at the Church of Christ, Thursday evening, June 11, at 7:30. This class is increasing in attendence and enthusiasm and invites the presence of all persons interested in bible study.

The Sunday School of the Church of Christ is at present engaged in a friendly contest with Harlan and Milford. We want to win; Come and help us.

Temperance Lecture

A temperance lecture will be given in the Concord church on Sunday, June 28 by Will Moudy. Special music will be given by the boys class of the M. P. Sunday School of St. Joe and by the boys at Concord.

Do You Know

I am agent for the National Portrait Co., the oldest, largest and best in Chicago. Why patronize agents out-side when I am here to back the work. I have better work for $1.50 then they put out for $1.98. Frames ordered or made to order.

The Journal Gazette.

25 cts. for a trial month with the Sunday paper. The Woodburn murdor trial is now on. I can save you money on any paper or magazine you want. I expect to go over the routes this week and next, so if there is any thing in this line please be ready for me.

Phone No. 52.

Geo Milliman.

St. Joe, Indiana.

Base Ball.

Saturday St. Joe will witness a ball game between MarkCenter and our local team. On Saturday, June 27 we will cross bats with Waterloo and on Wednesday, July 1st, Antwerp boys will be in town. All the above mentioned games are to be played here on the west end grounds. Admission 15.

A Grand Family Medicine.

"It gives me pleasure to speak a good word for Electric Bitters," writes Mr. Frank Conlan of No. 436 Houston St., New York. "It is a grand family medicine for dyspepsia and liver complications; while the lame back and weak kidneys it cannot be too highly recommended." Electric Bitters regulate the digestive functions, purify the blood, and impart renewed vigor and vitality to the weak and debilitated of both sexes. Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store. 50 cts.

Hand Hurt.

Martin Engle sustained a very bad injury on his right hand Tuesday morning while helping hay bailers at his place north of town. As we are told the door which opens when the ball is tied caught his hand and scraped it in a bad condition, tearing the artery in a horrible manner. Dr. B. S. Sheffer was summoned to dress the wound.

Local Items.

Don't forget a package of the breakfast food of KAGEY.

Try the new breakfast food at KAGEY'S. 10 cts. 3 for 25.

For Sale: Two seated surrey, good as new. H. V. KINSEY & SON.

Ice cream and Strawberries at Concord, Saturday night, June 13. Come.

Chas. Huffman and wife went to Auburn, Wednesday, to visit with their daughter.

Meade Baker of Rittman, O., has been spending a week at home. He is learning telegraphy at that place.

Vera and Flossie Copp spent Monday and Tuesday at Hicksville. They took part in the commencement exercises Monday evening.

Last Tuesday eve another lady was added to the Pythian Sisters, Mrs. Flora Gee was iniated, after which dainty refreshments were served.

A yearling, red heifer came to Harvey Kimes's about 2 months ago and he would be pleased to find the owner. Owner can have same by paying for its keeping and this ad.

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

BELL PHONE NO. 12.

St. Joe, Indiana.

JUNE

0203

L 903

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

FRED B. LEIGHTY, - - Publisher.

1908 JUNE 1908

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
•	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30	•	•	•	•
•	•	•	•	•	•	•

F. Q. 6th. F. M. 14th. L. Q. 21st. N. M. 28th.

FEATURES OF INTEREST

ABOUT THAT WHICH HAS BEEN AND IS TO BE.

All Sides and Conditions of Things are Shown. Nothing Overlooked to make it Complete.

President Thrown by Horse.

President Roosevelt had an exceedingly narrow escape from a serious accident while horseback riding in Rock Creek Park in Washington. The President was riding a new horse, a young animal. The party rode down through a cut in a bank, forded a creek and was ascending the bank on the other side when the President's horse reared. Mr. Roosevelt leaned forward in the saddle and threw the reins down in loops to avoid pulling the horse backward. On reaching the top of the bank the horse reared a second time, and the President leaned forward again, but the animal stood up straight on its hind legs and went over backward into the creek with the President. Feeling that he was going backward Mr. Roosevelt slipped from the saddle, and, as luck would have it, fell into the creek close beside the horse, which landed on its back. The horse fell on the down stream side of the President, who, realizing that he would be in danger from the animal's feet should the horse turn toward him, got out of the way as rapidly as possible. The horse, however, turned over from the President and got up. It was captured at once and the President remounted and rode for an hour and a half before returning to the White House. The fall from the horse's back into the stream bed was for a distance of more than ten feet. The stream was about two feet deep, with an exceedingly rocky bed. Neither Mr. Roosevelt nor the horse received the slightest injury.

Dogs Turn on Master.

Battling for forty hours against a pack of hunger-maddened dogs on an ice pack off the coast of Labrador, with the temperature ten below zero and with only a knife to defend himself from being torn to pieces by the savage brutes, is the thrilling experience that Dr. Wilfred Grenfel, the celebrated missionary physician, has recently passed through. The story of Dr. Grenfel's escape from death is told by Captain W. Bartlett, of the steamer Strathcona, which has just arrived in St. Johns, N. F., from the north. Captain Bartlett was with Commander Peary on several trips.

Gas Kills Four People.

Mrs. Mary Dohrman, who lived at 69 Tell Court, Chicago, and her three children were found dead, having been asphyxiated by gas escaping from a stove. Mrs. Dohrman had entertained the children of the neighborhood at a party in honor of the birthday of her eldest daughter. The company broke up late in the evening and from that time until the bodies were found by neighbors, nothing was seen or heard of them. A rubber tube which conveyed the gas to a small cooking stove was found detached, and it is supposed that it slipped off during the night and filled the house with gas.

Two Little Ones Drown.

Else and Robert Miller, aged 13 and 8 years respectively, accompanying their father on his first week-day outing in five years, were drowned off Leeper Park, near South Bend, Ind., while the parent was on the mainland and search for the bodies has so far been unavailing. It is believed that the little boy either fell into the St. Joseph river or attempted to wade and his sister attempted to rescue him and that they were quickly swallowed up in the swift running river.

Train Ditched by Wreckers.

A special train on the Minnesota and International railroad was ditched near Nishawa, Minn., by wreckers and the engine and three cars derailed. Chas. Yorn, the baggageman, was badly bruised. No one else was injured.

Son Born to Mr. and Mrs. Watson.

A son was born Wednesday to James E. Watson, Republican candidate for Governor of Indiana at their home in Rushville, Ind. Among the messages of congratulation was one from President Roosevelt.

DO-NOTHING SESSION ENDS 'MID GREAT JOY

Currency Bill Is Passed by Congress in Its Closing Hours.

NATION LIABLE TO WORKER.

Employes' Bill and Public Buildings Measure Among Last Ones to Become Laws.

Washington correspondence:

The first session of the Sixtieth Congress came to a spectacular end ten minutes before midnight Saturday night. The last legislative day of the session was marked by a spurt of action which, continued a little bit farther, might have put a crimp in the relative "do nothing" program which the leaders set out to fulfill some months ago.

After adopting the currency conference report the Senate went ahead Saturday afternoon and passed the bill providing compensation for injuries to civil employes of the government engaged in hazardous work. Several amendments adopted by the Senate were accepted by the House unanimously, and thus the Roosevelt percentage in the contest with Congress over the policies of the administration went up several points.

One of the last measures to get through was the public buildings bill, which was held back to the last moment for the purpose of keeping members here until the currency bill became an act. A message from President Roosevelt, read to the House at 10:20, told of the signing of both the currency and public building bills, and a wild tumult of applause followed.

The end was spectacular. With that freedom from dignity that always characterizes the breaking up time in the House of Representatives the recesses between the receiving of messages from the Senate and the President were given over to wild hilarity. There were singing contests between the members on the floor and the newspaper men in the press gallery. Every member on the floor had an American flag. They waved the flags and sang all the old melodies and a lot of songs of brand-new construction set to the old tunes.

Aside from the regular supply bills making appropriations for the support of the government during the next fiscal year, the achievements and failures of Congress during the session may be summarized as follows:

What Congress Has Done.

Enacted an emergency currency law.

Prohibited child labor in the District of Columbia.

Prohibited race track gambling in the District of Columbia.

Increased widows' existing pensions from $8 to $12 a month.

Granted pensions of $12 a month to practically all widows of Mexican and Civil War soldiers.

Authorized expenditures of $30,000,000 for public buildings.

Authorized general appropriations amounting to nearly a billion dollars.

Ordered a currency commission to report on revision of financial and banking laws of the country.

Reclassified the consular service.

Passed employers' liability law to take place of the one declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of the United States.

Permitted free operation of foreign vessels in trade with Philippines.

Passed administration bill authorizing employes to sue the government for personal injuries sustained while in the line of duty.

Established a range for breeding American buffalo.

Started the machinery for tariff revision by the appointment of an investigation commission.

Authorized the construction of two battleships with the promise of two next session.

Raised the pay of all officers and men of the army and navy, marine corps and revenue cutter service.

Passed a militia law making every able-bodied man between 18 and 45 years liable to service.

Adopted arbitration treaties with nearly every country in Europe and with Japan.

Continued the work of the waterways commission.

Provided for the defense of the Philippines and Hawaiian ports by submarine mines and fortifications.

Appropriated $1,500,000 for participation by the United States in the Japanese exposition of 1910.

What Congress Has Not Done.

Refused to place wood pulp on the free list.

Declined to accept President Roosevelt's four battleship proposition.

Failed to adopt postal savings bank plan.

Passed up until next December the bill to reinstate discharged colored troops.

No national child labor law, but date set for its consideration next December.

Granted no increased powers to prohibition States over interstate shipments of liquors.

Enacted no law requiring publicity of campaign expenses.

Made no provision for the "spanking" of Castro, the Venezuelan president.

Failed to put wireless telegraphy under government control.

Refused to give interstate commerce commission authority to pass upon proposed increased railroad rates before they go into effect.

Failed to relieve the coal-carrying railroads from the necessity of disposing of their mines.

Failed to consider bills regulating dealings in options.

Other Important Bills that Failed.

Administration-Civic Federation bill to amend the Sherman anti-trust law.

Bill for the reduction of the tariff on the products of the Philippine Islands.

Anti-injunction bill. (There are ten or fifteen measures of this nature before Congress.)

Bills for revision and codification of the laws of the United States in accordance with the report of a commission which put in seven years at the task.

Bill to make Porto Ricans citizens of the United States.

Bill for retirement of superannuated federal clerks.

Bill to provide embassies for representatives of the United States in foreign countries.

Bill to establish forest reserves in the southern Appalachians and in the White Mountains of New Hampshire.

CURRENCY BILL PASSES.

Measure Is Forced Through Despite Filibustering Tactics.

Washington correspondence:

With the end of the most remarkable filibuster in the history of the Senate and the passage of the Aldrich-Vreeland emergency currency bill by both houses and the winding up of other business, the Sixtieth Congress adjourned sine die at 11:50 o'clock Saturday night.

At 4:30 o'clock the Senate adopted the report of the conferees of the two houses on the currency bill by the decisive vote of 43 to 22, and thus was taken the last congressional step necessary toward the enactment of emergency currency legislation, toward which Congress has directed its principal effort since it convened last December. The result came unexpectedly soon, but not until the Senate had been well worn out by a filibuster which, while not largely supported, made up in intensity what it lacked in numbers. The obstructive tactics were begun by Senator La Follette (Republican) of Wisconsin when the report was taken up by the Senate, Friday, and being prosecuted by him all Friday night, was continued Saturday by Senator Stone (Democrat) of Missouri and Senator Gore (Democrat) of Oklahoma. Mr. La Follette broke the record as a long distance speaker, talking eighteen hours and forty-three minutes; Mr. Stone held the floor for six hours and a half, almost without interruption, and Mr. Gore spoke for something more than two hours.

When Senator La Follette ended his record breaking speech at 7:08 a. m. Saturday he was still in strong voice, and said that he was "reluctant" to yield the floor, but realized that other Senators wished to speak.

Many of the Senators were routed out of bed Friday night and early Saturday morning and brought into the chamber to make a quorum. Among these were Senators Stone and Gore, the Senate leaders deciding that it would not be good policy to allow them to enjoy an uninterrupted night's rest and be fresh for the task of continuing the filibuster began by Mr. La Follette. Many of the Senators were brought in partly dressed by the deputy sergeants-at-arms.

President Roosevelt was summoned to the capitol to sign bills during the last hours of Congress at 9 o'clock. He was waited upon by a committee comprising Representatives Payne, Hepburn and Williams, and Senators Hale and Teller. Shortly before 10 o'clock he signed the compromise currency bill. Previous to his signature of the currency bill the President had handed it to Secretary Cortelyou, who carefully read its provisions. Two other members of the Cabinet were present—Secretaries Root and Garfield.

THE SIXTIETH CONGRESS.

Met Dec. 2, 1907.

Appropriated $1,008,804,894, exceeding total of last session by $88,000,750.

Passed currency bill after delay in Senate by filibuster lasting twenty-seven hours and fifteen minutes, in which 110,680 words, equal to thirty columns of newspaper space, were uttered.

Adjourned May 30, 1908.

WORK OF CONGRESS

In the Senate Thursday the consideration of the conference report on the currency bill showed plainly that there would be little or no obstructive tactics against its passage. Senator Aldrich briefly explained the measure and a little political by-play was introduced by Senators Culberson of Texas and Bacon of Georgia, who taunted members of the majority with disinclination to pass anti-injunction and campaign contribution publicity bills before adjournment, which called forth claims of interest in both measures by Senators on both sides, but gave no promise of action at this session. Senators Teller of Colorado, Owen of Oklahoma and Newlands of Nevada all spoke in opposition to the currency bill, and, no other Senators desiring to speak, the latter part of the session was devoted to considering unobjected to bills on the calendar. House bills were passed requiring interstate railroads to equip locomotives with ashpans that will not require employes to go under the locomotive to dump and clean them, and to promote the safe transportation of explosives. In the House the following measures were passed: To establish two or more fish cultural stations on Puget sound, Wash.; amending the laws of transportation between Hawaii and the United States by removing the penalty for carrying passengers from Hawaii to this country; providing for the entry of agricultural lands in forest reserves;

When the Senate convened Friday it became apparent that a filibuster, small in numbers but determined, was about to try to defeat the currency bill. Senator Culberson spoke at some length after the report of the conferees was introduced and scored President Roosevelt's administration for extravagance. During this speech Senator La Follette conferred with Senator Stone, who had just arrived from Missouri. The Wisconsin Senator called for a roll call every time it appeared there was no quorum present while Mr. Culberson was speaking. When the speech against the administration was finished Mr. La Follette took the floor and announced his intention of talking the currency bill to death. He resorted to many devices to pass the time and keep the floor, calling for roll calls, reading from documents and answering questions. He took the floor at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and held it till late at night. The situation in the Senate on the currency question, combined with the oppressiveness of the heat and indisposition to do further business, caused the House at 3:30 o'clock to take a recess until 7 o'clock at night. With the greatest difficulty a quorum was maintained, a large number of members already having left the city. A bill was passed providing for making allotments on the Fort Peck Indian reservation, Montana, and a lot of miscellaneous business was transacted, being mostly disagreements to Senate amendments to minor bills. Up to the time of taking the recess the Democrats had forced five roll calls. But eighteen members were in their seats when the House reconvened. After nearly an hour's wait for a quorum to appear, during which time all the resources of the sergeant-at-arms were employed, the House took a recess until 11 a. m. Saturday.

The passage of the government employes' liability bill and the adoption of conference reports on the public buildings and the deficiency appropriation bills immediately followed final action on the Aldrich-Vreeland compromise currency measure in the Senate Saturday. This disposed of most of the remaining important legislation before that body. The deficiency bill carries appropriations aggregating $30,718,848, of which $12,466,750 is for beginning work authorized by the public building bill. The Senate at 4:27 in the afternoon passed the Aldrich-Vreeland currency bill by a vote of 43 to 22, this action being taken after a day devoted to a filibuster against the measure. Senators Stone of Missouri and Gore of Oklahoma occupied the time of the Senate after 7:03 o'clock in the morning, when Mr. La Follette retired. Mr. La Follette broke the record for long speeches, holding the floor continuously for eighteen hours and forty-three minutes. At 6 o'clock in the evening the Senate took a recess for two hours, when a resolution for sine die adjournment at 11:50 was adopted. Having concluded its labors for the session the House shortly after 9 p. m. adopted a resolution to adjourn sine die at ten minutes before midnight. The news that the currency bill had passed the Senate quickly reached the House and evoked great applause. From that time on business moved with a rapidity that signified a speedy termination of the first session of the Sixtieth Congress. The conference report on the public buildings bill, which had been held up pending action on the currency question, was quickly brought out and agreed to. This action was immediately followed by the adoption of the conference report on the general deficiency bill, thus clearing the decks of all important pending legislation. Other measures put through were: Providing life-saving apparatus on the Farralone Islands off California; granting pensions to the surviving officers and enlisted men of the Texas volunteers; authorizing the issuance of guns and ammunition to the Memorial University of Mason City, Iowa, and providing for compensation to government employes for injuries received while in the performance of their duties. Several pension bills also were passed. At 11:50 the House adjourned sine die.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

Business in the aggregate discloses a steadier basis and responds promptly to improved weather conditions. The volume of payments through the banks again makes an encouraging comparison, and trading defaults are close to the normal. Much satisfaction is derived from the better outlook in leading manufactures, furnace and finished mill products being in renewed demand. Seasonable merchandise was sharply stimulated by the heat wave, the principal retail lines making extended sales of men's and women's wear, while jobbers had many rush orders for reassortment from both city and country. Cotton goods move more freely on lower prices and wholesale stocks undergo the desired reduction. Food products reflect well sustained absorption, shipments of hardware and builders' supplies make a nearer approach to those of a year ago, and there is increased interior demands for farm tools, wire and wagons.

Bank clearings, $210,460,701, exceed those of a year ago, when the week included only five business days by 10.1 per cent.

Failures reported in the Chicago district number 23, against 28 last week and 17 a year ago. Those with liabilities over $5,000 number 8, against 7 last week and 3 in 1907.—Dun's Review of Trade.

NEW YORK.

Weather, crop and trade reports are irregular. There are some rather less reassuring advices from some sections as to leading crops, due mainly to excessive rainfall in wide areas; bad roads are a necessary result of this, and trade in affected sections naturally has suffered. In other places, where a few days of warm, forcing weather have intervened, trade is better, and in instances being due to reductions, which have resulted in large stocks of goods being cleaned up. Taken as a whole, the eastern and central western States send best reports as to final distribution. In some primary lines of distribution the better feeling noted some time ago has become more widespread.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending May 28 number 263, against 284 last week, 142 in the like week of 1907, 127 in 1906, 154 in 1905 and 194 in 1904. Business failures in Canada for the week number 31, as against 39 last week and 14 in this week of 1907.—Bradstreet's Commercial Report.

THE MARKETS

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $7.30; hogs, prime heavy, $4.00 to $5.70; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, 98c to 99c; corn, No. 2, 71c to 72c; oats, standard, 52c to 53c; rye, No. 2, 78c to 79c; hay, timothy, $9.50 to $15.50; prairie, $8.00 to $12.00; butter, choice creamery, 17c to 22c; eggs, fresh, 12c to 16c; potatoes, new, per bushel, 95c to $1.00.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $7.00; hogs, good to choice heavy, $3.50 to $5.80; sheep, common to prime, $3.00 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2, 99c to $1.00; corn, No. 2 white, 63c to 65c; oats, No. 2 white, 51c to 52c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $4.50 to $7.15; hogs, $4.00 to $5.60; sheep, $3.00 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2, 99c to $1.00; corn, No. 2, 71c to 72c; oats, No. 2, 51c to 53c; rye, No. 2, 79c to 80c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.50; hogs, $4.00 to $5.00; sheep, $3.00 to $4.00; wheat, No. 2, $1.00 to $1.01; corn, No. 2 mixed, 73c to 74c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 53c to 54c; rye, No. 2, 84c to 86c.

Detroit—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.00; hogs, $4.00 to $5.60; sheep, $2.50 to $4.50; wheat, No. 2, 99c to $1.00; corn, No. 3 yellow, 75c to 77c; oats, No. 3 white, 54c to 56c; rye, No. 2, 83c to 84c.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, $1.00 to $1.12; corn, No. 3, 70c to 71c; oats, standard, 53c to 54c; rye, No. 1, 79c to 80c; barley, No. 2, 72c to 73c; pork, mess, $13.72.

Buffalo—Cattle, choice shipping steers, $4.00 to $7.05; hogs, fair to choice, $4.00 to $5.85; sheep, common to good mixed, $4.00 to $5.30; lambs, fair to choice, $5.00 to $6.60.

New York—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.95; hogs, $3.50 to $6.00; sheep, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2 red, 99c to $1.01; corn, No. 2, 74c to 75c; oats, natural white, 57c to 59c; butter, creamery 21c to 23c; eggs, western, 13c to 16c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, 97c to 99c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 73c to 75c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 53c to 54c; rye, No. 2, 81c to 83c; clover seed, prime, $13.00.

FACTS FOR FARMERS.

The authorities of the Texas experiment station are advocating State seed inspection.

In order to insure a rice crop for game birds along the Mississippi river sportsmen are sowing large quantities of wild rice seed.

On their bid of $450, Spearfish, S. D., was awarded the next annual show of the Black Hills Poultry Association, which will be held in 1909.

Farmers of Shelby county, Iowa, have found out that seed corn taken from cribs, however carefully selected, will not grow nearly as well as where it is taken from shocks.

JUNE

L 903

0204

A LONELY GIRL

By Mrs Hungerford

CHAPTER X.—(Continued.)

"Now they belong to nobody," says he, with quite extraordinary pleading. In his heart he knows they belong to Sir Lucien, but sometimes it is impossible to be too honest. And that old miser can wait for these until he gets the rest. "Come up out of this dismal place."

Outside they part, but when they have gone a step or two, he stops and comes to her again.

"It is nothing," says he, uncertainly, "only, a little while ago I said our acquaintance was but a short one. I want to take that back. I want to tell you that I feel as if I had known you forever, and"—slowly—"and only you!"

Tears rise in her eyes. She gives him her hand silently. Raising his hat, he stoops and presses his lips to it. Their eyes meet. She is seeing him through a misty veil—he is seeing her as he has never seen woman before! Oh! the dear, sad, sweet little face!

He would have held her, but she shakes her head, and without a word goes swiftly from him. Her steps have turned towards her home, that bleak, melancholy old house on the top of the hill. And without so much as one backward glance, she disappears from his view.

"She might have looked, even once," says he disappointedly, when the last turn of the last corner has been passed by the all too swift feet of his beloved. "It wouldn't have been so much!"

But how could he know that the tears were running so fast down her cheeks that she dare not turn, that she does not dare even to raise her handkerchief to stay them, lest he read the action rightly and come back to her.

CHAPTER XI.

If Adare had not seen those sad tears running down Amber's cheeks, someone else did. A tall, dark man, coming out from the shadows of the few trees that surround the Mill House, quickly follows her, and now is at her side.

"So that is all your new-found relation can do for you," says Brian Deane, "to make you cry your eyes out. What have ever any of your mother's people done for you, but that? Even your 'lady' mother"—with a scornful emphasis on the adjective.

"Don't speak to me now, Brian. I want to be alone." Her tone is heartbroken, and to this man, who in his own wild, rough way loves her as well as even Adare does, this gentle answer from Amber, when he has been expecting one of the usual "shutting up" order, adds fuel to the fire of the passion that has been consuming him ever since he first met her.

"If it is his fault that you are crying now—if he has given you one sore thought, I'll choke the life out of him."

"If you are really talking of Captain Adare, he has had nothing to do with my crying," says she slowly, as if thinking, as if making very sure. "No, it is life that troubles me. I'm tired of it already, Brian, and that's the fact. There's too much against me, too little for me."

"A strong thing for you is better than a few weak things against you," says he gruffly. Then, after a pause, "I'm for you!" He has plainly great faith in his own powers.

"Yes, I know"—indifferently—"I know. You are always very kind."

"Kind! It isn't that," says he, swinging round to her. "It is you who might be kind, for the matter of that. I'll tell you the truth now, straight here. I worship the very ground you walk on. I'd sell my soul for you——"

"Stand there!" her voice rings out clear and calm.

He had made a movement towards her, but now checks himself as if paralyzed. Her exquisite head is thrown back, her eyes are fixed on his. There is no thought of fear in all her slight and beautiful body. "What do you mean," says she, "by speaking to me like this? It is absurd. I do not wish for your love."

"Is that"—he frowns heavily—"because you desire his?"

"His? Captain Adare's, you mean." She speaks clearly still, though her lips whiten a little. "He is nothing to me."

"You are still free, then? If—if I"—looking round him, and sinking his voice—"if I could clear your father's memory"—Amber, who has turned away, now suddenly looks back at him, her eyes lighting—"if I could say where those lost jewels are——"

"Brian! You know. You know. Oh! say, say that you know."

"I can know, if you will make it worth my while," says he, with a cold sort of laugh. "You know what I mean. See here, my girl, if I tell you where the stones are—if I clear your father's memory—for that I know is what you are up to—will you marry me?"

There is a dead pause. To clear her father's memory. The father who had been so dear to her in her early life—the father who had been kind to her to the end, whose memory now is the only thing on earth she has to reverence, to love——

She hesitates here. Her breath grows quicker. Is that memory to her father all that indeed now she has to love? This sudden inrushing of a new thought upon the old one checks her, and finally steadies her. The father who had loved her in the old days, before time and grief had deadened his senses, would wish her above everything to be happy, to be free! She turns to Deane.

"No. Not even for that." As she says it she turns away from him, and steps out quickly towards the house.

Straight to his sister's sitting room he goes. Esther Deane, small, fragile, a bare fragment of a woman, with pale blue eyes sunk in a face almost emaciated, looks up from the eternal patchwork she is always employed on, to greet him. His entrance has changed the entire expression of her face. Through the sullen dullness that usually characterises it, a gleam of honest joy now shows. On this brother she has lavished all the small stock of love that even the coldest creature must contain in his or her breast.

"I want to talk to you," says he, "about—those jewels."

"What!" She starts to her feet. "You have found them?"

"Not exactly. I have made a discovery, however."

"My letter to you, enclosing those papers, was of use, then?"

"Yes." He draws in a little. "At least——"

"I knew it," interrupts she triumphantly. "When I went over the old man's papers, and saw those strange scribblings, with the arrows on them, and then noted his words, I felt there was something in them; something that you ought to know."

"Look here, Esther," he says, "the give and take system is the honestest all round—the one I hang on to. Come! I'll make a proposition to you. If you will help me to marry Amber, I'll take you and Amber and the jewels to Australia. It is a bargain!" Esther was silent. She turns again to her writing table and thus conceals the terrible change that has come over her face. He loves that girl! Amber! He loves Amber! All her—Esther's love for him; all her care; all the eager desire for his welfare that has led her (through these jewels) almost to the verge of crime, is now to be cast aside, forgotten—because of that girl's eyes, or hair, or smile.

"Well," says he, gruffly, having waited quite a long time for her answer; "can't you speak? Didn't you hear? It's an offer that you ought to snap at!"

"Well, so I do," says she at last, with a strange laugh. Laughter is so unusual a thing with her at any time that he stares at her for a moment, then lounges out of the room.

CHAPTER XII.

An interview with Miss Deane is gone through without so great a hitch as May had anticipated. Miss Deane, indeed, had shown herself not only compliant, but actually anxious that Amber should go and spend a week with her uncle.

Esther had heard of Hilary Adare, of his meeting with Amber, both at the mill one day, and at Madam's later on, and had drawn certain conclusions. If—her heart beat fast as she dwelt on it—if Captain Adare should fall in love with the girl, and she with him, there would lie a solution of the trouble that is worrying her. Amber once married, Brian will be hers again to influence—to hold—to live for! And she has so little to live for, so little to make life sweet!

That Brian can greatly care! She has gone into this and has come out of it with the settled belief that he is incapable of caring much for anything—except himself. In this she wrongs him.

So Amber, who had met May's very charming advances with a shy pleasure and Mr. McGrath's all too genial advances with a touch of reserve, promises to go over to Carrig on Tuesday next—to-day is Friday—and spend a week with her cousins.

"We are all of us your cousins, you know. All of us," says May, pressing her hand at parting.

"Yes, all of us," repeats Mr. McGrath with emphasis.

"And come early, come in time for tea," says May, glancing up at Amber from the pony carriage in which she is now again seated. "Or perhaps—luncheon."

"Or breakfast," suggests Mr. McGrath most hospitably. May gives him a withering glance.

"I shall come as soon as I can," says Amber softly.

"We shall be looking out for you," nods May, brightly. "Good-by, Good-by, Miss Deane!" to Esther, who is also standing up above on the hall doorsteps. "So good of you to spare Amber for a few days."

The ponies dash away down the grass-grown old avenue, as if wild with a desire to be gone; and as they disappear, Esther Deane touches Amber's arm.

"Not a word of this to—to anyone," says she. "If you say a word to anyone, you won't be able to go."

"I am my own mistress," says the girl proudly. Yet for all that she takes the lesson to heart, and it is not until she is well on her way to Carrig Castle on the following Tuesday that Brian learns of the invitation, the visit of May, and the gong of Amber!

On that afternoon, after an unsuccessful search for Amber round the grounds and in the old mill, he enters his sister's private room.

"Where is Amber?" asks he quickly. There is no suspicion in his tone.

Miss Deane rises. The worst is before her now and she faces it steadily.

"She has gone to spend a week with her uncle, Sir Lucien Adare!"

"What?"

The man's face grows ashy as he looks back at her. Nay, it grows dangerous.

"I thought," says she coldly, quietly, though her heart is beginning to die within her, "that it would be well for her to know something of her mother's people."

"You thought that for her. What did you think for me? You," he comes closer to her, "you heard what I said the other day. You knew what I meant. I did not even hide from you that I loved her. When did she get this invitation?"

"Last Friday!" She answers him clearly, and still her eyes are fixed on his. And still she stands straight and firm before him without a shadow of outward fear.

"And this is Tuesday." His face grows terrible now. "For four days you kept this secret. For four days you knew she was going to stay in the house with Hilary Adare, the man who you think loves her—and yet——" He makes a sudden, swift backward movement of his arm.

"Take that, you traitor," says he, dashing her in his blind fury to the ground.

The room is alwost dark when she comes to herself again. Dragging herself to her feet by the aid of a chair near her, she stands, tottering a little, trying to bring back her senses whilst wiping, vaguely, the blood from her mouth. Then all too suddenly it comes back to her—the scene with him, the cowardly blow.

"He didn't mean it," breathes she through her poor, swollen lips. "He was always hot tempered, poor boy! He is sorry now, I know. He—did not mean it."

Even in this woman—hard, cruel, unprincipled—the touch of the Divine dwells! Love! And the desire to pardon.

"Forgive them that despitefully use you."

No. He had not meant it!

CHAPTER XIII.

Amber, following the footman across the great stone hall to the drawing room, is conscious that her heart is sinking within her. Why had she not told May the exact hour she would drive over? Then she would have been met by someone, by—at all events by May.

Mrs. Clarence has come forward and made friends with her in a very charming fashion. It has occurred to Mrs. Clarence that she may be useful. Col. Clarence is coming home within six months anyway, and to get rid of Everard before that auspicious occasion seems a good thing in her eyes. She had not failed to notice Everard's intent glance at the girl as she came in. Everard is always intently glancing at some girl or other, and then—coming back to her; six months is a short time. She had better shunt him finally over this "new girl," so as to have him off the grounds before the Colonel puts in his next most undesirable appearance.

"We were singing," says Dolly, "as you came in. I hope it sounded like that."

"But—go on, Dolly!" says Mr. McGrath; making signs to his sister and frowning at her anxiously. "What we really wish to say, Miss O'Connell, is that what you propose to say yourself, but—Go on, Dolly!"

"I really shan't," says Mrs. Clarence, laughing. "It's sometimes bad enough what you want me to say is beyond me. You must not mind my brother, Amber. May I call you Amber? He is not responsible always for his actions."

Even as they laugh the door again opens to admit someone. Someone who puts an end to the laugh instanter. In a word, Sir Lucien. It is so unlike him to approach his guests at this hour, at indeed any hour when he can decently elude them, that even Mrs. Clarence, who is equal to most things, stares as if a first-class, highly up-to-date spook stands before her.

He advances up the room to where Amber is sitting near May, careless of the queer little silence that has followed his entrance. Everard and Hilary make a pretense at conversation, making vigorous efforts to get Mr. McGrath to join them in this attempt, but Owen scorns at keeping up appearances; he even frowns and winks; he waves them off, as it were. He is indeed consumed with a fearful joy—an undisguised curiosity as to what the entrance of his host at this moment may mean.

The tall, grim old man, lean and cruel-faced, but singularly handsome, has now reached Amber's side. He had taken no notice whatever of anyone else in the room as he walked up—and standing motionless, looks down at the girl.

"You are my niece"—he pauses; the pause is insulting—"I am told."

Hilary makes a movement as if to go to her, but Mrs. Clarence lays her hand upon his arm. She is very clever. Amber rises slowly to her feet. Her face is always so clearly white that the little additional pallor that now grows upon it is not sufficient to raise joy in the breast of the one who is bent on embarrassing her.

"I really don't know," says Amber in slow, even tones. "You are my uncle—I am told!"—the pause is identical—"but how can I be sure?"

(To be continued.)

A Beauty Parlor.

There was a long silence.

"Gerald," she said, breaking the monotony, "what is a 'beauty parlor?'"

"A 'beauty parlor,' my dear," he whispered, moving closer. "Why, this is a 'beauty parlor.'"

"The idea! Why so?"

"Why, any parlor would be a beauty parlor if you were in it."

And after that the rest was easy. She accepted him on the spot.

REVIEW OF INDIANA

The 3-year-old son of Andrew Grubb, farmer near Oakland, fell into an open well and was drowned. The accident was witnessed by the parents, who made an attempt at rescue, but after getting the child into a lowered bucket it fell out and sank.

Alonzo Kaudell, a carpenter, working on the Eberhart place, near Shelbyville, was bitten fifteen times on the arms and legs by Eberhart's dog. The dog was shot, and its head will be sent to Indianapolis for examination. Two of Kaudell's wounds are thought to be dangerous.

A large barn on the farm of Conrad Jackee, near Huntingburg, former county commissioner, was struck by lightning and consumed, with contents. There were ten horses in the barn, only one escaping, with a large quantity of hay and farm implements. The loss is $3,000.

Ross Stunkard, owner of the Cash Buggy Company's factory in Brazil, and State representative of the Rex Buggy Company, at Connersville, died suddenly of heart trouble at his factory. He was 56 years old, and one of the most prominent citizens of Brazil. He leaves a widow and three children.

When neighbors of James Kautzman, near Yorktown, realized that Kautzman was ill and unable to plant his corn, remembered that his wife has also been ill since their son Fred was killed by a railroad train several months ago, and that another son is now ill in the Kautzman home, these friends formed a "plowing party" and not only plowed but also planted in corn Kautzman's entire farm.

Henry Templeton, who owns a large ranch in the Beaver Lake country, is departing somewhat from the old way of farming this season. After planting forty acres of corn on new ground he nailed up gaps and gates and gave instructions to his hired men not to take a team into the field before husking time net fall. He is going to try to prove to his neighbors that his land will raise one hundred bushels of corn to the acre without cultivation.

An effort is being made to obtain a full pardon for Samuel East, who was sentenced to the State Reformatory from Alexandria for forgery a year ago. Since his term began East's wife and son have died. During the wife's illness East was paroled without a guard that he might be at her bedside. After the funeral he returned to the institution, but local officers are now informed that he is outside the prison walls on parole working on a farm near Jeffersonville.

William J. Bowman, a well-known engineer of the Pennsylvania system, residing at Jeffersonville, is in a serious condition, the result of a third injury within four months, this time sustained as he hastened to the house from his yard to avoid a sudden storm He hurt his knee four months ago in the cab of his engine. He fell a second time while convalescing and again injured it. He was walking out, having nearly recovered, when he was again hurt. This time the other knee is injured and is semi-paralyzed.

There is a great mortality among horses in the vicinity of Hagerstown from overwork. Farmers have been put back so much by the late season and unfavorable weather that when suitable days came for planting corn they felt they must strain every nerve. The result is that dozens of valuable horses have been killed by the unusual exertion. Farmers say they have never known such a condition. Weidman's fertilizer factory keeps its wagons busy day and night answering the calls from farmers who wish dead horses removed.

Grester Thomas, the 5-year-old son of Otis Thomas, a wealthy farmer near Petersburg, was instantly killed in a peculiar way. Together with a hired man he was riding on a harrow, to weight it down, when the horses reared and one animal fell backward on the harrow, pinioning the child underneath. The farm laborer was unable to lift the horse off the boy, and it was nearly an hour before the body was removed. Death was instantaneous, the lad's neck being broken. The horse was badly injured and may have to be killed.

What many persons believe will be the most exepnsive piece of gravel road ever constructed in Indiana has just been reported on by the viewers and the county engineer. The road in question lies on the edge of the south limits of Richmond and being partly in the township its improvement was petitioned for under the new Indiana gravel road law, the cost of the work to be by taxation. The road is a fraction over one-half mile in length and according to the estimate of the engineer the cost will be $17,500, or at the rate of $35,000 a mile, which would build and equip an interurban railroad.

William L. Applegate, of Franklin, has been a member of the Odd Fellows Order for fifty years. He was initiated by the Edinburg lodge May 27, 1858. Mr. Applegate is 75 years old.

Fire of supposed incendiary origin destroyed the home of William Haines in Linton. The family barely escaped with their lives. Mrs. Haines was burned while rescuing her children.

Lightning struck the seven-room house owned by James Rees, near Meltzerville, and the structure was burned, with some of the contents. The loss will reach several hundred dollars.

A large barn belonging to James Fuhrman, south of here, was struck by lightning, and, with its contents, destroyed. A heavy loss of farming implements also resulted. Insurance small.

The Knights of Pythias Lodge of Marion is after the State record for increase in membership. A campaign for new members was started in January, and until the present time there are 103 new initiates.

As a result of a drawbar breaking and falling across the track, a box car on a west-bound freight ran for nearly a mile on the cross ties before the train stopped in 200 feet of the high bridge across Flatrock river near St. Paul.

George W. Everhardt, 51 years old, city engineer at the municipal electric light plant at Lawrenceburg, while working at the switchboard touched a live wire and was instantly killed. He had been in the employ of the city for six years. The switchboard is an old-style contrivance, with the wires and metals exposed.

The barn on the farm of Adolph Cooper, cashier of the Farmers' State Bank of Middletown, was destroyed by fire. Besides the loss of the building six head of horses, several hundred dollars' worth of farming implements, with harness and hay, were burned. The loss is $3,000, partly covered by insurance. There is no clew as to the origin of the fire.

William C. Puri, 68 years old, of Goshen, was kicked in the head by a broncho in a box stall and instantly killed. He was a wealthy retired farmer and a pioneer, having been born and reared on a farm, now in the heart of the city of Goshen. He served in the Second Indiana cavalry. He raised many horses, being very fond of them, and he was about to take the broncho out to break it when he was killed.

As one of the results of a street carnival held in Jeffersonville by the Fraternal Order of Eagles the city has been sued for $2,000 damages by Miss Anna Clegg, a sister of the chief of police, who stumbled over a stake left by the carnival people when they removed their tents from the street. On the ground that the proceeds were for charitable purposes the city collected nothing from the shows under its license ordinance.

Mrs. Elizabeth Clark testified that she knew the cackle of her own hen, and she also told Judge Gass, in the City Court at Muncie, that anybody knowing the fowl would also recognize the cackle. She was a witness against Harry Howard, who was accused of stealing her pet, with other chickens. She also said that she recognized the "cluck cluck" when she peered through the wire screen at the poultry house, where the chickens had been sold.

The explosion of a gasoline stove started a blaze that completely destroyed the home of Lindsey Herkless in Elwood, with all its contents, the loss being estimated at $1,400, with insurance of $450. Herkless had just closed a sale of a piece of property for $750, and the money was in a bureau drawer, where it could not be obtained in time to save it from the flames. The family escaped from the burning building in their night clothes.

The ox-team days of Brown County are past. The last ox-team around Nashville has been sold by the Hardens and has been taken out of the county. There may be an ox-team or two left, but they are lost in the wilds of the southern part of the county. Only the log jail and the old log overshot waterwheel mill in the southern part of the county are left as reminders of the old days. Since the locomotive entered the northwestern part of the county, three years ago, the road to Columbus has been "metaled" and the county covered with rural mail routes. The transformation of "Darkest Brown" has been very rapid. The progressive movement has gone to the length that Nashville has raised $10,000 to be paid to the first electric railroad that enters the town, and there is also a movement to pike the mail stage route from Nashville to the Indianapolis Southern railroad, which touches Helmsburg six miles north of Nashville.

JUNE

0205

L 903

Pressing Down Pains

are a sign of serious female complaint, that should have immediate attention.

If you begin in time, you can generally treat yourself at home, without the need of consulting a physician, by the regular use of Cardui, the well-known remedy for women's ills.

Composed of purely vegetable and perfectly harmless medicinal ingredients, being, besides, a gentle, non-intoxicating, strengthening tonic,

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMAN'S RELIEF

relieves all female complaints.

"My wife," writes John A. Rodgers, of Hampden Sidney, Va., "was nothing but a walking skeleton, from female trouble. She suffered agonies with bearing-down pains, backache and headache. Doctors failed to relieve her, so she took Cardui, and is now entirely cured."

At All Druggists

WRITE FOR FREE ADVICE, stating age and describing symptoms, to Ladies Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. E 36

J. A. PROVINES

TRUSTEE

of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:

THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK at residence in Spencerville, Ind.

DENTIST.

C. R. PRICE.

ST. JOE, IND.

Office in Case building.

Bell Phone No. 44.

WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St. Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.

No. 11, Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail 12:05p.m
No. 3, Western Express 8:06 p. m

GOING EAST.

No. 2, Eastern Express 6:34a. m
No. 16, Toledo Acc & Mail 7:21 p. m

The Old Proverb

That "It takes nine tailors to make a man" may possibly mean that it takes nine trials to find the right tailor.

You can save eight trials by coming here first. At this time in the year we can do considerably better by you than later. Not better in style, fabric, fit or finish—that's impossible—but better in price. For Example:—

Suits from $18.00 up.

Pants from $4.00 up

ED MAY,

TAILOR,

Butler, Ind.

The St. Joe News.

One Year	$1.00
Six Month	50c
Three Months	25c

FRED B. LEIGHTY, Editor.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

Obituary.

Solomon Burtsfield, Sr., was born in Franklin County, Pa., Oct. 3, 1846 and died in New Paris, Ind., May 31, 1908. Aged 61 years, 7 months, 28 days. He was united in marriage to Miss Anna Wahl, Jan. 18, 1866. To this union were born fourteen children, nine sons and five daughters. He moved from Pennsylvania to DeKalb county, Ind., in 1885 and in 1887 joined with the Lutheran church at Spencerville, Ind. In 1892 he moved from DeKalb county to New Paris, Ind, where by a letter was transfered to the M. E. church of which he has been a faithful member ever since. Eight children have preceeded him to the spiritual world, Samuel, a young man of 23, and seven in their infancy. He leaves to mourn his departure his wife, Mrs. Anna Burtsfield, William, Solomon Jr., Maggie and Jacob Burtsfield of New Paris; Mrs. Ella Squires of Auburn and Grant Burtsfield of Springfield, Ill.; four grandchildren, three brothers, David of New Paris, John of Minerva, Ohio and Samuel of Shippensburg, Pa., and many other relatives and friends.

Do Not Neglect the Children.

At this season of the year the first unnatural looseness of a child's bowels should have immediate attention. The best thing that can be given is Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy followed by castor oil as directed with each bottle of the remedy. For sale by H. Milliman, St. Joe; F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

Local News Items

Buy our stationery.

Wm. Randall and wife visited relatives at Ft. Wayne Friday.

Mrs. Lizzie Allen and daughter of Edgerton, O., visited here several days last week.

J. L. Rhodenbaugh and W. R. Davis were at Hicksville, Friday, looking after a bunch of timber.

Z. T. Kagey and wife of Auburn, spent several days here, last week, visiting relatives and old friends.

Special rates on ice delivered to all parts of the city, at any time and any amount. F. R. LEIHGTY.

The DeKalb Co., Sunday school convention is on at Corunna, June 9-10. Several from here are attending.

Attorney J. E. Pomeroy has been appointed county attorney to succeed Attorney Welsheimer, who goes to Gary, Ind

A 4 ft. blue racer was killed along side of the bank building, last Friday. There seems to be a scarcity of snake stories this year.

The reoublican congressional convention, postponed, will be held at Auburn about the middle of June, when Congressman Gilhams can be present to make a speech of acceptance.

The Aid Society of the Lutheran church will meet at the home of Mrs. Ella Patterson, Thursday afternoon at 2:00 p. m. A full attendance is desired as there will be an election of officers.

PATENTS

and TRADE-MARKS promptly obtained in all countries, or no fee. We obtain PATENTS THAT PAY, advertise them thoroughly, at our expense, and help you to success. Send model, photo or sketch for FREE report on patentability. 30 years' practice. SURPASSING REFERENCES. For free Guide Book on Profitable Patents write to

503-505 Seventh Street, WASHINGTON, D. C.

D. SWIFT & CO.

Much significance has been attached to the conference at the White House recently attended by cabinet members, by several eminent corporation lawyers, by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and by Seth Low, ex-mayor of New York and former president of Columbia university, representing the Civic federation. One of the objects of the conference was discussion over the amendment of the Sherman anti-trust law so as to exempt labor organizations from classification as comspiracies in restraint of trade. In the course of his career ex-Mayor Low, who is a close friend of the president, has done a great deal to reconcile labor and capital. He has served on arbitration committees and has devoted much study to questions pertaining to the relations between employers and employed. Though he is a millionaire, he lives simply and is democratic in his ways, devoting himself chiefly to work for the public good. He gave a million dollars to Columbia university, about one-third of his fortune, and has always given liberally to many worthy charities, preferring to bestow his gifts while alive rather than leave so much wealth for heirs to quarrel over. He is something of a wit in a quiet way. Once while traveling in Rome he was accosted by a fellow American who was seeing the sights of the Eternal City. Wishing to be affable, the tourist said, "Now that you are in Rome, Mr. Low, I presume that you are doing as the Romans do."

SETH LOW.

"Not at all," confessed the ex-mayor. "I am too much of an American for that."

"What a discourtesy, though, to this grand old city!" protested the other, sweeping his hand toward the majestic dome of St. Peter's.

"What!" retorted Mr. Low. "Would you have me, too, engage in the laudable work of fleecing generous Americans?"

Dr. Ernst Brenner, the new president of the Swiss republic, received almost a unanimous vote on elevation to his new office. In Switzerland the president is chosen by votes of the federal assembly, and 186 out of 192 members cast their ballots in his favor. He left the post of chief of the department of justice and police to assume the presidency and is reputed a jurist of exceptional attainments. His knowledge of international law is extensive, and he is a man of wide culture and general experience in public affairs. He is fifty-two years old and a native of the canton of Basel. This is not the first time Dr. Brenner has been chief executive of the Swiss. He was first chosen to the office in 1900. The Swiss choose their president every year, and so the office can be passed around to a good many patriots. There is not much chance for its incumbent to grow rich on the salary, however, for it is only $3,000 a year. The duties of the chief magistrate are not as onerous as those of the American president, and the powers of the office are comparatively small. Dr. Brenner is largely responsible for the unification of the civil law, which has been in progress for some time.

DR. ERNST BRENNER.

Representative Frank Clark of the Second congressional district of Florida, who recently made a bitter attack on the department of justice and its head, Attorney General Bonaparte, declared that Florida was prepared to answer the charges of "peonage," "slavery," "involuntary servitude," "brutal and inhuman treatment of laborers," etc., which had been made. He challenged the truth of the statements of documents issuing from the department of justice. Congressman Clark was born in Eufala, Ala., in 1860 and educated in the common schools of Alabama and Georgia. He was admitted to the bar in 1881 and in 1884 removed to Florida. He has served as United States attorney for the southern district of Florida, has been three times chosen to the legislature and is now serving his second term in congress.

FRANK CLARK.

Old papers at News office.

Anything you want in soft, stiff or straw hat line at BARNEY S.

Potato crates at the Noble Hoop Co. St. Joe, Ind.

WANTED—A RIDER AGENT IN EACH TOWN and district to ride and exhibit a sample Latest Model "Ranger" bicycle furnished by us. Our agents everywhere are making money fast. Write for full particulars and special offer at once.

NO MONEY REQUIRED until you receive and approve of your bicycle. We ship to anyone, anywhere in the U. S. without a cent deposit in advance, prepay freight, and allow TEN DAYS' FREE TRIAL during which time you may ride the bicycle and put it to any test you wish. If you are then not perfectly satisfied or do not wish to keep the bicycle ship it back to us at our expense and you will not be out one cent.

FACTORY PRICES We furnish the highest grade bicycles it is possible to make at one small profit above actual factory cost. You save $10 to $25 middlemen's profits by buying direct of us and have the manufacturer's guarantee behind your bicycle. DO NOT BUY a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone at any price until you receive our catalogues and learn our unheard of factory prices and remarkable special offers to rider agents.

YOU WILL BE ASTONISHED when you receive our beautiful catalogue and study our superb models at the wonderfully low prices we can make you this year. We sell the highest grade bicycles for less money than any other factory. We are satisfied with $1.00 profit above factory cost.

BICYCLE DEALERS, you can sell our bicycles under your own name plate at double our prices. Orders filled the day received.

SECOND HAND BICYCLES. We do not regularly handle second hand bicycles, but usually have a number on hand taken in trade by our Chicago retail stores. These we clear out promptly at prices ranging from $3 to $8 or $10. Descriptive bargain lists mailed free.

COASTER-BRAKES, single wheels, imported roller chains and pedals, parts, repairs and equipment of all kinds at half the usual retail prices.

$8.50 HEDGETHORN PUNCTURE-PROOF SELF-HEALING TIRES $4.80 A SAMPLE PAIR TO INTRODUCE, ONLY

The regular retail price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but to introduce we will sell you a sample pair for $4.80 cash with order $4.55).

NO MORE TROUBLE FROM PUNCTURES

NAILS, Tacks or Glass will not let the air out. Sixty thousand pairs sold last year. Over two hundred thousand pairs now in use.

DESCRIPTION: Made in all sizes. It is lively and easy riding, very durable and lined inside with a special quality of rubber, which never becomes porous and which closes up small punctures without allowing the air to escape. We have hundreds of letters from satisfied customers stating that their tires have only been pumped up once or twice in a whole season. They weigh no more than an ordinary tire, the puncture resisting qualities being given by several layers of thin, specially prepared fabric on the tread. The regular price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but for advertising purposes we are making a special factory price to the rider of only $4.80 per pair. All orders shipped same day letter is received. We ship C. O. D. on approval. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them strictly as represented.

Notice the thick rubber tread "A" and puncture strips "B" and "D," also rim strip "H" to prevent rim cutting. This tire will outlast any other make—SOFT, ELASTIC and EASY RIDING.

We will allow a cash discount of 5 per cent (thereby making the price $4.55 per pair) if you send FULL CASH WITH ORDER and enclose this advertisement. We will also send one nickel plated brass hand pump. Tires to be returned at OUR expense if for any reason they are not satisfactory on examination. We are perfectly reliable and money sent to us is as safe as in a bank. If you order a pair of these tires, you will find that they will ride easier, run faster, wear better, last longer and look finer than any tire you have ever used or seen at any price. We know that you will be so well pleased that when you want a bicycle you will give us your order. We want you to send us a trial order at once, hence this remarkable tire offer.

IF YOU NEED TIRES don't buy any kind at any price until you send for a pair of the special introductory price quoted above; or write for our big Tire and Sundry Catalogue which describes and quotes all makes and kinds of tires at about half the usual prices.

DO NOT WAIT but write us a postal today. DO NOT THINK OF BUYING a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone until you know the new and wonderful offers we are making. It only costs a postal to learn everything. Write it NOW.

J. L. MEAD CYCLE COMPANY, CHICAGO, ILL.

Harris-Bishop

At the Catholic church, Wednesday morning, occurred the wedding of Otto Harris and Miss Cozzettia Bishop, both of this city, Father Schmitz officiating.

The bride and groom were attended by Miss Rose Gauli as bridesmaid and Francis Harris as groomsman. Paul Harris served as accolyte. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock at high mass. The full choir sang "Rosewig Mass in F" and the Misses Emma and Minnie Hon sang "Ave Marie" at the offertory.

The happy couple left in the afternoon for Detroit to visit relatives for a few days after which they will return to our city and begin housekeeping in the Treese property on South Indiana Avenue. The start out in married life with many friends wishing them abundant happiness and prosperity.—Dispatch.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve Wins.

Tom Moore, of Rural Route 1, Cochran, Ga., writes: "I had a bad sore come on the instep on my foot and could find nothing that would heal it until I applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Less than half of a 25 cent box won the day for me by affecting a perfect cure." Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store.

John A. Langston of Spencer, Ind., has ceen elected principal of the Auburn High School. He comes highly recommended.

The Courier of last week gives a fine record of the brave boys who fought in the Civil War from DeKalb county. A list of those still living was published.

Mrs. Amanda Coburn was initiated in the Rebekah lodge, Friday evening. Light refreshments were served by the entertaining committee, Miss Emma White.

The forty-third annual Sunday School Convention of De Kalb County will be held at Corunna, June 9th and 10th. An excellent program is arranged. Arrange to attend this convention.

Herman Brown of Auburn, was in town, Thursday.

Mrs. Rebecca Smith was a guest of her daughter, Mrs. Don VanFleit at Garrett, last week.

The graduating exercises of the Garrett High school was held May 28, seven graduates acquitting themselves with credit.

Mrs. Stella Wilhelm of McCools and Mrs. Simon Nichols of Butler, were guests at the Hamilton home on Widney ave., last Friday.

Henry Milton of Marion, and little granddaughter, Chalma Miser of Auburn, came Thursday for a visit in home of M. H. Andress and family.

The new M. P. church at Altoona was dedicated on May 31 with appropriate services. Rev. P. W Boxell, the pastor, deserves much credit for his efforts. The church was erected at a cost of $5018 and made of cement blocks. It replaces the old frame structure which was burned down in February, 1907.

Buy Hair at Auction?

At any rate, you seem to be getting rid of it on auction-sale principles: "going, going, g-o-n-e!" Stop the auction with Ayer's Hair Vigor. It certainly checks falling hair; no mistake about this. It acts as a regular medicine; makes the scalp healthy. Then you must have healthy hair, for it's nature's way.

The best kind of a testimonial—"Sold for over sixty years."

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of

Ayer's SARSAPARILLA. PILLS. CHERRY PECTORAL.

Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also furnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable.

Beams & Baker.

JUNE

L 903

0206

The Accomplishing of a Purpose.

Laura Woodcox.

This phrase has many different meanings. It cannot mean the same thing to all men.

The artist's idea of accomplishing his purpose is very different from that of the business man and the scientist differs from both as does the statesman from all three. We read and hear of burglars and gamblers gaining their purpose, but no good purpose was ever won that set at defiance the laws of God and man.

To win so that we ourselves and the world shall be the better for our having lived, we must begin work with a high purpose, keeping ever before our minds the characters and methods of the noble men, who have succeeded along the same lines.

To begin the battle of life, one should never loose sight of the fact that the age of fierce competition is upon us and that in the nature of things, become more and more intense The accomplishing of a purpose grows to depend less and less on luck or chance.

Preparation for the chosen held of effort, an industry that is increasing, a hope that never flags, a patience that never grows weary, a courage that never wavers, all these and a firm trust in God are necessary to the one who would win in this age of specialists and untiring activity.

That "Never postpone till tomorrow what should be done to-day," is a maxim which if followed would enable a person to win in all his works. But the practice of those who are indolent and unsuccessful are "Never transact to-day what could be postponed till to-morrow." Such that follow this maxim never rely upon themselves, but are always looking to gain their purpose through the works of others. In another ancient maxim it said that "Heaven helps those, that help themselves," this is as true as it is ancient.

The one great help in the accomplishing a purpose is character. If we study the definition of character, we will find and it to be a crystallized habit, the result of training and conviction. Although the inheritance at birth of a sound constitution, well balanced mental organization and education are very important factors in shaping character, yet these apart, if every man were not to a certain degree the maker of his own character he would be a fatalist,

A man has the power to change one habit, good or bad, to another and as long as he has this power he is responsible for his own character and this responsibility will continue as long as there if life and reason.

If the accomplishing of a purpose was possible to only the man of great talent, then there would be very few men, who would make life a success. It has been said that talent is quite as much the ability to stick to a thing as the aptitude to do it better than another. "I will fight it out on this line if it takes all summer." This statement of Grant's does not show the man of genius, but it does show the man of perseverance to which he owed his success, for it is well to know that he was a very modest and by no means a brillant man. The key to his character was perservance, and the secret of his gaining his purpose was perservance. The most brilliant lives have not been those having great talent but those of ordinary gifts, for the man having the least amount of talent was the man, who had to exert to the utmost such power as was his, and in doing so, had accomplished more than hundrads of men who were much more supplied with mental qualifications.

The one who loses heart after ones failure is a fool to make a beginning. There is a great deal in good preparations but there is still more in heroic perseverance. Perseverance is the ever ready and ally of those who are seeking to accomplish a purpose, but who feels that they do not posses the ability to attain it so quickly as another. The greatest results in life are usually attained by the simplest means. The man trying again and again, after meeting failure may be laughed at and the brilliant man who attains his purpose at a bound may be admired, but we will never forget the fable of the tortoise and the hare. The latter confident of her power stopped to rest, the former aware of his limitations toiled on, and in the end won the race. Many men have acquired their purpose simply by working their way step by step not thinking of ease and enthused by the great desire to excel.

It is a fact that is remarkable and encouraging, that no man of great genius ever believed that gaining his purpose was due to the gifts that lifted him above his fellows. The means by which he rose were within the reach of all. And thus we see that what some are able to effect and bring about under the laws which regulate the operation of the intellect, must also be within the reach of others, who under like circumstances apply themselves to like pursuits.

But while admitting that the achievements gained by labor and also recognizing the fact that men of great genius have been found the most tireless workers but nevertheless without the original endowment of heart and brain, no amount of, however well applied could produce such men as Shakespear, Newton and Milton

The world's history is full of the triumph of those who have had to fight from beginning to end for the accomplishing of their purpose. Some began life as a shoemaker, peasant and others as farmers. And while employed at these humbler works, they were dreaming of their future greatness and toiled on in their endeavors to accomplish it until after a few years of earnest work they were successful.

Among all the mental qualifications which help on to the accomplishing of a purpose, there is none which is of more importance than self-reliance.

If you want a thing well done do it yourself, thus runs an old adage. And here lies the secret, that those, who rely most upon themselves for the accomplishing of any aim, are the ones who do the best work.

The spirit of self-help shows in the lives of many the true source of their strength and vigor. When help is received from without it is often enfeebling in its effects, but self-help invigorates. Whatever is done for men, to a certain extent, takes away the necessity of doing it for themselves and if this is continued it would leave them comparatively helpless.

It is the work done by the individual which produced the greatest effects and also constitutes the best education. No person has yet been able to receive an education entirely through the aid of others. The determination to be ones own helper is the great secret to be able to accomplish the aim wished for.

The accomplishing of a purpose is seldom obtained by chance. One may leap into sudden fortune at a bound and without effort or foresight, but it is doubtful if any great permanent success ever was the outcome of blind chance.

The old adage "Trust to Luck" like many other adages that time has kept in circulation is a bad one. The person who trusts to luck for his clothing is sure to wear rags and he who depends on it for food is sure to go hungry. It is a common thing among men that when the results of their works and plans are unsatisfactory to blame bad luck as the cause of the out come. If a person when unsuccessful would quietly analyze the whole affair and in this manner discover just what part of the disaster was due to himself he would soon be a disbeliever in luck.

We hear a great deal about the things that have been brought about by chance but we very seldom take time to examine them. We read about Sir Isaac Newton sitting in his garden one day "chance to see an apple fall to the ground" and this set him to thinking, and soon afterwards the laws of gravitation was discovered. This incident in Newton's garden is not a chance but an ordinary one, which was made much in the mind of an extraordinary man. Watt "chanced" to see the lid of the tea kettle in his mother's kitchen lifted by the steam within, and this incident we are told, was the origin of the steam engine invented by this great man.

Thus we see that the accomplishing of a purpose may be forseen but it is a very rare thing for it to come to the one who has not been prepared for it.

Why Suffer?

If you suffer pain from any cause, Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills will relieve it—and leave no bad after-effects. That's the important thing. Neither do they create a habit. More often the attacks become less frequent, or disappear altogether. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills have no other effect except to relieve pain and quiet nervous irritation.

"We are never without Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. My husband and son, aged 15 were always subject to sick headache, until we began using these Pills, and they have broken them up entirely. Don't think they have had to use them for six months. I recommend them to every one. A few weeks ago I heard an old lady friend was sick. I went to see her. She was down with LaGrippe, and nearly crasy with awful backache. I gave her one of the Anti-Pain Pills and left another for her to take in a short time. They helped her right away, and she says she will never be without them again. Last winter my husband was taken with pluerisy on both sides, and I knew he would have died if it hadn't been for the Pills. In less than half an hour he was sweating, and went to bed and slept."

MRS. G. H. WEBB,
Austinburg, Ohio.

Your druggist sells Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, and we authorize him to return the price of first package (only) if it fails to benefit you.

Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind

Undertaking a Specialty.

Elza Kinsey takes charge of all funerals. Calls answered day or night Prices reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

Phone No. Office 37-2. Residence 37-3

The Best Pills Ever Sold.

"After doctoring 15 years for chronic indigestion, and spending over two hundred dollars, nothing has done me as much good as Dr. King's New Life Pills. I consider them the best pills ever sold." writes B. F. Aycue, of Ingleside, N.C. Sold under guarantee at H. Millman's drug store. 25c.

Envelopes 5c a bunch.

Miss Mabel Kinsey of Ft. Wayne visited friends here, last week.

Washington Hart suffered a stroke of paralysis on last Tuesday evening in his face rendering speech very difficult. He has rallied some at this writing, but it is feared a second stroke would prove fatal.

Just Received.

Car Load Wabash Portland Cement.
Consignment of Gasoline Vapor Stoves.

I Keep on Hands

Hydrated Ground Lime
Stoves and Ranges Cooking Utensils
Steel Goods of all kinds.

All Kinds of Roofing:

Best quality Red Cedar Shingles
Gravel Roofing Asbestos, Rubber, Felt and Galvanized Roofing.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT
Linseed, Automobile and Lubricating Oils, Gasoline, Etc.

GLASS, SASH AND DOORS.

Quality Right. Prices Right.

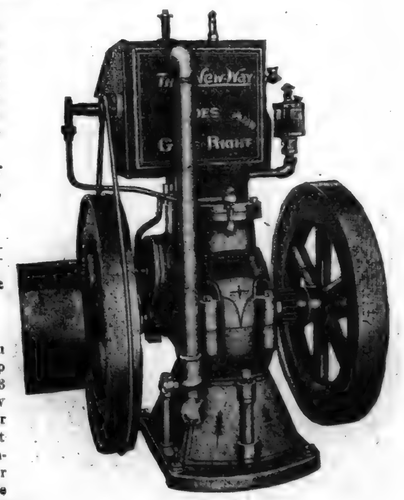
D. J. Baker.

INTERESTING TO UP-TO-DATE FARMERS.

What you need is a reliable gasoline engine to do your work and increase your profits.

The "NEW WAY" Engine is conceded by Mechanical Engineers and men of high authority to be the most perfect engine in mechanical design and construction manufactured.

No water tanks or water. Cooled perfectly by air.



SO SIMPLE YOUR BOY CAN RUN IT.

The next time you are in town, just drop in and examine the 3 to 3 1-2 H. P. "NEW WAY" engine on our floor. If you don't say it is the best engine you have ever seen or heard of, we will be greatly mistaken.

Engine can be seen running at The News Office, St. Joe, Ind.

Eugene Hubbard, Butler, Ind.
Exclusive Agent.

Note books at THE NEWS office.

Get your potato crates of the Noble Hoop Co., St. Joe. Ind.

Groceries. Anything you want at our store. SOL BARNEY.

Mrs. John Davis visited a couple of days with her sister, Mrs. John Hartley, of near Grabill, who is in very poor health.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Patterson attended the commencement exercises at Springfield, O., June 1st. in which their son Ralph, took highest honor. They returned Thursday evening, accompanied by Ralph, who will spend his vacation at home.

Money to loan on farms at 5 per cent interest. Payable on or before 10 years. Partial payments allowed. Call on or write us. Brown & Rhoads, Lawyers, City National Bank Building, Auburn, Ind.

Lee Chapman of Spencerville, was arrested by Sheriff J. W. Reed, Monday and brought before Judge Bratton to answer the charge of selling liquor without a license. He pleaded "not guilty" and was placed under $200 bond. He is a photographer. His arrest is the result of an investigation by the grand jury which body of men returned two indictments against him.

Swift's Pride Soap
for easy house cleaning

per cake
5c.
8 for 25.

Sol Barney,

Saturday Only.

JUNE

L 903

Truth and Quality

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing. Accordingly, it is not claimed that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is the only remedy of known value, but one of many reasons why it is the best of personal and family laxatives is the fact that it cleanses, sweetens and relieves the internal organs on which it acts without any debilitating after effects and without having to increase the quantity from time to time.

It acts pleasantly and naturally and truly as a laxative, and its component parts are known to and approved by physicians, as it is free from all objectionable substances. To get its beneficial effects always purchase the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

Why She Sang the Hymn.

A well-known bishop relates that he was in a small country town where, owing to the scarcity of good servants, most of the ladies preferred to do their own work, says a London paper.

He was awakened quite early by the tones of a soprano voice singing "Nearer, My God, to Thee!" As the bishop lay in bed he meditated upon the piety which his hostess must possess which enabled her to go about her task early in the morning singing such a noble hymn.

At breakfast he spoke to her about it, and told her how pleased he was.

"Oh, law," she replied, "that's the hymn I boil the eggs by—three verses for soft and five for hard."

FIVE MONTHS IN HOSPITAL.

Discharged Because Doctors Could Not Cure.

Levi P. Brockway, S. Second Ave., Anoka, Minn., says: "After lying for five months in a hospital I was discharged as incurable, and given only six months to live. My heart was affected. I had smothering spells and sometimes fell unconscious. I got so I couldn't use my arms, my eyesight was impaired and the kidney secretions were badly disordered. I was completely worn out and discouraged when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, but they went right to the cause of the trouble and did their work well. I have been feeling well ever since."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Division of Labor.

"What do you want here?" asked the warden of the penitentiary.

"I should like to spend a few days in this institution," said the caller.

"What for?"

"I wish to see how the inmates live."

"What is your object in that? Are you writing a book?"

"Not at all."

"Detective story?"

"Nothing of the sort."

"Story for the Sunday papers?"

"No, sir."

The warden reflected.

"I suppose," he said, "you are what they call a sociologist?"

"No, sir," said the caller. "But my brother is. All I do is to study the conditions. He formulates the theories."

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

A Generous Request.

Porter Emerson Browne came into the office yesterday. He had been out in the country for a week and was very cheerful. Just as he was leaving he said: "Did you hear about that man who died the other day and left all he had to the orphanage?"

"No," some one answered. "How much did he leave?"

"Twelve children."

Mr. Browne left, too.—Everybody's Magazine.

Don't Spoil Your Clothes.

Use Red Cross Ball Blue and keep them white as snow. All grocers, 5 cents a package.

Why They Sighed.

Two men, one a bachelor, the other married, happened to sigh simultaneously while riding downtown together, and each looked at the other.

"Why did you sigh?" queried the married man.

"Because I get lonesome," replied the bachelor. "And you?"

"Because I don't get a chance to get lonesome," answered the married man.

Whereupon they both sighed again.

EPILEPSY ITS

If you suffer from Fits, Falling Sickness or Epilepsy, or have Children that do so, my New Discovery and Treatment will give them immediate relief, and all you are asked to do is to send for a Free Bottle of Dr. May's EPILEPTICIDE CURE

TRIAL FREE

Complies with Food and Drugs Act of Congress of June 30th 1906. Complete directions, also testimonials of CURES, sent, FREE by mail. Express Prepaid. Give Age and full address

U. S. EXP. CO., 5 L. 540 Pearl Street, New York.

The Popular Pulpit

STRENGTH THROUGH STRIFE.

By Henry F. Cope.

"They go from strength to strength."—Ps. 84: 7.

The difference between man and the dust lies in his heaven born passion for progress, the desire to push on, to grow, to improve, to enlarge his life, his knowledge, and his power. All life is growth and any form of decay is death. In the right life aspiration lasts as long as respiration. He is already dead who is satisfied, in whom there stirs no passion for better, ampler better things. That which yesterday seemed to the soul a palace, which is to-day its house, would to-morrow prove its prison.

Man was made to grow. All our past story tells us that. Read in the rocks or in the written page it is the same record of toil, pain, battle, weariness, and sorrow, victory, and brief joy—all but waves in the great tide that moves humanity on. Out of the depths have we come, and no man any longer blushes at our lowly beginnings, rather do we rejoice at the strides made thus far. Neither dares any reverent one to predict how far we may go. All we know is that in us burns the eternal cloud by day and fire by night that leads on from Egypts of dull content through deserts of glowing promise.

The story of each life is like a miniature of the story of all life. There is the same helpless beginning, the same increasing passion for larger life, the same growing discontent with things achieved. To live is to strive, to achieve and be dissatisfied, to become better and often seem to be worse. The struggle to cast out old evil and to live fairer, sweeter, stronger, and more worth while lives goes on in all.

Of all the objects of our pity none deserves it more than those who are content with themselves. No matter what growth a man may make in character, what progress toward perfection, it will never afford him satisfaction. The search for the peace of perfection can end only in disappointment. To the soul there is no perfection. To find its goal would be to die. When a man boasts of having reached the height of his ambition you will find he never contemplated any eminence greater than a beer keg.

Either one gets better every day or he gets worse. He needs to feel the greatest alarm who thinks he has come to the place where he can stand still. Measure your progress by your discontent with self. The fact that our ideals seem farther off than ever before may but indicate how greatly the horizon has widened. True, there is a danger that we shall be content with our discontent, that we shall say, My apparent imperfection but proves my real progress. A man must measure himself not alone by his distance from the goal but by his steady strivings to reach it.

And, after all, the natural life has little time for any self-measurements. Some get no exercise save in climbing on and off the scales and standing under their spiritual measuring rods. They wonder why they do not grow. Not by inspection does the soul increase. Nor by repeated reviews of footprints long past, of yestrday's failures and mistakes. A man ought to move so fast that the old tracks are soon out of sight. The things that are set before and not the things left behind must determine the things that are to be.

If life is a race, it is not run before spectators; there are no grand stands here. The course winds amongst the commonplace duties of the day. He runs best who thinks least of the running and most of doing the work of that moment in the best and noblest way. In each effort, in each fight against content with sloth, with self, with mediocrity, lies the strength giving struggle. Soul health comes through service. The doing of good is the best defense against the evil. Strength comes and evil is overcome by the good that is undertaken.

Weary in the fight, and feeling naught is gained, still press on. Life's value lies not in its victories so much as in its strife. It is this long, bitter, oft disappointing battle that is making the man of you. The warrior's reward is not in some medal at the end—it is in muscle gained, in keener vision, stronger arm, larger heart, uplifted head, thoughts that look beyond the stars and catch glimpses of the glory to be, in burning desire for yet harder toil, sterner conflicts, nobler prizes.

GOING TO THE FATHER.

By Cyrus Townsend Brady.

I go to the Father.—St. John xvi. 16.

Five times, including once parenthetically, did Jesus declare in His last discourse to His disciples in the upper chamber before His betrayal that He was going to His Father. The circumstances of the delivery of these words of farewell were peculiar. The disciples, inadequate as was their anticipation of what was toward, were yet filled with forebodings of disaster. Being human and not realizing all that was involved, there must have been in their minds a leaven of hope. These things that they vaguely dreaded could not occur. Something would happen; some power would intervene; they should yet see the Messiah triumphant on a throne rather than a cross. Yet their hearts were doubtless heavy with premonitions of despair as they listened. There was no vagueness about Jesus' grasp of the situation. He knew that He would have to drain the cup to the dregs. It was even then at His lips. Yet He did not allow this knowledge to overwhelm Him. He agonized in the garden and on the cross, but He never absolutely and entirely gave way.

I like to believe that one of the thoughts which sustained Him in that hour was that, no matter how terrible the way, how long the via dolorosa, how awful the gateway of the cross at the end. He was going to the Father. It seems to add the divinest and sweetest touch to His humanity when we think that this was in His mind when He repeated again and again that simple statement. His work was almost over, although its most terrible hours were to come, although its greatest demand was to be met; yet there was light at the end, for He was going to the Father. He could not refrain as a man from telling the disciples that over and over.

How the mind of Joseph, lord of lower and upper Egypt, the vice regent of the world, went back to that old man, his father in Palestine. How the mind of that young spendthrift, whose name is a synonym for prodigality and filial disrespect, turned from his place with the swine to his father, standing on the hill and looking down the long road waiting for his boy's return; how the mind of man turns to his earthly father; we hear a great deal about mothers; fathers have a place in our affections, have they not?

Jesus went to His Father; the prodigal went also to his father, so we may go to our Father which art in heaven. There is this difference between our going and Christ's going. He went alone, save that the Father was with Him. When we go now the Father is with us in His love and Jesus is with us in His brotherhood. We cannot go alone. And there is no experience which we can go through in our progress toward the Father which is not exceeded in bitterness by that through which our Savior passed. Because of Him anybody and everybody can go to the Father, except the willful, persistent, determined sinner.

You can go to the Father with the guilt of murder on your soul, but you cannot go to the Father with the spirit of anger in your heart. You can go to Him red-handed if you go to Him repentant, and through Christ you can go to Him regenerated and redeemed. You will have to pay the penalty for your actions here, but if you are spiritually changed the payment here is all that will be exacted. So that every human being who desires can look forward to his hour of trial as well as to his day of triumph to a welcome from the Father.

"Though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool."

SHORT METER SERMONS.

Don't try to serve two masters.

Don't pretend what your conduct does not disclose.

Don't give to the Lord and let your family suffer.

Don't permit sentiment to get the better of your judgment.

Don't guard your lips and fail to keep watch over your heart.

Don't get conceited if you would enjoy the confidence of others.

HYMNS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

Aspiration.

Purer yet, and purer
I would be in mind,
Dearer yet and dearer
Every duty find;
Hoping still and trusting
God without a fear,
Patiently believing
He will make all clear.

Calmer yet and calmer
Trials bear and pain,
Surer yet and surer
Peace at last to gain;
Suffering still and doing,
To his will resigned,
And to God subduing
Heart, and will, and mind.

Higher yet and higher
Out of clouds and night,
Nearer yet and nearer
Rising to the light—
Oft these earnest longings
Swell within my breast,
Yet their inner meaning
Ne'er can be expressed.

Pattern Department

UP-TO-DATE DESIGNS FOR THE HOME DRESSMAKER

Cape Wrap.

Small wraps are always in demand, and this year they are being made in very pretty and attractive forms. This one is absolutely simple, made in cape style, yet is so arranged as to fit a bit more closely to the figure than does the regulation cape and to give the effect of sleeves. It appropriately can be made to match the costume or of silk or pongee in contrast therewith. In the illustration pongee is trimmed with taffeta and with soutache braid, but there are so many bandings and trimmings offered this season that the possibilities of finish are almost innumerable. Applique would be handsome, soutache banding is being much used, and the plain silk is always simple and effective.

PATTERN NO. 5973.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:

Order Coupon.

No. 5973.

SIZE .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

Misses' Blouse.

Such an attractive blouse waist as this one is sure to find its welcome from any normal-minded girl, for pretty clothes are as essential to youthful happiness as is the sunshine. In this instance plaid taffeta is trimmed with velvet bands and combined with a che misette of simple all-over lace, but the blouse can be utilized for a great many materials in a number of ways. It is just as appropriate for the entire dresses as it is for the separate waist, and it can be made from almost any seasonable material. Crepe de Chine, louisine and taffeta are favorite silks for the separate blouse, but for entire dresses the plaid taffetas, veilings, cashmeres and light-colored broadcloths all are being used, while the model is adapted to each and to all.

PATTERN NO. 5876.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly.

Order Coupon.

No. 5876.

SIZE .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

QUEEN OF ACTRESSES PRAISES PE-RU-NA.

MISS JULIA MARLOWE.

"I am glad to write my endorsement of the great remedy, Peruna. I do so most heartily."—Julia Marlowe.

Any remedy that benefits digestion strengthens the nerves.

The nerve centers require nutrition. If the digestion is impaired, the nerve centers become anemic, and nervous debility is the result.

Peruna is not a nervine nor a stimulant. It benefits the nerves by benefiting digestion.

Peruna frees the stomach of catarrhal congestions and normal digestion is the result.

In other words, Peruna goes to the bottom of the whole difficulty, when the disagreeable symptoms disappear.

Mrs. J. C. Jamison, Wallace, Cal., writes:

"I was troubled with my stomach for six years. Was treated by three doctors. They said that I had nervous dyspepsia. I was put on a liquid diet for three months.

"I improved under the treatment, but as soon as I stopped taking the medicine, I got bad again.

"I saw a testimonial of a man whose case was similar to mine being cured by Peruna, so I thought I would give it a trial.

"I procured a bottle at once and commenced taking it. I have taken several bottles and am entirely cured."

Libby's Food Products

Peerless Dried Beef

Unlike the ordinary dried beef—that sold in bulk—Libby's Peerless Dried Beef comes in a sealed glass jar in which it is packed the moment it is sliced into those delicious thin wafers.

None of the rich natural flavor or goodness escapes or dries out. It reaches you fresh and with all the nutriment retained.

Libby's Peerless Dried Beef is only one of a Great number of high-grade, ready to serve, pure food products that are prepared in Libby's Great White Kitchen.

Just try a package of any of these, such as Ox Tongue, Vienna Sausage, Pickles, Olives, etc., and see how delightfully different they are from others you have eaten.

Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago

Get your Letter Paper and Envelopes printed at this office. We can give you the

EAGLE LINEN PAPER and ENVELOPES

It is fine and will suit you. Try it.

JUNE

L 903

This woman says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved her life. Read her letter.

Mrs. T. C. Willadsen, of Manning, Iowa, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude to you in words. For years I suffered with the worst forms of female complaints, continually doctoring and spending lots of money for medicine without help. I wrote you for advice, followed it as directed, and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has restored me to perfect health. Had it not been for you I should have been in my grave to-day. I wish every suffering woman would try it."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

160 Acre FARMS in Western Canada FREE

Illustration Showing Mixed Farming Scene in

WESTERN CANADA

Some of the choicest lands for grain growing, stock raising and mixed farming in the new districts of Saskatchewan and Alberta have recently been Opened for Settlement under the

Revised Homestead Regulations

Entry may now be made by proxy (in certain conditions), by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader. Thousands of homesteads of 160 acres each are thus now easily obtainable in these great grain-growing, stock-raising and mixed farming sections.

There you will find healthful climate, good neighbors, churches for family worship, schools for your children, good laws, splendid crops, and railroads convenient to market.

Entry fee in each case is $10.00. For pamphlet, "Last Best West," particulars as to rates, routes, best time to go and where to locate, apply to W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or W. H. Rogers, 3d Floor Traction Terminal Building, Indianapolis, Ind., and H. M. Williams, Room 30, Law Building, Toledo, Ohio, Authorized Government Agents.

Please say where you saw this advertisement.

Paxtine

TOILET ANTISEPTIC

Keeps the breath, teeth, mouth and body antiseptically clean and free from unhealthy germ-life and disagreeable odors, which water, soap and tooth preparations alone cannot do. A germicidal, disinfecting and deodorizing toilet requisite of exceptional excellence and economy. Invaluable for inflamed eyes, throat and nasal and uterine catarrh. At drug and toilet stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.

Large Trial Sample

WITH "HEALTH AND BEAUTY" BOOK SENT FREE

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., Boston, Mass.

If afflicted with sore Eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

ECZEMA COVERED BABY.

Worst Case Doctors Ever Saw—Suffered Untold Misery—Perfect Cure by Cuticura Remedies.

"My son, who is now twenty-two years of age, when four months old began to have eczema on his face, spreading quite rapidly until he was nearly covered. The eczema was something terrible, and the doctors said it was the worst case they ever saw. At times his whole body and face were covered, all but his feet. I used many kinds of patent medicines, to no avail. A friend teased me to try Cuticura. At last I decided to try Cuticura when my boy was three years and four months old, having had eczema all that time and suffering untold misery. I began to use all three of the Cuticura Remedies. He was better in two months; in six months he was well. Mrs. R. L. Risley, Piermont, N. H., Oct. 24, 1905."

Boiled Down.

"Tired of hearing my 'sugary words, are you, Pulsatilla Corkins!" howled the indignant Orlando. "Perhaps you will be kind enough to tell me, Miss Corkins what a sugary word is! What is it made of?"

"It is made, Mr. Spoonamore," answered the fair Pulsatilla, "of verbum sap."

Without another word of any description Orlando Spoonamore grabbed his hat and groped his way out into the darksome night. The blow had crushed him —Chicago Tribune.

Pettit's Eye Salve.

No matter how badly the eyes may be diseased or injured, restores normal conditions. All druggists or Howard Bros., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Child Father to the Man.

Those persons who think they see in Mr. Roosevelt an alarming disposition to regulate other people's affairs will be interested to learn how early this tendency was manifested.

When Theodore was quite a little boy his father told him that he was going on a long journey and admonished young Ted to be a good boy and take good care of his mother. That night, in his prayers, the lad asked the Almighty to watch over his father, who was traveling from home, and to help him to be a good boy, then he added: "As for mother, I will look out after her myself."—Success Magazine.

Good Housekeepers Use the Best.

That's why they use Red Cross Ball Blue. At leading grocers. 5 cents.

TOMBS OF SPANISH ROYALTY.

Most Gorgeous Burial Vaults—Marble Effigies of Children.

The Escurial, in which for nearly three centuries the kings and queens of Spain have been buried, is said to be the most gorgeous burial vault in the world, according to London Tit-Bits.

It is an octagonal chamber, thirty-six feet across, with its walls, save where the coffins stand, entirely overlaid with precious marbles. The staircase which leads to it is of marble with jasper walls. The general effect is unspeakably splendid. In the midst of this magnificence are the massive black marble caskets let into the walls, containing the bodies themselves. They are exactly alike, inscribed simply with the names of the different kings and queens. There is room for just six more monarchs and their consorts.

Of another character altogether is the vault devoted to Spain's royal children—princes and princesses. Here white marble rules, and very charming are some of the effigies over the tombs. The local name for the vault is "the place of the little angels," and though many of the princes who lie here were not at all angelic in their lives, the impression left by the white marble wings of the statues is one of spotless purity.

One unfortunate Spanish king, Don Jamie II. of Aragon, is daily on view in the Cathedral of Palma, in Majorca. The sacristan of the place takes you to a yellow marble monument in the choir, opens a cupboard and pulls out a very ordinary coffin with a glass lid. As poor Don Jamie died in the fourteenth century, he is not now at all a lively spectacle. His mummy is made gay, however, with imitation royal robes—cottony ermine, and so forth.

BUILT UP.

Right Food Gives Strength and Brain Power.

The natural elements of wheat and barley, including the phosphate of potash, are found in Grape-Nuts, and that is why persons who are run down from improper food pick up rapidly on Grape-Nuts.

"My system was run down by excessive night work," writes a N. Y. man, "in spite of a liberal supply of ordinary food.

"After using Grape-Nuts I noticed improvement at once, in strength, and nerve and brain power.

"This food seemed to lift me up and stay with me for better exertion, with less fatigue. My weight increased 20 lbs. with vigor and comfort in proportion.

"When traveling I always carry the food with me to insure having it."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

SHEAR NONSENSE

"What! Divorced already! Why, I thought they'd be linked for life." "No; Jack got time off for bad behavior."—Puck.

"Don't you believe in love at first sight?" "At first sight yes; but sometimes you take another look!"—London Opinion.

She (at the church bazaar)—Won't you take a chance on this cake? He—Not on your life, My wife baked it.—Washington Star.

Chappie—Have a cigarette, old man? Sapleigh—No; I don't smoke foolkillers. Chappie—Well, I don't blame you for refusing to take chances.—Chicago Daily News.

Mr. Lingerlong—I had a queer adventure this afternoon—— Miss de Muir (with a swift glance at the clock —You mean yesterday afternoon, I presume.—Chicago Tribune.

"Do you think they ever will find the North Pole?" he asked. "Find it?" she responded. "Goodness! What a question to ask me. I didn't know it was lost."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Doctor—I diagnose all sickness from the patient's eyes. Now, your right eye tells me that your kidneys are affected. Patient—Excuse me, doctor, but my right is a glass eye.—Moody's Magazine.

"Did your ancestors have a family tree, Mr. Maguire?" "Family tree is it, ma'am! One of me ancestors controlled th' intire timber privilege of the Garden of Eden."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"I have been taking some moving pictures of life on your farm." "Did you ketch the hired man in motion?" "I think so." "Ah, science kin do anything these days."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Wigwag—I believe there's a tinge of insanity in all religious enthusiasts. Henpeckke—Yes, take the Mormons, for instance; any man that wants more than one wife is plumb crazy.—Philadelphia Record.

Blox—A scientist claims that mental labor is one of the chief causes of a sallow complexion and wrinkles. Knox—That may explain why our congressmen preserve their goods looks.—Chicago Daily News.

Teacher—Who gets the wicked little boys that stay away from Sunday school. (No answer.) Teacher—Come, you can tell us, Casey. Casey—De White Sox gits some, an' de Cubs de rest.—The Bohemian.

"Suppose you had a dime," said the teacher, "and lost 3 cents. How much would——" "Pardon me," interrupted the precise Boston youth, "but if it was a dime, I should have to get it changed first."—Philadelphia Press.

The Mistress—What, Suzanne, going to leave me? Going to get married? This is most unexpected. The French Maid—Oui, madam, but eet ees not my fault. Eet was only last night zat your son proposed to me.—Harper's Bazar.

"Yes," said the eminent physician, "we are doing much to prolong human life." "I'm glad to hear it," answered Mr. Sirius Barker. "By prolonging life you give a man more time and opportunity to get together the amount of your bill."—Washington Star.

"Yes," said the old man, "my daughter is still studying French." "But she can't speak the language at all, can she?" remarked the friend. "She couldn't at first, but now she can speak it just enough to make herself unintelligible."—Philadelphia Press.

"Norah, didn't I tell you that I wanted a pitcher of ice water the first thing in the morning?" asked Mrs. Gunson. "Yis, mum, ye did," replied the new maid, "an' to make sure thot ye'd get it th' first thing I left it in front of th' dure last night."—Brooklyn Life.

"Well, there's one thing about our boarding house," said the optimist, "you can eat as much as you like there." "Of course; same as ours," replied the pessimist. "You can eat as much as you like, but there's never anything you could possibly like."—Philadelphia Press.

Jane—After looking at me for a minute or two, Harry said, "Do you know, Jane, that a veil improves you greatly?" Carrie—Not very complimentary! Jane—No; but what pleased me was the fine tact he employed in imparting an unpleasant thought.—Boston Transcript.

"Excuse me, madam," said the book canvasser as a spinster who was beginning to carry weight for age opened the front door, "but are you interested in the study of pre-historic man?" "I should say not," replied the giddy old girl. "I am too busy trying to get a man of to-day interested in me."—Mobile Register.

Phew! Salts and Castor Oil!

Why take sickening salts or repulsive castor oil? "Goes through you like a dose of salts" means violence, grips, gripes, gases, soreness, irritation, and leaves your stomach and bowels weak and burnt out. Might just as well take concentrated lye. Then there's castor oil, disgusting, nauseating truck that your stomach refuses unless you disguise the taste. Fool your own stomach, eh? Don't ever believe that anything offensive to your taste or smell is going to do you real good. Nature makes certain things repulsive, so you will not take them. Force yourself to nauseous doses, and you ruin your digestion, weaken your bowels, destroy your health. On the other hand see what a delightful, palatable, perfect modern laxative, liver regulator and bowel tonic you find in Cascarets Best for the Bowels. All druggists, 10c, 25c, 50c. Never sold in bulk. The genuine tablet stamped CCC. Guaranteed to cure or your money back. Sample and booklet free. Address 940 Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES $3.00 $3.50

SHOES AT ALL PRICES, FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE FAMILY, MEN, BOYS, WOMEN, MISSES AND CHILDREN.

W. L. Douglas makes and sells more men's $2.50, $3.00 and $3.50 shoes than any other manufacturer in the world, because they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater value than any other shoes in the world to-day.

Fast Color Eyelets Used Exclusively.

W. L. Douglas $4 and $5 Gilt Edge Shoes Cannot Be Equalled At Any Price

CAUTION. W. L. Douglas name and price is stamped on bottom. Take No Substitute. Sold by the best shoe dealers everywhere. Shoes mailed from factory to any part of the world. Illustrated Catalog free to any address. W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

75c. FOR 25c.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE never sells for less than 25c. a copy. But we want you to know how good it is. Send us 25c. for a trial trip, and we will mail you three issues of this great magazine, containing three first-class complete novels, sixteen strong stories, fifty pages of new humor, and fifteen remarkable articles. Send to-day. Our current issue is fine.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE EAST WASHINGTON SQUARE PHILADELPHIA - - PENNA.

WE GIVE AWAY OVER 1000

Valuable Household and Fancy Presents Free, in Exchange for Carton Tops and Soap Wrappers from "20-Mule-Team" Borax and Borax Products. Send Postcard for 40-page Illustrated Catalogue. Address

PACIFIC COAST BORAX CO., CHICAGO, ILL.

Local Agents Wanted. Write for Money Making Plan.

Humane.

Mrs. Ellis—When you say third and lastly, why do you continue your sermon half an hour?

Dominie—To give the deacons time to wake up.

Every woman in this vicinity will be glad to know that local grocers now have in stock "OUR-PIE," a preparation in three varieties for making Lemon, Chocolate and Custard pies. Each 10-cent package makes two pies. Be sure and order to-day. Put up by D-Zerta Food Co., Rochester, N. Y.

Cares of State.

Anecdotes of great statesmen and orators are apt to prove interesting to the general reading public because it is expected that they will reveal something of a great mind. In the "Life and Letters of Sir Richard C. Jebb" is told a story of Mr. Disraeli which is worthy to be called historical.

Mr. Disraeli, after one of his best speeches, left the House with Mr. Montagu Corry.

"I was wondering," Mr. Corry afterward confessed, "what a great orator would talk about just after a successful speech. 'Corry,' said Mr. Disraeli, 'do you know how to get into a cab? Very few men know. I was at Vienna once when I was a young man, with Prince Gortschakoff and another Englishman, a military man who was there on the same business.

"'A royal carriage was there to conduct us. When we came to it, the Englishman walked straight up to it, and got in with his back to the horses. Gortschakoff said to me, "that is the politest thing I have ever seen an Englishman do."'"

A Disappointment.

"Have you done anything to popularise yourself?"

"Yes," answered the youthful politician, "but in vain. I can't get the public to call me by my first name or make fun of my fancy waistcoats,"—Washington Star.

FITS All Fits Stopped and all Nervous Diseases Permanently Cured by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Send for Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. DR. R. H. KLINE, Ld., 931 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa

Why She Hesitated.

"I admit that I love you, Clarence," said the young heiress, "but I'll have to speak to mamma."

"Eh?" said Clarence. "You mean I'll have to speak to her."

"No, I will. She'll come home from Europe to-morrow, where she's been for the last three months, and she may have engaged me to some nobleman while she was there."—Independent.

Made a Hit.

Upgardson—Got rich off a $3 shoe, did he? Invented a new style of $3 shoe?

Atom—Not at all. He invented a new price for it.

Mother Gray, Nurse in Child's Home, New York City.

MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS FOR CHILDREN,

A Certain Cure for Feverishness, Constipation, Headache, Stomach Trouble, Teething Disorders, and Destroy Worms. They Break up Colds in 24 hours. A Gift. Prevention. A 25c. Sample mailed FREE. Address A. S. OLMSTED, Le Roy, N. Y.

WIDOWS under NEW LAW obtained PENSIONS by JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Adv. in this paper.

JUNE

L 903

0209

SPENCERVILLE

Frances Butler made a trip to Fort Wayne, Saturday.

Mr. Holsworth of Ft. Wayne was the guest of Miss Ethel Metcalf, over Sunday.

Charlie Markle and Roy Chaney made a business trip to Ft Wayne, Saturday.

Mrs. Catherine Gessinger will spend the next two weeks with relatives in Hicksville.

No one from this place went to Detroit on the early morning excursion, Sunday.

Mrs. Mary Anne Galloway has returned to her daughter's, Mrs. Sue Hollopeter near Cedarville.

A crowd of young people from this place, expect to attend the Sunday School Convention at Corunna.

Miss Josephine Carnes has returned from Antwerp, where she has been working for some time past. She will be at home until August.

Samuel Tarney, wife and daughter Stella, of Auburn, Mrs. Sarah Camel and children of Anderson and Mrs. Ollie Hines and daughter Ruth, of Warsaw, Ind., together with other relatives were the guests of L. W. Steward and family, Friday.

A strange event occured Sunday morning, Mr. Ben Baltz, while passing up the stairs in his home chanced to look behind him and saw following him up the stairs a large snake. It was a seven foot blue racer. He threw shoes at it and drove it down the stairs then called to those below to bring him a pitch fork, with which he quickly killed it. They cannot imagine how the reptile came on the stairs as the hall and stairs are several rooms distant from an outside entrance.

Thinks It Saved his Life.

Lester M. Nelson, of Naples, Maine, says in a recent letter: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery many years, for coughs and colds, and I think it saved my life. I have found it a reliable remedy for throat and lung complaints, and would no more be without a bottle than I would be without food." For nearly forty years New Discovery has stood at the head of throat and lung remedies. As a preventive of pneumonia, and healer of weak lungs it has no equal. Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

SPENCERVILLE R F D No 2.

Mrs. Ida Kelley is on the sick list this week.

Mort Shutt and family visited with relatives at Spencerville, Sunday.

Samuel Kelley of Ft. Wayne spent Sunday with his son, D. M. Kelley and family.

Will Tyndall made a business trip to Ft. Wayne, Saturday, also Perry and John Miller.

Eva Miller and Vernie Kelley spent Sunday with John Stafford and family of Hicksville.

Mrs. Wes Zimmerman, daughter and son spent Thursday, with her brother, Chas. Gibbons and family of near Auburn.

Jennie Steward and Connie Davis called on Harvie Kimes and family, Sunday afternoon.

The Misses Frances Webb and Iva Miller and Melvin Miller attended the commencement at Ft. Wayne, Saturday.

Ort Wearley, while playing ball at Spencerville, Saturday, fell in some way breaking his arm just above the wrist.

John W. Miller and daughters Fae and Nellie, of Six Corners spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives of this place.

Ed Kinsey, Vernie Boston and Crist Sheppleman of near Harlan spent Thursday evening, with Clint Wearley and family.

Coburn's Corners

Buy our stationery.

William Freeburn and Cleve Washler have joined the band.

W. H. Northrup was home from Ft. Wayne. Tuesday night of last week.

Rev. J. A. Brown preached the memorial address of the Maccabees at Auburn, Sunday.

Cold cooked ham at KAGEY'S for hot weather.

Mrs. Miller Dermott is on the sick list.

Therman Shull lost a colt, this week.

Tomato, cabbage, sweet peppers and celery plants for sale at NORTHRUP'S.

Saxe Hadsell and family, Nick Funk and family were at Hicksville, last Sunday.

A number from this neighborhood attended the commencement at Spencerville.

Don't forget the ice cream and strawberry festival at the Corner's, Saturday evening, June 13.

Mr. and Mrs. Reed Place attended the funeral of Mrs. Place's niece of Hicksville, Sunday afternoon.

A number from this way attended the Children's exercises at the U. B. church of Newville, Sunday evening.

Reed Place had a good robe stolen from his rig while attending the Children's exercise at the church on Sunday evening of last week.

Crescent Wheat and Corn Flakes at KAGEY'S.

Roy and Fred Walker of Ft. Wayne were guests of Percey Walker and family, Sunday.

Miller Dermott and wife were at Auburn, last Saturday.

Every Man His Own Doctor.

The average man cannot afford to employ a physician for every slight ailment or injury that may occur in his family, nor can he afford to neglect them, as so slight an injury as the scratch of a pin has been known to cause the loss of a limb. Hence every man must from necessity be his own doctor for this class of ailments. Success often depends upon prompt treatment which can only be had when suitable medicines are kept at hand. Chamberlain's Remedies have been in the market for many years and enjoy a good reputation.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm (an antiseptic liniment) for cuts, bruises, burns sprains, swellings, lame back and rheumatic pains.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for constipation, biliousness and stomach troubles.

Chamberlain's Salve for diseases of the skin.

One bottle of each of these five preparations costs but $1.25. For sale by H. Milliman, St. Joe; F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

FAIRVIEW

Arthur Coyle is on the sick list.

Omie Coyle will go to work at Helmer, this week.

Miss Myrtle Platter spent Sunday with Miss Erma Houser.

Before buying galvanized roofing call on F. Kinsey and get prices.

Mr. Elson of Fairfield Center spent Sunday with his sister, Mrs. Alda Brown.

Miss Zona Guisinger is assisting Mrs. Frank Siebert with her house cleaning.

Master Crates May has returned home after a few days visit with his grandparents at Auburn.

Quite a number from this place attended the Children's exercises at Mooresville, Sunday evening.

Ethel Houser took Thursday dinner with Mrs. Almira Krise and supper with Mrs. Mary Johnston.

NEWVILLE

Charles Countryman lost his horse, Saturday.

Get prices on galvanized roofing before buying. F. KINSEY.

Quite a number from this way spent Saturday evening in Butler.

Mr. and Mrs. William Blair of Butler spent Sunday with Mrs. Benjamin Blair.

Several from this way attended a party at Levi Oberlins, Saturday evening.

Elmer Wyatt has been having a wall put under his house and some other repairing done.

William Meeks and wife attended the funeral of Miss Gertrude Dodge at Hicksville, Sunday.

Mrs. Frank Brink and two daughters of Butler visited over Sunday with relatives at this place.

FOR SALE:—Potato crates. Noble Hoop Co. St. Joe, Ind.

Manford Smith, wife and daughter Lucile, of Hicksville spent Sunday with Elmer Wyatts'.

The Ladies Aid of the Church of Christ meets with Mrs Will McNabb, Thursday of this week.

Mrs. Will Baron and father, Peter Countryman, have been visiting a few days with relatives at Churubusco.

The Children exercises of the U. B. church, Sunday evening, was well given and a good crowd was present.

J. M. Milliman and daughter Fanny, of Coburn's Corners attended services at the Church of Christ, Sunday morning.

Chester Baker, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Baker, fell in the creek near their place, Saturday, but was got out safely by Sam Wyatt, who was working near by.

Mr. Casebere, Mrs. McNabb and Mrs. Gus Gloy was appointed as delegates from the Christian S. S. to the Sunday school convention at Corunna, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Mr. Randall of St. Joe was repairing a well for, Robert Nichols, Saturday, and when he turned around to start for home got to near the river bank and went down. But there was no damage done to him or his wagon.

Well Managed

Trustee Provines was in town Monday and gave us a few figures concerning the financial condition of his commencement fund.

Receipts for 1908	$25.05
Expenditures
Programs	$13 75
Church rent	5 00
Janitor fees	50
Total	$19 25
Balance in treasury 1908	$ 5 80
Balance in treasury 1907	16 06
Total	$21.86

At the first institute the above sum is to be divided among the schools of the township for buying reading circle books.

The Old Settlers.

The city of Auburn will entertain the Old Settlers association of DeKalb county on Thursday, June 18th. Arrangements are being made to have one of the most pleasant meetings in the history of the Association. In behalf of the city, Hon. Charles M. Brown will welcome the guests and Isaac Gunsenhouser will respond. A chorus of twenty voices and a male quartette will furnish vocal music, the famous Auburn city band has been engaged for the day beginning at 9:00 o'clock in the morning, will render four seperate concerts, concluding the last at 9:00 o'clock in the evening. Tables will be placed on the Court Square, under the trees in the southwest quarter, old fashioned coffee with cream and sugar will be furnished free to old settlers who bring their dinner baskets and the picnic dinner on the beautiful lawn will be a joyous occasion.

There will be no imported, long winded orator to make you tired, but music and story and song, the reminiscences of bye gone days, the warm hand clasp and the greetings of the friends of "Auld Lang Syne" will drive away your cares and make you feel the touch of youth again. A cordial invitation is extended to the whole people of DeKalb County to meet with the "old settlers" on this occasion and honor them by your presence.

Brighten Up

"Brighten Up" time is here—the time to clean up about the house, renovate, and make the old things look neat and clean again. We can help you in the work with our line of SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINTS AND VARNISHES.

It is really surprising what a little paint or varnish will do toward brightening up dingy surroundings. Take The S-W. Family Paint, for instance. This is a linseed oil paint specially prepared for home decorating and painting. With it any one can renew the appearance of a hundred little things that now look worn and old. It dries with a good gloss and will stand scrubbing with soap and water. Comes in 26 attractive shades.

The S-W. Floorlac is another splendid household brightener. It is a stain and varnish combined and can be used on old or new woods equally well. Imitates the natural woods and gives a most pleasing effect.

These offer a few hints for you. Come in and have a "Brighten Up" talk with us and learn more about how we can help you in your Fall cleaning. Our line has a paint or varnish for every purpose.

Remember, we sell

THE SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PRODUCTS

Brighten Up — Brighten Up

F. R. BOWMAN,

Spencerville, - - - Indiana

Ladies Aid.

The Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. church will meet at the home of Mrs. Rebecca Smith, Saturday, June 13th at 2:00 o'clock. Let every member be present as this is guest day. Refreshments will be served.

Taken In.

Selling fifteen dollars worth of stolen brass for ten cents is the sequel of John Friend of Newville laying out a jail sentence of 60 days and paying a fine of $10 and a disfranchisement of two years. He was arrested several days ago and pleaded not guilty. In default of bail he went to jail and after reflecting for a few days decided to admit the theft and take the consequences.—Dispatch.

WABASH CORNERS.

Mrs. Maud Jenkins spent Sunday in Butler.

Emanuel Uim and Dennis Burley spent Saturday in Auburn.

Go to the Noble Hoop Co. St. Joe, Ind., for your potato crates.

Cal Loux and wife called on Wm. Pervines and family, Thursday eve.

Mrs. J. B. White of St. Joe was the guest of the correspondent, Friday.

G. A. Bassett and wife of Fairview called on Sherman Wolff and wife, Sunday evening.

Note books at THE NEWS office.

Cream, Switzer and Brick cheese at KAGEY'S.

Sherman and Jim Rickett went to Indianapolis, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Countryman of near Scio, were passengers to Ft. Wayne, Friday night.

Claudia Gill of Auburn came Monday to stay a while with Emanuel Uim and wife.

Mrs. Ella Gill of St. Joe and Mrs. Wayne Scott were guests of Ida Herrick, Wednesday.

Mrs. Ida Woodcox and son Homer, of St. Joe called on Mrs. Theodore Kline, Wednesday afternoon.

Clarence and Walter White were the guests of their grandparent, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. White of St. Joe, Saturday.

Coral and Fern Simanton of St. Joe were the guests of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ale Simanton, last week.

Wm. Pervines and wife were the guests of Mrs. Catherine McBride of near Sawdust, Monday afternoon of last week.

Excursion to

Cedar Point, Sunday June 14, '08.

FARE $1.50.

Train Leaves St. Joe 4:55

B. & O. R. R.

OUR OPENING GAME.

Mark Center vs St. Joe, Saturday, June 13.

AT WEST END BALL GROUND.

ADMISSION 10 & 15 CENTS.

Game Called at 2:30, Prompt.

JUNE

L 903

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXII. ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 17, 1908. NO. 25

Every little bit added to what you've got makes just a little bit more.

Is your money making money for you? The more of it you have working for you, the less you need to work yourself. We pay 4 per cent interest compounded semi-annually on Certificates of Deposit.

$1.00 will double itself in 17 years 183 days.
$1.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $147.49.
$5.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $737.43
$10.00 per month for 10 years will amount to $1474.85

Now is the time to save. Anyone can save from $1.00 to $10.00 a month if they only will. It's not what you earn but what you save Fourper cent interest added to what you've already got makes just a little bit more

Grabill State Bank,

Grabill, Indiana.

Joseph Witmer, Pres. Albert Egly, Cashier.
David Klopfenstein, V. Pres. Marcus Yager, Asst. Cashier.

Memorial Services.

The St, Joe Lodge, K. of P's will hold their annual memorial services at Widney's opera house on next Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. Rev. F A. Dressel will deliver the sermon. The public is invited to attend.

Political Announcements.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Please announce my name as a candidate for the office of Assessor, subject to the will of the republican convention. (Concord township)

D. W. BAKER.

Colic and Diarrhoea.

Pains in the stomach, colic and diarrhoea are quickly relieved by the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by H. Milliman St. Joe; F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

Attention K. of P's,

All members of St. Joe Lodge No. 400 are especially urged to be present this evening. Business of importance

Just received a car load of Ohio Valley hay loaders. See them. WM. CURIE.

Asa Shuff of Reading was in town Saturday. He is working in a tannery.

Social Saturday evening at St. Joe.

Emma White visited over Sunday with friends at Garrett.

Otto Ginther and wife were guests of relatives at New Haven, Sunday.

Henry Abel spent a few days with his son and family at Branch, Mich.

The most simple hay loader on market today is the Ohio Valley. At CURIE'S

Sol Barney and grandaughter, little Miss Pauline Barney visited with the formers daughter, Mrs. C. S. Johnston and family at Tiffin, Ohio, Sunday.

The ladies of the M P church will have a social in Kinsey's furniture room, Saturday evening, June 27.

Childrens' Day exercises were held in the Lutheran church Sunday evening. The little folks did well. The collection taken for the Orphan's home at Springfield, O., amounted to $17.00.

A social will be given Saturday evening by a class 5 of M P Sunday school.

Ethel Leighty entertained Herbert Sherer, L. G. Fetters and Grace Kain Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Mack Leighty and daughter Ethel were at Wayne yesterday.

In speaking of the entertaining committee at the Rebekah lodge in last weeks paper, the writer should have said Mrs. Maude Jenkins and Emma White entertained.

314 West Second St. AUBURN, IND.

Choice Cut Flowers and Artistic Floral Work.

ON SHORT NOTICE,

Best Quality at the LOWEST PRICES.

MAKE OUR ACQUAINTANCE

C. M. TenEyck & Son,

Proprietors.

HOME and BELL TELEPHONES.

43rd. Annual Convention

OF THE DeKALB COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION, AT CORUNNA, INDIANA, IN THE U. B. CHURCH, JUNE 9-10, '08.

GREAT CONVENTION.

TUESDAY A. M. JUNE 9TH.

The forty-third Annual Sunday School Convention of DeKalb County convened at 9:30 a. m. on June 9th in the U. B. church at Corunna, Ind., with the president, L. W. Treesh, presiding. The meeting was opened with song service conducted by W. H. Getts of Corunna. In the absence of Mrs. C. B. Jones of Garrett, Mrs. Bower, of that place, led in the devotional exercises, after which Rev. Snyder of Waterloo, led in prayer. Song by convention after which Rev. J. F. Metzler led in prayer. The convention again joined in song. Rev. J. F. Metzler of Waterloo, made the welcome address, welcoming the convention and guests in a hearty manner, making us indeed glad to be there. In the absence of Rev. S. E. Slater of Auburn, Rev. Boxwell of Altona responded. At this point many new arrivals came in and while these were being seated a song service was conducted. "What good is a Sunday school in a community?" was the subject discussed by Rev. H. H. Spiher of Ft. Wayne. A general discussion followed led by C. C. Woodcox, Rev. Boxwell, Mrs. Bowers and others. Song by convention. The following committees were then appointed by the president.

NOMINATION.

F. M. Beidler.
Mrs. B. Cullough.
Mrs. Dr. Sheffer.
John Conrad.
Mrs. Bertha Brower.

RESOLUTION.

Mrs. Mary Ehlers.
Rev. D. A. Kuhn.
E. Zerkle.

OBITUARY.

Township president with County secretary as chairman.

Mrs. Ehlers gave a short eulogy to our dear old Sunday School Worker, Rev. Meese, introducing some books he has to offer to the convention. Rev. Snyder then introduced four heroines, Sisters Bohls, Bowers, Sweeney and Bachtel all of Garrett, who walked to the convention, on account of dissappointment in livery rig, a distance of about seven miles, nevertheless they were present at the beginning of the first session.

A special collection amounting to $4.61 was taken at this time. Committees then made special announcements. After a song by the convention, Rev. Thomas pronounced the benediction.

The guests were assigned to various places for dinner.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON.

The afternoon session of Tuesday opened with song service conducted by Bro. Getts. Devotional was conducted by Mrs. Georgie Miller of Ashley. After a song by the convention, Rev. Cummins of Ashley, spoke on "The Problems of the Day", doing himself credit to the topic. In the absence of Rev. Wells of Butler, the discussion that followed was led by Rev. Snyder, followed by Rev. Stanford. Song by convention. Rev. Heminger of St, Joe being absent, Rev. Boxwell was then called upon to discuss the subject "Advertising the Sunday School". "When is a Teacher Prepared" was next taken up by Mrs. M. A. Ehlers of Auburn, who held the undivided attention of the convention. After a song, the discussion was taken up by Rev. Hughes in the absence of Mrs. Ida Everette of Butler. Song by convention. Rev. Meese being present was then given a few minutes to speak to the convention.

After another song Bro. Willis, who was president of the DeKalb County Sunday School Association, forty years ago was introduced and gave us a few encouraging remarks, telling about the convention at that time, which was also held at Corunna.

Township presidents from Franklin, Grant, Jackson, Keyser, Newville, Richland, Smithfield, Union, Stafford, North and South Wilmington then made their reports both by letter and personally. Song. The chairman then made his announcements to the various committees. Song. The convention being closed for afternoon Rev. Meese pronounced benediction.

TUESDAY EVENING.

The evening session opened with song service conducted by Rev. Thomas of Newville. Devotional sentence verses were given by several, who quickly responded to the call. After song, Rev. Thomas then led in prayer. Song.

The State Superintendent of Education Department, Geo. N. Burnle, was then introduced to the convention. He brought greeting to DeKalb from our sister county. The subject "Does the Sunday School Pay" was then discussed by him, giving the convention some very practical lessons. Song by convention was followed by a drill exercise by nine ladies which was rendered well. After another song benediction was pronounced by Rev. Spiher.

WEDNESDAY MORNING.

Convention was opened at 9 o'clock with song service led by Bro. Getts. Devotional was conducted by H. M. Fretz of Auburn. Song by the convention was followed by prayers from Mrs. Ehlers and Bro. Willis, after which another song was sung. The state worker then gave an address on "Teacher Training work". The topic was to have been "How to teach a lesson" from Sunday School lesson for June 14, '08 but was deferred on account of there being no blackboard. Song by convention.

"How ought the subject of Temperance appeal to the young" was taken up by A. L. Moudy of Waterloo. General discussion followed led by Rev. Zuber, in absence of R. D. Bizen of Waterloo. Bros. Willis, Fretz, Stensel and Burnie also responded. This was followed by a duet by F. Britten and B. Ream.

"How to Interest the Young Men" was next discussed by Rev. Thomas; W. E. Moudy of Butler, being absent. General discussion followed led by Mrs. Mary Strebe of Auburn, and Mr. Stensel. The special collection $4.61 was by vote paid to the county association. Committees made various announcements. Benediction was offered by Rev. Kuhn after song.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

Convention convened at 1:00 o'clock and was opened by song service and devotional led by Rev. Thomas, followed by prayer by Bro. Beidler, after which the convention joined in song. The subject "Closing the Gaps Between the Church and Sunday School was taken up by Rev. Sterling.

Song by convention. A mixed quartette Misses Briton and Reinoehl, Messrs Thomas and Briton then favored the audience with a song. "The Bible as a book of Literature" was taken up by Mrs. Ehlers, in absence of Clyde Hart of Coburntown. Mrs. Ehlers and several others in the convention shows by their memory that DeKalb County has several students of the Bible, Mr. Burnie also talked on this subject.

Committee on resolutions handed in the following report.

RESOLVED, That it is the sense of this convention that we have trained Sunday School teachers and to this end we should have more Teachers Training Classes organized in the county.

2nd, We hail with gratitude to God the rising tide of sentiment against the saloon and pledge our earnest and continued endeavers for the complete overthrow of the liquor traffic.

3rd, We extend our heartfelt thanks to the people of Corunna and surrounding county for their abounding hospitality and pray the blessing of our Heavenly Father to rest upon them.

RESOLVED, That a vote of thanks he tendered the choir and leaders of the same including the organist, who was so faithful, for the excellent music rendered during the convention which added greatly to the success of the same.

RESOLVED, That doctrinal views on church matters are out of place at Sunday School conventions. Signed.

COMMITTEE.

OBITUARY COMMITTEE.

We, your committee on obituary beg leave to report as follows:-

INASMUCH as our Father has taken to his home a number of our Sunday School workers and children, who have been near and dear to our hearts and homes and we have been called upon to say good-bye for a season.

RESOLVED, That we humbly submit to Him, who has a right to his own and say "Thy will not mine be done".

The following is a list of the deceased.

CONCORD—Mrs. Geo, Walter, Mrs. E. O. Baltz, Mrs. S. H. Maurer, Mrs. Comesky, Mrs. Levi Shutt, Mrs. Vanaile.

FRANKLIN—Anna Elizabeth Walter.

JACKSON—Mrs. M. A. High, Amos Sebert, Mrs. Dancer.

KEYSER—Mrs. Elizabeth Mayer, Nellie Pence, Florence Shields.

NEWVILLE—J. A. Andrews, Sister Lota Baker, who was greatly missed.

RICHLAND—J. W. Keller, Mrs. Andrew Cox, Mrs. Adam Hovater, Mrs. Craner, J. A. Groh, Minerva Scattergood, Kendall Luttman.

SMITHFIELD—Daniel Kimmell, 80 years of age, who constructed the Reform Church of Smithfield township in 1870 and was the first one to become a member after the church was dedicated, living a faithful member to the last.

Continued on Page 8, Column 5.

Do You Know

I am agent for the National Portrait Co., the oldest, largest and best in Chicago. Why patronize agents out-side when I am here to back the work. I have better work for $1.50 then they put out for $1.98. Frames ordered or made to order.

The Journal Gazette.

25 cts. for a trial month with the Sunday paper. The Woodburn murder trial is now on. I can save you money on any paper or magazine you want. I expect to go over the routes this week and next, so if there is any thing in this line please be ready for me.

Phone No. 32.

Geo Milliman.

St. Joe, Indiana.

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

BELL PHONE NO. 33.

St. Joe, Indiana.

JUNE

L 903

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

FRED B. LEIGHTY, - - Publisher.

1908 JUNE 1908

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
•	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30	•	•	•	•
•	•	•	•	•	•	•

F. Q. 6th. F. M. 14th. L. Q. 21st. N. M. 28th.

FEATURES OF INTEREST

ABOUT THAT WHICH HAS BEEN AND IS TO BE.

All Sides and Conditions of Things are Shown. Nothing Overlooked to make it Complete.

O. H. P. Belmont Yields to Death.

Oliver H. P. Belmont, aged 50 years, died at his home in Hempstead, L. I., Wednesday after a ten days' illness with appendicitis. His death had been anticipated for days but in the end it came suddenly and so unexpectedly that, with the exception of Mrs. Belmont, none of the members of the family had time to reach the sick room after the hurried summons was sent to them. Mr. Belmont had not been actively engaged in business for some years. He had always been very popular among a wide circle of friends and held a prominent position in club and social life in New York and in London and Paris. He was graduated from Annapolis Naval Academy in 1876 and served out his two years' cruise following graduation. In 1878 he resigned from the service to engage in business with his father and brothers. After retiring from his father's old banking firm, Mr. Belmont devoted his attention for a time to politics. He was a Democrat and in 1900 was chosen as a delegate form New York to the Democratic national convention. The same year he was elected to Congress from the Thirteenth New York district.

James, Whitcomb and Riley.

Ever since triplets arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Rule, east of Delphi, Ind., the home has been the scene of hundreds of visitors, some traveling many miles to see the finest bunch of triplets in this part of the State. The combined weight at birth was twenty-five and one-half pounds, but now, six months later, their total weight is fifty-nine and one-half pounds. James Perry and Paul Whitcomb each weigh twenty pounds, while Paul Riley balances the scales at nineteen and one-half pounds. The three are named in honor of the Hoosier poet, James Whitcomb Riley.

A Verdict for $860,000.

The estate of James Compton was given judgment against the Wabash Railroad Company for $860,000 by Judge R. W. Taylor in the United States Circuit Court at Washington. The claim grew out of a controversy many years ago over the title of a part of the Wabash road between Toledo and the Ohio State line and also the ownership of certain shares of stock. James Compton was a resident of Washington, D. C., and the suit was instituted more than a third of a century ago. The case has been prosecuted by the widow, Ellen Compton.

Small Lad a Wrecker.

Willie Barkest, aged 11 years, arrested in St. Joseph, Mo., has confessed to the police that he turned a switch which wrecked a Burlington freight train. He said that he wanted to get some coal and planned the wreck in order to upset some of the cars so he could get the fuel easier.

Victim of Gentle Jokers.

A victim of practical jokers, Morris Caseberg, 22 years old, died at a hospital in Pittsburg, Pa. He had been employed at the Duquesne Steel Works where, it is alleged, fellow workmen inflated his body by compressed air, causing peritonitis. An investigation is being made.

Cleveland Street Car is Wrecked.

Four passengers and the motorman and conductor were injured when a Cedar avenue street car bound east for Euclid Heights was wrecked on Murray Hill, Cleveland, Ohio, by what is supposed to have been a charge of dynamite.

Oil Pipe Line 500 Miles Long.

It has been announced in Pittsburg, Pa., that work will be started at once on a pipe line over 500 miles in length to connect with existing lines and carry the products of the Illinois oil fields to the Atlantic seaboard.

Hitchcock is Acquitted.

The jury in the case against Raymond Hitchcock, the actor, accused of mistreating little girls in New York, returned a verdict of acquittal.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

Commercial defaults make the best exhibit in a long time and credits generally are the cause of little adverse comment. A comparatively lower volume of payments through the banks appears, owing to the week including only five business days, but the daily average is better than recently shown.

Railroad returns continue falling behind those at this time last year, and the offerings of heavy freight from the mills and factories remain light. There is, however, heavier forwarding of farm products, and trade makes further response to more settled weather, although evidences of curtailed production diminish rather slowly and notable demands in the leading industries yet make a meager advance.

A strengthening influence in current operations is the healthier tone which pervades iron and steel and gradually increasing outputs in metal and wood working lines.

Financial provision against future needs is made less of a problem by greater ease in the money market, and railroad managers now give more attention to track and equipment requirements, the prospect brightening for commitments which should soon stimulate activity.

Distributive dealings remain very satisfactory in staple merchandise, wholesale orders being numerous for warm weather goods, and both local and country retail sales have risen to a seasonable extent. Mail orders from outside points for fall and winter goods come forward freely.

High prices for grain enrich the agricultural interests, and crop reports indicate gratifying progress under the prevailing ideal weather.

The total movement of grain at this port, 7,460,700 bushels, compares with 8,549,570 bushels last week and 7,208,486 bushels in 1907. Compared with last year there is increase in receipts of 7.6 per cent, and decrease in shipments of 1.6 per cent.

Live stock receipts are again remarkably low, 199,309 head, comparing with 242,620 head last week and 223,574 head last year.

Bank clearings, $210,326,721, are 20.5 per cent under those of corresponding week in 1907. Failures reported in the Chicago district number 22, against 23 last week and 29 a year ago. Those with liabilities over $5,000 number 5, against 8 last week and 6 in 1907.—Dun's Review.

NEW YORK.

Irregular weather conditions, with heavy rainfalls Northwest, Southwest and South, have given an uneven appearance to retail trade reports. Reports from wholesale lines and from leading industries are, however, more cheerful. House trade in fall goods is reported light, but traveling men are sending in better orders, though conservatism rules in the buying.

Reports as to industrial resumptions at full time are more numerous in cotton goods and allied textile lines, more than offsetting reports of shut-downs, and there are more iron furnaces and coke ovens reported going to work.

Collections still reflect the quiet trade doing in backward payments. Money is easy, but the inflow from the country to the large centers is slacking off perceptibly.

Business failures for the week ending June 4 number 225 in the United States, the smallest total reported for any week since October last, and compared with 203 last week, 155 in the like week of 1907, 162 in 1906, 194 in 1905 and 171 in 1904. Business failures for the week ending June 4 number 32 in Canada, against 31 last week and 18 last year.—Bradstreet's Commercial Report.

THE MARKETS

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $7.75; hogs, prime heavy, $4.00 to $5.62; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, 90c to 92c; corn, No. 2, 68c to 69c; oats, standard, 51c to 52c; rye, No. 2, 78c to 79c; hay, timothy, $9.50 to $15.50; prairie, $8.00 to $12.00; butter, choice creamery, 20c to 23c; eggs, fresh, 12c to 16c; potatoes, new, per bushel, $1.15 to $1.20.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $7.00; hogs, good to choice heavy, $3.50 to $5.60; sheep, common to prime, $3.00 to $4.70; wheat, No. 2, 99c to $1.00; corn, No. 2 white, 63c to 65c; oats, No. 2 white, 51c to 52c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $4.50 to $7.00; hogs, $4.00 to $5.50; sheep, $3.00 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2, 99c to $1.00; corn, No. 2, 73c to 74c; oats, No. 2, 51c to 53c; rye, No. 2, 79c to 80c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.85; hogs, $4.00 to $5.55; sheep, $3.00 to $4.40; wheat, No. 2, 94c to 95c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 74c to 75c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 52c to 53c; rye, No. 2, 84c to 86c.

Detroit—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.00; hogs, $4.00 to $5.60; sheep, $2.50 to $4.50; wheat, No. 2, 95c to 96c; corn, No. 3 yellow, 75c to 77c; oats, No. 3 white, 54c to 56c; rye, No. 2, 83c to 84c.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, $1.07 to $1.09; corn, No. 3, 70c to 71c; oats, standard, 53c to 54c; rye, No. 1, 78c to 79c; barley, No. 2, 59c to 60c; pork, mess, $13.72.

REPUBLICAN HOSTS GATHER IN CHICAGO

Fourteenth National Quadrennial Party Assemblage Convenes in the Windy City.

MACHINERY OF GREAT MEET.

Chairman New to Call Convention to Order and Burrows Will Deliver Keynote Speech.

Chicago correspondence:

All Republicans in the United States, the territories and the territorial possessions are supposed to have their voice and vote in an assemblage known as a Republican national convention. The assemblage in the Coliseum in

SENATOR BURROWS.

Chicago has its representatives from forty-six States, two Territories, the District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii, the Philippines and Porto Rico.

The number of delegates representing each State is proportioned to the population. The representation in Congress is taken as a guide, and for each member of the House of Representatives there are two delegates in the convention. For each United States Senator there are two delegates also. Thus, New York, the most populous State in the Union, has thirty-seven members in the House of Representatives and two Senators, giving that State twice thirty-nine, or seventy-eight delegates. And as each delegate casts his vote individually, the more populous States have the greater voice in the doings of the convention.

THE CHICAGO COLISEUM.

Next to New York, Pennsylvania is the most populous State, and has the second largest delegation in the convention, casting sixty-eight votes. Other large delegations are: Illinois, 54; Ohio, 46; Missouri and Texas, 36 each; Massachusetts, 32, and Indiana, 30.

The Territories and possessions are all put on the same basis, and are given two votes each in the convention. Thus, while they have no voice in the actual selection of a President, they have a slight voice in the deliberations of the body which nominates.

The choice of delegates to a national convention is accomplished by what is known as the machinery of the voluntary party organization. When the Constitution was adopted, and the office of President created, there was no idea of a national party, like the Republican party, or the Democratic party, in the minds of the members of the constitutional convention. The people have worked out the scheme of holding a national convention and nominating party candidates without any national or constitutional law to guide them. Consequently the system is rather ragged at the edges.

In theory the two delegates from each congressional district are chosen at district conventions, made up of delegates who are themselves chosen by primary elections. All members of the party in good and regular standing are supposed to vote at these primary elections. Often the public at large pays no attention to these preliminary steps, and the delegates chosen at the district conventions are the men named by the local party leaders.

The first business that faces a national convention is to determine who are the properly chosen delegates entitled to take part in its proceedings. This question is first passed upon by the national committee and is later passed upon by a committee on credentials appointed by the delegates who are first seated in the convention.

The party's national committee is made up of a member from each State and Territory. The committeemen are chosen by each State delegation and announced at the close of the national convention's work.

Machinery of the Convention.

An interesting group of men will start the machinery of the Republican convention at the Coliseum. Harry S. New, chairman of the National Committee, will be the first official to face the mass of delegates and spectators when he calls the convention to order. The National Committee calls the convention, and makes all arrangements for it, and it naturally devolves upon the committee chairman to start the proceedings. New hails from Indianapolis, where he formerly published a newspaper inherited from his noted father. He has been vice chairman of the committee and was promoted when Chairman Cortelyou entered the cabinet of President Roosevelt. Bishop P. J. Muldoon will offer the opening prayer. Elmer Dover, secretary of the National Committee, who rose to fame and influence under the tutelage of the late Senator Hanna and by the force of his own ability, will read the official call for the convention.

Mr. New will then introduce Senator J. C. Burrows, of Michigan, as temporary chairman of the convention. Burrows was born in Northeast, Pa., and lives in Kalamazoo, Mich. He was an officer in the civil war and has since been much in office. He was elected to the lower branch of Congress nine times and has been in the Senate since 1895. Burrows will deliver a long speech, which will probably be the keynote of the campaign. Following the Burrows speech will come the selection of the other temporary officers. John R. Malloy, of Ohio, will be chosen general secretary. He was long clerk of the Ohio House of Representatives and is known at national conventions as the man "with the voice." They might better make it "the man with the marvelous voice." Amid the greatest convention confusion the strong, clear tones of Malloy always carry to the limits of the hall. And when Malloy lifts his voice he is greeted always with a round of appreciative applause. There will be a lengthy list of assistant clerks celebrated for strength of voice and ability as readers. These officials of the convention will be Attorney Thomas Williamson, of Edwardsville, Ill., and George A. Wilson, of Des Moines, Ia.

Asher C. Hinds, who will be parliamentarian, hails from Washington, D. C. He acts as coach on parliamentary tangles to Speaker Cannon, and he performed similar services for Speakers Reed and Henderson. Hinds is the best posted authority on parliamentary law in the country, and his knowledge of precedents will be of invaluable service to the presiding officers.

William F. Stone, of Baltimore, sergeant-at-arms, will be an important figure. As sergeant-at-arms of the National Committee the bulk of the work of preparing for the convention has fallen on his shoulders. In the convention he will be responsible for the work of ticket takers and ushers and for the preservation of order.

The temporary organization includes also a small force of stenographic reporters under M. W. Bloomenberg, assistant sergeant-at-arms, and messengers.

OVER SCORE OF DEAD IN TRAIL OF STORM

Tornadoes in Nebraska and Kansas Kill Many and Ruin Crops.

OTHERS ARE HURT FATALLY.

Enormous Property Losses from Storms and Floods in the Western States.

The tornado which passed over southern Nebraska and portions of northern Kansas Friday evening was the most destructive and covered the most territory of any similar storm which has visited the State in many years. At least twenty-three are known to be dead, five fatally injured and a score of others hurt, some of them dangerously. Several persons were killed in the towns of Byron, Neb., and Courtland, Kan.

The storm was general throughout at least four counties, Fillmore, Webster, Franklin and Thayer, on the southern border of the State and reached over into Kansas from where reports come of great destruction. The towns of Carleton, Fairfield, Deshler, Shickley, Geneva, Franklin, Ong and Riverton are among those visited by the storm, and in no one of them did the elements spare life or property.

At Carleton five residences and two churches were destroyed, while a new school building and thirty houses were badly wrecked. The home of Lester Carter was demolished and his wife and baby killed, while Carter himself and another child received possibly fatal injuries. At Geneva the storm wrought great destruction and in the adjacent country claimed five victims, two of whom were killed outright and three fatally injured. The scene at Fairfield is indescribable, more than forty buildings were more or less wrecked and some of them, including three churches, were entirely demolished. The loss there will exceed $100,000. In the vicinity of Shickley farm houses received the brunt of the storm.

A telephone message from Chester, Kan., reported twelve deaths in the vicinity of Byron, Neb. The storm was evidently most severe in the vicinity of Byron, and nothing could withstand its fury. Following the tornado a hard rain which lasted well into the night soaked the storm-stricken sufferers, making their lot doubly hard. Many of them were absolutely without shelter, and the storm occurred so late in the evening that it was impossible for them to seek either shelter or relief during the night. A telephone message from Hardy, Neb., said the town of Courtland, Kan., just across the Nebraska line, was struck by the storm and several casualties occurred.

Cyclone Sweeps Iowa Town.

Two persons were killed, three are missing, and 200 homes and barns were destroyed by a cyclone which passed over Charles City, Iowa, Sunday. Much damage was done in the surrounding country. The path of the storm was ten miles long and about twelve rods wide. It started three miles southwest of Charles City, tearing down farm houses, barns and killing many head of stock. It struck the city in the southwest part, plowing a path to a point in the northeast part of town, where it crossed the river. The path of the cyclone included no business buildings, but the residence part of town was made a wreck and household goods were scattered in all directions all over town.

Near Mauston, Wis., a tornado killed John Dalton, a farmer, and his 12-year-old son. The other occupants of the house received only slight injuries. No other damage was done by the tornado.

Five Die in Montana Flood.

Never before in the history of Montana has there been such a flood as recently swept down the valley of the Missouri river and its tributaries. Five lives already have been lost in the waters in the vicinity of Great Falls, and the damage to farms, railroads and industrial and commercial institutions will run into the millions. Saturday night the river was at the highest point ever known since the first settlement of Montana. Some of the smaller outside towns have been in even worse condition than is Great Falls. Choteau was completely surrounded by water, and all bridges were gone. A large part of Belt was partially under water, and the people took to the high ground. Sandcoulee reported severe loss and the coal mines partially flooded. In some instances the river has cut entirely new channels through the bottom, completely ruining farms.

0212
L 903

JUNE

A LONELY GIRL

By Mrs Hungerford

CHAPTER XIII.—(Continued.)

A dead silence, whilst these two—the young girl and the old man—face each other resolutely. The affected conversation between Everard and Hilary has long ago fallen to the ground. May is looking a little faint. Mr. McGrath by his sister's efforts alone is prevented from giving a loud and tremendous clap for Amber. A slow red flush has risen to Sir Lucien's cheeks. His frown deepens, but his eyes waver. They fall.

"True! we have not met until now." This is a distinct come-down. "I hear, however, that, though you have not met me, you have met some of my guests."

"She has met some of her cousins," says Hilary, walking straight up to her.

"Ah, so!" Sir Lucien gives him a keen glance. "Yes, of course, her cousins. I have also"—turning deliberately to her—"had the pleasure"—with a sneer—"of meeting some of your cousins. Mr. Deane, for example, I suppose I am too new a friend"—with a curl of the lip—"to congratulate you?"

Amber raises her large dark eyes to his. Her face has grown rigid—haughty. At this moment, the strange, the almost extraordinary likeness between them is so plain, that it strikes everyone in the room.

"I do not understand you!"

"No? Have I been indiscreet? Mr. Deane, however, informed me to-day that he is desirous of marriage with you. That in effect the marriage is arranged. I was glad to hear of it. A most excellent arrangement in my opinion. He is, I understand, very well-to-do in Australia."

He smiles languidly, and glances at Hilary, who is gazing at Amber with compressed lips and dilated nostrils. A lie! A lie! Why can't she speak?

"Brian may be well-to-do or the reverse, for all I know," says she at last very quietly, absolutely indifferently indeed; "it is nothing to me. If he were the richest man on earth, I should not marry him; and I certainly am not engaged to him."

"And I really think," breaks in May with gentle indignation, "that to speak like this to Amber, just on her arrival—" She looks helplessly at Dolly.

"Barbarous!" says Mrs. Clarence, promptly.

"I see I have been a little premature," says Sir Lucien, smiling. He is abominable when he smiles. "Young ladies do not like having their little sentimental secrets wrested from them before the time. But I still hope"—shaking his long white hand before Amber's face and taking on quite a jocund air—"that presently—presently—when things are a little more forward, you will take me into your confidence," and he turns away, strolls through the window on to the balcony and so to the gardens below.

"Don't mind him," says May eagerly, throwing her arms round Amber's neck.

Amber has sunk down into the chair in which she was sitting before Sir Lucien came. There is some lassitude in her air.

"He has frightened you," says Mrs. Clarence very kindly. Her kindness is extraordinary, as she very seldom goes out of her way to help anyone.

"Oh, no," says Amber, lifting her charming chin so that they can all see the delightful smile that gives extra beauty to a face that hardly needs it, "I am not afraid of him, I"—very softly—"am not afraid of anyone."

Hilary, who is beside her, wonders if she means Deane by that very emphatic "anyone."

Dinner goes off very well considering all things, chiefly perhaps because of the fact that Sir Lucien seems too pre-occupied with his thoughts to give him leisure to act the skeleton at the feast, or to spread broadcast among them, as is his charming wont, such flowers of cruel satire, such touches of open venom, as flow so easily from his bitter tongue.

He had come back fresh from a last interview with Deane, to meet Amber in his drawing room. This interview had been momentous, and during it, Deane had made the strangest proposal. So strange, that even now Sir Lucien trifles with the courses before him, rather than partakes of them.

Up to to-day Deane had defied Sir Lucien, had refused to give any information about the missing jewels, had indeed strenuously denied all knowledge of them, but in so sneering, so insulting a fashion as to make Sir Lucien, who has a good deal of brain, still believe that he has some information in his possession that, should he get at it, would enable Sir Lucien to lay his hand on them should the fellow choose to speak.

Sir Lucien had gone far before to-day. He had actually offered a bribe to Deane. But the storm of rage that followed upon that proposal prevented him from ever making another. He had even begun to believe in the man's ignorance, when to-day opened his eyes.

To-day the most marvelous thing had occurred. Deane, instead of sneeringly rejecting the idea of ever having seen or heard of the missing gems, had confessed stolidly, openly, that he could tell where they were if Sir Lucien made it worth his while. The condition was Amber. The girl was held up between the two men to be bought and sold.

Amber once his wife—five minutes after the ceremony—the jewels should lie in Sir Lucien's hands. Sir Lucien had come home intoxicated with this hideous bargain. The girl should be sold. What was she in comparison with those priceless gems that meant a fresh fortune to his house? His brain was on fire as he sat down to dinner. To marry the girl to Deane! Why it was a most simple thing! To marry her into her own low set, as he called it.

A whisper, a mere breath of Hilary's admiration for Amber had come to him; chiefly through Deane, who had not, however, spoken freely for many reasons. He had directed all his attention to Hilary's demeanor towards her during dinner, but beyond that one impulsive step he had taken in the drawing room, he saw nothing that would point to attachment of any sort. If there had been anything, which he doubted, it was a mere young man's fancy, bound to go—a mere midsummer madness, nothing more—nothing more. And the girl shall marry Deane.

Hilary's demeanor indeed dispels all fears. He grows calmer as he looks at him. He has been watching him closely. Hilary is not sitting beside Amber, and hardly looks at her. Sir Lucien takes special notice of this point.

Sir Lucien, usually too keen, is now, however, so wrapped up in his dreams of a lost treasure restored, that he fails to note these subtle touches of gaiety in his nephew. He is content with the certainty that Adare is sitting far from the girl, and seems very indifferent to her.

And no wonder! he tells himself, with his cynical old smile, his glance resting for a moment with open hatred upon Amber.

CHAPTER XIV.

It is three days later. Three days of brilliant sunshine—of ever-increasing happiness for Amber. Like a flower planted in the shade, pining always for the light beyond, that brought suddenly into the full soft warmth and glory of the sun's hot rays, lifts its head to heaven, and drinking in rapturously the sweetness of the open day, expands into a more perfect beauty, so Amber, whose young days have been spent for the most part in gloom and melancholy, now blossoms into greater brilliance, and for the first time knows herself. Her pretty, low, soft laugh rings clear and sound; her lovely eyes are filled with light. She has even acquired a faint touch of innocent coquetry that sits most charmingly upon her.

She has been initiated into the mysteries of tennis, has shown a truly wonderful aptitude for croquet; though when first she came she had known nothing of these small delights. Her want of knowledge had gone to Hilary's heart.

"Which will you play?" May had said the morning after her arrival. "Tennis or croquet?"

"I have never played a game in my life," Amber had returned; and there was so much suddenly awakened wonder and—was it sorrow?—in her voice that they all felt grieved for her, and Hilary a thousandfold more deeply in love—poor, poor darling!

It is all changed now, however, and it is with joy he sees how her gracious, lovely nature is at last given full play.

It is one of those nights in the far autumn that seem to have been born too late, and that still breathe of the sweetness of a past July. As Hilary and Amber run lightly down the steps of the verandah, the delicate freshness of the night air falls upon them, giving them a delicious sense of coolness, of freedom. In there, the room had been so warm!

Amber, turning up her beautiful face to the heaven above her, stops, as if to drink more freely of this gracious breeze; and Hilary, watching her, feels his purses throb. All day he had waited for this moment, and now it is his. He is alone with her!

"I have been trying all day to see you alone," says Adare; "but something prevented me. Was it you?"

"How could I know you wanted to see me alone? Why," smiling back at him in a little friendly fashion, but with open surprise in her eyes—"why did you?"

"What a question," a little resentfully perhaps. Can't she see? Does she not know? "For one thing," he goes on, dropping into his former manner, and regarding her very earnestly, "to give you these."

He has put his hand into his waistcoat pocket, and pulled out two dainty little boxes.

"I want you to wear these instead of the others—that I'm afraid I made you give up." Here he holds out to her two rings on the palm of his hand. One can see that they are rings to be despised by no woman—the diamonds and sapphires in them flashing exquisitely beneath the rays of the watching moon.

"For me!" says Amber. She looks at them as if not believing. She has taken a step backwards in her surprise. But now their beauty draws her, and she comes nearer. She does not, however, attempt to touch them.

"Restitution of a sort!" says he, laughing a little nervously. "Ever since I have seen your poor little fingers without those toys you loved, I—I have hated myself. I have felt like a thief! But if you will put these on—Why don't you take them? Are you still angry with me? Oh! don't say that. They should have been here some days ago, but I wanted them to be as like the originals as possible, and it took some time—and of course I know they are very paltry in comparison—but you will take them, won't you? You—" He hesitates now. What is there in her face that he cannot quite read? "You will try them on, and see if they will fit you?"

"Oh, no!" She does not really move this time, yet he is filled with the impression that she has shrunk from him. He looks quickly at her—passionate question in his eyes.

"I couldn't," says the girl in a little choked voice—"I couldn't. Don't ask me, and don't—don't think me unkind or ungrateful, or—or horrid in any way. Only——" She breaks off suddenly, and then, before he has time to say anything, she goes on again: "Can't you see, can't you understand? The thought of those rings is hateful to me. I wore them when I had no right to them. You said the word thief just now; I was the thief then. I think I should not have induced you to hide them in the old mill; but—but I had not the courage to tell Sir Lucien about them then, and"—sadly—"I have not the courage now either. He would not believe me. No—" stopping him imperatively—"he would not. He would put his own construction on the way I got them, and it would only make things worse for poor dad's memory. I have thought it all out, since I have been here. Do you know, when I came I had the idea of telling him. I fancied when Sir Lucien saw me, he would know that my father could not—could not—" Here her poor little voice, in spite of all her courageous efforts to control her grief and misery and honest indignation, breaks pitiably—"have stolen or sold those stones; but it is all over now."

"Give him more time," says Adare, with a mad effort to help her in this distress that is hurting him, even more than her; hurting him as though a knife had been driven into him. Poor—poor little darling!

"Do you think I can't hear the disbelief in your voice?" says she reproachfully. "You know as well as I do that if I gave him all the time that still remains to us, he would not believe in my father's honesty. I read that in his eyes, and in his manner towards me. He will believe only, when I, or someone else, give him back those dreadful jewels. He hates me."

"He is a demon!" says the young man with sudden fierceness. "He hates every one." After a little while—"You know he thinks Deane has something to do with them."

"Yes; I know. Perhaps—perhaps he has. I never really believed it before, but now—" She pauses, her agitation increasing. "He said once he knew where they were, but I did not believe him. He told me something about them when—when—when he asked me to marry him."

"He did ask you, then. That old man did not lie?"

"No; he asked me. And as a bribe he hinted that he could clear my father's memory—could and would restore the necklaces, and all the missing ornaments, if only I would consent to marry him."

"And you—?" His hands unconsciously have tightened painfully on hers. With a little haughty gesture she shakes herself free.

"Why," demands she coldly, "do you question me like this? Do you think I should ever consent to marry a man like Brian Deane? You heard me before say I would not. But"—throwing up her head—"all this is nothing—nothing. The real question is, how to compel Brian to tell where the hidden treasure is—if he knows."

Hilary is silent. He has known for some time of the compact between his uncle and Deane, of the bargain the latter has made—Amber for him; the missing gems for Sir Lucien. Oddly enough Deane has not demanded the instant return of the girl to the old mill house. Nor had he mentioned to Sir Lucien his fear of Adare's infatuation for Amber. Perhaps he believed in the old man's power over Hilary to do away with that fear. The title would certainly be Hilary's after Sir Lucien's death, but if Sir Lucien disinherited him, the title would be a barren honor, or almost so. He had kept back too the belief of Amber's love for Hilary—electing to play it as a trump card should things go badly between him and Sir Lucien, so that if Sir Lucien had had any suspicion of an attachment between Amber and Hilary—when first the girl came—it is quite at rest now. Indeed, Everard's open attentions to her during the past few days have completely reassured him as to that.

"Did you hear he was closeted with Sir Lucien again to-day?" asks she presently.

"Yes."

"Does that mean— Oh! I can't bear to go into it; but if he knows where those hateful things are, my father must have known too, and——"

"It doesn't follow!" exclaims he eagerly. "And at all events, if they can be produced by Deane it will prove your father did not dispose of them. And that, even though he often was in distress for want of money."

"But what earthly reason could poor, poor papa have for concealing them?"

"If Deane could be made to speak, we might find out."

A vindictive cloud flies across the kind moon's face, making the whole garden dark for the time being, and hiding from Adare the face he loves. Perhaps if he could have seen it—then—as his lips lay upon her hand, he would have spoken!

"Hi! there! You two!" A loud call from lungs calculated to last until their owner is ninety, breaks the silence. To Mr. McGrath alone could those lungs belong.

"Oh, come!" cries Amber, hurrying down the path towards the house; "we must have been out here ever so long. Oh! hurry." She flies, but just at the end of the verandah steps he catches her up.

(To be continued.)

REVIEW OF INDIANA

Nathan Lewis, a stock buyer of Peru, was beaten and robbed of $1,000 by three highwaymen. He had checked out the money with which to pay for live stock.

Charles Cummings, 38 years old, and employed as a hostler at Alexandria, has been declared of unsound mind and ordered committed to Easthaven Asylum at Richmond.

Cyrus Pattison and Nicholas Westerfield, painters, both of Manila, fell to the ground, about forty feet, when the scaffold supporting them broke. They were slightly injured.

Ptomaine poisoning, resulting from eating prepared bologna, caused the death of 7-year-old Harold Bunn, in South Bend. An hour after the boy had eaten supper he was taken ill.

A horse driven by the Rev. Father Simmons, of Oakland City, became frightened at an automobile and ran away, throwing him from the buggy. He was painfully but not seriously hurt.

Clinton Haad, son of William Haad, a well-known farmer living east of Liberty, was adjudged insane, and was brought to town for safekeeping. The young man's condition is due to prostration by heat and overwork. He is 21 years old and a man of family.

Mrs. Carroll Brown, of Rising Sun, was severely burned about the body, face and arms by an explosion of gasoline. Her little child had let some gasoline out of the tank and lighted a match. As the mother passed the door of the gasoline house the fluid exploded. It is thought she will recover.

At a conference between H. E. Barnard, State food and drug commissioner, and city officials of Terre Haute, it was decided to pass an ordinance which will require dairymen to produce a certificate that their cows have been inspected for tuberculosis before they will be permitted to sell milk in the city.

While Edward Wiggins, of Greenfield, was storing hay he lost his fine gold watch two years ago. Since then he has sold from his mow fifty tons of hay. Last week, in pitching hay down to the horses, a boy uncovered the watch, which, on being wound up, started off apparently none the worse for its two years' storage.

Many young people of Morocco, for the first time in their lives, have seen an old-fashioned smudge, made necessary by the number of mosquitoes present, both by day and by night. Old residents say that not since 1860 have mosquitoes been so numerous, and this seems to be the condition generally over the country. Farmers report that their horses are being driven almost frantic by the pests.

Henry Roeder, a farmer living near Evansville, has picked 899 gallons of strawberries from a patch of three-quarters of an acre, and expects to get 300 gallons more. The berries picked have netted him an average of 25 cents a gallon, making $224.75. The 300 gallon which he expects to gather this week will bring him $75 more. Roeder says he will plant the patch in late potatoes and thinks he will raise 200 bushels or more.

Mayor Charles A. Rigdon, of Warsaw, has issued a warning to the effect that he will not permit the discharge of firecrackers, cannons or other explosives in the street, or within the corporate limits of the city, July 4th. Dealers who have already purchased stocks of pyrotechnics are indignant, but Rigdon comes back with the declaration that he warned them last July, immediately following Independence day, that such would be the order.

While on her way to lay out the body of a friend, Mrs. Catherine McBarron, Mrs. Maggie Hughes, of New Albany, was stricken with heart disease on the street and expired in a few minutes. The two women had been life-long friends, and a compact existed between them whereby the last survivor of the two was to lay out the body of the other. They were both devout members of Holy Trinity Catholic church, from which sanctuary a double funeral was held.

J. S. Shannon, city civil engineer of Noblesville, is in a serious condition, the result of being bitten on the leg by a dog, by mistake. Two dogs began fighting near where Mr. Shannon was working, but he paid no attention to them. One of the dogs broke loose and started to run, with the other animal in swift pursuit. The latter ran against Mr. Shannon, and, seizing his right leg, between the ankle and the knee, tore out a piece of flesh almost as large as a baseball. The dog quickly realized its mistake and let go, continuing pursuit of the other dog. Blood poisoning has developed from the injury, and it may be necessary for Mr. Shannon to undergo amputation of the leg above the knee, to prevent the poison from spreading.

George Danny, 25 years of age and unmarried, was drowned while bathing in the river at New Albany.

Fish dynamiters are at work in Clay County. Several explosions were heard along Eel river, near Reelsville.

Bluffton grocers have signed an agreement not to handle cigars made outside of that city and in the future only home-made cigars will be sold in the groceries in that city.

A gas explosion at the home of Prof. Philander Scudder in Windfall seriously, if not fatally, burned him and wrecked the house. The report of the explosion was heard a mile away.

George Brown, a well-known hodcarrier of Boonville, proved his statement that he could not be killed, by falling twenty feet with a hod of brick. He was rendered unconscious, but soon recovered.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Smith have been married more than twenty-four years. Their first child, a son, was born last week. Mr. Smith is a wealthy farmer living two miles south of Hagerstown.

The seventh death from measles in Kosciusko County in the last three months was that of Mrs. Warren A. Kohler, 35 years old, of Leesburg, who died after a two weeks' illness. She is survived by her husband and two children.

George Shoner, of Waterloo, has brought suit to enjoin the treasurer of DeKalb County from collecting $980 alleged to be due from him as delinquent taxes. The alleged delinquency was "dug up" by a tax ferret who worked in DeKalb County some months ago.

Sunday and Day are the names of two farmers near Martinton. Sunday has five sons and Day five daughters. Three of the Sunday boys have already married Day girls. With the other two brothers courting the remaining sisters, it looks as though every Day would be Sunday, by and by.

The Savoy Hotel at Gary, just built and furnished at a cost of $10,000, was burned by incendiaries. Simon Hessler, a negro watchman, says he was driven away from the building by three masked men, armed with revolvers. Jack Caty, a patrolman, discovered the blaze soon afterward. The hotel was owned by the Savoy Hotel Company of Chicago.

W. W. Jeffries was fishing on the Kankakee river, near Morocco, and before leaving for his hotel, in the evening, he pulled his boat, a light one, half way up the bank, fastened his line to it and left a baited hook dangling in the water. The next morning the boat was gone, and after a long search it was found in a bayou across the river, with a fourteen-pound carp tugging at the line.

Jacob Schramm, a student in Wabash College, who is assistant to Prof. Mason B. Thomas, of the botanical department of the college, says the Russian thistle has appeared in Montgomery County. Mr. Schramm has found only a few specimens of the weed near Crawfordsville, but he says he does not doubt that it is to be found in other parts of the county. The weed spreads rapidly, and wherever it thrives it causes big losses to crops.

Oliver H. Hartman, aged 45 years, pleaded guilty in the Circuit Court in Columbus to the charge that he had stolen one duck and six goose eggs, valued at 60 cents, from his father, E. A. Hartman, a wealthy commission merchant there. The prisoner was sentenced to serve from one to eight years in the penitentiary at Michigan City. The father caused the prosecution against his son, charging that he stole the eggs that he might trade them for booze.

When Samuel Schull, near Clinton, bought a cow and went home to get the money to meet the purchase, he found that the straw-tick in which he had concealed his savings had been emptied and burned some time before by the women of the family in cleaning house. There was $200 in paper and $150 in gold. Schull dug about the place where the tick was burned and ingreccovered $100 in gold and he is searching for the remainder of the coin. He had no faith in banks, and preferred the bedtick to a time-locked vault.

Unnerved by recent accidents which have befallen his car, Frank Merica, of Bluffton, a motorman on the Fort Wayne & Bluffton interurban line, has tendered his resignation. On May 24 Merica's car struck and killed William Swann, on South Broadway, in Fort Wayne. Three days later his car killed a colt near Bluffton. Several days ago, just north of Bluffton, a farmer ran across the track ahead of Merica's car and missed being killed by only a few feet. Merica says he decided then and there to quit. His experiences were unnerving him.

JUNE

L 903

0213

Headache Every Month

You may think, because you have long had it, that you must have a headache every month, being a women.

But if you think so, you are wrong, since a headache is a sign of disease of your womanly organs, that thousands of other women have been able to relieve or cure, by the use of that wonderful, woman's medicine,

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMAN'S RELIEF

"I recommend Cardui to all sick women," writes Mrs. A. C. Beaver of Unicoi, Tenn. "I suffered with headache, bearing-down pains, feet swelled, pains in shoulders and many others. At last I took Cardui, have gained 20 pounds and have found it the best medicine I ever used for female troubles."

At All Druggists

WRITE FOR FREE ADVICE, stating age and describing symptoms, to Ladies Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. B 37

J. A. PROVINES

TRUSTEE

of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:
THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK
at residence in Spencerville, Ind.

DENTIST.

C. R. PRICE.

ST. JOE, IND.

Office in Case building.

Bell Phone No. 44.

WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St. Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.

No. 11. Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail 12:05p.m
No. 3, Western Express 8:06 p. m

GOING EAST.

No. 2, Eastern Express 6:34a. m
No. 16, Toledo Acc & Mail 7:21 p. m

The Old Proverb

That "It takes nine tailors to make a man" may possibly mean that it takes nine trials to find the right tailor.

You can save eight trials by coming here first. At this time in the year we can do considerably better by you than later. Not better in style, fabric, fit or finish—that's impossible—but better in price. For Example:—

Suits from $18.00 up.

Pants from $4.00 up

ED MAY,

TAILOR,

Butler, Ind.

The St. Joe News.

One Year - - -	$1.00
Six Month - - -	50c
Three Months - - -	25c

FRED B. LEIGHTY, Editor.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

Obituary.

Mary John "Oiler" was born in Dayton, Montgomery Co., Ohio, Feb. 27th. 1823, departed this life June 3rd. 1908. Aged 85 yrs. 3 mo. 6 days. She was one of a family of eight children of which two still survive, She was united in marriage to Wm. Oiler, Aug. 25th 1849. To this union was born six children, four sons and two daughters, one son and both daughters deceased in youth. Moving from Ohio she with her husband located one mile south of Moorsville, Ind., where they lived the remainder of their days. Her husband dying Aug. 4th, 1896. She remained with her son, John and wife, on the farm until her death, which occured 11 yrs. 9 mo. 18 days later, when laying down her cross she went to join her husband, children and loved ones on yonder shore. Mother Oiler was converted in her youth and joined the U. B. church at Mt. Pleasant, six miles south and west of Butler, Ind., later she united with the M. E. church where she retained her membership until her death. As to her life, she manifested a sweet christian spirit, was sociable, friendly and loved by all who knew her. As a mother, she was true and loving as all mothers should be, teaching her children the principles of righteousness and truth. As a christian, her deep christian experience made life pleasant, peaceful and bright. Her greatest delight was to sing that blessed old hymn "Its the old time religion" and shout while singing it. Nearing the close of life's journey she was often heard to say, I am ready to go home and waiting for the call of the Master. Her home was open to all. She leaves to mourn their loss, one brother, one sister, three sons, eight grandchildren, four great-grandchildren and a large circle of friends. Their loss is her gain. The funeral was held at Noris Chapel near her home, followed with interment in Waterloo cemetery. Services conducted by Rev. S. M. Hill, Newville, Ind.

Do Not Neglect the Children.

At this season of the year the first unnatural looseness of a child's bowels should have immediate attention. The best thing that can be given is Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy followed by castor oil as directed with each bottle of the remedy. For sale by H. Milliman, St. Joe; F. R. Bowman, Spencerville.

Gone Forever.

Ten years ago an Allen County, Kan., farmer put his initials on a dollar bill. The next day he went to the nearest town and spent it with a merchant. Before the year was out he got the dollar back. Four times in six years the dollar came back to him for produce, and three times he heard of it in the pockets of his neighbors. The last time he got it back was four years ago. He sent it to a mail order house. He has never seen that dollar since, and never will. That dollar bill will never pay any more school or road tax for him, will never build or brighten any of the homes of the community. He sent it entirely out of the usefulness to himself and his neighbors.

MORAL: Trade at your home merchant, where your dollar buys most anyway, and where you may get it back again.

PATENTS

and TRADE-MARKS promptly obtained in all countries, or no fee. We obtain PATENTS THAT PAY, advertise them thoroughly, at our expense, and help you to success. Send model, photo or sketch for FREE report on patentability. 30 years' practice. SURPASSING REFERENCES. For free Guide Book on Profitable Patents write to

502-505 Seventh Street, WASHINGTON, D. C.

D. SWIFT & CO.

A Letter.

PETERSBURG, VA.,
JUNE, 8th. 1908

EDITOR NEWS,

DEAR SIR:-

The following letter was received from Chloe Rhodenbaugh, who is visiting Virginia relatives.

Have now been here four weeks and can tell something about the country; it is very rough, thinly settled and very poor soil. There are many acres of under-brush and pine forests that have grown up since the war.

Many men own thousands of acres of land of which only a patch here and there that is rich and cleared enough for cultivation. Their chief products are:- mellons, peanuts, tobacco, sweet potatoes and some corn. Corn being the only grain raised with success.

Irish potatoes are unknown to many of the southern people, as they are not adapted to the climate, they grow the sweet potato exclusively.

The fruit here is much earlier than in Indiana. Strawberries are gone, plums, peaches, apples, raspberries and blackberries are all ripe now.

When traveling through the country, you can very distinctly see traces and marks left by the Union and Confederate armies. Large trees still stand which are full of bullets and cannon balls. Many forts, breast works and old war buildings still remain showing where great battles have been fought.

About nine tenths of the population of both city and country are composed of negroes and Bohemians.

Through the country only a few churches and school houses are built, and the people as a rule are very poorly educated. In the city, I think many of theirs are in advance of ours.

The houses of the south are built two or three feet from the ground with no walls, and cellars are unknown; their wells are large open wells, not very deep, "The Old Oaken Bucket" style. These facts make the saintary condition of both city and country very unwholesome.

The method of transportation is also very remote; consisting of an ox or mule hitched to a two wheeled cart. Automobiles are a rarety, and horses valued nearly twice as much as ours.

I have spent some time in the city and some in the country, although it is very warm I like it better than the north. Expect to visit Richmond and Norfolk and some other historic places soon.

Hoping the people of St. Joe are as of old. I Remain

CHLOE.

Every Man His Own Doctor.

The average man cannot afford to employ a physician for every slight ailment or injury that may occur in his family, nor can he afford to neglect them, as so slight an injury as the scratch of a pin has been known to cause the loss of a limb. Hence every man must from necessity be his own doctor for this class of ailments. Success often depends upon prompt treatment which can only be had when suitable medicines are kept at hand. Chamberlain's Remedies, have been in the market for many years and enjoy a good reputation.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm (an antiseptic liniment) for cuts, bruises, burns sprains, swellings, lame back and rheumatic pains.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for constipation, billousness and stomach troubles.

Chamberlain's Salve for diseases of the skin.

One bottle of each of these five preparations costs but $1.25. For sale by H. Milliman, St. Joe; F. R. Bowman Spencerville.

Coburn's Corners

C. J. Hadsell and wife of Hicksville were Sunday guests of Thurman Shull and family.

The social at the Corners was well attended and a splendid program given

Wash Hart is still very sick.

Mariah Shull of Walkerville, Mich., is in the neighborhood to spend a few weeks with relatives and friends.

The Misses Neva Andress, Lena Coburn and Frankie Rhodenbaugh were guests of Wm. Hamilton's Saturday and Sunday.

WANTED—A RIDER AGENT IN EACH TOWN and district to ride and exhibit a sample Latest Model "Ranger" bicycle furnished by us. Our agents everywhere are making money fast. Write for full particulars and special offer at once.

NO MONEY REQUIRED until you receive and approve of your bicycle. We ship to anyone, anywhere in the U. S. without a cent deposit in advance, prepay freight, and allow TEN DAYS' FREE TRIAL during which time you may ride the bicycle and put it to any test you wish. If you are then not perfectly satisfied or do not wish to keep the bicycle ship it back to us at our expense and you will not be out one cent.

FACTORY PRICES We furnish the highest grade bicycles it is possible to make at one small profit above actual factory cost. You save $10 to $25 middlemen's profits by buying direct of us and have the manufacturer's guarantee behind your bicycle. DO NOT BUY a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone at any price until you receive our catalogues and learn our unheard of factory prices and remarkable special offers to rider agents.

YOU WILL BE ASTONISHED when you receive our beautiful catalogue and study our superb models at the wonderfully low prices we can make you this year. We sell the highest grade bicycles for less money than any other factory. We are satisfied with $1.00 profit above factory cost.

BICYCLE DEALERS, you can sell our bicycles under your own name plate at double our prices. Orders filled the day received.

SECOND HAND BICYCLES. We do not regularly handle second hand bicycles, but usually have a number on hand taken in trade by our Chicago retail stores. These we clear out promptly at prices ranging from $3 to $8 or $10. Descriptive bargain lists mailed free.

COASTER-BRAKES, single wheels, imported roller chains and pedals, parts, repairs and equipment of all kinds at half the usual retail prices.

$8.50 HEDGETHORN PUNCTURE-PROOF SELF-HEALING TIRES $4.80 A SAMPLE PAIR TO INTRODUCE, ONLY

The regular retail price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but to introduce we will sell you a sample pair for $4.80 (cash with order $4.55).

NO MORE TROUBLE FROM PUNCTURES

NAILS, Tacks or Glass will not let the air out. Sixty thousand pairs sold last year. Over two hundred thousand pairs now in use.

Notice the thick rubber tread "A" and puncture strips "B" and "D," also rim strip "H" to prevent rim cutting. This tire will outlast any other make—SOFT, ELASTIC and EASY RIDING.

DESCRIPTION Made in all sizes. It is lively and easy riding, very durable and lined inside with a special quality of rubber, which never becomes porous and which closes up small punctures without allowing the air to escape. We have hundreds of letters from satisfied customers stating that their tires have only been pumped up once or twice in a whole season. They weigh no more than an ordinary tire, the puncture resisting qualities being given by several layers of thin, specially prepared fabric on the tread. The regular price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but for advertising purposes we are making a special factory price to the rider of only $4.80 per pair. All orders shipped same day letter is received. We ship C. O. D. on approval. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them strictly as represented.

We will allow a cash discount of 5 per cent (thereby making the price $4.55 per pair) if you send FULL CASH WITH ORDER and enclose this advertisement. We will also send one nickel plated brass hand pump. Tires to be returned at OUR expense if for any reason they are not satisfactory on examination. We are perfectly reliable and money sent to us is as safe as in a bank. If you order a pair of these tires, you will find that they will ride easier, run faster, wear better, last longer and look finer than any tire you have ever used or seen at any price. We know that you will be so well pleased that when you want a bicycle you will give us your order. We want you to send us a trial order at once, hence this remarkable tire offer.

IF YOU NEED TIRES don't buy any kind at any price until you send for a pair of Hedgethorn Puncture-Proof tires on approval and trial at the special introductory price quoted above; or write for our big Tire and Sundry Catalogue which describes and quotes all makes and kinds of tires at about half the usual prices.

DO NOT WAIT but write us a postal today. DO NOT THINK OF BUYING a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone until you know the new and wonderful offers we are making. It only costs a postal to learn everything. Write it NOW.

J. L. MEAD CYCLE COMPANY, CHICAGO, ILL.

Word came that Mrs. Chas. Thomas of Omaha was found dead in bed on Thursday morning of last week. Her death was a great shock to relatives and friends. She will be remembered as Harriett Fusselman. The doctors thought her death was caused from apoplexy.

B. E. Widney and wife took Sunday dinner with Ross Abel and wife.

Mrs. Lula Carper and daughter, Nellie spent Sunday with W. M. Abel's.

Clyde Hart returned to Auburn on Tuesday to fill his place as one of the petit jury.

Mrs. Lee Wilmot of Garrett is here spending a few days with relatives.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve Wins.

Tom Moore, of Rural Route 1, Cochran, Ga., writes: "I had a bad sore come on the instep on my foot and could find nothing that would heal it until I applied Buchlen's Arnica Salve. Less than half of a 25 cent box won the day for me by affecting a perfect cure." Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store.

Republican Candidates

Those Who are Spoken of for the Various Places on the Ticket.

The date of the republican convention has not yet been set but a number of men are mentioned and some have announced their candidacy.

For representative Chas. Arford of Stafford township has been frequently mentioned and is favorable spoken of. He is one of the active, progressive farmers of his section of the county.

For clerk the name of Thad Thomas of Summit is the only one we have heard. He was a candidate four years ago and defeated in the convention by George Crooks. At this convention there was but two candidates and on the first ballot the vote was a tie—something that none could recall as having ever heard of before.

For sheriff, J. C. Shoemaker of Keyser township has announced his candidacy, the names of Jack Philbrick of Garrett, and Deputy Sheriff Jay Raub of this city have been mentioned.

For treasurer the only name we hear mentioned is Albert Thrush of Butler township, who made the race two years ago but was defeated. His friends insist that he ought to make the race again.

For recorder, Chas. Campbell of Butler and that prince of good fellows Daniel Baker, of St. Joe, are mentioned. Mr. Campbell is an insurance agent at Butler while Mr. Baker is one of the merchants and best citizens of St. Joe.

For coroner, Dr. Swarts is the only candidate mentioned.

For surveyor, we have heard the name of Frank McDowell and James Husselman of Grant township.

For commissioners, the only names mentioned are those of the present incumbents, Sol Shearer and T. F. Elson.—Dispatch.

The Song of the Hair

There are four verses. Verse 1. Ayer's Hair Vigor stops falling hair. Verse 2. Ayer's Hair Vigor makes the hair grow. Verse 3. Ayer's Hair Vigor cures dandruff. Verse 4. Ayer's Hair Vigor makes the scalp healthy, and keeps it so. It is a regular hair-food; this is the real secret of its wonderful success.

The best kind of a testimonial—"Sold for over sixty years."

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of

Ayer's SARSAPARILLA. PILLS. CHERRY PECTORAL.

Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also furnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable.

Beams & Baker.

JUNE

L 903

Progress of Civilization.

Mary Scholes.

Progress is a characteristic common to every worthy living thing. Mankind is the only class that has power to direct its course in the way it might desire. Whatever is worthless soon finds an end but goodness and truth must always remain. Progress is always the same, alike with individuals and nations. Many thoughts develope the mind and many minds constitute a nation.

There has always been progress in civilization, even before written history begun. At the very earliest time of which there is any record, traces of tribes were found in a few favored places, which had undergone a long period of growth. Before the alphabet was formed the Egyptians expressed their history and literature as best they could with rude characters upon parchments, which the desert sands have preserved for our instruction. The Asiatic burned the pictures created by their untutored minds and less skillful hands, into bricks and pottery that we might know of their condition intellectually. On our own continent the Aborigines have left us mounds, pottery and idols, giving us almost as complete a history of their times and the state of their civilization as though they wrote or spoke to us.

Every man has an ideal and is always either consciously or unconsciously working in that direction. It is the measure of his influence upon his associates, because his mind is full of it. Probably his desires are not accomplished during his life time for as he climbs he sets his ideal higher. Sometimes he reaches a place much higher than was at first hoped for but his ideal still remains far above him.

One man's accomplishments prove in future time to be a foundation for another's, thus there must be progress. A man may labor a life time to realize a hope but after it is completed many form hopes much higher using this truth as a basis. This leads on to another, each step nearer to the knowledge of all things.

In the beginning of written history a few tribes or families existed in Africa and Eurasia. They had but few sciences and inventions, they were merely observers of their surroundings. Their government was very simple. The heads of the families met to discuss the public matters. Their religion in harmony with their other characteristics was of the rudest form or nature worship. Although their government was on a very small scale when closely observed it can plainly be seen that the stronger forms were the outgrowth of these.

Later these families began to break up and separate. Their language and customs necessarily changed with their environments. But after long wanderings many times meeting each other and again dividing, small nations became visible with a single ruler as a head. The greatest progress was made after this time. Monuments, tombs and many structures have been left and various writings in very rude and homely forms have been discovered. Some nations as the Egyptians, were great in construction and building, they built the pyramids. China also one of the oldest nations built the Great Wall. Others filled the earth with their songs of victories and long wanderings. Quite early many small vessels from the Phoenicians could be seen on their very important errands. They carried the pollen from nation to nation to reproduce in later years stronger nations, composed of all the better elements. The Hebrews levened all nations with their true religion and beautiful songs.

After this civilization, progressed slowly but steadily until Greece came into importance. Then there was a general outburst of literature, arts, forms of government and sciences. Athens was noted for mental development and Sparta physical. There were wars between them and against other nations. Socrates the philosopher, Phidias the painter and Homer the great poet developed many truths for a stronger growth of mankind. But certain weaknesses caused the great powers of Greece to slip from her. Alexander's great campaign changed the condition of all civilization, but the learning was stored up for future time.

The world was not long asleep for soon Italy become aroused with a desire for learning and power. Rome excelled all nations in law and statesmanship. These were their highest ideals. Greek's works were studied, thus using these truths as a basis they were able to attain to a much higher standard. The literature of Alexandria, an old city, noted for its library, was studied with an eager desire for learning. The influence of Carthage was also for the betterment of Rome. At first there was a king but after the reign of a tyrant, a republic was formed ruled by consuls. But about the time of Julius Caesar, a great statesman and warrior, internal troubles and wickedness began to undermine the once firm foundation. Augustus Caesar revived the disheartened men and during his reign Rome reached a very high stage in literature. The republic was again changed into an empire. At this time Christ was born an event which was destined to change the religious and political form of the whole earth. He fulfilled all the ancient Hebrew prophecies and thus gave the people a more substantial basis. But finally the empire lost all of its former influences except of the popes in the church.

There was a long period of time after Rome sank out of importance until another people was aroused with national feeling. The religion of the Turks and their severe means of spreading it caused the people to have the crusades or religious wars. These and the feudal system or ruling of the lords were great factors in centralizing the different nations which were originally tribes of different nationalities migrating as in ancient history. France, England, Spain and other nations were formed about the same time. Men's minds were aroused on all subjects and there was the greatest reformation known in history. The common people claimed their rights and continually grew in power. All nations then were growing. They used the truths which had been proven long before by single nations as a foundation and continually multiplied their learning. All people were filled with a desire for liberty, this enabled the Americans to revolt and gain their independence to form another nation greater than ever was known before. The strong nations grew and absorbed the less worthy ones.

We are still progressing nationally and individually. We are in the general stream of progress being neither the wisest nor the most ignorant, but making use of the better principals of those gone before and developing others for the use of those coming after.

Then let us not allow the labors of our ancestors to be in vain but use them for the hastening of the time when God's purpose in the human race shall have been accomplished.

Weak Heart Action

There are certain nerves that control the action of the heart. When they become weak, the heart action is impaired. Short breath, pain around heart, choking sensation, palpitation, fluttering, feeble or rapid pulse, and other distressing symptoms follow. Dr. Miles Heart Cure is a medicine especially adapted to the needs of these nerves and the muscular structure of the heart itself. It is a strengthening tonic that brings speedy relief. Try it.

"For years I suffered with what I thought was stomach trouble, when the doctors told me I had heart trouble. I had tried many remedies, when the Dr. Miles' almanac came into my hands, and I concluded to try Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. I have taken three bottles, and now I am not suffering at all. I am cured and this medicine did it. I write this in the hope that it will attract the attention of others who suffer as I did."
MRS. D. BARRON,
804 Main St., Covington, Ky.

Your druggist sells Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and we authorize him to return price of first bottle (only) if it fails to benefit you.

Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind

Undertaking a Specialty.

Eliza Kinsey takes charge of all funerals. Calls answered day or night Prices reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

Phone No. Office 37-2. Residence 37-3

Local News Items

The strawberry crop will be a whooper, this year.

Get your potato crates of the Noble Hoop Co., St. Joe. Ind.

Special rates on ice delivered to all parts of the city, at any time and any amount. F. R. LEIGHTY.

Mrs. M. T. Bishop spent a few days last week, with her son, Frank and wife. Mrs. Bishop is in poor health.

Neut Bowen from North Baltimore visited a few days last week, with Ballard Bowen and other relatives here.

Benjamin Hamilton has improved his property by building a new cement walk. What the town needs is a few more.

Miss Fowler of Mt. Vernon, Ohio, visited a few days last week, with Henry Hull and wife and other relatives. She left Friday for Hicksville to visit.

The Garrett Clipper was sold last week to C. B. Hamilton, who has been connected with the paper for the past six months, as their writer. Mr. Little will launch out in other business in the city.

The commencement of the Hicksville High School was held on last Monday night. The graduates were:- Franklin Maier, Lloyd Otis, Guy Crowl, Alta Grimth, Fred Ferris, Estella Pettit, Ethel Deardorf, George Ridenour, Oscar Anderson, DeWitt Kerr, Nina Phillips, Robert Shimel, Lucile Ridenour.

The Best Pills Ever Sold.

"After doctoring 15 years for chronic indigestion, and spending over two hundred dollars, nothing has done me as much good as Dr. King's New Life Pills. I consider them the best pills ever sold:" writes B. F. Aycue, of Ingleside, N. C. Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store. 25c.

Just Received.

Car Load Wabash Portland Cement.
Consignment of Gasoline Vapor Stoves.

I Keep on Hands

Hydrated Ground Lime
Stoves and Ranges Cooking Utensils
Steel Goods of all kinds.

All Kinds of Roofing:

Best quality Red Cedar Shingles
Gravel Roofing Asbestos, Rubber, Felt and Galvanized Roofing.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT
Linseed, Automobile and Lubricating Oils, Gasoline, Etc.

GLASS, SASH AND DOORS.

Quality Right. Prices Right.

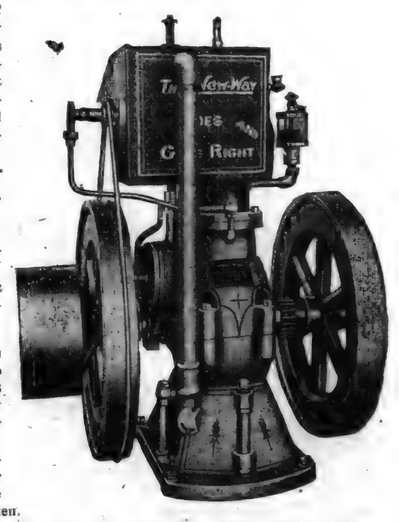
D. J. Baker.

INTERESTING TO UP-TO-DATE FARMERS.

What you need is a reliable gasoline engine to do your work and increase your profits.

The "NEW WAY" Engine is conceded by Mechanical Engineers and men of high authority to be the most perfect engine in mechanical design and construction manufactured.

No water tanks or water. Cooled perfectly by air.



SO SIMPLE YOUR BOY CAN RUN IT.

The next time you are in town, just drop in and examine the 3 to 3 1-2 H. P. "NEW WAY" engine on our floor. If you don't say it is the best engine you have ever seen or heard of, we will be greatly mistaken.

Engine can be seen running at The News Office, St. Joe, Ind.

Eugene Hubbard, Butler, Ind.
Exclusive Agent.

Go to the Noble Hoop Co. St. Joe, Ind., for your potato crates.

Try the new breakfast food at KAGEY'S. 10 cts. 3 for 25.

Miss Edna VanFleet and sister of Garrett visited a few days last week, with their grandmother, Mrs. Smith.

Will Oberlin, Butler saloonkeeper, made an error in the publication of his notice of application for a license, there being a mistake in the discription of the lot, and therefore the hearing of the remonstrance case before the county commissioners, Wednesday was called off at the eleventh hour. The remonstrators had only seven majority and Oberlin expected to show this number were not legal voters. Another publication is now necessary.

Money to loan on farms at 5 per cent interest. Payable on or before 10 years. Partial payments allowed. Call on or write us. Brown & Rhoads, Lawyers, City National Bank Building, Auburn, Ind.

Hints for the Farmer.

Careful not to let the brood sows get too fat.

Comfort for the brood animals means stronger, healthier offspring.

Don't waste the manure, it is the most valuable asset on the farm.

The compact horse is better for farm work than the long-legged one.

Salt is good but if it is not where the sheep can get at it, what shall it profit them?

The cow shed should be open to the south so that it can catch all the sunshine that is going.

The man who is content with the crooked furrow is more than likely to be careless about his morals.

The progeny of a grade bred to a grade is certain to be of inferior quality than either of the parents.

Whether the farm flock is pure bred or just common fowls, new blood should be introduced each year.

Sheep and cows should not be yarded together, as the former are timid and defenseless and easily injured.

The profits from the orchard are determined in large measure by the care bestowed upon the trees and the fruit.

Keep a record of each brood sow. Don't trust to memory to tell you a year from now which animals did you the best service.

JUNE

L 903

WOMAN'S BACKACHE

The back is the mainspring of woman's organism. It quickly calls attention to trouble by aching. It tells, with other symptoms, such as nervousness, headache, pains in the loins, weight in the lower part of the body, that a woman's feminine organism needs immediate attention.

In such cases the one sure remedy which speedily removes the cause, and restores the feminine organism to a healthy, normal condition is

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Mrs. Will Young, of 6 Columbia Ave., Rockland, Me., says:

"I was troubled for a long time with dreadful backaches and a pain in my side, and was miserable in every way. I doctored until I was discouraged and thought I would never get well. I read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others and decided to try it; after taking three bottles I can truly say that I never felt so well in my life."

Mrs. Augustus Lyon, of East Earl, Pa., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I had very severe backaches, and pressing-down pains. I could not sleep, and had no appetite. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me and made me feel like a new woman."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

160 Acre FARMS IN Western Canada FREE

What a Settler Can Secure in

WESTERN CANADA

160 Acres Grain-Growing Land FREE.
20 to 40 Bushels Wheat to the Acre.
40 to 90 Bushels Oats to the Acre.
35 to 50 Bushels Barley to the Acre.
Timber for Fencing and Buildings FREE.
Good Laws with Low Taxation.
Splendid Railroad Facilities and Low Rates.
Schools and Churches Convenient.
Satisfactory Markets for all Productions.
Good Climate and Perfect Health.
Chances for Profitable Investments.

Some of the choicest grain-producing lands in Saskatchewan and Alberta may now be acquired in these most healthful and prosperous sections under the

Revised Homestead Regulations

by which entry may be made by proxy (on certain conditions), by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Entry fee in each case is $10.00. For pamphlet, "Last Best West," particulars as to rates, routes, best time to go and where to locate, apply to W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or W. H. Rogers, 3d Floor Traction Terminal Building, Indianapolis, Ind., and H. M. Williams, Room 30, Law Building, Toledo, Ohio, Authorized Government Agents.

Please say where you saw this advertisement.

WIDOWS' PENSIONS under NEW LAW obtained by JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.

BLACK ITCHING SPOTS ON FACE.

Physician Called It Eczema in Worst Form—Patient Despaired of Cure —Cuticura Remedies Cured Her.

"About four years ago I was afflicted with black splotches all over my face and a few covering my body, which produced a severe itching irritation, and which caused me a great deal of suffering, to such an extent that I was forced to call in two of the leading physicians of ——. After a thorough examination of the dreaded complaint they announced it to be skin eczema in the worst form. Their treatment did me no good. Finally I became despondent and decided to discontinue their services. My husband purchased a single set of the Cuticura Remedies, which entirely stopped the breaking out. I continued the use of the Cuticura Remedies for six months, and after that every splotch was entirely gone. I have not felt a symptom of the eczema since, which was three years ago. Mrs. Lizzie E. Sledge, 540 Jones Ave., Selma, Ala., Oct. 28, 1906."

Recognized Him at Once.

Among the many rebuffs received by solicitors for charity, funds, that described in the following story from the New York Tribune illustrates a gentle wit which must have pleased almost as much as a generous contribution:

A clergyman in a small Western town entered the office of the local paper, and said to the editor:

"I am soliciting aid for a gentleman of refinement and intelligence who is in dire need of a little ready money, but who is far too proud to make his sufferings known."

"Why," exclaimed the editor, pushing back his chair, "I'm the only man in the village who answers that description. What is the gentleman's name?"

"I regret," said the minister, "that I am not at liberty to disclose it."

"Why, it must be I," said the editor. "It is I! It is I, surely! Heaven prosper you, parson, in your good work!"

Easy.

Man with the Bulging Brow—How do you get so much satisfaction from watching a baseball game? It's no fun to me.

Man with the Bulbous Nose—It's because I have a judicial temperament. I don't care a darn which side wins.

People Tell Each Other About Good Things.

Twelve years ago few people in the world knew of such a preparation as a Powder for the Feet. To-day after the genuine merit of Allen's Foot-Ease has been told year after year by one gratified person to another, there are millions who would as soon go without a dentifrice as without Allen's Foot-Ease. It is a cleanly, wholesome, healing, antiseptic powder to be shaken into the shoes, which has given rest and comfort to tired and aching feet in all parts of the world. It cures while you walk. Over 30,000 testimonials of cures of smarting, swollen, perspiring feet. It prevents friction and wear of the stockings and will save in your stocking bill ten times its cost each year. Imitations pay the dealer a larger profit, otherwise, you would never be offered a substitute when you ask for Allen's Foot-Ease, the original powder for the feet. Imitations are not advertised because they are not permanent. For every genuine article there are many imitations. The imitator has no reputation to sustain—the advertiser has. It stands to reason that the advertised article is the best, otherwise the public would not buy it and the advertising could not be continued. When you ask for an article advertised in this paper, see that you get it. Refuse imitations.

Conscience money received yearly by the chancellor of the exchequer, in England, in default of unpaid taxes, averages $30,000.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

Sicily produces about 500,000 tons of sulphur annually, or 80 per cent of the entire production of the world.

Are Your Clothes Faded?

Use Red Cross Ball Blue and make them white again. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

Chemists say that papers written with the ink in general use will be illegible in 27 years.

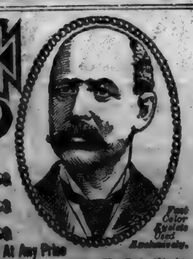
75c. FOR 25c.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE never sells for less than 25c. a copy. But we want you to know how good it is. Send us 25c. for a trial trip, and we will mail you three issues of this great magazine, containing three first-class complete novels, sixteen strong stories, fifty pages of new humor, and fifteen remarkable articles. Send to-day. Our current issue is fine.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE EAST WASHINGTON SQUARE PHILADELPHIA - - PENNA.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3.00 SHOES $3.50

SHOES AT ALL PRICES, FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE FAMILY. MEN, BOYS, WOMEN, MISSES AND CHILDREN.



W. L. Douglas makes and sells more men's $3.50, $5.00 and $3.50 shoes than any other manufacturer in the world, because they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater value than any other shoes in the world to-day.

W. L. Douglas $4 and $5 Gilt Edge Shoes Cannot Be Equalled At Any Price

CAUTION. W. L. Douglas name and price is stamped on bottom. Take No Substitute. Sold by the best shoe dealers everywhere. If your dealer cannot supply you, write for Illustrated Catalog. Free to any address. W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

The Popular Pulpit

IMPORTANCE OF PATIENCE.

By Rev. Dewitt L. Pelton.

Let patience have its perfect work.—James 1:4.

Patience is one of the most important virtues mentioned in the scriptures. We hear a great deal about faith, salvation, repentance, love, but not so much about the subject.

Patience corresponds to time in music. The events of the world and the events of our life succeed one another as the notes do on the score. Each note requires a certain definite amount of time. Each note in the world's symphony, which we call history, requires a certain amount of time before we can pass on to the next. That time will be taken no matter how much we worry or fret.

So in the individual life patience gives to each event, to each experience, its proper time, and so makes life a symphony. The events of life cannot be hurried, however much we try to hurry them. Patience is the learning of this, and the gaining of that equipoise of spirit which enables us, though in feverish haste, to pass calmly from one event to the next, awaiting tranquilly the onward swing of life. The virtue of patience has many practical applications. We should have patience with the progress of good in the world. God is the "God of all patience." "A day with the Lord is as a thousand years." We should give God time to carry out his purpose for all the ages of eternity are his. We should have patience with the sins, the follies, the eccentricities of others in all the relations of life. Human nature is full of sharp corners, rough edges and bewildering perplexities. We must make allowance for people. We should be patient with the evolution of character as we find it in the church. Christians are in all stages of development, as is most natural in a state of immaturity. Disapproval of confessedly immature disciples should not cause us to cast reflections upon the church itself. Christ was patient with his disciples, though one was a traitor and all cowardly forsook him and fled. He knew that the evolution of character, like the creation of a universe, is a slow process, but that "patience would finally have its perfect work."

We need an abundant supply of patience, truly, in all departments of life—employer and employe, buyer and seller, teachers and scholars, parents and children, husbands and wives. Especially we need patience in the home, where lives are brought into such intimate contact and where the nicest adjustment is necessary in order that the domestic machinery may work harmoniously. Particularly we need patience with ourselves. There are many who are quite ready to be patient with the progress of good in the world, patient in business life, patient in the church, patient in the home, who are yet very impatient with themselves. No problem requires such infinite patience and persistence in working out as the problem of our own development. It is a Christian duty to forgive others; it is equally imperative that, when he have done a great wrong and have confessed it to God, and have made reparation to others, we forgive ourselves, making the same allowances for our weaknesses as we make for the weaknesses of others.

Many give up the struggle of the Christian life because they have not sufficient patience with themselves. Persistence is the quality that is lacking in them. Wisely did the apostle put patience on the same plane as faith and love. It is by "patient continuance and well doing that we obtain glory, honor and immortal life."

THE MOST DANGEROUS DEBT.

By Henry F. Cope.

"Owe no man anything, but to love one another."—Romans, 13:8.

Many a man who prides himself on paying his way and on being out of debt would be in absolute bankruptcy if compelled to square his accounts with life. He may have paid for all the goods he has bought, but he has failed to make any adequate return for the good that has come freely to him.

Life is much the business of paying to the present those debts which we owe to the past, of putting into the universe and back into our humanity at least a part of that which we have drawn fof our own enriching from these resources. Love is life's great law, because love is the principle of self-giving in action.

We are all debtors one to another. No man can avoid the indebtedness for the sacrifices which men have made before him, which alone make possible his present advantages. You may boast that you owe no man anything, but what of your father's toil for you, your mother's devotion? What of the price paid by the founders of our nation for the civil liberty which you enjoy?

Our creditors stretch far back, a long line beyond our ken. Some man long ago conceived a great principle, the enunciation and defense of which cost him his comfort, strength, and, at length, his life. At that cost he purchased our right to live in the freedom of that principle. We call him a hero; but we do not discharge our debts to him by the erection of monuments or the writing of poems in his honor.

He who talks of himself as self-made thereby gives evidences of the incompleteness of the process of his making, his powers of self-understanding are undeveloped. A thousand lives go into the making of the least life. None can live to himself nor by his own resources. It is good to cultivate the spirit of independence, but the fact of indebtedness none can escape.

What self-respecting man would be content to eat at another's table, to be clothed at another's expense, and make no sort of recompense? Yet in what manner does such a course differ from ours if we live day by day with no other thought than to get more and yet more out of life for ourselves. Humanity is our host. Even the bread we eat and the clothes we wear we never could gain for ourselves unaided; the efforts of all mankind have been necessary to their production.

Even for our food, our clothes, not to mention other and greater benefits, we never can pay with money. We may earn the loaf, but who shall pay the sower of long ago, the miller, the mechanic, the thinker, the pioneer who gave their lives to make our wheat fields and turn them into bread?

Sheer business honesty with life will force us to ask, How can I pay these debtors? What return can I make for all that I have received? The answer is simple, that we should do for humanity what humanity is doing for us, that since we are recipients we should be givers, that we should be led by that law of love that already has wrought for our blessing.

If to lives of long ago we owe faith and freedom what good things are our lives passing on to those who follow us? If through the service of our fellows we are enriched to-day to what extent are they enriched through our service? We have received; have we given?

There is no gain to the life that is all getting. It loses itself. Such a life is a parasite, an abnormality and deformity in a world where giving is the law of living. No other life is quite so empty as that which thinks only of filling itself and never of enriching others.

One can lay aside all sentiment here and see a plain business proposition. We are debtors to our fellows, we owe those of the past and those of the present; what are we but defaulters if, knowing these things, we continue evading the payment of our debts, continue with greed seeking only to get and never to give?

Such a course is the saddest kind of suicide. Yielding to self-love the man ignores the claims of his fellows or hides them under sophistry and, giving himself to gains, is surprised to find life so barren, so disappointing. Defying life's law of love he has lost the power of loving, the sensibility of love, the prize of life itself, the power of living.

SHORT METER SERMONS.

Vindictiveness is the jaundice of memory.

A large heart does not go with the big head.

HYMNS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

The Everlasting Rock.

O, God, the rock of ages,
Who evermore hast been,
What time the tempest rages,
Our dwelling place serene.
Before thy first creations,
O Lord, the same as now,
To endless generations

The everlasting thou!
Our years are like the shadows
On sunny hills that lie,
Or grasses in the meadows
That blossom but to die;
A sleep, a dream, a story
By strangers quickly told,
An unremaining glory
Of things that soon are old.

O thou, who canst not slumber,
Whose light grows never pale,
Teach us aright to number
Our years before they fail;
On us thy mercy lighten,
On us thy goodness rest,
And let thy Spirit brighten
The hearts thyself hast blessed.

Lord, crown our faith's endeavor
With beauty and with grace,
Till, clothed in light forever,
We see thee face to face;
And joy no language measures,
A fountain brimming o'er,
An endless flow of pleasures,
An ocean without shore.

With Father's Music.

Bragdon, the composer, was working on his symphonic poem when the baby's lusty cry was heard from the nursery. Bragdon bore it manfully for five minutes, expecting baby's mother to come to the rescue. Then he opened the door and shouted upstairs:

"What is the matter? Harry, are you teasing the baby?"

"No, papa."

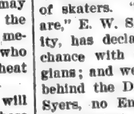
"You must be doing something to make him cry."

"No, papa—truly! All Ethel and I did was to try to sing him to sleep with your lullaby."

ONE WOMAN'S ENDURANCE.

Southern Woman Suffers Tortures Without Complaint.

Racked and torn with terrific pains, nightly annoyed by kidney irregularities, Mrs. A. S. Payne, of 801 Third Ave. So., Columbus, Miss., suffered for years. She says: "The pains in my back, sides and loins were so terrible that I often smothered a scream. Every move meant agony. My rest was broken by a troublesome weakness and the secretions seemed to burn like acid. I was in an awful condition and doctors did not seem to help. Doan's Kidney Pills benefited me from the first and soon made me a strong and healthy woman."



For sale by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

O, No!

"Paw, what is the white slave traffic?"

"Buying and selling baseball players, Tommy."

Chocolate Pie? Chocolate Pie?

The more you eat the more you want if they are made from "OUR-PIE" Preparation. Try it and tell your friends how easy it is to make delicious chocolate pies. Three varieties—Lemon, Chocolate and Custard—at grocers, 10 cents a package. Put up by D-Zerta Food Co., Rochester, N. Y.

Good Skaters.

It is probably safe to say that Austria has produced more fine skaters than any other country. One may instance G. Hugel, who won the world's championship on three occasions; G. Fuchs, who obtained that honor in 1896; Edward Engelmann, twice European champion, and Max Bohatsch, who has likewise been champion of Europe.

Apart from these, Austria has provided many skaters quite in the first class. As befits a nation of dancers, its skaters display remarkable delicacy, lightness of touch and harmony, and in skating to music their rhythm is matchless.

Hungary also has produced several notable skaters, the best being T. von Foldvary of Budapest. Switzerland has few figure skaters, and none of distinction. To Sweden belongs the distinction of having provided Ulrich Salchow, who holds the remarkable record of having won the world's championship five successive years. The Norwegians skate, as do the Swedes, strenuously and with much vigor. They favor speed rather than the figure department of the sport.

The Dutch, of course, are a nation of skaters. "But, good as the Dutch are," E. W. Syers, the English authority, has declared, "they have now no chance with the Swedes and Norwegians; and we, in turn, are just as far behind the Dutch." According to Mr. Syers, no English skater would have the remotest chance of being placed in any first-class contest abroad.—Westminster Gazette.

"TWO TOPERS."

A Teacher's Experience.

"My friends call me 'The Postum Preacher,'" writes a Minn. school teacher, "because I preach the gospel of Postum everywhere I go, and have been the means of liberating many 'coffee-pot slaves.'

"I don't care what they call me so long as I can help others to see what they lose by sticking to coffee, and can show them the way to steady nerves, clear brain and general good health by using Postum.

"While a school girl I drank coffee and had fits of trembling and went through a siege of nervous prostration, which took me three years to rally from.

"Mother coaxed me to use Postum, but I thought coffee would give me strength. So things went, and when I married I found my husband and I were both coffee topers and I can sympathize with a drunkard who tries to leave off his cups.

"At last in sheer desperation, I bought a package of Postum, followed directions about boiling it, served it with good cream, and asked my husband how he liked the coffee.

"We each drank three cups apiece, and what a satisfied feeling it left. Our conversion has lasted several years and will continue as long as we live, for it has made us new—nerves are steady, appetites good, sleep sound and refreshing."

"There's a Reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

JUNE

L 903

0216

Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna

Cleanses the System Effectually, Dispels Colds and Headaches due to Constipation; Acts naturally, acts truly as a Laxative.

Best for Men, Women and Children—Young and Old.

To get its Beneficial Effects Always buy the Genuine which has the full name of the Company

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

by whom it is manufactured, printed on the front of every package.

SOLD BY ALL LEADING DRUGGISTS.

one size only, regular price 50¢ per bottle.

A Startling Debut.

A comedy of errors describes the first appearance on the stage of Huntley Wright. He was supposed to impersonate the warder of a mad-house, and the scene opened with the brutal ill-treatment of the hero, and it ended with a gunpowder explosion. In his nervousness the warder dropped his cap, and, picked up the pan of gunpowder instead. It instantly blew up, nearly frightening him out of his wits. He rushed from the stage and collapsed, as he thought, on a stool in the wings, which turned out to be a fire bucket full of water!—London Answers.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOR ALL KIDNEY DISEASES

OR RHEUMATISM BRIGHT'S DISEASE BACKACHE DIABETES

1375 "Guaranteed"

Paxtine

TOILET ANTISEPTIC

Keeps the breath, teeth, mouth and body antiseptically clean and free from unhealthy germ-life and disagreeable odors, which water, soap and tooth preparations alone cannot do. A germicidal, disinfecting and deodorizing toilet requisite of exceptional excellence and economy. Invaluable for inflamed eyes, throat and nasal and uterine catarrh. At drug and toilet stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.

Large Trial Sample

WITH "HEALTH AND BEAUTY" BOOK SENT FREE

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., Boston, Mass.

A Skin of Beauty is a Joy Forever.

DR. T. Felix Gouraud's Oriental Cream or Magical Beautifier.

Removes Tan, Pimples, Freckles, Moth Patches, Rash, and Skin Diseases, and every blemish on beauty, and defies detection. It has stood the test of 50 years, and is so harmless we taste it to be sure it is properly made. Accept no counterfeit of similar name. Dr. L. A. Sayre said to a lady of the haut ton (a patient): "As you ladies will use them I recommend 'Gouraud's Cream' as the least harmful of all the skin preparations." For sale by all druggists and Fancy Goods Dealers in the United States, Canada and Europe.

FERD. T. HOPKINS, Prop., 37 Great Jones Street, New York.

Let us do your Printing using

Eagle  Linen

for your office stationery. You can get the paper and envelopes to match.

It is the real thing. Take no other.

DAISY FLY KILLER Placed anywhere, attracts and kills all flies; neat, clean, ornamental, convenient, cheap. Lasts all season. Absolutely harmless; will not soil or injure anything. Guaranteed effective. All dealers or sent prepaid for 30c. Harold Somers, 149 Bellevue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Pattern Department

UP-TO-DATE DESIGNS FOR THE HOME DRESSMAKER

Blouse with Fancy Trimming.

Every variation of trimming that c[on]ceals the armhole seams and that g[ives] the broad and drooping shoulder ef[fect] is fashionable just now, and this blo[use] achieves both results in a distin[ct] novel way. In the illustration it is m[ade] of Persian lawn with frills and in[ser]tion of Valenciennes lace, while it [is] finished with a draped girdle of ribb[on]. The lines are all pretty and becom[ing] and the blouse is an exceedingly charming one, giving an effect of elaboration, while it is really simple of construction and involves no difficulties whatsoever. In the small views are shown the separate sections.

PATTERN NO. 5944.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:

Order Coupon.

No. 5944.

SIZE .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

Child's Dress.

Dresses for the very little children are peculiarly charming when made with half low necks and sleeves that terminate just above the elbows, and this one is dainty and attractive in the extreme. In the illustration white Persian lawn is trimmed with embroidered banding; but all the pretty materials that are used for little girls' dresses are appropriate, and just now there is a special fancy for the Dresden dimities, lawns and the like with trimming of embroidery or lace. There are epaulettes that are exceedingly becoming to childish figures and the dress is altogether a very attractive one, while it is exceedingly simple to make.

PATTERN NO. 5965.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly.

Order Coupon.

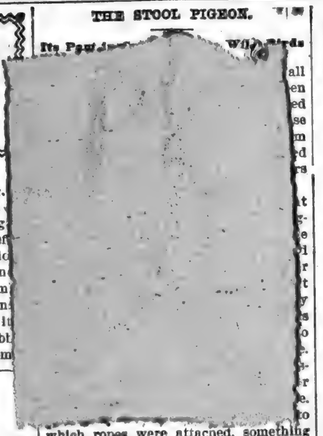
No. 5965.

SIZE .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

THE STOOL PIGEON.



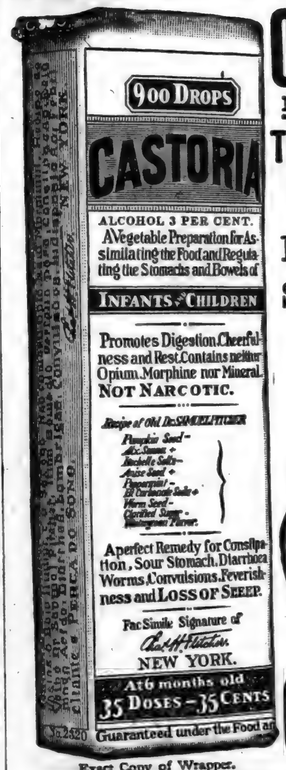
which ropes were attached, something like 150 feet long, to where the watcher was concealed. Close to the net was a stool, or stand, where the "stool pigeon," usually a tame or captured one, was placed. The pigeon was tied by the feet to the stool, and from this stool a rope extended to the person in concealment. Wheat or some other grain was scattered about the net, and when the flock was passing the rope attached to the stool was pulled, causing the pigeon to rise and flutter its wings in trying to escape. This attracted the attention of the passing flock and induced them to light where the grain had been scattered. Then a slight pull on the ropes would release the spring to the net, which would be thrown over them so quickly that they had no time to escape. Sometimes many hundreds were captured in this way at a single haul.—Amateur Sportsman.

Strong Winds and Sand Storms cause granulation of the eyelids. PETTIT'S EYE SALVE soothes and quickly relieves, 25c. All druggists or Howard Bros., Buffalo, N. Y.

His Natural Bent.

Mrs. Chillicon-Kearney—Your husband, it seems, is quite a rounder.

Mrs. Goodsole—A rounder? O, you mean his shoulders. Yes, poor dear Gregory just can't straighten up. He was always that way."



Exact Copy of Wrapper.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

The product of the British shipyards amounts to 20 or 25 per cent of the whole.

If you wish beautiful, clear, white clothes, use Red Cross Ball Blue. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

The song of the bird was originally a cry of alarm.

The oldest building in Wall street, New York, is the government assay office, immediately east of the subtreasury, yet it is only eighty-three years old, having been erected in 1823.

F. W. N. U. - - - - No. 25—1908

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Adv. in this paper.

Use ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE

A powder to be shaken into the shoes. Your feet feel swollen, nervous, hot and get tired easily. If you have aching, smarting feet, try Allen's Foot-Ease. It rests the feet and makes new or tight shoes easy; always use it to Break in New Shoes. It cures swollen, hot, sweating feet, blisters, ingrowing nails and callous spots. Relieves corns and bunions of all pain and gives Rest and Comfort. It cures while you walk. We have over thirty thousand testimonials. Try it to-day. Sold by all Druggists everywhere 25 cents. Don't accept any substitute for Allen's Foot-Ease. Trial package FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y. European Branch Office, Peterborough, England.

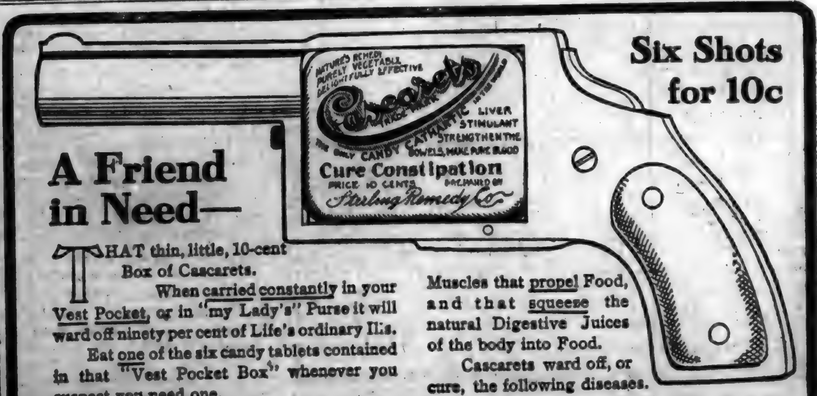
WARNING: Success brings imitations. Scores of worthless imitations are sometimes offered for sale. Insist upon having Allen's Foot-Ease. The Original powder for the feet. Twelve years before the public. Annual sales over two million packages. Do not accept spurious substitutes claimed to be "just as good." Imitations pay the dealer a larger profit otherwise you would never be offered a substitute for Allen's Foot-Ease. Ask for Allen's Foot-Ease, and insist upon having it.

Remember, Allen's Foot-Ease is sold only in 25 cent packages bearing yellow label with our trade mark and facsimile signature

Allen S. Olmsted

"In a Pinch, Use Allen's Foot-Ease."

Sold by all Druggists everywhere for 25 cents. For FREE Trial package, also Free Sample of the FOOT-EASE SANITARY CORN-PAD, a new invention, address Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.



Six Shots for 10c

A Friend in Need—

THAT thin, little, 10-cent Box of Cascarets.

When carried constantly in your Vest Pocket, or in "my Lady's" Purse it will ward off ninety per cent of Life's ordinary Ills.

Eat one of the six candy tablets contained in that "Vest Pocket Box" whenever you suspect you need one.

It can't hurt you, and is sure Insurance against serious sickness.

When you have Heartburn, Colic, Coated Tongue, Suspected Breath, Acid-rising-in-throat, Gas-belching, or an incipient Cold, take a Cascaret.

Remember, all these are not merely Discomforts, but indications of a serious Cause.

Nip them in the bud—eat a Candy Cascaret. Cascarets don't purge, nor punish the stomach like "Bile-driving" Cathartics.

They act like Exercise on the Bowel-Muscles that propel Food, and that squeeze the natural Digestive Juices of the body into Food.

Cascarets ward off, or cure, the following diseases.

Constipation	Catarrh	Hives	Worms
Biliousness	Colic	Jaundice	Piles
Indigestion	Bad Breath	Nausea	Ulcers
Dyspepsia	Diabetes	Vertigo	Pimples
Torpid Liver	Headache	Scrofula	Blotches
Appendicitis	Diarrhoea	Womanly	Eczema
Rheumatism	Flatulence	Troubles	Dysentery

The Vest Pocket box carried constantly with you, like your Watch, or Lead Pencil, will insure you against sickness.

But, don't forget that "a Cascaret in time is worth nine."

At all Druggists. 10 Cents a box.

JUNE

0217

L 903

SPENCERVILLE

Mr. Walter Heyman of Ft. Wayne spent Thursday and Friday with his brother, Mr. A. F. Heyman.

John A. Provines, Jr., has returned from Texas, where he spent the winter. He has been having some trouble with one of his hands, the result of blood poisoning from a scratch.

Mrs. Jane Butler and daughter, Mrs. Audrey Wade, spent last Friday with the formers father, John Boots.

Bert Fisher was so unfortunate as to step on a nail last Wednesday, while repairing the slaughter house. It was very painfull, necessitating his walk with a crutch.

Children's meeting at the M. E. church has been posponed from June 14th until June 21st. Everyone is cordially invited to attend the services.

"Kid" Hull went to Ft. Wayne last Saturday, to accompany the Shamrocks to Chicago, where he pitched for them.

Miss Ethel Metcalf was on the sick list a few days last week.

A. F. Heyman and wife and F. R. Bowman and wife spent a few days last week, at Hamilton Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thomas are the proud parents of a baby boy.

Wm. Reed and family of near Auburn, together with other relatives were the guests of Samuel Steward and family, Sunday.

Misses Mintie and Jennie Steward, Hazel Berry of St. Joe and Messrs. Con Davis and Wm. P. Steward were the guests of Mr. Melvin Howey and family, Sunday.

Rev. N P. Barton visited Daniel Metcalf and family a couple of days last week.

Mrs. Laura Newman and little daughter of Garrett, are visiting the formers parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Rhoads, this week.

J. W. Henderson of Auburn, made a business trip here, this week.

Thinks It Saved his Life.

Lester M. Nelson, of Naples, Maine, says in a recent letter: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery many years, for coughs and colds, and I think it saved my life. I have found it a reliable remedy for throat and lung complaints, and would no more be without a bottle than I would be without food." For nearly forty years New Discovery has stood at the head of throat and lung remedies. As a preventive of pneumonia, and healer of weak lungs it has no equal. Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Coburn's Corners

Lewis and Gladys Treece were the guests of Floyd and Laura Coburn part of last week.

W. F. Maxwell and wife attended the funeral of the latters cousin, Mrs. Fannie Wilson of Auburn, Sunday.

The band boys are trying to arrange for a Harvest festival, the 4th of August.

Mrs. Minnie Gee gave a dinner in honor of G. E. Scott of New Lyme, O. Sunday. Those present were:- 1. S. Hadsell, wife and daughter of Peru; Samuel Gee and wife of St. Joe; Morris Headley and wife of Newville; Olen Scott of Hicksville; Mary Flint, Mattie Gee, Elizabeth Gee, Mrs. C. M. Thayer, Jacob Baker of this place; and Foster and Lucile Gee, and Frankie Rhodenbaugh of St Joe. Mr. G. E. Scott, who is a cousin of Elizabeth Gee, returned home Sunday.

FAIRVIEW

Chas. Cook and family and Mrs. Chas. Kiner visited with Lankey Morrs', Sunday.

Gay Hay and family and Ora Calender and wife spent Sunday with Edward Bassetts'.

Mrs. Mary Wyatt has been spending several days with her daughter, Mrs. Ray Antwerp of Butler, who is in very poor health.

Samuel Fellers, wife and baby visited with Frank Mays', Sunday.

The Sunday school next Sunday will be in the afternoon at 2:30 in place of forenoon with preaching services immediately after.

This week Chas. O. Krise is having some buildings moved and has engaged Orla Baker to do some carpenter work for him.

If you are in the market for a hay loader call and see CURIE'S.

The Children's Day exercises at this place attracted a crowd that filled standing room and many could not get inside. Miss Gladys Smith of Newville, was a special feature in a vocal solo that was highly appreciated. She is one of the best in the county. The pastor, Rev. Heininger gave one of the most powerful short missionary talks we have been privileged to hear. Collection $7.54. The largest ever received at Fairview. Concord people were well represented. Miss Ethel Houser deserves credit for training the children.

Potato crates at the Noble Hoop Co. St. Joe, Ind.

SPENCERVILLE R F D No 2.

John Stafford and family of Hicksspent sunday afternoon with D. M. Kelley and family.

Bessie Hart and Ort Wearley were among those who attended the Sunday School convention at Corunna, last Tuesday and Wednesday.

Greely Wearley spent Sunday with Wm. Wearley and family of Woodburn.

John Uim, wife and son Fredie, spent Sunday with Harvie Kimes and family.

Dr. J. H. Lake and wife of St. Joe; and Mr. and Mrs. John Benninghoff took Sunday dinner with Nelson Lake and family.

Joseph Koegler and wife of Laotto are visiting the latters parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rhoads and family.

A Grand Family Medicine.

"It gives me pleasure to speak a good word for Electric Bitters," writes Mr. Frank Conlan of No. 436 Houston St., New York. "It's a grand family medicine for dyspepsia and liver complications; while the lame back and weak kidneys it cannot be too highly recommended." Electric Bitters regulate the digestive functions, purify the blood, and impart renewed vigor and vitality to the weak and debilitated of both sexes. Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store. 50 cts.

WABASH CORNERS.

Note books at THE NEWS office.

Mrs. Wayne Scott and Mrs. Orange Herrick were the guests of Mrs. Elda Olinger of Ft. Wayne, a few days last week.

Call and see the Ohio Valley hay loaders at CURIE'S before buying.

Mrs. Dennis Burley and sister, Miss Emma Tustison of this place, and Little Coral Simanton of St. Joe spent last week, with John and Jim Maurer and their families at Coldwater, Mich.

FOR SALE:—Potato crates. Noble Hoop Co. St. Joe, Ind.

John Means, west of Spencerville, was in this neighborhood, Wednesday.

May Daily is working for Mrs. Shaffer of Auburn.

Mrs. Randall of St. Joe called on Mrs. J. R. Shilling, Wednesday.

Wm. Pervines, wife and daughter Mary, spent Saturday in Auburn.

Claudia Gill returned to her home in Auburn, last Saturday, after several days visit with Emanuel Ulm and wife.

Frank Pervines of Ashland, Ohio, is here visiting with his parents.

Harry Maurer has hired to Walter Moffet for the summer.

Cap Andress and daughter of Kendallville, and Neva and Vera Andress of St. Joe were the guests of Aunt Em Simanton.

Gene White and family were the guests of J. B. White and wife of St. Joe, last Sunday.

Mrs. Charles Lake had a duck roast, Sunday, in honor of Cal Loux and wife, we did not learn who all were present.

Will Lucas made two loads of hay one evening last week.

A very pleasant surprise was given Mrs. Wm. Pervines, Saturday night, it being her birthday, when thirty-seven of her friends and neighbors gathered at her home. She spent the day in Auburn, she said it was the first time she ever went to Auburn when she did not want to go. Those present were Frank Loux and wife, George Wade and wife, Orange Herrick and wife, Frank Rhoads, wife and son Merwood, O. K. Shull, wife and three children, Joe, Catherine and Frank, Gene White, wife and three children, Clarence, Walter and Mary, Cal Loux and wife, Dean Hull and two daughter, Marie and Goldie, Sherman Wolff and wife, George Pervines, wife and daughter Waneta, Will Loux, Roger Tryon all of this place, and Charley Henderson and wife of Spencerville. The evening was spent in visiting and music on the piano, after which ice cream and strawberries were served. But the most amusing of all was when Mrs. Pervines was put under the bed. At a late hour all departed to their respective homes wishing Mrs. Pervines many more pleasant birthdays.

The Good on Hand.

Never be discouraged because good things get on so slowly here; and never fail to do daily that good which lies next to your hand. Do not be in a hurry, but be diligent. Enter into the sublime patience of the Lord.—George McDonald.

County Line News.

Roy Nickerson of Lagrange spent the past week in this community visiting friends and relatives.

Road graders have been swarming in this connunity the past week.

The wind storm Saturday blew a number of forest and apple trees over.

The Allen Co surveyors were out Friday to accept the Stucky-Sanders ditch.

A new cement porch was placed in front of the Rehobeth church last week. It is neatly and substantially built and much credit is due E. J. Armstrong for his careful supervision of the work.

Several of our people have been leaning toward St. Joe the past week. Strawberries seem to be the center of attraction.

Frank Stuckey and wife spent Sunday afternoon with Joe Stuckey and wife.

Hay making is in progress in a small way this week.

A pleasant surprise was planned and executed on Mrs. Rev. P. Boxel at the home of Mrs. Geo. Reinoehl last Thursday. A large 20 block comfort had been arranged for and each block contained a different design and the name of the owner. Thursday they gathered at the Reinoehl home to knot the comfort. When the knotting was completed the surprise was sprung on Mrs. Boxel and was a complete success. Grandpa Boxel enjoyed the surprise hugely.

Marion Davinson, wife and son Robert of Anderson, Ind., are visiting a week with Geo. McNutt and family.

W. T. Wyatt and wife spent Sunday with Aunt Rachel Watson.

Born to R. U. Bowser and wife a son June 5. Mother and son doing fine. Father will recover later.

Childrens exercises at Hopewell on Sunday evening June 21.

Mrs. Allie Bishop is working for R U. Bowser's.

Frank Furnish and family spent Saturday and Sunday with Aunt Rachel Watson.

Railroad for Ecuador.

A railroad to the eastern part of Ecuador is being surveyed by a commission of American engineers, employed by the government. The railroad is to commence at Ambato, running thence to the Curaray river, traversing a district containing very rich and productive soil.

Fortunate Indeed.

Extremely excited Frenchman, after dispute with calm Englishman at the Jardin de Paris—Let me tell you something, you! Sacred name of thunder! It is a lucky thing for you that I can neither speak English nor box! —Rire.

Base Ball.

A base ball nine representing Mark Center came to St. Joe last Saturday to play and lost to our team by a score of 15 to 6. This was our opening and was much larger attended than anticipated. Allen of Spencerville was on the mound for St. Joe and he did excellent work, pitching a shut-out game but some of our boys lost their noodles, letting the visitors run in 6 scores in the sixth inning. The game was called off on account of the wind storm.

FAN—TASTIC EXPRESSIONS.

On Sunday the same team went to New Haven and defeated their local team to the tune of 9 to 3. The boys say they were easy picking from the start. New Haven had kind of a feeling as though they would be defeated and they surely did. They had quite a time to get New Haven to play on this account. Our boys are showing up in good style and some warm games will be pulled off here this summer. About 40 accompanied the team Sunday.

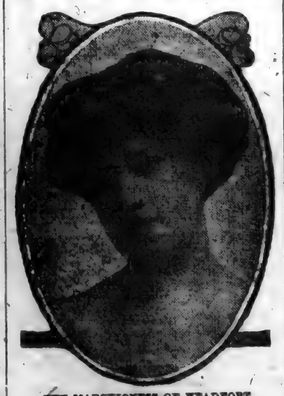
Waterloo June 27.

Antwerp July 1.

KEPT HER PROMISE.

Rosie Boote Said She Would Wed a Nobleman and Did So.

The Marchioness of Headfort, who is visiting this country with her husband, was formerly a music hall favorite. The Marquis of Headfort, a nobleman who, with the exception of the Duke of Abercorn and Duke of Leinster, enjoys the highest title in Ireland, fell madly in love with her when as Rosie Boote she was doing the part of Mazie in "The Messenger Boy" at the London Gaiety. He determined to wed the fascinating actress despite the protests of his mother, the colonel of the Life guards, of which he was a member, and the king himself.



THE MARCHIONESS OF HEADFORT.

When the marchioness was singing at the Gaiety and before she had met her present husband she had a particularly fetching song which ran thus:

Some day I mean to wed a duke—don't doubt me!
And none will dare to hint rebuke about me.
The biggest swells will come to me
On Thursday afternoons for tea,
And emperors will make their bows
When I'm at Cowes.

When the marquis heard her sing the lines he determined to help her fulfill her promise. Among the obstacles in the way was the opposition of the king. This led to the nobleman's writing the famous note to his majesty which concluded thus: "The lady I am about to marry is Miss Rosie Boote of the Gaiety theater, who doubtless is known to your majesty." The marquis was reprimanded by the colonel of the Life guards on account of this letter. He was ordered to duty in India, but resigned from his regiment rather than give up his fiancee.

Convention.

From First Page.

UNION—E. L. Casebere, James Ferguson, Ormlow Wilcox.

WILMINGTON, North—Harry Helwig, Curtis Creagor.

WILMINGTON, South—Henry Sebert

Signed, COMMITTEE.

The report was accepted as read in a vote by convention.

NOMINATION COMMITTEE.

We, the committee on nominations submit the following report.

COUNTY OFFICERS.

President, L W. Treesh, Corunna.
Vice Pres., Mrs. W. H. Bobis, Garrett
Secretary, ...J. C. Hull, St. Joe
Treasurer,.....M. T. Bishop, St. Joe
Supt. Normal Department.....
.....J. E. Worthington, Butler
Supt. Primary Department.....
...Mrs. Ollie Hammon, Waterloo
Supt. Home Department.....
..... Nora McDonald, Corunna
Awakener Agent, H M Fretz, Auburn

TOWNSHIP PRESIDENTS.

Butler-Albert Thrush.....
Concord-J C Woodcox.....St. Joe
Fairfield-F M Miller. .....Hudson
Franklin-George Walters...Waterloo
Grant-Oscar L Fulk.....Waterloo
Jackson-S M High.....Spencerville
Keyser-John Maggert.....Altona
Newville-H W Maggiannis.....St. Joe
Richland-Chas Banes.....Corunna
Smithfield-John Conrad.....Waterloo
Stafford-I M Diehl.....Butler, Rt 2
Trov-Jay Brown.....Butler
Union-Mrs E Shellhouse.....Auburn
Wilmington north-Mrs Cora Husselman.....Butler
Wilmington south-E A Eakright.....
.....Butler

Place for next county convention, Garrett. The committee recommend that each township organization send to the annual county convention the name of a nominee for township president for the ensuing year.

FRANK A. HEIDLER, Chairman.

It was moved and seconded that the nominating committee report be accepted as read. After which county officers were requested to come to the platform and remain standing, while Rev. Kuhn and Bro. Burnie offered in stallation prayer.

Mr. Burnie then requested some statistics of our county and he addresses the convention. Song.

COUNTY SECRETARY'S REPORT.

No of Sunday Schools	73
No Sunday Schools reported	69
No Home Depts. reported	10
No " " members	252
No of Cradle Rolls	25
No Cradle Roll members	650
Total enrollment not including H D.	5,988
Average attendance	4,400
No observed rally day	17
No observed decision day	7
No added to church from S S	479
Total cash recieved	$104 58
For 1906-1907 who were deliq..	11 15
By special donation by Concord township, per C C W	2 00
By special collection June 9....	4 61
Paid to treasurer of convention	$104 58

J C HULL, Secretary.

TREASURERS REPORT.

Cash balance	$ 10 04
Rec of County Secretary	99 81
Rec of Co Secy Special col	4 61
Total cash	$114 46

Paid on orders.

F B Leighty stationary	$ 1 50
Lee O Tustison state delegate	4 30
F B Leighty County programs	5 00
State apportionment	60 00
J C Hull, postage, secy work and State delegate	21 15
Nora McDonald, stampsstation	1 10
Total expenditures..	$ 93 05
Cash Balance	$ 21 41

EVA SHEFFER, Treas

The report of the secretary and the treasurer was by vote of the convention accepted as read. After which state delegate, J. C. Hull gave a report to the convention. Song by convention "God be with you till we meet again." The convention then adjourned and benediction was pronounced by Father Meese.

NOTES.

This convention is believed to have been the largest from the beginning and continuing throughout the entire session that has ever been held in DeKalb County.

The singing throughout the entire convention was enthusiastic and especially fine.

A number of persons on program were absent, but their subjects were taken up by some present.

JUNE

L 903

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXII. ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 24, 1908. NO. 26

WE HAVE IT,

Money
Geld
Dough
Stuff
Mezuma
Long Green

No matter what you call it.

WE HAVE IT.

We loan money at reasonable rates if our conditions are complied with and pay 4 per cent on Time Deposits. Safe and Conservative our motto.

Grabill State Bank,

Grabill, Indiana.

Joseph Witmer, Pres. Albert Egly, Cashier.
David Klopfenstein, V. Pres. Marcus Yager, Asst. Cashier.

Who Owns the Sack?

An unexpected trip to the barn Sunday night evidently startled some one bent on borrowing some corn. At least a grain sack with the initials F. H. in red paint was found in the corn crib Monday morning by W. D. Johnston, that was not there the night before. We don't know who owns it or who carried it there; but sacks don't walk around alone. Four or more trips to the barn each night is the average at that place and a good shot-gun is beside the bed. Some people will possibly remember that a chicken thief did get a load of shot a few years ago

Failed to Play.

The second team went to Spencerville, Monday, to play ball, but for some reason they failed to give them a game.

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

BELL PHONE NO. 32.

St. Joe, Indiana.

The Garwood's and McClellan's Work For a Living.

[AUBURN DISPATCH.]

We understand from reliable sources that neither the Garwood family or the McClellan family are living in the luxury that marked their life in Auburn, especially is this true as regards the former family. The Garwood's live at Grand Rapids where he is employed in office work, Mrs. Garwood teaches music and on Sunday plays a pipe organ in one of the big churches, Aileen is teaching in a kindergarden school while Helen completes a course in the high school. Mrs. C. A. O. McClellan lives with them and performs the household duties for the family. It requires the combine efforts of all to make their living. Chas. McClellan lives at Ann Arbor and conducts a hoop factory at Saline, a small town nearby.

There were many who believed at the time of the bank failure that these people had "salted" away a supply of the filthy lucre but as time goes by there is nothing to indicate that Mrs. McClellan or the Garwood's saved anything from the wreck but much to indicate that they lost all and now are compelled to make their living as best they can. Charles was the one who spent the money recklessly and lost much but still manages to retain enough to do some business.

314 West Second St. AUBURN, IND.

Choice Cut Flowers and Artistic Floral Work.

ON SHORT NOTICE,

Best Quality at the LOWEST PRICES.

MAKE OUR ACQUAINTANCE

C. M. TenEyck & Son,

Proprietors.

HOME and BELL TELEPHONES.

Political Announcements.

EDITOR NEWS:—
Please announce my name as a candidate for the office of Assessor, subject to the will of the republican convention. (Concord township)
D. W. BAKER.

FOR RECIRDER.

EDITOR NEWS:
Please announce my name as a candidate for the office of Recorder, subject to the Republican nominating convention. J. R. SHILLING.

Notice to Farmers.

Anyone having hay ropes, wire ropes or cables needing splicing. Can get same done, or any other ropes spliced by phoning No. 10 or by writing to the News Office.
LEIGHTY & CURIE.

Birth Record.

Wm. Keeler and wife, Monday, a baby boy.
Abe Mason and wife, Friday a baby boy.
Am Reinhart and wife, Friday a baby girl.
Roy Kinsey and wife, June 14, a girl.

The Sprinkler

A subscription paper was circulated among the business men and owners of lots along main street, to raise money for running a sprinkling wagon The sufficient amount was raised and the work was started Monday. Claud Mason is doing the work. People along main street can surely see the necessity of this as the dust is awful and rather than put up with it they are willing to give a little.

Daniel Houk Found Dead.

Monday afternoon Daniel Houk, one of the respected and well known citizens of southeastern Jackson township, was found dead under a culvert. It is supposed that the weather being warm that he sat down on the bridge to rest when he suffered an apoplectic stroke supposedly falling backward into the ditch which contained a small amount of running water. In his struggle he worked himself under the culvert where he was found at about 1 o'clock. He had been dead for some little time. His mouth was full of sand and blood, the surroundings indicating that he struggled. He left home in the morning and just what time he died cannot be definitely told. The culvert was about three-fourths of a mile from his home on a public traveled road but the fact of his getting under the culvert prevented his being discovered. He was a man about 56 years of age and is survived by a wife and several children.

Thinks It Saved his Life.

Lester M. Nelson, of Naples, Maine, says in a recent letter: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery many years, for coughs and colds, and I think it saved my life. I have found it a reliable remedy for throat and lung complaints, and would no more be without a bottle than I would be without food." For nearly forty years New Discovery has stood at the head of throat and lung remedies. As a preventive of pneumonia, and healer of weak lungs it has no equal. Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

For a change why not go to KAGEY'S and try a glass of Liquid Force.

The M. P. Sunday School will observe Children's Day next Sunday evening.

Wm. Haggerman of Montgomery, Mich., is the guest of Mrs. J. C. Hull and his sister, Mrs. Sarah Walter, for a short time.

Ora Wilmot and J. C. Hull were at Butler, Monday evening. Mr. Wilmot is now entitled to the name of Patriarch Wilmot.

The Christian Sunday school will observe Doubler's and Decision Day on next Sunday, June 28.

Penny Social.

The Ladies' of the M. P. church, will hold a penny social in the Kinsey building Saturday evening June 27.

MENU.

Biscuit and Butter, veal loaf, baked beans, salad, doughnuts, cookies, cake pie, ice tea and coffee.

Local Items.

Its now Taft and Sherman,

Waterloo vs St. Joe, Saturday.

Note books at THE NEWS office.

Social Saturday evening at St. Joe.

Wm. Hart of Auburn was in town, yesterday.

Heinz's pickles in bulk, sweet and sour at KAGEY'S.

Dr. Bowman's returned Monday evening from Hamilton Lake.

Come to Fairview, Saturday evening Ice cream social and a good time.

Just received a car load of Ohio Valley hay loaders. See them. WM. CURIE.

The W C T U will meet at the home of Mrs. O. H. Widney, Friday afternoon.

Wm. Monroe of Hicksville, visited F. M. Monroe and family a few days this week.

The Old Settlers decided to make Auburn the place of holding their next meeting.

Base ball, Saturday.

Glen Abel and lady friend of New Haven, were Sunday guests of the former's parents.

The most simple hay loader on market today is the Ohio Valley. At CURIE'S

Miss Bertha Crouse of LaFayette is spending the week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Sechler.

Ice cream social at Fairview Saturday evening.

Drink Moxie these days. It makes you eat better, sleep better and feel better. For sale at KAGEY'S.

Marie Leighty accompanied her grandmother to Sherwood, O., last Saturday, returning home Monday.

Two gentlemen of Holgate, O., were in town yesterday trying to purchase an automobile of Curtis Craun.

I will close out my stock of Black Tailed Japanese bantam chickens at a very low price. Who wants a pair?
M. T. Bishop.

Esther Hollabaugh was at South Bend a few days last week visiting her sister, Bertha, who has been working there for a couple of years.

Champ Bailey and wife attended the funeral of Mrs. Culler at Hicksville, yesterday afternoon. She is the mother of Earl Culler who worked in the Bailey meat market about a year ago.

Do You Know

I am agent for the National Portrait Co., the oldest, largest and best in Chicago. Why patronize agents out-side when I am here to back the work. I have better work for $1.50 then they put out for $1.98. Frames ordered or made to order.

The Journal Gazette.

25 cts. for a trial month with the Sunday paper. The Woodburn murder trial is now on. I can save you money on any paper or magazine you want.

Phone No. 52.

Geo Milliman.

St. Joe, Indiana.

In Memory.

The memorial services of the K. of P. lodge at this place was held in the Widney opera house, Sunday afternoon, The order and the Pythian Sisters marched in a body from their hall to the opera house. The singing was excellent, the Misses Vera Copp, Hazel Berry, Emma White and Lora Hull and Messrs. Foraker Ferrel and C. A. Woodcox taking part. Rev. Brown offered the opening prayer. The memorial address was given by Rev. Dressel, who gave a fine talk on the good works of the order. The exercises were closed with the singing of "Nearer My God to Thee" by the choir, after which the orders marched to the cemetery where the graves of Thomas Johnson and August Kinsey were decorated with flowers.

Taft their Choice.

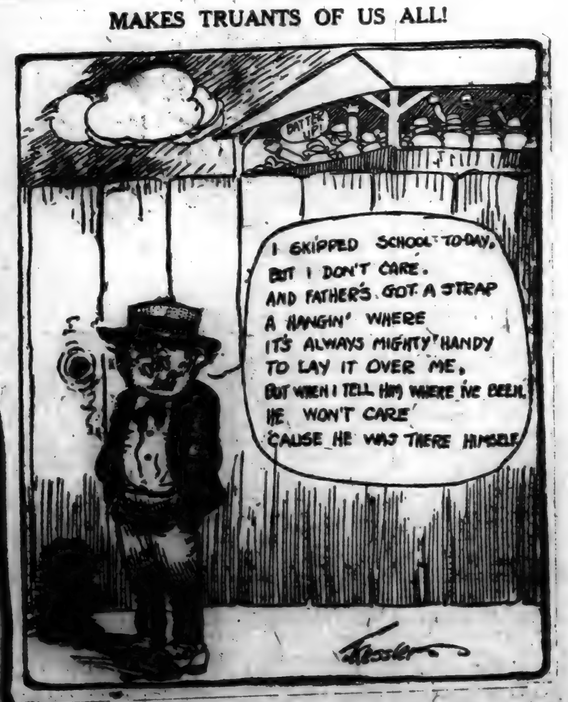
William H. Taft, of Ohio, is the nominee of the Republican party for President of the United States. The nomination was made on the first ballot at the national convention late Thursday afternoon. The vote stood as follows:

Taft	702
Knox	68
Hughes	67
Cannon	58
Fairbanks	40
La Follette	25
Foraker	16
Roosevelt	3

Children's Exercises

The children's exercises at Concord was well attended and the pastor reports the collection as being $8.00.

MAKES TRUANTS OF US ALL!



JUNE

L 903

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

FRED B. LEIGHTY, - - Publisher.

1908 JUNE 1908

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
•	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30	•	•	•	•
•	•	•	•	•	•	•

F. Q. 6th. F. M. 14th. L. Q. 21st. N. M. 28th.

PAST AND PRESENT

AS IT COMES TO US FROM ALL CORNERS OF THE EARTH.

Telegraphic Information Gathered by the Few for the Enlightenment of the Many.

Roosevelt to Hunt with Leigh Hunt.

Leigh S. J. Hunt's visit with his parents and old friends in Columbia City, Ind., developed the fact that it will be as Hunt's guest that President Roosevelt plans to go to Africa next year to hunt big game in the forests of the "dark continent." Mr. Hunt, a native of Whitley County, Indiana, has acquired large interests in the Blue Nile valley in Egypt and in the vicinity of the Soudan's historic capital, Khartoum, where he is engaged in the promotion of a cotton raising enterprise, which includes the irrigation and cultivation of a vast domain. He is also the founder of a great gold mining company, which has operated in Korea for the past twelve years, and has immense mining interests in South Africa.

Dies from Hydrophobia.

Joseph Gerst, aged 79 years, is dead at Danville, Pa., from hydrophobia. Mr. Gerst was bitten by a dog two months ago, and the wound had apparently healed, when the disease broke out. The death of Mr. Gerst follows a series of mad-dog scares in Danville, which have extended over a year. Several of the mad dogs have bitten other dogs, a number of horses and many persons.

Fatally Hurt by Fall from Wagon.

V. L. Garrett, one of the most prominent farmers of Wells County, Indiana, is dying as the result of injuries received. He fell from the top of a load of hay to the barn floor by the breaking of a rope and alighted on his head and shoulders. His skull was fractured and his spine injured in such a way as to cause total paralysis.

Mrs. Belmont Gets Husband's Estate.

The will of Oliver H. P. Belmont, who died recently at his country home in Hempstead, L. I., has been filed in the surrogate's office in New York City. Under the will Mrs. Belmont is to receive all the real and personal property and she is named executrix of the estate. The value of the estate is not given.

Engineer Killed; the Rails Spread.

West-bound Baltimore & Ohio passenger train No. 107, from Columbus, was wrecked by spreading rails near Mansion Mills, Ohio. Engineer Joe Floyd, of Newark, Ohio, was killed and Fireman George Kuminger, of Newark, was seriously injured. The passengers escaped serious injury.

Depew's Pyhsical Duplicate Dead.

Sylvester W. Shumard, a retired business man of Elkhart, Ind., returning with his wife and daughter from a visit to California, died on the train near Lynn, Utah. He was 74 years old. He was a "'49er," and locally celebrated as Chauncey Depew's physical duplicate.

Lawton's Former Chief of Staff Dead.

Representative A. A. Wiley, of Alabama, who served in Cuba as General Lawton's chief of staff, and civil governor of the eastern province and a member of the last four congresses, died at a hotel in Hot Springs, Va., Wednesday. He was about 50 years of age.

Roads Congress Delegates Appointed.

President Roosevelt has appointed Col. Charles Bromwell, Clifford Richardson and William Page as delegates to represent the United States at the international roads congress, which meets in Paris, France, on Oct. 11 next.

Imperial Hotel at Petoskey Burned.

Fire of unknown origin at Petoskey, Mich., destroyed the Imperial Hotel, valued at $120,000. The Imperial was a summer hotel and had not yet been opened for the season. The only occupants were the caretakers.

Siberian Road to be Double-Tracked.

A dispatch from St. Petersburg says the Duma adopted the government bill for the double tracking of the Siberian railroad.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION

Chicago correspondence:

Exactly at noon Tuesday Chairman Harry S. New of the national committee swung the official gavel, and the fourteenth Republican national convention was in session. All had been well oiled for the moving along of the convention plans, and when the crowds got into the Coliseum nothing was wanting in the way of arrangements. Bishop Muldoon offered the prayer opening the convention, and then Senator Julius C. Burrows of Michigan was introduced as temporary chairman of the convention.

In the crowded human hive which had been made of the Coliseum, the fall of National Chairman Harry New's gavel was greeted with a roar which drowned all further efforts of the chairman for several minutes. Every seat in the floor and galleries was occupied, while on the stand occupied by the chairman were men whose names are among the greatest which a great party possesses. Many of the delegates had been in their seats for an hour or more and there was, accordingly, little delay in the opening.

Uproarious applause broke loose among the Southern delegates, when the band played "Dixie." This was followed by a shout that filled the big hall ad it gradually began to look like a national convention. When in its medley the band struck up "America," the delegates and visitors stood en masse, waving flags and giving a mighty shout.

Human Flood Toward Coliseum.

The pre-convention currents, which had been rising and stirring for several days in all of the big Chicago hotels, broke out from confining walls between 10 and 12 o'clock and joined to form a mighty tidal wave which flowed southward toward the Coliseum for the opening session.

The streets reflected the nation. On every corner gamins hawked the papers of the principal cities, in their cries going over the principal places of a great republic. The people who streamed up and down the thoroughfares wore badges which indicated that every commonwealth from torrid Texas on the south to the States which border the Canadian provinces on the north, from New England on the east to the coast States of the West, was represented adequately not only by the ubiquitous delegates but by correspondents and visitors as well.

Shortly after 11 o'clock it was as if a floodgate had been opened, for streams of people poured into the great Coliseum at every door and scrambled for their places. At the outside entrances the doorkeepers would have been swamped except for the aid of police, who insisted that everyone find their proper entrance. By 12 o'clock the floor was a black sea of humanity, while Michigan and Wabash avenues were crowded with overflows of people anxious to hear the shouting and witness the entrance of celebrants.

There was just enough decoration in the convention hall to beautify, w out interfering with ample light ventilation. Broad bands of color, white and blue, veiled the front o galleries which extend round the looped up at intervals with re settes midway between the steel ders which arch across the hall porting the roof, and above the lery a similar strip was draped large, gilt, five-pointed stars. A ends of each arch were groups o flags. At either end of the ball a mense eagle, with twelve-foot s of wings, surmounted a mass of The stars and stripes dominate scene.

The last night before the conve was tense with suppressed anxiety in all the camps. A score of conferences were held, among the allies as well as in the Taft circle, and the presidency, the Roosevelt third term stampede, the fight over contesting delegations, the battle over the platform, and a host of other points of friction in the convention, were dealt with by the leaders who were to help to make history.

City Ablaze with Light.

Monday night the streets were ablaze with lights, there was a wealth of color on the tall buildings, bands vied with glee clubs in the packed headquarters of candidates, and in the open air marching clubs in fantastic regalia paraded the main thoroughfares, singing "Cannon, Uncle Joe," "Fairbanks," "Taft, Taft," or "Knox, Knox," and there was that universal pandemonium which befits the night before a national convention.

But while the din proceeded without, the final preparations of the leaders proceeded within. Their plans were

FORMER REPUBLICAN NOMINEES

The following have been the nominations of the Republican party since its organization:

1856, at Philadelpia—John C. Fremont, California, and William L. Dayton, New Jersey. Defeated.

1860, at Chicago—Abraham Lincoln, Illinois, and Hannibal Hamlin, Maine. Elected.

1864, at Baltimore—Abraham Lincoln, Illinois, and Andrew Johnson, Tennessee. Elected.

1868, at Chicago—Ulysses S. Grant, Illinois, and Schuyler Colfax, Indiana. Elected.

1872, at Philadelphia—Ulysses S. Grant, Illinois, and Henry Wilson, Massachusetts. Elected.

1876, at Cincinnati—Rutherford B. Hayes, Ohio, and William A. Wheeler, New York. Elected.

1880, at Chicago—James A. Garfield, Ohio, and Chester A. Arthur, New York. Elected.

1884, at Chicago—James G. Blaine, Maine, and John A. Logan, Illinois. Defeated.

1888, at Chicago—Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, and Levi P. Morton, New York. Elected.

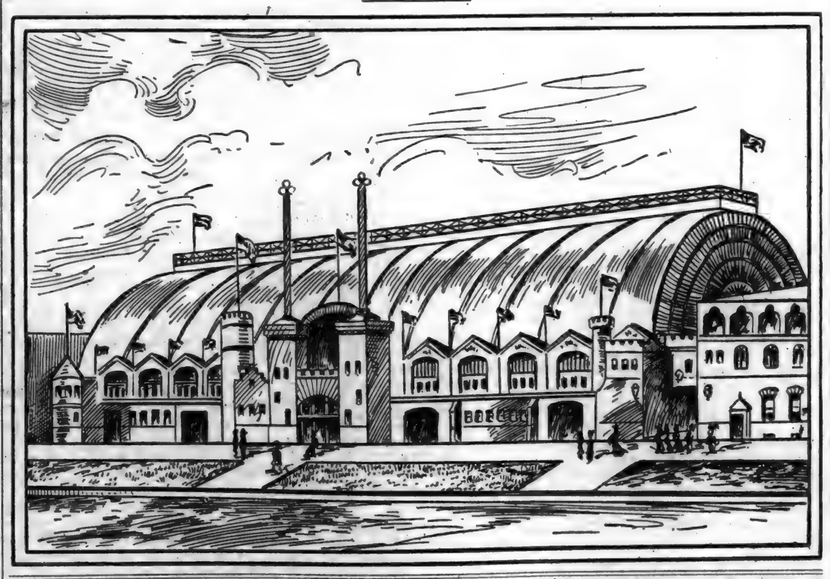
1892, at Minneapolis—Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, and Whitelaw Reid, New York. Defeated.

1896, at St. Louis—William McKinley, Ohio, and Garret A. Hobart, New Jersey. Elected.

1900, at Philadelphia—William McKinley, Ohio, and Theodore Roosevelt, New York. Elected.

1904, at Chicago—Theodore Roosevelt, New York, and Charles W. Fairbanks, Indiana. Elected.

CHICAGO'S GREAT COLISEUM.



Van Buren and Lake streets at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. All other streets in the loop district also were crowded, and downtown Chicago took on the appearance of a world's fair day.

Automobiles, bedecked with flags, or placards bearing the likeness of the various "favorite sons," tooted and swerved through the bustling streets in the loop district or found their way into the long procession up Michigan avenue. And the frequent cheers from autos were re-echoed by the gay throng.

When the out-of-town delegates with their wives or daughters found their way to State street the shopping thoroughfare appeared like a canyon, decorated with American flags and littered with lithographs of the men who were expected to "save the country" again.

Campaign buttons and ribbons bearing the insignia of the favorite candidate adorned each lapel, and the surging throng whooped it up in a babel of voices. Curbstone orators vied with the street fakers in the effort to attract attention, and in some instances their success was so great that traffic about the corners was temporarily blocked.

When the elephant, "Toddles," which led the parade Monday night, moved clumsily past the Annex in the afternoon to the lake front where he was corralled a cheer went up from the walks and hundreds of guests swarmed to the windows.

GAVEL FROM FORT DEARBORN.

Part of Historic Log Used in Construction of Mallet.

A gavel made from an oak log of old Fort Dearborn was used to open the Republican national convention. For the manufacture of the gavel and its box two feet were cut off the end of an eight-foot log in the collection of the city's department of municipal history. A silver plate on the box cover bears this legend: "Made of hand-hewn oak log from a blockhouse of old Fort Dearborn, the first outpost of civilization under the United States government in Chicago or vicinity in the old Northwest, 1803—burned by the Indians and rebuilt in 1816.

Utah Seats a Woman.

The only woman who had a seat on the floor of the Republican convention as a regular delegate is Mrs. Lucy A. Clark of Brigham City, Utah, and it is declared that she is also the only woman who ever had a vote in a Republican convention. Mrs. Clark came merely as an alternate delegate. Then it was found that one of the regular delegates was absent. Thereupon the vacant position was allotted to Mrs. Clark as a regular delegate, and the gold badge was pinned upon her dress.

Attended 1856 Convention.

Closely resembling "Uncle Joe" Cannon and as nimble on his feet as an athlete, Judge J. D. Conner, the "grand old man" of Wabash, Ind., was on hand to watch "the youngsters put through a convention." Judge Conner is one of the four surviving delegates to the first Republican convention held in Philadelphia in 1856, when the party nominated John C. Fremont.

Private Wire to Roosevelt.

President Roosevelt and Secretary Taft received news from the convention hot over private wires which were worked direct from Chicago to the White House and War Department. In addition bulletins from the Associated Press were furnished them.

Ticket Prices Set Records.

Convention tickets for sale at prices ranging from $10 up to $200 was a complaint of politicians and near friends of the assistant doorkeepers and other notables at the big gathering. Tickets were quoted at exorbitant figures at the hotels Monday, but few were found for sale.

CONVENTION BEGINS ORGANIZATION WORK

Report of Credentials Committee Adopted and Gavel Turned Over to Senator Lodge.

"MEN OF '56" ARE PRESENTED.

Parade of Clubs Throughout the Big Hall Gives Vent for Enthusiasm During Wait.

Chicago correspondence:

The Republican national convention throngs came together slowly Wednesday, but in a fever of expectancy. Fireworks were due on the floor. Fireworks were going on in the Coliseum annex, where the credentials committee was preparing its report. This meeting overlapped the time of assembling for the convention proper and the crowd buzzed and gossiped of what was coming.

The convention was called to order at 12:20 p. m. Senator Fulton, of Oregon, announced that the credentials committee, of which he was chairman, would not have its report ready for one hour.

PERMANENT CHAIRMAN LODGE.

After Senator Burrows, as temporary chairman of the convention, called the delegates to order he introduced the chaplain of the day, the Rev. William O. Waters, of Chicago, who offered the invocation, closing with the Lord's prayer. The delegates and the visitors joined the minister.

Chairman Burrows interrupted the regular order of business long enough to introduce to the convention Henry Baker, of Minnesota, and James D. Conner, of Indiana, two gray-haired veterans of the party who were delegates to the first Republican convention in 1856. Messrs. Baker and Conner were greeted with continuing rounds of applause as they stepped to the front of the platform and bowed their acknowledgments.

On motion of Mr. Warren, of Michigan, the convention invited to a place on the platform A. G. Proctor, of St. Joseph, Mich., who was a delegate to the Lincoln convention in Chicago forty-eight years ago.

Parade of Marching Clubs.

It was next announced that while waiting for the report of the committee on credentials there would be a parade through the hall of visiting and local marching clubs. As the uniformed marchers swept through the hall enthusiasm broke loose. When the band played "The Star-Spangled Banner" every man, woman and child jumped up. Cheers shook the roof of the big hall.

With a chorus of "Yeas" and many "Nays" the report of the credentials committee, seating the contested delegates in the same manner as the national committee ruled, was adopted by the convention shortly after 1 o'clock.

The committee on permanent organization next made its report, which was adopted and Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, was introduced as permanent chairman. He was given a rousing greeting. Senator Lodge at once plunged into his speech.

BRIEF NEWS ITEMS.

Western buyers are flocking to New York City in large numbers, indicating a return of prosperity.

Senator Thomas C. Platt of New York paid his wife $75,000 in cash to prevent her from suing for a divorce.

Miss Clara Kretzinger, who studied art in Chicago, has had a painting accepted and hung in the Paris salon.

Japan is making a sincere effort to check emigration to this country, according to Baron Takhira, the Japanese ambassador.

District Attorney John F. Clarke of Brooklyn will sail for Italy to study the Italian criminal where he grows. Mr. Clarke will be accompanied by Francis L. Corrao, one of the assistants, who was born in Italy.

JUNE

0220

L 903

A LONELY GIRL

By Mrs Hungerford

CHAPTER XV.

Last night there had been rain as the darkness grew to dawn, and now a soft moisture is rising from the leaves lying on the sodden ground. Amber, picking her steps delicately, not on the wet path, but on the spongy moss that skirts it, goes on her way through the almost leafless wood, her head a little bent and a smile upon her lips that is half sweet, half sad, and full of a new wonderment.

The night gone by had been a strange one for her. For the first time in all her curious girlhood, she had, for one thing, lain wide awake as hour by hour went by, thinking, thinking, and her thoughts carried her far, and far, but always back to one center.

That kiss upon her hand! It had gone from her hand to her heart and stayed there. What did it mean? That is the burden of all her thinking. Does he love her? Can he love her? Her! her! It is a tremendous question, and takes great answering. A whole sleepless night long—lying with sleepless eyes working it out—is surely but a very short time to give to so momentous, so wonderful, so—She hardly knows what sort of question it is.

At breakfast, held in bondage still by this worrying thought, she hardly dares to look at Hilary; and breakfast over, had slipped away to the eternal comfort, and rest, of the silent woods. Here she will work it out. Here she will be able to think indeed.

Softly, but with a little chill in it, blows the wind. Now there are but few leaves left to play with it, to make a pretty fight, to shake their green and tender pennons in its face with saucy defiance.

Will she ever "forget"? All at once, walking quietly through the woods, she knows that she never will. She knows that she loves him. Such knowledge is an education in itself. The girl stands quite still staring straight before her. She loves him, and he loves her. She is quite as sure of one as of the other. Her soul seems to soar to heaven as this blest thought enters into it; and then all at once, in the twinkling of an eye as it were, it sinks to hell.

To love him, to permit him to love her, will mean ruin to him! Sir Lucien would not hear of a marriage between them—and—Sir Lucien has it in his power to disinherit him. Mr. Everard had told her that. And—and of course there is something to be said for Sir Lucien. She will be fair! Quite fair. A girl whose father is accused of doing away with very valuable jewels that in no way belonged to him, is hardly a girl one would wish one's heir to marry. Unless the jewels are restored, and her father's name cleared of dishonor, all joy and hope in her life are at an end.

It is at this point of her sad reflections that she lifts her eyes and sees Brian Deane standing a few yards away from her. She is conscious that she starts a little at his sudden appearance, but going quickly forward she gives him her hand, which he takes and holds, staring eagerly at her face.

"Alone!" says he. All the love for her that his wild untutored heart undoubtedly knows, does not prevent the touch of sarcasm that enters into his voice. "Not even the handsome cousin to keep you company. Or, perhaps," with sudden darkening of his frowning brows, "you are on your way to meet him?"

"I have come out to meet nobody," says Amber coldly, and with a glance of scorn.

"I'm glad to hear it. I have been waiting about the place for days in the hope of seeing you."

"Why should you do that? Why not come straight to the house and ask to see me? You," with a little rush, as though the thought is distasteful to her—"you are my cousin."

"With all that lot round you? No! I wanted to see you alone. You remember that last conversation I had with you?"

"No," distinctly. "I thought it wiser to forget it."

"Your wisdom doesn't seem to have helped you," says he with an ugly sneer. "It's hard to forget—isn't it? Does anyone forget, I wonder? I would to heaven it weren't so hard, for then I might perhaps be able to forget you! But I can't, you see. That's what it comes to. I can't put you out of my mind."

"Why do you talk to me like this, Brian," says the girl very gently, "when you know that it is so useless?"

"What I know," says he, his pale, dogged face now a dull crimson, "is that it shall not be useless. No! Mine you shall be."

Suddenly catching her by both her arms, he compels her with brute force so to turn that a fuller light from the dull sky falls upon her face.

"You think you love that fellow! You think that he loves you. I tell you, you are a fool. Doubly a fool."

"Take your hands away, Brian," says she at last, not angrily, not nervously—but with a cold courage, a haughty command, that seems to go to his very soul. He releases her instantly. "Of course I quite understand that you hardly know what you are saying or doing," she goes on; "therefore I forgive you, and shall bear you no ill-will." She lightly brushes on the sleeves of her coat where his hands had held her. All the most violent words of contempt or anger she could have showered upon him could not have conveyed to him half so clearly as this slow and simple gesture the state of her mind towards him. It is casting him from her into outer darkness indeed!

"Ill-will from you to me! Why, I am the one who loves you! You—are the only thing I love on earth—the only thing I ever have loved. You think that Captain Adare will marry you! I tell you he neither will nor can. His uncle would disinherit him if he did so. But I—love you!"

"I am sorry," says she very kindly, very sweetly, but as he feels, finally.

"What do you mean?" cries he fiercely. "Be sorry for yourself! When he shows you plainly at the last, that his uncle's thousands are more to him than a penniless girl—a girl, too, with the story of her father's dishonor hung round her neck, as her only wedding ornament"—here he laughs, wildly, "how will it be with you then?"

"Listen to me," says she, her voice vibrating with some hidden feeling. "Let me speak. I tell you I shall not marry Captain Adare, or any other man, until my father's memory has been made clear. You alone can clear it, if indeed"—here she pales perceptibly—"you speak the truth." She goes nearer to him—her eyes are burning into his. "Is it the truth, Brian? Is it? Why don't you answer? Why don't you speak? You say you love me—and love means sacrifice. And if you do know where those dreadful jewels are, give them to Sir Lucien. Give them," she throws out her hands to him in a little passion of entreaty, "and so far at least prove that my poor father was not a thief!"

"And so leave you free to marry Adare."

"Oh, no! oh, no! I was not thinking of that."

"If I did what you say"—he has come very close to her—"would you marry me?"

He waits, and waits—and still waits. Then she lifts her face! It would have been so simple a thing to promise, and then, when the jewels were restored, to refuse to fulful her pledge. But when she lifts her face it is so white and lined with grief that he hardly knows it. Still, she has decided.

"No!" says she in a faint, sad tone. His nostrils dilate.

"You say that with a face like death itself! Has his supposed love brought you to look like that? I tell you the time will come when you will be glad to cast all thoughts of him behind you, and marry me!"

"I shall never marry you," says she firmly.

They are both standing on the pathway, staring at each other, when a shadow falls between them. Amber's eyes are still flashing as she raises them to see Sir Lucien.

CHAPTER XIV

"Oh, yes, I think you will," says Sir Lucien, coming forward and addressing Amber. "I quite sure you will." He had only heard the last sentence of the conversation between Deane and Amber.

"I don't think so," coldly.

"When I tell you all the facts of the case," says Sir Lucien, still very agreeably, "I am sure you will see your way to another answer. The fact is that your cousin here knows something about those lost stones of our house, that your poor mother was entrusted with in a weak moment, by my father—and——"

"Pray spare yourself the trouble of going into it," says Amber, with a wonderful calm. "I know all about it! Mr. Deane," with a glance at him from under haughty, half-closed lids that should have withered him, "Mr. Deane knows where those jewels are, on which you have set your heart, and the price he sets on their delivery to you is—me. Well," turning faintly upon them, with grief and tears and terror and reproach in her beautiful eyes, "I am not for sale!"

"You forget one point," says Sir Lucien, his voice perfectly calm. "It is to clear your father's memory that we desire this thing. If Mr. Deane can produce these gems, then the suspicion of your father's having made away with them is at an end. If you marry this most estimable cousin of yours, he has promised to let me know where the stones are concealed. You see how the case lies." He looks at her for the first time fully. "You will consent?"

"No," says Amber, for the second time. Her tone is fuller now, however, and much stronger.

"You refuse!" Sir Lucien's face of affected suavity now clouds into a sort of fury. "You refuse! who have been reported as so anxious for the clearing of your father's memory in this matter."

"My father," says the girl clearly, "would not have had me clear his memory at the expense of my own happiness. He loved me too much for that. You!" she lifts her eyes to Sir Lucien's—"you, who have never loved anyone, cannot, of course, understand this."

"Hypocrite!" cries Sir Lucien furiously. "You, who have paraded your longing to see your father's memory made sweet, now, when the chance comes to you, refuse to use it."

"I am no hypocrite," says the girl, standing straight and firm before him. "I am no sycophant either. I feel"—she turns and takes a step away from them—"I shall be better at home. Brian," looking back imperiously at Deane, "go and bring the dog-cart for me as soon as you can." Sir Lucien is about to give a hasty consent to this order, when his glance happens to fall on Deane. The strange, forbidding, but handsome face is dark with anger; a stronger, more dangerous anger, than even the girl's refusal to marry him had called forth. As he looks the older man gasps the truth. Any insult to Amber—will be deeply, violently resented by this strange, uncouth man.

"No, no," exclaims Sir Lucien, with a gesture of his hands. "I shall not allow you, my guest, my—niece—to leave my house before your visit has come to an end. There is no need for such violent temper on your part."

She is silent. War is raging within her—war between love and pride. To go is to satisfy the latter. To stay is to satisfy her love! Oh! to be with him for even a few hours longer! To see him, to be near him; though never, never, can he be more to her than he is now. That he loves her, she knows. Her clear, sweet instinct has brought that home to her, though not a word has been said by him to her that she can dream upon. Nothing, except that kiss upon her hand last night. What magic lay in it! what wondrous charm! she—she alone can tell.

And because of that sweet knowledge, and with its power full upon her, she wrestles with, and overcomes her pride, and, as all true lovers will, lets love stand triumphant!

"As you wish," returns she coldly, to Sir Lucien. "My visit, however, will be over in a few days."

"In the meantime," says Sir Lucien, who is afraid of Deane's frowning watchfulness, "you will, I hope, understand that you are a very welcome guest within my doors."

She lifts her eyes to his for a moment; it is a little time, but his sink before hers. Then, turning away from both men, she is soon lost amongst the trees and bushes.

"A troublesome subject," says Sir Lucien, shrugging his shoulders as she disappears, and turning to Deane, whose gaze is still fixed on the corner where the last inch or so of her gown had been seen. "You have courage, my good Deane! You might make a better bargain with me, perhaps.

"Her or nothing!" The answer comes clear and stern. Sir Lucien suppresses very cleverly an expression of deep disgust. What fools some men are, he tells himself, and all for the sake of a woman.

"You have given me your word that I can have the girl in exchange for the gems. That's good enough for me. But it will take time and help."

"It shall be as you will," slowly—icily.

"As I will! What about her? Can you compel her to my will?"

"I think so. But I tell you that she's in love with that nephew of yours, and that it will take you all your time to get her to marry me."

"In love with Hilary?"

"I don't know what his name is," says Deane sulkily, "but I'm talking of your nephew, anyway."

"I am sure you are mistaken."

"Are you?" with a snarl. "I'm not. You think you know a lot, don't you? I tell you she is in love with him, and I tell you once more, he is in love with her!"

"No, no! Impossible. I have watched them. Impossible, I tell you. And even if it were true"—reading and answering the look in the other man's face—"it shall come to nothing. His life, his future, lies in my hand. Lies" (holding out his exquisitely shaped old hand and pointing to the hollow of the palm) "there!"

His voice has fallen very low, but his eyes tell a good deal. They at all events convey to Deane the certainty that if Adare should persist in his mad infatuation for Amber, Sir Lucien would cut him off with the proverbial shilling.

"I can see what you mean," says Deane, still in a very surly tone. And then, "You will be at Madam's dance?"

"I don't think so," says Sir Lucien, who abhors Madam and all her works.

"You had better be there," says the other with a threatening air. "I shall want your support, your countenance. You'll have to keep an eye on the girl that night, whilst I"—he takes a step nearer to Sir Lucien, and lays his hand upon his shoulder. "A word, Adare." Sir Lucien winces at this familiarity—"I shall keep an eye on him. Then we shall compare notes, and know. One has only one pair of eyes, my good fellow. You'll help me?"

"You forget yourself, sir, when you speak to me like that," Sir Lucien, his brows darkening. "Go, sir. Go!" haughtily.

"Oh! None of your rot," returns Deane, with a coarse laugh. "Do you think you can dismiss me now, with an uppish word or two? Have you forgotten those letters of yours? You'll come to that dance, do you hear? You spoke a moment ago of having your precious nephew in your hand. Well, as you hold him, so I hold you." He spreads out his palm towards him. "Here! Just here!" says he with a laugh of diabolical delight.

(To be continued.)

The Wily Owl.

A party of horsemen were traveling along Bridge creek, a tributary of Bad Water river, Wyoming, when their horses suddenly shied off the track at the sound of a "rattle." Search was made for the snake, but it was finally found that the sound proceeded from the burrowing owl, which lives in the burrows of the prairie dog, often, it is said, in company with the rattlesnake. Seated on a post the party heard the owl give a third rattle. And whenever they passed the spot it gave warning by its rattle, and the horses always shied off the track in alarm.—American Naturalist.

REVIEW OF INDIANA

At the little town of Midland, Lewis N. Miller, a justice of the peace, was held up by two unknown parties, and robbed of $65 and a fine gold watch valued at $30.

During a severe electrical storm at Elnora, Walter Wilkins, 23 years old, son of Thomas Wilkins, was struck by lightning and killed. He was employed as a farm laborer by F. A. Whisman, and he was nearing the barn to avoid the storm when he was struck. Two men nearby were stunned.

The 6-year-old son of Parish Umplee, near Calcutta, is in a serious condition, the result of snapping a pistol that the owner did not know was loaded. The latter is a young man, who is a friend of the family. The bullet plowed through the hip of the child, causing a dangerous wound.

Mrs. John Collins, living near Greenfield, sold during the month of May 225 pounds of butter, besides what was used in the family of six persons, off the milk of seven cows. The proceeds from the butter for the month were $67.50. The cows are not thoroughbreds, but the average milk kind.

Frank D. Cheyney, aged 22 years, not long from London, Eng., and making his first trip as a railway employe out from Fort Wayne, was mangled at Osborn, by falling under a freight train. Both legs were cut off, yet he dragged himself from under the wheels. He died on the way to the hospital.

Edward T. Yates, of Greenfield, a motorman on the Terre Haute, Indianapolis & Eastern Traction Company, while operating a limited car through Hiser's Station struck a big blackbird and the glass in the front of the motorman's cab was shattered, pieces striking Yates in the face, rendering him unconscious.

As the result of the rupture of a nasal artery during an attack of sneezing, A. W. Henke, a well-known business man of Alexandria, is in a critical condition, and it is feared he will not recover. Several days ago an operation for the removal of a nasal obstruction was performed, and the patient was thought to be improving.

James Henley Carpenter, a well-known dairyman living west of Brazil, ate a hearty supper, and after drinking two glasses of cold lemonade, finished the meal with two pieces of cherry pie. He was seized with acute indigestion and died in a few minutes. He was 57 years old and a physical giant. He leaves a widow and children.

The proposition to establish a school of scientific agriculture in Wayne County took definite shape at a meeting of the County Board of Education, when a committee was appointed to draft a bill for presentation to the General Assembly, providing for such school. The design is to aid young men in the district schools who propose to make farming a life work.

At the home of Mrs. T. B. Evans, known as "Cozy Nook," in Silver Lake, there is a Paul Nerian rose bush which has fifteen roses in bloom, one of which was measured recently by Mrs. T. D. McClure and daughter Nelly and found to be five and one-half inches in diameter and sixteen inches in circumference. The color is pink. This rose plant was brought from Portland, Ore., by Mrs. Evans, on one of her recent visits to the Pacific coast.

Charles Stewart, near Newport, having use for a leather washer for his cultivator plow, picked up an old boot in his tool shed, and finding it unusually heavy, run his hand inside to remove the obstruction. His hand was struck by a snake, which so excited him that he turned the boot upside down, and out dropped two black snakes, each five feet in length, which fell to the floor. After he recovered from his fright, both snakes were killed.

Four valuable horses belonging to the Indianapolis Fire Department have lost their hearing because of the explosion at the Prest-O-Light plant. The engine house was badly damaged, but the firemen rescued the horses without apparent injury to them. The horses have list their "ginger" and they go to their work in a mechanical fashion, in strange contrast with their former action. The firemen have concluded that the hearing of the horses was destroyed.

Mrs. John Grimes, wife of a well-known farmer near Oakland City, has on exhibition two lemons which she grew, the combined weight two pounds and seven ounces. The lemons have the same flavor as the ordinary lemons and aside from their unusual size they have the same appearance. The tree has been kept constantly in the house and a year has elapsed since the bloom from which the fruit was produced appeared. The lemons are about the size of a fancy navel orange.

The C. S. Townsend bottle factory in Greenfield is being improved and enlarged, and it will start August 1 with 150 employes.

The first raspberries have appeared on the Oakland City market. The crop is said to be unusually large this year and the fruit in prime condition.

Last week a mare belonging to Luther Brunton, a farmer living near Morocco, gave birth to a pure white colt. Old horsemen say that a colt pure white at birth is seldom heard of.

Construction of the new Central school building at Elkhart has just been completed at a cost of $45,000. The building is a two-story stone structure of sixteen rooms and will accommodate 600 pupils.

Arthur Munroe of Columbus, reports the capture of a fifty-pound shovelhead catfish, in White river, and Golden Hill and John Hunter caught a forty-pound catfish in Flatrock river on a trout-line. They also caught a three and-one-half-pound eel, which is larger than eels generally caught in Bartholomew County streams.

William F. Craft, a young man of Evansville, while on his way to Boonville, deliberately walked off the front end of a traction car as it was running at full speed, breaking his collar bone and hurting him internally. He is believed to be mentally unbalanced, as he remarked: "I don't see how I stayed on the car, anyway."

J. R. Parker, who came to Elkhart from Chicago a few weeks ago, to run a soda fountain in a local drug store, has come into possession of $24,500 cash, representing a legacy of which he has had knowledge for seven years, though the conditions were such that he could not obtain possession till last week. He proposes to retain his position, at least for the present.

An automobile run was made recently from Corydon to Louisville, to save the life of Mrs. Perry Shaffer, of Corydon, who is suffering from lockjaw, the result of stepping on a rusty nail. She was taken to Louisville to receive anti-toxin treatment, and the thirty miles between the old Indiana State capital and the Louisville Infirmary was covered in an hour. Her condition is critical.

Charles Chadwick, who recently was graduated from the Indiana Institution for the Blind, and whose home is in Pendleton, has started on a business career as traveling salesman for a piano house. He had experience in this line of work while attending the Institute, being able not only to support himself but to deposit over $100. Mr. Chadwick lost his sight six years ago, while handling a shotgun.

T. R. Hicks, of Kokomo, while driving a $5,000 automobile through East Germantown, swerved to one side to avoid a street car, when he encountered a 6-year-old son of Nicholas Guerring, who was also dodging the car. Sooner than strike the boy he dashed full speed into a tree. The impact wrecked the machine, the wheels collapsing, and nearly every rod being bent out of shape. No person was injured.

The new Twelfth Avenue Baptist church in Evansville was dedicated last Sunday. The dedicatory sermon was preached by the Rev. J. R. Edwards, field secretary of the church, Owensville. The new edifice cost in the neighborhood of $10,000. Most of the work was performed by the pastor, the Rev. E. G. S. Burdette, who did the carpenter work while not engaged in his pastoral duties. All of the members of the church, in the main, are working men and their families.

Secretary J. N. Hurty, of the State Board of Health, announces that two persons over 100 years of age died in Boone County and one in Clinton County last week. Hugh Wiatt, of Sugar Creek Township, Boone County, died of old age at the age of 108. He probably was the oldest resident in the State. Miles Carrigan, of Lebanon, died at the age of 101, from brain anaemia. Mrs. Martha Stafford Thurman, of Sugar Creek Township, Clinton County, died at the age of 105, from an attack of grip.

Robert H. Green, vice president of the Farmers and Merchants' Bank, of Waynestown, was sentenced to a term of from one to fourteen years and fined $10 for stealing two horses from Judge James McCabe, of Williamsport. Green's career as a horse thief was brilliant and sensational. It is said that he took to stealing to recoup losses suffered in gambling in stocks. Judge McCabe's coachman accidentally caught Green leading one of his stolen horses from a blacksmith shop. He was arrested June 1 under the name of Frank Ross. His identity did not become public for ten days later. His arrest created a sensation, as he was regarded as a rich man of excellent habits.

JUNE

0221

L 903

Bad Backache

Such agonies as some women suffer, every month, from backache!

Is it necessary? No. It can be prevented and relieved, when caused by female trouble, by taking a medicine with specific, curative action, on the female organs and functions, which acts by relieving the congestion, stopping the pain and building the organs and functions up to a proper state of health. Try.

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMAN'S RELIEF

"I suffered for 15 years," writes Mrs. Malinda A. Akers, of Bashaw, Va., "with various female troubles. I had such a backache that it drew me over, so I could not stand straight. The doctors could not help me, so I took Cardui, and now I feel like a new woman."

At All Druggists

WRITE FOR FREE ADVICE, stating age and describing symptoms, to Ladies Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. E 38

J. A. PROVINES

TRUSTEE

of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:

THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK at residence in Spencerville, Ind.

DENTIST.

C. R. PRICE,

ST. JOE, IND.

Office in Case building.

Bell Phone No. 44.

WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St. Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.

No. 11, Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail 12:05p.m
No. 3, Western Express 8:06 p. m

GOING EAST.

No. 2, Eastern Express 6:34a. m
No. 16, Toledo Acc & Mail 7:21 p. m

The Old Proverb

That "It takes nine tailors to make a man" may possibly mean that it takes nine trials to find the right tailor.

You can save eight trials by coming heae first. At this time in the year we can do considerably better by you than later. Not better in style, fabric, fit or finish—that's impossible—but better in price. For Example:—

Suits from $18.00 up

Pants from $4.00 up

ED MAY,

TAILOR,

Butler, Ind.

The St. Joe News.

One Year - - $1.00
Six Month - - 50c
Three Months - - 25c

FRED B. LEIGHTY, Editor.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

Hay Makers.

The song of the mower will soon be heard in the fields again, as the summer crop of clover hay is about ready to make and then the farmers troubles begin. He cuts down about three acres of grass in the forenoon and the weather is fine and old King Solomon is shining out with all its brightness and heat, and through the effort to get enough down to take up the next day, he nearly over-heats his horses and just as they are about ready to sit down to the dinner table, an awful noise is heard in the west, and on investigation he finds that the brightness of the forenoon has turned to a deep, heavy, black covering which seemed to arise from the ground in the west and moves slowly to the east, and about the time it is fairly overhead, down comes the raindrops and the longer they fall, the faster they come, and the wishes he has made a few weeks ago are fulfilled by a good, hard rain storm, and there is all of his fine hay which he worked so hard to get cut, soaked with water and ruined you might say only for feed for his stock. But this does not discourage him and after the wet hay is taken care of he tries it again but with the same results and it is then that the farmers thoughts wander, and he thinks of those countries where rain seldom comes and the first impulse is to pull stakes, have a sale and go where he can make hay without being bothered by rain, but we wish to inform Mr. farmer that in such countries they do not make any hay and again he is handicaped and compelled to go to the field and gather the crop which he has looked so much to as being one to be proud of, now ruined and puts in the barn to get out of the way. When Spring comes and feed is very scarse the tables are turned and this ruined hay comes in mighty handy to feed the cows and in turn they give an abundance of milk and the farmer hauls the cream to the creamery and gets the early fancy price for it and it is then that a broad smile adornes his face when his check on pay-day and then the credit has to be given to that ruined clover hay. Every farmer should save a portion of his hay to supply his stock with feed it the spring before the pasture is ready for use. You cannot expect poor cows to give rich milk.

Where To Go.

Widowers to Widows, Ala.
Apiarists to Beeville, Tex.
Farmers to Corning, N. P.
Brokers to Stockville, Nev.
Hunters to Deer, Colo.
Hucksters to Yellville, Ark.
Lovers to Spoonville, Mich.
Debtors to Cash, Ark.
Bryanites to Dennis, Mass.
Chiropodists to Cornie, Ark.
Carpenters to Sawtooth, Ind.
Politicians to Buncombe, Va.

PATENTS

and TRADE-MARKS promptly obtained in all countries, or no fee. We obtain PATENTS THAT PAY, advertise them thoroughly, at our expense, and help you to success.

Send model, photo or sketch for FREE report on patentability. 39 years' practice. SURPASSING REFERENCES. For free Guide Book on Profitable Patents Write to

503-505 Seventh Street, WASHINGTON, D. C.

D. SWIFT & CO.

Irish Players.

Dublin Actors Who Are Appearing In American Theaters—William B. Yeats and the Irish Revival.

THE Irish literary revival has attracted so much attention that special interest attaches to the visit to New York of the players belonging to the Irish National Theater society of Dublin, headed by William Butler Yeats, poet and playwright and one of the foremost leaders of the intellectual awakening in Ireland. These genuine Irish actors are showing Americans the difference between the brogue of Kilkenny and that of the vaudeville Irish comedian. They are of the soil as truly as the peat from the bog. They play the parts they live and when at home in Dublin often act in the evening and engage in other occupations during the daytime. They do not act with shillalahs, and there is not a fight in one of their plays. It has been said that the difference between the Irishman of the New York stage and of Dublin is more than 3,000 miles. The members of this company illustrate the saying. It includes the comedienne Miss Bridget O'Dempster and the famous Fay brothers.

Mr. Yeats, Dr. Douglas Hyde and Lady Gregory of Galway are perhaps the most conspicuous of the leaders in the Gaelic section of the Celtic movement. Mr. Yeats is the eldest son of the well known Irish artist, J. B. Yeats, and was born to the love of beauty. Educated in Dublin, he was often at the home of his grandparents in the county of Sligo, where he looked upon what he has termed "a most wild and beautiful scenery, under a sky ever loaded and fantastic with flying clouds." His imaginative nature enabled him very early to grasp the poetic quality of the folklore of his race, and he was led to make it his life mission to reveal that quality to the world. A glimpse of his character was had when he visited this country about four years ago. He was then only thirty-four years old, but had several volumes of poems, plays and essays to his credit. On landing in New York he was besieged by reporters, who of course asked him the inevitable question, "What do you think of our skyscrapers?" Mr. Yeats paused a moment and then said:

WILLIAM BUTLER YEATS.

"They are wonderful, very wonderful, if for no other reason than that they make you Americans sometimes look up at God's beautiful sky."

The exquisite phrasing and poetic imagery of Mr. Yeats' verse had established his place among writers of the English language before he threw himself into what has been termed the Celtic literary revival. That revival, so far as the Irish are concerned, has in view fostering the use of the Gaelic language, the presentation of plays in that tongue and the renewal of interest in Irish music. Mr. Yeats considers his own special work in this revival the support of the Irish theater and presentation through it of Irish dramas. The poet got some of his folklore tales from "a little bright eyed old man named Paddy Flynn." He once paid a tribute to his memory in the following terms:

"Paddy Flynn is dead. A friend of mine gave him a large bottle of whisky, and, though a sober man at most times, the sight of so much liquor filled him with a great enthusiasm, and he lived upon it for some days and then died."

When Mr. Yeats was in this country four years ago he gave Kipling admirers something of a shock by remarking, "Kipling had a soul to sell, and he sold it—to the devil."

Some people think a poet has an easy vocation. That this is a mistake is inferred from the following lines by Mr. Yeats:

We sat together at one summer's end,
That beautiful mild woman, your close friend,
And you and I, and talked of poetry.
I said: "A line will take us hours maybe,
Yet if it does not seem a moment's thought
Our stitching and unstitching have been naught.
Better go down upon your marrowbones
And scrub a kitchen pavement or break stones
Like an old pauper in all kinds of weather,
For to articulate sweet sounds together
Is to work harder than all these, and yet
Be thought an idler by the noisy set
Of bankers, schoolmasters and clergymen
The martyrs call the world."

WANTED—A RIDER AGENT IN EACH TOWN and district to ride and exhibit a sample Latest Model "Ranger" bicycle furnished by us. Our agents everywhere are making money fast. Write for full particulars and special offer at once.

NO MONEY REQUIRED until you receive and approve of your bicycle. We ship to anyone, anywhere in the U. S. without a cent deposit in advance, prepay freight, and allow TEN DAYS' FREE TRIAL during which time you may ride the bicycle and put it to any test you wish. If you are then not perfectly satisfied or do not wish to keep the bicycle ship it back to us at our expense and you will not be out one cent.

FACTORY PRICES We furnish the highest grade bicycles it is possible to make at one small profit above actual factory cost. You save $10 to $25 middlemen's profits by buying direct of us and have the manufacturer's guarantee behind your bicycle. DO NOT BUY a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone at any price until you receive our catalogues and learn our unheard of factory prices and remarkable special offers to rider agents.

YOU WILL BE ASTONISHED when you receive our beautiful catalogue and study our superb models at the wonderfully low prices we can make you this year. We sell the highest grade bicycles for less money than any other factory. We are satisfied with $1.00 profit above factory cost.

BICYCLE DEALERS, you can sell our bicycles under your own name plate at double our prices. Orders filled the day received

SECOND HAND BICYCLES. We do not regularly handle second hand bicycles, but usually have a number on hand taken in trade by our Chicago retail stores. These we clear out promptly at prices ranging from $3 to $8 or $10. Descriptive bargain lists mailed free.

COASTER-BRAKES, single wheels, imported roller chains and pedals, parts, repairs and equipment of all kinds at half the usual retail prices.

$8.50 HEDGETHORN PUNCTURE-PROOF SELF-HEALING TIRES A SAMPLE PAIR TO INTRODUCE, ONLY $4.80

The regular retail price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but to introduce we will sell you a sample pair for $4.80 cash with order $4.55).

NO MORE TROUBLE FROM PUNCTURES

NAILS, Tacks or Glass will not let the air out. Sixty thousand pairs sold last year. Over two hundred thousand pairs now in use.

DESCRIPTION: Made in all sizes. It is lively and easy riding, very durable and lined inside with a special quality of rubber, which never becomes porous and which closes up small punctures without allowing the air to escape. We have hundreds of letters from satisfied customers stating that their tires have only been pumped up once or twice in a whole season. They weigh no more than an ordinary tire, the puncture resisting qualities being given by several layers of thin, specially prepared fabric on the tread. The regular price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but for advertising purposes we are making a special factory price to the rider of only $4.80 per pair. All orders shipped same day letter is received. We ship C. O. D. on approval. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them strictly as represented.

Notice the thick rubber tread "A" and puncture strips "B" and "D," also rim strip "H" to prevent rim cutting. This tire will outlast any other make—SOFT, ELASTIC and EASY RIDING.

We will allow a cash discount of 5 per cent (thereby making the price $4.55 per pair) if you send FULL CASH WITH ORDER and enclose this advertisement. We will also send one nickel plated brass hand pump. Tires to be returned at OUR expense if for any reason they are not satisfactory on examination. We are perfectly reliable and money sent to us is as safe as in a bank. If you order a pair of these tires, you will find that they will ride easier, run faster, wear better, last longer and look finer than any tire you have ever used or seen at any price. We know that you will be so well pleased that when you want a bicycle you will give us your order. We want you to send us a trial order at once, hence this remarkable tire offer.

IF YOU NEED TIRES don't buy any kind at any price until you send for a pair of Hedgethorn Puncture-Proof tires on approval and trial at the special introductory price quoted above; or write for our big Tire and Sundry Catalogue which describes and quotes all makes and kinds of tires at about half the usual prices.

DO NOT WAIT but write us a postal today. DO NOT THINK OF BUYING a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone until you know the new and wonderful offers we are making. It only costs a postal to learn everything. Write it NOW.

J. L. MEAD CYCLE COMPANY, CHICAGO, ILL.

Referred.

"Anything in that rumor that you're going to get a divorce?"

"Really, I don't know," replied the theatrical star languidly. "You might ask my press agent."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Beginning to Get Eyes Open.

Wool is low to be sure, but nobody in Indiana depends on wool for his living—it is in reality a sort of by-product for the farmer who raises sheep for market. If he gets a big price for wool, so much the better; if a low price, it don't make much difference.—Rockville Republican. This is the way republican papers, and republican politicians talks when wool is low. When it is high they expatiate on the beauties of the protective tariff which they always creeit with being the cause of the higher prise. The fact is the tariff on wool is intended merely to pull the wool over the farmer's eyes which has been done quite successfully for the last few years. But the farmers are beginning to get there eyes open since, under the highest tariff ever known in this country wool has been the lowest it has been in years.—Goshen Democrat.

Buy our stationery.

Envelopes 5c a bunch.

Old papers at NEWS office.

Among modern rulers, few have, by wise management, contributed more to the prosperity of their country than President Diaz of Mexico. Our neighbor on the south has made wonderful strides in internal improvement, due to his wise administration. Last week, the Mexican Congress appropriated 25 millions of dollars for building irrigating plants in Mexico, and this, it is said, is only the initiation of the great plan of internal improvement by establishidg irrigating plants throughout that great country. But 25 millions of dollars in Mexico, it may be said, will go quite as far as three times that amount in this country. Mexico is open to Chinese and Japanese coolies who will work for one-fourth the amount paid here and do real work at that. Moreover, the Mexicans paons, a sturdy, industrious race, can be hired by the thousand for forty cents a day or less. It is one of the wonders of modern times what this one man now nearing his eightieth year has accomplished for his country. With a strong hand he has established law and order. By the encouragement of industry and the development of the natural resources of the country, he has won for Mexico a place among the nations. Our neighbor on the south, like that on the north, is one of whom we have reason to be proud and who we may well imitate in much that applies to progress and civilization.

My Hair Ran Away

Don't have a falling out with your hair. It might leave you! Then what? That would mean thin, scraggly, uneven, rough hair. Keep your hair at home! Fasten it tightly to your scalp! You can easily do it with Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is something more than a simple hair dressing. It is a hair medicine, a hair tonic, a hair food.

The best kind of a testimonial—"Sold for over sixty years."

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of

Ayer's SARSAPARILLA. PILLS. CHERRY PECTORAL.

Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also urnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable.

Beams & Baker.

JUNE

0222
L 903

A Letter

From Far-Off Montana.

The following interesting letter was written by K. D. Peterson, who formerly lived near Newville, to Mack Leighty.

GREAT FALLS, MONTANA,
MAY 12, 1908.

M. E. LEIGHTY AND FAMILY:-

How are you and all the folks? I hope o. k. so am I. Well not only to fulfill my promise to you, but it affords me great pleasure to write to you of my whereabouts and welfare

Well, I stopped off at Chicago and visited some relatives there for a week, when Bro. Geo. N. Blaker joined me. After taking in a few of the sights such as the Union Stock Yards, a couple of the packing houses, Marshall Fields & Co., and a few other places of interest, we started for the west, taking the C. & G. W. for Minneapolis, Minn. We were there a couple of days. We called at the home of Charles Wartenbee, but he was not at home, so we did not get to see him. We took in some places of interest such as the Washburn Crosby Milling Co., also the Pillsbury Milling Co. The International Stock Food Co., which was a little more than we were used to seeing every day around Newville. Then after our necks were tired rubbering at the tall buildings, we went to the Trocadero Theatre. We left on the Great Northern Ry. for Montana, passing through the Dakotas after night, so did not get to see much of them. We arrived at Havre, Mont., and there changed cars for Great Falls and from there to Allbright, where we met our friend and neighbor, E. D. Webster, Found him o. k. and looking fine. We stayed all night and went to work the next morning in the quarry, getting out stone for the smelter at Great Falls, which receives from twenty to twenty-five cars per day from here.

This is a very picturesque place, being in a canyon in the Little Belt Mountains, 3,400 feet above sea level. The Little Belt Creek runs down through the canyon, the water being the best I ever tasted. A branch of the Great Northern Ry. also runs through the canyon. The mountains are about 800 feet on either side.

We worked there about ten days, but as I am a little heavy for such light work as quarring stone, and the boss observed it, too, so at his earnest request I called at the shack and called for my time, with the intention of not working any more until he took back what he said. But as Bro. Blaker made good he stayed two days longer. I came to Great Falls and secured a position the same day with the Royal Milling Co., a branch of the Washburn Crosby Milling Co. of Minneapolis, where I am still working at this writing. Have a fine job with not much work, and as you know that part strikes me very forcibly. Bro. Blaker is here now and works for the same company.

The Royal Mills are of 600 bbl. capacity per day and runs day and night with three shifts of 8 hours each. All work here is 8 hrs. per day and the least wages paid for any kind of labor is $3.00. Carpenters and joiners get $4.50; painters, $4.50; stone and brick layers $7.50 and at the smelter, which employs 1600 men, pay from $3 to $10 per 8 hour shift. But, of course, living is in proportion to wages, board runs from $28 to $35 per month.

Great Falls is a beautiful place and I am going to have my family here soon. The town is situated on the Missouri river and the falls, (hence the name of town) is 92 feet and a beautiful place it is. I have sent you a few pictures of the scenes nearby. The town has a population of 18,000 inhabitants; over twenty miles of electric railways; a number of manufacturing and other business enterprises. The water power is great here. It is developed and used for every power needed. At present it is used in operating the Boston & Montana Consolidated Copper and Silver Mining Co's; smelters and refineries; the Royal Milling Co's flour mills and elevators, which combined has a capacity of 1,000,000 bushels of grain annually; also the electric railway and lighting of the city and a number of small factories. There is said to be 28,000 horse power of the river harnessed up and claimed to be 300,000 yet unharnessed.

From the mills we can see the Rockies, Little Belt, Tiger Butte and the High Woods mountains, so far they are covered with snow, I am told the snow lays on the highest parts all summer. The weather is fine here sunshine nearly all the time. It has rained here now for about 36 hrs. and everybody is satisfied, it is the first rain in forty days.

For fear I weary you with these few lines I will close now with best wishes to all.

I am
K. D. PETERSON.

Are You Sick?

Much sickness is due to a weak nervous system. Yours may be. If it is, you cannot get well until you restore nerve strength Your nervous system is nature's power house; the organs of your body get their power from it. If the power is not there, the action of the organs is weak, and disease (sickness) follows. Dr. Miles' Nervine cures the sick because it soothes the irritated and tired nerves and gives the system a chance to recuperate. Try it, and see if you do not quickly feel its beneficial effect.

"I was given up to die by a leading doctor. Got one of Dr. Miles books and found that Dr. Miles' Nervine fit my case. From the very first dose I took I got better. I am better now than I have been for years, and do all my own work on the farm. That's what Dr. Miles' Nervine has done for me, and I am glad to recommend it to others."

JOHN JAMES, Riverton, Nebr.

Your druggist sells Dr. Miles' Nervine, and we authorize him to return price of first bottle (only) if it fails to benefit you.

Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind

Undertaking a Specialty.

Ella Kinsey takes charge of all funerals. Calls answered day or night Prices reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

Phone No. Office 37-2. Residence 37-3

Immense Area of Canada.

Canada is as large as 30 United Kingdoms. She has received over half a million immigrants in ten years.

The Best Pills Ever Sold.

"After doctoring 15 years for chronic indigestion, and spending over two hundred dollars, nothing has done me as much good as Dr. King's New Life Pills. I consider them the best pills ever sold," writes B. F. Aycue, of Ingleside, N.C. Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store. 25c.

Local News Items

Get your potato crates of the Noble Hoop Co., St. Joe. Ind.

Mrs. Cora Osborn and three children are visiting with her mother, Mrs. Vincent Dilley.

Miss Gladys Barney visited several days last week at the home of Beeks Erick in Ft. Wayne.

The old settler's meeting at Auburn, last Thursday, was largely attended. At noon 302 had registered.

The ladies of the M P church will have a social in Kinsey's furniture room, Saturday evening, June 27.

Samuel Hamm, who was sick with pneumonia, has had a relapse and his condition is again serious.—Clipper.

Miss Edith Walter of Harlan was a guest of her cousin Miss Edna Walter a few days the fore part of the week.

Herman Reasoner and wife of Columbus, O., are visiting with his parents, Chalmer Reasoner and wife, east of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood and daughter Fay, of near Auburn, were guests of Geo. Swineford and wife, a few days last week.

Mrs Hannah Ulm and daughter Rozy returned Saturday, after a four weeks visit with the former's children at Springfield, O.

Frank Barney has sold his property on 5th street, which he purchased from Frank Philley nearly a year ago, to Frank Baker and wife.

Harry Hathaway, wife and baby of Waterloo, visited over Sunday with Henry Hathaway and family. Harry played ball with St. Joe, Saturday.

Miss Ida Widney of Adrian, Mich., came Friday to spend her vacation with her parents, Chas. Widney and wife. She has been teaching school and will return to the same place this fall.

Herman Brown of Auburn has resigned as principal of the St. Joe High School for our next term, owing to him launching in business at Auburn. Howard Ely of Fayette, O., has been hired to teach the High school, providing he secures a license.

The Art Portland Cement company, at Kimmel organized three years ago, was placed in the hands of a reciever, Thursday by the Noble circuit court. The Provident Trust company, of Columbia City, was named as the receiver and it is expected that the affairs will be wound up rapidly.

The B. & O. has opened up Wawasee station with an agent and an operator. Mr. Lambert is the station agent and Mr. Mager is the operator. It is evident that the road expects a heavy business at this station during the coming season and have prepared to handle it.—Public Press.—Glen Wineland is also working as operator.

Were it not for this insatiable greed prevalent in some people to possess everything in sight, and to discountenance everything that does not directly benefit themselves, there would be more homes in this country and less people roaming around in search of a scanty living while these monsters of greed are accumulating, hoarding and denying themselves many things actually necessary to their comfort to the end that they may satisfy their covetous wishes, which are so grasping that nothing ordinary can satisfy them. By day and by night and throughout their entire existence their one thought is for self and accumulation, and to such an extent do people ride this disagreeable hobby, that they utterly obliterate every good quality that they have started in life with, never stopping to think that it is a sin to covet, and that their life at best is but a short span until they will be compelled, however reluctantly, to give up their dearly secured possessions to those who will not even be grateful to them for their grasping efforts in obtaining them.

Just Received.

Car Load Wabash Portland Cement.
Consignment of Gasoline Vapor Stoves.

I Keep on Hands

Hydrated Ground Lime
Stoves and Ranges Cooking Utensils
Steel Goods of all kinds.

All Kinds of Roofing:

Best quality Red Cedar Shingles
Gravel Roofing Asbestos, Rubber, Felt and Galvanized Roofing.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT
Linseed, Automobile and Lubricating Oils, Gasoline, Etc.

GLASS, SASH AND DOORS.

Quality Right. Prices Right.

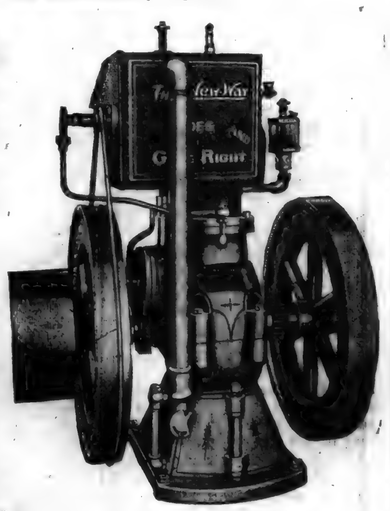
D. J. Baker.

INTERESTING TO UP-TO-DATE FARMERS.

What you need is a reliable gasoline engine to do your work and increase your profits.

The "NEW WAY" Engine is conceded by Mechanical Engineers and men of high authority to be the most perfect engine in mechanical design and construction manufactured.

No water tanks or water. Cooled perfectly by air.



SO SIMPLE YOUR BOY CAN RUN IT.

The next time you are in town, just drop in and examine the 3 to 3 1-2 H. P "NEW WAY" engine on our floor, If you don't say it is the best engine you have ever seen or heard of, we will be greatly mistaken.

Engine can be seen running at The News Office, St. Joe, Ind.

Eugene Hubbard, Butler, Ind.
Exclusive Agent.

Lessie Meek, Geo. Ridgway and Walter James have joined the U. S. Navy.

Miss Gladys Morris of Ft. Wayne, spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Woodcox.

Special rates on ice delivered to all parts of the city, at any time and any amount. F. R. LEIGHTY.

J. B. Shilling is a candidate for the office of recorder on the Republican ticket. Mr. Shilling is worthy of the nomination. He served one term as trustee of Concord township, filling that office with credit to himself and the satisfaction of all concerned.

Little Chas. Jenkins, son of Ern Jenkins, caught the first finger on his right hand in a cog wheel on a feed grinder, tearing the flesh pretty badly. This happened Saturday and at this writing the little finger is getting along nicely.

Last week THE NEWS printed some fine programs for the Newville township commencement, held in the Christian church at Newville, on last evening. The graduates were:-Guy Platter, Maud Platter, Letha M. Enzor, Mary Strong and Inez F. Magginis. The program was interesting, being interspersed with music and recitations.

Go to the Noble Hoop Co. St. Joe, Ind., for your potato crates.

Merritt Walter of Auburn, was the guest of his parents, B. F. Walter and family, last week.

G. A. Bassett returned Tuesday of last week, from a visit with his brother at Goldwater, Mich.

If you are in the market for a hay loader call and see CURIE'S.

Mrs. Z. T. Kagey of Auburn, visited a few days last week, with her son, Chas. Kagey and family.

Ladies', misses' and children's white canvas oxfords your choice 98c per pair. BIG FOUR STORE.

Mrs. S. W. Tustison and daughter, and Ralph Patterson visited in the family of M. E. Olds at Bluffton, the past few days. They attended the Bluffton High school commencement exercises on Monday evening, Archie Olds being one of the graduates.

Money to loan on farms at 5 per cent interest. Payable on or before 10 years. Partial payments allowed. Call on or write us. Brown & Rhoads, Lawyers, City National Bank Building, Auburn, Ind.

U223
L 903

JUNE

After suffering for seven years, this woman was restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Read her letter.

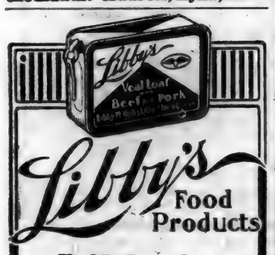
Mrs. Sallie French, of Paucaunla, Ind. Ter., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I had female troubles for seven years—was all run-down, and so nervous I could not do anything. The doctors treated me for different troubles but did me no good. While in this condition I wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am now strong and well."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about your sickness you do not understand. She will treat your letter in confidence and advise you free. No woman ever regretted writing her, and because of her vast experience she has helped thousands. Address, Lynn, Mass.



Libby's Food Products

Libby's Veal Loaf

is made of the best selected meat, scientifically prepared and evenly baked by damp heat in Libby's Great White Kitchen. The natural flavor is all retained. When removed from the tin it's ready to serve.

It can be quickly prepared in a variety of styles and nothing makes a better summer meal.

In the home, at the camp, and for the picnic Libby's Veal Loaf is a satisfying dish, full of food value that brings contentment.

Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago.

Paxtine

TOILET ANTISEPTIC

Keeps the breath, teeth, mouth and body antiseptically clean and free from unhealthy germ-life and disagreeable odors, which water, soap and tooth preparations alone cannot do. A germicidal, disinfecting and deodorizing toilet requisite of exceptional excellence and economy. Invaluable for inflamed eyes, throat and nasal and uterine catarrh. At drug and toilet stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.

Large Trial Sample

WITH "HEALTH AND BEAUTY" BOOK SENT FREE

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., Boston, Mass.

THOUGHT CHILD WOULD DIE.

Whole Body Covered with Cuban Itch—Cuticura Remedies Cured at Cost of Seventy-Five Cents.

"My little boy, when only an infant of three months, caught the Cuban Itch. Sores broke out from his head to the bottom of his feet. He would itch and claw himself and cry all the time. He could not sleep day or night, and a light dress is all he could wear. I called one of our best doctors to treat him, but he seemed to get worse. He suffered so terribly that my husband said he believed he would have to die. I had almost given up hope when a lady friend told me to try the Cuticura Remedies. I used the Cuticura Soap and applied the Cuticura Ointment and he at once fell into a sleep, and he slept with ease for the first time since two months. After three applications the sores began to dry up, and in just two weeks from the day I commenced to use the Cuticura Remedies my baby was entirely well. The treatment only cost me 75c, and I would have gladly paid $100 if I could not have got it cheaper. I feel safe in saying that the Cuticura Remedies saved his life. He is now a boy of five years. Mrs. Zana Miller, Union City, R. F. D. No. 1, Branch Co., Mich., May 17, 1906."

"Mrs. Pinkham, of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., together with her son, Arthur W. Pinkham and the younger members of her family, sailed for Naples on May 20 for a three months' tour throughout Europe and a much-needed vacation."

Loss of life in the mines of the United States is far greater than in Europe.

Do You Eat Pie?

If not you are missing half the pleasure of life. Just order from your grocer a few packages of "OUR-PIE" and learn how easy it is to make Lemon, Chocolate and Custard pies that will please you. If your grocer won't supply you, go to one who will. Put up by D-Zerta Food Co., Rochester, N. Y.

The St. Gothard tunnel cost $700 per square yard.

Clear, white clothes are a sign that the housekeeper uses Red Cross Ball Blue. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

Only Night Air at Night.

Speaking of Florence Nightingale and her efforts to keep the world healthy, it seems pertinent to make special mention of her mission in behalf of the open window at night. In the early years of her labors much unintelligent opposition to this method of ventilation because of the supposed harmfulness of the night air was expressed, but Miss Nightingale had one stock argument in support of her position, it being the question, "What air shall we breathe at night but night air?" It was unanswerable from her opponents' point of view, even if it did not always convert them, but it did lead a countless number into saner ways of living and along the way to the present methods of treating tuberculosis.—Boston Transcript.

Idea of a Future.

"You won't go to heaven if you work on Sunday like that," said her pious friend to the little grass widow who was peacefully doing a square of embroidery on the Sabbath.

"I don't want to go to heaven," said the little grass widow. "I am afraid I might meet some of my husbands there. Of course, the chances are pretty much against it, but I don't want to take any risks. I'd like a little half way place where I could be sure they wouldn't be, if I had my way, but it would have to be a place where there were no other women and a dearth of wine and song."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

FULLY NOURISHED.

Grape-Nuts a Perfectly Balanced Food.

No chemist's analysis of Grape-Nuts can begin to show the real value of the food—the practical value as shown by personal experience.

It is a food that is perfectly balanced, supplies the needed elements of brain and nerves in all stages of life from the infant, through the strenuous times of active middle life, and is a comfort and support in old age.

"For two years I have used Grape-Nuts with milk and a little cream, for breakfast. I am comfortably hungry for my dinner at noon.

"I use little meat, plenty of vegetables and fruit, in season, for the noon meal, and if tired at tea time, take Grape-Nuts alone and feel perfectly nourished.

"Nerve and brain power, and memory are much improved since using Grape-Nuts. I am over sixty and weigh 155 lbs. My son and husband seeing how I had improved, are now using Grape-Nuts.

"My son, who is a traveling man, eats nothing for breakfast but Grape-Nuts and a glass of milk. An aunt, over 70, seems fully nourished on Grape-Nuts and cream." "There's a Reason."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

The Popular Pulpit

THE DUTY OF THINKING.

By Henry F. Cope.

"Think on these things."—Phill. iv., 8.

Prejudice is the barrier to any degree of power, to any kind of progress. No matter how sincerely you may hold your views, if they are held in willful, determined exclusion of any other possible views your sincerity will furnish no cloak to shield you from the consequences of your ignorance and bigotry.

If there is any such being as the devil, certainly his master stroke was executed when he persuaded men to lock up their minds and induced them to believe that it was a sin to think, led them to conceptions of religious truth, as something fixed and immutable, and then split up the religious world into warring camps, each fighting for its own fixed views.

At first, when one confronts religious prejudice he is inclined to ask, "What is the use of it all? Why worry at all about doctrines and creeds?" Yet, while philosophy is not the most important thing, it is to life and action as root to fruit. As a man thinks in his heart regarding the great questions of destiny and duty, so is he in his life.

It is of no little importance, then, that there should be right, clear thinking. In fact, the habit of clear thinking is of greater value than the results of such thinking when formulated in creeds or doctrines. It is not only a question as to what you are thinking about and what your conclusions may be; there is the deeper question whether you have the energy and courage to think through your problems at all.

In religion, as everywhere else, the need is that men should think deeply and thoroughly. Intellectual cowardice and mental sloth are serious foes of high character. Yet religionists are still often ready to hurl their denunciations at those who have the temerity to think about sacred subjects.

Intellectual stagnation and sloth frequently calls itself spiritual fidelity. They who are too lazy to step out and conquer new territory are busy holding the fort, defending doctrines long since outgrown; instead of fighting the foes of all mankind they are hurling adjectives and anathemas at those who have disturbed their mental slumbers by daring to think the thoughts of the infinite in this new day.

It is to be feared that there are self-appointed defenders of the faith who, if they ever arrive in paradise, will bring nothing but their lungs along, all other affairs, such as heart and brain, having perished from disuse. Yet today such blind, unthinking mouths would have men believe that they are the oracles of the Most High.

There never has been a time when there were no heretics. Leaders always must walk alone while the mob abuses them for their temerity. The world never has been entirely without those who saw that each day brought some larger light. But the declarations of this still stirs those who love darkness better than light to these tactics of persecution that are as old as religion itself.

Every man must summon up the energy to do some of his own thinking and the courage to stand by that which he thus obtains for himself. There can be no living faith without freedom in thinking. We need not only to insist on this right for ourselves but to maintain and protect the right of all men to liberty of conscience, to discover and hold their own beliefs.

No man can be a true man who is afraid of the truth. No religion can endure long that flees from investigation. Only the friends of darkness and those who love its deeds fear the light. The foes of religion are its friends who would put faith into fixed forms, who fear the future's larger life.

Religion is the art of living in the light of infinite relationships. Intelligence is a means of knowing these relationships. What are we better than the beasts if we do not reach out with mind and heart to know all that may be known of this way of life? What are we better than broken spirited slaves if we dare not look up and out each for ourselves and see this goodly universe and wondrous life of all as the Lord of all has planned it?

IN THE BATTLE OF LIFE.

By Rev. George Daniel Hedley.

The sword of the Lord and of Gideon.—Judges vii. 20.

It is the peculiar battle cry of that still more peculiar battle of long ago.

Gideon had been busy threshing wheat for his father when suddenly he heard the voice of the Lord saying: "Go, and thou shalt save Israel." He felt very small and insignificant and held back.

Finally he realized that, although he was only Gideon, yet with the Lord of Hosts as his might and his power the weakness of man might be turned into strength if the cause be righteous and the ambition unselfish. So Gideon obeyed, for the Midianites were threatening God's people, and he blew a trumpet and called together all the mighty men of valor, and to each of the 300 fearless and alert soldiers who stood his test he handed, not a shining sword, not a glittering spear, nor even a bow and arrow, but a trumpet and empty pitcher and a lamp. Softly but firmly they crept into the enemy's camp, and at the proper signal they smashed their pitchers and waved their lamps and shouted through their trumpets: "The sword of the Lord and of Gideon!" And the Midianites, terrified beyond measure, fled in wild confusion.

But why was not the battle cry merely "The sword of the Lord?" Why should be added or even considered in the same connection the phrase "and of Gideon?" Was not that rather presumptuous? No. The last part of that battle cry not only indicates no vain arrogance, but it is absolutely essential to the victory. Gideon in pulpit or pew, in his office or his home, whatever his calling may be, business, profession or domestic, is not only tolerated by God, but is vitally necessary to God's plans. When God wishes to accomplish things among men, he uses men for the work.

The struggle of God and Gideon in the world is one and the same struggle for righteous advancement. As soon as we realize this, making God's fight our fight, realizing that our victories are His victories and our defeats His defeats, religion becomes something active and inspiring and our daily labors become noble. And as we go forth to life's battle, deeming it more than worth while if in our small way we can overcome even one of God's enemies, behold, we find that our armor is a plain business suit covering a character determined and brave and thoughtful, and the sword of the Lord is no glittering or gleaming weapon, but a common lamp or pitcher or such tools as we use in our home or our office or our shop every day. And the greatness and goodness of life depends upon whether we look upon all we possess as our own alone or as our own for Him to be wielded by us in His battle.

May His shield of love be over our heads in temptation, and may His sword, which is the living sword, never have its edge turned in our hands by vanity or fear or neglect.

SHORT METER SERMONS.

The life of a saint is a living sermon.

Prudence is a good form of prayer for Providence.

More good men go to the bad in good times than in bad.

The best way to fight sin is by being friend to the sinner.

It's slow work climbing to heaven on smooth words.

Moral muscle does not come from mush and moonshine.

It is always easier to promise butter than it is to provide bread.

The price of finding truth is being willing to pay anything for it.

It is only the empty bag that needs many props to maintain its dignity.

When religion means closing the eyes it never means keeping the mouth shut.

One of the most dangerous rogues is he who is so busy regulating others he has no time to do the right himself.

Many a man who says he has rational difficulties in religion means that he has difficulty in being rational in religion.

Hymns You Ought to Know

The Night Watches.

Now the day is over,
Night is drawing nigh
Shadows of the evening
Steal across the sky.

Jesus grant the weary
Calm and sweet repose;
With thy tenderest blessing
May our eyelids close.

Grant to little children
Visions bright of thee;
Guard the sailors tossing
On the deep, blue sea.

Comfort every sufferer
Watching late in pain;
Those who plan some evil
From their sins restrain.

Through the long night watches
May thine angels spread
Their white wings above me,
Watching round my bed.

When the morning wakens,
Then may I arise
Pure and fresh, and sinless
In thy holy eyes.

Flashes of Fun

Stranger—This village boasts of a choral society, doesn't it? Resident—No; we just endure it with resignation.—London Tit-Bits.

Her Husband—Oh, I wish I had never learned to play poker. His Wife—You mean you wish you had learned, don't you?—Chicago Daily News.

"A woman's 'No' means 'Yes.'" "You think so?" "I know so. Don't you?" "No; I am all over that illusion. I am married."—Nashville American.

"That new preacher you have is a pretty wideawake young man, isn't he?" "Yep. Keeps right on preachin' when everybody else is asleep."—Cleveland Leader.

Nell—A girl shouldn't marry a man till she knows all about him. Belle—Good gracious! If she knew all about him she wouldn't marry him.—Philadelphia Record.

"Why do they have consultations of physicians, pa?" "Sometimes one doctor can think of something to operate for that hasn't occurred to the other."—The Smart Set.

Tody—Jennie tells me young Woodby proposed to her last night. Viola—I don't think I know him. Is he well off? Tody—He certainly is. She refused him.—London Tit-Bits.

Constable—Come along; you've got to have a bath. Tramp—A barf! What, wiv water? Constable—Yes, of course. Tramp—Couldn't you manage is wiv one o'them vacuum cleaners?

Mrs. Gramercy—I hear the customs authorities seized all the finery you brought over from Paris. Will it be a total loss? Mrs. Park—Why, no dear; I got my name in the papers.—Puck.

"Why did you shake your fist at the Speaker?" "Well," replied the Congressman, "I didn't want the whole session to slip by without my having made a motion of some kind."—Philadelphia Ledger.

"Who is the old file over there with the comic coat, the stovepipe hat and the baggy-kneed trousers?" "That's the professor who is lecturing on the absurdities of woman's dress."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"Bridget," said Mrs. Grouchy, "I don't like the looks of that man who called to see you last night." "Well, well," replied Bridget, "ain't it funny, ma'am? He said the same thing about you."—Philadelphia Press.

"I never object to fair criticism," said the pompous young actor. "What you object to, I suppose," said the critic, "is the understanding most people have of the meaning of the word 'fair.'"—Chicago Record-Herald.

On reaching a certain spot the driver turned around on his seat and observed to the passengers: "From this point the road is only accessible to mules and donkeys; I must therefore ask the gentlemen to get out and proceed on foot."

"Lady," said Meandering Mike, "I don't blame dat dog of yours for tryin' to bite me." "Why not?" "Because it shows his intelligence. De last time I came dis way I handed him a piece of pie you gave me."—Washington (D. C.) Star.

Visitor—And how is Pat this morning? Mrs. Patrick O'Grady—Sure, yer honor, it's still alive he is. Visitor—Did you give him the soup I sent? Mrs. Patrick O'Grady—Well, no, sir. Father Phelan said it would only be after delayin' him.—London Sketch.

"Ah, yes," said Senator Smugg, in a self-satisfied way. "I got my start in life by clerking in a humble grocery store at a salary of $5 per week, and managed to save money on that." "But," replied the astute reporter, "that, of course, was before cash registers were invented."

Brown—About the greatest man who ever lived in this community was Jenkins—broad-minded, big-hearted and brilliant—and yet he died with all his talents and goodness unsuspected. Jones—How did you come to find out about it? Brown—I married his widow.—London (Eng.) Tit-Bits.

"Ladies," called the president of the Afternoon Whist Club, "ladies, it has been moved and seconded that there shall be no conversation at the card tables. What shall we do with the motion?" "I suggest that we discuss it while we play," piped a shrill voice from table A. And the suggestion was adopted.

Publican—And how do you like being married, John? John—Don't like it at all. Publican—Why, what's the matter wi' she, John? John—Well, first thing in the morning it's money; when I goes 'ome to my dinner it's money again; and at supper it's the same. Nothing but money, money, money! Publican—Well, I never! What do she do wi' all that money? John—I dunno. I ain't given her any yet.—Punch.

JUNE

L 903

YOU'RE TOO THIN.

Even Slight Catarrhal Derangements of the Stomach Produce Acid Fermentation of the Food.

It's Stomach Catarrh

Some people are thin and always remain thin, from temperamental reasons. Probably in such cases nothing can be done to change this personal peculiarity.

But there are a large number of people who get thin, or remain thin, who naturally would be plump and fleshy but for some digestive derangement.

Thin people lack in adipose tissue.

Adipose tissue is chiefly composed of fat.

Fat is derived from the oily constituents of food.

The fat-making foods are called by the physiologist, hydrocarbons. This class of foods are not digested in the stomach at all. They are digested in the duodenum, the division of the alimentary canal just below the stomach.

The digestion of fat is mainly, if not wholly, the work of the pancreatic juice. This juice is of alkaline reaction, and is rendered inert by the addition of acid. A hyperacidity of the digestive fluids of the stomach passing down into the duodenum, destroys the pancreatic fluid for digestive purposes. Therefore, the fats are not digested or emulsified, and the system is deprived of its due proportion of oily constituents. Hence, the patient grows thin.

The beginning of the trouble is a catarrhal condition of the stomach which causes hyperacidity of the gastric juices. This hyperacidity is caused by fermentation of food in the stomach. When the food is taken into the stomach, if the process of digestion does not begin immediately, acid fermentation will take place. This creates a hyperacidity of the stomach juices which in their turn prevent the pancreatic digestion of the oils, and the emaciation results.

A dose of Peruna before each meal hastens the stomach digestion. By hurrying digestion, Peruna prevents fermentation of the contents of the stomach, and the pancreatic juice is thus preserved in its normal state. It then only remains for the patient to eat a sufficient amount of fat-forming foods, and the thinness disappears and plumpness takes its place.

In Which Capacity?

Physician—Mr. Hightower, you smoke too many cigars.

Mr. Hightower—Doctor, are you telling me that as my medical adviser, or as my creditor?

In a Pinch, Use Allen's Foot-Ease. A powder to shake into your shoes. It rests the feet. Cures Corns, Bunions, Swollen, Sore, Hot, Callous, Aching, Sweating feet and Ingrowing Nails. Allen's Foot-Ease makes new or tight shoes easy. Sold by all Druggists and Shoe Stores, 25c. Sample mailed FREE. Address Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Baseball and Patriotism.

"Johnny, what's a patriot?"

"A boy who'd radder miss seein' de game dan go in on a ball knocked over de fence by de visitin' team."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

FITS St. Vitus' Dance and all Nervous Diseases Permanently Cured by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Send for $2.00 trial bottle and treatise. DR. R. H. KLINE, Ld., 931 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

The sap of the birch tree is convertible into wine, spirit or vinegar.

Habitual Constipation

May be permanently overcome by proper personal efforts with the assistance of the one truly beneficial laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, which enables one to form regular habits daily so that assistance to nature may be gradually dispensed with when no longer needed as the best of remedies, when required, are to assist nature and not to supplant the natural functions, which must depend ultimately upon proper nourishment, proper efforts, and right living generally. To get its beneficial effects, always buy the genuine

Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna manufactured by the

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. ONLY

SOLD BY ALL LEADING DRUGGISTS

one size only, regular price 50¢ per Bottle

Get your Letter Paper and Envelopes printed at this office. ... ... We can give you the

EAGLE LINEN

PAPER and ENVELOPES

It is fine and will suit you. Try it.

FARMERS LOOK. West Texas Farm Lands, on the famous Knox Prairie. For description of country, and price of lands, write W. M. Sandifer, Knox City, Texas.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

Next to the immediate stimulant from the lower costs established for various steel makes, the most important favorable development was the government forecast of the early crops and its magnificent promise under normal conditions of agricultural enrichment. Business generally reflects a strengthened tone and the outlook has a brighter aspect, although the volume of new demands in manufacturing branches does not yet show the expansion expected. Where heavy commitments are involved definite action is withheld until after the deliberations of the Republican convention next week. Encouragement is depended upon from that source in aiding recovery from trade depression. It is desirable that indorsement should be placed upon the effort to secure more adequate waterways and minimum freight cost for the promotion of this city's commerce.

Seasonable weather greatly aided the activity in retail dealings, and the demand for men and women's apparel, housewares and vacation goods made a gratifying advance. Merchandise stocks have undergone sharp reduction, and this has caused frequent replenishments for both local and country needs.

Mercantile collections throughout the interior occasion little trouble, and the record of defaults maintains the recently noted betterment.

Failures reported in the Chicago district numbered 21, against 22 last week and 14 a year ago. Those with liabilities over $5,000 numbered 8, against 5 last week and 3 in 1907.—Dun's Review of Trade.

NEW YORK.

Weather, crop and trade reports display irregularity. It has been too wet and cool in the Southwest and Northwest for best retail trade and crop developments, but east of the Mississippi river conditions have been better and more favorable reports come from the latter sections. In wholesale lines evidences of improvement in fall buying are seen, but purchasers are generally cautious, while sales for immediate shipment are confined to strictly filling-in requirements. Political and crop uncertainties seem likely to influence distant purchases for some time to come, and trade is hardly better than quiet to fair the country over.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending June 11 number 253, which compares with 225 last week, 161 in the like week of 1907, 170 in 1906, 175 in 1905 and 181 in 1904. In Canada there were 30 business failures, as against 32 last week and 22 in the same week of 1907—Bradstreet's Commercial Report.

THE MARKETS

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $8.40; hogs, prime heavy, $4.00 to $5.75; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2, 92c to 93c; corn, No. 2, 66c to 67c; oats, standard, 49c to 50c; rye, No. 2, 78c to 79c; hay, timothy, $8.00 to $12.50; prairie, $8.00 to $11.50; butter, choice creamery, 20c to 23c; eggs, fresh, 12c to 16c; potatoes, new, per bushel, $1.18 to $1.25.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $7.25; hogs, good to choice heavy, $3.50 to $5.70; sheep, common to prime, $3.00 to $4.25; wheat, No. 2, 90c to 91c; corn, No. 2 white, 68c to 69c; oats, No. 2 white, 51c to 53c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $4.50 to $7.90; hogs, $4.00 to $5.65; sheep, $3.00 to $4.90; wheat, No. 2, 95c to 96c; corn, No. 2, 70c to 71c; oats, No. 2, 51c to 52c; rye, No. 2, 79c to 80c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.75; hogs, $4.00 to $5.65; sheep, $3.00 to $4.35; wheat, No. 2, 91c to 92c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 72c to 73c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 53c to 54c; rye, No. 2, 84c to 86c.

Detroit—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.00; hogs, $4.00 to $5.60; sheep, $2.50 to $4.50; wheat, No. 2, 92c to 93c; corn, No. 3 yellow, 73c to 76c; oats, No. 3 white, 54c to 55c; rye, No. 2, 83c to 84c.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, $1.07 to $1.10; corn, No. 3, 70c to 71c; oats, standard, 51c to 52c; rye, No. 1, 77c to 79c; barley, No. 2, 59c to 60c; pork, mess, $13.72.

Buffalo—Cattle, choice shipping steers, $4.00 to $7.75; hogs, fair to choice, $4.00 to $5.90; sheep, common to good mixed, $4.00 to $5.80; lambs, fair to choice, $5.00 to $6.00.

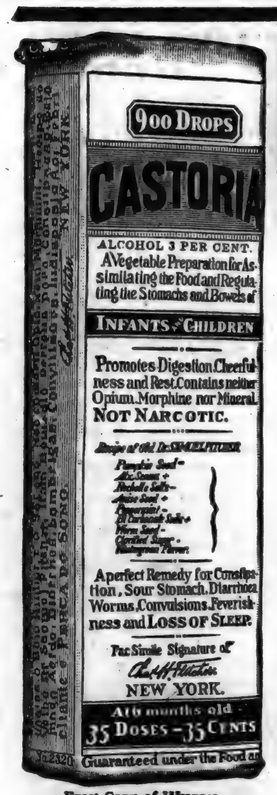
New York—Cattle, $4.00 to $7.75; hogs, $3.50 to $6.10; sheep, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2 red, 97c to 98c; corn, No. 2, 76c to 77c; oats, natural white, 58c to 60c; butter, creamery, 21c to 24c; eggs, western, 13c to 16c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, 90c to 91c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 71c to 72c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 52c to 53c; rye, No. 2, 81c to 83c; clover seed, October, $7.37.

FACTS FOR FARMERS.

From Minnesota, the Dakotas and Wisconsin crop reports are all favorable. Iowa farmers are complaining of too much rain.

Near Alma, Wis., John Grimes of Clear Lake and J. W. Erschern, with a pack of wolf hounds, killed 41 wolves in three weeks.



Exact Copy of Wrapper.

CAST

The Kind You Have Always B in use for over 30 years, h and ha
Chas. H. Fletcher sonal s
Allow
All Counterfeits, Imitations
Experiments that trifle with Infants and Children—Exper

What Is C

Castoria is a harmless subs goric, Drops and Soothing contains neither Opium, M substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS
Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

In Use For Over 30 Years

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

Wouldn't Tip It.

A Toronto man who visited England last summer appears to think that country the champion tip taker. He says: "Well, I had tipped every man from the swell gent who seemed to own the house of commons down to the hireling who gummed the wrong labels on my luggage, and I went into the waiting room on the landing stage at Liverpool to wash my hands of everything English, and what do you think stared me in the face when I had finished? A placard saying, 'Please tip the basin.' I'll be hanged if I did!"

VETERAN OF THREE WARS.

A Pioneer of Colorado and Nebraska.

Matthias Campbell, veteran of the Civil War and two Indian wars, and a pioneer of Colorado, now living at 218 East Nebraska street, Blair, Neb., says: "I had such pains in my back for a long time that I could not turn in bed, and at times there was an almost total stoppage of the urine. My wife and I have both used Doan's Kidney Pills for what doctors diagnosed as advanced kidney troubles, and both of us have been completely cured."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

One ounce of eggs will produce 39,000 silk worms.

Pettit's Eye Salve for 25c.

Relieves tired eyes, quickly stops eye aches, congested, inflamed and common sore eyes. All druggists or Howard Bros., Buffalo, N. Y.

Street noises are regulated to a nicety in Berlin.

Do Your Clothes Look Yellow?

If so, use Red Cross Ball Blue. It will make them white as snow. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

Instrumental Music.

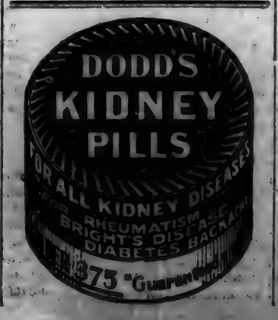
That a word may convey vastly different meanings when differently used is amusingly illustrated by a story from the Brooklyn Life.

"Have ye heard me daughter Mona sing lately?" asked Mr. Dugan.

"Both lately and early," said Mr. Hogan. "'Tis the fine insthrumental music she do make."

"Ye ignoramus! Sure, singing ain't insthrumental music!" indignantly replied Mr. Dugan.

"Keegan told me it was insthrumental in causing him to move two blocks away from yer house."



75c. FOR 25c.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE never sells for less than 25c. a copy. But we want you to know how good it is. Send us 25c. for a trial trip, and we will mail you three issues of this great magazine, containing three first-class complete novels, sixteen strong stories, fifty pages of new humor, and fifteen remarkable articles. Send to-day. Our current issue is fine.

E EAST WASHINGTON SQUARE PHILADELPHIA - - PENNA.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

Illustration Showing Mixed Farming Scene in

WESTERN CANADA

Some of the choicest lands for grain growing, stock raising and mixed farming in the new districts of Saskatchewan and Alberta have recently been Opened for Settlement under the

Revised Homestead Regulations

Entry may now be made by proxy (on certain conditions), by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader. Thousands of homesteads of 160 acres each are thus now easily obtainable in these great grain-growing, stock-raising and mixed farming sections.

There you will find healthful climate, good neighbors, churches for family worship, schools for your children, good laws, splendid crops, and railroads convenient to market.

Entry fee in each case is $10.00. For pamphlet, "Last Best West," particulars as to rates, routes, best time to go and where to locate, apply to W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or W. H. Rogers, 3d Floor Traction Terminal Building, Indianapolis, Ind., and H. M. Williams, Room 30, Law Building, Toledo, Ohio, Authorized Government Agents.

Please say where you saw this advertisement.

Invest $5 monthly in Oklahoma farm lands. Agents wanted. Write for particulars. C. W. Deming Inv. Co., Tulsa, Okla.

If afflicted with sore Eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

Save The Package Tops

and Soap Wrappers from

"20-MULE-TEAM" BORAX

Products and Exchange them Free

For Valuable Premiums

40 page Illustrated Free catalogue of 1,000 articles. Address PACIFIC COAST BORAX CO., CHICAGO, ILL.

Local Agents Wanted, Write for Money Making Plan

Grandfather's Cure for Constipation

GREAT medicine,—the Sawbuck. Two hours a day sawing wood will keep anyone's Bowels regular.

No need of pills, Cathartics, Castor Oil, nor "Physic," if you'll only work the Sawbuck regularly.

* * *

Exercise is Nature's Cure for Constipation and,—a Ten-Mile walk will do, if you haven't got a wood-pile.

But, if you will take your Exercise in an Easy Chair, there's only one way to do that, because,—there's only one kind of Artificial Exercise for the Bowels and its name is "CASCARETS."

Cascarets are the only means to exercise the Bowel Muscles without work.

* * *

They don't Purge, Gripe, nor "upset your Stomach," because they don't act like "Physics."

They don't flush out your Bowels and intestines with a costly waste of Digestive Juice, as Salts, Castor Oil, Calomel, Jalap, or Aperient Waters always do.

No—Cascarets strengthen and stimulate the Bowel Muscles, that line the Food passages and that tighten up when food touches them, thus driving the food to its finish.

A Cascaret acts on your Bowel Muscles as if you had just sawed a cord of wood, or walked ten miles.

Cascarets move the Food Naturally, digesting it without waste of tomorrow's Gastric Juice.

* * *

The thin, flat, Ten-Cent Box is made to fit your Vest pocket, or "My Lady's" Purse. Druggists—10 Cents a Box.

Carry it constantly with you and take a Cascaret whenever you suspect you need one.

Be very careful to get the genuine made only by the Sterling Remedy Company, and never sold in bulk. Every tablet stamped "CCC."

F. W. N. U. - - - - No. 28—1908

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Adv. in this paper.

WIDOWS under NEW LAW obtained PENSIONS by JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.

JUNE

0225

L 903

County Line News.

Miss Myrtle McNutt spent Sunday at home.

Potato crates at the Noble Hoop Co. St. Joe, Ind.

W. T. Wyatt went to Ft. Wayne on business, Saturday.

Children's meeting at Hopewell Sunday evening was a success

Mrs. Fanny Stuckey and daughter Rose spent Saturday with Joe Stuckey and wife.

FOR SALE:—Potato crates. Noble Hoop Co. St. Joe, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Davinson returned to their home at Anderson, after a week at the home of George McNutt.

Completely Surprised.

Mrs. Wm. T. Wyatt was the victim of a very pleasant surprise Thursday evening in honor of her birthday. Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt had arranged to to attend the old settlers meeting at Auburn on that day and it was an excellent opportunity to complete the plans for a complete surprise. They were to take supper with Mr. and Mrs. E. J Wyatt at Auburn and return home in the cool of the evening. E. J. Wyatt and wife were to follow by a different road, which they did, arriving at the home some twenty minutes ahead of Mrs. Wyatt.

During this time eighty friends and relatives gathered at the home all eager to make the surprise sure and each seeming to feel a responsibility resting on them to make it complete. As soon as the sentinels reported that they were coming the lights were turned their usual places and the entire body became exceedingly quiet almost without a command and in a few moments the rig stopped at the usual stopping places. Lights were turned on and Mrs. Wyatt was surrounded by a merry group and cheerfully admitted that she was not expecting company, and remembered that it was her birthday. Soon all were enjoying the evening. A room had been vacated for the young people but while they were seated at the ice cream tables the older members of the company occupied the room and soon were boys again making merry the hours as they pass.

Tables were placed in the yard for the accomodation of thirty-six at once Ice cream and cake were served. Of the numerous parties that have been held at this place there have been none where the old and young took such an active interest together.

All returned to their homes at a late hour wishing Mrs. Wyatt many more returns of her happy birthday. Those present from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Marion Davinson and son Robert of Anderson, Ind., Mrs. Walter Newman of Garrett, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rakestraw of Garrett.

Birthday Surprise.

Life, with all its stern realities occasionally breaks out in a halo of light and joy so resplendent that clouds vanish far in the distance and we dwell in the realms of ecstacy for a time. Perhaps the pleasant event at the B. A. Rhoads home on Tuesday evening of last week might have been the counterpart of this when nearly two score of friends gathered at the home during the family's absence. The gathering was in honor of Mr. Rhoades' 26th birthday. The visit was very pleasant to all and the refreshments highly refreshing. The little surprise perpetrated in presenting a $3.75 collection with which Mr. Rhoades was to buy a Masonic emblem added spice to the occasion and will ever serve to awaken pleasant memories. Those present were relatives and friends of their community, Mrs. Laura Newman and children of Garrett, Dennis Burley and wife, Don Burley and Laura Woodcox, Mrs. C. B. Leighty and daughter Grace, Fred Leighty and Lora Hull of St. Joe.

Buckien's Arnica Salve Wins.

Tom Moore, of Rural Route 1, Cochran, Ga., writes: "I had a bad sore come on the instep on my foot and could find nothing that would heal it until I applied Buchien's Arnica Salve. Less than half of a 25 cent box won the day for me by affecting a perfect cure." Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store.

COBURN'S CORNERS.

Keep cool by using our Ice Cold Drinks and Ice Cream at KAGEY'S.

A. A. Tustison and wife attended the Old Settler's meeting at Auburn, Thursday.

Mrs. Cordelia Alton is having a barn built. Clay Coburn is doing the work.

Call and see the Ohio Valley hay loaders at CURIE'S before buying.

Earl Coburn and family took dinner with George Trostel and wife, Sunday.

A number of young people from this way attended the children's exercises of the Christian church of Newville, Sunday evening.

Mrs. George Trostel is some better at this writing.

Jerome Benjamin of Orwell, O., is visiting with relatives and friends in the neighborhood this week.

A Grand Family Medicine.

"It gives me pleasure to speak a good word for Electric Bitters," writes Mr. Frank Conlan of No. 436 Houston St., New York. "It's a grand family medicine for dyspepsia and liver complications; while the lame back and weak kidneys it cannot be too highly recommended." Electric Bitters regulate the digestive functions, purify the blood, and impart renewed vigor and vitality to the weak and debilitated of both sexes. Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store. 50 cts.

Auburn N. G.

The Auburn ball team visited St. Joe last Saturday and in the contest which ensued they were defeated, the score reaching 13 for our boys and 4 for the visiting team. A good crowd attended and all seemed to be pleased with the manner in which St, Joe handled the ball. Barney dished out the pills in great style, fanning man after man. Had all made their plays the game would have been a shut-out but as usual the boys have an inning of rotten playing, which usually costs a few scores. The Auburn boys lacked the usual ginger, seeing that our boys were too much for them. Had their pitchers had the proper support the game would have been much better. Waterloo will visit our city on next Saturday and at this time you will see a good game as the boys are playing ball. On next Wednesday Antwerp will be our guests and here is where you will see a game. They have a name that is a credit to their town and they are a fast bunch, winning from Paulding in a ten inning game by a close score of 4 to 3, last Tuesday at Antwerp. Don't fail to see this one. Seats will be had for all by the next game if possible.

A SURE CATCH.

Abel and Williams after High Ball.

Summer Wearables.

Must be cool and dainty and stylish looking. The goods to make them so can be found at this place of up-to-date merchandise.

New barred dimities very dainty .....15c yd
The new colored cotton suitings.....15c yd
White Indian Head suitings.....15, 18, 20c yd
Soisette, white, cream, pink and blue.....25c yd
India Linons, always desirable.....10 to 25c yd
Persian Lawns, a fine sheer white goods....25 to 40c yd
All fine dress ginghams .....12c yd

Special prices on all our white waists for the next 10 days.

All $1.25 waists.....$ 98
All 1.50 waists.....1 29
All 1.75 waists.....1 48
All 2.00 waists.....1 69
All 2.25 and 2.50 waists.....1 97

White and Black Jap Silk Waists at special prices.

Big 4 Store,

St. Joe, Indiana.

NEWVILLE

Mrs. Ellen Clark is visiting with friends in town for a few days.

Miss Grace Wynn of Hamilton is visiting at the home of Horace Enzor.

George Cotrill of Shennandoah, Ia., is making a short visit with relatives of this place.

Mrs. Fusselman and children of Ft. Wayne are visiting relatives in town for a few days.

Bernie Hutchins and wife of Fort Wayne, visited over Sunday with the latter's mother, Mrs. Smith.

Mrs. Nina Hadsell of Peru, visited at the home of Maurice Headley, on Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

Mrs. Bert Huntington and daughter Vernie of Butler, were visiting with her mother, Mrs. Ludwig Countryman the past week,

The Children's exercises at the Christian church Sunday evening was well given considering the time spent in preparing for it.

The long looked for rain came last Saturday night and brought with it quite a windstorm which done considerable damage in some places.

Little Mae Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Baker, died Tuesday evening, June 16. The funeral services were held in the U. B. church June 18, conducted by Rev. Thomas. Burial in Evergreen cemetery.

Quite a jolly time was had at the home of F. A. Thomas last Thursday evening in honor of Mrs. Thomas' birthday. It was a surprise given by Miss LuReign Thomas and refreshments consisting of ice cream and cake was served,

SPENCERVILLE

Mr. S. H. Maurer is recovering from his recent illness.

Will Allen made a business trip to Ft. Wayne, Saturday.

Antwero will play ball with the locals, Friday at this place.

Guy Strong and family were the guests of Samuel Steward and family, Sunday.

Misses Pauline and Jessie Moffet of Auburn were visiting relatives here, last week.

Miss Frankie Baltz returned from a long visit with relatives in Oldport, Ohio, Thursday.

Miss Grace Baltz was the guest of her grandmother, Mrs. John Baltz, a few days last week.

Mrs. Southern and two little sons of Wabash, Ind., are visiting the former's aunt, Mrs. Porter Baker.

Rev. C. B. Sweeney and Miss Ethel Metcalf will attend the Epworth League Convention at Ossian, this week.

Miss Milinda Frederick of Chicago has been visiting her mother, Mrs. George Kimes, for the past couple of weeks.

The Methodist people are constructing a new cement walk and steps in front of the church. The walk will extend from the church to Main St.

"The Onion Choppers" as they call themselves, of near Morris Chapel played a practice ball game with the local team, Thursday. Scores 23 to 3 in favor of locals.

The Children's Day Service at the M. E. church, Sunday night, was very successful. The children deserve praise for their efforts against such hot weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wilson of Hicksville have rented the Walters property and expect to move into it soon. Mrs. Wilson will be remembered as Miss Flossie Hursh.

The B. & O.

Railroad announce special round trip rates to

CLEVELAND

June 25-July 1

inclusive and July 7, 8 and 9, account 46th annual convention national educational association and international convention, baptist young people's union of America. Consult B & O agent.

A Few Prices.

Tea Kettles No. 8 and 9 granite.....50 to 60 cts.
Coffee Pots, all sizes, granite.....35 to 45 cts.
Tea Pots, all sizes, granite.....30 to 40 cts.
Dish Pans, all sizes, granite.....40 to 50 cts.
Stew Kettles, all sizes, granite.....20 to 65 cts.
Stew Kettles, all sizes, granite, covered.....25 to 50 cts.
Wash Pans, granite.....10 "
Pie Pans, all sizes, granite.....5 to 10 cts.
Pudding Pans, all sizes, granite.....10 to 20 cts.
Basting Spoon, all sizes, granite.....5 to 10 cts.
Dippers, all sizes, granite.....15 to 20 cts.
Pails, all sizes, tin,.....5 to 40 "
Pails, all sizes, galvinized.....25 to 60 cts.
Can Rubbers, good quality, per doz.....5 to 10 cts.
Self Sealer can lids, per doz.....30 cts.
Lamp chimney, No. 1 and 2.....5 "
Lamp chimney, No. 2, flowered..10 "
Matches, per doz. boxes.....10 "

Don't forget when in need of any above articles or anything in Hardware line. Give us a call. Our goods are guaranteed first class. We are at your service,

H. V. Kinsey & Son.

FAIRVIEW

Miss Ruth Brandon is spending the week with Miss Myrtle Platter.

Mr. Hollis Dilley has purchased a horse and buggy of Milton Krise.

H. F. Houser, wife and children spent Saturday and Sunday with Lee Rollands, northwest of Garrett.

Master Paul Brown returned home from his sister, Mrs. Grace Ginther at Ft. Wayne. She accompanied him home, spent the day with her mother returning home in the evening.

Karl Brown of Garrett commenced working for Norman Rolland last week.

Paul Brown spent Sunday with Master Harold Coyle.

Hollis Dilley took supper with Miss Erma Houser, Sunday evening.

Mrs. Aida Brown was visited by her mother, Mrs. Tillie Elson, of Auburn, Sunday.

Milton Krise has hired Russel Howey to work for him, his former hired man Jay Walker, having gone to Plattner's.

Norman Roland, wife and children spent Sunday with Mrs. Rolland's sister, Mrs. Harry Deal, west of Auburn.

Quite a number from this place attended the Old Settlers meeting at Auburn, Thursday.

SPENCERVILLE R F D No 2.

Mrs. Wes Zimmerman is on the sick list this week.

John Stafford and family of Hicksville spent part of the week with Dallas Kelley and family.

The Misses Eva Miller and Bessie Hart spent Sunday afternoon with Vernie and Corma Kelley.

Greely Wearley made a business trip to Woodburn, Monday.

Clarence Kelley spent Saturday and Sunday with friends and relatives in Hicksville.

Quite a few from this way attended the exercises at Spencerville, Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rhoads and daughter Inez, and Mr. and Mrs. Charley Rhoads and son Keneth, spent Sunday afternoon with Wm. Laks and family.

Note.

I am going to take a week's vacation June 28 to July 4.

CONTEST DATES.
(unless changed.)

ST. JOE,—AUGUST 15.
AUBURN,—AUGUST 29.
BUTLER,—SEPTEMBER 4.

Possibly a fourth recital, undecided.

SPECIAL FEATURE

A Piano Solo for the left hand alone—nothing small either—a genuine twister,

More later.

Chastine Johnston.

U226

L 903

JULY

JULY

0227

L 903

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXII. ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA, WEDNESDAY, JULY 1, 1908. NO. 27

WE HAVE IT.

Money
Geld
Dough
Stuff
Mezuma
Long Green

No matter what you call it.
WE HAVE IT.

We loan money at reasonable rates if our conditions are complied with and pay 4 per cent on Time Deposits. Safe and Conservative our motto.

Grabill State Bank,

Grabill, Indiana.

Joseph Witmer, Pres. Albert Egly, Cashier.
David Klopfenstein, V. Pres. Marcus Yager, Asst. Cashier.

Life Term.

Herman Miller, the man who has been on trial in the Ft. Wayne courts for the murder of Columbus Croy of Woodburn, was found guilty Saturday afternoon at ten minutes till four. The verdict of the jury is as follows:

"We, the jury, find the defendant, Herman Miller, guilty of murder in the first degree, we find that he be confined in the state's prison for life."

The jury was out but an hour and ten minutes, so convinced were they of Miller's guilt that it required but one ballot. Miller had expressed his belief of an acquittal and the verdict came as a shock to him, while it was as all others had expected. Mrs. Croy, widow of the murdered man, believes that justice has been done.

A perfect case was made by the state. The lawyers had every detail and point well in hand and were prepared to meet the defense at every turn.

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

BELL PHONE NO. 81.

St. Joe, - Indiana.

Band Concerts

The Coburntown band has been secured by citizens of the town, to give concerts on each Saturday eve. They gave the opening concert last Saturday evening and a large crowd was in town at that time. They will not play on next Saturday evening, it being the fourth, but will be on deck on each Saturday evening following, until further notice. Everybody is invited to come out and hear the music.

Political Announcements.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Please announce my name as a candidate for the office of Assessor, subject to the will of the republican convention. (Concord township)

D. W. BAKER.

FOR RECORDER.

EDITOR NEWS:

Please announce my name as a candidate for the office of Recorder, subject to the Republican nominating convention. J. R. SHILLING.

Obituary.

Daniel Houk, son of George and Mary P. Houk, was born near Massillon, Stark County, Ohio, July 22, 1847. In the year 1854 he came with his parents to Jackson township, DeKalb county, Indiana. November 22, 1883, he was married to Arvilla Kiner; to this union were born three children Ray, Grace and Lester.

He died from suffocation, June 22, 1908, aged 60 years and 11 months. He leaves to mourn his departure, a wife two sons, one daughter, one brother, Hiram: and three sisters, Mrs. George Shutt, Mrs. Nicholas Goldsmith and Mrs. Benjamin Hamilton, besides a large circle of relatives and friends.

In his death the family has lost a kind, indulgent husband and father, the neighborhood, a generous and obliging neighbor and the community a man who was honest and upright in all his dealings with his fellowman.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. E. W. Erick at his home in Jackson township at 10:o'clock a. m., Wednesday, June 24, 1908. Interment took place in the Spencerville cemetery under the direction of Undertaker Beams & Co.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our thanks to our friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us during our late sad bereavement and for the beautiful floral offering.

MRS. DANIEL HOUK AND CHILDREN

314 West Second St. AUBURN, IND.

Choice Cut Flowers and Artistic Floral Work.

ON SHORT NOTICE.

Best Quality at the LOWEST PRICES.

MAKE OUR ACQUAINTANCE

C. M. TenEyck & Son,

Proprietors.

HOME and BELL TELEPHONES.

Corn for Sale.

We have just recieved a car load of of corn, which will be sold for 80 cents per bushel. Come and get some before its all gone. Hiram Reasoner.

New Member.

At the town board meeting Monday night J. C. Hull was appointed as a member of the school board from district number three. Mr. Hull takes the place of Mahlon Baker, whose term of office expires this month. The school board will now be composed of Harry Kees, S. W., Tustison and J. C. Hull.

Local Items.

Note books at THE NEWS office.

Lump Rock Salt at The Big Four Store.

Heinz's pickles in bulk, sweet and sour at KAGEY'S.

The little baby of Geo. Walters is very low at this writing with cholera infantum.

Just received a car load of Ohio Valley hay loaders. See them. WM. CURIE.

A few fields of wheat was cut in this vicinity last week, and several this week.

FOR SALE—A business and residence property at a bargain. See S. S. Widney.

Mr and Mrs. C. H. Weitz of Butler, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Sechler.

Mrs. Otto Ginther visited a few days last week with Albert Ginther and wife at Ft. Wayne.

Just received a car of salt. The kind that will not harden in the bbl.

Big Four Store.

The most simple hay loader on market today is the Ohio Valley. At CURIE'S

Elmer Hart has been very low with typhoid fever the past week, and is not much improved at this writing.

Henry Winslow and wife of near Auburn, were guests over Sunday of his brother, Aaron Thomas and wife.

The Misses Hazel Miller and Dora Meyers of Harlan spent a few days this week, with W. H. Randall and family.

Mrs. Jemima Rush returned Saturday from a visit with relatives at Auburn. She was accompanied by her grandniece, Mrs. Perry Ferguson and little son, who visited here over Sunday.

Mrs. Dr. A. R. Wyatt and daughter Mrs. Grace Wyatt Nichols, of Lagrange, came Saturday for a few days visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Patterson. The Doctor and Mrs. Nichols came down Sunday morning in their auto, spending the day, returning in the evening. Mr. Nichols was very highly pleased with the appearance of our little city, this being his first visit here. Mr. and Mrs. Lot and two children of Hicksville, were also callers at the Patterson home, Sunday afternoon.

Found Dead.

Last Saturday morning about 8:30 o'clock, W. A. Rose, a prominent Wilmington township farmer, was suddenly striken with heart disease, while crossing a field between the barn and the woods. He was found by his wife, a short time afterward, who immediately summoned assistance, but it was too late to be of any avail. The deceased had been subject to heart attacks for a long time.

Mr. Rose and wife were both quite aged. The deceased was born in Union County, Pa., and has been a continuous resident of DeKalb county since 1837. He was well known as an ardent advocate of prohibition principles. Mr. Rose was in St. Joe only the day before his death, shaking hands with old friends, who said he was seemingly quite well for a man of his age.

He leaves a widow, one son, Frank Rose, of New York: and one daughter, Mrs. Sheridan Plattner of Wilmington township, to mourn his death.

The funeral services were held in the Christian church at Newville, yesterday.

Burglars Break Key Off in Door

A door key was found broken off in the door at the home of B. F. Monroe, Saturday evening. Some one had been trying to gain an entrance to the house and was unable to pull the key so broke it off in the door. Mr. Monroe went to the neighbors and secured some tools and removed the key before he could get in as all the windows and doors were locked. That's getting rather bold. There is no doubt but what it is home talent

The Remedy That Does.

"Dr. King's New Discovery is the remedy that does the healing others promise but fail to perform," says Mrs. E. R. Pierson, of Auburn Centre, Pa. "It is curing me of throat and lung trouble of long standing, that other treatments relieves only temporarily. New Discovery is doing me so much good that I feel confident its continued use for a reasonable length of time will restore me to perfect health." This renowned cough and cold remedy and throat and lung healer is sold at H. Milliman's drug store 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Do You Know

I am agent for the National Portrait Co., the oldest, largest and best in Chicago. Why patronize agents out-side when I am here to back the work. I have better work for $1.50 then they put out for $1.98. Frames ordered or made to order.

The Journal Gazette.

25 cts. for a trial month with the Sunday paper. The Woodburn murder trial is now on. I can save you money on any paper or magazine you want.

Phone No. 52.

Geo Milliman.

St. Joe, Indiana.

Miss Bailey Died Sunday.

Miss Amy Bailey of East Auburn, passed away at her home on Brown street, Sunday morning about six o'clock after a protracted illness extending over months. That dread malady, consumpton, was the cause of her demise. She was 49 years of age. Funeral yesterday from the residence at 10 o'clock.

New Officers.

The Knights of Pythias at their regular meeting on last Wednesday evening elected the following officers for the coming term:

H. M. Widney, C. C.
Frank Baker, V. C.
C. A. Patterson, Prel.
S. Gee, M. of W.
N. Funk, M. of A.
Ray Reasoner, I. G.
Alva Reasoner, O. G.
B. F. Walter, Installing officer.

Wedded.

Mr. LeRoy Koch and Miss Addie Lee Thorpe, both of this place, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony, Thursday, July 25, at Auburn, by Rev. S. E. Slater. The groom is well known at this place. The bride was formerly of Albion, but has been in this vicinity for the past three or four months. Mr. and Mrs. Koch will make their new home in Boren City, Mich. Congratulations.

WANTED—A RIDER AGENT IN EACH TOWN and district to ride and exhibit a sample Latest Model "Ranger" bicycle furnished by us. Our agents everywhere are making money fast. Write for full particulars and special offer at once.

NO MONEY REQUIRED until you receive and approve of your bicycle. We ship to anyone, anywhere in the U. S. without a cent deposit in advance, prepay freight, and allow TEN DAYS' FREE TRIAL during which time you may ride the bicycle and put it to any test you wish. If you are then not perfectly satisfied or do not wish to keep the bicycle ship it back to us at our expense and you will not be out one cent.

FACTORY PRICES We furnish the highest grade bicycles it is possible to make at one small profit above actual factory cost. You save $10 to $25 middlemen's profits by buying direct of us and have the manufacturer's guarantee behind your bicycle. DO NOT BUY a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone at any price until you receive our catalogues and learn our unheard of factory prices and remarkable special offers to rider agents.

YOU WILL BE ASTONISHED when you receive our beautiful catalogue and study our superb models at the wonderfully low prices we can make you this year. We sell the highest grade bicycles for less money than any other factory. We are satisfied with $1.00 profit above factory cost.

BICYCLE DEALERS, you can sell our bicycles under your own name plate at double our prices. Orders filled the day received.

SECOND HAND BICYCLES. We do not regularly handle second hand bicycles, but usually have a number on hand taken in trade by our Chicago retail stores. These we clear out promptly at prices ranging from $3 to $8 or $10. Descriptive bargain lists mailed free.

COASTER-BRAKES, single wheels, imported roller chains and pedals, parts, repairs and equipment of all kinds at half the usual retail prices.

$8.50 HEDGETHORN PUNCTURE-PROOF SELF-HEALING TIRES A SAMPLE PAIR TO INTRODUCE, ONLY $4.80

The regular retail price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but to introduce we will sell you a sample pair for $4.80 (cash with order $4.55).

NO MORE TROUBLE FROM PUNCTURES

NAILS, Tacks or Glass will not let the air out. Sixty thousand pairs sold last year. Over two hundred thousand pairs now in use.

DESCRIPTION: Made in all sizes. It is lively and easy riding, very durable and lined inside with a special quality of rubber, which never becomes porous and which closes up small punctures without allowing the air to escape. We have hundreds of letters from satisfied customers stating that their tires have only been pumped up once or twice in a whole season. They weigh no more than an ordinary tire, the puncture resisting qualities being given by several layers of thin, specially prepared fabric on the tread. The regular price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but for advertising purposes we are making a special factory price to the rider of only $4.80 per pair. All orders shipped same day letter is received. We ship C. O. D. on approval. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them strictly as represented.

We will allow a cash discount of 5 per cent (thereby making the price $4.55 per pair) if you send FULL CASH WITH ORDER and enclose this advertisement. We will also send one nickel plated brass hand pump. Tires to be returned at OUR expense if for any reason they are not satisfactory on examination. We are perfectly reliable and money sent to us is as safe as in a bank. If you order a pair of these tires, you will find that they will ride easier, run faster, wear better, last longer and look finer than any tire you have ever used or seen at any price. We know that you will be so well pleased that when you want a bicycle you will give us your order. We want you to send us a trial order at once, hence this remarkable tire offer.

Notice the thick rubber tread "A" and puncture stripe "B" and "D," also rim strip "E" to prevent rim cutting. This tire will outlast any other make—SOFT, ELASTIC and EASY RIDING.

DON'T BUY A BICYCLE or don't buy any kind at any price until you send for a pair of Hedgethorn Puncture-Proof tires on approval and trial at the special introductory price quoted above, or write for our big Tire and Sundry Catalogue which describes and quotes all makes and kinds of tires at about half the usual prices.

DO NOT WAIT but write us a postal today. DO NOT THINK OF BUYING a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone until you know the new and wonderful offers we are making. It only costs a postal to learn everything. Write it NOW.

J. L. MEAD CYCLE COMPANY, CHICAGO, ILL.

JULY

0228
L 903

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

FRED B. LEIGHTY, - - Publisher.

1908 JUNE 1908

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
•	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30	•	•	•	•
•	•	•	•	•	•	•

F. Q. 6th. F. M. 14th. L. Q. 21st. N. M. 28th.

PAST AND PRESENT

AS IT COMES TO US FROM ALL CORNERS OF THE EARTH.

Telegraphic Information Gathered by the Few for the Enlightenment of the Many.

Spanish Steamer Wrecked.

A special dispatch received from Corruna, Spain, says that the Spanish steamer LaRache went on the rocks in a fog near Muros, where the cruiser Cardinal Cisneros was wrecked in 1905. The LaRache sank rapidly and a panic followed. There were ninety-seven passengers and fifty-four of a crew aboard. These took to the boats, but up to the filing of the dispatch only forty-seven had landed. Defective communication makes it impossible to obtain complete details. The latest reports state that seventeen women were drowned. It is known that forty-seven survivors were landed at Muros but that two of them have since died. Fifteen others were landed at Lon. According to the official lists the LaRache carried ninety-eight of a crew including stewards, waiters, etc., and ninety-seven passengers.

W. B. Leeds is Dead.

W. B. Leeds died suddenly at the Ritz Hotel in Paris, France, Tuesday morning. Mrs. Leeds was with him. He had been ill for some years. Mr. Leeds went abroad for the benefit of his health, which had been failing for several years past. He had improved considerably of late, however, and he was stopping at the Hotel Ritz, making his preparations to sail for America. He was taken with a sudden sinking spell during the night and gradually lost consciousness. He could not be revived and died with his wife and his son at his bedside. The body will be shipped to New York. It is said that Mr. Leeds, who was at one time president of the Rock Island railroad, leaves a fortune larger than was generally supposed. Intimate friends estimate his wealth at $35,000,000.

Mr. Sherman is Better.

Congressman James S. Sherman, of Utica, N. Y., Republican vice presidential candidate, who was taken ill in Cleveland, Ohio, with a passage of gall stones, while on his way home from the Chicago convention, is now resting most comfortably. Drs. Edward H. Carter, Dudley P. Allen and C. W. Stone were much pleased with the progress he has made and are of the opinion that the necessity for an immediate operation has been passed. However, they advised Mr. Sherman to have the trouble removed as soon as he shall gain his normal strength. Mr. Sherman's condition was best indicated by the reading of his temperature, which showed a general lowering of two and a half degrees. The physicians considered this a hopeful sign.

Quebec City Swept by Flames.

Fanned by a high wind, a fire which broke out in Three Rivers, Que., in a stable was not checked until the greater part of the lower town, containing the business section of the city, had been consumed. Then, with the assistance of the firemen summoned by special trains from Montreal, Quebec, Sherbrook and Grand Mere, it was held in check. Almost every building of any consequence in that section of the city was destroyed, including the postoffice, the city hall, every hotel worthy of the name, with one exception, the fine building of the Hochelaga bank and most all of the leading stores. Over 300 buildings were burned.

Son of Joseph Jefferson is Dead.

After an illness of several weeks, Charles B. Jefferson, the former theatrical manager and eldest son of the late Joseph Jefferson, died in St. Joseph's Hospital, New York City, from a complication of diseases. He is survived by a wife and four daughters.

McKinley Home to be Hospital.

It has been officially decided that the former McKinley home in Canton, Ohio, shall be a Catholic hospital. Official statement was made that Felix M. Bopp, administrator of the Cleveland diocese, has ordered the remodeling of the building.

TAFT NAMED FOR PRESIDENT BY REPUBLICANS

Nomination of Ohioan Amid Stirring Scenes in the National Convention.

FIRST BALLOT BRINGS RESULT

Platform Is Adopted and Speeches Are Made in Favor of Other "Favorite Sons."

William H. Taft, of Ohio, is the nominee of the Republican party for President of the United States. The nomination was made on the first ballot at the national convention late Thursday afternoon. The vote stood as follows:

Taft	702
Knox	68
Hughes	67
Cannon	58
Fairbanks	40
La Follette	25
Foraker	16
Roosevelt	3

The platform was adopted after a three hours' debate and without a halt the convention swept on to the nomination of a presidential candidate. Tired, scorched, hungry and restless, the spectators sat through the nominating speeches. Sweltering under the great roof of the Coliseum the crowd of 15,000 grew light-headed from the heat and became so lost to control while Gov. Hanly of Indiana was nominating Charles Warren Fairbanks, that Chairman Lodge had to threaten that the police would clear the galleries.

On the call of States, Illinois was the first to be reached, having a "favorite son"—Representative H. S. Boutell presented the name of Joseph G. Cannon, Speaker of the House of Representatives. Then Vice President Fairbanks and Governor Hughes were presented. Congressman Burton, of Ohio, took the platform at 2:20 o'clock and placed the name of William Howard Taft before the convention, and afterward the claims of Senator Knox and Senator La Follette were offered.

The nomination of Taft was made amid wild enthusiasm. The great building rang with shouts as Ohio placed her favorite son in nomination, and even greater applause marked the beginning of the vote. On the only ballot taken he received 702 votes out of 978 cast, two delegates out of the 980 making up the convention. The nomination was made unanimous on motion of Gen. Stewart L. Woodford of New York, seconded by the delegation chairmen of all the other favorite son States.

WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.

Sherman His Running Mate.

Congressman James S. Sherman of New York was nominated for Vice President by the Republican national convention at the Friday morning session. Timothy Woodruff of New York made the nominating speech, and "Uncle Joe" Cannon, Speaker of the National House, seconded the Sherman nomination.

Delegates and spectators, tired after the strenuous efforts of the previous day, at the Republican national convention, were slow in assembling Friday morning, and when Chairman Henry Cabot Lodge rapped the convention to order for the start on the fourth day's session he faced hundreds of vacant chairs in the galleries and not a few delegates were absent.

When the delegates entered the Coliseum to name a running mate to Secretary William H. Taft it was practically settled that Congressman James S. Sherman of New York would get the nomination for the Vice Presidency.

With the elimination of Senator Dolliver and Governor Cummins, of Iowa, assurances of support for Sherman by several other States and general realization of the pivotal value of New York's thirty-nine electoral votes gave this move on the part of New York an importance instantly recognized by all the leaders.

When the convention opened there was evident desire on the part of both delegates and officers to rush through the task remaining of nominating a Vice President, reading off the names of committees to notify the two nominees and adjournment. Sherman was nominated and chosen on the first ballot, and the fourteenth Republican National convention, after a session of four days, had completed its work.

The convention adjourned shortly before noon, and amid wild enthusiasm the vast crowds broke from the flag-decorated Coliseum and scattered to the four quarters of the country. Breaking camp at the hotels, delegates, alternates and their families beat a hasty retreat to trains for home.

JAMES S. SHERMAN.

French Aeroplanist to Front.

Leon Delagrange, the French student of aeronautics, has come to the front with a new record in mechanical flight just as the American Wright brothers had taken the lead in their tests at Kill Devil hill and had decided to take the public into their confidence. Delagrange in a public trial over the military field at Rome, Italy, navigated his aeroplane over nine circuits of the field, a distance of almost ten miles, in the time of 15 minutes and 30 seconds, when the gasoline in his machine was nearly exhausted. It was shown in other trials that the Delagrange machine would not operate in a strong wind. Once it fell to the earth.

While the Wrights have no public or witnessed records of flight to compare with this, they assert that they have tripled the distance covered by the Frenchman. In making public the main features of their gliding aeroplane the Wrights express confidence that they have solved the problem of mechanical flight and say that they hold patents on most of the points of their invention in every European country, as well as in this country. In appearance their machine is a great box kite with two parallel planes 40 feet long and 6½ feet wide, made of muslin on spruce frames. Between them and just under the upper plane is a motor which drives the propeller, which is in the rear, 6 feet behind the discs of the planes. There is a rudder in front and an arrangement by which the edges of the planes may be lowered or raised, so as to maintain an even keel when cross-currents strike the ship. In this year's model the operator may sit upright. Below the frame toward the front is a pair of runners, or skids, by means of which the landing is made smooth, and in the center near the bottom there is a small double-wheel truck, which runs on a single rail, while attaining the requisite speed to rise. The rail is portable. The motor weighs 160 pounds and the entire weight with two riders is 1,100 pounds. The principle of its flight is the old one of the whirling disc.

Handbook of Child Labor.

The "1908 Handbook of Child Labor Legislation" has been issued by the National Consumers' League. It is compiled by Josephine C. Goldmark, and contains accurate information about the present status of child labor laws in the several States reduced to convenient form for reference. Copies of this handbook can be had from the offices of the league at 105 East Twenty-second street, New York. It is also printed in connection with the May issue of the Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science. The handbook reminds the public that in South Carolina there is still no statutory limit to the age at which children may begin work, save that they must have attended school four months and know how to read and write. In Georgia all waifs and children of widows or deserted women may work at 10, and in North Carolina, while the 13th birthday has been set as the limit, the exception in favor of apprentices opens the door to a large number of child slaves not yet in their teens. In a very large number of States the children may begin work in the mills at 12, including Vermont and New Hampshire, last of the Northern States in which the work may go on in vacation and out of school hours. Most of the States in the North now provide some educational attendance for child workers of 12 to 14, but all the Southern States except Kentucky and Tennessee treat the 12th birthday as the appropriate time for boys and girls to begin their life of toil.

GROVER CLEVELAND IS CALLED BY DEATH

Only Surviving Ex-President of the United States Succumbs to Long Illness.

END COMES UNEXPECTEDLY.

Country Shocked by News of Demise of Democratic Leader Twice Elected President.

Grover Cleveland, the only surviving ex-President of the United States, died suddenly Wednesday morning at his home in Princeton, N. J. While it was known that Mr. Cleveland had for the past three months been suffering from a severe attack of rheumatic gout and acute indigestion, his death came as a complete surprise to the country.

He had been a sufferer from gout and diabetes for more than two years. Early in 1906 he was stricken with an attack of indigestion, the result of diabetes, and for weeks was unable to partake of any except liquid nourishment. A sojourn in the South improved his health considerably.

Early last year he had a repetition of the attack of indigestion and for some weeks his condition was such that his life was despaired of. Mr. Cleveland made a splendid fight for life and won.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

In February last diabetes began to make itself felt again, and Mr. Cleveland became subject to spells of unconsciousness, coupled again with inability to assimilate food. Death finally came at 8:40 a. m. Wednesday.

Life of Cleveland a Busy One.

Grover Cleveland, the twenty-second and twenty-fourth President of the United States, was born March 18, 1837, in Caldwell, N. Y. In 1841 the Cleveland family removed to Fayetteville, N. Y., where young Grover received his first schooling, and where later at an early age he served as a clerk in a small country store. Still later, when his parents settled in Clinton, N. Y., he pursued his studies further, and when only 17 he was appointed assistant teacher in the New York institution for the blind. In 1855 Cleveland served a clerkship with the law firm of Rogers, Bowen & Rogers at Buffalo. It was in that office that Cleveland began to read law. He was admitted to the New York bar in 1859. Mr. Cleveland received his first public office when appointed assistant district attorney of Erie county. In 1869 he joined the firm of Lanning, Cleveland & Folsom. In 1881 he was nominated as the Democratic candidate for Mayor of Buffalo and was elected by the largest majority ever given in that city, although the Republican State ticket was carried. In 1882 Mr. Cleveland ran for Governor of New York against Charles J. Folger, then United States Secretary of the Treasury, and won by a plurality of nearly 200,000. His administration was notable for the simple and unostentatious way in which he conducted the business of the State.

At the Democratic national convention held in Chicago in July, 1884, Cleveland was nominated by his party as its candidate for the presidency of the United States and at the election in the following November was chosen to that office. It was during his first term that Cleveland married in the White House Miss Frances Folsom, June 2, 1886. She was a daughter of his former law partner.

In 1888 he was a candidate for a second term, but was defeated in the election of that year by Benjamin Harrison. After his retirement from public life he settled in New York city. At the national Democratic convention held in Chicago in June, 1892, he was for the third time named as his party's candidate for the presidency and in the following November was elected. After his retirement from public office Cleveland lived with his family at Princeton, N. J. Five children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland, of whom four, two daughters and two sons, are living.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES.

Largely increased imports of sugar and a continued falling off in the value of diamonds brought into the United States are features of the May report of Appraiser Wanamaker of the port of New York.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

The commercial mortality reflects increased stress of a temporary nature, collections generally being better, but payments through the banks show the smallest comparative decrease in some time, and the evidences of returning strength in activity have become more distinct. Heavier movements appear in grain, provisions, live stock and hides, together with increased employment in ore and coal forwarding. Demands are seen to be more numerous for pig iron and steel, although the tonnage still compares unfavorably with this time last year. Wider deliveries of factory woods, minor metals and leather working supplies testify to preparations for increased outputs in various manufacturing branches. Lower prices have stimulated much inquiry for railroad requirements, and important commitments are likely to be made soon, financial negotiations on which they depend being favorable.

Bank clearings, $220,309,379, are 9.5 per cent under those of corresponding week in 1907.

Failures reported in the Chicago district numbered 33, against 21 last week and 22 a year ago. Those with liabilities over $5,000 numbered 9, against 8 last week and 9 in 1907.—Dun's Review of Trade.

NEW YORK.

Aside from the continuance of the better tone as regards the future, and some further enlargement of industrial operations, notably in textile lines, there is little new to report as to trade. Business as a whole has been quiet. There is general agreement that retailers' stocks are not large, but filling-in orders continue to be frequent rather than heavy. Fall buying has been a trifle more assured at eastern and central western centers, but conservatism and a disposition to await crop and political developments guard against anything like free buying. Collections are backward as a whole.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending June 18 number 254, which compares with 253 last week, 265 in the like week of 1907, 173 in 1906, 157 in 1905 and 215 in 1904. Business failures in Canada for the week number 23, as against 24 last week and 15 in this week last year.—Bradstreet's Commercial Report.

THE MARKETS

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $8.15; hogs, prime heavy, $4.00 to $6.20; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, 91c to 92c; corn, No. 2, 69c to 71c; oats, standard, 50c to 52c; rye, No. 2, 78c to 79c; hay, timothy, $8.00 to $12.50; prairie, $8.00 to $11.50; butter, choice creamery, 19c to 22c; eggs, fresh, 14c to 17c; potatoes, new, per bushel, $1.35 to $1.40.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $7.50; hogs, good to choice heavy, $3.50 to $6.05; sheep, common to prime, $3.00 to $4.50; wheat, No. 2, 90c to 91c; corn, No. 2 white, 68c to 69c; oats, No. 2 white, 51c to 53c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $4.50 to $7.55; hogs, $4.00 to $6.07; sheep, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, 93c to 96c; corn, No. 2, 71c to 72c; oats, No. 2, 50c to 51c; rye, No. 2, 79c to 80c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.75; hogs, $4.00 to $6.02; sheep, $3.00 to $4.50; wheat, No. 2, 91c to 92c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 73c to 74c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 52c to 53c; rye, No. 2, 84c to 86c.

Detroit—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.50; hogs, $4.00 to $5.60; sheep, $2.50 to $4.00; wheat, No. 2, 90c to 91c; corn, No. 3 yellow, 73c to 74c; oats, No. 3 white, 54c to 55c; rye, No. 2, 79c to 80c.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, $1.07 to $1.09; corn, No. 3, 70c to 72c; oats, standard, 53c to 54c; rye, No. 1, 77c to 79c; barley, No. 2, 67c to 68c; pork, mess, $13.72.

Buffalo—Cattle, choice shipping steers, $4.00 to $7.60; hogs, fair to choice, $4.00 to $6.50; sheep, common to good mixed, $4.00 to $5.30; lambs, fair to choice, $5.00 to $7.50.

New York—Cattle, $4.00 to $7.05; hogs, $3.50 to $6.35; sheep, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2 red, 95c to 96c; corn, No. 2, 76c to 77c; oats, natural white, 58c to 60c; butter, creamery, 20c to 23c; eggs, western, 15c to 18c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, 89c to 90c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 73c to 74c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 53c to 54c; rye, No. 2, 77c to 78c; clover seed, October, $7.40.

TRADE AND INDUSTRY.

The Amador Mining and Development Company of Montana, a $10,000,000 corporation with headquarters at Chicago, has collapsed. Letters informed 1,400 stockholders that the copper-gold mine in which they have sunk $560,000 is worthless. The mine is located near Amador, Missoula county, Mont.

The fiercest battle witnessed on the Chicago board of trade in a long time was that between J. A. Patten and J. Ogden Armour. Patten had corn cornered and Armour tried to break the corner, having been caught short. Armour failed in his purpose and corn went to 81 cents. In the meantime Armour was holding wheat as firmly as Patten held corn.

JULY

0229

L 903

A LONELY GIRL

By Mrs Hungerford

CHAPTER XVII.

Sir Lucien has elected to come late in his own private brougham, to Madam O'Flaherty's hall, a decision that was warmly encouraged by his nearest and dearest. He has come very late indeed—when supper is well on—but Madam, seeing him, swoops down upon him instantly. She is always beautifully unconscious of the fact that he detests her, and has indeed been often heard to say that she is sorry she can't come oftener to see poor Lucien."

"So you've come. Better late than never!" cries she with all the loud "bonhomie" that makes him hate her. "Glad of it! Look here, there's old Lady Kilburn over there—see her?—in a brand new white satin gown! Go and ask her to dance the next set of lancers. Do now! It'll do you both good. Oh, Amber, my darling, here you are again, and looking lovely—lovely. Your cheeks like lilies blended with roses! I hope you are taking care of her, Mr. Everard?"

"I don't know," says Everard, who is looking very distinguished, and extremely quiet. "You must ask Miss O'Connell for a character for me."

"It's such a delightful dance," says Amber, laying her hand on Madam's arm, who lays her big fat one over the little slender clinging fingers, and taps them kindly, lovingly. "Oh!" with a little sigh of deepest content, "I feel so happy!"

"Come into the library—a rest will do us both good," says Everard suddenly. A well of feeling, such as he never known before, has sprang up within his breast. It is the one pure passion of his life. This child, so sure that all the world is good—so unsuspicious of evil, so ready to believe in the sweetness, the goodness of life—so ignorant of the evil.

They move away, unconscious that Madam's eyes are following them. But Madam's eyes are terrible things that roam about here, there and everywhere, seeking whom they may devour. Her dislike to Mrs. Clarance is hardly a stronger feeling than that she entertains for Everard. And to see that "dear innocent" with him. "Well, anyway," says Madam to herself with inward consolation, "it will make Mrs. Know-Nothing sit up a bit!"

Turning, she finds herself face to face with Mrs. Know-Nothing, who is sitting on a lounge, with a big fan and a general air of almost insolent boredom.

"Hope you are enjoying yourself," says Madam, with a malevolent smile and a snort.

"Oh, immensely! Immensely!" responds Dolly rapturously, making a great matter of stifling a yawn behind her fan.

"You look it," says Madam tersely. Then, "How's your husband?"

"I don't really know," says Dolly. "He always directs his letters to our place in Sutherland, and so of course—servants are so dilatory—I can't tell you if he wrote last month, or the month before that—or any month."

"Expecting him home?" with increasing volume in the usually too loud tones.

"I don't know. Sit down, dear Madam, and let us talk about it! You look very fatigued."

"In my opinion," says Madam, with a burst of virtuous anger, "he'll never come home! Never! And small blame to him! I say it again. He'll never come home. You know that, anyway."

"I don't indeed," says Dolly with more truthfulness than she usually betrays. It is to her extreme discontent that she knows her George is already on his homeward way. She raises her long glasses and surveys Madam with an air of surprised but placid inquiry. "You haven't heard he is dead, have you?"

Madam, distinctly routed, makes a gesture of supreme disgust, and without trusting herself to say another word, makes a martial stride past her, and seeing a window open that leads first to a balcony, and then to the gardens beneath, instinctively makes for it, with the idea, perhaps, of cooling her fevered brow. Really, all these Castle people are unfit to be known! That shocking little woman, and as for the man called Everard—she feels it almost her duty to follow him and Amber, and drag the dear girl away from him, by force if necessary—but she has gone through far too much already.

Now she will go and warn her. But how to warn Amber, who is at times a little difficult? She meditates; and then a bright thought comes to her. Hilary will be the very one to whom to tell her doubts. Of all the Carrig party, he alone is approved of by her. Yes, she will get Hilary to look after Amber. It is just when this thought has occurred to her that she meets Hilary.

"My dear boy, you!" says she. She had known him off and on since he was very young. "The very one I wanted."

"Can't you want me a little later, Madam?" asks he, smiling. "I'm in a hurry now. I'm looking for your favorite, Amber."

"Ah! That's my want!" says she. "So you don't know where she is, then?"

"No." A sense of fear lays a cold hand upon his heart.

"She went to sit out the last dance with Everard," says Madam. "That I know; I'd be glad, my dear Hilary, if you could find her, and prevent her from sitting out the next with him. But from what I could see, I——"

She says a good deal more, but Hilary does not hear her. He has gone back to the house.

CHAPTER XVIII.

The light is dim as he enters the library. He had searched many rooms before finding her here. Now he can see her, sitting in a big soft chair, close to Everard, who, in a chair of harder make, is leaning forward, his elbows on his knees, evidently in earnest conversation with her. Through the half-light, Amber's beauty, so soft, so kindly, shines like a star. He walks straight up to her.

"Our dance, I think." His tone is so abrupt, so almost choked, that the girl looks up at him very suddenly.

"Ours? Is it?" She rises. "You must tell me the rest another time, Mr. Everard," says she over her shoulder.

Adare leads her, not to the ball room, but through the hall to the balcony by which he had just entered the house in search of her.

"What is it?" asks she a little nervously, alarmed by his silence, his rapid movements, his whole air.

"What should it be?" He has stopped at the end of the balcony, where the shadows are thicker.

"Nothing, I suppose," plucking up a little spirit, "only your manner is so strange, so abrupt. And I thought your voice sounded angry just now. But I think I only fancied it."

"No doubt." He leaves her abruptly, and going to the railing of the balcony, crosses his arms on it.

He is struggling with a mad passion of jealousy and despair. If this one woman will not love him, what can all his life be to him from this day forth? What good, what joy, what comfort can it contain? Oh! and, more than that, can he even live without her? The quick sound of her feet behind him checks his thoughts. He turns to her a frowning face.

"Ah! don't look at me like that!" says Amber. "Don't look—but tell me." A little gentle hand is now slipped into his. "Tell me what I have done!"

"Don't you know? Can't you guess," cries he in a stifled tone, "what I felt when I saw you there—in that dark room—with that fellow?"

"No," says she in a low tone. She draws back involuntarily, as if frightened by his manner. "Why do you speak of him like that? Why should I not be with him? I like him; he is always very kind to me."

"I despise him," begins he sharply, fiercely, then checks himself. After all, what is he to say? How explain to her that Everard's reputation is not all it ought to be? "Come down," says he hoarsely, pointing to the gardens beneath, "I can't talk to you here. Let us stop here," says he, when they have come to a clump of evergreens that hides them effectually from any passer-by. His heart is still hot within him, and his voice sounds to her stern and harsh. Such a tone from Brian Deane would have been met by cold anger on her part, but from Hilary! "I must speak to you."

"Oh, but not in that voice." She lays her hand gently on his arm. "You have been so good to me always that—that you will have to go on being good."

Suddenly in his grief and despair all things are cast aside and she is in his arms, her cheek pressed against his own, his heart beating madly against hers!

"My darling! my own!—Amber! Oh! it is folly to tell you I love you. You know—you must know."

"Yes, yes. But you must not love me." This is dreadful; but he takes courage from the fact that as she gives sound to this awful sentence her arms tighten round him. He passes it over very lightly indeed.

"I'm not worth thinking about," says he. "But do you love me, my sweetheart?"

"No!" says she, in a tone that she fondly hopes is heroic, but is only tearful.

"Oh! Amber! and here." He tightens his arms round her. "To say that here."

"It was a lie," cries poor Amber, giving in miserably. "But how can I love you, or let you love me, with this stain on my father's name?"

"Nonsense! if that is all," jubilantly.

"It is all," solemnly. "But— / No, let me stand away from you; but—it means everything. I shall not let you love me until my father's memory is cleared."

"Why, think, darling," cries he, still holding her hands, as he cannot hold herself. "Who believes in that absurd story of the missing jewels, except our mad old uncle Sir Lucien?"

"And Brian Deane!"

"I don't believe he knows anything. I don't really. He has only been working on Sir Lucien's nerves, first, perhaps, with a view to making money out of him, and latterly to get him to forward his marriage with you."

"Still, Hilary, I cannot marry you. Don't think me cold, or heartless, because I do love you, I do, I do."

"My own darling girl!"

"Only—to marry you! With such a cloud as this shame hanging over me. Oh, no, I couldn't!"

"Let us talk of ourselves. You are mine now, you are mine, Amber! Say that. Here stands my affianced bride!"

"You won't tell anyone about it, will you?" she entreats; and then, seeing rebellion in his face, "You will promise that, you must. You will promise faithfully to tell no one."

"I don't think I can. At least"—smiling at her perturbed face—"not faithfully. I want to tell Sir Lucien for one."

"Oh! not Sir Lucien."

"He first! I could not stand the idea of hiding our engagement from him of all people." There is so much loyalty towards her in this eager desire to tell the man who has been so unjust to her all along, of his own admiration and love for her, that Amber's eyes grow full of tears, half sad, half happy. Oh! if only things had been different!

"He will disinherit you."

"Let him! I've a thousand a year of my own, left me by my poor mother. We can pull along very well on that. Can go out to India and live happy there ever after."

"You would give up all Sir Lucien's immense wealth!" She turns upon him with flashing eyes. "And for me! No, no. Do you think for one moment I would hear of such a thing? No, I take back every word I have said. I won't be engaged to you, Hilary. No, not in any way. You may think I don't mean it, but I do."

"Will you take back 'I love you'?"

"Yes, certainly. I never meant it. It"—with a little stamp of her foot—"was a mere folly. Of course I don't love you."

So firm, so determined is her whole air, so fierce is the stamp of her foot, that in spite of his effort to control himself, Hilary bursts into a roar of laughter. He is horrified at himself, but cannot control his amusement, and indeed it stands him in good stead. If he had talked to her sensibly for half a day, not one of his wise arguments would so have convinced her of his determination to have and to hold her as does this irrepressible burst of laughter.

"Forgive me," says he at last.

"Oh! you can laugh if you like; but I mean it." Her tone, however, is a little feeble.

"Not you," says he comfortably. "And even if you did"—drawing her tenderly to him, and pressing her sweet and lovely head against his shoulder—"it would be of no use. I have given myself to you, and you have given yourself to me; and —" He pauses. "Well, that's all," says he. And so it seems it is.

CHAPTER XIX.

She has, however, extracted from him a promise not to tell Sir Lucien until she has left Carrig, which will be the day after to-morrow—during their return to the house. A promise reluctantly given—and remembered afterwards!

Almost as they reach the yellow rays of light that lie across the paths beneath the windows, two men coming out of the shadows approach them—Sir Lucien and Brian Deane.

"Have you nothing better to do, Hilary," says Sir Lucien in a clear tone, subdued, but full of ungovernable temper, "than to walk about the garden all night with—Miss O'Connell?"

"I have been with my cousin and your niece!" says Adare slowly and defiantly, and with a good deal of accentuation.

"You have been with the girl who is to marry Mr. Deane!" says Sir Lucien. He turns and beckons Deane forward. "See to it. See to it," cries he furiously. A very madness has entered into him. If the girl will not marry Deane, then the bargain between him and Deane falls to the ground, and the jewels will never be his. Oh! what is the worth of a silly girl's happiness, in comparison with the possession of those priceless stones?

Deane has come forward. His face is livid as he meets Adare. Involuntarily he thrusts his hand into his left side, beneath his coat. No doubt in the land he has just come from, revolvers at times are handy little things. Without a revolver, Adare's set and stern face is distinctly disagreeable. Out of the darkness that surrounds all this, a girl's voice rings clearly:

"I am not going to marry Mr. Deane!"

It is Amber. It thrills through Adare. But why did she not say she was going to marry him? It would have eased so much of the tension. His promise to her alone holds him from speaking aloud just now.

"Pardon me! You must, I think. Your father's name and the disgrace attached to it will prevent your——"

"Why should she remember her father's name?" breaks in Adare violently. "Her father's name so far has no stain upon it, save what his relation, Mr. Deane, has chosen to cast there. As for my cousin, she tells me she is not engaged to Mr. Deane."

"She seems to be very communicative with you." Sir Lucien's voice is now malicious. "May I ask," slowly, "if she is engaged to you?"

Adare at this juncture would have made a declaration of his engagement to Amber, in spite of that promise he had given her only a few minutes before. But looking at her, as if to command her permission to speak, the anguished look in her eyes forbids him to go further. He is about then to answer Sir Lucien in some slight trivial way, though his heart is on fire, when Deane breaks the silence. Passing suddenly by Sir Lucien, he comes close to Amber.

"Give me five minutes?"

Adare, who is standing beside Amber, pushes him unceremoniously aside.

"Not one," says he, in a voice of concentrated fury.

"Yes, one," says Amber.

She lays her hand on Hilary's sleeve, and looks at him. "Just one." Her voice is a mere whisper, heard by him alone. "It will be better. It will be—the end." Then she turns to Brian.

(To be continued.)

Germany's population is increasing much more rapidly than that of Britain and France. This is a nation's greatest source of strength.

REVIEW OF INDIANA

A barn on the farm of Mrs. Frank Wublepleck, near Odon, was struck by lightning and consumed with contents. Loss, $1,800, with $700 insurance.

During a recent rain and thunder storm, the home of Dr. Jessup, at Curtisville, was struck by lightning and badly damaged. The doctor was badly stunned and he was not in possession of his faculties for a long time afterward.

A little son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pardeik, of Jonesville, Bartholomew County, was bitten by a mad dog owned by Fred Fitzman. The dog bit several other dogs and some live stock in the neighborhood and then made its escape.

"Night Riding" in Kentucky during the last several months has greatly added to the prosperity of Evansville hardware merchants. Local wholesale dealers say that never before have they sold so many weapons, and that a greater part of them have gone into Kentucky.

Harry Goodwin, 12 years old, whose parents live east of the corporate limits of Elwood, was killed by lightning. The lad was in a room with his mother and five other children and he was looking out of the window when there was a blinding flash and he fell to the floor. Life was extinst before his mother could reach him. No one else was hurt.

Thomas Dodge, of New Albany, was shot in the breast nearly five years ago, the bullet penetrating his lung. It was not removed, and recently an abscess formed, which threatened his life. He was taken to a hospital several days ago to submit to an operation, and later he was seized with a severe coughing spell and the bullet flew from his throat. It is now thought he will recover without the necessity of an operation.

Eli Craybill, 72 years old, fell from a cherry tree the first of the week, alighting on a picket fence. He was picked up unconscious, but soon revived and refused to allow a physician to be called. Later, however, his sufferings became so severe that an examination was had and it was found that his right arm was broken and he was probably internally injured, besides being severely bruised. His condition is serious.

The barking and howling of a fox terrier directed attention to a fire in the loft of Dr. R. S. Jackson's livery stable in Lawrenceburg, which was suppressed with difficulty by the fire department. Ten vehicles were included in the loss, with twenty tons of hay and other property. Isaac Liddle, 56 years old, while rescuing horses, was seriously injured by an elevator falling on him. His skull was fractured. The cause is attributed to spontaneous combustion. The loss is $4,000, covered by insurance.

Fire caused a loss estimated at between $12,000 and $15,000 in the grain elevator of the Union Grain and Coal Company in Anderson. The origin of the blaze was not definitely determined, but it is thought that it was caused by spontaneous combustion in a quantity of cornsilks stored in the basement. The building is 100 feet high and before the fire was under control it had worked its way from the basement to the roof. About $3,000 worth of grain was damaged by water. Insurance of $22,000 is carried.

While contractors were cutting down a hill in the vicinity of Azalia, Bartholomew County, looking to the construction of a new highway, they struck a bed of some unknown substance which has the appearance of flour. It contained no grit nor sand, and was as soft as putty. The stuff would not hold any weight, but it gradually hardened as it was exposed to the air. The County Commissioners were called in consultation, in an effort to find some way out of the trouble. There seems to be no bottom to the bed on which a solid foundation can rest. The commissioners, nor the contractors, have yet determined the nature of the "find," or any plan to get rid of it.

John Ring, a house mover of Alexandria, undertook to move a house across the track of the Indiana Union Traction line between West Alexandria and Orestes, and for twelve hours the company ran a passenger car back and forward, up and down the line, while waiting to obtain a restraining order from the Madison Circuit Court. The order was finally obtained. The company has a self-enacted rule that house-movers must post a forfeit of $25 with the company to cover any possible delay in traffic while a house is being shunted across the tracks, and to cover cost of repairs for line-cutting, usually about $150. Mr. Ring declined to post the forfeit, and he will fight the matter in the court; meanwhile the house will stand in the roadway till the question is settle'

While practicing with a target rifle Theodore Harrison accidentally shot and seriously wounded Miss Josephine Scarlet, of Orleans, Orange County.

While Owen McCann, a well-known farmer near Spencer, was in the act of pitching a forkful of hay on a wagon in his clover field, he dropped dead.

Many farmers in Southern Indiana are plowing ground and planting corn in daytime and harvesting wheat by moonlight as a result of the floods in May.

A bone lodged in the throat of Mrs. Peter Acher, of Evansville, a few days ago, and she lost her power of speech and physicians say she may not regain it.

Claude H. Barnhill, a young business man of Evansville, died from the effect of injuries received by being run over, while riding a bicycle, by a runaway horse.

Nicholas Oppelt, contractor, of Mishawaka, fell from a dray loaded with building material while the vehicle was crossing the railway track, and his back was broken.

John Janz, of Evansville, who recently confessed that he killed his wife, was convicted of murder in the second degree and sentenced to life imprisonment.

While Robert Boskill, aged 14 years, was working in the bakery of Robert Neal, in Brazil, his right hand was caught in the dough mixing machine and almost torn from his body.

George Lowe, 3 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lowe, of Hartford City, died as the result of frightful scalds received when he tumbled backward into a tub of boiling water while at play.

The general store of Henderson Works, at Allenville, was destroyed by fire, cause unknown. The K. of P. lodge has its hall in the room over the store and all its property was destroyed.

While Miss Grace Shelby was driving to Greenfield from her home in Buck Creek township, her horse became frightened at an automobile and she was thrown from the buggy and her leg was broken above the ankle.

While planting potatoes in a field near his home in the southwest part of Kosciusko County, Allen Moore, 29 years old, and the father of two children, was struck by lightning and instantly killed. Thrre horses which he was driving were also killed. The father of the victim and his 6-year-old daughter were seated beside him in the wagon, but they escaped death, both being badly stunned.

The 2-year-old son of John Brown, at Fairview, while playing in the yard, found a screw three inches in length which he attempted to swallow, and which lodged in his throat. The child almost suffocated before the mother could relieve it, but the threads caused inflammation, followed by spasms and death. The 12-year-old sister of the little boy collapsed with his death, and her condition is serious.

Eck & Eck, contractors, have completed the large stone arch bridge spanning Flatrock river at St. Paul. There are four fifty and one eighty-foot arches, giving a water way of 280 feet. The full length of the bridge is 380 feet. The bridge is built entirely of light stone, and the contractors say it is the largest of its kind in the country. By building this bridge the distance between St. Paul and Greensburg is shortened two miles. The cost was $13,050.

Frank Gruel, 15 years old, son of a well-known business man of Hobart, is in a dying condition at his father's home, because he was caught in N. P. Isaacson's strawberry patch. He planned with two companions to raid the patch, and Isaacson came up while they were picking berries. Isaacson opened fired on Gruel, while the other lads ran away. Isaacson went home, while Gruel dragged himself to a house a mile and a half away, with seventy-five buckshot in his body. He cannot recover.

Mrs. Lon Camp, of Lebanon, almost put an end to her husband's affinity when she publicly horse-whipped Mrs. Susie Cochran. Upon hearing that her husband had bought Mrs. Cochran a new Merry Widow hat, Mrs. Camp armed herself with a heavy blacksnake whip and started out on the hunt. In the courthouse square, before a crowd of 300 people, she ran across the woman with the big sailor hat. Mrs. Camp first made a grab for the hat and threw it in the street. Then she laid to with the whip. After cutting her clothes into ribbons, Mrs. Camp knocked Mrs. Cochran down and beat her with her fists and bit her until the police pulled her off. Mrs. Cochran had to be taken home in a cab.

JULY

0230

L 903

Agonies Of Pain

Never give up, and think that all women, yourself included, have to suffer pain.

Thousands of women have written to tell how they have cured their womanly ills, and relieved their pains; and over a million have been benefited, in various other forms of female disease, during the past 50 years, by that popular and successful female remedy

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMAN'S RELIEF

"I believe I would now have been dead," writes Mrs. Minnie Lambe, of Lebanon Junction, Ky., "if it hadn't been for Cardui. I had suffered with bad cramping spells, pains in my back, sides and arms, and awful bearing-down pains. Now these pains have all gone, as a result of using Cardui."

At All Druggists

WRITE FOR FREE ADVICE, stating age and describing symptoms, to Ladies Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. E 39

J. A. PROVINES

TRUSTEE

of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:

THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK at residence in Spencerville, Ind.

DENTIST.

C. R. PRICE,

ST. JOE, IND.

Office in Case building.

Bell Phone No. 44.

WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St. Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.

No. 11, Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail 12:05p.m
No. 3, Western Express 8:03 p. m

GOING EAST.

No. 2, Eastern Express 6:34a. m
No. 16, Toledo Acc & Mail 7:21 p. m

The Old Proverb

That "It takes nine tailors to make a man" may possibly mean that it takes nine trials to find the right tailor.

You can save eight trials by coming hese first. At this time in the year we can do considerably better by you than later. Not better in style, fabric, fit or finish—that's impossible—but better in price. For Example:—

Suits from $18.00 up.

Pants from $4.00 up

ED MAY,

TAILOR,

Butler, Ind.

The St. Joe News.

One Year - - $1.00
Six Month - - 50c
Three Months - - 25c

FRED B. LEIGHTY, Editor.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

Editorially.

Now that William H. Taft has been nominated for the presidency and the allies and factions, even including Senator Foraker, announce themselves his supporters, one very serious question is settled,—either he or the man who will be nominated at Denver, probably William Jennings Bryan, will be president of the United States for four years following the 4th of March, 1909. Mr. Taft is pledged both by preference and promise to maintain to the extent of his ability, the Roosevelt regime. While he will never be as universally popular as Theodore Roosevelt, it is believed that his administration will have more placidity and not less force.

Of all the planks adopted at the Chicago Convention, none required so much fitting and refitting as that relating to anti-injunction. The question had been thoroughly threshed out in the Congress which has just adjourned and it was there that the anti-injunction idea was coldly turned down by the Republican majority, notwithstanding it had the ardent support of the President. The Chicago Convention, urged by the president and by the presidential nominee, finally inserted a milk and water anti injunction plank in the platform. But platforms do no legislate, and there is a long and dusty road between the tepid utterance of the Chicago convention and the cold enactment of a law changing the long established procedure of the federal courts. An effort to limit the power of the courts in relation to injunction would lead to almost endless debate in Congress. There is naturally little excitement on the part of either capital or labor with regard to this anti-injunction plank. There are matters to be attended to long before Congress can even look at this subject. A President is to be elected. The tariff is to be revised. By the time Congress has wrestled with the tariff question to a finish, the injunction question will be a very old subject. It is notorious that planks in platforms are not treated seriously by politicians who have stood on them.

Elinor Glyn, the so-called author of "Three Weeks" is now predicting that in five hundred years England will be a republic and the United States a monarchy. Five hundred years will give the lady and the rest of us plenty of time to ignore the prophesy and its results.

Notice to Farmers.

Anyone having hay ropes, wire ropes or cables needing splicing. Can get same done, or any other ropes spliced by phoning No. 16 or by writing to the News Office.

LEIGHTY & CURIE.

PATENTS

and TRADE-MARKS promptly obtained in all countries, or no fee. We obtain PATENTS THAT PAY, advertise them thoroughly, at our expense, and help you to success. Send model, photo or sketch for FREE report on patentability. 30 years' practice. SURPASSING REFERENCES. For free Guide Book on Profitable Patents write to

503-505 Seventh Street, WASHINGTON, D. C.

D. SWIFT & CO.

Buy our stationery,
Envelopes 5c a bunch.
Old papers at NEWS office.

ANOTHER NEW SENATOR.

Frank B. Gary of South Carolina, Who Fills the Late Mr. Latimer's Seat.

Frank Boyd Gary, who has been chosen to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator A. C. Latimer of South Carolina, is a son of the late Dr. F. F. Gary and a nephew of the noted Confederate soldier Mart W. Gary. He has a brother, Eugene B. Gary, who is a member of the South Carolina supreme court, and still another, Ernest, who is a member of the bench of the United States circuit court. Senator Gary himself has been a special circuit judge. He was born in Abbeyville, S. C., in 1860, and studied at Union college, Schenectady, N. Y. He first entered politics in South Carolina in

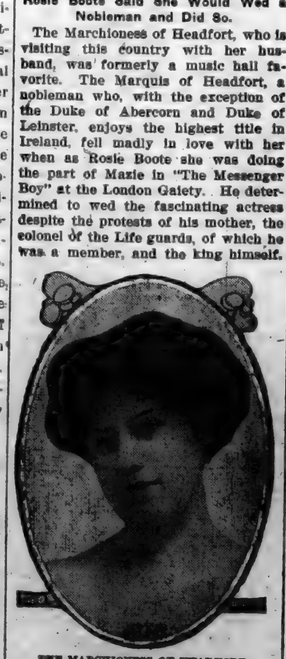
SENATOR FRANK B. GARY.

1890, when he was elected to the state house of representatives, of which four years later he was chosen speaker. He served in that capacity for five years and in 1902 ran for governor, being the first advocate of local option as between prohibition and the dispensary system. He was again chosen to the legislature in 1906. He is a supporter of William J. Bryan for the Democratic nomination for president, and his nearest competitor for the senatorial post, Legrand G. Walker, recently announced himself in favor of Governor John A. Johnson as the Democratic nominee.

KEPT HER PROMISE.

Rosie Boote Said She Would Wed a Nobleman and Did So.

The Marchioness of Headfort, who is visiting this country with her husband, was formerly a music hall favorite. The Marquis of Headfort, a nobleman who, with the exception of the Duke of Abercorn and Duke of Leinster, enjoys the highest title in Ireland, fell madly in love with her when as Rosie Boote she was doing the part of Mazie in "The Messenger Boy" at the London Gaiety. He determined to wed the fascinating actress despite the protests of his mother, the colonel of the Life guards, of which he was a member, and the king himself.



THE MARCHIONESS OF HEADFORT.

When the marchioness was singing at the Gaiety and before she had met her present husband she had a particularly fetching song which ran thus:

Some day I mean to wed a duke—don't doubt me!
And none will dare to hint rebuke about me.
The biggest swells will come to me
On Thursday afternoons for tea,
And emperors will make their bows
When I'm at Cowes.

When the marquis heard her sing the lines he determined to help her fulfill her promise. Among the obstacles in the way was the opposition of the king. This led to the nobleman's writing the famous note to his majesty which concluded thus: "The lady I am about to marry is Miss Rosie Boote of the Gaiety theater, who doubtless is known to your majesty." The marquis was reprimanded by the colonel of the Life guards on account of this letter. He was ordered to duty in India, but resigned from his regiment rather than give up his fiancee.

Carrie Visited Hicksville.

The widely advertised Carrie Nation visited Hicksville on Tuesday night and addressed a large audience at the opera house in the evening. The speaker said some very good things and also some very unwise things. She claims to be divinely commissioned from God by a special visitation to go ahead and smash saloons or get rid of them as best she could. President Roosevelt, Secretary Taft and the Republican party in general were the real objects of the speakers attacks. Although the Democratic party was given a few upper cuts and side swipes just in order to let it know it was remembered for what it had not done. The speaker said God was a Prohibitionist and claimed great things for this party. This was all right. The Prohibition party is right in principle, right on the moral side of the question, and has some strong and influential men identified with it. But as to its accomplishments, history fails to record an instance which we can recall, where the Prohibition party has ever put one saloon out of business or given the country one inch of dry territory But this is not the fault of the party. It simply lacked the power. Prohibition is bound to come but it will come in the future as it has done in the past through the two great parties in power.—News.

Best the World Affords.

"It gives me unbounded pleasure to recommend Bucklen's Arnica Salve," says J. W. Jenkins, of Chapel Hill, N. C. "I am convinced it's the best salve the world affords. It cured a felon on my thumb, and it never fails to heal every sore, burn or wound to which it is applied. 25c at H. Milliman's drug store.

The First Celebration

We take the following letter from the Dispatch of last week.

ST. JOE, IND., June 20, 1908.

Editor Dispatch:

In reading the article in The Dispatch of June 18, 1908, written by Jonathan Smalley in which he gives a description of the first celebration of the 4th of July, held in Corunna, fifty years ago. If Mr. Smalley intends to convey the idea that this celebration was the first held in the county, he is in error. The first celebration of the 4th of July was held on the Moody farm about one mile west of Spencerville in 1848. Hon. R. J. Dawson and John P. Widney, my father, were the speakers. Hon. J. D. Leighty of this place as a boy attended this celebration, his father at that time lived on the farm adjoining the Moody farm. He says he was very much impressed with the exercises and recollects them well. Mr. Hall of Hall's Corners, Allen county, was the marshal of the day. He being a tall, stern man with his large red sash made a fine appearance. A large attendance of the settlers along the St. Joe river were present. Mr. Dawson's address (it being campaign year) was an out and out political speech and a democratic speech, he being a democrat. My father spoke following Dawson. His speech was a purely patriotic speech with no reference to politics. After my father delivered his address Dr. Emanuel came to him and congratulated him on his address, and condemned Dawson's address, the doctor being a whig. The celebration that Mr. Smalley refers to was undoubtedly the first held in the northwest portion of the county. There was a celebration of the 4th of July held in Auburn, July 4, 1851, as after the death of my father in looking over his papers we found the manuscript of an address that he delivered at that time.

Respectfully Yours,
O. H. WIDNEY.

Pain Weakens

Headache, rheumatism, neuralgia, or pains of any nature weaken the system—they are a strain upon the nerves. Almost instant relief can be obtained by taking Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills, and without any bad after-effects. Take one on first indication of an attack—it will ward it off. They are a pleasant little tablet, sold by druggists everywhere, 25 doses 25 cents; never sold in bulk.

"I was subject to constant headaches for a period of four years. At times I was almost unfitted for the work in which I am engaged, that of station agent. Through the advice of a friend I tried Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, and the result has been that I have entirely eradicated my system of those continuous headaches that follow a continual mental strain. They have done for me all that is claimed for them."
O. L. RUSSELL,
Agt. C. & N. W. Ry., Battle Creek, Ia.

"I have used Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for a year now for neuralgia and find there is nothing like them. They surely have been a blessing to me." MRS. M. J. HAMILTON,
Upper Alton, Ills.

Your druggist sells Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, and we authorize him to return the price of first package (only) if it fails to benefit you.

Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind

Just Exactly Right.

"I have used Dr. King's New Life Pills for several years and find them just exactly right," says Mr. A. A. Felton of Harrisville, N. Y. New Life Pills relieve without the least discomfort. Best remedy for constipation, biliousness and malaria. 25c at H. Milliman's drug store.

WABASH CORNERS

[Intended for last week.]

Mrs. Lola Gall of Hamilton, was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Angelia Wolff Tuesday night of last week.

Dorcas Gill of Auburn, came last Thursday to be the guest of Manuel Ulms and wife for a while.

Mrs. Frank Loux and Marie Hull of this place, went to Edon, Ohio, last Friday to be guests in the family of Jake Walts for a few days.

The Donaldson twin brothers of Auburn, put down a drove well for Gene White Thursday afternoon.

Walter Moffett, wife and daughter Ruth were guests of Orange Herrick and family, Friday night.

O. K. Shull wife and two children attended the funeral of Miss Bertha Shull at Coburntown, Friday.

Hazel Perry was a Sunday afternoon guest at Orange Herrick's.

David Miller started to Denver, Colo., Sunday night. He expects to be gone about two months.

Benj. Hamilton and wife of Coburntown, were Sunday guests at O. K. Shull's.

Mrs. John Baker and daughter Goldie of Fairview, called on G. C. Lucas and wife, Sunday evening.

Charley Henderson, wife and daughter Ruth of west of Spencerville, were Sunday guests at John Smith's.

Mr. A. M. Powell of New Castle, Ind., spent Sunday with Miss Lela Shilling.

Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also furnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable.

Beams & Baker.

JULY

0231

L 903

Local News.

In Brief Paragraphs.

Geo. Gelhausen of Garrett visited in town last Friday.

Congressman James S. Sherman, republican nominee for vice-president has been very seriously ill, but is now on the road to rapid recovery.

Orangeville flour stands at the head of the list. Makes more and better bread; does not dry out or make coarse rough bread. At Barney's.

Garrett has an ordinance against the shooting of fire crackers on the street and the mayor of that city is going to see that it is enforced.

Miss Melissa Reasoner of Beaconsfield, Iowa, arrived Thursday for an extended visit with her niece, Mrs. D. J. Baker She was accompanied by her brotner, who visited with relatives, several days.

The W. H. & F. Missionary society of the Lutheran church will meet at the home of Mrs. Addie Patterson, Saturday afternoon, July 4, at 2 o'clock All interested are cordially invited to meet with us. Secretary.

Peach growers say there will be a larger crop this year than for many past seasons. Reports from southern orchards are exceedingly favorable and the same happy reports come from those of Michigan orchards. This will bring the price within the reach of all, and help to make living a trifle easier next winter.

Grover Cleveland, twenty-second president of the United States, died at his home in Princeton, N. J., on last Wednesday morning at 8:24 o'clock. He has been confined to his bed throughout the winter and spring yet death was unexpected. The doctors gave as the direct cause of his death heart failure, pulmonary thrombosis and oedema.

George Crouse, the south side black smith at Waterloo says the Press, has built himself a wagon for traveling, and he will start in a few days with family, overland for New Mexico, where he expects to homestead a claim. He will have a long, tedious drive, and water will be one of the prime necessities enroute. He lived here a few years ago.

There are three great rocks ahead of the practical young man who has his feet upon the ladder and is beginning to rise. First, drunkenness, which of course, is fatal. There is no use wasting any time on the young man who drinks liquor, no matter how exceptional his talent. Second, speculation. The business of a speculator and that of a manufacturer or man of affairs are not only distinct, but incompatible. The manufacturer should go forward steadily, meeting the market prices. When there are goods to sell, sell them; when supplies are needed, purchase them, without regard to market price in either case. I have never known a speculative manufacturer or business man who scored a permanent success; he is rich one day bankrupt the next. The third rock is akin to speculation — endorsing. There are emergencies, no doubt, in which men should help their friends, but there is a rule that will keep one safe: no man should place his name on the obligation of another if he has not sufficient to meet it without detriment to his business.

Miss Grace Sechler spent Friday and Saturday at Auburn.

Get your potato crates of the Noble Hoop Co., St. Joe. Ind.

Flour that bakes is flour that takes. Orangeville at Barney's.

St, Joe vs Antwerp, July 9, at St. Joe. Come out and see a good game.

Byle Milliman of Grand Rapids, Mich. is visiting relatives in town and vicinity.

Chas. Bishop and wife of Reading, Mich., arrived Saturday for a visit with relatives.

Mrs. Lizzie Tibbets of Hesperia, Mich., is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Geo, Milliman.

Try a sack of Orangeville flour at Barneys. Once used; always used. There is none better.

Herbert Sherer and Otto Ginther left Wednesday for Dakota to be gone about a couple of months.

Merritt Hull and lady friend Miss Rose Gibson of Ft. Wayne, spent Sunday with the formers parents.

Special rates on ice delivered to all parts of the city, at any time and any amount. F. R. LEIGHTY.

Emmons Barney returned home Friday from Cincinnati, where he has just completed a course in the Nat'l Telegraph Institute.

The open air services at the Christian church, Sunday, was fairly well attended. J. E. Sturgis was present and rendered some solos in his pleasing manner. J. H. Sturgis rendered music on the violin.

The Children's Day exercises at the M. P. church, Sunday evening, was largely attended. The program was excellent and the collection amounted to $4 50, a little over one hundred per cent of an increase over last year.

The most perfect specimen of a snake skin was found by Allan Coburn in his fathers woods last week. It was that of a blue racer, four feet and nine inches long. There is not a break in the whole thing from the mouth to the tip of the tail, showing the eyes and mouth most perfectly.

Drink Moxie these days. It makes you eat better, sleep better and feel better. For sale at KAGEY'S.

J. W. Wise of Chicago, was the guest of his niece, Mrs. F. M. Monroe, last week. Mr. Wise, who is now 83 years of age, had been in attendance at a soldier's encampment at Lima, Ohio, and stopped here on his way home. He left for Chicago, Friday, accompanied by Mrs. Monroe and daughter, Miss Violet, who will visit with her parents and other relatives for a while.

It Can't Be Beat.

The best of all teachers is experience. C. M. Harden, of Silver City, North Carolina, says: "I find Electric Bitters does all that's claimed for it. For Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles it can't be beat. I have tried it and find it a most excellent medicine." Mr. Harden is right; it's the best of all medicines, also for weakness, lame back, and all run down conditions. Best too for chills and malaria. Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store. 50c.

Undertaking a Specialty.

Miss Kinsey takes charge of all funerals. Calls answered day or night Prices reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

Phone No. Office 37-2. Residence 37-3

Obituary.

Bertha, daughter of Cadmus and Sarah O. Shull was born in Concord township, DeKalb county, September 21, 1897 and departed this life June 17, 1908, aged 10 years, 8 months and 26 days. Bertha's sickness was of several week's duration and everything was done that loving hands could do to alleviate her suffering, but to no avail. She bore her pain with the greatest of patience and found much consolation in the loving words of Jesus as they were read and sung to her. She was a sunbeam in the home and will be missed by all who knew her. She leaves to mourn her loss, a father, mother, two sisters and many relatives and friends to whom she endeared herself by her sweet loving ways.

Funeral service was conducted by J. W. Brown on Friday at 10 o'clock a. m. at the Coburntown church and burial in Alton cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mr. and Mrs. Shull desire to extend their thanks to their neighbors for their kindness in assisting them in their bereavement.

Cool Pillows.

Save all blue grass clippings from the lawn, being careful not to rake deeply for fear of getting old dead grass. Leave the clippings in a loose pile in the sun for several days turning them often. When dry they are ready for use. When made in this way they are as light in weight as hair cushions and much more sanitary They have an odor that is sweeter than that of ordinary new mown hay, and are cool and delightful for the hot summer nights.

Goes to Auburn.

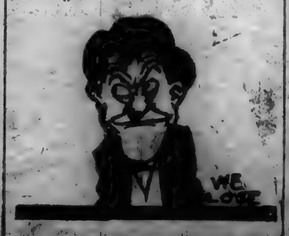
Auburn will celebrate July 2, 3 and 4. On July 2nd, the St. Joe base ball team will play Angola at the Auburn grounds in the afternoon about 2:30. This will be a good game as Angola has a strong bunch. On Saturday, July 4, the game will be between our boys and the Auburn-Garrett team in the forenoon. All lovers of base-ball will be given an opportunity to see something good.

A Pleasant Evening.

Mr. Merritt Sechler entertained about a dozen of his young friends at his spacious home on east main street, in honor of his guest, Miss Bertha Crouse of Lafayette, Ind. The evening was spent in music and song and all enjoyed themselves. A contest was pulled off in which the winner was given a stick pin. The manner in which partners for supper were selected was very unique. The ladies were put in a room and were given a cord with their name on, which run all through the house, up stairs and out of doors, they to follow the cord and see who was at the other end, whoever it was. This was the most amusing part of the entertainment. The luncheon consisted of ice cream, cake and nabisco.

Saturday's Game Punk.

The base ball game Saturday at this place was "Punk." The Waterloo boys said they knew how to play, but when they were in the field our boys showed them up. The score stood 64 to 2 in our favor. Such a gang as was here had ought to be sent home without anything to eat and to pay their own expenses. No return game will be given them.



How the Waterloo boys felt after the game was over.

Just Received.

Car Load Wabash Portland Cement.

Consignment of Gasoline Vapor Stoves.

I Keep on Hands

Hydrated Ground Lime

Stoves and Ranges Cooking Utensils

Steel Goods of all kinds.

All Kinds of Roofing:

Best quality Red Cedar Shingles

Gravel Roofing Asbestos, Rubber, Felt and Galvanized Roofing.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT

Linseed, Automobile and Lubricating Oils

Gasoline, Etc.

GLASS, SASH AND DOORS.

Quality Right. Prices Right.

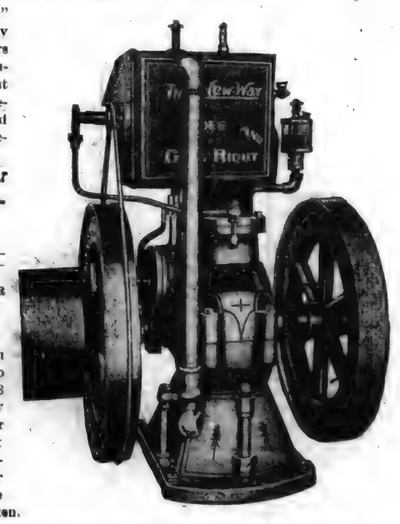
D. J. Baker.

INTERESTING TO UP-TO-DATE FARMERS.

What you need is a reliable gasoline engine to do your work and increase your profits.

The "NEW WAY" Engine is conceded by Mechanical Engineers and men of high authority to be the most perfect engine in mechanical design and construction manufactured.

No water tanks or water. Cooled perfectly by air.



SO SIMPLE YOUR BOY CAN RUN IT.

The next time you are in town, just drop in and examine the 3 to 3 1-2 H. P. "NEW WAY" engine on our floor. If you don't say it is the best engine you have ever seen or heard of, we will be greatly mistaken.

Engine can be seen running at The News Office, St. Joe, Ind.

Eugene Hubbard, Butler, Ind.

Exclusive Agent.

The Irish Orator.

Michael J. Fanning of Philadelphia, Penn., will address the citizens of St. Joe on Thursday, July 2, at 8 p. m. in Widney's Opera House. Mr. Fanning has traveled about our country and Canada for a third of a century in pursuance of his life's work, probably making more speeches against the saloon during these years than any other living person.

The issues of the day will be carefully considered and logically discussed in a way pleasing to those who hear him. Read the following testimonials of his work:

"A man of exceptional powers on the platform." Frances E. Willard.

"There is no man in America more competent to discuss all phases of the great liquor problem of to-day intelligently, eloquently and convincingly than M. J. Fanning." Sam W. Small.

"Michael J. Fanning fully lived up to the expectations of the audience in his address. His speech was forceful and entertaining and was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience." Ft. Wayne Daily News.

For a nice white flake loaf use the Orangeville flour at Barney's.

If you are in the market for a hay loader call and see CURIE'S.

Go to the Noble Hoop Co. St. Joe, Ind., for your potato crates.

Mrs. Mary Bartlett of Fort Wayne, visited relatives here last week.

Miss Marjorie Erick of Ft. Wayne was the guest of Miss Gladys Barney, a few days last week.

H. A. Pallister and wife of Riverton, Iowa, were guests of William and James Hamilton several days of last week.

Mesdames Peter Bishop and W. Zimmerman of Auburn, and W. W. Bishop, wife and son of Battle Creek Mich., were guests of M. T. Bishop's last Wednesday.

Miss Chloe Rhodenbaugh returned last Wednesday morning from a month's visit with relatives at Petersburg, Va. Her grandmother, Mrs. Rhodenbaugh, accompanied her home for an extended visit with her son, J. L., and family.

Money to loan on farms at 5 per cent interest. Payable on or before 10 years. Partial payments allowed. Call on or write us. Brown & Rhoads, Lawyers, City National Bank Building, Auburn, Ind.

JULY

THE MUSE OF HISTORY ON THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.

JES' PLAIN TORPEDOES.

The good old Fourth's a-comin'—the best day in the year,
And little chaps get anxious-like when once its drawin' near;
They talk of firecrackers and they dream about the noise,
The dear old Fourth was certainly jes' made fer little boys.
Bill's got a great big cannon, with fuse
you have to light,
And lots of great big crackers that's filled with dynamite;
But I'm a little feller—aint' have as old as he,
And I guess that plain torpedoes will have to do fer me.

Pa says that giant crackers ain't fit fer little chaps,
He's sore on all toy pistols and hates these paper caps,
He don't intend his children shall ever celebrate
By blowing off their fingers—he says they'll have to wait.
"You're nothin' but a baby," my father says "as yet,
And your daddy can't quite spare you; he needs you bad, you bet.
Bill's got some giant crackers? Well, that I know is true,
But I guess that plain torpedoes will have to do fer you."

It's hard to have big brothers and watch them at their play,
And jes' to be a little chap and sort o' in the way;
To have folks always tell you, you can't do
thus and so,
Because you're jes, a little chap—not old enough, you know.
But ma, she sees I'm tearful, so she takes me in her lap
And says, "Why, what's the matter? You're cryin', little chap."
Then, as she bends to kiss me, I'm brave
as I can be,
I guess that plain torpedoes are good enough for me!

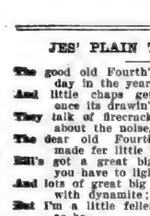
—Louis E. Thayer, in Woman's Home Companion.

OLD GLORY.

A Salem Skipper Credited with Giving the Flag This Name.



THAT the American flag was named Old Glory in 1851 by a Salem (Mass.) skipper named William Driver is asserted by the Boston Globe. He was at that time captain of the brig Charles Doggett.

Captain Driver, a successful deep sea sailor, was preparing to shape the brig's course to the southern Pacific.

Just before the brig left Salem a young man at the head of a party of friends saluted Captain Driver on the deck of the Doggett and presented him with a large and beautifully made American flag. It was done up in stops and when sent up aloft and broken out to the air Captain Driver christened it Old Glory.

He took it to the south Pacific, and years after when old age forced him to relinquish the sea he treasured the flag as an old friend.

Captain Driver moved to Nashville, Tenn., in 1857 and died there in 1888. Previous to the outbreak of hostilities between the North and the South Old Glory was flung to the breeze every day from the window of Captain Driver's Nashville house, but when the bullets began to zip and the odor of gunpowder to taint the air the old flag had to be secreted.

It was kept out of sight inside a great bed comfortably until Feb. 27, 1862, when Brig. Gen. Nelson's wing of the Union army appeared in Nashville. Captain Driver presented it to the general to be hoisted on the capitol. It was run up by Captain Driver himself. He watched it through the night, and, a heavy wind coming up, he took it down and sent a new flag up in its place.

The original Old Glory was preserved and after the death of Captain Driver it was presented by the compiler of the Driver memoirs to the Essex institute at Salem, Mass., where it may now be seen.

Facts About Firecrackers.

The greater part of the almost $2,000,000 worth of firecrackers annually exported by China comes to New York. And the United States stands next to China in its use of them.

Thousands of Chinese men, women and children work at the making of firecrackers, for there are no manufactories there, the work being done by hand. They receive only about $1.40 for making 10,000 firecrackers, laboring from six in the morning until eleven at night seven days a week.

So a Chinese woman or child works like a slave for two days to earn what is spent on a few bunches of firecrackers by the urchin bent on doing justice to the Glorious Fourth.

Suggestions for Fireworks.

No matter how warm and wearied a man may be a firecracker dropped down his shirt collar will stimulate him.

One of the latest quips is to paint a small bomb in imitation of a golf ball and let a friend take a whack at it.

One of the most propitious places for a firecracker is a fluffy hat, or, better still, the back hair.

One of the capital diversions of an evening entertainment is to fasten a pinwheel to a lace curtain, touch a match to the fuse and see what the firemen do.

Some may prefer a plate glass window for a skyrocket target, but the best authorities agree that it is seen at its best in a crowded dining room.—New York Herald.

Some Fourth of July Proverbs.

A lit firecracker in the hand isn't worth two in the pack.

There is no use pulling the trigger after the gun has been fired.

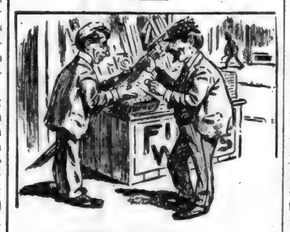
Do not look a gift cannon in the mouth.

Never light your Roman candle at both ends.

It is the pinwheel that loses by doing a good turn.

One swallow doesn't make a spring nor one firecracker a Fourth.

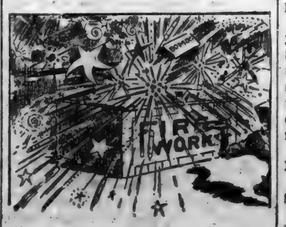
LITTLE JOHNNY'S GLASS.



Mr. Smirks sold fireworks,
His trade was very bright;
People bought them right and left
To set them off at night.

But just then little Johnny passed—
The owner's back was turned—
To see the whole display go off
The soul of Johnny yearned.

He quickly found a burning-glass,
And held it to the sun;
A little spark he soon espied—
And then the deed was done.



A flash—a bang!—a pop!—a crack!
Ah! sad 'tis to relate!
Next day Smirks told his neighbors that
His stock had gone off great.

Pattern Department

UP-TO-DATE DESIGNS FOR THE HOME DRESSMAKER

Over Blouse or Jumper.

Modified Mandarin sleeves, or those that are of moderate width, make a most fascinating and altogether desirable feature of present styles. This over blouse includes such, and also is made with the narrow opening at the neck, which marks the latest designs, while it is equally desirable for the separate blouse and for the gown. In the illustration it is made of checked louisine with trimming of taffeta embroidered and a lace edging, while it is worn over a guimpe of figured net, but it is appropriate for almost all seasonable materials.

PATTERN NO. 5818.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:

Order Coupon.

No. 5818.

SIZE .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

Girl's One-Piece Apron.

Aprons that are pretty, yet involve very little labor in the making, are sure to find very hearty welcome. This one is charmingly becoming and attractive, yet is cut all in one piece and simply finished at its edges. In the illustration a checked gingham is piped with plain color, but chambrays as well as figured ginghams, lawns, batistes, all are used for aprons of the sort and also the pretty and inexpensive printed wash fabrics. The apron is made in one piece. The tab extensions are crossed in the back, where they are buttoned to position and are brought up over the shoulders and the ends buttoned into place.

PATTERN NO. 5949.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:

Order Coupon.

No. 5949.

SIZE .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

OUTDOOR LIFE AND

CUTICURA

Should be inseparable. For summer eczemas, rashes, itchings, irritations, inflammations, chafings, sunburn, pimples, blackheads, red, rough, and sore hands, and antiseptic cleansing as well as for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery, Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are invaluable.

Sold throughout the world. Depots: London 27, Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5, Rue de la Paix; Australia, R. Towns & Co., Sydney; India, B. K. Paul, Calcutta; Japan, Maruya, Ltd., Tokio; So. Africa, Lennon, Ltd., Cape Town, etc. U. S. A., Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

Post-free, Cuticura Book on Care of Skin.

Concholoical.

"Still trying to muster up courage to propose to the girl, are you, Algy? Don't be a clam."

"Deah boy, I cawn't be a clam, don't you know. She says I'm a lobstah."

Ask Your Dealer for Allen's Foot-Ease

A powder to shake into your shoes. It rests the feet. Cures Corns, Bunions, Swollen, Sore, Hot, Callous, Aching, Sweating feet and Ingrowing Nails. Allen's Foot-Ease makes new or tight shoes easy. Sold by all Druggists and Shoe Stores, 25c. Sample mailed FREE. Address Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Its Negative Quality.

"I never give medicine to my children," said Mrs. Lapsling, "that has any whisky in it. Whisky is poisonous. It contains too much refusal oil."—Chicago Tribune.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

End of the Reason.

Guest (in restaurant)—I say, waiter, have you any oysters?

Waiter—No, sah. We all ain't got no shell fish 'ceptin' eggs, sah.

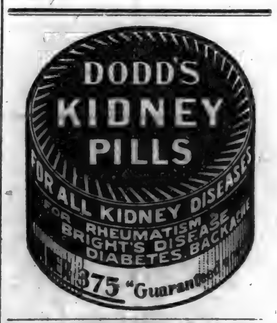
Red Cross Ball Blue

Should be in every home. Ask your grocer for it. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

The story is told of a clergyman, who, after he had finished his sermon, heard one of his congregation say, "Yes, it was a good sermon; but he stole it."

A short time afterward the preacher called on the man, resented the accusation, and asked him to retract what he had said.

"I am not," answered the man, "likely to take back anything that I have said; but in this case I will, for on returning home and referring to the book whence I thought you had taken your sermon, I found that it was still there."



Wanted—Stocks of Merchandise, invoicing from 10 to 50,000 dollars in exchange for income property and some cash. Address Box 56, Marion, Ind.

Invest $5 monthly in Oklahoma farm lands. Agents wanted. Write for particulars. C. W. Deming Inv. Co., Tulsa, Okla.

WIDOWS under NEW LAW obtained by JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.
PENSIONS

JULY

0233

L 903

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

No other medicine has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women or received so many genuine testimonials as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Almost every one you meet has either been benefited by it, or has friends who have.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., any woman any day may see the files containing over one million one hundred thousand letters from women seeking health, and here are the letters in which they openly state over their own signatures that they were cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved many women from surgical operations.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made from roots and herbs, without drugs, and is wholesome and harmless.

The reason why Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful is because it contains ingredients which act directly upon the feminine organism, restoring it to a healthy normal condition.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

Paxtine

TOILET ANTISEPTIC

Keeps the breath, teeth, mouth and body antiseptically clean and free from unhealthy germ-life and disagreeable odors, which water, soap and tooth preparations alone cannot do. A germicidal, disinfecting and deodorizing toilet requisite of exceptional excellence and economy. Invaluable for inflamed eyes, throat and nasal and uterine catarrh. At drug and toilet stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.

Large Trial Sample

WITH "HEALTH AND BEAUTY" BOOK SENT FREE

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., Boston, Mass.

Let us do your Printing using

Eagle Linen

for your office stationery. You can get the paper and envelopes to match.

It is the real thing. Take no other.

A Skin of Beauty is a Joy Forever.

Dr. T. Felix Gouraud's Oriental Cream or Magical Beautifier.

Removes Tan, Pimples, Freckles, Moth Patches, Rash, and Skin Diseases, and every blemish on beauty, and defies detection. It has stood the test of 50 years, and is so harmless we taste it to be sure it is properly made. Accept no counterfeit of similar name. Dr. L. A. Sayre said to a lady of the haut-ton (a patient): "As you ladies will use them, I recommend 'Gouraud's Cream' as the least harmful of all the skin preparations." For sale by all druggists and Fancy-Goods Dealers in the United States, Canada and Europe.

FERD. T. HOPKINS, Prop., 37 Great Jones Street, New York.

DAISY FLY KILLER Placed anywhere, attracts and kills all flies; neat, clean, ornamental, convenient, cheap. Lasts all season. Absolutely harmless; will not soil or injure anything. Guaranteed effective. All dealers or sent prepaid for 30c. Harmless Fly Killer Co., 125 Bedford Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

The Popular Pulpit

FLAG OF THE NATION.

By Rev. S. T. Willis.

Thou hast given a banner to them that fear Thee, that it may be displayed because of the truth. Psalms 40:4.

On the one hundred and thirty-fifth anniversary of our national ensign, it is well to consider two facts, suggested by our text, namely, that our national banner, like Israel's of old, is a God-given emblem to men that fear Him, and that it is to be displayed because of the truth for which it stands.

No student of the philosophy of history will for a moment deny that the discovery and colonization of North America was directed by the guiding hand of Providence, neither will anyone dispute that the Declaration of Independence and the formation of our government were the actions of men who stood in conscious fear of the Lord. Each of the original thirteen colonies was established on distinctive and dominant religious principles. Each of them sought to know the will of God, and to do it. In all their discussion of the problems of freedom and in their reasons for independence our fathers made their appeal to God and His truth was written in their hearts. They looked to Him as their leader and defender. When liberty came they recognized God as its author-giver, so that the emblem of our freedom was a God-given banner to those who feared Him and did all in their power to make His will supreme in the earth.

When George Washington, Robert Morris and John Ross prepared and presented to Congress a standard for the Continental troops and the new Union of States, every detail in our flag was made symbolic of truth in its breadth and beauty and as the proud herald of those fundamental principles our national banner has been displayed for 132 years.

In the first place, it is the banner of the Union, the Union of States into a solid national compact; the union of effort to free these States and defend them; the union of hearts loyal and true; and this idea of national union emblazoned on our banner is expressed in the field of blue on which shine the stars of the several States. To destroy this union would be to reverse the progress of our history and make void the struggle and sacrifice of our fathers.

In the second place, it is the banner of liberty. These States were united in the cause of freedom. The struggle of their common enemy forced them to unite their efforts in the struggle for common liberty. The recognized liberty as one of the inalienable rights to be bestowed by the Creator, and in the cause of their liberty and the liberty of their children they have pledged their lives, their liberties and their sacred honor. Yes, it is the flag of the free!

In the third place, it is also the banner of bravery. Never in the history of the world did more heroic men place themselves upon the altar of patriotism because they feared God and recognized the justice of their principles, they were willing to sacrifice life itself. As we look upon the banner today and remember that it was made expressive of brave and patriotic men, it recalls the heroic struggles of the revolution. The red signifies it is the banner of the brave.

In the last place, it is the banner of peaceful possession. Wherever it floats, our flag is the symbol of sovereign rule. It stands for national ownership—not of any party, large or small, but the ownership of all the people; and as such it is the pledge of peace. For back of the flag stand the people, and back of the people is God, whose truth is displayed in its signs and symbols.

WHAT IS A CHRISTIAN?

By Henry F. Cope.

"Whosoever does not bear his cross and come after Me cannot be My disciple."—Luke 14:27.

A Christian is a disciple of Jesus Christ. Yet there are many who are called Christians who are not the disciples of the lowly prophet of Nazareth, and there are many who are truly His disciples who are not known as Christians.

It may be that there are those who are Christians and do not know it; it is certain that there are those who are not Christians, according to the simple standard of the founder of Christianity, who nevertheless comfort themselves with the delusion that they belong to His followers.

Organizations, churches, and sects do not make Christianity; they are only the instruments for its work, the vehicles for its expression. One might have his name emblazoned in the largest possible letters on the officiary or the plain membership of the church, and still be altogether a stranger to Christianity.

There are many able to prove by arguments elaborate and carefully erected the historic accuracy of the various accounts of the life and word of Jesus, usually proving more for Him than he claimed for Himself, who yet are utter strangers to His spirit; who, while bitterly defending His reputation, by all their lives entirely misrepresent His character.

These are they who, while with their lips they invite men to become the disciples of the Great Teacher, with all their powers are erecting barriers and creating difficulties. They say you cannot be a Christian unless you will go through these motions or unless you will bring yourself to accept these and the other notions.

The most striking evidence of the value and vitality of the ideas and ideals of Jesus lies in the fact that, despite the mistaken zeal in which His followers have endeavored to make discipleship an intricate and difficult affair of intellectual propositions, ritual, and organizations, Christianity still stands in the world as on the whole synonymous with the highest in character and conduct.

To be a Christian is the simplest and yet one of the most far reaching things imaginable. It means only that any man or woman takes life on the terms that this one whom men call the Christ took it, that His is the type of life to which they seek to conform, and His service to the world that which they seek to render.

The distinguishing marks of that life of long ago were its sense of the infinite, so clear a consciousness of the Most High that it expressed itself in terms of relationship and so taught men to cry "Our Father," and a clear faith in humanity, a consciousness of the worth of character, that led Him to see the brother in every man and to give His life in sincere service for even those who opposed Him.

Here, too, was a life lived for the higher values and on the highest levels. A life that ever reminded us how much more the man himself is worth than the sheep, the person than the possessions, the toiler than the tools. And so He lived, not only for character in Himself, but that all might have the right to the freedom, fullness and joy of life.

The essential elements of such a character are few and simple. We readily recognize its faith in God, not in any narrow or dogmatic sense, but in the consciousness of the infinite spirit working for good: faith in man, in his worth and possible goodness, and faith in that high goal of all society which the Teacher called the kingdom of heaven.

Whoever turns his life toward these things, whoever looks out on life with eyes of faith and love, whoever seeks the ideal ends for humanity, whoever serves the eternal propaganda of righteousness, peace and brotherly love, even though he never had heard of Christ, still belongs to Him.

To be animated with that spirit, deliberately to choose to live that kind of life, to take its pains and joys, to do its work, to strengthen one's self with its motives and dynamics, to be satisfied with its high gains, to pay its price, to follow this path, is to be a Christian, because it is to be a full man and brother to all men.

SHORT METER SERMONS.

Killing time is soul suicide.

Many mistake fluidity of mind for faith.

Truth needs no authority other than its own.

He is good-natured whose nature it is to do good.

Even the Almighty cannot use people who are born petrified.

You can do little for humanity without the saving salt of humor.

No learning can make up for the lack of that which the home can give.

Every time you depend on a bracer you knock out your own underpinning.

The soundness of your virtue does not depend upon the volume of sound you can make.

There is something wrong with a man's prayers when they never choke his utterance.

It seems to be as easy to think our cheerfulness to ourselves as it is to think our troubles out loud.

DON'TS FOR CHURCHMEN.

Don't promise more than you can do.

Don't try to climb to heaven on smooth words.

Don't neglect the sinner if you would fight sin.

Don't profess faith unless you give evidence of it.

Don't allow the milliner to make your heavenly equipment.

Don't forget that the life of a saint must be a living sermon.

Don't dream of heaven elsewhere, but get to work creating it here on earth.

Don't get so busy trying to regulate others, that you have no time to regulate yourself.

SPEAKING PLAINLY.

The Judge's Request and the Counsel's Prompt Response.

A young and afterward distinguished attorney from an up country district of New York State was arguing his first appeal in the old general term of the Supreme Court. He had been in many legal scrimmages in justices' courts at home, but had never stood in the awesome presence of five sedate and learned judges of the Supreme Court in general term assembled. His embarrassment was great. He repeated himself and misplaced his words so often that it was quite evident that he must soon be routed by his own confusion unless something should occur to break the spell. Finally, and just as he was floundering the deepest in a chaotic jumble of language and ideas, the presiding judge interrupted with the following remark:

"Mr. Smithers, I believe it will be a great relief to yourself and to the court if you will address us in the same free and informal way that you doubtless use in addressing your local justice of the peace."

"Well, then," replied Smithers, "I wish that while I am busy alleviating your honor's deuse ignorance of the law you would keep your confounded mouth shut!" The court laughed heartily and waved for him to proceed. He grew eloquent and won his case in the midst of hearty applause.—Bohemian Magazine.

SUFFERED TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

With Eczema—Her Limb Peeled and Foot Was Raw—Thought Amputation Was Necessary—Believes Life Saved by Cuticura.

"I have been treated by doctors for twenty-five years for a bad case of eczema on my leg. They did their best, but failed to cure it. My doctor had advised me to have my leg cut off. At this time my leg was peeled from the knee, my foot was like a piece of raw flesh, and I had to walk on crutches. I bought a set of Cuticura Remedies. After the first two treatments the swelling went down, and in two months my leg was cured and the new skin came on. The doctor was surprised and said that he would use Cuticura for his own patients. I have now been cured over seven years, and but for the Cuticura Remedies I might have lost my life. Mrs. J. B. Renaud, 277 Mentana St., Montreal, Que., Feb. 20, 1907."

Anatomical.

Tommy (aged 10)—Dad, what is the bone of contention?

Mr. Henpeck—The jawbone.—Illustrated Bits.

All Up-to-Date Housekeepers

Use Red Cross Ball Blue. It makes the clothes clean and sweet as when new. All Grocers.

Baseball Critic.

Huggins—What has become of Fanning?

Muggins—Oh, he's laid up; a victim of baseball.

Huggins—I didn't know he ever played the game.

Muggins—He doesn't. He sprained his larynx telling the umpire how things ought to be done.

Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna

acts gently yet promptly on the bowels, cleanses the system effectually, assists one in overcoming habitual constipation permanently. To get its beneficial effects buy the genuine.

Manufactured by the

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

SOLD BY LEADING DRUGGISTS—50¢ per BOTTLE.

Why He Slaved.

Senator Johnston of Alabama owns a beautiful home surrounded by several acres in Birmingham, and takes great delight in donning a pair of overalls and a split hickory hat and working in the garden. One day a fashionably dressed woman, who had resided in Birmingham only a short time and had never seen Johnston, called on his wife. No one answered the bell, so she walked out among the flower beds, where the ex-Governor was hoeing some geraniums.

He bowed and she asked him how long he had worked for the Johnstons. "A good many years, madam," he replied. "Do they pay you well?" "About all I get out of it is my clothes and keep." "Why, come and work for me," she said. "I'll do that and pay you so much a month besides."

"I thank you, madam," he replied, bowing very low, "but I signed up with Mrs. Johnston for life."

"Why, no such contract is binding. That is peonage." "Some may call it that, but I have always called it marriage."—Chicago News.

Long to Be Remembered.

Ethel—How did you like the new minister, Maud?

Maud—He made an indelible impression on me.

Ethel—How so?

Maud—He emptied a cup of tea on to my new white silk dress.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

F. W. N. U. - - - - No. 27—1908

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Adv. in this paper.

Nothing Too Good

For the American People

There is NOTHING TOO GOOD for the American people—that's why we started to make Cascarets Candy Cathartic. The first box made its appearance in 1896, and the enthusiastic endorsement of the people has been bestowed upon Cascarets ever since.

The sale today is at the rate of OVER A MILLION BOXES A MONTH, proving that the American people recognize, that what is BEST FOR THEM is none too good.

Why this enormous patronage?

The answer is simple: Cascarets are pure, clean, sweet, mild, fragrant, harmless but effective little tablets for the treatment and cure of Constipation and all Bowel Troubles. They are put up in neat little enamel boxes, easy to buy, easy to carry (in vest-pocket or purse), easy to take and easy of action, always reliable, always the same, they "work while you sleep" and wake you up feeling fine in the morning.

They not only regulate the movement and stimulate the muscular walls of the bowels, but they keep the ENTIRE CANAL CLEAN and antiseptic, forcing out and destroying all disease germs that breed in the accumulated filth unless promptly and regularly discharged. Therefore, they are a great preventive of disease, and may be taken continuously as a precautionary measure.

The new Pure Drugs Act, adopted by Congress on June 30, 1906, and in effect January 1, 1907, is a GOOD LAW and means better and PURER drugs for the American People. We endorse it and will live up to it in SPIRIT and LETTER,—an easy task, as we have always been actuated by the same principles and no changes are required in our formula or package.

We adopted OUR OWN PURE DRUG LAW in 1896 when the first box of Cascarets came on the market and have lived and worked and produced under it ever since.

To-day, after a record of nearly 100,000,000 boxes sold, Cascarets STAND the greater in PURITY, QUALITY and MEDICINAL MERIT than any other preparation for Bowel trouble in all the world.

This should be a great argument for any one, to try Cascarets AT ONCE, and be healthier and happier for it. Some people have CHRONIC CONSTIPATION with all the horrors derived from it; others have HABITUAL CONSTIPATION from carelessness and neglect, but nearly EVERYBODY has OCCASIONAL CONSTIPATION, which, if not promptly taken care of is liable to result in its degeneration into the worse forms and cause great suffering and perhaps death.

Cascarets, if taken patiently and regularly, will remedy all of these awful troubles, but if taken promptly at the very first sign of an irregularity of the Bowels, will act as the FINEST PREVENTIVE ever discovered and will keep all the machinery running in good order.

We advise you to get a little 10c box of Cascarets TO-DAY and carry it in your purse or vest pocket. Take one when you feel anything unusual about your bowels. Your own druggist will sell you the little box, under GUARANTY of satisfaction or money refunded. All druggists, 10c, 25c, 50c.

0234
L 903

JULY

A 1 Cent Supper.

The ladies of the M. P. church gave a penny social in the Kinsey furniture room Saturday evening which was quite a novel affair. Upon entering the room a plate and a menu card was handed you and passing the different booths you could get just what you wanted and when ordered the amount was marked on the card. After passing the booths you were seated at tables. Each of the articles on the menu card was one cent, except ice tea, 3 cents, and coffee, 5 cents. A large crowd attended, the ladies taking in $13.95.

NEWVILLE

Ethel Miller of Waterloo is visiting her cousin, Gladys Smith, for a few week.

Marie Hendershot of Bryan and Beulah Headley of Butler attended Sunday school at this place, Sunday.

Jerome Benjamin of Rock Creek, Ohio, was around calling on friends at this place, Thursday.

Viola Snellbaker is spending a few days with her aunt, Mrs. Peter Grube near Butler.

Homer McCollough and family of near Butler spent Sunday with the formers parents, Mr. Rhoads and wife.

Roy Robinson of Indianapolis has been spending the past week at the home of Carrie Bodiker.

Rev. F. A. Thomas and family and A. C. Koeppe and family took dinner with Mrs. Myrtle Blair, Sunday.

Roy Robinson, Carrie Bodiker and Jennie Snyder spent Thursday of last week with friends at Hicksville.

Elsworth Traxler and family spent Sunday at the home of Hollis Akins.

Mr. and Mrs. Pallister, the latter being known as Lavina Rogers, Mrs. Simon Nichols and Mrs. Jerry Andrews attended the morning services at the Christian church, Sunday,

A number of the people around town was out viewing the eclipse of the sun through a smoked glass, Sunday morning, although it could be noticed without.

The Misses Gladys Smith, Ethel Miller, Edna Kelley, Ida Washler and Hazel Covert and Messrs. Roy Keller, Frank Ginder, Cleve Washler, Bird Enzor and Lew Washler spent Sunday at Hamilton Lake.

C. E. Brunson and wife, Wm. Bohls, wife and sons, Ross and Carl of Garrett, Ind.; Mr. Walter Bohls, Mrs. Geo. Holley and daughter Violet, of Peora, Ill.; Mae Eastman of Fort Wayne; Earl Tustison of Coburntown, and John Whitehurst and family were Sunday guests of Rebecca Dean.

SPENCERVILLE R F D No 2.

Dr. S. S. Kimes made a business trip to Pierceton, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Elder, daughter and son of Ft. Wayne, visited over Sunday with Clint Wearley and family and Monday with Greely Wearleys'.

May Daily of St. Joe spent Sunday with Bessie Hart.

Willie Benninghoff of Elkhart came home Sunday for a weeks vacation.

Clarence Beery and lady friend of Ft. Wayne spent Sunday with his parents.

Earl Stiman of near Auburn spent Sunday with his parents.

Clara Keesler of Spencerville was the guest of Fern and Zenith Wearley, Sunday.

Mrs. Clara Clark and daughter Ayis, of Garrett, and Nellie High of Concord, visited a few days with Geo. Howey and family.

Blanche Grate spent Sunday with Inez Rhoads.

Corma Kelley has purchased a fine new buggy.

Greely Wearley, wife and daughter LeAnna spent Sunday with L. Means of near Harlan.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Koch are the proud parents of a sweet baby girl, which arrived at their home June 23.

FAIRVIEW

Miss Pearl Roland of Garrett spent a few days last week, with relatives at this place.

Miss Ruth Brandon of Auburn, who was visiting with friends at this place, returned home Sunday evening.

FOR SALE:—Potato crates. Noble Hoop Co. St. Joe, Ind.

For a change why not go to KAGEY'S and try a glass of Liquid Force.

Mr. Johnson and wife, and Mrs. Ann Baker and son Walter, were the guests of R. Koch and wife, Friday evening.

Simpson Johnston, wife and son Clarence, visited over Sunday with the formers parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Johnston.

Local News Items

Potato crates at the Noble Hoop Co. St. Joe, Ind.

Keep cool by using our Ice Cold Drinks and Ice Cream at KAGEY'S.

Transfers in Concord township for week ending June 29: Adam Bice to Martin L. Koch, 26.66 acres, sec 36, $1

From the Franklin.

Through the kindness of Mrs. Geo. F. DeLong we are permitted to publish the following letter from one of our navy boys.

U. S. S. FRANKLIN, NORFOLK, Va.,
JUNE 27, 1908.

Dear Aunt:—

I received your most kind and welcome letter a few days ago and will now try and answer it. I am feeling fine after a few days in the care of the doctor from the effects of my vaccination, and am able to be on duty again. I have only four hours duty a day and then my work is done. I see Geo. Ridgway nearly every day and he is getting along fine,

I will try and tell you now of some of our duties. Our boys must all be up and dressed in white uniforms at 5:30 in the morning and at 6 o'clock is first mess and one hour later is second mess. Then at eight o'clock in the morning is roll call or quarters, then all to duty. At 11 a. m. is first mess for noon and 12 second mess. We all line up and march to mess in ranks. On Saturday afternoon we may have leave to go ashore if we wish to, but we must be back by 7 a. m. Monday.

We must at 7:30 p. m. lash our hammocks. These are our beds, which we sleep in during the night and at 9:00 p. m, at the report of the evening gun and the sound of the bugles we must retire with lights all out until the sound of the bugle at 5:30 next morning, as I said before. On Sunday morning is the most pleasant of all. We are lined up in uniforms of white trimmed in blue for quarters at 8 o'clock and at 9 o'clock we go to Sunday services where we can listen to some very fine sermons from the best of ministers.

But I have got ahead of my story a bit, which is very important, that is the color salute at 8:00 o'clock every morn before quarters. When the band plays the National Air, Red, White and Blue as the stars and strips are raised on each vessel, we must salute Old Glory. We can receive some very fine lessons, if we try, out of the Naval Y. M. C. A. which gives splendid entertainments free of charge, and furnishes a public library of fine books. Then I must tell you of the trip I will take about July 6th on board the Montana, a new battleship just finished it will be gone 22 months off at sea. Will go by way of New York Navy Yards which will be fine sights. This boat is 535 ft. in length and 80 ft. wide, one of the largest in the navy. Well I guess I have told you as much now as I can think of except we have ripe peaches in this country now and oats is harvested and corn is in roasting ears, can you beat that for corn. Well I love the navy and think it a fine place. I enlisted in the engineer corps at $33.00 per month and board, which I believe is better than on a farm. We have splendid good food to live on such as bread, butter, coffee, tea, meat, pie and cake twice a week and fruit such as oranges, peaches and bananas. Well I will have to close for now hoping to here from you soon I remain your loving nephew.

J. J. WILDESON.

Wisdom.

It doesn't make any difference to the general public whether you win or not. Therefore, it is up to you!

There are a lot of people getting divorces who would have absolutely nothing to do if it were not for that.

A diplomat is a man who can "kid" his wife into keeping the garden free from weeds by bragging about what a fine agriculturist she is.

Many a financier has found it costly to finance a fiancee.

Summer Wearables.

Must be cool and dainty and stylish looking.
The goods to make them so can be found at this place of up-to-date merchandise.

New barred dimities very dainty	15c yd
The new colored cotton suitings	15c yd
White Indian Head suitings	15, 18, 20c yd
Soisette, white, cream, pink and blue	25c yd
India Linons, always desirable	10 to 25c yd
Persian Lawns, a fine sheer white goods	25 to 40c yd
All fine dress ginghams	12c yd

Special prices on all our white waists for the next 10 days.

All $1.25 waists	$ 98
All 1.50 waists	1 29
All 1.75 waists	1 48
All 2.00 waists	1 69
All 2.25 and 2.50 waists	1 97

White and Black Jap Silk Waist s a t special prices.

Big 4 Store,

St. Joe, Indiana.

Goes to Auburn.

Auburn will celebrate July 2, 3 and 4. On July 2nd, the St. Joe base ball team will play Angola at the Auburn grounds in the afternoon about 2:30. This will be a good game as Angola has a strong bunch. On Saturday, July 4, the game will be between our boys and the Auburn-Garrett team in the forenoon. All lovers of base-ball will be given an opportunity to see something good.

COBURN'S CORNERS.

Lee O. Tustison came home from South Whitley, Sunday evening.

There will be preaching services at the Corner's next Lord's day, both morning and evening.

Call and see the Ohio Valley hay loaders at CURIE'S before buying.

Mr. Abner Alton was home from Michigan over Sunday.

Benjamin Hamilton and wife attended the funeral of the latter's brother, Daniel Houk of Jackson township, Wednesday.

The Misses Anna Wilmot and Ila Beaber took dinner with Claud Mason's, at St. Joe, Sunday.

Messrs. Floyd Coburn, Stearl Wade and Charley Benjamin and Misses Clara Shull, Delphia Coburn and Jessie Wade spent Sunday at Hamilton Lake.

Washington Hart remains about the same.

C. J. Hadsell of Hicksville and Mrs Maria Shull of Walkerville spent Sunday with Thurman Shull and family.

Mrs. Walter Abel took dinner with her daughter, Mrs. Carper and family, near Auburn, Sunday.

While working for Ross Abel last week, Fred Hart fell from a load of hay and sprained his wrist quite bad.

Mrs. Ella Thompson and Mrs. Virgie Bowen took dinner with Wash Hart and family, Sunday.

Sammie Davis and wife and Harold Abel spent Sunday with Wilmot Coburn and family.

Mrs. Clem Treese and children called on Sadie Coburn, Friday afternoon.

The stork accompanied by Dr. Lake brought a pair of twin girls to Mr. and Mrs. Olen Dermott, Wednesday. All are doing well, especially papa.

SPENCERVILLE

Mrs. Katherine Gessinger returned Sunday from Hicksville, where she spent several weeks with relatives.

Profs. J. E. and J. H. Sturgis were Sturgis were in town Saturday and Sunday,

Mrs. Waisworth of near Auburn, visited her sister, Mrs. Martin Davis, a few days last week.

Geo. Gelhausen of Garrett, visited relatives here last week.

L. W. Wilson, wife and son Donald of Morris Chapel and James Furnish were the guests of Mrs. Lydia Jane Steward Sunday.

Mr. Frank Silburg and Miss Malinda Frederick attended the band concert at Auburn, Thursday night,

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hull, a boy.

Mr. and Mrs. George Steward are the proud parents of a baby boy.

Rev. Sweeney and Miss Ethel Metcalf returned from the Epworth League convention at Ossian and reported a fine time.

Mrs. Nancy Chaney and Mrs. Jennie Steward visited Mr. Wm. Wyatt on the county line, Friday.

Frank Steward and family of Garrett are visiting relatives here.

The Christian Endeavor of the Lutheran church will give an ice cream festival, Saturday evening, July 4th. A fine display of fireworks will be given.

Frank Lake is suffering with boils on his right hand.

Beeks Erick and wife of Ft. Wayne, were the guests of relatives at this place, Monday.

The locals will play ball with Antwerp, July 4

Messrs. Wm. P. Steward and Connie Davis and the Misses Jennie and Arminta Steward accompanied by the Misses Ethel and Hazel Berry of St. Joe, spent Sunday at the country home of Mrs. Magdalene Henderson, near Robinson park.

A Few Prices.

Tea Kettles No. 8 and 9 granite	50 to 80 cts.
Coffee Pots, all sizes, granite	35 to 45 cts.
Tea Pots, all sizes, granite	30 to 40 cts.
Dish Pans, all sizes, granite	40 to 50 cts.
Stew Kettles, all sizes, granite	20 to 65 cts.
Stew Kettles, all sizes, granite, covered	25 to 50 cts.
Wash Pans, granite	10 "
Pie Pans, all sizes, granite	5 to 10 cts.
Pudding Pans, all sizes, granite	10 to 20 cts.
Basting Spoon, all sizes, granite	5 to 10 cts.
Dippers, all sizes, granite	15 to 20 cts.
Pails, all sizes, tin	5 to 40 "
Pails, all sizes, galvinized	25 to 60 cts.
Can Rubbers, good quality, per doz	5 to 10 cts.
Self Sealer can lids, per doz	30 cts.
Lamp chimney, No. 1 and 2	5 "
Lamp chimney, No. 2, flowered	10 "
Matches, per doz. boxes	10 "

Don't forget when in need of any above articles or anything in Hardware line. Give us a call. Our goods are guaranteed first class. We are at your service,

H. V. Kinsey & Son.

WABASH CORNERS.

Mrs. Maud Braithwaite of Fort Wayne spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Miranda Maurer,

Mrs. Susie Krontz and two daughters of Butler, spent part of last week with relatives at this place.

George Arnold and wife of Auburn Junction spent part of last week, with Sherman Rickett and family,

Mrs. J. B. White and Mrs. Ella Gill of St. Joe were the guests of Gene White and family, Thursday.

71 Attends A Surprise.

A very pleasant surprise was given Mrs. Emanuel Ulms, last Monday night when seventy-one of her friends and neighbors gathered at her beautiful home to remind her of her fifty-fourth birthday. Those present were Stephen Brown and wife of west of Spencerville; Addie McCrory of Jasper Mich.; Ad Shilling, wife and son Howard, Mrs. Theo. Kline and grandson, Russell; Mrs. James Draggoo and daughter Ruth and son Loyd; Sherman Rickett, wife and sons Roscoe and Sam, and daughters May and Bessie; Willie Rickett; Geo. Wade and wife; Walter Wilson, wife and son Aubrey, and drughter Beatrice; J. R. Shilling, wife and daughter Lela; Orange Herrick, wife and Roger Tryon; William Lucas and wife; O. K. Shull, wife and two sons, Frank and Joe and daughter Catherine; Dennis Burley and wife; Wm. Pervines, wife and sons, Frank, Howard, Winfield and Lewis, and daughters Pearl and Mary; Geo. Pervines, wife and daughter Waneta; Frank Loux, wife and son Will: Cal Loux and wife; Frank Rhoads, wife and son Merwood; Gene White, wife and sons Walter and Clarence and daughter Mary; Deem Hull and two daughters, Marie and Goldie; John Ulms, wife and son Fred. The evening was spent in visiting and music on the phonograph after which ice cream, cake and bananas were served to all. At near the midnight hour all returned to their homes wishing Mrs. Ulms many more pleasant birthdays and Mrs. Ulms thanking the crowd for their kindness and good behavior.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc. IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
Write or come to us at [illegible] Ninth Street, opp. United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.

C.A.SNOW & CO.

JULY

0235
L 903

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOI. XXII. ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA, WEDNESDAY, JULY 8, 1908. NO. 28

WE HAVE IT.

Money
Geld
Dough
Stuff
Mezuma
Long Green

No matter what you call it.

WE HAVE IT.

We loan money at reasonable rates if our conditions are complied with and pay 4 per cent on Time Deposits. Safe and Conservative our motto.

Grabill State Bank,

Grabill, Indiana.

Joseph Witmer, Pres. Albert Egly, Cashier.
David Klopfenstein, V. Pres. Marcus Yager, Asst. Cashier.

Child Scalded.

One day last week one of the little children of Mrs. Bird Wyatt, formerly known as Bird Milliman, who is staying with Pete Milliman and mother of this place, was severely burned about the face, neck, arms and hands. Dr. Lake was called and he relates the accident as being caused by the little one reaching on table and pulling a cup of coffee off on itself. The scald is a severe one.

Local Items.

Base Ball. to-morrow.

Band Concert, Saturday eve.

W. E. Baxter and wife of Garrett, spent several days last week with relatives at this place.

Jesse Copp is at home from New Haven for two weeks. The factory having shut down for that time.

The Missionary Society of the Lutheran Church will hold a Tea, Saturday evening, July 18. Look for further notice.

Frank Kinsey is busily engaged in roofing the Henry Abel house on 5th street, this week, with a new style of tin shingles. This is the first job of this kind around St. Joe.

Mausoleums that will hold the dead of about a hundred families are being built at Morenci, Mich., and Swanton, this state. This is a new idea and is coming into rapid favor all over the country.

Chris Sailor and family are spending the week along the Maumee, fishing, near Sherwood.

Mrs. Ora Copp and son of Garrett arrived yesterday to visit with relatives a few days.

Special rates on ice delivered to all parts of the city, at any time and any amount. F. R. LEIGHTY.

The farmers held their social at Martin Engle's, Saturday evening. Ice cream was served and a good time was had.

The Lutheran Sunday school observed Flag Day last Sunday. The decoration was composed of ninty-five flags.

M. J. Fanning, the Irish Prohibition speaker, gave a fine talk Thursday evening, to a fair sized crowd in the opera house, He gave some sound facts and argument that could not be contradicted. The address was worthy of a larger hearing.

It's Now Open

The democratic convention opened yesterday at Denver, Colo., in which Bryan is supreme and he has even a greater control of the convention than had Roosevelt. It is expected that Bryan will be nominated for president and that on the first ballot. The candidate for vice presidency is uncertain, but will probably be Judge Gray, while it lays with New York to name the man if it wants to.

314 West Second St. AUBURN, IND.

Snap for You.

12-15c Geraniums - 5c
10-8c Geraniums - - 2c
Coleons - 1c

Must clear out benches at ONCE.

MAKE OUR ACQUAINTANCE

C. M. TenEyck & Son,

Proprietors.

HOME and BELL TELEPHONES.

BARNUM'S OLD LION.

How the Great Showman Turned His Death to Account.

Among the features of the parades of the Barnum circus there was formerly one that never failed to attract attention. On the top of one of the wild beast cages lay an enormous lion. He was not confined in any way, and nervous people watching the parade would shudder at the sight and contemplate the terrible possibility of the lion springing into the midst of the crowd.

But the venerable old king of beasts had reached the leonine dotage, and stiffened muscles and blunted claws rendered him harmless. He was as mild as a kitten and in the winter quarters, where he was allowed to roam at will, sometimes had to be protected from the onslaughts of irreverent and mischievous puppies.

One night he wandered from the quarters. In the course of his travels he chanced on a barn where a meek eyed cow was placidly chewing her cud. A faint flicker of the slumbering jungle spirit stirred his pulse, and, with a crashing blow of the huge fore paw, the cow was slain; then, lying down beside his victim, he went to sleep and dreamed of the time when he was a shaggy little whelp playing with his brothers under the bright sun of his faroff African home.

In the morning the owner of the cow, a stalwart female with the blood of Irish kings in her veins, entered the barn with milk pail in hand. She was filled with wrath at the sight that met her gaze. With a keen edged ax in her hand and grim determination in her eye she fearlessly approached the sleeping lion, and when the men sent out to search for him arrived he lay cold in death. Barnum promptly paid for the dead cow and engaged to appear on exhibition "the woman who in mortal combat had slain a lion."

The Oldest Treaty.

The oldest text of a real treaty now in existence is that of the convention between Rameses II., king of Egypt, and the Prince of Kheta, which embraces the articles of a permanent offensive and defensive alliance, with clauses providing for the extradition of emigrants, deserters, criminals and skilled workmen. This treaty was drawn up in the fourteenth century B. C. and is the earliest record that we have of any international transaction.

Her Uncooked Gown.

Miss Fluffgirl—Miss Newthought has gone the limit with her vegetarianism! Miss Furbelow—Why, what is her latest? Miss Fluffgirl—She actually refuses to wear anything but raw silk gowns now.—New York Press.

[illegible] to Be Diplomatic.

When a woman shows you the picture of her baby remember that you will get into trouble, nine times out of ten, if you say exactly what you think.—Somerville Journal.

His Idea of Him.

Bill—Did you go to see that boy actor last night? Jill—Yes. "Did he get a hand?" "What he ought to have got was a shingle."—Yonkers Statesman.

Horizon.

A man calls it the horizon where the earth and the sky seem to meet, but a woman's notion of the horizon is the families she can see moving in from behind her front window curtains. If, further, they hang out their washing in a spirit of candor, they are, of course, all the more so. The horizon is caused by a number of things, chief among them the gregarious instinct. Only for this next door would mean as little as tariff revision or pure food or international arbitration. It takes a star or something of that sort to rise above the horizon, but a very ordinary woman may feel above it.—Life.

The Cult of the Hotel.

"Hotel" is a French word, but a thoroughly British institution. If its great hotels were suppressed London would no longer be London—that is to say, the London of society, the theater, literature, politics, art and fashion. The hotel is one of the essential factors of London life—Milan Corriere Della Sera.

A Comparison.

Mrs. Giles (anxiously asking after rector's health)—Well, sir, I be glad you says you be well, but there—you be one of these "bad doers," as I calls 'em (gie 'em the best o' vittels, and it don't do 'em no good)—there be pigs like that!—London Punch.

The most simple hay loader on market today is the Ohio Valley. At CURIE'S

A Good Game.

The hardest game our boys have been in this season was the game at Auburn, Thursday with Angola Angola has a pretty good bunch, but were not in it with our boys. Enough runs were made the first inning to win, three being made on a trio of hits and an error, two more were added in the fourth and fifth innings for good measure. Angola made their lone score in the third by the grace of a base on balls, an error by Abels and a wild throw by Leighty to catch a man on third. Eddie Hull had the game safe all the way, pitching a great game and receiving excellent support.

THE GENERAL RECEIVER.

WES HATHAWAY
Who caught a perfect game.

The score.			R	H	E
St. Joe	3 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 x		5	7	2
Angola	0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0		1	1	3

Batteries; Hull and Hathaway, Chase and Lime. Struck out by Hull, 12; by Chase, 5. Base on balls off Hull 2. Double plays, Hull to Barney to Abel; Barto to Hull to Hathaway; Parnell to Rolins. Two base hit Barney, three base hit Hull.

Hull fanned five men in succession.

Sensational fielding by Leighty, Barto and Abel retired the side in the fifth.

The Angola boys were gentlemen and desire a return game. The manager said: "I like your playing."

The attendance was so small that the game between St. Joe and Auburn—Garrett was called off. the management not wishing to take chances on another frost.

Rule of Three

Three things to govern—temper, tongue and conduct.

Three things to cultivate—courage, affection and gentleness.

Three things to commend—thrift, industry and promptness.

Three things to despise—cruelty, arrogance and ingratitude.

Three things to wish for—health, friends and contentment.

Three things to admire—dignity, gracefulness and intellectual power.

Three things to give—alms to the needy, comfort to the sad and appreciation to the worthy.

Corn for Sale.

We have just recieved a car load of of corn, which will be sold for 80 cents per bushel. Come and get some before its all gone. Hiram Reasoner.

The Remedy That Does.

"Dr. King's New Discovery is the remedy that does the healing others promise but fail to perform," says Mrs. E. R. Pierson, of Auburn Centre, Pa. "It is curing me of throat and lung trouble of long standing, that other treatments relieves only temporarily. New Discovery is doing me so much good that I feel confident its continued use for a reasonable length of time will restore me to perfect health." This renowned cough and cold remedy and throat and lung healer is sold at H. Milliman's drug store 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Notice to Patrons.

All persons owing us are requested to settle their accounts by August 1st either by cash or by note drawing 6 per cent. interest.

KEESLER MILLING CO.

Political Announcements.

EDITOR NEWS:—

Please announce my name as a candidate for the office of Assessor, subject to the will of the republican convention. (Concord township)

D. W. BAKER.

FOR RECORDER.

EDITOR NEWS:

Please announce my name as a candidate for the office of Recorder, subject to the Republican nominating convention. J. R. SHILLING.

Local News Items

Buy our stationery.

Envelopes 5c a bunch.

Old papers at NEWS office.

Hear the Band, Saturday eve.

Note books at THE NEWS office.

Heinz's pickles in bulk, sweet and sour at KAGEY'S.

Antwerp vs St. Joe, at the St. Joe Ball Park, to-morrow.

Bert Bowman of Chicago is visiting with his family here.

Mildred Cope of Ft. Wayne, visited relatives here, last week.

Born to George Johnston and wife of near Concord, a baby boy, Monday.

Mrs. George Keltzer of Ligonier is visiting with Wm. Randall and family.

Wm. Randall, wife and son Harry, spent Sunday at Waterloo and Garrett.

FOR SALE—A business and residence property at a bargain. See S. S. Widney.

Miss Grace Walker of Auburn, is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Martha Walker and other relatives, this week.

Isaac Meese and wife left last Wednesday for Allen, Mich., to visit their daughter, Mrs. Frank Henderson and family, a few weeks.

Last Thursday Dr. Bowman was called to the Pebbie home east of Auburn on account of their daughter falling from a load of hay, receiving injuries.

The L. L. C. will hold their midsummer meeting at the home of Mrs. Georgia Milliman on Friday afternoon July 10. All members are urged to be present.

The sprinkler has been put out of commission for a few days, the sparker on the engine gave out. Repairs have been sent for and it will soon be running. Mr. Mason is compelled to get water at the creek.

The St. Joe boys made it interesting for the Angola boys at the ball park Thursday to the tune of 5 to 1. The game was an excellent exhibition of the art of ball playing. The Angola boys let St. Joe have three runs in the first inning but after that they played ball. St. Joe has a good team, a gentlemanly lot of fellows who play ball like they mean business.—Dispatch.

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

BELL PHONE NO. 82.

St. Joe, Indiana.

JULY

0236
L 903

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

FRED B. LEIGHTY, - - Publisher.

1908 JULY 1908

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
•	•	•	1	2	3	4
5	6	7	8	9	10	11
12	13	14	15	16	17	18
19	20	21	22	23	24	25
26	27	28	29	30	31	•
•	•	•	•	•	•	•

F. Q. 6th. F. M. 13th. L. Q. 20th. N. M. 28th.

PAST AND PRESENT

AS IT COMES TO US FROM ALL CORNERS OF THE EARTH.

Telegraphic Information Gathered by the Few for the Enlightenment of the Many.

Murdered Woman Is Identified.

The identity of the body of a woman found in a rooming house in Chicago as that of Mrs. Fannie Thompson, formerly of Fargo, N. D., was established by the testimony of residents of Oak Park, a suburb of Chicago, by whom she had been employed. Mrs. Thompson's husband, it is said, is a school teacher in the western city, and he is reported to have been in Oak Park recently in an effort to persuade his wife to return west with him. The woman, who was also known as "Anna Raymond," refused his request, however, and left the village until after his departure for his home. The descriptions obtained of the woman's companion at the rooming house have been indefinite.

Put In Another Star.

After July 4 all flags made for the use of the Government will contain forty-six stars in the field or union, to conform in number to the States. The additional star follows the admission of Oklahoma to the family of States, an act of Congress in the early part of the nineteenth century requiring that on the admission of a new State one star is to be added to the union of the flag, to take effect on the Fourth of July next succeeding such admission. Oklahoma came into the Union November 16 last. The forty-six stars are to be in six rows, the first, third, fourth and sixth rows to have eight stars, and the second and fifth rows seven stars each. The stars rest on a blue field.

Jesuit College Burns.

The main building of St. Bonadventure College at Allegheny, N. Y., was destroyed by fire. The flames originated in a small unused room and the Jesuit Fathers who have charge of the institution cannot account for it except by the theory of incendiarism. About $80,000 loss was sustained on the building and about $30,000 on its contents.

Bishop Potter Near to Death.

Bishop Henry Codman Potter, of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of New York, is near death's door. The physicians' last statement was that the end was surely approaching. But the means taken to keep up the patient's strength have been in a measure efficacious, and it was believed that the bishop had still sufficient vitality to carry him through the night at least.

Incendiary Fire at Linton.

The third incendiary fire within three days destroyed the blacksmith shop, supply room, oil house, manway and a large quantity of "props" and timber at Vandalia Mine No. 5. Several barrels of oil exploded, making the fire a difficult one to suppress. The tipple and engine room were saved after a brilliant fight by the department. The loss will reach $5,000.

Mae C. Wood Indicted.

Mae C. Wood, the Omaha woman who sued United States Senator Thomas C. Platt for divorce, was indicted by a grand jury in New York City on the charges of perjury and forgery. Miss Wood is charged with having signed Senator Platt's name to a document acknowledging her as his wife.

Loses $35,000 Worth of Diamonds.

S. C. Powell, a buyer employed by Stern Bros. & Co., wholesale jewelers in the Columbus Memorial building, State street, Chicago, reported to the police that he either lost or was robbed of a sack containing $35,000 worth of unset diamonds.

Cloudburst in Kansas.

Many portions of Kansas are flooded by rains, including St. Marys, Rossville, Valley Falls, Meriden Ozawakie and Topeka. A terrific cloudburst of twelve inches is reported from Pawnee County and much wheat was destroyed.

CLEVELAND SERVICES SIMPLE.

Sorrowing Friends Follow Ex-President's Body to the Grave.

It was a distinguished company that silently watched as the body of Grover Cleveland was lowered into the grave in the Princeton, N. J., cemetery. The simple burial service of the Presbyterian church was then read, and before the last of the carriages in the cortege had driven up to the path leading to the burial place the benediction had been pronounced and the members of the family, President Roosevelt and others who had gathered about the grave, were leaving the cemetery. Many friends of the dead statesman lingered about the spot which was to mark his last resting place, and each in turn was permitted to cast a shovelful of earth into the grave.

Although the funeral was of a strictly private nature, those in attendance numbered many distinguished citizens and included President Roosevelt, Governor Fort of New Jersey, Governor Hughes of New York, Governor Hoke Smith of Georgia, former member of Cleveland's cabinet, officials of the Equitable Life Assurance society, members of the Princton university faculty and friends and neighbors.

Mr. Cleveland was buried with all the simplicity and privacy that he himself might have wished, as a private citizen rather than as the former chief executive of the nation. There was nothing that savored of the official, and the military element was injected solely as a measure of precaution in protecting President Roosevelt.

For over an hour before the services and until President Roosevelt had left the Cleveland home, the streets and cemetery were carefully guarded by miles of soldiers and police. Soon after the grave was filled the cemetery was opened to the public, and the crowds surged into the grounds to view the grave and floral display.

Fail to Sink the Florida.

Continuing the naval science experiment with the old monitor Florida as the object of attack, in the presence of three cabinet officers and many naval officers, a whitehead torpedo was fired into the vessel near Norfolk, Va. The torpedo, containing 220 pounds of gun cotton, hit the Florida amidships and caused her to reel, while water spouted up around her high in the air from the force of the explosion. Fragments of steel torn from the side of the vessel were hurled far around, some falling half a mile distant. Commander Quinby and thirty other officers, including Rear Admiral Capps, chief constructor of the navy, were aboard the Florida when the explosion occurred, and immediately thereafter Secretary Taft, Secretary Metcalf and Postmaster General Meyer joined them to witness the inspection. It had been expected by some that the monitor would sink, and boats were at hand for the rescue of those on board, but the Florida was able to be towed back to the navy yard to be placed in drydock for repairs. There it was found that the plates of the vessel's side had been driven in about five feet and torn apart several feet. A number of the bulkheads were damaged. Fifteen men could get through the hole at once, but the double bottom saved the ship from sinking. Admiral Capps denies the first report that pumps were used to keep the vessel afloat after the shot. He admits that some of our battleships could not withstand such a blow.

New Zeppelin Airship Test.

Under the patronage of the German Government, the new aluminum airship designed by Count Zeppelin is ready for its final test. It is built on the same general lines as other machines on which Count Zeppelin spent his entire private fortune, only it is much larger and more powerful. If the present model does all the inventor expects of it the government will pay $400,000 to the aeronaut, who, though 70 years old, is an enthusiast and will test his machine himself. It is 445 feet long and 49½ feet in diameter. It has three 145 horse-power motors and is equipped with wireless telegraphy and powerful searchlights. It will carry a number of men and a large quantity of explosives. If successful, it will be adopted by the German Army as a war balloon. The new model is cigar-shaped pointed at both ends, and the framework is of aluminum. It is expected to make 47 miles an hour.

A Truce in Gambling War.

Since the passage of the antiracing bills by the New York Legislature, and their signing by the governor, the police authorities have endeavored to stop all betting at the race tracks and at the Gravesend track fourteen men were arrested on the charge of violating the new law by some form of betting. Pending the test of the law in these cases, racing continued, but with small attendance of the public, and without any open signs of betting. At the same time it was reported that the poolrooms had opened up and were doing a thriving business. It was rumored that the English credit form of betting would be tried to circumvent the law.

To Make Black Print Paper.

The Wisconsin makers of print paper propose to furnish newspapers with black paper on which matter will be printed in white letters. They say that this would save millions in pulp yearly and reduce the cost of paper about one-half, as black paper can be made from old newspapers and almost any fibrous stock. An effort will be made to get newspapers to adopt the black concertedly

DENVER WIDE OPEN FOR THE CONVENTION

"Queen City of the Plains" Arranges to Give Political Visitors a Good Time.

BELL IS CHOSEN CHAIRMAN.

Democratic National Committee Confirms Bryan's Choice for Temporary Presiding Officer.

Denver correspondence:

A week in advance of the event Denver began filling up with visitors to the Democratic National Convention. Politicians and newspaper men gathered in large numbers to make plans for their respective delegations and journals, engaging quarters, reserving seats and seeing that wire accommodations are amply prepared.

The Denver merchants, through the board of trade, planned municipal entertainments for all who might be within the city gates until long after the nomination of Democratic candidates, and the city's business men declared that not one word should go forth into the world derogatory of the city's care of its visitors.

Denver spent its efforts and energies, throwing its heart and soul in one grand advertising effort. Underlying all Denver's claims to excellence is one basic principle that gives the city excuse for pretty nearly everything; that is climate. The Denver climate is made to be responsible for all the good there is native in the State.

THOMAS TAGGART.

Fine for the Fever Victim.

There is a real danger in the invigoration of the Denver atmosphere. If one starts out and walks through the city as fast and as far as he at first feels inclined to do he will find himself exhausted and worn and likely to wake up the next day with a good spell of sickness awaiting him. One accustomed to the lower altitudes cannot put forth too great an effort in Denver until he is accustomed to the climate. Some cannot stand it at all, and if a visitor comes from malarial districts he will find that for a couple of weeks after reaching the high dry climate of Colorado he will have the worst attack of fever and ague that ever struck him. It's the climate bringing out the disease that has been latent in him and rendered inactive by medicine. The mountain air brings it out, and if you stay long enough it gets out of your system entirely.

Denver believes no convention arrangements have been so complete as those in the Auditorium for the Bryan show. Colonel John I. Martin of St. Louis, who has the sergeant-at-arms habit, arrived a week in advance, coming early, he said, to prepare the hall and see that everything was ready in plenty of time. He found little to do in that line, and was free to plan his seating arrangements, ticket printing, and other details. Colonel Martin attended the Chicago convention, and said the Denver Auditorium was ahead of the arrangements there.

Water from the Mountains.

Colonel Martin and others interested in the preparations for the big convention said every possible convenience would be given the visitors. They declared that if any one could make a suggestion which had not been carried out already they would be glad to go to any cost to see that it was made. One innovation which the managers planned was to bring the best spring waters from the mountains for the delegates and their friends. The national committee arranged for a brigade of boys in white suits and caps to deliver water to all parts of the auditorium, including the telegraph operators in the basement.

Every effort was made to deaden the noises in the Auditorium. All the wooden floors were covered with hemp matting. The stairs to the speaker's stand were also carpeted. Fifty seats will be saved by elevating the band on a temporary platform. The auditorium itself is a marvel. The seats are all opera chairs.

Gavel and Sounding Board.

The gavel shown in the accompanying picture is the one furnished by Chairman Tom Taggart of the Democratic National Committee, to call the national convention to order. This gavel and sounding board were sent to Mayor Dahlmann of Omaha by T. G. Harris, of Fort Robinson, Neb. Mr. Harris is a strong supporter of Bryan, and an acquaintance of Mr. Dahlman. The sounding board is made of Black Hills cedar.

GAVEL FOR DENVER MEETING.

Theodore A. Bell, of California, was chosen temporary chairman of the convention by the Committee on Convention arrangements. Other appointments made by the committee were:

General Secretary—Urey Woodson of Kentucky.

Assistant General Secretary—Edwin Sefton of Washington, D. C.

Sergeant-at-Arms—John I. Martin of Missouri.

Chief Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms—J. C. Fenn of Indiana.

Chief Doorkeeper—Eugene W. Sullivan of Illinois.

Parliamentarian—N. D. Crutchfield of Kentucky.

Champlain for Opening Day—Rt. Rev. James J. Keane, Archbishop of Wyoming.

Official Stenographer—M. W. Blumberg of Washington, D. C.

Big Time for Early Birds.

Tom Taggart, Roger C. Sullivan, Urey Woodson, and the rest of the early birds had the time of their lives at banquets, mountain trips, auto riding, etc., a trip over the continental divide on the Moffet road, and Taggart hit Sullivan in the eye with a snowball up above the clouds. By splendid hospitality of this sort the Denverites tried to take the minds of visitors off the hotel rates, which were about as high as the mountains.

Thos. T. Taggart, chairman of the national committee, will be the first official to call the convention to order and get the business of nominating candidates for President and Vice President under way. He lives in Indianapolis and has been a member of the national committee eight years. As chairman of the committee four years ago he was nominally manager of the presidential campaign. After Chairman Taggart has calmed the delegates, a chaplain will offer prayer. Urey Woodson, the Democratic leader of Kentucky, will read the official call for the convention. Woodson has served twelve years on the committee, of which he is secretary. Next after the reading of the call Chairman Taggart will introduce the temporary chairman of the convention, Theo. A. Bell, of California. Bell was Democratic candidate for Governor of California two years ago and was defeated by only a small plurality. Mr. Woodson, according to the program, will be chosen both temporary and permanent secretary of the convention, and he will appoint his assistants. Col. John I. Martin, of St. Louis, will, as usual, be sergeant-at-arms. He served in that capacity both in 1896 and 1900.

TEMPORARY CHAIRMAN BELL.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

The weekly review of Chicago trade, published by R. G. Dun & Co., says:

Payments through the banks show the moderate shrinkage which usually precedes the July distribution of interest and dividends. The latter will approximate largely and seek reinvestment. Financial conditions generally reflect increasing ease in and ample supply of money, and the tone is more distinctly favorable toward advancing enterprise. Banks bid freely for desirable discounts on favorable terms to borrowers.

The currency drain to move crops is likely to expand earlier this season, but provision is made against demands, and the average of bank deposits compares encouragingly with that reported in May last.

Developments in trade circles impart more confidence to the outlook. Production and transportation of finished products and general merchandise exhibit steady recovery, and new orders for iron, steel and various factory outputs add to assured period of forward work. Bridges, track elevation and other heavy construction involve notable expenditures and additions to labor forces. Increased movements of grain, live stock, hides and wool sustain the recovery noted last week, and prices show more stability.

Hot weather influences greatly stimulated the absorption of light-weight apparel, the improvement in aggregate sales being particularly encouraging in the leading retail lines. Personal buying of fall and winter staples expands satisfactorily, and an advance in the cost of some goods in short supply appears in textiles.

Agricultural prospects become brighter with the winter wheat harvest and excellent condition of other grains. Crop marketings again are heavier, and prices sustain a high average for live stock, despite liberal arrivals. The total movement of grain at this port, 8,703,619 bushels, compares with 8,037,538 bushels last week and 9,749,402 bushels a year ago. Compared with 1907, decreases occur in receipts of 18.5 per cent and in shipments of less than 1 per cent.

Live stock receipts swelled to 311,538 head, against 286,726 head last week and 271,338 head a year ago, although this week's gain has not extended to hogs.

Bank clearings, $208,045,153, are 12.4 per cent under those of the corresponding week in 1907.

Failures reported in the Chicago district numbered 32, against 33 last week and 20 a year ago. Those with liabilities over $5,000 numbered 8, against 9 last week and 5 in 1907.

NEW YORK.

Trade this week has taken on most of the characteristics of a midsummer period. Retail business has been helped by warm weather in most sections and by widespread reduction sales. Jobbing houses have received moderate filling in orders and made the usual clearance sales. Fall buying has been and is cautious, but feeling is conservatively optimistic. Such lines as leather, staple worsted wools, agricultural implements and a few lines of steel products are more active, but the great industries as a whole are below normal activity and summer shut-downs promise to be more widely indulged in than for some years past.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending June 25 number 238, which compares with 254 last week, 150 in the first week of 1907, 146 in 1906, 186 in 1905 and 204 in 1904. Failures in Canada for the same period number 31, which compares with 23 last week and 29 in this week of 1907.—Bradstreet's Commercial Report.

THE MARKETS

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $8.40; hogs, prime heavy, $4.00 to $6.57; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2, 88c to 90c; corn, No. 2, 69c to 70c; oats, standard, 49c to 50c; rye, No. 2, 76c to 77c; hay, timothy, $8.00 to $12.00; prairie, $8.00 to $11.50; butter, choice creamery, 19c to 22c; eggs, fresh, 14c to 17c; potatoes, new, per bushel, 85c to $1.05.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $7.75; hogs, good to choice heavy, $3.50 to $6.35; sheep, common to prime, $3.00 to $4.50; wheat, No. 2, 85c to 86c; corn, No. 2 white, 73c to 74c; oats, No. 2 white, 51c to 52c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $4.50 to $7.90; hogs, $4.00 to $6.45; sheep, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, 91c to 92c; corn, No 2, 73c to 74c; oats, No. 2, 49c to 50c; No. 2, 76c to 78c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.50; hogs, $4.00 to $6.35; sheep, $3.00 to $4.15; wheat, No. 2, 89c to 91c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 71c to 72c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 52c to 53c; rye, No. 2, 84c to 86c.

Detroit—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.50; hogs, $4.00 to $6.15; sheep, $2.50 to $4.00; wheat, No. 2, 89c to 90c; corn, No. 3 yellow, 72c to 73c; oats, No. 3 white, 55c to 56c; rye, No. 2, 76c to 77c.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, $1.07 to $1.09; corn, No. 3, 68c to 69c; oats, standard, 52c to 53c; rye, No. 1, 74c to 75c; barley, No. 2, 67c to 68c; pork, mess, $13.72.

JULY

0237
L 903

A LONELY GIRL

By Mrs. Hungerford

CHAPTER XIX.—(Continued.)

"If you wish to speak to me," says she, "I am ready to hear you. Will you come this way? It is very quiet in the garden. Well!" demands she, facing him. She feels quite safe and full of courage. Some instinct tells her that Hilary, who had so reluctantly obeyed her wish, is still somewhere near.

"Well," repeats he. "Is it well for you? You think you are going to marry that fellow, Adare. You still think he will prove true to you, when he knows that if he does marry you, his uncle will disinherit him?"

"I don't think it," says she, in a clear, intense voice. "I know it."

"I defy you to know it," his breath coming more quickly. "Until to-night, although I have warned him of it, Sir Lucien never quite believed that his nephew"—with a contemptuous intonation—"condescended to admire you!"

"Still, I know it," repeats she, coldly. "And as for Captain Adare's not knowing that his uncle would probably disinherit him if he married me, I told him so myself. But I need not have done so; he had quite made up his mind about it."

"Ah!" furiously, "then you have promised to marry him?"

"No." Even in this dim light he can see the sad and grievous expression that clouds her face. "I have refused him."

"Refused him!" Deane stands back from her, amazed, incredulous. "This is a trick," cries he violently.

"Cannot you see," cries she, turning upon him in a passion of pain and grief, "that I could not marry him? I love him." She presses her hands as if in pain upon her breast. "I love him; but with this stain upon my father's memory, I shall never marry him."

"You mean," persistently, "that if those jewels are never found you will not marry Adare."

"Yes, I have told him so," she sighs heavily. Deane breaks into a sudden insolent laugh and then as suddenly grows silent. Something in the very calm of Amber's manner has at last convinced him that any hope he has entertained of making her his is at an end. But he can, at all events, prevent her from ever being Adare's! The day after to-morrow he will leave; and, catching the boat on Thursday next, be out of the country before Sir Lucien is even aware of his having left the Mill House. And, even if pursued, what chance of convicting him of having anything to do personally with those stones? A man of quick resolves, he now makes up his mind in an instant on a matter that might have taken other men many an hour to decide upon.

"Not him or any other man," says she slowly. That laugh of his angered her. There had been distrust of Adare in it.

"That lies in the future," retorts he. "As for me, I have not mentioned it before, but Esther and I start for Australia shortly. This is a secret I know I can trust you with. It lies with you now to either come with us or stay here—here, where you are treated with contempt and despised, and where, if you are in earnest about your refusal to marry Adare until your father's memory is cleared, you will find yourself deserted and alone. For"—with a strange glance, menacing, yet appealing—"that will never happen! Those jewels Sir Lucien has set his soul upon will never fall into his hands!"

"You only convince me that you know something of them," says she in a low, clear tone. "I feel it is useless to appeal to you, but hear me! If you do know where those jewels are, I swear I will not marry Hilary, or any man—that I will dig unmarried—if only you will clear my father's name! Is that not bribe enough?"

"Hah! you have come so far as that," says he. "Well! you must go farther. Swear you will marry me, and——".

She turns abruptly away, as if despising him too much to answer.

"Just as you will," he mutters sullenly. "However, a last word. If at any hour you elect to come out to us—and I believe Adare will fling you aside when he knows positively what his marriage with you will mean to him—then, you will receive from me a cordial welcome. Bear that in mind, my girl. It is worth a thought! And—another thing—if you agree to cast in your lot with us, you need not think that it must necessarily lead to marriage with me. No! His strange, wild face looks tragically, honestly earnest at that moment. "You shall be free to choose betwixt me and many another; to——"

"You have not left me free this time," says she with a faint smile. "But if you are really going, Brian, good-by. We are not likely to meet again."

"You forget—you are coming home to-morrow."

"No, I had not forgotten. But to-night Madam asked me to go and stay with her for a week, and——"

"Ah!" cries he fiercely, with the fierceness of acute mental agony. "You are dwelling on the thought that this is our last meeting. You hope for that! But," in a choking voice, "it is not our last meeting; in spite of you, I shall see you again——"

"It would not be in spite of me, Brian," says she very softly and kindly, touched by the certain misery of his whole air. "I only thought it would be for the best for you and me not to meet again. But if you wish to bid me another, more open farewell, I shall be glad to see you at Madam's."

"Let that rest," says he roughly, making a gesture as if pushing something aside. "What I want to know is, what are you going to do when I am gone? Madam," with a glance at her, "will go too! And you! Are you going to live alone in that old house?"

"I have lived alone the greater part of my life." Her voice is very sad and forlorn. "I shall not mind the loneliness. I have had no time to think of it yet; as I had no idea Esther would go back with you this time. But I am sure old Mrs. Blake and her daughter—you know how poor they are, and how respectable—would come up and take care of me and the house. They are quite nice people, and will not trouble me at all, and I think it will be a help to them. So you see," with a rather haughty, if distinctly puzzled glance, "you need not be at all uneasy about me."

CHAPTER XX.

"We are going up to the tower to see the stars," cries May. "They will be lovely to-night. Gilby," to Grey, who is in close attendance, "has Amber gone? She said she hated cloaks. Oh! come, Dolly, it will be delicious in the tower, and, after all, I'm not a bit sleepy now!"

"The stars in their courses," begins Dolly, glancing at Everard, "are fighting for you. Come!"

Up here in this old tower the night is magnificent. Stars upon stars stud the pale blue firmament, their brilliant lights defying the darkness. Even Dolly is a little less vivacious than usual beneath the heavenly beauty of those silent stars swimming above her in the ineffable blue. It may be their mystic charm, or else a faint twinge of conscience, that renders her mute—who can say? It would be unfair to judge her on such evidence, as May is very silent, too; and Amber, with arms on the sill of one of the narrow windows, her head uplifted, her large eyes wrapt and dreamy, has evidently no word for anyone. Not even for Hilary, who is on her right hand, or for Everard, who is standing on her left.

The little touch of calm that seems to have fallen on them all is now broken. From outside, from the stone steps leading up to the first room in the old tower, comes a yell both loud and deep! Naturally, Mr. McGrath is the owner of it.

"Owen!" says Mrs. Clarence at once, with an air of resignation; "he has evidently fallen on the hard stone steps, coming up in a hurry, and hurt himself." Indeed, a second later, as he stumbles into the room, he tells them so.

"Beastly stairs! Fancy putting stones inside a house. Bad enough before the hall door. Well, here I am at last. Not missed, I can see, although I have been fighting your battles down below. But it's no good! Nothing would get our darling Lucien off to his silken couch. He grows liveller every minute. He wants to see you, Hilary; I'd advise you to go at once, as he's in one of his tantrums. What are you all doing up here, eh? Mooning?"

Everard casts an involuntary glance at Dolly, whose face is impassive. Had she arranged it? And, indeed, perhaps she had. Who could say?

At all events, she does not betray herself. Her wonderfully youthful little face, with its lucent eyes of simple blue gazing through the window up to the lustrous stars, is innocent as a babe's of any hidden meaning.

Everard's heart begins to beat quickly. The time has come, with or without Dolly's intervention. Why trifle with it? Five minutes alone with her—with Amber! A word spoken—a word answered. If she will give herself to him! He jibs a little at this thought, he, who, up to this, has sworn against lasting charms of any sort. But this one creature in all the world has caught and held him.

Hilary below is caught by Sir Lucien in a discussion about the rents of the lower farms first—and then, as to the chances of making Brian Deane tell all he knows of the missing jewels. "He knows everything," says Sir Lucien. "I don't believe it," says Hilary, "he is false all through. He is playing with you," and so on. Hilary's manner, in spite of himself, is a little impatient, and he has lost the power to conceal it. His heart is with the lovely Amber upstairs, with the girl who has dragged it out of his breast. This thought delights him. "I have now no heart," he has told himself a hundred times, glad at his loss. "No heart, but she has given me hers instead. And what a heart!" All her grace and sweetness comes to him now, threefold as he sits listening to Sir Lucien's violent diatribes against her mother and her detested father.

As he saw her last, looking up to the stars, her pretty elbows on the window sill, how dear she was. Truth and beauty lay in her eyes. Ah! that is her principal charm, Truth! But beauty is truth! And what a lovely nature is hers!

Poor Amber! she has need of many witches to keep away the many harms that are following her to-night, had he only known it! Breaking free at last from Sir Lucien, he rises, and with a haste that I am afraid can hardly be called decent, leaves the room.

Now, with mad haste in his steps, he rushes up the broad staircase from the hall, eager to reach again that room in the old tower where he had last seen his beloved gazing with rapt eyes upon the stars.

The room is empty. No Amber is here now. No one is here—it is swept clear of any living thing. Dolly indeed had been careful to carry off all the others downstairs, when she saw Amber and Everard go towards the tiny stairs that led to the very top of the tower.

Something he cannot define strikes cold to Hilary's heart, as he stands on the threshold of the empty room. She had not waited! It was the one, the first thought. It was senseless—absurd; how could she wait, if all the others went? But still . . . she had not waited.

He turns to retrace his steps. If not here, then perhaps in the drawing room. It is late, however, and no doubt once having abandoned their desire for the stars, they—the women—had all gone to their rooms. Slowly he goes downwards, and reaching the gallery that runs round part of the house, walks slowly towards a back staircase that leads to the halls beneath. He has gone half way when a slight sound in the distance behind him brings him to a full stop.

Steps! Steps surely! He turns, and through the darkness—Sir Lucien's economical mind has ordered lights out at eleven o'clock sharp every night—through the darkness lit only by the moon, that now is riding gloriously in the heavens outside, his eyes rest instinctively upon the stone steps that lead to the tower.

A moment he waits, his heart beating madly—a moment, and now through the mists of night, and the strange shadows of it, and the faint rays rushing through the central windows, he sees two forms come slowly forward.

They pause. One—it is Amber—leans slightly forward. Some words fall from her lips. Her companion—Everard, beyond doubt—answers her. Another moment, and then Everard has taken her hand, has raised it to his lips, she consenting! A fervent, a passionate caress on the back of that small brown hand, and Everard goes down the principal staircase, leaving her still standing in the full moonlight gazing after him. Adare can see her face perfectly. Beyond doubt there is intense feeling in it—for him—for Everard!

The fact that Amber is now coming his way, across the unlit gallery, fails to check the devil that is raging in his breast. Ah! last night. How he had admired her then, mad fool that he was, because of her determination not to marry him until her father's name was cleared! She had not waited to clear her father's memory before accepting Everard. What a dupe he has been! It was a mere put off to him, until she could make sure of Everard, and his immense fortune. And he had believed in her; he would have staked his soul on her truth.

Nearer, nearer come the footsteps. Quite in the shadow himself, he can watch her as she approaches, without being seen himself. A cold, hateful disbelief in all things—in everyone—has seized upon him, taking place of his late mad rage. As she gets within two yards of him he steps forward.

"Oh, you, Hilary!" cries she with a little throb of joyous surprise in her soft voice.

(To be continued.)

Seasons of Mars.

Were Mars not an old planet, corroborating by absence of cloud the general course of planetary development, our knowledge of it would have been slight, says Percival Lowell in the Century. To begin with, it enables us to mark the permanency in place of the planet's features and so to time their axial rotation; by which we come to knowledge of the planet's day.

This day proves to differ little from our own in duration, being twenty-four hours, forty minutes long, instead of twenty-four hours. Next it discloses the tilt of the axis to the planet's orbital plane, a relation which causes the seasons of the year. Now the martian tilt, as well as the martian time of rotation, turns out to be singularly like our own, being in fact 24 degrees as against 23½ degrees for the earth. The year of Mars, however, is twice ours in length, which, joined to great eccentricity of orbit, gives it diversifiedly long seasons. Thus in the northern hemisphere spring lasts 199 days, summer 183, autumn 147 and winter 158, while in its southern hemisphere the figures stand reversed.

The numbers have more than academic importance, for absolute length is as vital a factor in a season's influence as the fact of the season itself. Much may be brought to pass in twice the time which could not develop in the shorter period. And it is not a little interesting that precisely this possibility actually turns out to be vital in the vegetative economy of the planet's year.

Realism in Art.

Two artists were boasting how they could paint. "Do you know," said one, "I painted a sixpence on the ground one day, and a beggar nearly broke his fingers trying to pick it up!"

"That's nothing to what I did," said the other. "I painted a leg of mutton on a stone, and it was so realistic that a dog ate half the stone before he found out his mistake!"

About 6,000 iron miners in Lorraine, more than half of the whole number employed in that region on the border of Germany and France, are using acetylene lamps in their work.

REVIEW OF INDIANA

George Coon fell from a telephone pole at Wabash and sustained fatal injuries.

While a child of Everett Fleming, of Evansville, was feeding a pony the animal bit off two of its fingers.

While marketing some stock at Garrett, George L. Dougherty, a DeKalb County farmer, was attacked by a vicious bull before he could clamber out of the stock yards and was badly injured.

John Owens, a deputy State drug and food inspector at Richmond, poured the contents of one milk wagon into the sewer, and dirty fixtures in others were jerked out. Samples of milk were collected and sent to the State laboratory.

The family of Wm. Potts, at Mishawaka will cast thirty votes for Wm. Howard Taft for president. Potts has nine sons who are Republicans. He has seventeen nephews who will vote the Republican ticket. He has enough Republican brothers to bring to total for Taft up to thirty. The Potts family gave McKinley twenty votes and Roosevelt twenty-six.

Charles S. Vail, of Rushville, who has just accepted the pastorate of the Christian church at Stockwell, eight miles south of Lafayette, was until last week city editor of the Rushville Republican. He is 30 years old and has traveled extensively. During the Spanish-American War he was a member of a volunteer regiment and served in the Philippines, seeing active service.

It has just been learned that F. W. Swaim and his son, George Swaim, of Bluffton, who were supposed to have been murdered in Death Valley, Cal., are all right and well at Los Angeles. A few weeks ago dispatches told of the finding of two skeletons by prospectors in Death Valley, and near them were blankets bearing the initials of the Swaims. This led to the belief that the skeletons were those of the Bluffton men, and friends were mourning them as dead.

Because she tried to release a cat from a rat trap, Mrs. N. J. Zoll, of Hammond, is not expected to live. The maddened feline sank its teeth into her arm, and the arm has swollen to enormous size. Mrs. Zoll set the trap to catch a rat, and the next morning found her pet cat a captive. The animal had been imprisoned for hours, but Mrs. Zoll refused to have it killed, thinking she could save its life. The services of two men were required before the cat would release its grip on her arm.

After having been married four times each, George Moore, aged 54 years, of Stevens County, Washington, and Mrs. Mary Catherine McQueen, 50 years old, of Clifford, seven miles east of Columbus, returned to their first love and married eachother last week. They are natives of Jackson County, Indiana, and were sweethearts in their childhood. When she was 16 and he 20 they were betrothed, but later had a quarrel, which resulted in his going West, where he is now a wealthy rancher. Last week he returned to his old home, and learning that she had but recently become a widow, he went to see her. They replighted their troth and were married.

Swimming parties are the real swagger thing in high society circles in Columbus just now. There is no bathing beach there, so a local swimming pool at a sanitarium is utilized. On the hot afternoons the young men call up their young women friends and invite them to go swimming. The invitation is generally accepted, bathing suits hurriedly provided and a swimming party is then held. Plans are being made for a big swimming party at which programs will be provided and the various "awims" will be taken the same as dances at a ball. The grand march is said to be something great, as the bathers parade around the pool to the Tune of "What Are the Wild Waves Saying?"

William E. Crane, of Greenfield, is defendant in a divorce suit brought against him alleging cruel treatment. Mrs. Crane says she is the defendant's fifteenth wife, but he will admit to only seven marriages. Two of the seven wives are dead, he got a divorce from two, two received the decree, and the records show the seventh wife charges him with feeding their cow some kind of powder unknown to her with the purpose of rendering the cow's milk unfit for use. She also alleges that he threw the same powder about her bedroom, causing her annoyance and inability to sleep. Mr. Crane says life has been a great trouble and he sometimes wished he could be taken away and have it all ended. He declares he never contemplated suicide as he believes it an unpardonable sin. Mrs. Crane declares her husband has been married fifteen times and that she can prove it. The defendant is 12 years old.

The creamery at Avilla is manufacturing five thousand pounds of butter weekly.

Facon Andreas, a wealthy farmer living near St. Wendel, fell from a cherry tree and was killed.

Mark Briney, a farmer near Covington, shot and crippled a horned owl, measuring four and one-half feet from wing tip to wing tip.

Guy Sturgeon, aged 13, was killed on a farm west of Mt. Vernon by falling from a traction engine between the fly wheel and drive wheel.

E. H. Roberts, a well-known commission man of Evansville, whose leg was amputated because of an ulcerated bunion on the foot, died of blood poisoning.

Councilman James Wright, of Kendallville, has never worn a pair of shoes since childhood, and has had his boots made at one establishment there for forty-three years.

Ralph Hastings and Raymond Horrall, sons of prominent citizens of Washington, collided while traveling at a terrific speed on bicycles. Hastings' shoulder was dislocated.

The Evansville Board of Public Safety has ordered all theatoriums exhibiting pictures of the Gunness murders at Laporte, Ind., to stop showing them, under pain of revocation of licenses.

A team of horses owned by Raber & Pier, at Wolcottville, indulged in a runaway in which one of the horses was killed and the wagon demolished. Mr. Raber, who was driving the outfit, jumped and escaped serious injury.

After paying out in rent for it $200 more than the building cost him, J. E. Hall, a grocer, purchased from the Stilwell Real Estate Company, of Anderson, the building he has occupied for a number of years. Consideration $5,000.

Two thousand boys from all parts of the country will go into camp at Lake Winona next month, and will conduct a real city—"Boyville." The plan was originated last year by Judge Willis Brown, of Salt Lake City, and the first city had a population of 500.

Entirely through a kitchen door went a bullet from a rifle fired by Harry Johnson, a Muncie boy, and imbedded itself in the abdomen of Mrs. John Radabaugh. The wound is not serious, but Mrs. Radabaugh is suffering severely from the shock. The boy was shooting at a target.

Fire destroyed the general merchandise store of Rice & Langford, at Eby, causing a loss of $3,000, with $1,200 insurance. The home of Mrs. Edna Dial also burned at a loss of $1,500, with no insurance. Eight hundred dozen eggs in the store, just delivered by hucksters, were roasted. The fire is charged to incendiarism.

As the result of spontaneous combustion, attributed to placing new hay with old in the mow, H. W. Fisher's barn, near Muncie, burned, with contents. Two horses were cremated. Mr. Fisher had just finished his hay harvest. Farmers contend that when new and old hay are stored together a gas is generated which sometimes explodes.

Samuel Cropoff, of Hammond, under treatment in the hospital for the insane at Logansport, escaped from that institution in a nude condition, and he was captured five miles south of Peru by a posse of farmers. Cropoff is said to be the wildest man in the hospital, but he was tame as a kitten when captured, owing to physical exhaustion. He was wrapped in a blanket and returned to the hospital.

Eugene Coleman, of Warsaw, an insurance man, who is known throughout the northern part of the State, on being held up by two robbers on the streets of Tacoma, Wash., last week, knocked a revolver from the hand of one of the men attacking him, obtained possession of the weapon, arrested both men and landed them in the police station, where he recovered $50 and a gold watch taken from him.

Everett Mason, of Oakland City, at the age of 16 years, is thought to be the heaviest boy in Indiana. Eleven months ago he tipped the scales at 365 pounds, and has made a gain since then of sixty pounds. He now weighs 425. Young Mason is a hearty eater and prefers a heavy diet, craving meats of all kinds. His daily consumption of food is said to be twice that of an ordinary man. Mason's parents are small of stature, and he did not show a tendency to abnormal weight until a few years ago. Since that time his growth has been phenomenal. It is said that he can run any ordinary man a good footrace. All his clothes are made especially for him. He is good-natured, and always has a crowd around him when he appears in the streets, and seems to enjoy the attention he receives.

JULY

0238

L 903

For Female Ills

You should take, for female ills, a medicine which acts on the female organs and functions.

Cardui is not a man's medicine. It is for women. Its pure, healing, curative, vegetable ingredients, go direct to the womanly organs, relieve their pain and inflammation, and build up their strength.

"Tongue cannot tell," writes Miss Nola Smith, of Sweetser, Ind., "what has done for me. I am on my third bottle and am so much better. Before I began to take Cardui, I could not do a day's work. Now I can work all day. Mother took four bottles of Cardui before confinement, got along fine and has been real strong ever since."

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMAN'S RELIEF

At All Druggists

WRITE FOR FREE ADVICE, stating age and describing symptoms, to Ladies Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. E 49

J. A. PROVINES

TRUSTEE

of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:
THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK
at residence in Spencerville, Ind.

DENTIST.

C. R. PRICE,

ST. JOE, IND.

Office in Case building.

Bell Phone No. 44.

WABASH WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St. Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.

No. 11,	Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail	12:05p.m
No. 3,	Western Express	8:06 p. m

GOING EAST.

No. 2,	Eastern Express	6:34a. m
No. 16,	Toledo Acc & Mail	7:21 p. m

The Old Proverb

That "It takes nine tailors to make a man" may possibly mean that it takes nine trials to find the right tailor.

You can save eight trials by coming here first. At this time in the year we can do considerably better by you than later. Not better in style, fabric, fit or finish—that's impossible—but better in price. For Example:—

Suits from $18.00 up.

Pants from $4.00 up

ED MAY,

TAILOR,

Butler, Ind.

The St. Joe News.

One Year - -	$1.00
Six Month - -	50c
Three Months - -	25c

FRED B. LEIGHTY, Editor.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

Editorially.

Much fun and alleged wit is expended on the merry widow hat, but taken from center to circumference, it is the most useful and sensible headwear that woman has been guilty of for several generations. It is hat and parasol in one, leaving the fair hands of the wearer free for work or play.

The heat of summer is upon us and man and beast must strip for the struggle while it lasts. Human beings can meet torrid atmospheric conditions without great discomfort for cooling drinks, light clothes, shade and electric fans have minimized the stress and strain of the season, But animals, and especully draft animals, are necessarily subjected to great hardship, and the driver or owner who will give attention to the many little things that will relieve their lot is worthy of the reward of the good, here or elsewhere, The horse should be allowed frequent rest and if possible in the shade. He should be watered often. His harness should be as comfortable as it is possible to make it. There is too much misplaced leather and metal in ordinary harness. Bridles are too heavy. The blinds are in ninety per cent of the cases, superfluous. A careful examination of the seamy side of the harness will disclose roughness, often of metal, that are a continuous source of irritation and pain.

Will the Japanese spectre never down? We have heard that the country is bankrupt. We know that she is preparing an international exposition to which all nations are invited as guests. Our government has appropriated a large sum for this exposition. Japan is a small, compact country with not more than forty million inhabitants. many of them sea faring from childhood, but her wonderful success in her recent wars with China and Russia has aroused a conquering flame that is consuming her own country and alarming the world in general and the United States in particular. Now comes the report that she is using Brazil as a cat's paw to greatly and instantaneously, as it were, increase her navy. She is threatened with no war. Her recent great antagonist has no fleets except those dispatched by Japan to the bottom of the ocean and what object can Japan have for great naval strength unless it may be to try conclusions with the United States? No one can doubt that when President Roosevelt during the last session of Congress, declared with an earnestness rare, even with him, for a larger navy, he knew what he was asking for and there is little doubt but that the people of the United States, Congress excepted, are anxious to be taxed for greater power at sea.

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS promptly obtained in all countries, or no fee. We obtain PATENTS THAT PAY, advertise them thoroughly, at our expense, and help you to success.

Send model, photo or sketch for FREE report on patentability. Expert search. SURPASSING REFERENCES. For free Guide Book on Profitable Patents write to

503-505 Seventh Street, WASHINGTON, D. C.

D. SWIFT & CO.

Local News Items

Buy our stationery,

Envelopes 5c a bunch.

Old papers at NEWS office.

Antwerp vs St. Joe, at the St. Joe Ball Park, to-morrow.

Flowery Sentences Retained.

"The mantle of darkness" and "the dome of the sky" are survivals from the days when the sky was believed to be a solid dome resting upon the edge of the earth, over which blankets of different colors hung at dawn and dusk.

Nonsense.

A mosquito that will bite a lady through the drop stitch in her stocking is no gentleman.

What a woman can do to a man who loves her as much as he does himself is truly wonderful.

What good did it ever do you to hurt someone's feelings? Did saying a mean thing and, if it did, were you satisfied and happy with what it got you?

It is a sort of self applied insult when the man who lets his wife take in washing asks the young man who wants to marry his daughter, if he can support her.

A neighboring newspaper wants to know how many clothes a woman should have. What's the use of asking fool questions? She will have as many as she can get anyhow.

An Iowa editor recently printed in his paper that if the rain didn't stop before long, everything in the ground would be peeping out. An old subscriber, reading the prognostication went out in the back yard and dump another load of rock on the grave of the family cat.

Swindlers are reported to be reaping a rich harvest in the dry towns of this and other western states. They are disposing of bottles containing a dark brown fluid labeled "cold tea" at $1 each and have many purchasers for it. The sale is accompanied by a suggestive wink and the thirsty purchaser thinks he is obtaining a bottle of whiskey. Not until the mixture is tasted does the victim discover that indeed purchased cold tea, and a good quality of tea, at that. As there was no false pretense the buyer has no recourse.

Best the World Affords.

"It gives me unbounded pleasure to recommend Bucklen's Arnica Salve," says J. W. Jenkins, of Chapel Hill, N. C, "I am convinced it's the best salve the world affords. It cured a felon on my thumb, and it never fails to heal every sore, burn or wound to which it is applied. 25c at H. Milliman's drug store.

Bridal Superstitions.

Married in January's hoar and rime, good things will come if you wait your time.

Married in February's sleety weather, life you'll dread in time together.

Married when March winds whine and roar, your home will be on a foreign shore.

Married 'neath April's changeful skies, a checkered path before you lies.

Married when bees o'er May blossoms flit, strangers around your board will sit.

Married in the month of roses—June life will be a long honeymoon.

Married in July, with flowers ablaze bitter-sweet memories in after days.

Married in August's heat and browse lover and friend in your chosen spouse.

Married in golden September's glow smooth and serene your life will go.

Married when leaves in October thin, toil and hardship for you begin.

Married in veils of November mist, fortune your wedding ring has kissed.

Married in days of December cheer, love's star shines bright from year to year.

Just Exactly Right.

"I have used Dr. King's New Life Pills for several years and find them just exactly right," says Mr. A. A. Felton of Harrisville, N. Y. New Life Pills relieve without the least discomfort. Best remedy for constipation, billousness and malaria. 25c at H. Milliman's drug store.

WANTED—A RIDER AGENT IN EACH TOWN and district to ride and exhibit a sample Latest Model "Ranger" bicycle furnished by us. Our agents everywhere are making money fast. Write for full particulars and special offer at once.

NO MONEY REQUIRED until you receive and approve of your bicycle. We ship to anyone, anywhere in the U. S. without a cent deposit in advance, prepay freight, and allow TEN DAYS' FREE TRIAL during which time you may ride the bicycle and put it to any test you wish. If you are then not perfectly satisfied or do not wish to keep the bicycle ship it back to us at our expense and you will not be out one cent.

FACTORY PRICES We furnish the highest grade bicycles it is possible to make at one small profit above actual factory cost. You save $10 to $25 middlemen's profits by buying direct of us and have the manufacturer's guarantee behind your bicycle. DO NOT BUY a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone at any price until you receive our catalogues and learn our unheard of factory prices and remarkable special offers to rider agents.

YOU WILL BE ASTONISHED when you receive our beautiful catalogue and study our superb models at the wonderfully low prices we can make you this year. We sell the highest grade bicycles for less money than any other factory. We are satisfied with $1.00 profit above factory cost.

BICYCLE DEALERS, you can sell our bicycles under your own name plate at double our prices. Orders filled the day received.

SECOND HAND BICYCLES. We do not regularly handle second hand bicycles, but usually have a number on hand taken in trade by our Chicago retail stores. These we clear out promptly at prices ranging from $3 to $8 or $10. Descriptive bargain lists mailed free.

COASTER-BRAKES, single wheels, imported roller chains and pedals, parts, repairs and equipment of all kinds at half the usual retail prices.

$8.50 HEDGETHORN PUNCTURE-PROOF SELF-HEALING TIRES A SAMPLE PAIR TO INTRODUCE, ONLY $4.80

The regular retail price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but to introduce we will sell you a sample pair for $4.80 cash with order ($4.55).

NO MORE TROUBLE FROM PUNCTURES

NAILS, Tacks or Glass will not let the air out. Sixty thousand pairs sold last year. Over two hundred thousand pairs now in use.

DESCRIPTION. Made in all sizes. It is lively and easy riding, very durable and lined inside with a special quality of rubber, which never becomes porous and which closes up small punctures without allowing the air to escape. We have hundreds of letters from satisfied customers stating that their tires have only been pumped up once or twice in a whole season. They weigh no more than an ordinary tire, the puncture resisting qualities being given by several layers of thin, specially prepared fabric on the tread. The regular price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but for advertising purposes we are making a special factory price to the rider of only $4.80 per pair. All orders shipped same day letter is received. We ship C. O. D. on approval. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them strictly as represented.

Notice the thick rubber tread "A" and puncture strips "B" and "D," also rim strip "H" to prevent rim cutting. This tire will outlast any other make—SOFT, ELASTIC and EASY RIDING.

We will allow a cash discount of 5 per cent (thereby making the price $4.55 per pair) if you send FULL CASH WITH ORDER and enclose this advertisement. We will also send one nickel plated brass hand pump. Tires to be returned at OUR expense if for any reason they are not satisfactory on examination. We are perfectly reliable and money sent to us is as safe as in a bank. If you order a pair of these tires, you will find that they will ride easier, run faster, wear better, last longer and look finer than any tire you have ever used or seen at any price. We know that you will be so well pleased that when you want a bicycle you will give us your order. We want you to send us a trial order at once, hence this remarkable tire offer.

IF YOU NEED TIRES don't buy any kind at any price until you send for a pair of Hedgethorn Puncture-Proof tires on approval and trial at the special introductory price quoted above, or write for our big Tire and Sundry Catalogue which describes and quotes all makes and kinds of tires at about half the usual prices.

DO NOT WAIT but write us a postal today. DO NOT THINK OF BUYING a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone until you know the new and wonderful offers we are making. It only costs a postal to learn everything. Write it NOW.

J. L. MEAD CYCLE COMPANY, CHICAGO, ILL.

1916.

The Nappanee Advance says Rev. B. E. Parker, pastor of the M E church while on a business trip last week, visited the colony of the "Holy Rollers" at Benton Harbor. This peculiar sect of people live in a communistic manner, every member putting his money and property into the common treasury of the church. There is one storehouse from where all the supplies are obtained, and all property is held in common.

The society has a farm of about 900 acres on which the finest of crops are raised. They have a creamery which is noted for its products. They dwell in fine houses, and although the men and women go through the form of marriage ceremony, it is said they do not hold the marriage vow sacred. The men wear long hair.

The real name of the sect is the "House of Israel." They have it figured out that the world will come to an end in 1916 and believe the time may be even sooner. The end will come, according to their views of the scriptures, when "144,000 are added to the House of Israel."

They were very courteous to Rev. Parker and gladly showed him over their farm and through their possessions.

Appointments

By direction of Secretary Taft the Board of Insular Affairs of the War Department yesterday announced the following appointments made by the President:

Vice-Governor of the Philippine Islands, W. Cameron Forbes, of Mass., now a member of the Philippine Commission.

To be a member of the Philippine Commission and secretary of finance and justice of the Philippine islands, Gregorio Araneta of Manila

To be members of the Philippine Commission, Newton W. Gilbert, of Indiana, and Rafael Palma, a native of the Philippine Islands.

By direction of Sec'y Taft, the bureau of Insular affairs of the war department, announced the above appointments. Newt. W. Gilbert, formerly Lieutenant Governor of Indiana, elected congressman from this district, resigned his position as congressman that he might be appointed as judge in the Phillipines. The place Mr. Gilbert now occupies will pay him $7,500 per year which is pretty good for N. W. Of course in places of this kind, ability does not count but the fact that Mr. Gilbert has a stand in with those who make the appointments but good for Newt, anyway.

Heart Troubles

The heart may be weak just the same as the eyes, stomach or other organs. It often happens that a person is born with a weak heart. Then again disease, fevers, over-exertion, anxiety, nervousness, rheumatism, etc., weaken the heart. The result is shortness of breath, palpitation, pain in the heart, or in some of the nerves of the chest or abdomen. The heart should be strengthened with a tonic, and for this nothing equals Dr. Miles' Heart Cure.

"I had LaGrippe last fall as I thought in a mild form. I was weak, tired feeling, and short of breath; could hardly go about, and a good deal of the time sort of an asthmatic breathing and extremely nervous. I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nervine and now I feel so much better in every way. I am so thankful that I began taking this medicine, and shall not hesitate to tell others how much good it has done me."

MRS. F. J. NORTON,
Freeville, New York.

Your druggist sells Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and we authorize him to return price of first bottle (only) if it fails to benefit you.

Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind

Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also furnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable.

Beams & Baker.

JULY

0239
L 903

Local News.

In Brief Paragraphs.

Chas. Bleeks of Goshen, is at home this week.

Born, to Geo. Kinsey and wife, last Thursday, a girl.

If you are in the market for a hay loader call and see CURIE'S.

Geo. Brown of Auburn, was in town, Sunday, the guest of relatives.

St. Joe vs Antwerp, July 9, at St. Joe. Come out and see a good game.

Marie Leighty is spending a couple of weeks visiting relatives at Sherwood.

Try a sack of Orangeville flour at Barneys. Once used; always used. There is none better.

Earl Sherer, Frank and Albert Ginther and wife of Wayne, visited over the Fourth with J. W. Sherer and family. The Walter boys also of Wayne visited with their parents.

Drink Moxie these days. It makes you eat better, sleep better and feel better. For sale at KAGEY'S.

Lester Curie of Tulsa, Oklahoma, arrived Sunday for a few weeks visit with his parents. He has been in Tulsa for the past fourteen months working for the Union Trust Co. He is pleased with the country and more than pleased with his position and he expects to return by the 28th.

Orangeville flour stands at the head of the list. Makes more and better bread; does not dry out or make coarse rough bread. At Barney's.

The Fourth of July was as usual a very quiet affair, a great many people attending celebrations away from home. Those who visited away from home were Howard and Foster Gee, Bryan; Aaron Thomas and wife, Edgerton; Frank Rhoads and wife, Butler; Fred Leighty and Lora Hull, South Bend; Christ Saylor and family, Sherwood; Ethel Berry and Grace Leighty, Auburn; besides many others

Special rates on ice delivered to all parts of the city, at any time and any amount. F. R. LEIGHTY.

Heaven help the man who imagines he can dodge enemies by trying to please everybody! If such an individual ever succeeds pass him over this way that we may have one look at his mortal remains ere he vanishes away for surely this earth cannot be his abiding place. Now we do not infer that one should be going through this world trying to find beams to knock and thump his head against, disputing every man's opinion, fighting and elbowing and crowding all who differ from him. That, again, is another extreme. Other people have their opinions, so have you. Don't fall into the error of supposing they will respect you more for turning your coat every day, to match the color of theirs Wear your own clothes in spite of wind and weather, storms and sunshine. It costs the irresolute ten times the trouble to wind, and shuffle, and twist than it does honest manly independence to stand.

Notice to Farmers.

Anyone having hay ropes, wire ropes or cables needing splicing. Can get same done, or any other ropes spliced by phoning No. 10 or by writing to the News Office.

LEIGHTY & CURIE.

Women of Chicago, Ohio.

Much has been written about the boy and many tears have been shed over that pathetic song: "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" but recent occurrences in this city bring to the parents the startling question "Where is you Daughter Tonight? Is she safe at home or is she wandering close upon the brink of the yawning abyss, ready to engulf her forever in its black depths of sin and immorality?

Mother, when your daughter makes an excuse to get away from the house at early eventide, do you know where she is going?

Have you confidence in her to believe that her thoughts are pure, her intentions honest and her promises sincere? Can you believe that she is in good company, where woman's purity is honored and true womanhood reigns supreme? Can you rest assured that her life is moulded after yours, and that the example of true Christian motherhood set by yourself is the one which she is following?

If so, you are indeed fortunate. It has been said that more Chicago young girls are leading lives of shame today than ever known before. It has also been said that more married women are following questionable paths than ever before. Reports surely show that these statements are true.

Mothers would surely be surprised if they could witness the clandestine meetings which take place in the secluded spots of Chicago Junction nightly.

What business have these girls with men at these places? If a girl desires to enjoy the company of young men, let her take the young fellow to her home where her mother can see and know whether he is a fit person for her to associate with. Do not, girls, think it smart to sneak off with a man and associate with him in secret places. The girl's intentions may be innocent but the man's, never.

Especially is it necessary to emphasize the fact that a young girl has no business to be meeting men after night in lonely and secluded places. The mother should know with whom her daughter associates and should endeavor to preserve her daughter's confidence. If the young man's intentions are honorable he will be more glad to make the girl's home their meeting place.

Mother, is it your daughter who is possibly tonight meeting some man in the darkness and secrecy of a secluded spot? If so, look after her before it is too late.

A curfew ordinance for some of our girls and women would, if properly enforced, be a great help toward raising the morals of the town.—Chicago Junction Times.

Did he get It?

Beer has recently been shipped into Claypool, which has gone dry, addressed to a man who had been dead twelve years. When the kegs came they were left at the station, which was entered, the receipt book was signed and the kegs disappeared.

Undertaking a Specialty.

Miss Kinsey takes charge of all funerals. Calls answered day or night Prices reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

Phone No. Office 37-2. Residence 37-3

Prohibition Convention.

GOSSIP OF THE BIG DOINGS SCHEDULED FOR COLUMBUS.

COLUMBUS, O., July 2.—While there will be no selection of officers of the national prohibition convention to be held in Columbus, July 14 and 15, until the meeting of the national executive and central committees at the board of trade July 14, Hon. Samuel Dickey of Albion college, Mich., seems likely to be chosen as temporary chairman and keynote sounder. Seaborn Wright of Rome, Ga., the man credited with doing most to bring about the passage of the prohibition law of that state, seems most talked of for the presidential nomination. Others in the race for the presidential nomination are: Fred F. Wheeler, of Los Angeles; Alfred L. Maniere, of New York; Rev. W. B. Palmore, of St. Louis; Rev. J. B. Cranfill, of Dallas Texas; Joseph P. Tracey of Detroit, and A. J. Wolfenbarger, of Lincoln, Neb. For vice president A. S. Watkins, of Ada, O.; John B. Lewis, of Boston, Mass., and Judge Samuel A. Artman, of Lebanon, Ind., are mentioned.

METHODIST PROTESTANT CHURCH

At the M. P. church next Sunday at 7:30 p. m. the pastor will preach the annual sermon for the W. C. T. U. Union. Subject, "The Motto of the W. C. T. T." Special music and singing.

Next Saturday night promptly at 8:00 o'clock, standard time, at the Concord M. P. church the pastor will lecture on "Travels in the United States." He has been in at least thirty-eight states. Proceeds for the benefit of the C. E. Society.

S. Heininger, Pastor.

Song of Mrs. Gunnes.

Thus does the Kansas City Journal dish up "The Song of Mrs. Gunness."

"Come live with me and be my love" she sang, as gentle as a dove; "and I'll caress your aching brow, and you will ne'er regret your vow; and I will kiss your lips and eyes, and I will make you pumpkin pies, and if such things your heart may move, then live with me and be my love. I have a sunny upland farm, where we may live secure from harm; and in the fertile garden spot, my friends may rest and sleep a lot; and should my love oppress your heart; I'll gently saw you all apart, and plant you there, with sod above, so live with me and be my love Beside the barn your bones may rest, until the coroner holds his quest; and o'er your form I'll plant the seed of cockiebur and jimsen weed. So bring your money in a roll, and let your soul mate with my soul; and if these things enticing prove, then live with me and be my love.

It Can't Be Beat

The best of all teachers is experience. C. M. Harden, of Silver City, North Carolina, says: "I find Electric Bitters does all that's claimed for it. For Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles it can't be beat. I have tried it and find it a most excellent medicine." Mr. Harden is right; it's the best of all medicines, also for weakness, lame back, and all run down conditions. Best too for chills and malaria. Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store. 50c.

How About Your Canada Thistle?

Canada thistles are again the subject of much talk. These are considered a menace to any farm or community at large and should be kept clipped. The legislature recognizes them as such and provided briefly that it shall be the duty of road supervisors, whenever complaint is made to them of thistles growing in their districts, which have attained the height of six inches or more, to serve notice on the owner to cut them below the surface of the ground within five days. Should the owner fail in this, the supervisor must report the fact to the township trustee, who shall see to it that they are cut down at once, and the expense for so doing charged up to the owner of the farm, and collected by the proper county officer.

Just Received.

Car Load Wabash Portland Cement.
Consignment of Gasoline Vapor Stoves.

I Keep on Hands

Hydrated Ground Lime
Stoves and Ranges Cooking Utensils
Steel Goods of all kinds.

All Kinds of Roofing:

Best quality Red Cedar Shingles
Gravel Roofing Asbestos, Rubber, Felt and Galvanized Roofing.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT
Linseed, Automobile and Lubricating Oil's.
Gasoline, Etc.

GLASS, SASH AND DOORS.

Quality Right. Prices Right.

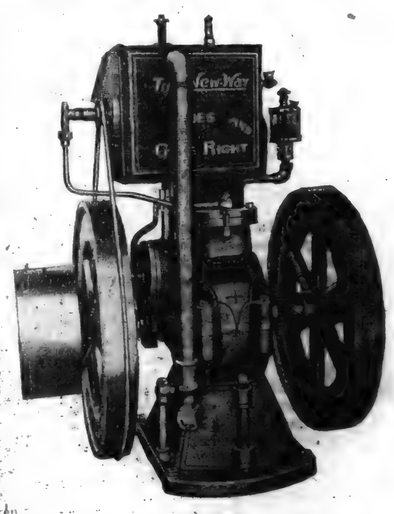
D. J. Baker.

INTERESTING TO UP-TO-DATE FARMERS.

What you need is a reliable gasoline engine to do your work and increase your profits.

The "NEW WAY" Engine is conceded by Mechanical Engineers and men of high authority to be the most perfect engine in mechanical design and construction manufactured.

No water tanks or water. Cooled perfectly by air.



SO SIMPLE YOUR BOY CAN RUN IT.

The next time you are in town, just drop in and examine the 3 to 3 1-2 H. P. "NEW WAY" engine on our floor. If you don't say it is the best engine you have ever seen or heard of, we will be greatly mistaken.

Engine can be seen running at The News Office, St. Joe, Ind.

Eugene Hubbard, Butler, Ind.
Exclusive Agent.

Flour that bakes is flour that takes. Orangeville at Barney's.

The most simple hay loader on market today is the Ohio Valley. At CURIE'S

The boys played a game of ball here Thursday, resulting in a score of 9 to 14 in favor of east end.

Carrie Bleeks spent a few days last week, with relatives at Defiance and on her return home she was accompanied by Miss Hazel Todd, who visited over Sunday with her.

Jacob Sechler has been crippling around for the past week with a very sore foot, caused from cutting it with an axe last Tuesday, while engaged in splitting wood for the Lutheran church. By the aid of a cane and crutch he manages to get along slowly.

Get your potato crates of the Noble Hoop Co., St. Joe, Ind.

The little son of Arthur Woodcox and wife was taken seriously ill last week, with Cholera Infantom caused from eating currents. At one time the fever raised to 105 degrees, which is alarming when it reaches this point. The physician was called and he remained with the little one for several hours until the fever was checked. At this writing he is much better.

Go to the Noble Hoop Co. St. Joe, Ind., for your potato crates.

Wm. Nagle and wife of Auburn were guests of the latters father, S. M. George, a few days last week, and from here they went to Defiance, O., where they will spend the balance of the summer with Mr. Nagle's parents on the farm. He has been engaged in working in the factory at Auburn for several years, and on account of his poor health he was compelled to quit for a while

For a nice white flake loaf use the Orangeville flour at Barney's.

A number of young people gathered at the beautiful country home of Miss Mae Hamilton, last Thursday evening. A party was given in honor of Miss Ripley of South Whitley. A very pleasant evening was had. Ice Cream and cake was served as refreshments.

Money to loan on farms at 5 per cent interest. Payable on or before 10 years. Partial payments allowed. Call on or write us. Brown & Rhoads, Lawyers, City National Bank Building, Auburn, Ind.

JULY

L 903

The Popular Pulpit

HABIT AND LIFE.

By Henry F. Cope.

"Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful."—Psalm, i., 1.

We spend a good deal of time denouncing bad habits and warning the youth against them while, somehow, we have lost sight of the fact that there is just as much help in a good habit as there is hindrance and harm in a bad one. Habits may be allies just as truly as we find them to be enemies.

There are those who are habitually vicious; why should there not be those who are habitually virtuous? It is as easy to learn to do right and to have the doing of right become second nature as it is to learn to do wrong. It is just as easy both morally and physically to acquire the habit of walking upright as to acquire that of walking with a slouch.

Once we were taught that we were all naturally altogether depraved, that man was born in this world with a bent to evil, that the clean life and the upward tending life really were abnormal. Whoever first invented that doctrine must have had a terrible lot of iniquity which he was trying to account for with a theory.

Every man's chance of holiness is at least as good as his chance of health. Make up your mind that you were born to be sickly, the victim of predatory disease, and you never will be disappointed; you will have all the aches and pains that the most ambitious drug store almanac could covet to catalog.

Make up your mind that Providence has cast you into the universe doomed to depravity, branded as a fallen being, a lost, undone, miserable sinner, and you have at least handicapped yourself by the adoption of such a view in any attempts to defeat Providence and to be better than you were destined to be.

Health of any kind is a matter of habit. But we never will acquire right habits unless we believe in their possibility, unless we have faith in man as a being to whom goodness is no less attainable than baseness. You never will be any better than you believe you may be.

There are two ways of doing things, the intermittent and the habitual, the difficult and the easy. If you were to speak only once a year the act would involve as much difficulty as some people have, for example, in thinking. The rarity of the exercise determines its difficulty.

If the life of goodness and truth means to you the doing, with special, separate effort, of a long series of separate acts, then it certainly is a path of great toil that opens before you. May it not rather mean the steady doing of the right in all things until the determination and the doing of the right seem to require no special consideration and volition in each case?

Habits are life tracks; they lead either up or down. Habit is character in action working without conscious reflection. The laws of habit apply to the good as well as to the evil, to the higher life as well as to the lower. If it is possible habitually to breathe correctly, eat sensibly, and speak correctly, why should it not also be possible habitually to choose the right and do the best?

If we had to stop and measure every breath, count every vowel, reason over every step, one day's living would be enough to blight the life. So in the higher sphere of morals, living is a weary business if you still have to individualize and argue out all your actions.

Daily living is the gymnasium of the soul where moral muscles are trained to habits of implicit, apparently mechanical obedience to the impulse of high ideals, right motives, and noble standards. Here power is acquired to meet all temptations, to overcome difficulties, to be master of life itself.

He has a good education who has acquired the best habits of doing and of thinking. He is learning life's great lessons, finding the fullness of an education, to whom each day comes with its opportunities of training the soul, through tasks and troubles, to the habits of the higher life, to self-mastery, and to efficiency in service for our fellows.

SIN AND ITS MOCKERS.

By Rev. W. H. Gray.

Text.—"Fools make a mock at sin, but among the righteous there is favor."—Proverbs 14:9.

There are two ways of reading this text. Some translate it, "Sin makes a mock of fools," and then the reference would be to the terribly deceptive nature of sin. If a man be a "fool," ignorant of the nature of sin, heedless of its consequences, walking senselessly and blindly into its clutches, sin will "mock at" him; that is, it will play with him, trick him, outwit and disappoint him. The process goes on in various ways. Sin mocks a man by promising what it will never perform; it mocks him by making him think he is free while he is really enslaved; it mocks him by leading him to imagine that whensoever he likes he may pause, and then, when he tries to do so, sweeping him on through the mazes of iniquity by a force which he feels he can not resist. Sin may come with a tongue of honey and a bribe of gold, but it hides the iron fetters and the knotted lash. Always, and everywhere, "sin makes a mock at fools." That, then, is one interpretation of the text, and the idea suggested by it is vivid and awfully true.

But there seems no reason why we should depart from the reading before us, "Fools make a mock at sin." That is, there are those to whom sin in themselves, or in others, is little else than a comedy, food for a pleasantry, occasion for a jest; or, if it is not quite that, it is something insignificant and slight, a matter to be minimized, extenuated, whitewashed. Sin, according to such, is an exhibition of infirmity, a species of misfortune; and those who maintain it to be anything worse are too strict and straitlaced for existence in an ordinary world. Now, as to those who thus "make a mock at sin," looking at it, and speaking of it, as if it were a joke or a trifle, what is the teaching of this text? Not that they are criminal, though all are criminal who give the lie to God and deliberately call that little which He calls great, but that they are fools. They are blind—willfully, obstinately and dangerously blind; blind to the lessons of experience, blind to the teachings of Scripture, blind to the interests of their own true happiness and safety.

Those who mock at sin are most apt to become the prey of sin, on the principle that no one is secure who undervalues an enemy. Take the influence of evil habits. How insensibly they steal in! How gradually they grow! How deeply and firmly they wind themselves round! At first they lie lightly, like a web of gossamer, whose presence the victim thinks little of, at whose holding power he laughs; in the end they thicken to bands of iron, which neither fears nor struggles can break. I have seen a grown man groveling in terror and humiliation on the floor, crying like a child, and why? He had suddenly awakened to the existence and the power of an evil habit; realized for the first time the absoluteness and the ignominy of his slavery; discovered for the first time the nature and the strength of his foe.

Not at first do sins reveal themselves; for a time they are quiet, for a time they sleep. But they are there notwithstanding, there in the depths of the conscience, there in the crevices of the memory; and the time comes when they wake, as many a transgressor can testify, who finds them his roommates and associates, an affliction to life, a terror to death.

SHORT METER SERMONS.

You lift no one up by looking down your nose.

The man with money to burn seldom gets up any steam.

Sin's crown is so constructed that it soon becomes Satan's collar.

People do not push ahead by patting themselves on the back.

It will take men and women of iron will to bring in the golden age.

Faith in God without friendship with man is like poetry without print.

As soon as a man is satisfied with himself the angels begin to be sorry for him.

It's not the man who says the loudest amen who makes the most impression on heaven.

If we never do the things we do not like we never will be able to do the things we desire.

Money talks, but it is not heard in heaven, save when it speaks through lips which it has stirred to grateful love.

DON'TS FOR CHURCHMEN.

Don't mistake prejudice for conscience.

Don't fear to enter where duty leads the way.

Don't permit pride to stand in the way of duty.

Don't mistake a name for gold, for a golden name.

Don't look discouraged if you would encourage others.

Don't pray for what you want but for what you need.

Don't ignore a call to duty, because it costs you effort to respond.

Don't try to double your wealth unless you can double your worth.

Don't delay getting down on your knees until forced there by some great load.

Smiles of the Day

Complimentary.

"It is going to be war to the knife," declared the suburban man who was feeding his chickens.

"What now?" asked the friend.

"Why, Binker sent me a box of axle grease and told me to use it on my lawn mower."

"What did you do?"

"I sent it back and told him to use it on his daughter's voice."

Just Like a Man.

Mrs. Stubb—John, how about the new shades?

Mr. Stubb (pettishly)—Oh, hang the shades!

Mrs. Stubb (sweetly)—Why, John, that is just what I have been trying to get you to do for a week.

An Old Refrain Recalled.

"Shoot that hat!"

Necessary.

De Quiz—Why does Dickson put a powerful headlight on both front and back of his machine?

De Whiz—Because his car moves so slowly you can't tell whether it is going or coming.

Present at an Alibi.

Mother—Didn't I often tell you that you can never gain anything by fighting?

Boy—Yes'm, but I wasn't doing the fighting in the case.

Why He Fled.

Young Borem—Tommy, does your sister know I am here?

Tommy—I think so. She told mamma this morning that she had a presentiment that trouble was coming.

The Alternatives.

"We get some sad cases," said the attendant at the lunatic asylum to the visitor, and opened the door of the first cell.

Inside was a man sitting on a stool and gazing vacantly at the wall.

"Sad story," said the attendant, "he was in love with a girl, but she married another man, and he lost his reason from grief."

They stole out softly, closing the door behind them, and proceeded to the next inmate. This cell was thickly padded, and the man within was stark, staring mad.

"Who is this?" inquired the visitor.

"This," replied the attendant, "this is the other man."

Getting Old.

Dickson—It used to worry me when the barber informed me that my hair was "getting a little thin on top."

Wickson—But you got used to it, eh?

Dickson—No. Now it worries me because he doesn't mention it. I must be getting old.

To Be Sure.

The Client—Have I no redress?

The Lawyer (absently)—Not unless you have more than one suit of clothes.

A Rich Poet.

"I can't expect," said Scribbles, "to be as successful a poet as DeRiter. He has wealth on his side."

"Nonsense! He isn't very well off."

"He isn't? Why, he has money to buy all the postage stamps he needs."—Philadelphia Press.

Her Goodness.

Towne—Yes, Hunter is really engaged to Miss Richley.

Browne—So he was telling me. He says she's not very pretty, but she's good.

Towne—Yes, good for a million in her own right.—Philadelphia Press.

Marvelous.

Veteran—Yes, I have participated in seventeen engagements.

Widow—What, and you are still a bachelor?

A Different Thing.

Miss Passay—He said I was very sensible for my years, didn't he?

Miss Kandor—No, dear; he said you were "very sensitive about your years."—Philadelphia Press.

A SPIRIT-ED REQUEST.

MacTaggart (in the water)—Sandy, Sandy, a' canna swim.
MacPherson (on the boat)—Weel, can ye throw't tae me?—Ideas.

Strange Behavior.

Doctor—I regret to inform you, Mrs. Tightwad, that I fear your husband is afflicted with softening of the brain.

Mrs. Tightwad—Goodness gracious! What makes you think so?

Doctor—He insisted on paying me in advance.

Her Little Scheme.

Stern Parent—What! Give you the hand of my daughter in marriage? Why, your salary isn't sufficient to pay rent.

Young Man—True, but I am figuring on pa-rental assistance.

Never Borrowed Trouble.

Ardupp—Anyway, I never borrowed trouble.

Knox—That's queer.

Ardupp—What's queer about it?

Knox—It's one of the few things people are not expected to pay back.

An Expert.

Irate Father—I'll teach you to kiss my daughter!

Young Man—Not necessary, sir; I have just learned.

Challenged Them All.

"The old man is feeling pretty good these days, isn't he?" ventured the windmill agent.

"Wall, I should say so," drawled the farmer's son. "Dad is feeling powerful pert. Yeou see, the doctor dosed him on iron all spring."

"Ordinary iron?"

"No, I think it must have been scrap iron. Dad has been feeling so pert he says he can lick anything in seven counties."

Heavy Roll.

Reggy Sapp—I can feel that I am surrounded by thought waves from my own head.

Miss Tabasco—Thought waves! Gracious! Now I know why you look so pale—you are seasick.

A Blasted Hope.

Horace—I cannot help telling you again I love you. Can you not hold out any hope?

Phoebe (wearily)—I did hold out one hope, but that's gone now.

Horace—What was it? I——

Phoebe—I had hoped you wouldn't mention this subject again.

An Unfamiliar Tongue.

Lawyer—Your honor, I want an interpreter for my client.

Judge — What language does he speak?

Lawyer—He's a cabman.

Reciprocity.

Wool—How do you like your new flat?

Van Pelt—All right, except that the man across the hall is learning to play the flute.

Wool—You ought to get an accordion.

Van Pelt—I did; that's why he got the flute.

His Preference.

City Cousin—Which do you prefer Mr. Oaks, tragedy or comedy?

Farmer Oaks—Well, for the most part, I believe, I prefer tragedy, for when the killin' comes ye feels that yer somehow gettin' square with the actors."

Just a Joker.

Mrs. Tellitt—They tell me dogs can be trained to do most anything.

Mrs. E. Zee—Yes, my lawyer told me that Eskimo dogs are even trained to draw conveyances.

The Trusty.

"It seems to me that you trust that convict beyond the bounds of prudence."

"Oh, he wouldn't dare escape."

"Why not?"

"Two wives are waiting for him to come out."—Houston Post.

One of the Essentials

of the happy homes of to-day is a vast fund of information as to the best methods of promoting health and happiness and right living and knowledge of the world's best products.

Products of actual excellence and reasonable claims truthfully presented and which have attained to world-wide acceptance through the approval of the Well-Informed of the World; not of individuals only, but of the many who have the happy faculty of selecting and obtaining the best the world affords.

One of the products of that class, of known component parts, an Ethical remedy, approved by physicians and commended by the Well-Informed of the World as a valuable and wholesome family laxative is the well-known Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

A Tooth Point.

Dentists' children rarely have filled teeth for the reason that they are taught to use the toothbrush with a circular motion. The brush, as in the ordinary motion, goes back and forth, but it also goes round and round. Thus it finds out all the crannies. Dentists say that the circular motion, applied both to the front and back of the teeth, will keep them absolutely clean—and absolutely clean teeth cannot decay. The teeth should be brushed after each meal and especially at bedtime. The morning brush before breakfast, which is the only one commonly applied, does scarcely any good at all, since the teeth, immediately after, become clogged with food,

HEALTH BRINGS HAPPINESS.

Invalid Once, a Happy Woman Now.

Mrs. C. R. Shelton, Pleasant street, Covington, Tenn., says: "Once I seemed a helpless invalid, but now I enjoy the best of health. Kidney disease brought me down terribly. Rheumatic aches and pains made every move painful. The secretions were disordered and my head ached to distraction. I was in a bad condition, but medicines failed to help. I lost ground daily until I began with Doan's Kidney Pills. They helped me at once and soon made me strong and well."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Jumbo Diet.

"I should be afraid to accept Tom, my dear," cautioned the fond mother.

"Why so, mamma?" asked the fair cooking-school graduate in surprise.

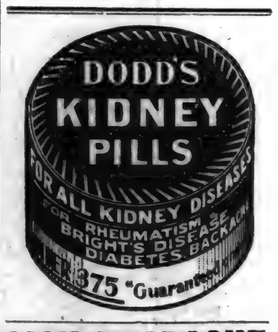
"Why, he is such an athletic young man. I heard him telling some friends that he had an appetite like an elephant."

"Oh, don't let that worry you, mamma. If he has an appetite like an elephant I'll just feed him on peanuts and baled hay."

The Remarkable Part.

Biggs—I fail to see anything remarkable about that man.

Diggs—That's because you don't know him. Last winter I had a cold for nearly two weeks and, although I met him every day during that period, he never once suggested a remedy.



SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

Wanted—Stocks of Merchandise, invoicing from 10 to 50,000 dollars in exchange for income property and some cash. Address Box 56, Marion, Ind.

JULY

L 903

—Proof is inexhaustible that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound carries women safely through the Change of Life.

Read the letter Mrs. E. Hanson, 304 E. Long St., Columbus, Ohio, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was passing through the Change of Life, and suffered from nervousness, headaches, and other annoying symptoms. My doctor told me that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was good for me, and since taking it I feel so much better, and I can again do my own work. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me during this trying period."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Libby's Food Products

Libby's Cooked

Corned Beef

There's a big difference between just corned beef—the kind sold in bulk—and Libby's Cooked Corned Beef. The difference is in the taste, quality of meat and natural flavor.

Every fiber of the meat of Libby's Cooked Corned Beef is evenly and mildly cured, cooked scientifically and carefully packed in Libby's Great White Kitchen

It forms an appetizing dish, rich in food value and makes a summer meal that satisfies.

For Quick Serving:—Libby's Cooked Corned Beef, cut into thin slices. Arrange on a platter and garnish with Libby's Chow Chow. A tempting dish for luncheon, dinner, supper

Write for free booklet—"How to Make Good Things to Eat."

Insist on Libby's at your dealers.

Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago

Get your Letter Paper and Envelopes printed at this office. We can give you the

EAGLE LINEN

PAPER and ENVELOPES

It is fine and will suit you. Try it.

WIDOWS PENSIONS Pioneer NEW LAW obtained by JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.

If afflicted with sore Eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

DOCTOR SAID "USE CUTICURA"

In Bad Case of Eczema on Child—Disease Had Reached a Fearful State—His Order Resulted in Complete Cure.

"When I was small I was troubled with eczema for about three months. It was all over my face and covered nearly all of my head. It reached such a state that it was just a large scab all over, and the pain and itching were terrible. I doctored with an able physician for some time and was then advised by him to use the Cuticura Remedies, which I did, and I was entirely cured. I have not been bothered with it since. I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment but do not know exactly how much was used to complete the cure. I can safely say that Cuticura did a lot for me. Miss Anabel Wilson, North Branch, Mich., Oct. 20, 1907."

It Depends.

"Advertising always brings results."

"Yes, but not always the ones you want."

"What do you mean?"

"Well, young Barnes was shaky on his college examinations, and he advertised for a coach."

"Did he get one?"

"No, but the next morning, thirty-six cabs were standing in front of the house."—Cleveland Leader.

If you use ball blue, get Red Cross Ball Blue, the best ball blue. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

Melons Under Cover.

Peter D. Fedick, a landscape gardener, florist and nurseryman, has started a series of experiments in vegetable growths in the Imperial valley which seems likely to prove valuable, says the Los Angeles Times.

At Brawley one of Fedick's achievements is the growing of cantaloupe vines under muslin canopies so that they will have two or three weeks' advantage over the plants grown in the ordinary way. These cantaloupes are on a six-acre tract directly adjoining the town of Brawley on the north.

The cantaloupes are planted in the usual manner, so far as hilling and spacing are concerned, but over each hill there is stretched a canopy of white muslin about the size of a man's pocket handkerchief. Two arched wires are used, crossed over the melon hill somewhat like the center wicket in a croquet ground. The ends of these wires are sewed to the corners of the muslin squares and the wires are then thrust firmly into the ground so as to secure the canopies and prevent the wind blowing them away. Mr. Fedick estimates that these protectors will cost complete about 8 cents each.

The melons have responded to the genial warmth thus engendered and the protection from the winds and frost. The plants are now on an average of two inches high and look strong and thrifty. If the plan proves all that is hoped for it next year it will be tried on a large scale on the Fedick ranch near Holtville. At the Brawley experimental gardens there are six acres of melons, and of these 876 hills have been covered with the canopies.

WIFE WON.

Husband Finally Convinced.

Some men are wise enough to try new foods and beverages and then generous enough to give others the benefit of their experience.

A very "conservative" Ills. man, however, let his good wife find out for herself what a blessing Postum is to those who are distressed in many ways, by drinking coffee. The wife writes:

"No slave in chains, it seemed to me, was more helpless than I, a coffee captive. Yet there were innumerable warnings—waking from a troubled sleep with a feeling of suffocation, at times dizzy and out of breath, attacks of palpitation of the heart that frightened me.

"Common sense, reason, and my better judgment told me that coffee drinking was the trouble. At last my nervous system was so disarranged that my physician ordered 'no more coffee.'

"He knew he was right and he knew I knew it, too. I capitulated. Prior to this our family had tried Postum but disliked it, because, as we learned later, it was not made right.

"Determined this time to give Postum a fair trial, I prepared it according to directions on the pkg.—that is, boiled it 15 minutes after boiling commenced, obtaining a dark brown liquid with a rich snappy flavor similar to coffee. When cream and sugar were added, it was not only good but delicious.

"Noting its beneficial effects in me the rest of the family adopted it—all except my husband, who would not admit that coffee hurt him. Several weeks elapsed during which I drank Postum two or three times a day, when, to my surprise, my husband said: 'I have decided to drink Postum. Your improvement is so apparent—you have such fine color—that I propose to give credit where credit is due.' And now we are coffee-slaves no longer."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Pattern Department

UP-TO-DATE DESIGNS FOR THE HOME DRESSMAKER

Breakfast Jacket.

Such a breakfast jacket as this one always is in demand. It can be worn with odd skirts and made from any pretty seasonable material, or it can be made with skirt to match, and it allows a choice of the three-quarter sleeves with frills and of long ones. In the illustration dotted challis is trimmed with lace and banding, but lawn, batiste, French gingham and all the inexpensive wash fabrics are admirable for the purpose, and lace, embroidery or any preferred finish can be used.

PATTERN NO. 5915.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:

Order Coupon.

No. 5915.

SIZE .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

Girl's Dress.

The need of the dainty yet protective apron is an ever present one with the small girl, and such a pretty model as this is sure to find its place. As illustrated it is made of lawn with the bretelles of embroidery and the little yoke of tucking. It can, however, be treated in a number of ways, as it is straight at the lower edge and consequently is well adapted to the hemstitched finish, while it also can be cut from flouncing and the bretelles can be made either of embroidery or the plain material trimmed. The apron consists of the yoke, which is cut in two portions, the apron proper and the bretelles or shoulder frills.

PATTERN NO. 5897.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:

Order Coupon.

No. 5897.

SIZE .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

Two Uncomfortable Beds.

An old mountain preacher used to tell of a lawyer a friend of his, who lived at the county seat of a mountain county. Back in the hills somewhere lived one of his clients, whom he had occasionally entertained with the ready hospitality of Kentucky. When he left, the client always invited the lawyer to come to see him when in his neighborhood.

Business called the lawyer back into the hills one winter day, and late in the afternoon he found himself in the vicinity of his client. He decided to accept the often-repeated invitation.

After inquiry, he found the shack—one of the poorest he had ever seen. As there was no sign of barn or shed, he blanketed his horse and hitched him in the lee of the house.

His warm welcome was genuine, but supper was in accord with the surroundings, and at bedtime he was conducted to the loft, which he found bare of beds, but well filled with partly dried cornstalks. He was bidden to make his bed on the fodder.

His overcoat furnished inadequate protection. After a short nap, he wakened, stiff with cold. He remembered the big fireplace with the backlog, and decided to go downstairs and start the fire.

The coals brightened as he stirred them and added kindling. The sparks and smoke began their ascent, when the guest noticed a strange commotion at the back of the fireplace. This stopped when the oldest son of the family, covered with soot and ashes, scrambled from the backlog, where he had gone to sleep for the night.

You Can Get Allen's Foot-Ease FREE

Write to-day to Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y., for a FREE sample of Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder to shake into your shoes. It cures tired, sweating, hot, swollen, aching feet. It makes new or tight shoes easy. A certain cure for Corns and Bunions. All Druggists and Shoe Stores sell it. 25c.

Not So Now.

Pope, who was struggling with his "Essay on Man," had just written these words:

"Whatever is is right."

"It's mighty lucky for me," he reflected, "that the elevated loop isn't built yet."

For well he knew it would be unsafe to spring that proposition on the public in the opening years of the twentieth century.—Chicago Tribune.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

When the Scorchers Pass.

"The greatest sensation of the year is to see a person in an automobile do a double somersault in the air," remarked the man who had been to the circus.

"That may be," replied his friend, "but it is nothing unusual to see a person in front of an automobile do a double somersault."

Yellow Clothes Are Unsightly.

Keep them white with Red Cross Ball Blue. All grocers sell large, 2oz. package, 5 cents.

Potentially.

"You noticed, did you, that the Mercuria sailed for Europe yesterday with $20,000,000 in gold aboard?"

"No, and I don't believe it. There wasn't a word in the financial columns of the papers about any such shipment of gold as that."

"Maybe not; but there was in the society columns. Didn't you see the statement that Miss Muntoburn was one of the passengers?"

FITS St. Vitus' Dance and all Nervous Diseases Permanently Cured by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Send for Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. DR. R. H. KLINE, Ld., 931 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa

A Little Shy.

Typewriter—You told me you were going to raise my salary last week, sir.

Mr. Boss—I know; I did raise it. But I expect to have a very hard time to raise it this week.

MRS. FRANK STROEBE

A Remarkable Recovery.

Mrs. Frank Stroebe, R. F. D. 1, Appleton, Wis., writes: "I began using Peruna a few months ago, when my health and strength were all gone, and I was nothing but a nervous wreck, could not sleep, eat or rest properly, and felt no desire to live. Peruna made me look at life in a different light, as I began to regain my lost strength.

"I certainly think Peruna is without a rival as a tonic and strength builder."

Paxtine

TOILET ANTISEPTIC

Keeps the breath, teeth, mouth and body antiseptically clean and free from unhealthy germ-life and disagreeable odors, which water, soap and tooth preparations alone cannot do. A germicidal, disinfecting and deodorizing toilet requisite of exceptional excellence and economy. Invaluable for inflamed eyes, throat and nasal and uterine catarrh. At drug and toilet stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.

Large Trial Sample

WITH "HEALTH AND BEAUTY" BOOK SENT FREE

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., Boston, Mass.

Send dealer's name and top from pound carton of "20-Mule-Team" Borax, and 4 cents in stamps and we will mail illustrated booklet, giving many uses for "Borax in the Home, Farm and Dairy," also this lace design, 15 by 16 inches, on cloth ready for working. FREE.

Address Pacific Coast Borax Co., Chicago.

Local Agents Wanted. Write for Money Making Plan.

Hardly Acquainted.

"Yes," said the would-be artist, proudly, "I am wedded to my art."

"Now, I am surprised," rejoined Criticus. "Judging from specimens of your work, I shouldn't have thought you were even engaged to it."

Invest $5 monthly in Oklahoma farm lands. Agents wanted. Write for particulars. C. W. Deming Inv. Co., Tulsa, Okla.

F. W. N. U. - - - - No. 28—1908

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Adv. in this paper.

GET WHAT YOU ASK FOR—THE GENUINE

CASCARETS Candy Cathartic are always put up in blue metal box, our trade-marked, long-tailed C on the cover—tablet octagonal, stamped C C C. Never sold in bulk. All druggists, 10c, 25c, 50c. Sample and booklet free. Address STERLING REMEDY CO., Chicago or New York.

Cascarets

CANDY CATHARTIC

THEY WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

JULY

0242

L 903

SPENCERVILLE

Potato crates at the Noble Hoop Co. St. Joe, Ind.

Rollie Moffett of Auburn spent Sunday with relatives here.

Miss Majory Erick of Ft. Wayne, is visiting relatives here.

Beams & Co. superintended the funeral of Mr. May Hugh.

Clinton Webb visited relatives on the Fourth at Bryan, Ohio.

Will Allen is barbering this week, at the Geo. Grund barber shop in Auburn.

Lewis Berry spent over Sunday at New Haven and Miss Mable Berry at Harlan.

Miss Golden Murray returned from a visit with relatives at Hicksville, Friday.

Mrs. Stephen and daughter Julia, are spending a few days of this week at Swan, Ind.

Mrs. Carrie Moore and Mrs. Hallie Farver called on their brother, Geo. Wilson, Saturday.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. George Steward, has been quite sick for the past few days.

Edward Cupp, who has been working at Elkhart, spent over Sunday with his parents at this place.

About fifteen of the base ball enthusiasts attended a double headed ball game at Ft. Wayne, Sunday.

Mrs. Southern of Wabash, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Porter Baker, returned to her home last week.

The Ladies Guild of the M. E. church will hold a business meeting at the church, Thursday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock.

Mrs. Emma Allen, Mrs. Cora Hart and daughter are visiting for a few days with Mrs. Hart's father at Striker, Ohio.

FOR SALE:—Potato crates. Noble Hoop Co. St. Joe, Ind.

Samuel Steward has had a fine cement walk placed around his property. It greatly improves the property and the town also The building of more walks are contemplated.

Alex. Leighty and his grand daughter left last week for Michigan. The citizens especially the members of the M. E. church were sorry to see him go.

Kid Hull accompanied the Fort Wayne Shamrocks to Adrian, Mich., last Saturday, to play three games of ball. On Saturday morning he pitched a good game of 4 to 2 in his favor. He has to his credit a two base hit. Struck out 6 men. Base on ball 3.

Mr. Geo. Wilson had the misfortune to break his right leg between the knee and hip while making hay. He with his fellow workmen were using hay mow swings. While drawing up a swing full, the double-tree broke striking Mr. Wilson on the leg. We have great sympathy with him for his misfortune.

The Fourth was properly celebrated here. There was a good deal of noise, races and fun. In the evening the C. E. of the Lutheran church gave an ice cream social. A large crowd was in attendance. Later in the evening a fine display of fireworks were given With the exception of one or two, all are feeling fine after their Fourth.

Coburn's Corners

Sam Davis has a new $1500 automobile.

Ross Abel and wife spent Saturday night and Sunday at Ft. Wayne.

For a change why not go to KAERY'S and try a glass of Liquid Force.

Mrs. Webster was with her brother, Wash Hart a few days last week.

Anna Wilmot and Ila Beaber spent a few days in Garrett, last week.

Washington Hart died at his home, ½ mile south of the Corners, Saturday night. The funeral was held at the Coburntown church, yesterday,

FAIRVIEW

Just received a car load of Ohio Valley hay loaders. See them, WM. CUARK.

Mr. Timmerman, wife and children and Frank May and wife spent Sunday with Mrs. Wm. Krise.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ginther of Ft. Wayne were guests of their mother Mrs. Alda Brown, Sunday and Monday.

Base Ball, Thursday.

Keep cool by using our Ice Cold Drinks and Ice Cream at KAGEY'S.

Ethel Houser went to her uncles near Huntertown, to work Monday.

Miss Vera Coyle spent Sunday with Myrtle Platter.

Mrs. Almira Krise and son Charles took Sunday dinner with Howard Krise.

Lee Rolland and wife of Garrett and Norman Rolland, wife and two cinidren spent Sunday at H. F. Houser's.

Master Crates May is spending a few days with his grandparents James May and wife at Auburn.

Jack Johnson and wife spent Sunday evening with Will Keeler's.

Miss Anna Brown and Clark Treesh took supper with Norman Rolland's Sunday evening.

SPENCERVILLE R F D No 2.

Fred Walker is visiting with Dr. S. Kimes, this week.

Frank Lake returned home from Michigan, last week.

W. Tyndall and family spent Saturday at Robinson Park.

Call and see the Ohio Valley hay loaders at CURIE'S before buying.

Ray Zimmerman spent a couple of days with friends at Butler, last week.

Ed Houk and family of Spencerville spent Sunday with Wes Zimmerman and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Baker of Waterloo, spent Sunday with Harvey Kimes and family.

Mrs. Pinkstaff of near Flat Rocks, Ill., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Wallace Miller.

Samuel Kelley of Ft. Wayne helped his son, D. M. Kelley in the harvest field, last week.

After spending a week with his parents, Willie Benninghoff returned to his work at Elkhart.

D. M. Kelley, wife and two daughters, Lena and Nellie, are visiting relatives at Adrian, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Connelly of Hicksville visited with the latters son, John Benninghoff and family, Sunday.

Henry Emrick of Huntertown, spent Saturday night and Sunday with his sister, Mrs. Lizzie Wearley and family.

Clint Wearley, wife and daughters, Rhea and Crystal, spent the Fourth with the formers brother, Wm. Wearley and family at Woodburn.

Transfers

of Real Estate for week ending July 4. Hartman & Borst.

WILMINGTON TOWNSHIP—Eunice Zeigler to John Mutzfeld, 40 acres, sec 17, $1637.50.

FAIRFIELD TOWNSHIP—Jacob G. Thomas to David F. & Sarah, 80 acres sec. 19, $3050.

AUBURN—Ralph King to Albert Leisure. lot 12, Groges add. $200.

Wm. H. Nusbaum to Morris Eckhart, lot 15, Nus. add. $200.

ST. JOE—Frank Barney to Frank H. Baker, one lot, L. add. $800.

Baby Dies.

The little one year old girl of Geo. Walter died yesterday afternoon at the home of John Koch, in the west end of town. The little one had been serious for some time, with Cholera Infantum, being caused by drinking sour milk. No arrangements as yet have been made. The funeral will be in charge of Eliza Kinsey.

60 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &C.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. HANDBOOK on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York

Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

There are more McCall Patterns sold in the United States than of any other make of patterns. This is on account of their style, accuracy and simplicity.

McCall's Magazine The Queen of Fashion) has more subscribers than any other Ladies' Magazine. One year's subscription (12 numbers) costs 50 cents. Latest number, 5 cents. Every subscriber gets a McCall Pattern Free. Subscribe today.

Lady Agents Wanted. Handsome premiums or liberal cash commission. Pattern Catalogue (of 600 designs) and Premium Catalogue (showing 400 premiums) sent free. Address THE McCALL CO., New York

TAN OXFORDS.

Right in the heighth of the season we are going to make a clean sweep on TAN OXFORDS.

$3.50	Gents tan oxfords Racine make 6 to 8½	$2 98
3.00	Gents tan oxfords Douglas make 6 to 8	2 48
3.00	Ladies tan oxfords 5, 5½ and 6	2 48
2.50	Ladies tan oxfords 4½ to 6½	2 19
2.00	Ladies tan oxfords 3½ to 5	1 79
1.50	Misses tan oxfords 13 to 2	1 29
1.25	Misses tan oxfords 8½ to 12	1 09

Special prices on all Ladies, Misses, Boys and Men's Patent Leather oxfords. Stock somewhat broken in sizes but think we can FIT YOU.

Big 4 Store,

St. Joe, Indiana.

A TALE OF PORTO RICO

Curious Story of the Haunted Sentry Box.

LIGHT ON THE OLD LEGEND.

One of the Many Mysterious Disappearances From Fort San Cristobal Accounted For by the Revelation of the Lost One Himself.

Writing in the Journal of the Military Service Institution, Captain Arthur P. S. Hyde of the coast artillery tells this curious story of "the haunted sentry box" of Fort San Cristobal, the ancient Spanish built fortress which guards the entrance to San Juan, Porto Rico:

"A number of picturesque sentry boxes built of masonry and appearing like minarets are placed at points of vantage in and around the fort. One of these on the sea front, and reached only through a long and dark tunnel from the interior of the fort, is popularly known as La Garita del Diablo, or the devil's sentry box, usually, although incorrectly, translated the haunted sentry box. This name was given to it by the Spanish soldiers for the reason that a number of sentries stationed there disappeared in a most mysterious manner and were never again heard from.

"An American officer was once on duty that took him into the remote interior of the island, and while spending one night in a small settlement he engaged in conversation with a number of the inhabitants of the place. One old man, on learning that the officer was stationed at Fort San Cristobal, became especially interested and in the course of the conversation told the following story:

"'I used to be a soldier in the Spanish army and was stationed at Fort San Cristobal. A number of soldiers while on sentry duty had mysteriously disappeared from the sentry box down by the sea, and we had all become convinced that it was haunted by the devil, who, we thought, used to come and steal the soldiers away.

"'One stormy night it fell to my lot to go on duty in the devil's sentry box, as we called it, at midnight, and it was with some doubts and misgivings that I went with the corporal of the guard and relieved the former sentry. When they left me I listened to the sound of their footfalls reverberating from the walls and ceiling of the dark and narrow passage, ever growing fainter and fainter as they receded, until finally the noise of the storm and the sea completely drowned it, and I was left alone with the mad elements.

"'It was a mad night and one well calculated to add to the feeling of awe that the devil's sentry box always instilled into the man on duty there at night.

"'Presently my attention was attracted by some lights in a small tavern on the shore below the fort, where many of us were wont to go when off duty for a glass of rum. Then I began to think that I might be able to climb down over the rocks to the shore, get a glass of rum at the tavern and return to my post.

"'The more I thought of it the more determined I was to go, so finally, leaving my rifle and belt in the sentry box, I climbed over the wall and down on to the rocks and so made my way with great labor and difficulty and no little danger to the little house, where the occupants were making merry with dancing and drinking. I soon fell to and enjoyed myself with them.

"'When one is dancing with a fair senorita he sometimes forgets the passage of time, as I did on that fatal night, and not until long after 1 o'clock did I begin to think of returning to my post. Then, realizing that the corporal had made his inspection and had found me gone from my post and with my rifle and belt left behind, I saw only a court martial and the garrote staring me in the face, for in those days for a sentinel in the Spanish army to quit his post meant sure death, even in peace.

"'To go back was out of the question. There was only one thing left for me to do, and that was to desert. My heart sank within me. If I should be captured, the same fate would be meted out to me; but, I reasoned, if I were to go back the fate would be a certainty, whereas if I deserted at least I had a chance of keeping out of sight of the authorities. I deserted and before morning was out of the city and on the way to the mountains.

"'I have lived in this little hamlet for years and have never been back to the capital since that day, nor have I ever told my story to a single soul until tonight, but now that the Spaniards are gone I no longer fear for my life.'

"Thus we have the story of the devil's sentry box from one of the very men who so mysteriously disappeared from it, and it would seem to be probable that the other disappearances could be accounted for in a similar manner were the truth known. Quien sabe?"

A Few Prices.

Tea Kettles No. 8 and 9 granite	50 to 60 cts.
Coffee Pots, all sizes, granite	35 to 45 cts.
Tea Pots, all sizes, granite	30 to 40 cts.
Dish Pans, all sizes, granite	40 to 50 cts.
Stew Kettles, all sizes, granite	20 to 65 cts.
Stew Kettles, all sizes, granite, covered	25 to 50 cts.
Wash Pans, granite	10 "
Pie Pans, all sizes, granite	5 to 10 cts.
Pudding Pans, all sizes, granite	10 to 20 cts.
Basting Spoon, all sizes, granite	5 to 10 cts.
Dippers, all sizes, granite	15 to 20 cts.
Pails, all sizes, tin,	5 to 40 "
Pails, all sizes, galvinized	25 to 60 cts.
Can Rubbers, good quality, per doz	5 to 10 cts.
Self Sealer can lids, per doz	30 cts.
Lamp chimney, No. 1 and 2	5 "
Lamp chimney, No. 2, flowered	10 "
Matches, per doz. boxes	10 "

Don't forget when in need of any above articles or anything in Hardware line. Give us a call. Our goods are guaranteed first class. We are at your service.

H. V. Kinsey & Son.

Captain Hyde mentions an interesting fact that, although for centuries Porto Rico was considered the legitimate prey of freebooters and was attacked at various times by regularly organized expeditions of the English and the Dutch during times of war, with more or less success, Fort El Morro has never been captured by an enemy, and its only surrender was to the Americans, together with the surrender of the whole island.

Gravity is only the bark of wisdom, but it preserves it.—Confucius.

WABASH CORNERS.

Rodgie Tryon spent the Fourth in Ft. Wayne.

Lizzie Pervines spent Sunday with her parents.

Some from this place spent the Fourth at Butler.

Winfield Pervines and Neva Andress spent Thursday afternoon at Garrett.

Mae Hamilton of Coburntown called on O. K. Shull and family, Friday evening.

Orange Herrick and wife were Sunday guests of Nelson Thomas and wife of St. Joe.

Mrs. Tryon of Newville, spent Friday afternoon with her son Rodgie, at Orange Herricks.

Emanuel Ulm and wife spent Sunday with Will Jackson, at the home of Hollis Jackson near Butler.

Gladys Paff, Josie, Homer and Ruth Carnes and John Bowman, wife and two children, all of Spencerville, were Sunday guests of Gene White and family.

The 4th of July at Butler, came near being a sad affair to a young married man, living near one of our neighboring towns, as he came near losing his wife.

Wm. Jackson is very low with tuberculosis, at the home of his brother Holl, north of town.

Fred Jenkins of Auburn and Miss Anna Ford of Baltimore Md. visited relatives here yesterdty.

Miss Mildred Cope of Ft. Wayne and Miss Vada Kinsey visited Miss Gladys Kinsey of Auburn, Saturday, returned home Sunday in the automobile.

M. S. Domer and lady friend, Miss Rupley of South Whitley, in company with Miss Mae Hamilton and Lee O. Tustison spent the Fourth at Hamilton Lake.

The subscription paper for the band will be found at Millman's barber shop. All those having their name on such paper will please call there and pay up.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc. IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.

Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 625 Ninth Street, opp. United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CA·SNOW &C.

JULY

0243

L 903

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXII. ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA. WEDNESDAY, JULY 15, 1908. NO. 29

WE HAVE IT

Money
Geld
Dough
Stuff
Mezuma
Long Green

No matter what you call it.

WE HAVE IT.

We loan money at reasonable rates if our conditions are complied with and pay 4 per cent on Time Deposits. Safe and Conservative our motto.

Grabill State Bank,

Grabill, Indiana.

Joseph Witmer, Pres. Albert Egly, Cashier.
David Klopfenstein, V. Pres. Marcus Yager, Asst. Cashier.

Excursion to

Chicago

Baltimore and Ohio

July 26, '08.

White City, Riverview, Sans Souci and Forest Parks are some of the attractions. Ball Games, Chicago vs Philadelphia

Train leaves St. Joe at 3.05 a. m.

Fare $2.50.

Local News Items

Old papers at News office.

Wilber Potter and wife of Wayne were visitors of the latter's parents over Sunday.

Frank Ulm spent last week with his mother at this place. He will return to Springfield Saturday.

Orangeville flour stands at the head of the list. Makes more and better bread; does not dry out or make coarse rough bread. At Barney's.

The Misses Vera Copp and Laura Woodcox left this morning for Battle Creek, Mich., where they expect to enter the hospital and learn to be nurses.

Buy our stationary.

Envelopes 5c a bunch.

O. H. Widney was at Auburn, Monday.

Attend the band concert Saturday evening.

FOR SALE—A business and residence property at a bargain. See S. S. Widney.

Ross H. Stover of Springfield, Ohio, is spending a few days with Ralph Patterson.

A new church Casket Carrier has been added to the funeral outfit of Elza Kinsey.

Arrange your work so as to spend August 6th. in St. Joe. Some big doings that day.

$1 Reward for Class Record lost July 9th near Alonzo Brace's.

Chastine Johnston.

Special rates on ice delivered to all parts of the city, at any time and any amount. F. R. LEIGHTY.

Mrs. Hannah Randall of Waterloo spent last week with her son Wm. and family. On Wednesday they all went to Harlan and visited with Wm. Miller and family.

Last Saturday evening the elevator and grist mill were broken into by someone. Nothing has been missed but the party evidently got what they were looking for.

Mrs. C. A. Patterson and daughter Helen left yesterday for a two weeks stay at Wincon Lake, the guests of Miss Casebeer. M. T. Bishop and wife are also spending a few days at the Lake, it being Temperance Week.

314 West Second St. AUBURN, IND.

Snap for You.

12-15c Geraniums - 5c
10-8c Geraniums - - 2c
Coleons - 1c

Must clear out benches at ONCE.

MAKE OUR ACQUAINTANCE

C. M. TenEyck & Son,

Proprietors.

HOME and BELL TELEPHONES.

Birthday Party.

Saturday was Mrs. Rebecca Smith's birthday, it being seventy years since she first saw the light. Friends and relatives began to gather in the afternoon to the number of about twenty. A grand supper was served, and the overjoyed Mrs. Smith forgot for the time being the weight of declining years, and seemed young again. Presents were given on behalf of those present.

Hartz Mountain Canaries.

Imported from Germany, if you want a good Singer leave your order at my shop. GEORGE MILLIMAN.

Base Ball.

As yet the club has been unsuccessful in securing an imported team for this week so a ladies team has consented to play the boys Saturday afternoon at 2:30. The boys are undergoing some-what of a financial embarassment and to help them out they have taken this plan. An admission of 10 cents for men and 5 cents for all others.

Sunday, July 19, the city team goes to Huntertown. Wednesday, July 22 to Antwerp, and Sunday, July 26 they go to Hamilton.

WABASH CORNERS.

Mrs. Frank Loux is on the sick list.

May Daily is working for Mrs. Ad Shilling.

Ray Herrick spent part of last week at home.

Roy Maurer is working for Ad Shilling.

Sherman Rickett and wife were at Ft. Wayne, Sunday afternoon.

Aunt Em Simanton ate dinner with Orange Herrick and family, Thursday.

Sherman Wolff spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents near Edon, Ohio.

Rolla Moffett and family of Auburn spent Sunday with Orange Herrick and family.

Clarence, Walter and Mary White spent Friday with their aunt, Mrs. Angella Wolff.

Mrs. Letitia White and Marie Hull were the guests of Mrs. J. B. White of St. Joe, Friday.

Warner Bradfield of Lima, Ind., spent Saturday and Sunday with his sister, Mrs. Roy White and family.

The funeral of Miss Kate Rickett was held Thursday afternoon at the home of her brother, James Rickett.

Merrill and Violet Wilson of Spencerville, spent last week with their grandparents, D. D. Burley and wife.

Bryan the Nominee.

The Democrats in their convention at Denver, last week, nominated their peerless leader, W. J. Bryan to head the ticket. Judge Gray of Delaware and Gov. Johnson of Minnesota were also candidates, but the opposition was small and Bryan was chosen on the first ballot. This is the third time William Jennings Bryan has been chosen to head the democratic national ticket. He is now recognized by friend and opponent as a strong candidate and has a stronger hold on the hearts of the American people than ever. The nominee for vice president is John W. Kern of Indiana. His name was placed before the convention by Thomas R. Marshall and his nomination was made unanimous.

New wheat is coming in fast at the elevator.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curie, last Saturday, a girl.

Mrs. Lizzie Brecville, of Corunna who has been in the hospital at Garrett, is visiting Wm. Randall and family.

Raleigh Wyatt of near Spencerville, has been named as special agent for DeKalb county by Govenor Hanley. His duties will be to prepare the corn exhibits of his county, also giving aid in any way possible to those wishing to participate in the national contest and exhibition to be held next fall.

Still Unbeaten

The sixth great victory for St. Joe was won over the fast bunch from Antwerp last Thursday. The game was one of the best ever played here, both teams played good ball, altho the runs on both sides were unearned. Barney had a little the best of the pitching argument, Antwerp getting but 4 hits, one of which was a scratch. Carr breezed 9 St. Joe batters to Barney's 5, but gave 2 bases and hit 2 batters, Barney hit one man but did not issue a free pass. The score

	R	H	E
St. Joe 10000010x	2	6	4
Antwerp 00000100 0	1	4	4

Batteries—Barney and Hathaway, Carr and Carr. Two Base Hits Cromley. Struck out by Barney 5. By Carr 9. Base on Balls off Carr 2. Hit by pitcher Herrick; Reasoner; Finley.

Orange Blossoms.

Miss Violet Everett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Everett of Elkhart, and Mr. Edgar H. Rohver, of South Bend, were quietly married last Thursday in South Bend at the Reformed church parsonage. The wedding comes as a surprise to their friends at home and in South Bend, who supposed that the knot would be tied about Christmas time. The bride recently returned from Paulding, O., where she had been employed as a trimmer by Miss Pursell, a milliner formerly of Elkhart. The groom has been associated with his father in the grocery business at South Bend for sometime. The bride is a young woman of unusually charming manner and disposition. She will be remembered by her many friends here. The young couple left the same evening at 8:00 o'clock for a trip through the east. They will visit friends in Boston, Albany, New York and will visit the bride's grandparents in Bedford City, Va., before returning to South Bend to make their home.

They Were Here Too

Some fellows were exhibiting what they called a freak of nature from Kansas at the celebration in Butler, Saturday. It was nothing more nor less than a specie of the hog called a peccary, which inhabits Mexico and South America. We don't see why show people have to misrepresent so often, unless it be that the American people want to be hoodwinked. The exhibit would have been more valuable as an educational feature to have been correctly represented,—Record. The same class of fellows were here with a freak of nature also. Did you see it?

The Remedy That Does.

"Dr. King's New Discovery is the remedy that does the healing others promise but fail to perform," says Mrs. E. E. Pierson, of Auburn Centre, Pa. "It is curing me of throat and lung trouble of long standing, that other treatments relieves only temporarily. New Discovery is doing me so much good that I feel confident its continued use for a reasonable length of time will restore me to perfect health." This renowned cough and cold remedy and throat and lung healer is sold at H. Milliman's drug store 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Political Announcements.

EDITOR NEWS:—
Please announce my name as a candidate for the office of Assessor, subject to the will of the republican convention. (Concord township)
D. W. BAKER.

FOR RECORDER.

EDITOR NEWS:
Please announce my name as a candidate for the office of Recorder, subject to the Republican nominating convention. J. R. SHILLING.

A Few Prices.

Tea Kettles No. 8 and 9 granite.....50 to 60 cts.
Coffee Pots, all sizes, granite.....35 to 45 cts.
Tea Pots, all sizes, granite.....30 to 40 cts.
Dish Pans, all sizes, granite.....40 to 50 cts.
Stew Kettles, all sizes, granite.....20 to 65 cts.
Stew Kettles, all sizes, granite, covered.....25 to 50 cts.
Wash Pans, granite.....10 "
Pie Pans, all sizes, granite.....5 to 10 cts.
Pudding Pans, all sizes, granite.....10 to 20 cts.
Basting Spoon, all sizes, granite.....5 to 10 cts.
Dippers, all sizes, granite.....15 to 20 cts.
Pails, all sizes, tin.....5 to 40 "
Pails, all sizes, galvinized.....25 to 60 cts.
Can Rubbers, good quality, per doz.....5 to 10 cts.
Self Sealer can lids, per doz.....30 cts.
Lamp chimney, No. 1 and 2.....5 "
Lamp chimney, No. 2, flowered.10 "
Matches, per doz. boxes.....10 "

Don't forget when in need of any above articles or anything in Hardware line. Give us a call. Our goods are guaranteed first class. We are at your service.

H. V. Kinsey & Son.

Obituary.

Washington Hart, son of Johnathan and Dianna Hart, was born in Ashland Co., Ohio, Dec. 1, 1842, died in DeKalb Co., Ind., July 4, 1908. Aged 65 yrs. 7 mo. 3 da. In 1857 he with his parents left their old home and moved to Defiance Co., Ohio, near West Milford. In 1871 he moved to DeKalb. On Nov. 11, 1869 he was united in marriage to Alice Abel to this union was born six sons, Adrian E., Clarence S., Clyde E., Fred H., Ray and Charley, the last two having preceeded him to the spirit world. In 1876 he moved onto the farm where he died. He spent a number of years in the brick business and farming. In early manhood he confessed his faith in Christ and was buried with his Lord in baptism, uniting with the Church of Christ at Newville, later placing his membership with congregation at Coburn's Corners. He died as he had lived triumphant in the living faith. Reposing his trust in a risen Lord. He marched down to the waters brink looking beyond and with hands outstretched for the Savior's clasp. He leaves a wife, four sons, six brothers, three sisters and six grandchildren to mourn their loss. Funeral services were conducted by Revs. Brown and Thomas assisted by Rev. Helem of Hicksville at the Coburn's Corners church at 10:30 a. m., Tuesday, July 7, 1908. Interment took place in the Alton cemetery under the direction of Undertaker Beams & Baker.

Notice to Patrons.

All persons owing us are requested to settle their accounts by August 1st either by cash or by note drawing 6 per cent. interest.

KEESLER MILLING CO.

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

BELL PHONE NO. 82.

St. Joe, Indiana.

0244

L 903

JULY

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

FRED B. LEIGHTY, - - Publisher.

1908 JULY 1908

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
●	●	●	1	2	3	4
5	6	7	8	9	10	11
12	13	14	15	16	17	18
19	20	21	22	23	24	25
26	27	28	29	30	31	●
●	●	●	●	●	●	●

F. Q. 6th. F. M. 13th. L. Q. 20th. N. M. 28th.

FEATURES OF INTEREST

ABOUT THAT WHICH HAS BEEN AND IS TO BE.

All Sides and Conditions of Things are Shown. Nothing Overlooked to make it Complete.

$1,500,000 Fire in Boston Harbor Front.

A fire believed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion or a locomotive spark, and fanned by a brisk northwest wind, swept nearly a quarter of a mile of harbor front of East Boston, causing a property loss estimated at nearly $1,500,000. Much of the loss falls upon the Boston & Albany railroad. Two persons were reported missing and it is thought that both perished in the flames—James Sullivan, a watchman at the Cunard line pier, and the other was Miss Sarah Reynolds, employed by the Cunard Steamship Company. The fire was the biggest and most destructive that has broken out along the harbor front for many years. The flames spread with remarkable rapidity and by the time the first fire-fighting apparatus arrived on the scene they were beyond control and leaping from pier to pier. Within half an hour of the time the fire was discovered four piers, three warehouses, a grain elevator containing 30,000 bushels of grain, and many loaded freight cars had been destroyed.

Hitchcock is New Chairman.

Frank H. Hitchcock, former first assistant postmaster general, one of the managers for William H. Taft in the campaign for the nomination of the presidency by the Republican party, has been unanimously chosen chairman of the Republican National Committee. The announcement was made following a conference between Judge Taft and the members of the executive committee of the National Republican Committee. The committee also chose George Ramsey Sheldon, of New York, to be treasurer of the national committee, designated Arthur I Vorys as a member of the Republican national committee to have charge of the campaign in Ohio, and chose Cincinnati as the headquarters of the Republican National Committee.

Boni Makes a Move.

Count Boni de Castellane, whose former wife was married in London to Pirnce Helie de Sagan, has opened what promises to be a sensational legal battle for the possession of his three children, the offsprings of his marriage with Miss Anna Gould. Maitre Bonnet, counsel for the count, told the correspondent of the Associated Press that a decided move would be made in a few days, when he would ask the court to give the custody of all the children to the count on the ground that the Princess de Sagan was a suitable protector for them in so much as she is under the complete domination and control of Prince Helie de Sagan, who is unworthy to hold the position of father to the children.

Fatal Collision on Crossing.

Four children and the father of two of them dead and six persons are injured as the result of a collision between a farm wagon containing eight children, two men and one woman and an electric car on the Santa Ana line, near Watts, about ten miles from Los Angeles, Cal. The dead: Joseph Oller, 46 years old; Joseph Oller, Jr., 14 years old, and H. Oller, 8 years old, all of Lynwood. Eliza Kuehner, 9 years old, and Theo. Kuehner, aged 7, both of Los Angeles.

Northern Beach Hotel Burned.

The Northern Beach Hotel on North Port Bay in the Leelenau peninsula, thirty miles from Traverse City, Mich., was burned. The seven guests of the resort, which opened only last week, were forced to flee for their lives. Loss, $80,000; no insurance. The hotel was owned by A. M. Leslie, of Chicago.

Fatal Wreck in California.

The narrow gauge local bound from Alameda Mole, Cal., into Oakland crashed into the Santa Cruz train No. 57, bound for the Oakland Mole, killing or injuring all of the passengers in the Santa Cruz train smoking car. Eight were killed and over thirty injured.

BIG CONVENTION IS CALLED TOGETHER

Democratic Leaders of the Nation Assemble in Great Auditorium of Colorado's Capital.

CLEVELAND'S MEMORY HONORED

Thomas Taggart Raps to Order and Chairman Bell Delivers the Keynote Speech.

Denver correspondence:

The Democratic National Convention of 1908, which was to nominate candidates for the offices of President and Vice President of the United States in opposition to William H. Taft of Ohio and James S. Sherman of New York, whom the Republican National Convention nominated at Chicago, was called to order at noon Tuesday in Denver's great auditorium.

Denver, clad in "glad rags," was astir early Tuesday, and long before the hour for the opening of the big convention hall crowds began to flock toward the new auditorium building. Marching clubs headed by bands paraded the street and old-timers vouched for it that the city never before had witnessed more lively scenes. The Bryan, Johnson and Gray boomers vied until they appeared to be exhausted in the light mountain air.

The day was perfect and the convention opened under happy auspices. The sun, which shines here 347 days in the year, according to the figures of Denverites, was bright, and a stiff mountain breeze made it comfortable.

The doors to the convention hall were thrown open at 11 a. m., one hour before the gavel was to fall. Mayor Speer, of Denver, was on hand to personally direct the police arr and see to it that orders we out. The crowd lined up the hall was good-natured a order prevailed for the most

THOMAS TAGGART.

Chairman Taggart faced a of about 12,000 when he wi gavel, stopped the music of and silenced the rattle of tong
Right Rev. James J. Keane, bishop of Wyoming, offered cation. At the close of the a gavel typical of Colorado a factured from historic wood sented to Chairman Taggart
Denver convention committee

W. J. Franklin, the chief of the Denver boosters.

Thomas Taggart of Indiana made his debut and farewell simultaneously as chairman of the Democratic National Committee when he pounded for order in the 1908 convention.

Four yars ago former Senator James K. Jones of Arkansas, then chairman of the National Committee, performed this duty. Mr. Taggart was elected chairman of the committee which was chosen at the St. Louis convention. He had announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election. As a result the Indiana man was under the spotlight in a national convention just for a few minutes.

TEMPORARY CHAIRMAN BELL.

The call for the convention was read by Secretary Urey Woodson of Kentucky, who succeeded Charles A. Walsh of Iowa as secretary of the National Committee. Chairman Taggart at this point presented to the convention the choice of the National Committee for the temporary chairmanship, Theodore A. Bell of California, who was chosen by unanimous vote of the subcommittee, in compliance with the wishes of William J. Bryan.

There have been precedents established in Democratic conventions when the delegates refused to coincide with the wishes of the National Committee. The last notable instance was the Kansas City convention of 1890, when David B. Hill of New York had been slated by the National Committee to wield the temporary gavel, but was dethroned before he was handed the scepter in favor of John W. Daniel of Virginia.

This accomplished, Temporary Chairman Bell delivered the keynote speech of the 1908 campaign. The roll of States was then called for the purpose of choosing the members of the Committees on Resolutions, Credentials, Permanent Organization and Rules and Order of Business. Then came the introduction of a resolution in praise of the life and public services of the late Grover Cleveland, and as a further mark of respect to the late Democratic leader the convention adjourned until Wednesday at noon.

ALL STATES IN DECORATIONS.

Colors and Coats of Arms Prominent of the decora-

ocks in orations
e blocks decora-
addition. scheme
Americorated
of the decora-
of the us men n sensi-
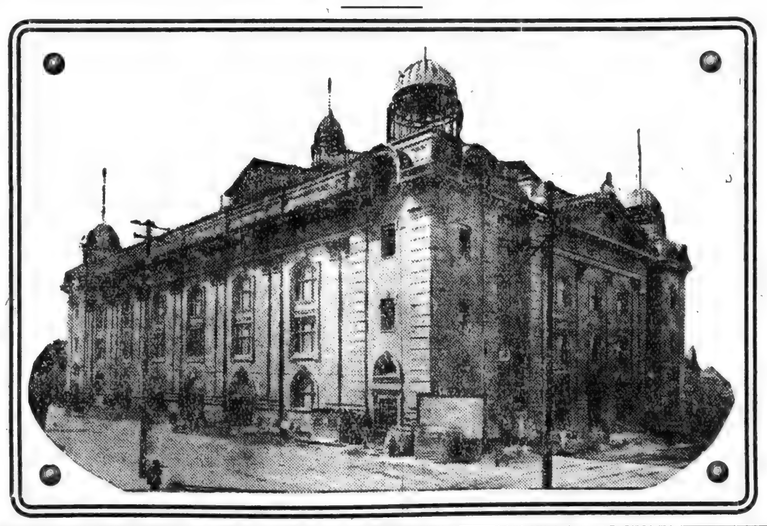
pictures
among

THE DENVER AUDITORIUM.



The decoration of the business streets was carried out in accord with a prearranged design. The plan for each street was identical and no private decorations were permitted to interfere with the harmony of the general scheme. The Denver committee early sent out notices that no political organization would be permitted to stretch a banner across the street, and this edict was strictly adhered to. State headquarters and the headquarters of candidates were marked only by banners hung along the walls of the hotels of buildings where they were established.

OLD TIME LEADERS MISSING.

Death and Other Causes Kept Picturesque Men Away from Denver.

Denver correspondence:

The Denver convention of 1908 was much different from some of the famous gatherings of the party not many years ago. When one looked over the list of the delegates he was struck by the lack of names of men who have been prominent in the councils of the party. The convention lacked picturesqueness on that account, but perhaps the new blood is just as effective.

Death has been busy with the party since the days of 1896, and, besides, almost all of the old line Democrats and many of those recently prominent were absent. For instance, New York came to the convention this year in charge of men who recently have become prominent, and there was a notable absence of several of the most powerful of the Southern Democrats, including leaders like Tillman, John Sharp Williams, and Senators Culberson and Bailey of Texas. David B. Hill, once Governor and Senator of New York, leader of his party, and candidate for the presidency against Grover Cleveland, is taking his first trip abroad. Croker, the famous boss of Tammany Hall, expatriated himslef in England and turned over his power first to one and then another chief. From the South there were this year few of the picturesque leaders even of the modern generation. Besides the march of political events which has taken away from Democratic conventions so many of their picturesque and prominent characters, death has been particularly busy in the party since 1896. President Cleveland has just passed away. In 1896 at the Chicago convention two Democratic governors, Altgeld of Illinois and "Billy" Russell of Massachusetts, were particularly prominent. Bragg of Wisconsin, Bryce of Ohio, Byers of Delaware, Boies of Iowa, and Gorman of Delaware were acknowledged leaders of the party twelve years ago. All these have died since the beginning of the Bryan era.

SERGEANT-AT-ARMS MARTIN.

CONVENTION ROUSED BY GUFFEY QUARREL

Decision of Credentials Committee in Pennsylvania Fight Causes Stirring Scenes.

TAMMANY IN A BIG PARADE

Crowds Rush for the Convention Hall Expecting Hot Contest on the Floor.

Denver correspondence:

With the assurance of another perfect day and the promise of an interesting fight over the report of the committee on credentials, the convention crowd began to move toward the convention hall early Wednesday. Progress toward the auditorium was impeded by a great parade of the Tammany men, who, headed by a band and a number of gaudily attired Indians, made their way through the business section of the city. About 1,000 men were in line. With Tammany out of the way the crowd was able to proceed toward the hall and by 11:30 all the sidewalks were choked and the police were struggling with the crowd pressing toward the entrances.

Just before the delegates began to gather in the Auditorium the credentials committee, which had been sitting all night, decided that the Guffey delegates from the Thirty-second district of the Keystone state—the anti-Bryan men—had no right to seats in the convention. This seated ten Bryan delegates. On receipt of the news Col. Guffey and his followers announced that they would go before the convention and demand justice.

The Bryan men came tramping into the auditorium with cheerful faces and much laughter. The events of the night and early morning in the committee on credentials were to their liking and they were more confident than ever of the success of their candidate.

When the convention came together for its second session the sway of William Jannings Bryan had been immensely strengthened. The credentials committee, after a session of seventeen hours, had decided contests in a manner which almost outclassed the "steam roller" at Chicago. Sweeping victories for the Bryan factions in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Idaho, New York and Oklahoma had been recorded.

PERMANENT CHAIRMAN CLAYTON.

Second Session Opens.

Temporary Chairman Bell reached the rostrum just before noon, while the band was playing "The Red, White and Blue," and there were combined cheers for the patriotic selection and for the first officer of the convention. "Dixie" came next from the band and drew out the usual burst of cheers from the southern delegates. Colonel Guffey walked down the center aisle to his place in the Pennsylvania delegation and received a cheer from a number of the delegates in his vicinity.

It was just 12:26 when Chairman Bell began to rap vigorously for order and to direct that the congested aisles be cleared. After pounding with his gavel for ten minutes Mr. Bell delivered a short address demanding that order prevail. The chairman then introduced Rev. Christian F. Reisner of Denver, chaplain of the day, who delivered the invocation. The marching clubs were then permitted to parade the aisles.

Delays the Clayton Speech.

As the confirmation by the convention of the credentials committee's decision was a part of the work of permanent organization, the star orator of the day, Henry D. Clayton of Alabama, selected for permanent chairman, had to withhold his eloquence until after the Guffey quarrel was ended.

JULY

0245

L 903

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

NEW YORK.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: "Trade is quiet, but healthy in tone, and the past week made moderate progress in the right direction, despite the interruptions of holidays and politics. Confidence in the future is evidenced in many ways, encouragement being derived from favorable crop reports and many comparisons showing that June produced much better results than any month since the setback last October. This was particularly noteworthy in the insolvency record, June being the first month of 1908 to supply smaller liabilities of commercial failures than the corresponding month last year.

"Manufacturing returns show the customary mid-year curtailment of activity for inventories and repairs, but resumption is expected to be prompt, and many idle plants started up on July 1 with a fair amount of business in sight, while threatened controversies over adjustments in wage scales are not materializing, labor leaders appreciating the necessity of concessions in conformity with reductions of prices."

CHICAGO.

"Business generally enters upon the last half of the year under improving conditions and with a more confident estimate for future activity. Evidences more clearly indicate increasing consumption of products, and manufacturing derives strength from the better disposition shown by railroads to issue important contracts. Mid-year interest payments swell transactions through the banks, but pressure in commercial settlements has added to current failures. Seasonable weather stimulated various branches of production and distribution, and there is assurance of further resumption at factories and railroad shops, which will afford re-employment of much idle labor. Sales in the leading retail channels have risen to a gratifying aggregate. Wholesale markets are well attended by buyers.

"Failures reported in the Chicago district numbered 36, against 32 last week and 26 a year ago. Those with liabilities of more than $5,000 numbered 10, against 8 last week and 9 in 1907."

THE MARKETS

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $8.25; hogs, prime heavy, $4.00 to $6.75; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $4.50; wheat, No. 2, 90c to 97c; corn, No. 2, 73c to 74c; oats, standard, 51c to 52c; rye, No. 2, 75c to 76c; hay, timothy, $8.00 to $12.00; prairie, $8.00 to $11.50; butter, choice creamery, 19c to 22c; eggs, fresh, 15c to 18c; potatoes, new, per bushel, 75c to $1.00.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $7.50; hogs, good to choice heavy, $3.50 to $6.50; sheep, common to prime, $3.00 to $4.50; wheat, No. 2, 84c to 85c; corn, No. 2 white, 69c to 70c; oats, No. 2 white, 51c to 52c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $4.50 to $8.00; hogs, $4.00 to $6.50; sheep, $3.00 to $4.25; wheat, No. 2, 90c to 91c; corn, No. 2 72c to 75c; oats, No. 2, 51c to 52c; rye, No. 2, 75c to 77c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.85; hogs, $4.00 to $6.65; sheep, $3.00 to $4.00; wheat, No. 2, 89c to 91c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 70c to 71c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 52c to 53c; rye, No. 2, 84c to 86c.

Detroit—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.50; hogs, $4.00 to $6.15; sheep, $2.50 to $4.00; wheat, No. 2, 88c to 89c; corn, No. 3 yellow, 72c to 73c; oats, No. 3 white, 54c to 55c; rye, No. 2, 76c to 77c.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, $1.12 to $1.15; corn, No. 3, 71c to 73c; oats, standard, 53c to 54c; rye, No. 1, 72c to 73c; barley, No. 2, 64c to 65c; pork, mess, $13.72.

Buffalo—Cattle, choice shipping steers, $4.00 to $7.25; hogs, fair to choice, $4.00 to $6.00; sheep, common to good mixed, $4.00 to $5.30; lambs, fair to choice, $5.00 to $7.00.

New York—Cattle, $4.00 to $7.40; hogs, $3.50 to $6.80; sheep, $3.00 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2 red, 99c to $1.00; corn, No. 2, 80c to 82c; oats, natural white, 57c to 59c; butter, creamery, 20c to 23c; eggs, western, 15c to 18c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, 87c to 89c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 72c to 73c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 52c to 53c; rye, No. 2, 76c to 77c; clover seed, October, $7.40.

FACTS FOR FARMERS.

Iowa farmers expect the next Legislature to grant the State Dairy Association an appropriation to hold schools of instruction in the several counties. Of 350 candidates for the Legislature questioned on the subject only six are unfavorable.

The battle between the dairy and oleomargarine manufacturers is on again before the Department of Agriculture in Washington. The dairymen insist that oleo shall be plainly labeled as such, and the oleo men are resisting such a ruling with all their power.

James Slonek, a farmer working for his brother in section 31, township of Tabor, Polk county, Minn., left his plow in the field to take his life. No cause for the suicide can be obtained. Slonek was unmarried and about 35 years old. He killed himself with a shotgun.

PRICES AT HIGH MARK.

Level for 1907 Twenty-Nine Per Cent Above Average for Years.

It will be of interest to those who were busy last year in keeping the wolf from the door to know that figures on wholesale prices of 258 representative staple articles reached the apex of their soaring last October. These statistics are for the eighteen years between 1890 and 1907.

The annual report on this subject of the Commerce and Labor Departments shows that the average for the year 1907 was 5.8 per ceit higher than for 1906; 44.4 per cent higher than for 1897, the year of lowest prices during the eighteen-year period, and 29.5 per cent higher than the average for the ten years from 1890 to 1899. Prices reached their highest point during the eighteen-year period in October, 1907, the average for that month being 1.2 per cent higher than the average for the year 1907, and 2.8 per cent higher than the average for December, 1905, the month of highest prices in that year.

When the commodities are divided into nine groups every group shows an increase in price in 1907 as compared with 1906. For farm products taken as a whole this increase was greatest, namely, 10.9 per cent; for food, 4.6 per cent; for clothes and clothing, 5.6 per cent; for fuel and lighting, 2.4 per ceit; for metals and implements, 6.1 per cent; for lumber and building materials, 4.9 per cent; for drugs and chemicals, 8.3 per cent; for house furnishing goods, 6.8 per cent, and for the miscellaneous group, 5 per cent.

The effect of the money stringency in the latter part of the last year is reflected in the decrease recorded in all commodities during November and December, the average price showing a decrease of 3.5 per cent below October. Of the 258 articles for which wholesale prices were recorded 172 showed an increase in the average prices for 1907 as compared with 1906; thirty-five showed no change and fifty-one showed a decrease.

CURRENT COMMENT

Hydrophobia is in reality so rare and so terrifying that its symptoms and treatment are little understood. As a matter of fact, the commonly accepted expression of madness in a dog is often misleading. The real mad dog does not shun water, as it is said. On the contrary, mad dogs often rush to the water and drink eagerly, if they are able to swallow.

The mad dog does not froth at the mouth. It does not run amuck, snapping at everything in its path.

What, then, are the indications of the mad dog? To those familiar with a given dog the surest symptom and the one which would excite closest attention is a distinct and unaccountable change in the dog's disposition—a staid dog becoming excitable and a frisky one dull. That condition does not necessarily mean rabies, but it is suspicious, and if, in addition, the dog has trouble in swallowing—as though it seemed to have a bone in its throat—beware! That dog should be instantly tied up, because if it be rabies it takes but a day or two for ferocious instincts to develop.

The unmistakable evidence, however, of a dog with rabies is the sticky, whitish saliva which covers the teeth and shows on the drawn lips. The eyes glare and are red; the dog has paroxysms of running fury, during which it barks hoarsely, which alternate with periods of temporory exhaustion.—Caspar Whitney, in Outing for July.

Doctors Discuss Industrialism.

The effects of the present-day tendency of women to enter into economic competition with men came up for an airing before the Chicago meeting of the American Academy of Medicine. Several of the male physicians deplored the fact that "too many women unsexed themselves by forsaking home life for work in shops, stores and factories," and one said that the lack of servants and housewives was disrupting society. A woman doctor, Helen C. Putnam of Providence, came out squarely for woman suffrage, holding that every woman had the right to develop her best faculties, to seek education and to enter a business field where she might select a father for her children on terms of social and intellectual equality. Dr. Burrell of Boston, the new president of the association, took strong ground in favor of educating the public as to general hygiene and sanitation, saying this was the duty of the medical profession. The House of Delegates of the association recommended the creation of a commission to watch and oppose legislation against vivisection.

A Heavyweight Ticket.

In spite of the fact that Secretary Taft has often laughingly declared that "no real gentleman weighs more than 300 pounds," his solid bulk combined with the compact frame of his running mate, James S. Sherman, makes the heaviest ticket ever put forward by any national party. The two men together tip the scales at something not far short of 500 pounds.

The record before this was held by the Democrats on the strength of the avoirdupois of Grover Cleveland. When nominated in 1892 Mr. Cleveland weighed about 275 pounds, but the small figure of Adlai E. Stevenson kept the total around 425 pounds.

A LONELY GIRL

By Mrs. Hungerford

CHAPTER XXI.

Adare is silent. This sweet call to him but embitters the desolation of his soul. Oh! lovely hypocrite! And what has he to say to her? How can he speak, knowing his heart is broken? His silence touches at once the nerves that are already so unstrung.

"Hilary! Why don't you speak? Are you angry with me? I could not help it. I did not mean——" Her thoughts fly to the upper chamber, where the everlasting stars looked down upon her, and where beneath their light she had said "No" to Everard's proposal of marriage. Is it that? Should she not have gone there? But they all saw her go, and said nothing! How has she offended him? The pretty color dies away from her half-parted lips.

"I know I have no right to dictate to you what you should or should not do. And as for being angry, why should I be angry? We are all free to do as we will. If you think my manner severe, it is merely that I would suggest to you, as being one of my family, that at such an hour as this, you——" He stops.

"Should not be here," interrupts she eagerly. "Yes, I know now. But they were all here a moment ago."

"A moment! Your moments seem to have flown on wings," still with that cruel smile, "in the room up there with Everard."

"Hilary! Oh! it is impossible!" in a low, but intensely vivid voice. "You must know how it was."

"You are right—I do!"

"You are mad!" cries the girl with a little indignant gesture. "You don't understand. You left me, to go down to Sir Lucien—you remember?"

"Certainly. It gave a splendid opportunity." A pause.

"I never thought of you before, as contemptible," says she. Her voice now is quite changed. All the sweetness, the love, the dearness of it, seems dead, killed! "But I have often heard it is difficult to know anyone. Believe me or not, as you will, however, I went up there to see the stars with Mr. Everard; they could be seen more clearly there, and——"

"Why give yourself so much trouble? Why not let this very amusing game you have played with him and me come to an end now—so far as I am concerned, at all events?" Grief and wrath have rendered him quite incapable of fathoming the wretched things he is saying.

Amber's eyes, resting on his, grow larger, brighter, but her face is the color of death.

"I don't think you know what you are saying," says she coldly.

"Ah! Don't let it degenerate into a farce!"

"You mean our engagement," says she presently, having gathered up her courage with a wonderful strength. "There was none, however. That at least you must remember. And—I am glad of it now! I am thankful that there is no real bond between me and—you." The sweet, deep eyes, so angry, so troubled in their depths, are still fastened upon his. Scorn lies in their depths.

"This is a convenient occasion for you to get rid of me," says Adare calmly. "When a woman trifles with two men, it is well for her to have just cause for getting rid, at the last, of the one who is the least desirable. I congratulate you on your success. You have not only got rid of me without any scandal, but you have secured Everard, who is beyond doubt the richer man of the two."

"I wish I were a man!" says she slowly.

"I would you were!" cries he, "for then I'd kill you——" There is such frightful passion in his tone that involuntarily she draws back. "Amber! What a name for you—for you!" His desperate grief makes him brutal. "Why did your father give you such a name as that?"

"Why should he not?" She lifts her small, beautiful head and smiles at him defiantly. "It was, however, my mother's suggestion; but afterwards my father said it quite suited me. Because"—her defiance now is of the very highest order—"he said I looked so clear!"

"Clear! You! And to deceive me so! To go up there to-night," pointing to the tiny staircase that leads to the topmost room of the tower, "with Everard!"

"I don't understand about Mr. Everard! You and yours have received him as a friend, I think, during my stay here. Yet now you talk of him, as if . . . But"—with a scornful gesture—"I care very little for Mr. Everard. As to my mother's naming me Amber, she thought of my complexion then, I think, not of my heart! You see," scoffingly, "it was almost transparent when I was born! As for what it is now—or my heart either—" She shrugs her shoulders. A very agony of rage has caught and overwhelmed her, let all the good of life go by for the sake of a moment's revenge upon this one human being whom, of all the world, she has learned to love.

Her air, her attitude, enrages him.

"How dare you speak to me like that?" cries he, catching her suddenly by both shoulders, and holding her as if in a vice.

"Let me go!" Her voice rings clear, if low, and without a touch of fear in it. She swings herself sharply out of his grasp, and at once walks towards the staircase beyond.

It is done very quickly, but she has hardly reached the middle part of the gallery when he is beside her. His face is still dark with anger and distrust, but—he has followed her.

"Amber! Don't go! Was I, or was I not, mad to speak to you like that? But if you will speak—will explain——"

"I shall not explain." Her face is as white as death.

"You refuse me one word." He has fallen on his knees before her. What is anything to—all the world contains—save this one little slender girl! Deliberately she loosens his fingers from her gown.

"Even one," she says.

He regains his feet slowly, very slowly; so slowly, indeed, that it gives Sir Lucien, who is coming up the gallery at this late hour, sufficient time to see him on his knees before her.

"Hah!" cries he, hurrying up and speaking before reaching them. His voice, harsh and resonant, rings along the gallery. "So I have found you out at last! Holary! are you dead to all your interests? Marry that girl!"—pointing to Amber with a quivering forefinger, that suggests a venomous and a lifelong hatred—"and not one penny of mine shall ever be yours. As for you!"—he turns to Amber a face black with passion—"I regret I ever let my niece invite you here."

"To-morrow I leave your house," she says. She takes a step towards him, and Sir Lucien, as if cowed by the grandeur of her air, steps back a little. There is, indeed, something splendid in the scorn of her young face. "And before going I beg you to understand that I have no desire whatever to marry Captain Adare. He is indeed the last man in the world I should care to marry!"

She turns, and, flinging up her head with a superb gesture, without another word, another glance, goes swiftly, yet without undue haste, to the staircase that leads out of the gallery. Adare, his very soul on fire, turns to go after her. Sir Lucien catches his arm.

"Stay! I command you!" cries he. "Let that impertinent girl go. If you disobey me now, I shall disinherit you, and a title—without money. Give her up, boy, give her up, I say!"

"Never, sir!" cries Hilary, flinging aside the hand that again has been laid upon his arm. "Do you think your money—Do you think all the money the world contains could be as good in my eyes as she is?"

He almost pushes Sir Lucien aside and dashes down the staircase—the staircase that has swallowed up Amber. But he is too late to overtake her. He is only in time, indeed, to hear the click of the key in her bedroom door. He turns away. Well! There is still to-morrow! He will see her to-morrow!

CHAPTER XXII.

But the morning proves him wrong. Amber is no longer within the walls of Carrig. When she had gone, or how, no one knows. And to all his grief and self-denunciation is added the knowledge that she must have walked all the way from Carrig either to Madam's, where she was expected, or to the old Mill House. In what cruel haste she had been to knock their dust from off her feet!,

How Hilary spends the hours after his first certain knowledge of Amber's going from Carrig he himself never knows to the end of all. But when this short and dying day is drifting into a long and chilly night, he suddenly goes into the yard and orders a trap to be got ready for him.

Coming to that part of the road that leads up to the boreen, where Amber's little sick boy dwells, he springs to the ground and leads the horse up the lane, and there gives the poor woman, who remembers him with the most devout gratitude, his horse and trap in charge.

Was he mad last night when he hurled his miserable insults on her? Surely he was mad! What did it all come to after all? A few moments spent alone with Everard! He had thought her wrong there; but he—was it not he who had been hideously in the wrong? He who had accused her of falsity—falsity to him—to the man she had said she loved! Certainly she had gone to see the stars with Everard, but that was only a small fault, magnified by him, not a crime.

As he nears the mill, a little spark from the lowest depth around it catches his eye. He blinks—stares again. Yet surely there is a light, and in that dismal cellar where he and Amber had buried her rings, that night! His heart begins to beat! She has not gone to Madam's, then! Poor darling! He had been nothing but a grief to her from almost their first acquaintance. But a light here? Could she be the one who had lit it? And why come there, into the very bowels of the earth as it were, at this dark hour?

An unworthy thought—dismissed instantly with a touch of self-horror—that she is there to regain those rings, sends him flying down the slope that leads to the old mill. More likely—far more likely—she has come here thinking of it as the last place in the old mill that she had visited with him. If there seems to be conceit or vanity of any sort in this thought of his, it must be combated by the fact that he judges her as he judges himself. Has he not come here to-night to look his last on scenes made sacred to him by her?

And if she is here? If he should be so wildly fortunate as to find her here—in that melancholy vault—then in his very body he can prostrate himself before her. Can lay his apologies at her feet. Can own to her his grief—his hatred of himself, and—Heaven is good as well as just!—gain her forgiveness.

He covers the ground between him and the old mill in an extraordinarily swift time, and, gaining the dipalidated doorway, steps quickly in, and to that hole in the broken flooring that leads to the cellar beneath. Very softly he steps. He must not take her off her guard. To startle her by a sudden descent would be a cowardly thing—taking her by storm, as it were. And yet to seem to spy upon her!

He shrinks from the thought, and finally desides on looking through the hole in the floor from which the old ladder is hanging, and seeing her, call to her; telling her he is here—has come—oh! too poor! too poor! Telling her rather that he is here, her slave—her lover for life, even though she should elect to despise and reject him!

He bends down—his eyes traverse the vault. A sharp exclamation almost escapes him. Almost—not quite. Down here in this dismal cellar Deane is kneeling beside a wide opening in the earthen floor. This opening is close to the wall, and on the wall just above it is painted that small black arrow, of which Amber and he had taken such notice. On the side of this opening lies an old and very large jewel case—very old, and now very grimy—its lid lifted. Hilary gazing, too astonished to move, can see in the faint light of the lantern Deane has laid beside it, great rays of light flashing. The missing jewels at last! How near the discovery of them he and Amber had been when they buried those rings; only an inch or two this way—and . . .

Lightly he drops to the ground. So lightly indeed that the other man, engrossed with his spoil, hears nothing of his coming, until he is almost at his elbow.

With a frantic yell, as of a wild beast torn from its prey, Deane springs to his feet, and having faced Adare for the fraction of a second, flings himself upon him. The latter grasps him in turn. Disgust and rage are giving fresh strength to thews and sinews, that require little assistance from any source. And for a few minutes the two men sway and wrestle and are locked in a deadly embrace that means death—for one or the other! Nostrils dilated, lips parted; a sway to the right—victory for one; a sway to the left—victory to the other! How will it end?

Now a slight chance in this wild wrestling match—a loosening of the arms of Hilary—gives Deane a chance. He flings Hilary from him, and with lightning speed draws a revolver from his breast! With a low growl of joy he levels it.

A second! a second only. But there is life in a second even for a man condemned. And it is a girl—the girl he loves—who gives life to Hilary! A small hand, brown, but shapely, flings up the fatal revolver, that would have sent him to a land very far away from ours, and a bullet crashes into the rotten rafters above their heads. The revolver has taken a voyage very nearly as high. It comes down now in a distant corner, and providentially does not go off. Amber, with a little spring, goes to it and picks it up.

"Go home, Brian," says the girl very gently, and in a very low voice. Her fingers tighten over the revolver, however. She is calm, but looks a little broken. Adare moves to her side.

"Those stones, those ornaments," says he, pointing to them, "belong, as of course you know, to Sir Lucien Adare. In his name I take possession of them? As for you"—he looks straight at Deane with scorn and undisguised contempt—"I give you just twenty-four hours to get out of the country."

"I shan't give you half that time to live," says Deane. His glance is demoniacal; he rushes to the ladder and swings himself out of sight.

Amber turns to Hilary with an almost frantic gesture.

"Go," cries she. "Go quickly! He has gone to the house, and can be back in a quarter of an hour. He has another revolver."

"Give me that one," says Hilary.

"Take it, but," vehemently, "go!"

"Well, come!" says he.

She stares at him, her face growing, if possible, whiter. She shakes her head.

"Never mind me. But you go, and at once."

"And leave you here?" he laughs shortly.

"I am safe enough, believe me. Quite"—with a curiously strained smile, that in spite of all her efforts to suppress it, betrays the actual fear she is enduring, not only for him but for herself—"quite safe."

"In the hands of that brute! Don't let us waste time, Amber. No, not another word. You come with me or I don't go. Come!"

"But where?" shrinking backwards.

"To Carrig, of course."

"Oh! impossible. I will not! To meet Sir Lucien again!" She flings up her head with a touch of the deepest pride and resentment. "Last night he all but ordered me out of his house."

"Why think of him? Is he worth one of your thoughts? Besides, you need not see him. Dolly, May will receive you with open arms. And to-morrow you can go to Madam's if you will." He is speaking sharply, hurriedly, in disjointed sentences. There is so little time, and to be caught like rats in a trap! Still she hesitates.

"Look," cries he passionately, "I know I have forfeited the right even to speak to you, but I implore you to listen to me now."

(To be continued.)

JULY

0246

L 903

These Bad Pains

which give you such exquisite suffering, every month, are caused, as you know, by female trouble.

Relief seldom or never comes of itself. It is necessary to cure the cause, in order to stop the pains, and this can only be done if you will take a specific, female remedy, that acts directly on the womanly organs.

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMAN'S RELIEF

"Cardui did wonders for me," writes Mrs. H. C. Larson, of Olds, Ia. "I had female trouble for 5 years. I had displacement, which increased my suffering, the doctor could only relieve me at times. Now, I am so much better, I hardly know when my time begins or when it ends."

At All Druggists

WRITE FOR FREE ADVICE, stating age and describing symptoms, to Ladies Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. B 33

J. A. PROVINES

TRUSTEE

of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:
THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK
at residence in Spencerville, Ind.

DENTIST.

C. R. PRICE.

ST. JOE, IND.

Office in Case building.

Bell Phone No. 44.

WABASH WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St. Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.

No. 11. Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail 12:05p.m
No. 3, Western Express 3:06 p. m

GOING EAST.

No. 2, Eastern Express 6:34a. m
No. 16, Toledo Acc & Mail 7:21 p. m

The Old Proverb

That "It takes nine tailors to make a man" may possibly mean that it takes nine trials to find the right tailor.

You can save eight trials by coming here first. At this time in the year we can do considerably better by you than later. Not better in style, fabric, fit or finish—that's impossible—but better in price. For Example:—

Suits from $18.00 up.

Pants from $4.00 up

ED MAY,

TAILOR,

Butler, Ind.

The St. Joe News.

One Year	$1.00
Six Month	50c
Three Months	25c

FRED B. LEIGHTY, Editor.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

Editorially.

These are the days of great naval demonstrations. The Spanish Carmada is far out done. A single dreadnaught has probably more tonnage than all the Spanish caravels that were wrecked in the English waters in the days of the great Queen Bess. The Japanese sent quite a formidable armada to the bottom of the sea off the Korean shores. The armada that we recently dispatched to the Pacific Ocean on its mission of peace, is the most formidable that ever appeared in that greatest of oceans. Germany recently carried on her naval manoeuvers with a fleet of sixty-two vessels, and now England with the Channel fleet and first squadron "based" as the false metaphor has it, off the coast of Denmark, and her defending fleet in the Firth of Forth, aggregates more than three hundred men-of-war. The rulers of the land of our forefathers and foremothers are wise in their day and generation, for this great fleet will make Germany hesitate and think. It will illustrate in these manoeuvers what England would do if at war with Germany. There is no doubt that the lack of knowledge of the strength of an adversary has been the cause of many a fist fight and many a war. A featherweight is often very courageous when facing a man in his own class, but what fool of a featherweight will fight the champion heavyweight of the world!

The three great languages of the world are English, French and German. Spanish is a useful language, but it is decadent. Spain was once a great colonizer but she has shrunk to her old homestead in Europe with a population of not more than from twelve or fifteen millions. Of the three great languages, English takes precedence and is more likely than either of the others to become the universal language. It is spoken by at least three times as many people as speak French and twice as many as speak German. English is spoken by two of the greatest and most progressive nationalities in the world. It is the language of a people of a much larger extent of territory than any other language for in the British Isles, in the United States, in Canada, in Australia and New Zealand, it is spoken exclusively and it is the commercial and official language to a greater extent than any other in China, India, south-east and central Africa. Those who do business to any large extent in any city in the world, find it necessary to speak Edglish and anyone going to the best hotels in any country, European, African, or Asiatic, will find that the manager or his clerk, speaks English or believes that he does.

Heinz's pickles in bulk, sweet and sour at KAGEY'S.

PATENTS

and TRADE-MARKS promptly obtained in all countries, or no fee. We obtain PATENTS THAT PAY, advertise them thoroughly, at our expense, and help you to success.

Send model, photo or sketch for FREE report on patentability. 30 years' practice. SURPASSING REFERENCES. For free Guide Book on Profitable Patents Write to

503-505 Seventh Street, WASHINGTON, D. C.

D. SWIFT & CO.

A HUMAN MACHINE.

He Was Able to Correct a Language He Did Not Understand.

When Max Muller was preparing his edition of the Rigveda he had, so the story goes, an illustration of the instinctive wisdom of the compositor. In providing the manuscript for about 6,000 sheets of print the author naturally tripped, from time to time. Whenever he did trip, there on his proof was the error queried in a careful hand. Surely, he thought, some unknown scholar in the university must be overlooking his proofs with kindly interest and making the corrections for him. Inquiry showed that this was not the fact. The corrections were the corrections of the man who set up the type. "Did this man, then, know Sanskrit?" Muller asked. Not a bit of it. Use and wont enabled him to detect the errors as a hungry child scents a cooking dinner. The discovery originated through his arm rather than from any intellectual doubt, and that arm was palsied!

This printer had sustained an accident, leaving him with an arm partly paralyzed, and as this made him slower with his setting his masters turned him on to Sanskrit, with which he had had no previous acquaintance. He had to learn upward of 300 types for the work, but he learned them and accustomed himself to the work. Now, many of the letters in Sanskrit cannot follow each other or, if they do, must be modified. In writing Muller sometimes forgot these modifications, but they were all marked on the proof. Muller was so interested that he sought out the printer to ask him how he was able to correct a language which he did not understand. The explanation was remarkable: "You see, sir, my arm gets into a regular swing from one compartment of types to another, and there are movements that never occur. So if I suddenly have to take up types which entail a new movement I feel it and put a query." What a dog's life the "nu speling," or Artemus Ward's, which is the same thing, would have caused that marvelous human machine!—St. James' Gazette.

THE BIRD CLOWN.

A Queer Kind of Fellow Is the Yellow Breasted Chat.

The oddities of the yellow breasted chat begin even with his classification. To think of a warbler the size of a Baltimore oriole, a warbler with a song like a mocking bird! Indeed, there is little about the chat that is not remarkable. He goes in for the weird and the spectacular. If Nature designed him to show what she could do in the way of the unusual and the eccentric, she had remarkable success.

This bird and not the catbird is the real "clown of the woods." Clown of the thicket would be more apt, for, like the catbird, he prefers the shrub and lower trees. A wild tangle of briers and vines is a favorite haunt. It is only the better to survey such a retreat that he mounts to the top of a tree. From his lofty perch he sings, to the amazement and bewilderment of the person that hears the song for the first time. More likely than not he will become invisible and silent upon the first attempt to approach him, remaining quiet and hidden till you move on again; then he chuckles loudly and scolds and spits and scoffs till you are out of sight and hearing.

No bird is so fearful of being seen or such a master of hide and seek. It is worse than useless to try to steal a march on him. He manages to be always on the wrong side of the next bush. If you should find his nest, which is a pretty little basket of straws and weed stalks lined with fine grasses and stripe of soft bark or leaves placed a foot or more above the ground among tall weeds or bushes, the sitting bird steals away and is at once lost to sight. Take a peep at the white, red speckled eggs and then hide among the bushes as far away from the nest as you can while still keeping it in sight. You may have to wait for an hour and even make other trips to the spot, but this is the surest way to get a good look at this shy one.—St. Nicholas.

Triumph of Mind.

Victim of Delusion—Doctor, I'm awfully afraid I'm going to have brain fever. Doctor—Pooh, pooh, my dear friend! That is all an illusion of the senses. There is no such thing as fever. You have no fever; you have no br—h'm—no material substance upon which such a wholly imaginary and supposititious thing as a fever could find any base of operation. Victim—Oh, doctor, what a load you have taken from my—from my—I have a mind, haven't I, doctor?—Chicago Tribune.

Pulling That Hair.

"What makes me really mad," said the woman, "is to spend minutes, maybe hours, trying to get hold of a white hair which shows up on my head like a dazzling light, yet which is tantalisingly elusive when I try to catch it, and then when I do finally separate it from the brown hair and give it a vigorous pull to find that I have snatched out a good brown hair, after all, and left the white one still shining."—New

WANTED—A RIDER AGENT IN EACH TOWN and district to ride and exhibit a sample Latest Model "Ranger" bicycle furnished by us. Our agents everywhere are making money fast. Write for full particulars and special offer at once.

NO MONEY REQUIRED until you receive and approve of your bicycle. We ship to anyone, anywhere in the U. S. without a cent deposit in advance, prepay freight, and allow TEN DAYS' FREE TRIAL during which time you may ride the bicycle and put it to any test you wish. If you are then not perfectly satisfied or do not wish to keep the bicycle ship it back to us at our expense and you will not be out one cent.

FACTORY PRICES We furnish the highest grade bicycles it is possible to make at one small profit above actual factory cost. You save $10 to $25 middlemen's profits by buying direct of us and have the manufacturer's guarantee behind your bicycle. DO NOT BUY a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone at any price until you receive our catalogues and learn our unheard of factory prices and remarkable special offers to rider agents.

YOU WILL BE ASTONISHED when you receive our beautiful catalogue and study our superb models at the wonderfully low prices we can make you this year. We sell the highest grade bicycles for less money than any other factory. We are satisfied with $1.00 profit above factory cost.

BICYCLE DEALERS, you can sell our bicycles under your own name plate at double our prices. Orders filled the day received.

SECOND HAND BICYCLES. We do not regularly handle second hand bicycles, but usually have a number on hand taken in trade by our Chicago retail stores. These we clear out promptly at prices ranging from $3 to $8 or $10. Descriptive bargain lists mailed free.

COASTER-BRAKES, single wheels, imported roller chains and pedals, parts, repairs and equipment of all kinds at half the usual retail prices.

$8.50 HEDGETHORN PUNCTURE-PROOF SELF-HEALING TIRES $4.80 A SAMPLE PAIR TO INTRODUCE, ONLY

The regular retail price of these tires is $3.50 per pair, but to introduce we will sell you a sample pair for $4.80 (cash with order $4.55).

NO MORE TROUBLE FROM PUNCTURES

NAILS, Tacks or Glass will not let the air out. Sixty thousand pairs sold last year. Over two hundred thousand pairs now in use.

DESCRIPTION: Made in all sizes. It is lively and easy riding, very durable and lined inside with a special quality of rubber, which never becomes porous and which closes up small punctures without allowing the air to escape. We have hundreds of letters from satisfied customers stating that their tires have only been pumped up once or twice in a whole season. They weigh no more than an ordinary tire, the puncture resisting qualities being given by several layers of chin, specially prepared fabric on the tread. The regular price of these tires is $3.50 per pair, but for advertising purposes we are making a special factory price to the rider of only $4.80 per pair. All orders shipped same day letter is received. We ship C. O. D. on approval. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them strictly as represented.

Notice the thick rubber tread "A" and puncture strips "B" and "D," also rim strip "E" to prevent rim cutting. This tire will outlast any other make—SOFT, ELASTIC and EASY RIDING.

We will allow a cash discount of 5 per cent (thereby making the price $4.55 per pair) if you send FULL CASH WITH ORDER and enclose this advertisement. We will also send one nickel plated brass hand pump. Tires to be returned at OUR expense if for any reason they are not satisfactory on examination. We are perfectly reliable and money sent to us is as safe as in a bank. If you order a pair of these tires, you will find that they will ride easier, run faster, wear better, last longer and look finer than any tire you have ever used or seen at any price. We know that you will be so well pleased that when you want a bicycle you will give us your order. We want you to send us a trial order at once, hence this remarkable tire offer.

IF YOU NEED TIRES don't buy any kind at any price until you send for a pair of Hedgethorn Puncture-Proof tires on approval and trial at the special introductory price quoted above; or write for our big Tire and Sundry Catalogue which describes and quotes all makes and kinds of tires at about half the usual prices.

DO NOT WAIT but write us a postal today. DO NOT THINK OF BUYING a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone until you know the new and wonderful offers we are making. It only costs a postal to learn everything. Write it NOW.

J. L. MEAD CYCLE COMPANY, CHICAGO, ILL.

Favors Home Rule.

Thomas R. Marshall, democratic nominee for governor, has always raised his voice in defense of constitutional limitations. At New Albany he expressed his views with reference to home rule in cities. He said: "I am in favor of the repeal of the metropolitan police law. This metropolitan police law has enabled the governor to build up a machine throughout the state of Indiana; it enabled him to manage and control the police affairs of the state at long distance. I believe it is the duty of each city to grow in civic righteousness. The best way for it to grow in civic righteousness is to have somebody who is directly answerable to the mass of people for a failure to discharge the duty resting upon the officer; that while the officer is only answerable to the governor and not to the people of his own community, he will be very likely inclined to manage the affairs of his office as the appointing power requests him to do. I hope, therefore, that the legislature in the discharge of its governmental functions, will repeal this law and reinvest the citizens of every city in Indiana with the right to control their own police but that if the law is not repealed, and I have the lawful power to do so, I will appoint as members of the police board such citizens of each city, as the major and common council of the city recommend to me. This, in my opinion, will be handing over to the citizens again, the right of local self government, will give to such citizens, officeholders who are directly amenable to the citizens of each city, and I would remove an officer at the request of the mayor and common council. In other words, I desire to divorce myself from the idea that if elected governor of this state, I will either directly or indirectly, attempt to build up a machine in the state of Indiana. The only machine that ought ever to be set to work in Indiana is the untrammeled judgement and conscience of the people of this state.

Rheumatism

Do you want to get rid of it? If so, take Dr. Miles Nervine modified as directed in pamphlet around bottle. In addition to the direct curative properties it has a soothing effect upon the nervous system by which the rheumatic pains are controlled, and rest and sleep assured. It has made many cures of this painful disease, some of them after years of suffering. If it will cure others why not you. If your case is complicated, write us for advice, it costs you nothing and may save you prolonged suffering.

"I was so crippled that I could scarcely walk. After having my shoes on for an hour or two I could manage to walk by suffering the pain. Then I began to have pains all through my system. My doctor told me I had an acute attack of inflammatory rheumatism. I read about Dr. Miles' Nervine, bought a bottle and I commenced to get better from the start and for the past six months have scarcely any pain, and am able to walk as well as ever."

JAS. H. SANDERS,
P. O. Box 5, Rockaway, N. J.

Your druggist sells Dr. Miles' Nervine, and we authorize him to return price of first bottle (only) if it fails to benefit you.

Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind

Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also furnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable.

Beams & Baker.

JULY

0247

L 903

Local News.

In Brief Paragraphs.

Ray Hennesy now occupies the F. A. Zeigler property.

Allie Goldsmith and sister was at Grabill, Wednesday.

Born to Frank Tustison and wife, a son, Thursday, July 9.

For a nice white flake loaf use the Orangeville flour at Barney's.

Mrs. Chas. Kagey and children spent Friday with C. W. Mutzfeld and wife of Butler.

Drink Moxie these days. It makes you eat better, sleep better and feel better. For sale at KAGEY'S.

J. C. Hull, wife and daughter, and Fred Leighty spent Sunday with Merritt Hull and lady friend of Ft. Wayne,

Mrs. Don VanFleit and children of Garrett are visiting with Mrs. Rebecca Smith and son, a few days last week.

The Missionary Society of the Lutheran church will hold a 5:00 o'clock tea in the basement of the church, on Saturday evening, July 18. Mite 10 cents. Everybody is requested to come. Plenty for all.

A merchant may issue his check and you can draw the money. He may have a span of horses and they will draw his load of tools. He may have the toothache and a bread and milk poultice will do the work. He may have a pretty daughter and she may draw, but when that merchant wants to draw trade he must advertise.

The Wabash railroad will run an excursion to Detroit, Sunday, July 19. Train leaves St. Joe at 7:20 a. m. Round trip rates $1.50. Train leaves Detroit at 8:00 p. m. The many attractions are Belle Isle, Bois Blanc, Windsor, Star and Sugar Island. You will have ten hours to enjoy the many attractions.

Announcements were received by friends here of the marriage of J Howard Bonnell to Miss Elizabeth Boone which occured at Chicago, Wednesday, July 8th. Mr. Bonnell will be remembered by many of our young people, being a son of Prof. J. P. Bonnell, who taught our schools two years. The young people will reside in Chicago.

The Centlivre Brewing company of Fort Wayne, through Attorney W. W. Sharpless of this city, filed two suits in the Whitley county circuit court last week against Dan Lung, formerly a saloonkeeper of this city and Churubusco. The first case is on a note dated August 9, 1894. The amount, which was payable in sixty days, is $464.25, but with interest and attorneys' fees totals $615. The second case is a balance on account for $324.46. Mr. Lung after the expiration of his liquor license at Churubusco came to Garrett and engaged in the business but later returned to Churubusco and is now in the pool and billiard business.—Clipper

Notice to Farmers.

Anyone having hay ropes, wire ropes or cables needing splicing. Can get same done, or any other ropes spliced by phoning No. 10 or by writing to the News Office.

LEIGHTY & CURIE.

OLD SOLDIERS.

Will Reune at St. Joe August 6th, 1908.

The old soldiers and all others that attend the annual reunion of the DeKalb County Battalion, which will be held in St. Joe, on the 6th of August, 1908, will receive from the citizens of St. Joe, a royal welcome. The reunion will be held in the Widney Opera House, which is well ventilated and all can be comfortable seated. Meals will be served by the Ladies of the Lutheran church and by Mrs. A. B. Filley. White Hotel and the Cottage Hotel also the restaurants will serve lunches, etc, which all means that those attending will not go hungry. St. Joe will make all arrangements that those attending will go away from our little city on this occasion feeling that St. Joe has fully sustained her reputation as intertainers. The speaking will be by Hon. C. C. Githams, Hon. Cyrus Cline and Chap J. A. Brown and others. The well known reputation of the above named gentlemen as public speakers will be a guarantee to those that hear them that they did not come to St. Joe to be disappointed. We want everybody to come and let us give the Old Boys such a welcome that will be remembered for time to come. Let us beautify the town, decorate our homes and business houses, and all get in line to make our visitors feel that this day was one of the most pleasant and profitably spent in years.

What The Trouble Is.

The trouble with the small girl is that she isn't bigger.

The trouble with the big girl is that every pair of scales she steps on gives her a weigh.

The trouble with a great many editors is that they don't think one-half as much as they write.

The trouble with the small boy is that his big sister never was a small boy herself and so she doesn't know how the small boy feels.

The trouble with the average husband is that he knows his wife knows he isn't so big a man as he wants the world to think he is.

The trouble with almost all the ministers is that they don't hear other ministers preach often enough to know what a really first-class, bang-up sermon is.

The trouble with the young man in love is that he is insane enough to think that all the other young men are making just as big fools of themselves about his best girl as he is.

The trouble with the young woman love is that she doesn't know whether she really loves the young man for himself alone or for the caramels he brings and the prospect of a solitaire diamond to dazzle the other girls.

The trouble with the average wife is that her husband is much more prodigal with his protestations of affection than he is with his money, and that he does not waste much of either unless he wants a button sewed on.

Undertaking a Specialty.

Eliza Kinsey takes charge of all funerals. Calls answered day or night Prices reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

Phone No. Office 37-2. Residence 37-3

The Weather Predictions for Month of July.

Hicks, the St. Louis weather prophet predicts that a drough will prevail over the land during July; but he hangs on a proviso and says the infernally hot wave will not come until the last week in the month. By that time wheat and hay will be cut and corn and oats will be so far advanced that the heat will not seriously affect the crop, even if Hicks' no rain proposition works out. He says:

"A reactionary storm period will become central on the 16th and 17th of the month, with much warmer weather and scattering, light rains. The regular storm period will be between the 19th and 24th, with threatening storm clouds and windstorms between the 21st and 24th. The grain belts, while they may have ugly storm clouds, thunder and high wind, will most likely suffer a shortage in rainfall.

"From the 24th to the 27th the weather is to become cooler and more pleasant, but a reactionary storm period is to set in by the 27th, becoming central within three days thereafter.

"One of the most intense hot waves of the summer will occur, culminating about the 28th, if the change to cooler does not appear generally between the 24th and 27th."

Best the World Affords.

"It gives me unbounded pleasure to recommend Bucklen's Arnica Salve," says J. W. Jenkins, of Chapel Hill, N. C, "I am convinced it's the best salve the world affords. It cured a felon on my thumb, and it never fails to heal every sore, burn or wound to which it is applied. 25c at H. Milliman's drug store.

Obituaries.

Racheal Catherine, daughter of Riley and Asemath Rickett, was born in DeKalb Co., January 1, 1854, departed this life July 8, 1908. Aged 54 yrs. 6 mo. 7 da. All her life was lived in DeKalb county. From a family of eleven children, five children with father and mother have proceded her to the spirit world. She leaves three brothers and two sisters with a host of friends to mourn their loss. The funeral was conducted in the Concord church, Thursday afternoon of last week, Rev. J. A. Brown preaching the funeral. Eliza Kinsey had charge of the funeral. Burial in the Jenkins cemetery.

Violet Irene Walter, daughter of George and Pearl May Walter, was born April 26, 1907 and died July 7, 1908. Aged 1 yr. 2 mo. 11 da. She was a sweet tender plant, a blessing to her papa, mamma and grandparents. She suffered for more than a week, and then the kind Father relieved her, and took her to himself, to abide with her mamma, who had proceeded her to the heavenly land four months ago. Father, sister Vera, Grandfather and mother Koch, with many relatives are left to mourn her early departure. Sorrow should be turned to joy when we remember that the Savior says "Of such is the Kingdom of heaven." Funeral was held Thursday at 10:00 a. m. at the home of John Koch. Sermon was preached by Rev. J. C. McCain of New Haven. Funeral director E. R. Kinsey. Burial in the Riverside cemetery.

METHODIST PROTESTANT CHURCH

Mr. H. Yokoyama, a Japanese student at Kansas City University will lecture on Japan, next Saturday at 8:00 p. m. at the M. P. church at Concord, on Sunday at 10:15 a. m. in the M. P. church at St. Joe and at 7:30 p. m. at the Fairview church. Come and hear him. A free will offering will be taken.

S. Heininger, Pastor.

It Can't Be Beat

The best of all teachers is experience. C. M. Harden, of Silver City, North Carolina, says: "I find Electric Bitters does all that's claimed for it. For Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles it can't be beat. I have tried it and find it a most excellent medicine." Mr. Harden is right; it's the best of all medicines, also for weakness, lame back, and all run down conditions. Best too for chills and malaria. Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store. 50c.

Just Received.

Car Load Wabash Portland Cement.

Consignment of Gasoline Vapor Stoves.

I Keep on Hands

Hydrated Ground Lime

Stoves and Ranges Cooking Utensils

Steel Goods of all kinds.

All Kinds of Roofing:

Best quality Red Cedar Shingles

Gravel Roofing Asbestos, Rubber, Felt and Galvanized Roofing.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT

Linseed, Automobile and Lubricating Oils. Gasoline, Etc.

GLASS, SASH AND DOORS.

Quality Right. Prices Right.

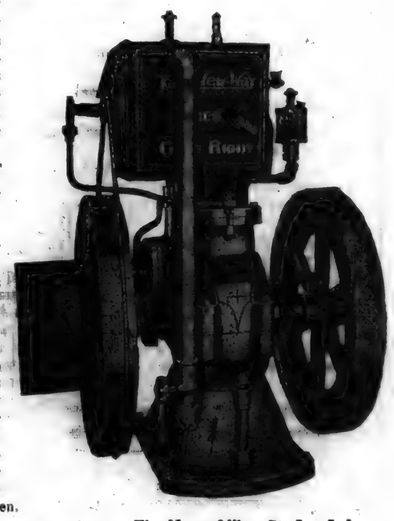
D. J. Baker.

INTERESTING TO UP-TO-DATE FARMERS.

What you need is a reliable gasoline engine to do your work and increase your profits.

The "NEW WAY" Engine is conceded by Mechanical Engineers and men of high authority to be the most perfect engine in mechanical design and construction manufactured,

No water tanks or water. Cooled perfectly by air.



SO SIMPLE YOUR BOY CAN RUN IT.

The next time you are in town, just drop in and examine the 3 to 3 1-2 H. P. "NEW WAY" engine on our floor. If you don't say it is the best engine you have ever seen or heard of, we will be greatly mistaken.

Engine can be seen running at The News Office, St. Joe, Ind.

Eugene Hubbard, Butler, Ind.

Exclusive Agent.

Note books at THE NEWS office.

According to our customs in this country:- before marriage he sits up with her, and after marriage she sits up without him, and sometimes she sits on him.

The Imported Hackney Stallion, New Fashion is now owned by Wm. Watson, who lives three miles southwest of Spencerville. He will stand the entire week, except Saturday's, at the owners barn, when he will be at the Moffett Feed barn at Auburn.*

Roscoe S. Squiers, the one year old son of Samuel and Alice Squiers, died at their home, two miles north of St. Joe, July 8, 1908. The funeral was held in the U. B. church, Friday, near the Spindler cemetery where burial took place. J. C. McCain of New Haven preached the funeral. Eliza Kinsey director.

John May of Corunna was here Tuesday and closed the deal whereby he becomes the owner of the St. Joe telephone exchange. Mr. May will move here just as soon as convenient and resume active management of the business. Mr. Reinoehl will probably remain with us until next spring and perhaps longer as he likes St. Joe pretty well.

Hear the Band, Saturday eve.

Flour that bakes is flour that takes. Orangeville at Barney's.

Miss Emma Wineland spent the past week with relatives at Garrett.

The distillers of the county do not quite fancy the sort of campaign the beermakers are waging against the advance of temperance reform. The distillers think it time that the two branches of jag-making business get together. Must be rather alarming to the fellows who make it of corn and rye. Brewers trying to educate the public to believe that general elimination of whiskey and general adoption of beer as food, cooler and stimulant will solve the problem of intemperance doesn't rip open a very wide vista of hope for the distillers. Meanwhile, the temperance forces are dealing with each faction impartially.—News.

Money to loan on farms at 5 per cent interest. Payable on or before 10 years. Partial payments allowed. Call on or write us. Brown & Rhoads, Lawyers, City National Bank Building, Auburn, Ind.

JULY

0248

L 903

The Popular Pulpit

CONCENTRATION ESSENTIAL.

By Rev. J. Henry Hartman.

But one thing is needful.—Luke x., 12.

The text is an old fact restated in the terms of the gospel for answer to the numerous and many-sided questions of our modern life.

In order to attain pre-eminence and success, men everywhere are coming to recognise more and more the wisdom of concentration in the pursuit of some one thing. Michael Angelo, having a fixed goal, pursued it with an ambition that consumed him. He forgot hunger, thirst and bodily fatigue, and at length the world crowned him as master of his art.

In the realm of music Handel is called a prince and the very soul of art. This, however, never could have been true of him, nor could he have written immortality into his name had he been other than the man whose passions and powers in the pursuit of one thing were offered on the altar of music. It has been said of him that his ardor for celestial sounds caused the keys of his harpsicord, by his frequent manipulation, to assume the shape of spoons.

Our text finds Jesus among His friends in the Bethany home and His words reveal two persons—Martha and Mary—in striking contrast.

Martha is deeply concerned about the material things. There is much of the anxiety and bustle about her as she thinks of His entertainment, comfort and food. Mary, the very soul of seeming indifference to all temporal things, thinks only of a seat at His feet, where she may listen to His every word. When, at length, the fussiness of Martha can stand it no longer, she complains to Jesus, saying: "Carest Thou not that my sister hath left me to serve alone?" His answer was not a rebuke to her activity, but rather an interpretation of it with dignity and strength.

"But one thing is needed."

What did the Master mean? What is this one thing? Perhaps it may be answered best by placing emphasis on the word "one" so as to make it inclusive, and say: "Thou lackest one thing"; that is, the one thing lacking comprehends all wants and hungerings, all life and power. If this be true, then the "one thing needful" must be that for which men everywhere have been searching, and for which men even now—unconsciously perhaps—are seeking in strange ways and by many questions. It is the "one thing needful" for the aching heart which refuses to be quieted and says: "Is there any meaning in life?" It is the "one thing needful" for the man who in the midst of his struggles is conscious of gradual defeat in the rounds of daily life, exclaiming: "Is there no way out of this tangle of being and doing?" It is the "one thing needful" for the profound philosopher in his study; for the capitalist with his wealth; for the aged and the young; for the learned and the ignorant. Yea, it is the "one thing needful" for the whole world.

What Jesus said to Martha has been the truth of the ages. It is the truth of the present. How much men everywhere need the "one thing" which punctuates life with knowledge, with strength and fills the soul with peace! We must not fail to recognize that it had something to do with Himself, for, speaking of Mary, who sat at His feet listening to His words, He said: "Mary hath chosen the better part."

The good part means Himself. To know Him is to find the "one thing needful"; to find Him is to find it. He and it are one. He came to help our needy humanity, to satisfy with His light, love and peace our deep yearning for the life which now is to comfort us with the truth of immorality.

Our hymns, our prayers, our exhortations are all based on the one appeal: "Come to Jesus." Come to Him because all life stands in need of what He alone has to give. If He can satisfy the need, then He is the power to help, and belief in Him is the one thing needful.

RELIGION AND MORALITY.

By Henry F. Cope.

"Faith apart from works is dead."—James, ii., 26.

You will often hear some one say: "I am not a religious man at all. I am just a plain moral man, trying to do what is right with all others." There is some implied distinction between religion and morality which makes the average person feel that while there can be no doubt as to the value of the latter to the world, the former is a separate matter and of doubtful usefulness.

It is safe to say that every person is either more religious or less religious than he imagines himself to be. He who disclaims any religion, insisting the only thing he is concerned about is his duty to his fellow man and the good of society as a whole, may be cherishing profoundly religious ideals and following them in a deeply religious spirit.

On the other hand, those who seek to discredit what they call "empty morality," who tell us there is no good in any man except the good that is formally, supernaturally conferred in the name of religion, have only so much religion as they may by force or by accident express in the morality they effect to despise. A man's religious professions are no guide to his moral character, but his moral practice is a safe guide to his religious sincerity.

Is there any difference between the realities of religion and morality? Can one be religious without moral living? Can one be moral without the religious spirit? What is religion but the inspiration of morality and morality but the vitalizing expression of religion?

Morality is the art of the right conduct of life, especially in relation to one's fellow beings. The moral man sees before him standards and ideals of living, personal and social; his sense of duty is the obligation to do certain things and to avoid others because these are for the good or the ill of that ideal of personal rightness and social good which he cherishes.

Religion is the life of ideals, the life of goodness and truth and service because these seem to be the supremely desirable aims in life. It is the life that cherishes the great thoughts of the past, the high vision of character and civilization that men have dreamed, the spiritual heritage of the ages; it is the life that counts all things but dross that it may win character and social completeness.

When the man who avows the moral aim says that he has no use for religion he is probably thinking of its form and its furniture. He seeks the right life and he cannot see that songs and ceremonies, from which time and changing conditions often have taken all deep significance, have any value or helpfulness to him.

Often the difficulty comes, however, because we who seek the moral ends, the high aims of character and service, fail to see how deep is our need of the inspiration and light that religion can give. No man can live for great purposes unless he cherishes high ideals, unless he comes to some sense of the world of spiritual values.

In the fight for the full and free life we need to know that we do not fight alone, that we are but part of a great and glorious army that has been struggling up through all the ages past. We need to catch the vision of the glorious army of martyrs and to feel the glow of strength that comes from touch with the great souls of every age.

We may read any kind of meaning we will into the words by which we attempt to describe the infinite being. God may be a definite person or only an influence or an ideal. But our morality needs the dynamic of that ideal, the sense of the great spirit of truth that works through us all to the realization of our best thoughts and hopes for all.

Let a man honestly follow his moral ideals; let him pay the price they will demand of him; let him invest himself in their achievement, and he will not need to worry about religion; he will come to a sense of the spiritual values of his service; he will find himself a part of the great company of those who have lived for the kingdom of the good; he will know the power that works in us for the right.

SHORT METER SERMONS.

No man finds fame by hunting it.

There is no obedience under compulsion.

The rambling preacher seldom hits the green pastures.

Ideals of character are the conscience of society.

He never finds himself who never denies himself.

The highest religion is to do the lowliest things well.

They who pour out their hearts never empty them.

A man may deceive himself, but he never fools destiny.

Our roughest experiences often arise from our smoothest tricks.

The mournful saint works a good deal more harm than the cheerful sinner.

DON'TS FOR CHURCHMEN.

Don't confound morality with religion.

Don't mistake self-adulation for self-respect.

Don't expect to love when reverence has departed.

Don't become selfish because selfishness is the essence of sin.

Don't hunt for a martyr's crown unless you are sure your head will bear one up.

Don't undertake to know more about God unless you are willing to know more about your fellowmen.

Pattern Department

UP-TO-DATE DESIGNS FOR THE HOME DRESSMAKER

Waist Accessories.

It has been well and truly said that the accessories often make or mar the costume. If they are up-to-date and chic they give just the touch of smartness that we all like so well, and if they are fresh and immaculate they suggest that daintiness, which should be the essential feature of feminine dress. Here are three different sorts that are adapted to different occasions but all of which are novel. The tailored set is severe in style and is designed to be worn with plain shirt waists. In the illustration it is made of blue linen scalloped and the two front pieces are buttoned together by means of small pearl buttons. The smaller jabot and pointed stock can be made of lace as illustrated or of fine lawn or embroidery, or indeed of any material that is suited to such purpose, while the longer jabot and the high stock can be made from lawn or linen as illustrated, from silk or lingerie material, or the collar and stock can match the waist, while the jabot is of net, lace or other thin fabric.

PATTERN NO. 5996.

The tailored set consists of the front piece and belt, the cuffs and the roll-over portion of the collar. Both the turn-over portion of the collar and the cuffs are designed to be attached to those of the waist by means of buttons and button holes in the bands, while the front piece is arranged over the box plait, the belt concealing its lower edge.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:

Order Coupon.

No. 5996.

SIZE .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

Four Gored Skirt.

The skirt that allows of effective treatment for striped material is one much in demand just now, for stripes are in the height of style and chevron effects are much in vogue. This one can be so treated with singular success, yet need not be confined to striped fabrics, as it is a simple gored skirt which can be cut from any seasonable material, and either left plain or trimmed as liked. In this instance the stripes are made to form a succession of chevrons at the front and at the sides, but even if striped material is used it can be cut on the straight if preferred.

PATTERN NO. 5989.

The above pattern will be mailed to your address on receipt of 10 cents. Send all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give both the number and size of pattern wanted, and write very plainly. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:

Order Coupon.

No. 5989.

SIZE .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

Ashes of Fun

"I did not see you in church last Sunday." "I do not doubt it. I took up the collection."—Bohemian.

Caller (to child)—Is this papa's little boy or mamma's little boy? Child—Dunno; the judge hasn't decided yet.—Life.

Hyker—Bronson tells me he is taking mud baths now. Pyker—Why, I thought he was out of politics.—Chicago Daily News.

She—It's funny you should be so tall. Your brother, the artist, is short, isn't he? He (absently)—Yes, usually.—Town and Country.

"Has the patient a generous reserve force, nurse?" "No, doctor; he has nothing but a mean temperature."—Baltimore American.

Grace—So you have at last made up your mind to marry Jack? Lola—Yes, I'm tired of having him hang around the house every evening.—Chicago Daily News.

"Don't you ever get homesick, captain?" asked the passenger on the ocean liner. "No; I'm never home long enough," replied the captain.—Exchange.

Bronson—My next-door neighbor is always looking ahead for trouble. Woodson—For example. Bronson—Well, this morning I saw him sharpening his lawn mower.

Miss DeMuir—I wish I could think of some new and unusual birthday present to surprise mamma with this year. Mr. Spoonmore—How do you think she'd like a son-in-law?

Cleverton (who has hired a taxameter cab to propose in)—Say "yes," darling? Miss Calumet—Give me time to think. Cleverton—Heavens! But not in here! Consider the expense!—Life.

The Lady (to hastily-retreating burglar)—Pardon me, but won't you please wait till my husband sees you? I told him there was some one in the house, and he said "Rubbish!"—Harper's Bazar.

Dick—You look worried, old fellow. Wick—I have cause for worry. Dick—What's the trouble? Wick—My wife says if I don't accompany her to the seashore this summer she'll stay at home.

Boy (who has been naughty and sent out into the garden to find a switch to punish him with)—Oh, mummy, I couldn't find a switch anywhere, but here's a stone you can throw at me.—Punch.

Physician—Well, what do you complain of? Policeman—Sleeplessness, doctor. Physician—At what time do you go to bed? Policeman—Oh, I don't mean at night. I mean in daytime, while I'm on my beat.

She (on her bridal tour)—Oh, Dan, I'm so unhappy. Dan—Why, what is the matter, darling? She—If I am as much to you as you say, you can't be sorry your first wife died, and that makes you too brutal for me to love.—Life.

Doctor—The room seems cold, Mrs Hooligan. Have you kept the thermometer at seventy, as I told you? Mrs Hooligan—Shure, an' OI hov, docthor. There's th' devilish thing in a toombler av warrum wather at this blissid minnut.—Judge.

Mamma—Good gracious, Georgie! What is the matter with Freddie Jones? Is the child having a fit? Georgie—No, mamma. You know Freddie stutters, and we bet he couldn't say "altitudinously" before Bobbie ran twice around the block.—Puck.

Towne—Do you believe in dreams? Browne—I used to, but I don't any more. Towne—Not as superstitious as you were, eh? Browne—Oh, it wasn't a question of superstition. I was in love with one once, and she jilted me.—The Catholic Standard and Times.

Cyrus—Reuben got bunkoed. Silas—How so? Cyrus—Why, he read the advertisement of a firm that stated if he would send a dollar they'd send him some light reading. Silas—And did they send it? Cyrus—Yes, they sent him two books entitled "The Age of the Arc Lamp" and "How to Make Candles."

"John," she whispered, "there's a burglar in the parlor. He has just knocked against the piano and hit several keys at once. "I'll go down," said he. "Oh, don't do anything rash!" "Rash! Why, I'm going to help him. You don't suppose he can remove the piano from the house without assistance?"—The Throne.

"I tell you," said one man to another as they emerged from the corridor of a concert hall, "I envy that fellow who was singing." "Envy him!" echoed the other. "Well, if I were going to envy a singer I'd select somebody with a better voice. His was about the poorest I ever heard." "It's not his voice I envy, man," was the reply; "it's his tremendous courage."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The General Demand

of the Well-Informed of the World has always been for a simple, pleasant and efficient liquid laxative remedy of known value; a laxative which physicians could sanction for family use because its component parts are known to them to be wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, acceptable to the system and gentle, yet prompt, in action.

In supplying that demand with its excellent combination of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, the California Fig Syrup Co. proceeds along ethical lines and relies on the merits of the laxative for its remarkable success.

That is one of many reasons why Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is given the preference by the Well-Informed. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists. Price fifty cents per bottle.

Child Management.

I don't like punishments. You will never torture a child into duty, but a sensible child will dread the frown of a judicious mother more than all the rods, dark rooms and scolding schoolmistresses in the universe.—White.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

A typhoid fever survey to determine the means, aside from domestic water supplies, by which this disease it transmitted, is to be conducted in Pittsburg at the expense of the Russell Sage fund.

Don't Spoil Your Clothes.

Use Red Cross Ball Blue and keep them white as snow. All grocers, 5 cents a package.

Working a Scarecrow.

An American, writing from the Philippines, where he has spent some years in the service of the government, describes a native contrivance for frightening birds off the rice-fields that might prove useful to farmers here. It would save the display of much unfashionable raiment on the corn-fields.

On the way from Cervantes to Moncayan, Barron explained what the little house set in one corner of each large rice-field is for. Over the field is strung a network of bejuco, or Indian cane, much the same as that of twine strung over our corn-fields at home. But the Igorrote "goes us one better." He puts his child up in the little house in the corner, and keeps his little fellow pulling at a strip of bejuco, which connects with those in the field, and so keeps them all in motion. It is a venturesome crow that flies into that.

We saw other places where the network was kept in motion by an ingenious contrivance. Under a little waterfall a block of wood was suspended. The block was so shaped that the water on striking it drove it out away from the fall, and of course down, because of the weight of the water striking it. This yanked the string conected with the network over the field, as the boy had yanked his. Then, of course, the block was, by the reaction, pulled up again to its former level and swung back into the waterfall, and was again driven downward and outward, once more yanking the string, and again was pulled back, and so on, indefinitely. It worked to perfection.

DIFFERENT NOW.

Athlete Finds Better Training Food.

It was formerly the belief that to become strong, athletes must eat plenty of meat.

This is all out of date now, and many trainers feed athletes on the well-known food, Grape-Nuts, made of wheat and barley, and cut the meat down to a small portion, once a day.

"Three years ago," writes a Mich. man, "having become interested in athletics, I found I would have to stop eating pastry and some other kinds of food.

"I got some Grape-Nuts and was soon eating the food at every meal, for I found that when I went on the track I felt more lively and active.

"Later, I began also to drink Postum in place of coffee and the way I gained muscle and strength on this diet was certainly great. On the day of a field meet in June I weighed 124 lbs. On the opening of the football season in Sept., I weighed 140. I attributed my fine condition and good work to the discontinuation of improper food and coffee, and the using of Grape-Nuts and Postum, my principal diet during training season being Grape-Nuts.

"Before I used Grape-Nuts I never felt right in the morning—always kind of 'out of sorts' with my stomach. But now when I rise I feel good, and after a breakfast largely of Grape-Nuts with cream, and a cup of Postum, I feel like a new man." "There's a Reason."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

JULY

L 903

I AM A MOTHER

How many American women in lonely homes to-day long for this blessing to come into their lives, and to be able to utter these words, but because of some organic derangement this happiness is denied them.

Every woman interested in this subject should know that preparation for healthy maternity is accomplished by the use of

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Mrs. Maggie Gilmer, of West Union, S. C., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was greatly run-down in health from a weakness peculiar to my sex, when Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me. It not only restored me to perfect health, but to my delight I am a mother."

Mrs. Josephine Hall, of Bardstown, Ky., writes:

"I was a very great sufferer from female troubles, and my physician failed to help me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound not only restored me to perfect health, but I am now a proud mother."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

TWO CURES OF ECZEMA.

Baby Had Severe Attack—Grandfather Suffered Torments with It—Owe Recovery to Cuticura.

"In 1884 my grandson, a babe, had an attack of eczema, and after trying the doctors to the extent of heavy bills and an increase of the disease and suffering, I recommended Cuticura and in a few weeks the child was well. He is to-day a strong man and absolutely free from the disease. A few years ago I contracted eczema and became an intense sufferer. A whole winter passed without once having on shoes, nearly from the knees to the toes being covered with virulent sores. I tried many doctors to no purpose. Then I procured the Cuticura Remedies and found immediate improvement and final cure. M. W. LaRue, 845 Seventh St., Louisville, Ky., Apr. 23 and May 14, '07."

Niagara Falls and Return, 25th Annual Excursion Aug. 3 Via Nickel Plate Road

Cheap side trips to Toronto, Thousand Islands, Montreal and other points. Write for illustrated booklet.

J. C. Melenbacker, T. P. A., Fort Wayne, Ind.

Reaction.

Salesman—Hat, sir? Yes; what kind do you wish to look at?

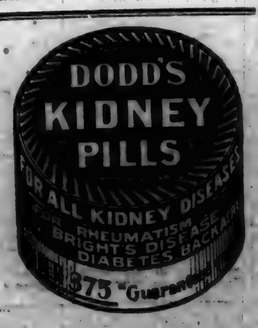
Customer—Well, my wife wears a Merry Widow affair. If you have something that is the exact opposite of it, young man, that's what I want.

Salesman—Then you want a plug hat, of course, with a black band around it. That is the nearest we can come to a Disconsolate Widower hat.—Chicago Tribune.

Purely a Matter of Choice.

"Do I have to pay this bill for gas that I never used?"

"Not unless you choose. There is no compulsion about it. We merely shut off your gas if you don't pay it."—Chicago Tribune.



REVIEW OF INDIANA

Theodore Roosevelt Chowning and William Taft Chowning are the names given to twin boys born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Osro Chowning, of Richmond.

The proposals for sites for the new Federal building to be erected in Brazil will be opened by the Postoffice Department at Washington soon. It is said that no less than thirty sites have been offered ranging in value from $5,000 to $20,000.

Eight of the fifty-four deaths which occurred in Alexandria during the six months ending June 30 were caused by heart disease, according to the report of City Health Officer J. A. Meiner. Consumption led the other fatal diseases during the period covered by the report, causing ten deaths.

Mrs. Martha Herrington, aged 67 years, was thrown from a buggy in a runaway while coming to Terre Haute from her home in the south part of the county, and died of her injuries some hours later at a hospital. Her daughter was with her, but was not injured. Mrs. Herrington was a widow.

The popularity of Richmond's public library is shown in the annual report of the librarian just issued. During the fiscal year just concluded the total number of volumes issued was 79,980, the largest circulation in the history of the institution and the largest of any library in Indiana outside of Indianapolis.

A comely young woman dressed in male clothing was arrested at Walkerton while stealing a ride on a freight train. She gave her name as Maize LeFairs, a snake charmer, and explained that she had dressed as a man in order to make her way westward. She was suffered to continue her journeyings.

Kosciusko County is in need of fifty young men and young women to teach in the public schools. Thus far there are 147 persons scheduled to take schools in the county this fall, while 195 are needed, and Superintendent Edson B. Sarber is in a quandry what to do. Low salaries is the reason for the depletion of the ranks as explained by Superintendent Sarber.

The Rev. A. H. K. Beam, of Hartsville, last week passed his ninetieth milestone. He is a minister of the United Brethren church, although not actively engaged for the last few years. He reads newspaper print without glasses, and his hearing is still acute. Wesley Pottorff, also of Hartsville, was 94 years old the same day, and he still is active, mentally and physically. His sight is good.

R. J. Redmonds, 19 years old, of South Bend, is the fifth man to be injured while in the employ of the Chicago, Lake Shore & South Bend railway, although the line did not open for traffic till last week. Redmonds was shocked while turning a switch at the transforming station, his feet and body being terribly burned, while he was hurled some distance away. Edward McDenny fell forty feet while on a companpy pole and L. C. Neddo was hurt by his hands touching a live trolley wire. Peter Mitchell had his scalp laid bare at the powerhouse and John Gear fell from a pole to his serious injury.

"Blossom" was a good, kind cow, usually faithful under trust, but she finally fell from grace, dissolution following soon thereafter. A tin bucket filled with molasses, was left just outside of the home of "Blossom's" owner, Charles Stewart, of Terre Haute. "Blossom" was prowling around along about midnight, looking for a cheese sandwich and a scuttle of hops, and happened to spy the bucket of molasses. Yes, they found her poor, lifeless body in the chilly dawn. The tin bucket incased her head. "Blossom" had dived into the can of sweets and became strangled. The Stewarts are heartbroken.

Harry Warrick, county assessor of Logansport, says that he is not superstitious, but he just wants to be on the safe side. He cut down a big cherry tree at his home, outside the city, so that his wife could pick the luscious fruit without climbing up in the tree. An epidemic of cherry tree accidents has swept over the country since cherries became ripe, and many fair cherry pickers have fallen and broken arms, legs and dislocated shoulders. In every case a woman has been the victim. Five in all have been seriously hurt, and many others have received painful bruises. Warrick was unable to pick the cherries himself; he could not get any one to do it for him and his wife for several days threatened to climb the tree and pick them herself. Fearing that she would be another victim, Warrick before going to work, got his little hatchet and followed the example of the immortal George—he cut down the cherry tree. His wife then leisurely picked the cherries while standing safely on the ground.

Frank Yoger, 7 years old, died at his home in Madison of lockjaw, caused by bruising his hand in a pulley.

Some weeks ago Z. T. Sweeney, of Columbus, sent J. L. Manlove, of Manlove Park Place, a setting of thirteen pheasant eggs. Mr. Manlove placed them under a bantam hen, and out of the number eleven hatched.

While hauling hay on his farm, Samuel Weaver, of Bedford, was injured by the breaking of the "boom" pole, which held the loaded hay on the wagon. He was thrown to the ground, breaking both arms and inflicting scalp wounds.

Fred Jessen, a well-known citizen of Morocco, while driving homeward in his automobile, stopped his machine to lead a frightened horse, and the animal reared and struck him, breaking his shoulder blade and inflicting other injuries.

A large barn beolnging to Henry and David Dye, of Jolietville, burned with contents, and four horses were cremated. The origin of the fire is unknown. The fire was discovered by neighbors returning from a lodge meeting.

The big barn on the Carithers farm, five miles south of Shelbyville, burned, together with contents, including one horse. The farm is tenanted by James Heck. The origin of the fire is a mystery. There was $400 insurance in the Farmers' Mutual.

The factory fund committee of Elwood finds that $40,000 has been subscribed and has decided to close the fund and begin negotiations for a number of small factories. The first payment on the notes, which is one-sixth of the amount subscribed, has been called for.

The first "bee tree" found in the vicinity of Sullivan for many years was discovered near Merom by James Edmondson, a Terre Haute man, who, with a fishing outfit, is floating down the Wabash river. After cutting down the tree and smoking the bees out Mr. Edmondson got thirty pounds of fine wild honey.

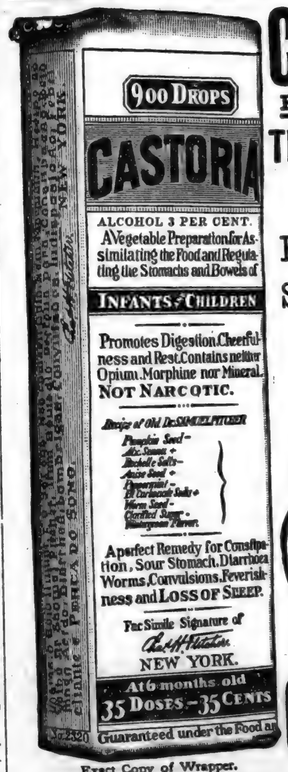
A destructive hailstorm swept through the southern part of Miami County last week, causing heavy loss along its path. Growing corn, wheat, oats and fruit were hit hard. County Assessor Miller, who drove through the path of the storm, says he saw pieces where the hail was twelve inches deep. Telephone and telegraph lines are crippled. Hundreds of window panes were broken.

Receipts of the Logansport office for the last fiscal year fell short just $1,500 of boosting the office into the first-class. But for the business depression undoubtedly the $40,000 mark would have been reached and Postmaster John M. Johnston and clerks would be getting a material raise in salary. The foreign money order business decreased to almost nothing, caused by the Italians employed in the nearby quarries going back to Italy when work began to get slack.

There is a den of wolves in the Tamarack swamp near Walkerton, close to the Kankakee river. Recently the farmers of the neighborhood, annoyed by their depredations, rounded up the wolves and succeeded in killing two large gray brutes, a male and female, while two others escaped. As there is a bounty of $10 each for wolf scalps, the hunt will be continued. Two nests of young foxes were unearthed in the same neighborhood, and eighteen were captured alive. They were sold to different persons. The majority of them are tame as kittens.

Just after he had said, "I will," in answer to the momentous question put to him by the Rev. Father John Berg during the marriage ceremony, William O'Neil, of Whiting, fell to the floor in a faint, and panic seized the wedding guests in Sacred Heart church. The interruption came to the ceremony in which O'Neil married Miss Maude Carrette, a popular young woman of Whiting. O'Neil was carried to the sacristy by friends and medical ad was summoned. He is recovering and Mrs. O'Neil says that if he feels that way about it, he can take back the "I will."

Fred Nicodemus, who resides near Onward, while unloading hay by means of a hanging fork and track running into the barn, had his nose completely torn from his face. The fork was being returned to the wagon on which Nicodemus was standing, and he grabbed the rope, intending to thrust the closed tines into the hay. The rope slipped and the fork descended with a swift side motion, tearing away his nose. The shock to his nervous system almost killed him, and his condition is critical. A silver bridge was inserted and the nose was sewed back into place by surgeons, but he will be disfigured, notwithstanding the care taken.



Exact Copy of Wrapper.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

Quite the Contrary.

"Gentlemen," said the campaign spellbinder, as he began his speech, "in the words of our illustrious chief at Washington, who said: 'Speak——'"

"Louder!" yelled a score of voices in the back part of the hall.

"Not at all, gentlemen," said the orator, visibly irritated. "He said, as every well informed person knows: 'Speak softly,' even while carrying the big stick. If I am interrupted again"—here he waved the chairman's gavel aloft—"I shall use the big stick unsparingly!"

Having thus asserted himself, and silenced the rude persons who had been guilty of the unseemly interruption, he resumed his speech.—Chicago Tribune.

PROOF FOR TWO CENTS.

If You Suffer with Your Kidneys and Back Write to This Man.

G. W. Winney, Medina, N. Y., invites kidney sufferers to write to him. To all who enclose postage he will reply, telling how Doan's Kidney Pills cured him after he had doctored and had been in two different hospitals for eighteen months, suffering intense pain in the back, lameness, twinges when stooping or lifting, languor, dizzy spells and rheumatism. "Before I used Doan's Kidney Pills," says Mr. Winney, "I weighed 143. After taking 10 or 12 boxes I weighed 162 and was completely cured."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Still Scarish.

"Spigelia," said the ardent young man, 'what do you suppose your father will say when I speak to him about it?"

"He'll probably say 'Shucks!' But you mustn't mind that, Alfred, dear. He was on the wrong side of that corn deal, and it still crops out in everything he says."

In a Pinch, Use Allen's Foot-Ease.

A powder to shake into your shoes. It rests the feet. Cures Corns, Bunions, Swollen, Sore, Hot, Callous, Aching, Sweating feet and Ingrowing Nails. Allen's Foot-Ease makes new or tight shoes easy. Sold by all Druggists and Shoe Stores, 25c. Sample mailed FREE. Address Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

One Comfort for Johnny.

"Yes," said Mrs. Lapsling, "Johnny tries my patience sometimes, but I never spank him. I don't believe in corpulent punishment."

Good Housekeepers Use the Best.

That's why they use Red Cross Ball Blue. At leading grocers, 5 cents.

Chipper.

"Will you saw some wood for your dinner?"

"No'm, I don't eat wood."—Houston Post.

DAISY FLY KILLER Placed anywhere, attracts and kills all flies; neat, clean, ornamental, convenient, cheap. Lasts all season. Absolutely harmless; will not soil or injure anything. Guaranteed effective. All dealers or sent prepaid for 25c. Harrell Sumner, 149 Bedford ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Invest $5 monthly in Oklahoma farm lands. Agents wanted. Write for particulars. C. W. Deming Inv. Co., Tulsa, Okla.

WIDOWS' PENSIONS Easier NEW LAW obtained by JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.

Paxtine

TOILET ANTISEPTIC

Keeps the breath, teeth, mouth and body antiseptically clean and free from unhealthy germ-life and disagreeable odors, which water, soap and tooth preparations alone cannot do. A germicidal, disinfecting and deodorizing toilet requisite of exceptional excellence and economy. Invaluable for inflamed eyes, throat and nasal and uterine catarrh. At drug and toilet stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.

Large Trial Sample

WITH "HEALTH AND BEAUTY" BOOK SENT FREE

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., Boston, Mass.

Let us do your Printing using

Eagle Linen

for your office stationery. You can get the paper and envelopes to match.

It is the real thing. Take no other.

A Skin of Beauty is a Joy Forever.

DR. T. Felix Gouraud's Oriental Cream or Magical Beautifier.

Removes Tan, Pimples, Freckles, Moth Patches, Rash, and Skin Diseases, and every blemish on beauty, and defies detection. It has stood the test of 60 years, and is so harmless we taste it to be sure it is properly made. Accept no counterfeit of similar name. Dr. L. A. Sayre said to a lady of the haut-ton (a patient): "As you ladies will use them, I recommend 'Gouraud's Cream' as the least harmful of all the skin preparations." For sale by all druggists and Fancy Goods Dealers in the United States, Canada and Europe.

FERD. T. HOPKINS, Prop., 37 Great Jones Street, New York.

Opportunity of a Lifetime.

A Home and a Permanent Income.

This association has an option on 500,000 acres of land. Two rivers, 100,000 acres of valuable timber. Fertile soil, delightful climate. Railroad now building. Under our plan you will have a home and a farm of your own and an equal interest in the entire enterprise. Easy payments. Write for literature today.

La Prosperidad Colony Association, Dept. H, 530 Chamber of Commerce Building, Los Angeles, Cal.

TO-NIGHT Cascarets

BEST FOR THE BOWELS AND LIVER

10c. 25c. 50c. Never sold in bulk

Wanted—Stocks of Merchandise, invoicing from 10 to 30,000 dollars in exchange for income property and some cash. Address Box 56, Marion, Ind.

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Adv. in this paper.

JULY

L 903

4 %

INTEREST

Ask about it. A splendid Savings Proposition.

SAVINGS LOAN & TRUST CO.

Auburn, Indiana.

Capital Paid $50,000

Security to Depositors $100,000

Does a General Bank and Trust Business.
3 per cent Interest paid on Deposits, if left two months.
Has money to loan on Farm and City Property.

PRICE D. WEST
President
MONTE L. GREEN
Vice President
FRED W. KNOTT
Secretary

BOARD OF DIRECTORS
Fred J. Nebelung Price D. West
George Shoner David S. Ober
Wm. B. Sible Monte L. Green
Fisher C. West

SPENCERVILLE

Will Allen made a trip to Auburn, Monday.

L. W. Steward went to Ft. Wayne, Monday.

Mrs. Emma Allen was on the sick list, last week.

George Gilhousen, who has been visiting relatives here, returned to his home Friday but came back Monday.

Charles, the nine day old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Steward died Wednesday morning of exhaustion. A brief funeral service was held at the home Thursday at 10 o'clock. Rev. C. B. Sweeney officating. The parents are greatly bereaved. Of all the little funerals he has had, Rev. Sweeney says this was the saddest.

Mrs. Jessie Sommers was seriously ill a few days, last week.

Joseph Walters and wife of Akron, Ohio. are visiting relatives here.

W. G. Erick and H. G. Hursh made a business trip to Ft. Wayne, Friday.

Mrs. Kate Walker and daughter Grace, of Hicksville, are visiting relatives here.

E. M. Chapman repaired the big river bridge last week. It is now so that all may cross.

The Ladies Guild will give a social next Saturday night, July 18, on the lawn by the parsonage.

The town has put a new cement crossing on Main and Mill Street and we need more such crossings.

Mrs. Stevens and children returned Monday from Swan, Ind., where she made a weeks visit with relatives.

Josephine Carnes and John Coburn attended the band concert at Auburn, Thursday night. A number of others from here went also.

Mrs. Cora Hart accompanied her little daughter Pauline, to Ft. Wayne last week, where she underwent an operation on her eye.

Mrs. Mary Rummel and children, Muriel and Helen, from Oklahoma arrived Friday to spend a couple of months with relatives here.

Mr. F. R. Bowman and wife and A. F. Heyman and wife returned Monday from Hamilton Lake, where they spent a couple of weeks fishing.

Mr. Value of Harlan has been blacksmithing for J. F. Baltz. He with his family expect soon to take up their residence in the Ben Baltz property.

Picnic.

The Spencerville Lutheran Sunday School will give a picnic in the Henderson Grove, Saturday, August 8th, 1908. The grove is a short distance west of town and near the Wabash R. R., which makes it a very pleasant and appropriate place for a picnic. Every effort will be put forth to make this event a success. As a number of years have passed since this community has enjoyed a fine Sunday school picnic they will thoroughly appreciate this one. The forenoon will be given to speeches and songs. Warm meals will be served at the dinner hour. The entire afternoon will be given over to amusements such as sack, potato and foot races, horseshoe pitching, pie eating contests, swings and many other things which go to make a good time. A good band will be engaged to furnish music. At 2:30 p. m. the local ball team will cross bats with the Antwerp ball team. All necessary refreshments such as ice cream, soft drinks, etc. will be served on the grounds. The Sunday school sends a special invitation to each individual. Come and we will guarantee all a good time. Watch for bills. Saturday, Aug. 8, 1908. Henderson's Grove.

TAN OXFORDS.

Right in the heighth of the season we are going to make a clean sweep on TAN OXFORDS.

$3.50 Gents tan oxfords	Racine make 6 to 8½	$2 98
3.00 Gents tan oxfords	Douglas make 6 to 8	2 48
3.00 Ladies tan oxfords	5, 5½ and 6	2 48
2.50 Ladies tan oxfords	4½ to 6½	2 19
2.00 Ladies tan oxfords	3½ to 5	1 79
1.50 Misses tan oxfords	13 to 2	1 29
1.25 Misses tan oxfords	8½ to 12	1 09

Special prices on all Ladies, Misses, Boys and Men's Patent Leather oxfords. Stock somewhat broken in sizes but think we can FIT YOU.

Big 4 Store,

St. Joe, Indiana.

FAIRVIEW

Mrs. Milton Krise is sick at this writing.

Lankey Morr and family spent Sunday evening with Edward Bassetts'.

Myrtle Platter was the guest of Letha Coyle, Sunday.

Mrs. N. Wyatt and son Dannie, spent Sunday with Vanziles'.

Mrs. Frank May took Sunday dinner with Mrs. Peter Coyle.

Viola May of Auburn, visited relatives at this place, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Platter spent Sunday with Ora Calander and wife.

Norman Roland, wife and two children were the guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland, north of Garrett, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs Coleman spent Sunday afternoon with R. Koch and wife.

The Misses Jeanetta and Gladys Howey were the guests of the Misses Ethel and Florence Snider, Sunday.

Edward Shrader, Lankey Morr, Ruben Koch, Will and David Moudy called on Elic Platter, Wednesday evening.

COBURN'S CORNERS.

For a change why not go to KAGEY'S and try a glass of Liquid Force.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wade visited with Dell Coburn and family, Sunday.

Keep cool by using our Ice Cold Drinks and Ice Cream at KAGEY'S.

Wilmot Coburn and family were the guests of Clem Treece and family, Sunday.

Pluma Hamilton, Mae Hamilton and Mrs. Northrup were at Ft. Wayne last Friday.

Mrs. Alice Hart and Gladys Hart spent Friday with Adrian Hart and family of Hicksville.

There will be preaching services at the Corners, next Lord Day, both morning and evening.

Matie Gee spent part of last week with relatives in Kendallville and returned home, Sunday

Mrs. Sylvia Ginther spent a few days last week, with her sister, Mrs. Eva Pflumer and family.

Rev. F. A. Thomas and wife of Newville took dinner with Rev. Brown and family, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Abel spent Sunday afternoon with the latters parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Widney.

W. F. Maxwell and wife spent Sunday with the latters brother, Wm. Oberholtzer and family, near Butler.

Maria Shull went to Ft. Wayne, Friday, where she expects to spend a few days with relatives, then return to her home in Walkerville, Mich.

SPENCERVILLE R F D No 2.

Pluma Kimes spent Saturday at Ft. Wayne.

Quite a few from this way spent Sunday at Robinson Park.

Greely Wearley and family also Little Crystal Wearley were Sunday visitors of Geo. Paff and family.

Wes Zimmerman and family entertained the following; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Gibbons, Estie Farver and Earl Stiman of near Auburn; Opal Poper and Wallace Heffinger of near St. Joe; and Ernest Wilmot of near Harlan, Sunday.

Nelson Lake and wife entertained Sunday the following: Mr. and Mrs. John Benninghoff and son, Wm. Lake wife and children of this vicinity; Dr J. H. Lake and wife of St. Joe and Mrs. Lizzie Shull and daughter Nellie, of Coburntown.

Just Exactly Right.

"I have used Dr. King's New Life Pills for several years and find them just exactly right," says Mr. A. A. Felton of Harrisville, N. Y. New Life Pills relieve without the least discomfort. Best remedy for constipation, billousness and malaala. 25c at H. Millman's drug store.

Mrs. A. B. Shuff and daughter of Altona, Pa., are the guests of H. S. Shuff and family.

Try a sack of Orangeville flour at Barneys. Once used, always used. There is none better.

"SELZ"
The Shoe that Sells.

For Our Lady Friends

The selection of footwear has been carefully made and we are prepared to satisfy the ladies, both as to style and quality. Something to fit every shape of foot, for heavy wear or a neat dress shoe. There is nothing that pleases the women so much as solid comfort in footwear, therefore you should see these shoes. You will enjoy fitting your feet and the price will suit.

$2.00, $2.50, 3.00, 3.50

Royal Blue
The Shoes for You.

SHOES FOR EVERYBODY

A full line of the Famous Selz

We are pleased to announce our showing of SELZ shoes. A full line of this popular shoe that merits your attention. In this assortment are shoes for Gents, Ladies and Children. Old or young, there is something to satisfy everybody. Satisfaction in fit, because the Selz people make a variety of styles; satisfaction in quality, since no inferior material is used in the manufacture of these shoes; satisfaction in price, as the purchaser receives an honest equivalent for his money. We can fit your pocket book at the same time we fit your feet, and meet your ideas of style and finish. Come in and read the guarantee on every shoe. It's out of the ordinary because it promises to give the purchaser entire satisfaction.

Shoes at Cost

Now that our new goods are here we need shelfroom and will make a clean cut reduction on all Ladies', Misses' and Children's Oxfords. We also have a few pair of Men's Gun Metal, Tan and Patent, all of which will be sold at cost.

Prices from 75c to $2.50.

Children's Shoes

The chief requirement of a shoe for the boy or girl is wear. There is a continuous round of service and a shoe must be well built to stand the strain. Selz furnishes all that can be desired in the

LIBERTY BELL AND BURRO SKIN.

$1.25 TO $2.00.

SOL BARNEY

Shoes, Dry Goods and General Merchandise.

SHOES
That are Good to Wear.

For the Gentlemen

We have learned that the hardest man to satisfy is our surest SELZ buyer. On this account we have a full line of Selz shoes for men and take a special pleasure in satisfying the requirements of the most critical buyer. You ought to be particular about your shoes and have a right to demand style, fit and service as an equivalent for your money. We sell Selz because they give satisfaction. They will satisfy you.

$2.00, 2.50, 3.00, 3.50, 4.00, 5.00

Selz Shoe
Solid Through and Through.

JULY

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXII. ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA, WEDNESDAY, JULY 29, 1908. NO. 31

Another Victory.

St. Joe Wins from Antwerp in a Nicely Played Game.

The St. Joe base ball team went to Antwerp, last Wednesday, and played with the Antwerp Reds on their home grounds. The game was nicely played throughout and resulted in a score of 3 to 1 in favor of the St. Joe boys. This is the second game won from our Ohio friends this year. Both were taken with a close score, the first on the home grounds 2 to1.

Hull pitched for the St. Joe team Wednesday and struck out eleven men, allowing three hits and two bases on balls. Hathaway did the receiving and played a clever game. The entire team did excellent work and came home with an errorless game to their credit.

The Carr brothers did the battery work for Antwerp. The man in the center secured eight strike outs off the St. Joe singgers, allowing five hits and one base on balls. The Antwerp boys are good players and make the St. Joe team play the game in order to win.

There's Music In It.

The Coburn's Corners Band has been organized something like eight months. In that time they have succeeded in making a permanent organization and now have a musical aggregation of fifteen pieces. Some of the players have had experience in a band previously, but the large majority are beginners. These are to be complimented on their improvement and the interest they have manifested. Under the leadership of Forsker Ferrill rapid improvement has been made, and he has fully demonstrated his ability as a bandmaster in the manner in which he has tuned this raw material.

Since this is the only musical organization of its kind in this locality, it deserves the support of the home people. Young men in a rural district, who have farm work and chores to do, deserve to be encouraged when they give their extra time to practicing in order that they may be able to entertain their hearers. The boys have been quite successful thus far and are playing well for the excellence they have had. The practice of another winter will do much for the band and by next spring it can be one of the leading musical organizations in this corner of the state.

Just now there is considerable demand for their services at picnics. Last Saturday they played at the Concord Sunday School picnic, and have made future engagements as follows: Scipio, August 1; Spencerville, August 8, and will be at home August 15. During the past few weeks they have given concerts at St. Joe and no one will deny that they they have benefited the town. Last Saturday they made the first appearance in their newly purchased suits and their playing did themselves and their new suits full credit.

THE NEWS manifests a kindly interest in the band and commends the members for their efforts in making the organization a success. Keep the good work going and before long you will be amply repaid in many ways for the efforts that have been put forth.

Marriages.

WOODRING—KOEPPE.

A pretty wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A C. Koeppe, north of St. Joe, last Wednesday evening at 8:00, when their daughter, Hazel was united in marriage with Orley Woodring. Elder Fred Thomas conducted the ceremony. The couple was attended by Hazel Whitehurst as bridesmaid and Earl Tustison as best man. Those in attendance at the wedding were Wm. McNab and family, Mr and Mrs. Woodring, Ed May and family, Homer Casebere, Mrs. Steepleton, Mr. Orlo Hook, wife and daughter Helen of Butler; Mrs Lamen, son and daughter of Concord; Rev. Thomas and family.

The contracting parties are both very highly respected young people in the community in which they reside. At present at the they will stay home of the brides parents.

GELHAUSEN—JOHNS.

Wedded without announcement and unostentatiously, the nuptials of Mr. Arthur D. Johns and Miss Mae Gelhausen last Thursday evening were a distinct surprise to their friends.

That Miss Gelhausen was betrothed to Mr. Johns was suspected by their acquaintances but no more than that was known. The groom-to be, who is a B. & O. brakeman, recently was transferred to the Cleveland division. He returned to Garrett on Thursday morning, presumably for an ordinary visit. It was not until the next day that the true motive of his mission was known.

The marriage occurred at 9 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Ed. Gelhausen on south Randolph street and the officiating clergyman was the Rev. D. V. Williams of the Methodist Episcopal church. The ceremony was strictly private, there being no witnesses excepting the bride's mother and brother, George Gelhausen.

Mr. and Mrs. Johns will make their home with the mother of the bride. However, the groom will be stationed at Cleveland until fall, while his bride will remain here.

Mr. Johns is an exceptionally fine young man, industrious and exemplary in habits. His bride is one of Garrett's brightest and best young ladies. She has always been prominent in younger society and both she and her husband are greatly esteemed by a legion of friends.—Clipper.

REEDER—BLEEKS.

Frank C. Reeder, of Auburn, and Sadie Bleeks, of St. Joe, were married at the Lutheran parsonage in Auburn at 3:30 Thursday afternoon. Rev. S. E. Slater pronounced the words that made them man and wife. The bride is a daughter of ex-Sheriff Bleeks, of this place. The newly wedded couple came to this place Saturday and expect to reside at St. Joe.

A very sumptuous supper was served at J. B. White's in St. Joe Monday evening in honor of the Misses Maggie and Bertha Jenkins, of Guthrie, Iowa. Those present were E. L. Dilley, of Spencerville; Sherman Wolfe and wife, of Wabash Corners; Gene White and family and Mrs. Ann Dilley, Ella Gill, Charley Woodcox, wife and son Homer, of St. Joe. The afternoon was spent in visiting. After supper ice cream was served to all.

The Public Press published at Garrett came out last week enlarged to six columns. This paper is just a little past six month of age and already is a thriving publication.

LEE O. TUSTISON

FRED B. LEIGHTY

A Mid Summer Greeting.

DEAR READER:— You have here the first issue of THE NEWS from its new publishers. With it we send our heartiest greetings. The people of the community and a large majority of all readers of the St. Joe News are acquainted with the members and the several abilities of the new firm. We need no introduction but we do need a chance to show the mettle that is in us. So here goes.

We want you to watch us because we are going to keep our eye on you. We are going to say things about you; whether they be good or bad depends largely on the way you behave. We are going to say things to you; whether they please you or not will depend on how you look at the matter. We do not hope nor do we desire that you agree with us all the time; neither do we care to have you come into the office, armed to the teeth ready to demolish the entire plant, nor expect you to commit even a graver mistake by stopping your paper if we say something contrary to your way of thinking. Our convictions are not always your convictions, for which we are thankful and you at least ought to be glad.

We are going to publish this paper for the good of the community, all its social and business institutions. The home, the church, the school, all educational and fraternal organizations meet with our approval and it is our desire to further their interests in so far as they promote principles for the common good and come within the realm of practicalities.

We are here to co-operate with the business men. Without their help we cannot live and without our assistance they must surely die. Therefore since we need each other we must get together. John Jacob Astor once said, "Success depends upon a liberal patronage of printing offices". We do not care to dispute his assertion and you must certainly realize that he was one who knew the causes that contribute to success.

And so we greet you in friendship and ask you to give this our first number a very thorough examination. Remember that we are trying to do things to merit your confidence and thereby receive the support which we deserve and upon which our success depends. We are not willing however to be your slave or your dog, but do wish to remain

Your humble and profitable servants,

THE PUBLISHERS.

METHODIST PROTESTANT CHURCH

The last quarterly conference for this year will be held in the St. Joe M. P. Church, July 31, at 7:45 P. M. All official members are earnestly requested to be present. Important business. Next Sunday preaching and communion services at St. Joe at 10:15 A. M. preaching at Fairview at 7:30 P. M.

S. Helninger, Pastor.

Christian Church.

There will be Sunday Schol next Sunday at 9:30, and Mothers day in the afternoon at 3:00. All are invited to attend these services.

SECRETARY.

Remonstrators Won.

The application of Wm. H. Oberlin for a license to conduct a saloon in Butler was heard by the county commissioners, Friday and Saturday of last week. A remonstrance had been filed, signed by a majority of the voters in his ward. The applicant through his attorneys challenged seven of these names and succeded in getting four of them. The remaining three were sustained, leaving the remonstrators a majority of one. The case was appealed and will go to the circuit court.

J. H. Lake M. D

has permanently located in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

BELL PHONE NO. 82.

St. Joe, Indiana.

Pioneer Reunion.

The 38th Annual Reunion of the Pioneers of Steuben County will take place at Angola, Thursday, August 13. This is always a great occasion for Steuben county and many people from a distance attend. The exercises will begin at 8:00 A. M. and last until the theatre is over in the evening.

Republican Convention.

The Republicans of DeKalb county will meet in convention at Auburn, Friday August 28, for the purpose of nominating a county ticket.

Free Lecture

Prof. E. L. Coburn of St. Louis, Mo. will deliver his lecture entitled, "Mother's Songs" at the Christian Church next Sunday afternoon, Aug. 2, at 3:00 P. M. This lecture is intended especially for those who are interested in the training of children. Prof Coburn has had a large experience in this class of work and his lecture is said to be one of the best. All are cordially invited.

Two Games

Two special events of base ball that will be of interest to the local fans will take place between St. Joe and Hicksville within the next two weeks. The first game will be played on the fair grounds at Hicksville Thursday, July 30, beginning at 10 A. M. This is the first day of the races and a large crowd will witness the game.

The second game will be played on the local grounds Thursday August 6, beginning at 10 A. M. Base ball enthusiasts should not fail to see doth of these games.

314 West Second St AUBURN, IND

Snap for You.

12-15c Geraniums - 5c
10-8c Geraniums - - 2c
Coleons - 1c

Must clear out benches at ONCE.

MAKE OUR ACQUAINTANCE

C. M. TenEyck & Son,
Proprietors.

HOME and BELL TELEPHONES

Soldier's Reunion.

The DeKalb County Battalion to Hold Annual Reunion at St. Joe Thursday, August 6

Arrangements for the Annual Soldier's Reunion at St. Joe August 6th are nearly completed and the program promises to be one of unusual interest. It is expected that the old soldiers with their families and friends will be here in large numbers on that day.

The afternoon will be taken up in sports of recreation in which war veterans may meet each other and recount incidents of field and camp. There will also be a battle royal, between the base ball teams of Hicksville and St. Joe. Both of these teams have a reputation for playing good ball and fans will remember the struggles of earlier days between these two nines. The game will be called at 10:00 o'clock.

The battalion program is to begin at 1:30 p. m. The general public will gather in the Opera House and listen to an address by Hon. Clarence C. Gilham.

The audience will also have the pleasure of listening to Hon. Cyrus Cline of Angola. After these two worthy men have spoken, the battalion will hold their business meeting.

Promptly at 6:30 the camp fire will convene in order to have time for the exercises and allow the comrades and others going west to take the 8 o'clock train for their homes. The exercises of the camp fire will consist of an address by the Chaplain of the Battalion, Rev. J. A. Brown. Incidents of the war as related by comrades will also be a large feature. Among those who will speak are John Young and Gabriel Miller of Butler; John A. Privelege and Rev. E. W. Erick of Spencerville; Robert Simpson, of Auburn and Wm. Meek, of Newville. Mrs. H. M. Heaulig of Auburn, will recite a selection. The music in the evening will be Grand Army songs, led by a quartette in charge of C. A. Woodcox.

Ample provision is being made for the entertainment of our visitors on this day. Meals will be served by the ladies of the Lutheran Church, by Mrs. A. B. Filley. White and Cottage hotels. The restaurants will also serve lunches.

St. Joe is ready to welcome all and we trust that our town will be crowded. Come early so you will not miss the ball game, and stay all day that you may hear the excellent addresses, hear the band play Marching Through Georgia and have a general good time.

Political Announcements.

Editor NEWS:

Please announce my name as a candidate for the office of Assessor, subject to the will of the republican convention of Concord township.

D. W. BAKER.

FOR RECORDER.

EDITOR NEWS:

Please announce my name as a candidate for the office of Recorder, subject to the Republican nominating convention. J. R. SHILLING.

Business College

Many DeKalb County people owe their present position standing in life to the ceived in the Inter ness College of Fo

Twenty years of cess has brought rank among the h class in the United Wayne is a great your door, and m ties are to be had; a first-class Busines

Write for our large catalogue.

Orange Herrick, wife and son Ray, of Wabash Corners, and J. B. White and wife, Charley Woodcox, wife and son Homer, of this place, were Sunday guests at John Gill's.

Orangeville flour stands at the head of the list. Makes more, and better bread, does not dry out or make coarse rough bread. At Harmon's.

The ladies of the Lutheran church will serve dinner and supper in the basement of the church Thursday, August 6th. A general invitation is extended to the pub-

Mis wel here two last visit Mr. and

This Piano Used

3rd. GOLD MEDAL CONTEST

St. Joe M. P. Church, Saturday, August 12, 8:15 pm

AUBURN, AUG. 29. BUTLER SEPT. 4. NEWVILLE, SEPT 5

JESSIE HEADLEY, Organ Graduate.

Higher grade and more finished playing than previous contests.

Opening prelude, Organ Fantasia, a solo for the left hand alone by Mr. Johnston. Program not so long as some and exclusively by students.

ALL MUSIC STUDENTS ADMITTED FREE if accompanied by one other person, conditions being the filling out of a blank which will be mailed or given free to any who does not receive one five days before the contest. We have a list of 1,400 names in the county.

CHASTINE JOHNSTON

JULY

U252
L 903

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

TUSTISON & LEIGHTY - - Publishers

1908 JULY 1908

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
•	•	•	1	2	3	4
5	6	7	8	9	10	11
12	13	14	15	16	17	18
19	20	21	22	23	24	25
26	27	28	29	30	31	•
•	•	•	•	•	•	•

F. Q. 6th. F. M. 13th. L. Q. 20th. N. M. 28th.

FEATURES OF INTEREST

ABOUT THAT WHICH HAS BEEN AND IS TO BE.

All Sides and Conditions of Things are Shown. Nothing Overlooked to make it Complete.

Prince of Wales Lands at Quebec.

The Prince of Wales landed at Quebec from the British battleship Indomitable amid the deafening roar of guns from the international fleet of British, French and American warships and tumultuous demonstrations of 50,000 persons massed upon the wharves and the terraced heights of the city. It was a spectacle of truly royal splendor, for the latest type of British Dreadnaught, the royal standard flying, came to ...ong the double column of ...ips and the Prince was ...ore by Earl Grey, governor ... Canada; Premier Laurier ...embled dignitaries, flanked ...is of soldiers and a multi... ...ple. Premier Laurier de... ...he prince an address of ... which he assured him of ...g loyalty and devotion of ...he King and its resolution ...ote the interests of the two ...es. The Prince responded in a ...y vein, speaking both in English and French, extending the good wishes of his royal father to Canada and making pleasant allusion to the loyalty of England and French Canadians alike.

Shoot Up Old Boston.

Eleven persons were shot, three of them probably fatally, by two desperadoes, who, on being pursued by policemen and a crowd of citizens, fled for two miles through a thickly settled district of Jamaica Plains, a suburb of Boston, Mass., firing madly right and left, and disappeared in the woods near Franklin Park. The men are believed to have been two of the gang of three who robbed a saloon in Jamaica Plains after shooting and killing one man ...ing two others. Mrs. ...ost seri... She was ... with her ...wo men, ...wn the ...one of ...d her ...ar. She was ...Hospital in a crit...

Insure Against Stork.

...nsurance against visits by Cupid or ... stork is the purpose of an appli... ...n made in the Michigan State in... ...nce department by a party who ...hes to pay benefits in case of mar... ...ge or births. After much considera... ...ion the perplexed commissioner has decided that this case can be classed ...nder "casualty insurance." He argues ...t while the visit of Cupid or the ...k might bring much joy it might ... entail a large expense and there... ...be regarded as a misfortune.

Three Killed by Live Wire.

During a fire in the Kline building in Altoona, Pa., three persons were electrocuted by live wires which dropped to the street. The dead are: Joseph H. Byers, fireman; Joseph Frick, lineman for the Edison Electric Company, and Harry Deshong, a lad of 12 years. Byers and Frick were instantly killed. The wires fell around the neck of young Deshong and nearly burned his head off, the terrified crowd being afraid to render assistance.

Accident Befalls President's Yacht.

The President's yacht, the Mayflower, with the President on board, ran into and sank the lumber laden schooner Menewa. All on board the schooner, consisting of the captain and five men, were taken on board the Mayflower. The President's yacht had her bowsprit and one anchor carried away but the jar of the collision was so slight that none of the President's party knew of the accident until they arose in the morning.

War Declared in Central America.

A prominent foreign consul, who lived for many years in Central America, has just informed the Associated Press that he had received a cablegram stating that war had been declared, or would be declared at any moment, between Nicaragua and Honduras against Guatemala and Salvador.

Two Fatally Hurt at Fire.

Four men and a boy were hurt, two of them probably fatally, in a fire in a St. Louis, Mo., boarding house. Two of them jumped from upper windows on finding themselves trapped by the flames.

Big Fire in Idaho.

Fire destroyed the business section of Cottonwood, Idaho, entailing a loss of $300,000. This is the second fire to destroy the place within a year.

BISHOP HENRY C. POTTER DEAD.

Episcopal Prelate of New York Succumbs to Lingering Illness.

Henry Codman Potter, seventh Protestant Episcopal bishop of the diocese of New York, died Tuesday night at his summer home, Cooperstown, after an illness of several weeks.

BISHOP POTTER.

Bishop Potter was born in Schenectady, N. Y., May 25, 1834. His father was Alonzo Potter, bishop of Pennsylvania, and his grandfather was Dr. Knott, president of Union College, and his uncle, Horatio Potter, was bishop of New York. In 1857 he was graduated from the Theological Seminary of Virginia, and a year later was ordained in Trinity Church, Pittsburg.

The young rector's first charge was in Greensburg, Pa., where he served a year. Then he went to Troy, N. Y., where he was for seven years at the head of St. John's Church. In 1866 he became assistant rector of Trinity Church, Boston, and two years later was elected rector of Grace Church, New York City.

In 1887 Bishop Horatio Potter died and his nephew succeeded him as bishop of New York.

Bishop Potter was twice married. His first wife was Eliza R. Jacob, of Philadelphia. Five children were born of the marriage. In June, 1901, Mrs. Potter died and a year later the bishop married Mrs. Alfred Corning Clark, a widow possessed of a fortune estimated at $13,000,000.

NEW POLITICAL PARTY.

Western Farmers Are Taking Steps to Organize One.

The organization of a new political party throughout the south and west is predicted by some of the active leaders of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union, which boasts 700,000 members in the United States at the present time, and 200,000 in Oklahoma alone. It is expected to interest the labor unions in the proposed new party.

The initiative steps in the organizing of the new party are now being taken. Consideration and discussion by the brainiest leaders in this movement are being had at the gatherings of farmer union members and their friends at picnics throughout Oklahoma, in particular. Politics in all its phases is being discussed, especially the issues of the two old political parties being outlined and criticised.

The old-time Grangers and Populists are among the leaders in all these farmer movements, so far as the west is concerned, and many of the most prominent Populist leaders of 10 or 12 years ago may now be found organizing and advocating the union of the farmers.

TEXAS RANCH PASSING.

Great Tracts Rapidly Being Cut Into Small Farms.

The land of west Texas is rapidly being cut into small farms, and a few years will see the end of the big ranch in this section. Two years ago one could travel for mile after mile in Lubbock, Hockley and Cochran counties, without meeting a person or seeing a habitation. Those old frontier scenes are passing away with astonishing rapidity.

At times one still reads of a tract of 15,000 to 50,000 acres being sold, lock, stock and barrel, as the saying goes, with no more flourish than a rancher would sell a Hereford steer. But these big deals are growing less and less, and the end of the 50,000-acre tract is near at hand.

The Heredity of Hair.

Gertrude and Charles Davenport, connected with the Carnegie Institution's station at Cold Spring Harbor, N. Y., writing in the American Naturalist of the results of their observations on the "Heredity of Hair Form in Man," say it is now possible to predict from the hair of parents the form of their children's hair, whether straight, wavy, curly or frizzy. They find that the following rules are almost invariable: "Two wavy-haired parents may have straight, wavy or curly haired children, but the chances of curly hair are slight. Two curly-haired parents may have children with either straight, wavy or curly hair, and the proportion of curly-haired offspring will probably be large."

Service Before Dividends.

In commenting on the recent court decisions in New York City, canceling street railway leases, which proved unprofitable and allowing new plan of operation without regard to the payment of former rate of dividends, the Wall Street Summary says: "It must be understood that a franchise to a public service corporation is given under conditions which make an adequate service to the public obligatory. The costs of providing this adequate service come before dividends or any return on the capital invested; and a corporation which, from poverty, owing to mismanagement or any other reason, is unable to fulfill its obligations to the public, is unworthy to have a franchise."

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES.

Both the Senate and the deputies of France have passed the electoral reform law, the object of which is to provide complete secrecy of voting.

As the large force of Mexican regulars began to surround the northern territory in which a revolt against the government was in progress, the so-called army of the rebels divided into small bands and escaped through the lines of the regulars. But it was expected that the raiders would be soon rounded up.

SIX AUTOISTS KILLED WHEN TRAIN HITS CAR

Mother, Father and Three Girls Are Among Those Dashed to Death.

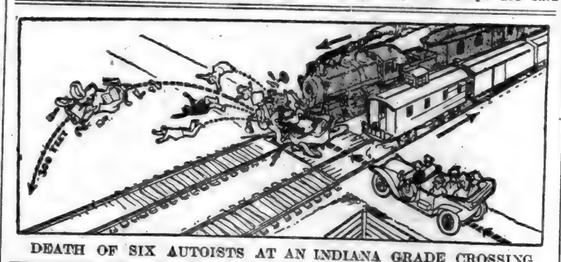
FAIL TO SEE LOCOMOTIVE.

C. S. King, Fort Wayne Politician, and Family and Guest in Fatal Accident.

Six lives were crushed out in an instant near Columbia City, Ind., when a Pennsylvania Railroad train smashed an automobile in which were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sherman King, their two daughters. Miss Fayma Bradshaw and Carl Timmins, the chauffeur, all of Fort Wayne. The machine was stopped about a half-mile west of Columbia City at a railroad crossing by a freight train and the chauffeur drove onto the second track, waiting for the freight to pass. He failed to see the Manhattan Limited passenger train which came at a high rate of speed. The automobile was destroyed and the bodies of its six occupants were flung along the track for a distance of a hundred feet and terribly mangled. Skulls were fractured, arms and legs broken, chests crushed and clothing stripped off. So great was the force of the collision that the huge locomotive of the passenger train was derailed.

The party was in Mr. King's automobile and was going from Fort Wayne to Lake Wawasee to spend Sunday. It is said that when the party started on the trip Mr. King ordered the chauffeur to make the run in two hours and a half, which is about half an hour less than the usual time.

Mr. King formerly was a member of the Indiana Legislature from Wabash County, being chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. He was a member of the Columbia Club at Indianapolis and well known throughout the State. He was one of the best-known Republicans of Indiana and had taken a prominent part in public affairs. His daughters were Katherine, aged 16, and Josephine, aged 12. Miss Bradshaw was 16 years of age and was a neighbor of the King family, whose guest she was to have been over Sunday at the King cottage at Lake Wawasee. She was a daughter of Robert F. Bradshaw, of Fort Wayne.



DEATH OF SIX AUTOISTS AT AN INDIANA GRADE CROSSING.

Woman Dead; Mother Hurt.

Miss Elizabeth Dupree, aged 40, is dead and her mother, Mary Dupree, a widow, aged 65, is critically injured as a result of a runaway at Columbus, Ind., which was caused by an automobile owned by Tom Taggart, of Indianapolis, chairman of the National Democratic Committee. Taggart's chauffeur, Harry Stodler, was driving the big touring car from Indianapolis to French Lick, when he met the two women in a buggy at Garden City, one mile south of Columbus. The horse became frightened at the car and ran away. The two women were thrown from the buggy against an iron fence.

POLITICS and POLITICIANS

Eugene W. Chafin, Prohibition nominee for President, proposes to speak in every State before election.

Frank H. Hitchcock, general manager of Taft's pre-convention campaign, has been made chairman of the national Republican committee.

President Roosevelt has refused an offer to make speeches into the receiver of a talking machine for the purpose of making records for public sale.

William H. Taft has completed at Hot Springs, Va., the first draft of his speech of acceptance, but he hopes to trim it down by revision to 3,500 words.

Congressman Theodore E. Burton, in a statement issued at Cleveland, said, while he desires to be elected United States Senator, he considers the election of Taft more important and will ask no pledges for his own candidacy.

W. J. Bryan speaks lightly and sarcastically of W. H. Taft's reported declaration that no campaign contributions from corporations will be accepted.

W. J. Bryan, in an address at his home, declared that society has not given the producer his share of the reward and that the government must correct this condition.

The Republican State convention at Bangor, Me., nominated B. M. Fernald for Governor and reaffirmed the party's belief in the prohibitory law. Resubmission of the law to the people was the main issue before the convention.

HAS THREE MILLION ACRES.

Oklahoma Puzzled as to Whether to Hold Land or Sell Immediately.

Under the initiative and referendum law of Oklahoma there is to be submitted to the voters of that State in the November election a proposal to sell the 3,000,000 acres of public lands which the State holds in its school and public buildings funds. The bill for this purpose has been carefully drawn and contains minute details of the terms, conditions and methods of selling the land. If a majority of the voters in November give affirmative ballots for it, it will become effective as a law without action of any sort by the Legislature.

Ten years hence these lands will doubtless be worth several times more than they are now. But supposing all these 3,000,000 Oklahoma acres to be good for agriculture, they would cut up into 75,000 40-acre farms, each occupied and tilled by a thrifty farmer, contributing to the wealth of the State and paying taxes to the State's revenue fund and to local and State school funds.

If the lands are held they will be leased by a State Board and are likely to become the subject of political favoritism. The lessees will not take the same interest in cultivating and improving them that they would in lands secured by ownership to themselves and their children. It is probable, therefore, that in the end the lands will prove to be worth more to the State if sold now than if held for the higher price which they undoubtedly would bring later.

NATION LEADS IN AIRSHIPS.

United States Is First in Heavier-than-Air Machines.

Although the United States government is just giving recognition to practical aeronautics, with the trials to be held at Fort Myer, this country may claim the distinction of being the first to make progress in the heavier-than-air type of flying machines. Captain Ferber, one of the pioneers in the development of the aeroplane in France, gives Octave Chanute and Lilienthal, the American inventors, credit for the ideas carried out by Harry Farman and De la Grange in France. Other successful foreign air ships are said to show the practical development of theories advanced by Professor Langley.

The Wright brothers and A. H. Herring, who will submit their aeroplanes to the government for acceptance trials at Fort Myer next month, have followed the theories advanced by the earlier American aeronauts. Herring is a contemporary of Lilienthal and

WILBUR WRIGHT. ORVILLE WRIGHT.

Octave Chanute. His machine is about half the size of that of the Wright brothers, and its principal feature is an automatic device for maintaining its equilibrium.

Until recently it was feared that the Wright brothers would forfeit the bond which they had placed with the government when their bid was accepted rather than disclose the secret of their machine, which they guarded successfully for several years. This fear has been dispelled by the Wright brothers themselves, who say they have their machine fully patented and are willing to make public demonstrations of its success.

A Great Army of Pythians.

The twenty-fifth session of the Supreme Lodge of the Knights of Pythias, which convenes in Boston, will result in bringing together the greatest gathering of members of the order ever known. The number of Pythians who will visit the city on this occasion is estimated at 100,000. The session will be marked by two great parades, one of the uniformed rank and one of the other ranks on the following day. Reports of the organization show that it has at present 800,000 men in its membership, while the ladies' auxiliary, the Pythian Sisters, numbers 200,000, making a total of 1,000,000.

Failures of a Half Year.

Commercial failures in the United States during the first half of 1908, says Dun's Review, were 8,709 in number and $124,374,883 in amount, as compared with 5,607 failures in the first half of last year, for $69,563,662. Still, the report calls attention to the hopeful fact that in the later months of the period the showing was better, making it "evident that the commercial death rate is diminishing."

BIG STANDARD OIL FINE IS KNOCKED OUT

Court of Appeals Sets Aside Enormous Penalty Imposed on Gigantic Corporation.

FAMOUS CASE TO BE RETRIED.

Three Jurists Unanimous in Opinion That Original Judgment Is Based on False Premises.

John D. Rockefeller's luck abides. The United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Chicago, in a unanimous decision completely reversed Judge Kenesaw M Landis' decision in the Standard Oil case, wiped out the famous $29,240,000 fine, and remanded the case to the lower court for a retrial. The opinion was written by Judge Peter S. Grosscup and is fully concurred in by Judges Seaman and Baker.

But the reversal was more than a temporary setback to the government, inasmuch as the upper court cut the ground out from under the Federal prosecutors in several extremely important features.

The government reversal was based on the following points:

That Judge Landis was wrong in assuming that it was the business of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana to make sure that the rates tendered it by the Alton railroad were the lawfully published rates. This, it was held, threw an unfair burden upon the shipper, whoever he might be, and tended to check rather than promote industry.

That Judge Landis was wrong in his view that the number of offenses involved was the number of car loads of property transported, regardless of whether each car load constituted the whole or a part only of a single transaction resulting in a shipment.

JUDGE K. M. LANDIS.

That Judge Landis was wrong in basing his fine—$29,240,000—upon the wealth of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey—which the upper court held was not a defendant—instead of upon the capital stock of $1,000,000 of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, the legal defendant.

History of the Great Case.

In the summer of 1906 indictments against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana were returned in the Federal court at Chicago charging the corporation with obtaining concessions from railroads in shipments of oil from Whiting, Ind., where its plant is situated. At the trial of the case involving the Chicago and Alton, which began in March, 1907, many counts of the indictment were quashed, leaving 1,462 counts on which judgment was asked.

The hearing continued six weeks and many witnesses were examined. The jury returned a verdict finding the defendant company guilty and leaving the sentence to be fixed by Judge Landis. In determining the amount of the fine the Judge caused John D. Rockefeller of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey to testify as to the real ownership of the Indiana company, this furnishing one of the most sensational incidents in the case. Following all the testimony Judge Landis imposed the maximum fine of $20,000 on each of the 1,462 counts of the indictment, making the total of $29,240,000 the largest fine known to the history of the courts.

One of the points argued in the appeal was that the fine was excessive and would wipe out the assets of the Indiana Oil Company. In an effort to increase the amount of the appeal bond counsel for the government introduced testimony on the earnings of the company taken from an examination of its books in a New York court.

NUBBINS OF FARM NEWS.

War is being made on the large mail order houses by small retail dealers throughout the country.

It is always harvest time and wheat is being cut every day in the year in some country of the world.

The big milk companies of Chicago recently reduced retail prices from 9 to 7 cents per quart, and in surrounding towns from 7 to 6 cents.

Shareholders in the Co-Operative Creamery of Motley, Minn., own 800 cows and take the milk of 500 other cows in their community.

Elgin, Ill., fixes the price for cow butter, not only for the United States, but for nearly all the world besides, but recently three restaurant keepers in that town were charged with selling bogus butter.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

Payments through the banks furnish the closest comparison seen in some time. Other favorable indications of trade recovery appear in more active discount operations, increasing specifications in steel working and more extended demand for early deliveries of merchandise.

Announcement of an advance in American prints is calculated to hasten heavy selections for the interior, and the dry goods lines generally report sustained improvement. Weather conditions stimulated sales in the principal retail branches and lightweight goods have become reduced to a comfortable size.

Bookings in the industries include a greater number for moderate tonnages of pig iron, structural shapes and wire, and there is a gain in production at furnaces, rolling mills and electric factories.

Public improvements involving large outlays are now pushed forward and require much material and labor. Leather working trades run strongest upon footwear, and there is much wider buying of tanned material and hides, the latter being scarce in desirable qualities and selling higher than in June.

Crop reports sustain the favorable features recently noted. Winter wheat grades surprisingly well, and corn growth advances seasonably. Crop marketings have declined more than expected, but the markets for breadstuffs, live stock and provisions continue fairly active. Prices mostly rose this week, with the leading cereals, unusually strong and averaging much higher than at this time last year.

The total amount of grain at this port, 6,594,493 bushels, compares with 5,905,165 bushels last week and 6,934,048 bushels a year ago. Compared with 1907 there is a decrease in receipts of 21.6 per cent and increase in shipments of 8.5 per cent. Live stock receipts improved to 268,906 head, against 216,510 head last week and 208,329 head in 1907.

Failures reported in the Chicago district number 30, against 25 last week and 21 a year ago. Those with liabilities over $5,000 number 10, against 6 last week and 5 in 1907.—Dun's Review.

NEW YORK.

Trade and industry are still in a condition of midsummer quiet, with preparations for fall trade, stimulated by generally good crop progress, going forward with confidence, but with conservatism ruling operations, pending clearer views of ultimate crop and political results. Activity in retail trade is centered in the disposal of surplus stocks of summer goods at concessions, but reduced public buying ability is reflected in reports from some centers of slow progress in clearing shelves of goods. Jobbing activity is still mainly confined to filling small but frequent repeat orders for summer fabrics, though a few southern and northwestern points report enlargement of takings for fall.

There is a little more life in building lines, particularly South and West, and yellow pine is firmer, with optimistic predictions from southern and Pacific northwestern lumbermen.

Iron and steel are quiet, but a slightly larger percentage of finished capacity is claimed working, a larger proportion of this, however, than usual on export business.

Business failures for the week in the United States ending July 16 number 258, which compares with 246 last week, 177 in the like week of 1907, 188 in 1906, 166 in 1905 and 190 in 1904.

Business failures in Canada for the week number 28, which compares with 39 last week and 26 in this week of 1907.—Bradstreet's Commercial Report.

THE MARKETS

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime $4.00 to $7.80; hogs, prime heavy, $4.00 to $6.87; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2, 91c to 92c; corn, No. 2, 75c to 76c; oats, standard, 57c to 58c; rye, No. 2, 74c to 75c; hay, timothy, $8.00 to $13.00; prairie, $8.00 to $12.50; butter, choice creamery, 19c to 21c; eggs, fresh, 17c to 19c; potatoes, new, per bushel, 90c to $1.13.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $7.50; hogs, good to choice heavy, $3.50 to $7.05; sheep, common to prime, $2.50 to $3.50; wheat, No. 2, 87c to 88c; corn, No. 2 white, 77c to 78c; oats, No. 2 white, 53c to 55c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $4.50 to $7.60; hogs $4.00 to $6.90; sheep, $3.00 to $4.40; wheat, No. 2, 91c to 92c; corn, No. 2, 77c to 78c; oats, No. 2, 53c to 55c; rye, No. 2, 74c to 75c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.25; hogs, $4.00 to $7.05; sheep, $3.00 to $3.85; wheat, No. 2, 91c to 92c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 80c to 81c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 57c to 58c; rye, No. 2, 84c to 86c.

Detroit—Cattle, $4.00 to $5.75; hogs, $4.00 to $6.80; sheep, $2.50 to $4.25; wheat, No. 2, 90c to 91c; corn, No. 3 yellow, 79c to 80c; oats, No. 3 white, 61c to 62c; rye, No. 2, 75c to 76c.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, $1.15 to $1.17; corn, No. 3, 74c to 75c; oats, standard, 57c to 59c; rye, No. 1, 73c to 75c; barley, No. 2, 68c to 69c; pork, mess, $16.00.

Buffalo—Cattle, choice shipping steers, $4.00 to $7.00; hogs, fair to choice, $4.00 to $7.00; sheep, common to good mixed, $4.00 to $5.30; lambs, fair to choice, $5.00 to $7.50.

New York—Cattle, $4.00 to $7.40; hogs, $3.50 to $7.25; sheep, $3.00 to $4.50; wheat, No. 2 red, 99c to $1.00; corn, No. 2, 83c to 84c; oats, natural white, 60c to 63c; butter, creamery, 20c to 23c; eggs, western, 18c to 21c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, 89c to 91c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 77c to 78c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 57c to 59c; rye, No. 2, 71c to 72c; clover seed, October, $8.60.

JULY

0253

L 903

Are You Regular?

If you are not, it is a sign of disease, a sign of some hidden female trouble, that may be undermining and weakening your constitution, and laying up for you much future suffering.

Many thousands of weak, irregular, suffering women have, in the past 50 years, been greatly benefited or cured by the use of that well-known, successful, purely vegetable, female tonic and curative remedy

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMAN'S RELIEF

Apple G. Barnes, of Alto, Tex., writes: "I caught cold, which made me irregular and gave me pains in my shoulders and sides. For almost 2 weeks I could not lift a chair. Cardui brought me all right again; I have no more pains and am in very good health."

At All Druggists

WRITE FOR FREE ADVICE, stating age and describing symptoms, to Ladies Advisory Dept., Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. E 34

PROVINES

USTEE

ord Township.

SDAY OF EACH WEEK
esidence in Spencerville, Ind.

DENTIST.

C. R. PRICE.

ST. JOE, IND.

Office in Case building.

Bell Phone No. 44.

WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St. Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.

No. 11. Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail 12:05p.m
No. 3. Western Express 8:05 p. m

GOING EAST.

No. 2, Eastern Express 6:34a. m
No. 10, Toledo Acc & Mail 7:21 p. m

The Old Proverb

That "It takes nine tailors to make a man" may possibly mean that it takes nine trials to find the right tailor.

You can save eight trials by coming here first. At this time in the year we can do considerably better by you than later. Not better in style, fabric, fit or finish—that's impossible—but better in price. For Example:—

Suits from $18.00 up.

Pants from $4.00 up

ED MAY,

TAILOR,

Butler, Ind.

PATENTS

and TRADE-MARKS promptly obtained in all countries, or no fee. We obtain PATENTS THAT PAY, advertise them thoroughly, at our expense, and help you to success.

Send model, photo or sketch for FREE report on patentability. 10 years' practice. SUPERIOR REFERENCES. For free Guide Book on Profitable Patents write to

503-505 Seventh Street, WASHINGTON, D. C.

D. SWIFT & CO.

The St. Joe News.

One Year - -	$1.00
Six Month - -	50c
Three Months - -	25c

LEE O. TUSTISON & FRED B. LEIGHTY
PUBLISHERS.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

Editorially.

The people who rejoiced at the smashing of the machine of Boss Cox of Cincinnati a year or so ago are not going to weep over what happened to Co'. Jim Guffey of Pennsylvania.

A Massachusetts man has made tomatoes and potatoes grow on the same vine. Now the man who likes catsup on his Saratoga chips can have a snap.

Connecticut has begun a crusade against snakes. It seems almost superfluous to suggest that excellent snake chasers can be obtained in the prohibition south.

The people may sneer to their heart's content, but the wide-awake American will continue to use slang till the cows come home or the clouds roll by. Slang phrases will frequently save the utterance of a dozen words: and as the average American is a hustler and hasn't much time to waste, everything goes and slang holds it's grip. It would be hard to trace the origin of many of our slang expressions, but it is safe to say that the majority found birth on the stage. A comedian says something which strikes the audience as "good" and henceforth that expression has a great "run".

Dull Times.

Should one attempt to analyze the circumstances or combination of circumstances which make, or are supposed to make, that condition of business called "dull times," he would soon find that his was a difficult task. It is safe to say that no man has analyzed this peculiar condition of business, although all men have tried to. The discoverer of the causes of dull times will be closely related to the man who establishes a universal and acceptable tariff, or who forever settles the international standard of money.

Shakespeare once said, "Nothing is either good or bad but thinking makes it so." The principle still holds good. What we think, whether it be so or not, is commercially so. If we think times are good, times almost always are good. If we think times are bad, times are invariably bad. If we think we are sick, the chances are that we are sick. If we think we are well, then we are well.

No man can think his arm off or think it on again, nor a mental scientist cure incurable diseases, but thought working from the individual into the collective is responsible for nearly every condition of trade where opinions differ as to origin. The unfortunate tariff, and the unavoidable election, the yet-to-be free trade, and the political condition of districts or of many districts, all operate as excuses for business depression.

No man can think a thing that is not so is so and make it so, but he can make some one else think it is so, and when a thing may not be so, and when it exists only in the mind the thought makes it or kills it—as thought would have it. For example: Mr. A. tells Mr. B. that times are hard. Mr. B. tells Mr. C. that times are worse. Mr. C. tells Mr. D. that times are worst. When enough men have told and retold this, times are what they were not, and what they ought not to be. Ninety-nine men out of a hundred think times are hard because somebody told them so. They know no other reason. When enough people talk hard times, times really become hard, and the men who created the condition have the satisfaction of living in a state of their own making.

It Can't Be Beat.

The best of all teachers is experience. C. M. Harden, of Silver City, North Carolina, says: "I find Electric Bitters does all that's claimed for it. For Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles it can't be beat. I have tried it and find it a most excellent medicine." Mr. Harden is right; it's the best of all medicines, also for weakness, lame back, and all run down conditions. Best too for chills and malaria. Sold under guarantee at H. Milliman's drug store. 50c.

The Wheat Joint-worm.

This insect seems to have appeared in unusual numbers this season in the southeastern counties of this state, and according to a large number of letters which have been received at this office, has done much damage to the wheat crop, cutting down the yield in some instances to almost nothing.

This insect belongs to the family Chalcididae, one of the families of parasitic Hymenoptera, which are generally classed as beneficial, but this species is only about one eighth of an inch in length. Color black, with the joints of the legs and feet yellow. Professor F. M. Webster of the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., says of its life history: "The insect may be found throughout the year in its various stages of development in wheat stems. It lives over winter as a larva or grub in cells formed in the stems prior to the ripening of the grain, the adult emerging therefrom in April or May, according to to latitude, or sometimes after the young grain has thrown up stems and several joints have become exposed.

The female, using her slender pointed ovipositor, places her eggs in the walls of the stem, reaching their maximum growth by the time the straw becomes fully hardened and ripe. Wintering in the larval state, they pass a short pupal stage and emerge as adults in the spring."

The effect on the straw is to distort it into various shapes, and at threshing time the infested parts become hard and dry and break up into small pieces which are difficult to separate from the wheat. Many farmers are anxious to know whether these insects will injure the grain in the bin, but there is no cause for uneasiness on this account as they work only in the stem, thereby causing the kernels to become small and shrunken.

Natural Enemies.

Like most of our injurious species, this one has a number of parasitic species which feed upon it, and which serve to hold it in check. This will doubtless prove to be the case in this instance, so farmers should not hesitate to continue to sow wheat. But there are some which should be practiced where possible, such as burning the stubble, where the fields have not been seeded to grass or 'clover. Using the straw for bedding for stock and piling the manure for sometime until it has become well heated will have a tendency to develope the insects prematurely. Rotation of crops and using plenty of quick acting fertilizer are some of the measures indicated.

Preventive Measures

This insect, in its larval form, may be quite easily mistaken for the Wheat Saw-fly Borer (Cephus pygmaeus Linn.) which belongs to a different family, and whose life history is quite different from Isosoma tritici.

J. Troop,
Horticulturist and Etomologist

Neuralgia Pains

Are the result of an abnormal condition of the more prominent nerve branches, caused by congestion, irritation, or disease. If you want to relieve the pain try Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills. They often relieve when everything else fails. They leave no disagreeable after-effects. Just a pleasurable sense of relief. Try them.

"I have neuralgia headache right over my eyes, and I am really afraid that my eyes will burst. I also have neuralgia pain around my heart. I have been taking 'Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills recently and find they relieve these troubles quickly. I seldom find it necessary to take more than two tablets for complete relief."
MRS. KATHERINE BARTON
1117 Valley st, Carthage, Mo.

"I have awful spells of neuralgia and have doctored a great deal without getting much benefit. For the last two years I have been taking Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills and they always relieve me. I have been so bad with neuralgia that I sometimes thought I would go crazy. Sometimes it is necessary to take two of them, but never more and they are sure to relieve me." MRS. FERRIER.
2404 Lynn St., Lincoln, Neb.

Your druggist sells Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, and we authorize him to return the price of first package (only) if it fails to benefit you.
Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind

TWO LITTLE TALKS.

First; To The Public.

You will notice that the merchants have been reasonably liberal with advertising space this week. Right now is the time to buy merchandise at great reductions in price and the merchants at home have as good bargains to offer as can be obtained anywhere. You should never lose faith in the local merchant. It may be that his stock is not so large as that of a large city store but it is the exception rather than the rule if he fails to supply you. Staple articles of clothing and household utility can be purchased as reasonably at home as abroad, and there is a sense of satisfaction in knowing that you have patronized a home industry. Let us all be loyal to the home merchants, and we are sure to find them as reasonable as those of our neighboring cities.

Second; To The Merchants.

You want the trade of your home people; then you must get up and after it. The chief reason in most cases why people buy of mail order houses or go to the larger cities to purchase their supplies is simply because these outside institutions let the people know by means of circulars and newspaper columns, what they have to sell and just how much it costs. You cannot blame a woman for reading the mail order catalogue with its attractive illustrations and prices. We are here to co-operate with you in securing the home trade. The time to advertise is when you want more business. When your business shall have grown so large that you are satisfied with it, then we cannot reasonably ask you to advertise. The only sure-enough business man is the one who secures bnsiness—the rest are clerks. Let us help you.

A Letter.

The following is a reproduction of a letter from Vera Copp and Laura Woodcox, who are now located at the Battle Creek Sanitarium. This letter will no doubt be of interest to their many friends at this place.

Battle Creek, Mich.
July 23rd, 1908.

Dear Friend:-

As you requested us to write and we are now off duty, will try and do so. We had a nice trip and had no trouble whatever in reaching the sanitarium. The first thing we did on reaching here, after being shown to our room was to prepare for a class in hydrotherpathy or massages. This class lasted from 4:30 to 6:30. Then we went to supper and immediately after supper was a class in anatomy which lasted until 8:00 o'clock thus keeping us busy. The next morning we were put on duty at 7:00 o'clock in East Hall (one of the nurse's homes). We are on duty eight hours a day except on Sabbath, (Saturday). We have two classes a day on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday. Last Sunday passed almost without our knowledge of it being Sunday. Everybody worked just like on a week day. We had to attend their Sabbath school Saturday morning having no opportunity to attend Sunday services. The sanitarium is a beautiful place. There are over 1200 people in the main building and 800 in the three homes. We room in West Hall on third story. It is just opposite the sanitarium and the college building to the left. We have made many friends while here thus making our stay more pleasant. There is no national distinction in the sanitarium. We have come in contact with more different nationalities than we would ever have expected. There are German, Swiss, Dutch, Japs, Chinese, Mexicans and last but not least, negroes.

We enjoy our work quite well but it is very hard work. We must be in our room by 10:30. There are ten students in our hydrotherpathy class and about thirty-one (twenty-four girls and seven boys, one negro) in our anatomy class. We enjoy the hydrotherpathy class really the best for it is entirely new. In our Tuesday's class we gave four different massages to patients which proved very interesting. We won't attempt to describe any part of the building but will only say that it is a grand structure throughout and to do it justice one must see it. There are two large swimming pools, an in-door and out-door. Every evening at sun down they have a march in the gymnasium lasting twenty minutes. We don't like the food. There is hardly an article of ordinary diet. They use no pepper, and lemons instead of vinegar. We are very tired of fruit for we have it three times a day. Every Thursday morning there are services in the dining-room by one of the Salvation Army. Promptly at 9:00 o'clock we must leave our work and go. Of course, this is in East Hall.

There is a band or orchestra concert every evening in the parlor or drive so we have plenty of amusement when we are off duty. The city is a very pretty place, about like Ft. Wayne. It is now nearly class time and as our letter is already quite lengthy will close with best regards to all our friends.

VERA & LAURA.

WANTED--A RIDER AGENT IN EACH TOWN and district to ride and exhibit a latest Model "Ranger" bicycle furnished by us. Our agents everywhere are making money fast. Write for full particulars and special offer at once.

NO MONEY REQUIRED until you receive and approve of your bicycle. We ship anywhere in the U. S. without a cent deposit in advance, prepay freight, and allow TEN DAYS FREE TRIAL during which time you may ride the bicycle and test it to any extent you wish. If you are then not perfectly satisfied or do not wish to keep the bicycle, you may ship it back to us at our expense and you will not be out one cent.

FACTORY PRICES We furnish the highest grade bicycles it is possible to make at one small profit above actual factory cost. You save $10 to $25 middlemen's profits by buying direct of us and have the manufacturer's guarantee behind your bicycle. DO NOT BUY a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone at any price until you receive our catalogues and learn our unheard of factory prices and remarkable special offers to rider agents.

YOU WILL BE ASTONISHED when you receive our beautiful catalogue and study our superb models at the wonderfully low prices we can make you this year. We sell the highest grade bicycles for less money than any other factory. We are satisfied with $5.00 profit above factory cost. DO NOT DEALERS, you can sell our bicycles under your own name plate at double the profit. SECOND HAND BICYCLES. We do not regularly handle second hand bicycles, but have a large number taken in trade by our Chicago retail stores. These we clear out at from $5 to $8 or $10. Descriptive bargain lists mailed free.

COASTER BRAKES, stronger wheels, imported roller chains and pedals, parts, repairs and sundries of all kinds at half the usual retail prices.

$8.00 HEDGETHORN PUNCTURE-PROOF SELF-HEALING TIRES A SAMPLE PAIR TO INTRODUCE, ONLY $4.80

The wonderful price of these tires is explained by our determination to introduce them at once. Orders for a limited number only will be filled at this price. Regular price $8.50 per pair.

NO MORE TROUBLE FROM PUNCTURES NAILS, Tacks or Glass will not let the air out. Thousands of pairs sold last year. Thousands of pairs now in use.

It is lively and never becomes tired. Punctures without allowing the air to escape. Hundreds of letters from satisfied riders have only been pumped up once in three months. They weigh no more than other tires, have only been given sufficient strength to carry the weight of the rider, are made of specially prepared fabric on the principle of the pneumatic tire and are sold at the remarkably low price of $5.50 per pair, but for a limited time only, in order to introduce them we are making a special factory price to you of $4.80 per pair. All orders shipped same day letter is received. We ship C. O. D. on approval, you do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them strictly as represented. Deduct 5 per cent discount if cash accompanies order, or if you send $4.55 per pair) if you SEND CASH WITH ORDER and enclose this advertisement. We will also send one pump free. Tires to be returned at OUR expense if for any reason they are unsatisfactory. We are perfectly reliable and money sent to us is as safe as in a bank. After you have used a pair of these tires, you will find that they will ride easier, run faster, look better and last longer than any tire you have ever used or seen at any price. We are so well pleased that when you want a bicycle you will give us your order. We make this a trial order at once, hence this remarkable tire offer.

Notice the thick rubber tread "A" and puncture strips "B" and "D," also rim strip "E" to prevent rim cutting. This tire will outlast any other make—SOFT, ELASTIC and EASY RIDING.

IF YOU NEED TIRES don't buy any kind at any price until you send for a pair of Hedgethorn Puncture-Proof tires on approval and trial at the special factory price quoted above; or write for our big Tire and Sundry Catalogue which describes and quotes prices on all makes and kinds of tires at about half the usual prices.

DO NOT WAIT or buy a pair of tires from anyone until you know the new and wonderful offers we are making. It only costs a postal to learn everything. Write it NOW.

J. L. MEAD CYCLE COMPANY, CHICAGO, ILL.

Notice to Farmers.

Anyone having hay ropes, wire ropes or like hoisting splicing. Can get same of us or any other ropes spliced on shortest No. 10 or by writting to the News Office.

LEIGHTY & CURIE.

GENERAL ITEMS

The National G. A. R. Encampment will be held in Toledo, August 31 to September 5.

Garrett has completed arrangements for a big firemen's tournament at that place on August 27.

Drink Moxie these days. It makes you eat better, sleep better and feel better. For sale at KAGEY'S.

The Republicans of the Twelfth Indiana Congressional district, will meet at Auburn, August 21, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Congress.

According to a law passed by the last Ohio legislature, every county in state must provide a hospital properly equipped for the treatment of tubercular disease. These buildings must be erected by January 1, 1909.

Kil So Quah of Roanoke, the oldest indian squaw living and a granddaughter of Little Turtle, is to be honored by a new order of Red Men to be instituted at Wabash, August 5. The lodge will take the name of Kil-So-Quah.

According to reports from Defiance county line, cholera has broken out among the hogs on two different farms and did considerable damage. The two farmers whose herds are afflicted are E. E. Hartman and Walter Tomlinson. A careful quarantine is being kept over the diseased hogs in the hope of keeping the disease confined to its present location. Every effort is being made to stamp out the infection before it spreads farther.—News.

Best the World Affords.

"It gives me unbounded pleasure to recommend Bucklen's Arnica Salve," says J. W. Jenkins, of Chapel Hill, N. C. "I am convinced it's the best salve the world affords. It cured a felon on my thumb, and it never fails to heal every sore, burn or wound to which it is applied. 25c at H. Millinan's drug store.

Undertaking a Specialty.

Elza Kinsey takes charge of all funerals. Calls answered day or night Prices reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

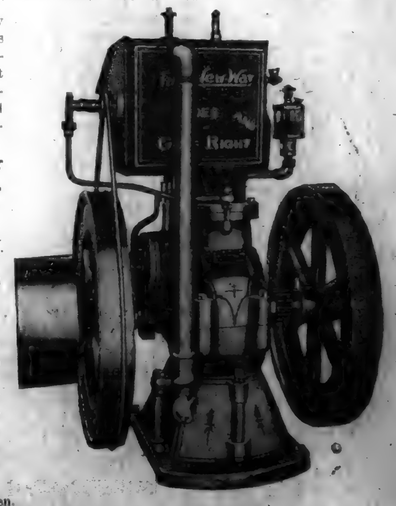
Phone No. Office 37-2. Residence 37-3

INTERESTING TO UP-TO-DATE FARMERS.

What you need is a reliable gasoline engine to do your work and increase your profits.

The "NEW WAY" Engine is conceded by Mechanical Engineers and men of high authority to be the most perfect engine in mechanical design and construction manufactured,

No water tanks or water. Cooled perfectly by air.



So Simple Your Boy Can Run It.

The next time you are in town, just drop in and examine the 3 to 3 1-2 H. P. "NEW WAY" engine on our floor. If you don't say it is the best engine you have ever seen or heard of, we will be greatly mistaken.

Engine can be seen running at The News Office, St. Joe, Ind.

Eugene Hubbard, Butler, Ind.
Exclusive Agent.

JULY

U 254

L 903

The Whited Sepulchre

The Tale of Pelee

BY WILL LEVINGTON COMFORT

Copyright, 1906, by Will Levington Comfort
Copyright, 1907, by J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY. All rights reserved

CHAPTER I —(Continued.)

"Of course she is quite right," Constable went on, "but that doesn't make it any easier to bear. With all the impressiveness which comes of being twenty and a girl—that was the Madame's first voyage, five years ago—she informed me that a man is a nobody, even if he has a billion, when he isn't of some use in the world. Exquisite little preacher! Such things were never thought of, nor spoken to, mortal man before! I explained my view, that having all the money needful, it was my privilege to play for culture instead of coin, to water my mental garden as a life pursuit, but she broke up all my arguments, beat down my ideals. I regarded my valueless past and yearned to become an apostle of action instanter.

"I see I am entertaining you, so I'll finish. I went home, buckled the Madame to Brooklyn, and disappeared—took her at her word! I shall do it again some time. For two solid months I didn't hurt anybody's feelings, and earned seventy dollars and board, stoking. Good clean stoking. Back and forth from Savannah to Boston in the bowels of an old coast liner, learning bunkers, boilers and firebeds at first hand; specializing in coals and callouses. I made a fairly decent coal passer, and met Denny Macready down there in the dark—Denny, who now passes tea. Then I scrubbed up again and steamed the Madame down to Martinique, to tell Miss Stansbury all about it, and show her my recommend from the third engineer. She was away in Europe. Her father says she will never be as beautiful as her mother. I thought perhaps we might look in on Martinique on our way around the islands. The statue of Josephine is there, you know."

"Your sentences are becoming uncoupled, Peter. You are shirring the narrative," said Breen.

"Well, I've been taking an annual course in old Pelee since then. Saint Pierre sits in the shadow of the volcano, and from a geological standpoint——"

"Exactly, but——"

"Oh, there is no joyous cracker at the finish of this story. Lady Commander—that is the creature of splendor, the mother—is still at war with me, and Miss Stansbury still cherishes the view that I am 'just sailing 'round.'"

Peter Constable was singular in various ways, possessing a large fortune and no fixture, save the natural bent of a student. He had specialized in geology for a dozen years. Exceedingly tall, bigboned, and angular, Constable had a plain, kindly face and large, quick hands. His nose was immense, and not to be classified. He carried his head bent slightly forward, as many tall men do; and it was a well-browed head of goodly contour. There was a puzzling solemnity in his countenance. One would not have been surprised to hear that this man was a gambler, a preacher, or a humorist; and, not knowing exactly why, one would expect it to be added that he was a good man in his class.

CHAPTER II.

Constable had an un-American capacity for waiting. He might have gone ashore in Saint Pierre that night, but instead he sat alone on deck, in the windless harbor. Queerly restless, he regarded the illumined terraces of the city. Back of all his levity and deliberation, it was not to be concealed from his own mind that before him lay the goal of the cruise. She was there, far to the right, among the lights on the mountain side—the little girl who had told him he was a nobody. Constable smiled, and grew serious from the start of an old thought. It was not impossible for her to have met some emperor who had demanded her heart for his throne room.

The harbor was weirdly hot. The heavy, moist sweetness of a horticultural garden, to which he had likened the nights of Saint Pierre, had been supplanted by dry, devitalized draughts of air. His throat and nostrils were irritated, and tobacco became unpalatable. There was no moon, and the stars were so faint in the north that the mass of Pelee was scarcely shaped against the sky. The higher lights of the city had a reddish, uncertain glow, as if a thin film of fog hung between them and the eye; but to the south the night grew clearer. He followed the circling shore with his eyes to the Morne d'Orange, which marked the southern boundary of the city. Beyond the morne stood the great plantation house where she lived. The night was pure purple in that direction, and the torrid stars unsullied.

Breen essayed to read the following forenoon away, leaving Constable to make his first descent upon the city alone. The Madame had already been sighted from the plantation house, and certain members of the establishment were out to welcome the guest. Indeed, Constable had scarcely stepped ashore from his launch at the Sugar Landing when he heard his name called and saw the flutter of a handkerchief above the burdened heads of the natives in the market place. It was Miss Stansbury, in a carriage. She greeted him merrily:

"Uncle Joey went out to the ship from the lower landing. I told him I would capture you if you touched here. We are very glad you've come, Mr. Constable."

He took her hand and gained the seat beside her in the carriage. "This is great luck," he said nervously. "I feared you might be away somewhere—in Europe or the States. Would you mind me looking at this little book in your lap?"

"It's a little volume of essays," she told him, "and I'm not sure that I greatly admire their spirit, nor the views of the writer. He makes a statement, for instance, that women are incapable of the finer senses of friendship; that women cannot adhere through severe tests."

Miss Stansbury was to encounter, a few days later, stirring cause to remember these words and Constable's reply, which is neither here nor there, ethical niceties not being his specialty.

"The man is an arrant fool, and probably couldn't get a woman to live with him," he said with finality.

The ponies were ascending the rise in Rue Victor Hugo, at the southern end of the city. The porteuses, coming down from the hill-trails, the lithest, hardiest women of the occident, bore a pitiable look of fatigue in their faces. The pressure of the heat, and the dispiriting condition of the atmosphere, were revealed in the distended eyelids and colorless, twisted lips of the burden bearers. As Miss Stansbury looked out toward the harbor for Uncle Joey's boat, Constable regarded her profile. The delicacy of color and contour brought to him an imperious realization of her fairness. It appeared that in his absence the rarest touches of perfection had been set.

"You haven't changed much," she said laughingly. "You were always willing to agree that I was right, and all men, yourself most of all, deeply in the wrong. Don't you remember how I used to preach to you about a man's need of doing something emphatic?"

"Indeed I remember. Your lessons made a deep impression."

"At least, you bore very gracefully with an oppressive companion,' she declared. "Just as if you didn't know best how to dispose of your time and talents!"

"On the contrary, you were more nearly right than you knew. I was in need of just such moral stimulus. The sorry part, Miss Stansbury, is that I don't bring you admirably invested talents even now."

She glanced at him quickly. "I believe I understand better some of the difficulties you have had to contend with," she said. "We all read how you kidnaped the entire New York newsboys' association—how you fed the grimy little chaps oceans of charlotte russe and mountains of plum-duff, giving them a Sunday afternoon at sea, and presents to remember. That was fine."

"I forgot to tell Breen about that," he remarked, smiling at the recollection. "Breen is a friend of mine, who was good enough to come along. He's a rare fellow, and you'll like him."

"You make people find out by themselves so much about you," she observed. "Think how you let me believe you were absolutely without interests or ambitions—even last year, while you were making daily visits to the jaws of Pelee. It was months afterward that I learned what those journeys meant—and then through the press. We all read the paper you delivered before the geological society on Antillean formations. Think how I felt while recalling some of my lectures on your careless attitude toward life. You might have told me!"

"I failed to discover the secret, Miss Stansbury," he said quickly. "Old Pelee has a big story for the right man, but I was unable to drag it forth. I had nothing to be proud of to tell you."

The ponies had gained the eminence of the Morne d'Orange. Ahead was the broad, white plantation house, where the Stansburys and Constable's uncle lived. To the right was the dazzling, sapphire bay, where the Madame was moored among the shipping; behind and below, the red-tiled roofs of Saint Pierre, and behind the city, back of all, La Montagne Pelee, hung like an emperor of the Romans, paled in the intense light of morning, and wearing a delicate white ruching of cloud about his crown.

"It is different with most people," she replied. "They have so much to tell of little things. The silent men who are dreaming of big things all the time—think of a conversation like this when the island is glowing like a brazier!"

"What is the meaning of this terrific sultriness and the white scum in the gutters?" he asked suddenly.

"Why, I supposed you understood——"

"Understood what, Miss Stansbury?"

"Why, old Pelee has been showering us with ash from time to time during the past ten days. It is the taint of suphur that spoils the air. The city would have been white now, except for the heavy rain that washed the ashes away just before dawn."

Constable turned apprehsnively toward the volcano. He had come into an inheritance of winged thoughts in the presence of the woman, but the news of Pelee's activity disordered the very root of things. Mrs. Stansbury was standing on the porch of the great house, whose walls, verandas and portcullises were cooled and perfumed by embroidering vines. The driveway was bordered by Rose of Sharon hedges, and the gardens flamed with poinsettias and roses. There was a cool grove of mango and India trees at the end of the lawn, edged with moon-flowerets and oleanders. Back of the plantation house waved the sloping seas of cane; in front, the Caribbean. On the south up-reared the peaks of Carbet; on the north, the Monster.

Constable advanced eagerly to give his hand to Mrs. Stansbury, who received his greeting with cooling repression. He would have been dismayed, had he not felt on former occasions polar draughts from this source. Still, he paid her unquestioning homage. It was enough for him that Mr. Stansbury, an admirable American gentleman, honored her with a life of one-pointed devotion; that his uncle, Joseph Wall, of sound mental balance and heart yastnesses, cherished her good-will. It was enough for Constable, indeed, that Mrs. Stansbury mothered a daughter. He was by no means above conceiving that another should dislike him; although Mrs. Stansbury was in other respects an Isis veiled too darkly for his perception. The years had not touched the elder woman. She had the same tendril-like delicacy of figure and refinement of face. Her eyes had often startled him with their world-weariness and world-knowledge. They were always wonderful—the eyes of a mystic and vibrant with the suggestion of undiscovered continents in their depths. The cool, gracilent fingers slipped quickly from his hand.

"I have always remembered your gracious hospitality," Constable said.

"I remember, too," Mrs. Stansbury replied, with scarcely a trace of a smile. "Who could forget the dentist—the dentist to La Montagne Pelee? Have you come again to look into the mouth of the mountain?"

CHAPTER III.

Constable had incurred the especial displeasure of the mother on a former visit, through the unabashed fashion with which he had endeavored to pry into the secrets of the volcano. Old Pelee was identified with the inner life of Martinique, like the memory and the statue of Josephine. Mrs. Stansbury felt that the mysteries of the mountain were not for the eyes of man; least of all, for the eyes of an American, in whom the spirit of veneration was not. She had a very clear picture in her mind of Constable as he peered, and possibly spat, into the appalling chasms of the summit, and pottered about in the dim gorges which seamed the Titan's flanks. The daughter had shared a tithe of her mother's opinion until Constable's monograph on the mountain had fallen into her hands. Then she realized that this was no parvenu who had carried on his studies in their midst.

Mr. Stansbury was away on his annual trip to the States. The mantle of host fell, accordingly, upon the ample shoulders of Uncle Joey. He arrived within an hour, and his trip out to the Madame had not been futile, since he brought Breen with him. The latter seemed to divine at once the defective current between Mrs. Stansbury and his friend, and forestalled any slight tension during dinner that evening by sprightly narratives of the voyage. He seemed to attrct the attention of the elder woman, and to be stimulated by her close scrutiny of his face and personality. That evening, after dinner, the men moved out upon the veranda to smoke.

"This is second-hand air, Uncle Joey," Constable remarked. "I shut my eyes a moment ago and thought I was down among the steel mills of the lower Monongahela."

"You're the expert in Pelee, not I, Peter," the old planter answered. "April and May aren't our best months, but I never knew such heat betwen rains as we are having now."

Constable moved out into the garden to look at the sky. In no way did he underestimate the seriousness of the time. In the south, low and to the left of the Carbet peaks, the new moon arose, but without the sharpness of outline peculiar to the tropics. It was an orange hue, instead of silvery, and blurred, as if seen through a fine wire screen. A faint, low rumbling was heard from the north. It was like thunder, but the horizon above and around Pelee was unscathed by lightning. Miss Stansbury had been at the piano, but the music now ceased.

"How long is it since the mountain has had a session of grumbling, Uncle Joey?" Constable asked.

"From time to time for the past ten days. Before that, twenty years, Peter."

"This is quite a novelty—this addled-egg moon," Constable added. "It's the ash-fog lying between. If there isn't a heavy rain in the night, we'll have a white world to-morrow."

Miss Stansbury appeared on the veranda, and moved out upon the lawn, where Constable was standing.

"Are you really so greatly worried, Mr. Constable?" she asked in a low tone.

"Why, the fact that Pelee is acting out of the ordinary is enough to make any one skeptical of his intentions. There are a few man-eaters among the mountains of the world—Krakaton, Bandai-san, Cotopaxi, Vesuvius, Etna—chronic old ruffians, whom you can't tame. A thousand years is nothing to them. They wait, still as crocodiles, until cities have formed on their flanks and seers have built temples in their rifts. They have tasted blood, you see, and the madness comes back. Pelee is a suspect."

(To be continued.)

Hard on the Janitor.

In some of the downtown skyscrapers the elevator service is suspended on Sunday and the janitors and their families, who in many buildings are quartered on the topmost floor, have to descend and climb from 20 to 30 flights of stairs whenever they want to get in touch with the outside world, says a New York paper. In one building, which is 24 stories high, the 10-year-old daughter of the janitor makes three round trips each Sunday one when she goes to church in the morning, one when she attends Sunday school in the afternoon and another when she goes to meet her playmates after dinner. Each flight consists of 20 steps, making 960 steps to a round trip. Three trips make it 2,880 steps—a mountain climbing record.

Similarity.

"Beeswax!" boasted the Parisian portrait painter. "Why, monsieur, I remember when patrons were packed in that little room like sardines, waiting to have their portraits painted."

"Like sardines?" echoed the man from Montana. "Oh, I see. Waiting to be done in oil, eh?"

Just Like a Bee.

"Why doesn't that lazy Philander find something to do?"

"Find something to do? Why, he's busy as a bee."

"But he hasn't done a thing this winter but loaf."

"Well, that's what a bee does in winter, doesn't it?"

That Gas Bill.

"Say," exclaimed the irate flat dweller, as he rushed into the gas office, "do you mean to say this bill represents the amount of gas we burned last month?"

"Not necessarily," calmly replied the man behind the desk. "It merely represents the amount you have to pay for."

Unnecessary Now.

"They used to give such splendid entertainments, but they never seem to have anything worth going to any more."

"No. They have an established position in society now."

REVIEW OF INDIANA

The annual reunion of the Forty-fourth Indiana regiment of Volunteer Infantry will be held at Kendallville August 26 and 27.

Russell Norris, of Frankfort, aged 9 years, tied himself to a cow he was leading from a pasture and was dragged five squares. Part of his scalp was torn off.

The 18-year-old son of B. E. Russell, near Goshen, was fatally hurt while aiding his father in putting up a wire fence. During the work a chain on the stretcher broke, and a piece of scantling used as a lever hit him on the head, fracturing the skull at the base of the brain.

A fine flow of gas has been obtained from a well on the Joseph Winslow farm, one-half mile north of Fairmount, by the Indiana Natural Gas and Oil Company. It will be pumped to Chicago, while the people of Fairmount will continue to depend on coal and stovewood for fuel.

George Grable, son of R. C. Grable, of Petersburg, who has seen service in the regular army for the last thirteen years, and whose fourth enlistment expired several weeks ago, has enlisted for the fifth time, and he has been assigned to duty with a cavalry regiment at Jefferson Barracks, Mo.

While at home in Flora Mrs. Edward B. Rock received burns which resulted in death. She was in the act of starting a fire in the kitchen stove, and picked up what she thought was the coal oil can, but what proved to be gasoline. A violent explosion followed, causing her death in a short time.

When George Peters, of Logansport, fired a shot at a cat which was running off with one of his young chickens, he missed the cat, but the bullet struck Joseph Kiefner, who was standing on the Vandalia tracks, a block away. The bullet entered the calf of his leg, was deflected by the bone and lodged underneath the skin at the other side.

